SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

A MAN'S SCHOOL

Suffolk Law School is distinctly a man's school. It does not admit women, not because of a desire to discriminate, but because the school believes that the few women who would have the hardihood to attend classes with a great multitude of men would add greatly to administrative problems without corresponding benefit to the institution. We now have the largest attendance of men students of law in any institution in the world.

SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

In September 1930, SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL will begin its twenty-fifth academic year. From a lowly beginning of nine students in September 1906, it has risen with such rapidity that it now has the largest attendance of men of any law school in the world.

HISTORICAL SUMMARY

During twenty-four years it has won national recognition as a training school for lawyers. Its first eight years were a succession of struggles and hardships. The competition and hostility of rival schools for a time threatened to overthrow the institution. One of the bitterest legislative contests in the history of education in Massachusetts, with two vetoes from a hostile governor, were features of the opposition that the school was obliged to meet in its three-year struggle for degree-granting powers. But with the signing of the Suffolk Law School charter by Governor David I. Walsh, in March, 1914, a great era of growth was ushered in. The chart on the preceding page illustrates in graphic manner the life story of the school.

THE HOME OF THE SCHOOL

From the sitting room of a modest apartment in Roxbury, where the school made its home during its first year, 1906-07, the physical equipment of the institution has kept pace with its growth in numbers.

From September, 1907, to March, 1909, it was located at 53 Tremont Street, Boston. Having outgrown this temporary home, it moved into larger quarters in Tremont Temple, where it remained for over five years. Victory in the Legislature in March, 1914, was rightly interpreted by the Trustees as a signal for a new growth that would render necessary an entire building for the school.

In July, 1914, Suffolk Law School purchased the building at 45 Mt. Vernon Street and remodelled it for use. A three hundred per cent increase in the student body, however, during the first year rendered necessary further enlargement. During the summer of 1915 an annex was built which for five years provided adequate lecture space. The close of the world war, however, was the signal for a new period of growth.

In October, 1919, Dean Archer called the trustees together and set before them the urgent need of a more adequate school home. He was appointed chairman of the Building Committee. A campaign was immediately inaugurated. Despite the unsettled condition of the times and one of the worst building crises in the history of Boston, the campaign progressed to a successful conclusion. The cornerstone of the main building was laid by Hon. Calvin Coolidge, then Governor of Massachusetts, on August 4, 1920. The building was dedicated on April 8, 1921. Within two years the growth of the school made necessary further expansion. Adjoining land, subject to a lease, was purchased in February, 1923.

In September, 1923, Dean Archer, with the same construction superintendent and foremen as on the main building, began excavations for the foundation of the annex. So rapidly did the building progress that on February 8, 1924, the annex was thrown open to classes. The formal dedication occurred on March 10th, the tenth anniversary of the signing of the school charter. U. S. Senator David I. Walsh, who as governor signed the charter, delivered the oration. The main building and annex has an east frontage of 150 feet on Temple Street and a west boundary of similar extent on Ridgway Lane. Its south frontage of 88 feet faces the rear wing of the State House. The annex consists of four stories with a hall on each floor seating over four hundred students. The school building has now a seating capacity of approximately thirty-five hundred.

A CO-OPERATIVE INSTITUTION

The students of the school are the sole beneficiaries of its financial success. Suffolk Law School is a charitable educational corporation created by a special act of the Massachusetts Legislature (Acts of 1914, Chap. 145). It has neither stockholders nor capital stock. Through the generosity of its founder, who had maintained the school at his own expense

AS VIEWED FROM THE STATE HOUSE GROUNDS

during its first eight years, the new corporation at its organization received by deed of gift all right, title and interest in the institution, so that no individual could thereafter profit from its financial success. All earnings above current expenses go into the building fund, building improvements or permanent endowment of the school.

Since 1914 Dean Archer, as Treasurer, has pursued a "pay-as-you-go" policy, keeping expenses down to the minimum. The teaching staff and other workers receive modest salaries. Not only that, but the usual heavy overhead expense of a large institution has been practically eliminated in Suffolk Law School by a highly original system of records and accounts.

