BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Frederick Wilkins was born on May 23, 1935 in Lynn, Massachusetts, to Charles and Celia Wilkins. From childhood, Frederick Wilkins was involved in school plays and choral performances; he also began studying the piano at a young age. His interest in drama and the performing arts continued into his high school and college years, and well beyond, into the rest of his career.

Wilkins studied English at Bowdoin College, earning his B.A. in 1957. His love of theatre continued at Bowdoin; he acted in productions of The Tempest and Richard III, and performed in numerous college concerts and recitals, as a singer and as a pianist. Wilkins' theatre talents extended beyond acting and performing; he also produced original works, including the scores for a musical revue, While the Cat's Away, and an opera, Age of Ice.

After graduating from Bowdoin, Wilkins went on to study at the University of Iowa, where he earned his M.A. in English in 1958 and his PhD in English in 1965. Wilkins earned a Fulbright scholarship, which took him from Iowa to Poland, where he served as a Fulbright lecturer of American literature at the University of Lodz, from 1967-1969. It was in Poland in October 1967, that Wilkins met his partner Mirosław (Mirek) Szejner; the two remained together until Szejner's death in September 2000.

In 1969, Wilkins joined Suffolk University's English department. As a professor, Wilkins specialized in Polish literature, Shakespeare, and modern American drama. He also developed courses focusing on the life and works of the American playwright Eugene O'Neill. Wilkins taught in the English department at Suffolk University from 1969-2000 and he served as its chairman from 1978-1996. Under his leadership the English department flourished, making substantial contributions to the university and to the profession.

One of Wilkins' passions and areas of expertise was Eugene O'Neill. O'Neill was a playwright whose works were known for their intensity, raw emotion, and pessimistic tone; he is often cited as the greatest American playwright, the tragic dramatist who brought realism to the American stage. Over his lifetime O'Neill wrote approximately forty plays, including Long Day's Journey Into Night and The Iceman Cometh. He won four Pulitzer Prizes and in 1936 received the Nobel Prize for literature. Despite these accolades, however, by the end of O'Neill's life his plays were considered outdated and were rarely performed. It was only after his death in 1953 that his works were revived on the stage and celebrated and studied once more.

It was in this atmosphere of O'Neillian revival and renaissance that Frederick Wilkins decided to create The Eugene O'Neill Newsletter. Published by Suffolk University, the Newsletter was launched in 1977 to give O'Neillians everywhere a forum to share their insights, thoughts, and news on all things related to Eugene O'Neill. Wilkins served as editor and occasional contributor; the publication was successful, drawing numerous submissions and growing in length each issue. In 1988, Wilkins transformed The Eugene O'Neill Newsletter into The Eugene O'Neill Review, a reflection of its size and new format. The Review is now the official journal of the Eugene O'Neill Society, an organization dedicated to promoting the study of the playwright's life and works. Wilkins was a member of the Society from its inception in 1979, serving as a member of the board of directors from 1979-1981, as vice president from 1981-1985, and as president from 1986-1988. The Society sponsored three international conferences at Suffolk University in 1984, 1986, and 1995; the first conference was dedicated to "The Early Years," the second to "The Later Years," and the third to "O'Neill's People." Each conference was comprised of group sessions that focused on a particular theme or topic; speakers presented papers on the proscribed topic and discussed their ideas with audience members. Participants in these conferences included teachers, authors, theatre directors, and academics, among them some of the most prominent voices in O'Neillian scholarship.

Wilkins retired from Suffolk University in June 2000, after thirty-one years with the school. In the course of his career, he contributed to a renewed appreciation of Eugene O'Neill's works and helped shape the development of the Suffolk English department. Although he is no longer active in the Eugene O'Neill Society or at Suffolk University, his influence can still be seen in the recent international conferences sponsored by the Society and the continued success of the Eugene O'Neill Review. Wilkins, who passed away on March 29, 2013 after a long illness, was celebrated by friends and colleagues at a memorial service held by Suffolk University on May 23, 2013.
