Suffolk University Endowment

To Suffolk Men and Friends of Suffolk

We Offer These Suggestions in Response to Requests for Information

C.U.M. C.

An Endowment, to secure educational opportunities equal to the needs for those who must come while they live.

In Suffolk University opportunities for those who wish to present educational equal are in the best of those who will wish to study as they work.

This institution has proven its ability and its worth in more than thirty years of service. Without resources as its inception, it has developed five new and colleges of high rank, including a graduate school of Law. Among our resources of additional facilities, the library, the New York, the progress of a quality of education we have sponsored, and the growth of scholarship, together with the facilities of a leading University and Faculty, have made Suffolk one of the leading training centers of the Country.

To uphold these standards possible encouragement should be given. Under all encouragement the growing needs of the Institution. The difference between educational and income from tuition must be met by endowment and gifts.

Encouraging indeed it is to see the half-million-dollar building with additions any capital was secured completing. This, representing over thirty years of effort by President Ashe, is the physical basis of Suffolk Endowment.

In June, legal standing expanded typically to a capital of $3,000,000 for contributions by Professor Thomas J. Ferguson, chairman of the Administrative Committee, who of that standing have also pledged both men and money to aid in establishing University activities and to ensure its perpetuity.

It is urgent and necessary to raise funds to carry on the present work of building up Suffolk so that the world is given birth. These needs can be met by giving of men and money. Contributions for books and equipment to amounts ranging into the thousands. It is only possible barrier for the success and welfare of the Suffolk Endowment. Details of specific needs can be secured from the President of the University, the Director of the Fund, or the Chairman of the Administrative Committee.

IDEAS NEEDED