During the past eight years more than one-half the gross receipts from the school have been devoted to the payment of interest and the reduction of principal on building loans by which the present building was financed. At the present rate of progress the school should be completely out of debt within the next few years. It thus presents the unique spectacle in these days of a self-endowing educational institution.

ONE SECRET OF ITS SUCCESS

While the growth of Suffolk Law School is unprecedented in law school annals, there is yet an even more remarkable feature of its history. The school was founded without a dollar of financial backing. Until recently it has been maintained absolutely without endowment and on the lowest tuition charge of any law school in New England.

But what is more important than financial considerations, Suffolk Law School was founded by a young lawyer who had definitely dedicated himself to the cause of the ambitious sons of the working classes, from whose ranks he himself had sprung.

He was born in the backwoods of Maine, one of a large family. At thirteen years of age he became cook in a lumber camp. For five years thereafter, in spite of hardships and the ridicule of his rough associates, he devoted his odd moments to study. At nineteen he entered high school in a distant part of the state. By toil of every description, from farm labor to newspaper reporting, he earned his way to a brief course in college. Upon graduation from law school and admission to the Massachusetts Bar in June, 1906, he set about the immediate founding of Suffolk Law School.

Thus did the founder of the institution bring to his task a deep knowledge of the needs of the workingman, and especially the evening student. A born teacher and organizer, with lofty ideals and an indomitable will, he attracted to the school an able faculty and loyal friends.

He has been the guiding spirit of the institution throughout its history. He has written many successful law textbooks, some of which have won international recognition, selling in as widely separated points as Holland and Japan.

THE MISSION OF SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

The controlling motive of Suffolk Law School has been, and is, not only to educate its students in the law, but to broaden their mental visions and to inspire them with lofty ethical ideals. History has demonstrated that the great leaders of every age were, almost without exception, born in poverty, denied educational advantages in boyhood, and obliged to educate themselves at odd moments while doing a man's work in the world. The same immutable principle is in operation today—the earnest souls who now toil in the evening schools to fit themselves for life will be found in the front ranks of our civilization of tomorrow.

The mission which Suffolk Law School has consciously embraced from its inception is to make lighter and surer the path of these aspiring young men.

COSMOPOLITAN CHARACTER OF THE SCHOOL

The students of Suffolk Law School come from far and near. Their ages range from seventeen to sixty. Bankers, brokers, and business men, with no thought of becoming lawyers, seek admission to the school for the legal training so essential to their business. Federal, state, and municipal officials are numbered in every class. Officers of labor unions, and in fact the leaders of the working classes throughout Greater Boston, and even from outside the state, find here the opportunity of mental training and sound uplifting of character.

Suffolk Law School is absolutely non-sectarian. Our only test of a student is his moral integrity and mental worth. Here meet on common ground the Catholic, the Protestant, and the Jew. Even the oriental lands contribute to our cosmopolitan throng. But race and creed are forgotten in the common tasks of the library and classroom. A spirit of comradeship develops in all classes that makes for true Americanism.

According to a questionnaire in March, 1925, the descendants of over twenty nationalities were in our classes. Eighty-one and one-half per cent were born in the United States, with over 71 per cent born in Massachusetts alone. In the Senior class the four leading races were as follows: Irish 53 3-19 per cent; English and Scotch 18 1-2 per cent; Jewish 12 2-19 per cent; Italian 5 5-19 per cent. Statistics of the entire student body vary somewhat from these figures. The leading races were as follows: Irish 48 1-2 per cent; Jewish 18 1-3 per cent; English and Scotch 16 1-2 per cent; Italian 6 per cent; French 3 3-4 per cent; Dutch and German 1 1-2 per cent; Negro 1 1-3 per cent; Polish 1 1-4 per cent; Portuguese 1 per cent; Swedish 1 per cent; while Swiss, Spanish, Armenians, Albanians, Lithuanians, Austrians, Syrians, Indians, Hindus and Japanese composed the balance of the student body.

BUSINESS MEN IN OUR CLASSES

One of the most significant developments of the past few years is that hundreds of business men of Greater Boston have enrolled for regular courses in our school. This is perhaps due in a large measure to the various colleges of Accountancy and Business Administration of which Boston is a centre. Thousands of business men are attending these schools and being introduced to the supreme importance of law as a business asset. Not contented with a brief course in Commercial Law, they are coming to Suffolk Law School for a thorough technical training in the subjects relating to business. A new field of service of considerable magnitude has thus developed for Suffolk Law School.

SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

EVENING TRAINED LAWYERS

Until recently it has been the fashion to regard evening trained lawyers as inferior to graduates of day law schools. Superiority of opportunity has been deemed the equivalent of superiority of result. The human element, however, has been overlooked. The evening student is in daily contact with the very conditions of life upon which law is based. Principles enunciated in the classroom find instant response in the minds of men whose life experiences furnish illustrations of the principles themselves. To the day student such principles are mere academic theory to be studied and slumbered over.

The practical experience of the evening student counterbalances the additional leisure of the day student. But in building up a law practice after graduation the evening student has an overwhelming advantage. Law practice comes very largely from business men. A business acquaintance is the first requisite of a young lawyer's success. Day school graduates as a rule have been in school all their lives. They know no one except their schoolmates. When they open a law office they encounter the proverbial "starving time." It is years before business men become aware of their existence.

The average evening student, on the other hand, has been in daily contact with business men for years before beginning his practice. If he has won the confidence of business men of his acquaintance he starts off with a real law practice from his beginning.

WHY WE DO NOT FOLLOW THE CASE SYSTEM

Suffolk Law School from its founding has refused to follow the case system of teaching law. It believes that men who are working for a living cannot successfully be taught law by a system designed for the teaching of men who have all their time for study. The case system, which originated at Harvard, has for many years been the prevailing system among schools that delight to borrow the plumage of the great.

That the system is antiquated and unsuited to the needs of modern life, Dean Archer has insisted for many years, even in years when it was regarded as heresy to criticize the case system. It is distinctly refreshing, therefore, to find some of the leading law schools of the country, after using the system for many years, suddenly awakening to the need of a new method of teaching law. Columbia Law School, for example, in December 1928, announced that it was planning to abandon the case system as "inadequate to present-day needs." Northwestern University Law School has recently taken similar action.

The case system is essentially an inductive philosophy. From the reading of assigned cases the student is expected to deduce legal principles. But the law is so vast, the number of cases so prodigious (enough to fill more than two hundred and sixty volumes in Massachusetts alone — and no two cases alike) that only a very limited number of principles can thus be mastered. But these very principles have long ago been extracted from these very cases by great legal authors and jurists. Blackstone and Kent, Marshall and Shaw, Story, Greenleaf, Bigelow, and many others, have spent lifetimes in legal research. Their work, however, is waived aside by the case system. Callow beginners at law study are to do the thing all over again!

To render the situation more astonishing, other fields of education proceed upon the theory that the youth of today should be given the advantage of the accumulated wisdom of the past and not sent back to the beginning to work it all out for himself. For a century the legal profession has been accumulating text-books, digests and encyclopædias, to which the important cases from all jurisdictions have contributed, in order that the fundamental principles of law might be rendered clear and understandable.

Suffolk Law School believes that to disregard this accumulated wisdom and to oblige the student who knows nothing of law to attempt single handed to accomplish in three or four years what thousands of skilled workers have spent their lifetimes in accomplishing before he was born, is a pitiful waste of human effort.

THE SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL METHOD

Law does not proceed from judicial decisions merely. Constitutions, statutes, treaties, and legislative actions are the chief sources of modern law. The common law is continually being displaced by legislation. Suffolk Law School therefore directs the attention of its students to the great fundamental principles of law that have stood the test of time — the living law of today. Those fundamental principles are comparatively few and possible of mastery if attention is directed primarily at them.

Cases are employed merely as illustrations of how these fundamental principles apply in the practical affairs of everyday life. The Archer text-books, upon which the success of the school is founded, are based upon the theory that every important principle of law should be followed by illustrations from actual court decisions. So effective are these illustrations in teaching the law that Dean Archer is now engaged in preparing a series of digests as companion volumes to his text-books. These digests are to be used as collateral reading. They are filled with cases which the author has personally read and restated in clear and concise form. These cases are arranged by chapters and sections to correspond with the text which they illustrate. Not only has he thus treated the Massachusetts decisions, but all important cases used in case book schools are to be found either in his text-books as illustrations or in his digests in condensed and easily understandable form.

Thus Suffolk Law School students will have not only the advantage of a knowledge of the great fundamental principles of law but also a familiarity with more cases than the students who study nothing else but cases in their original technical and obscure form.

But this is only the beginning of the student's training in Suffolk Law School. Review work is perhaps the most important phase of our system. A part of every lecture is devoted to oral review or recitation based upon previous lectures. During the Freshman and Sophomore years this oral review is supplemented by "problems for home study." Students are required to prepare written answers to these problems. These answers are corrected by the Review Department, the marks entered in the school records, and the answers are returned to the students together with an official answer for comparison.

Then there is another feature of our system that makes for efficiency, weeds out the sluggard and incompetent, and encourages the worth-while student. That is our system of monthly tests and examinations. No man can pass them with credit unless he has done faithful and intelligent work. These tests and examinations are corrected, recorded, and returned, accompanied by the official answer.

The superiority of a system wherein students are obliged to apply legal principles to difficult situations—in which they are obliged to pass upon the very facts that confronted the court—instead of merely reading the facts and what the court said about them should be too obvious to require argument.

Our method possesses the unusual merit of obliging every student to work with unflagging zeal if he is to maintain a passing average. No chance exists for the laggard to make up his defects by cramming for examinations, since every day and every week counts toward his semester average. Thus our graduates go forth armed with knowledge and abundantly trained in the logical application of that knowledge. This accounts for the remarkable bar examination record of the school.

RESEARCH AND REVIEW DEPARTMENT

This department has become one of the strongest features of the school. Through its agency every student receives that personal attention so essential to rapid development of his understanding of law and to discriminating analysis of cases.

This is distinctly pioneer work. Law schools in general depend entirely upon classroom work and give a written examination only at the end of a course. We direct the outside study of each student as well as test its quality and correct his misunderstandings. Each student is required at regular intervals to answer an aggregate of sixty questions in case form in each full year subject. Papers carefully graded are returned to the student together with a correct and full reasoned answer for his future use. Upwards of three hundred and fifty thousand individual answers are now corrected annually at the school.

These papers are examined by the staff of our research department and graded according to their merits or defects, thus aiding the careless student, the weak reasoner, and the writer of faulty English to overcome his faults. It accords also to the student whose work is of high grade that recognition of merit which develops assurance of mind and poise of character.

The director of the department not only oversees the correction of papers, but prepares and edits all questions and answers before they are stencilled or printed, thus ensuring high quality and uniform standards of work.

RESIDENT STUDENT-COUNSELLOR

A new plan has recently been launched under which Mr. Kenneth B. Williams, a member of the Department of Research and Review, is assigned to act as resident counsellor to the students of the Freshman class.

Any student whose written work is defective in any material respect will be requested to call for a personal conference with the counsellor. His papers will be carefully gone over with him and suggestions made with a view to improving his future work. The method of study and amount of time devoted to it are looked into, and his attendance record examined. The student is then given counsel and advice on any other pertinent matters which may perplex or disturb him. A record of each conference is kept so that if he is again called in his progress or lack of progress may be readily ascertained.

This personal contact is an effective method of aiding students with possibilities and of weeding out those who for any reason are not adapted to the study of law. Many students have found these conferences of great value. The plan will hereafter be a permanent feature of the school work and as soon as possible will be extended to all classes.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Lectures in all classes begin on Monday, September 22.

Classes meet on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays at 10 A.M., 4 P.M., 6 P.M. and 7.35 P.M. Students are required to attend only one lecture a day at a time most convenient to each individual. Transferring from one division to another is permissible at any time without notifying the office.

In the Freshman year, first semester, the subject of Torts is given on Mondays, Contracts on Tuesdays, and Criminal Law on Fridays. (See Program of Instruction for other classes.)

In the second semester Torts is given on Mondays, until completed, followed by History of the Law; Contracts on Tuesdays, and Agency on Fridays. The last three Friday lectures for the year will be devoted to Workmen's Compensation Act.

The main entrance to the school building is on Derne Street, directly opposite the rear wing of the State House.

Men's lounging room and lavatory in the basement.

The library occupies the entire Derne Street front of the second floor.

All classes, excepting Senior review lectures, meet in the Annex.

First floor—Junior Hall.

Second floor—Sophomore Hall.

Third floor—Senior Hall.

Fourth floor—Freshman Hall.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Suffolk Law School's requirement for the degree is a high school education or its equivalent. Men of mature years who were obliged to become wage earners before completing high school, but who, through work, reading and study at odd moments, have acquired mental training and poise of judgment, may be admitted, at the discretion of the Dean, to the law school with the privilege of making up the balance of their academic deficiencies in the Summer Preparatory Department, while the law school is not in session. They may thus accomplish both law and the balance of the preparatory work in four years, provided they have the equivalent of at least one year of high school with which to begin. The matter of evening high school credits will be accepted only at the discretion of the Dean and Faculty.

In order to remain in good standing a student must meet his tuition obligations promptly, attend classes regularly, meet the requirements of general education, and maintain a satisfactory standard of conduct in classrooms and school building.

REGISTRATION

Students who are returning to school after the summer vacation will register on opening day by filling out class attendance cards. Students of the incoming Freshman class register by filing a formal application for admission. This application must be presented in person to the Dean, accompanied by the registration fee. If all requirements are satisfactorily met his registration will be approved and the applicant will be officially enrolled as a student. The registration fee will not thereafter be returned even though the student does not attend classes after registration.

TUITION

The tuition charge is $140 per year, payable in four equal instalments, on or before the following dates:

(1) September 22, 1930; (2) November 17, 1930; (3) January 26, 1931; (4) March 23, 1931.

It is essential for students to respect these dates. Admission to classes is by coupon bearing the student's signature. A strip of official coupons, sufficient for the current tuition period, is given to each student upon receipt of his tuition. His name is written upon each coupon and by presenting them to the attendance clerk when he enters the classroom his attendance is recorded.

Since the tuition is thus payable in small instalments, no refund will be made if a student leaves school before the end of a period for which he has paid. If, however, he pays for a semester or entire year in advance, and leaves for reasons of business or ill health, a refund of all except the current quarter's tuition will be made.

OTHER CHARGES

Aside from a $5 incidental fee, annually, there are no other school charges save in the Senior year when there is a $20 fee for the general review and the $10 diploma fee. The incidental fee is payable upon registration of new students, and during the first week of school for regular students.

The total annual expense for books is not the same in all classes. A new series of Digests, as companion volumes for the texts and notes used in the school, is being added, and some will be available during the coming year. The following is a tentative expense list for books in the various classes for 1930-1931:

Freshman Class

First Semester: $14.25 (including text-books in Torts, Contracts, Criminal Law, Digest of Criminal Law Cases, Introduction to the Study of Law, Cases for Abstracting).

Second Semester: $8.00 (including text-books in Agency, History of Law, Cases for Abstracting).

Sophomore Class

First Semester: $10.25 (including text-books in Equity and Trusts, Real Property, Notes in Bills and Notes, Cases for Abstracting).

Second Semester: $3.25 (Notes in Landlord & Tenant, Cases for Abstracting).

Junior Class — First Semester

Text-books, Evidence (text and Digest), Wills & Probate Notes in Bankruptcy, and Cases for Abstracting, Sales, total cost $13.50.

Second Semester: Notes in Constitutional Law, Deeds, Mortgages and Easements, Partnership, Cases for Abstracting, total cost $6.75.

Senior Class — Books for year, $15.25

Text-books in Private Corporations, and Law Office and Court Procedure, Notes in Carriers, Conflict of Laws, Practice and Pleading, Municipal Corporations.

CONDITIONS

1. Students who incur conditions in more than two subjects in their Freshman or Sophomore year may at the discretion of the Dean be required to repeat the entire work of that year before continuing the work of the next higher year. In other cases of conditions students may be permitted to continue with their classes, at the same time reviewing the subjects conditioned, but all conditions must be removed within one year from the time of incurring them.

2. Students who have any conditions at the completion of their Junior year may not, except with the permission of the Dean and Faculty, be candidates for the degree at the next Commencement.

3. Students whose scholastic record for the first three years has averaged below 75 per cent may at the discretion of the Dean be required to take a general review, repeating tests and examinations in all subjects in which their grade is low, before being allowed to take Senior work.

4. Students whose work is unsatisfactory for more than one year may be denied the privilege of continuing in the school.

SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

CHARGE FOR REVIEW WORK

All students who are required to repeat an entire year's work will pay the regular tuition. If required to repeat one subject only, the charge will be $15 for the semester. If required to review merely the monthly tests and final examination, the charge being $5 a semester for each subject.

FOUR-YEAR COURSE

The entire course is given in four years. The school year is divided into two semesters of seventeen weeks each. Three days or evenings per week is the attendance requirement of regular students. Once a month students are required to attend a fourth evening, for written tests or examinations. Special lectures are given from time to time, especially in the first and fourth years.

CLASSROOM ATTENDANCE

Attendance at all classes is compulsory. Admission to class is by attendance tickets only. Records are kept from these admission tickets.

Since a student has his choice of attendance at any one of four divisions he is held accountable for prompt attendance at the division chosen. The gong rings for the beginning of lectures at 10.00 A.M., 4.00 P.M., 6.00 P.M. and 7.35 P.M. The lecture halls are then closed to all comers and no excuse for tardiness will be accepted. The only exceptions are in cases of men who live long distances from Boston and whose train schedules require five to ten minutes leeway. This rule became necessary to protect the classes against constant interruption by late comers. Absence from lectures more than ten times during a semester will result in loss of class standing. No credit will be given for work done by a chronic absentee. A student absent from classes longer than one week on account of illness must, on his return, file with the secretary, a statement from his physician. No student is relieved of classroom or written work on account of absence.

HOURS OF SESSIONS—DAY CLASSES

The forenoon divisions meet at 10.00 A.M. and are dismissed at 11.30 A.M., the afternoon session from 4.00 to 5.30 P.M. on regular school days. The work of the day department exactly parallels the regular evening work and differs only in the hours of meeting. Students thus have a choice of any one of the four divisions and may transfer from one to another in case of necessity.

EARLY AND LATE DIVISIONS OF EVENING CLASSES

For the convenience of students who work in the city but live out of town, early sessions of classes are maintained with lectures from 6 to 7.30 o'clock P.M. This is a privilege especially appreciated by men who get through their everyday duties at 5 or 5.30 P.M., and would otherwise have to waste considerable time waiting for lectures. The lectures closing at 7.30 enable such students to catch an early train for home, and to review the work of the evening while it is still fresh in mind.

The later divisions meet at 7.35 P.M., cover the same ground and receive the same lectures as the earlier divisions. To students living near Boston the later divisions are especially convenient because of allowing them opportunity to take supper at home before starting for the school. The lectures in each division are of an hour and thirty minutes duration.

ABSTRACTS

The preparation of written abstracts is an important part of our system of instruction. All cases to be required in the abstract work of each semester are reprinted in pamphlet form, a case book for each class. The method of preparing these abstracts is set forth in detail on pages 44 to 48 of the "Introduction to the Study of Law." In the Freshman Class the required cases are in Torts, Contracts and Criminal Law for the first semester. The cases due each month will be found in the Table of Cases in the semester abstract book and must be filed on or before the last day of the month for which they are assigned. This policy prevails in all other classes. Students are enabled in this way at a trifling cost to own a very valuable collection of cases for home study.

SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

MONTHLY EXAMINATIONS

In addition to regular final examinations conducted at the close of each semester, once each month during the school year each class is required to present themselves on a special evening for examinations or tests in the three subjects then pending. This applies to both day and evening divisions — all examinations being held in the evening.

FACTS IMPORTANT TO SENIORS

All candidates for graduation must have completed their general educational requirements prior to their Senior year. Proof by diploma or certificate must be presented to the Dean before February 15th of the Sophomore year. Faculty meetings, to consider the eligibility of candidates for the degree will begin immediately after the returns of the mid-year examinations are complete. Only such students will be considered as have filed a formal application for graduation, blanks for which may be obtained from the secretary after February 1st of each year. If on the unconditional list, a student will graduate at the following Commencement, provided all subsequent law examinations are successfully taken.

No student who has failed to win the degree at the end of his Senior year will be eligible to return for the degree, except upon a program of intensive review to be prescribed by the Dean.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREE

The course prescribed by Suffolk Law School for the degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) occupies four years of instruction and an average rank of seventy per cent in every required subject. The school does not base a student's rank upon examinations merely, but upon his weekly problem average, his monthly test average, attendance, and examinations, thus stimulating faithful and conscientious endeavor throughout the school year, instead of fostering the vicious system of cramming for examinations.

The school corporation intends that the degree of Bachelor of Laws from Suffolk Law School shall stand for scholarship and high endeavor. This does not mean a requirement beyond the capacity of the average young workingman, but simply what a man of ordinary mental equipment, under intelligent instruction and by faithful self-endeavor, can and should be able to accomplish.

BAR EXAMINATIONS

In order to cope with the tendency of undergraduates with low scholastic records to take a "gambler's chance" at the bar examinations, the Board of Trustees in February 1925, established the following rule: "Undergraduates who take the bar examinations without the consent of the school authorities will not thereafter be eligible for the degree except with the express permission of the Board of Trustees." All Seniors are required as a part of the fourth-year program to take a general review of the first three years' work. The burden is distributed over the year in the following manner: From October until May they are required to follow the Freshman and Sophomore schedules, taking the monthly tests in each class. They are required to maintain a passing average in each subject. Conditions therein will be a barrier to graduation. The sole object of the review is to induce systematic personal work in marshalling the whole field of the law. The Junior subjects, having been covered during the previous year, are treated less exactly, the reviews therein being given during May and June. The fee for this general review is the nominal sum of $10 per semester.

Suffolk Law School in an unquestioned position of leadership as a training school for lawyers. In the January 1930 examination in Massachusetts, for example, Suffolk Law School furnished sixty-eight successful candidates as against fifty-four men from the other law schools of Massachusetts.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Walsh Scholarship

A scholarship of the value of half the annual tuition, to be known as the "David I. Walsh Scholarship," is awarded annually in June to the student who has maintained the highest general average in scholarship during the Freshman year. John P. Doherty of Charlestown won first honors in the Freshman class of 1928-29 with an average of 90 $\frac{1}{6}$ %.

The Boynton Scholarship

A scholarship of the value of half the annual tuition, to be known as the "Thomas J. Boynton Scholarship," is awarded annually in June to the student who has maintained the highest general average for the Sophomore year. This scholarship was won by Leonard F. Williams of Dryden, Maine, for excellence in rank during 1928-29, his general average being 89 $\frac{5}{14}$ %.

The Frost Scholarship

A scholarship of the value of half the annual tuition, to be known as the "George A. Frost Scholarship," is awarded annually in June to that student who has maintained the highest general average for the Junior year. The prize for 1928-29 was won by Karl W. Baker of Belmont, who finished with an average of 90 $\frac{2}{7}$ %.

Archer Scholarships

The Archer Scholarships are three in number, each equal to one-half the recipient's tuition, awarded at the close of the year to those men who finish second in Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes. The winners for 1928-29 were: Class of

SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL

1932, Ralph W. Wilson of Lynn; Class of 1931, Arthur X. Koerber of Dorchester; Class of 1930, Karl W. Baker of Belmont.

Steinberg Scholarship

This scholarship was established by Louis H. Steinberg of the Class of 1925 as a token of loyalty to Suffolk Law School and of sympathy for those who must earn their own way to an education. It is awarded annually to the man who has attained the highest general average during the first two years' work and is equal in value to half the tuition of the Junior year. The winner for 1928-29 was Victor E. Landstrom of Middleboro.

Fairchild Scholarship

The Fairchild Scholarship was established in December, 1926, by Mrs. Julian D. Fairchild of Brooklyn, N. Y., in memory of her late husband. This scholarship is awarded annually by the Dean to that student whose school record, character, and general circumstances indicate the appropriateness of such award. It equals one-half the recipient's tuition. Richard Comerford of Leominster received the award based upon 1928-29 work.

Bradley Prizes

The income from a gift to Suffolk Law School from Mrs. Julian D. Fairchild of Brooklyn, N. Y., is being devoted to prizes to be awarded annually in memory of Mrs. Fairchild's father, Charles L. Bradley of New Haven, Conn. They are three in number, $10 to students who win first honors in each of the following subjects: Constitutional Law, Real Property and Contracts.

The awards for 1928-1929 were as follows: (1) Constitutional Law—Thomas E. Walker of Brockton; (2) Real Property—Arthur X. Koerber of Dorchester; (3) Contracts—Ernest W. Dullea of Boston.

LIBRARY FACILITIES

The law school library facilities are excellent and are constantly being improved. The main library occupies the entire Derne Street front of the second floor, nearly 3000 square feet, well lighted and ventilated, with ample study rooms on the same floor. It contains at present upwards of 7000 volumes with approximately 500 annual additions, all books in stacks directly accessible to students.

These books include: U. S. Supreme Court Reports; Lawyer's Edition of U. S. Reports; American Law Reports; Massachusetts Reports; the National Reporter System complete with Digests; L. R. A.; L. R. A. (New Series); U. S. Circuit Court of Appeal Reports; American Bankruptcy Reports; Early New York Reports; Ruling Case Law; Corpus Juris Cyc.; American and English Encyclopædia of Law; Massachusetts Digest; American Digest; Lawyer's Edition Annotated Digest; U. S. Digest; United States Compiled Statutes, etc. Books in greatest demand are provided in several duplicate sets. Standard case and text books and works for general reading are also provided.

The library is open daily from 9.00 A.M. to 9.30 P.M. (Saturday 9.00 to 6.00 P.M.) Two librarians are in constant attendance.

Students are expected to use the library for study and research only and to refrain from loud whispering or other distracting noises, reporting any disturbance or failure to find desired volumes to the librarians in attendance.

FREE EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

A free employment agency for the benefit of students who may be looking for work was established several years ago and has placed in desirable positions a considerable number of students who were out of employment. With so large a student body there are sure to be some who have in charge the employment of labor either in their own behalf or in the behalf of others. The mutual co-operation of Suffolk Law School students finds expression in a very practical way through the employment agency.

SUFFOLK PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT

Classes will begin on the first Monday in June and continue on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays throughout the course, which will comprise a period of ten weeks, ending on August 8th.

Session will be held during the evening only from 6.00 to 7.30 P.M., and from 7.30 to 9.00 P.M. No classes will be held during the day.

The tuition is $35 per group payable in one payment.

The work is divided into three groups, each group consisting of four subjects. Students are not permitted to take more than one group during a season.

GROUP I consists of:	Economics American History	Civil Government English
GROUP II consists of:	English History Geometry	Physiology Bookkeeping
GROUP III consists of:	Mathematics English Literature	Geography Algebra

Students with less than the high school requirement may qualify for the degree with special permission of the Dean and Faculty in accordance with the following schedule:

Men with high school credits amounting to: three years high	May qualify during one summer	By taking and passing subjects in: Group I.
two years high	two summers	Groups I and II.
less than two years but at least one	three summers (with special permission)	Groups I, II, and III.

Group I is given every year. Group II and III alternate years.

Written examinations are held during the fifth and tenth weeks of each course.

Students are required to hand in all assignments for home work and to pass satisfactory examinations in all subjects. The pass mark is 60 per cent.

All books used in above courses will be on sale at school book store.

Professors Martin H. McInerney and Edward F. Hunkins will be in charge of the work.
