Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts.

We, the Class of 1938 of Suffolk University, school of law, being of full age and of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and declare this our last will and testament. We herewith revoke any and all testamentary instruments made at a prior date or inconsistent herewith. After the payment of all lawful claims against us, we direct that our property be disposed of in the following manner:

CLAUSE 1. To that kindly gentleman, Dean Gleason L. Archer, whose smiling face and understanding nature has, during our attendance at Suffolk helped immeasurably to lighten the path as we progressed along the way; to that gentleman whose keen foresight, self-sacrifice, and perseverance has brought about the fulfillment of a great purpose and a great ambition. We, the Class of 1938, give and bequeath our unanimous and sincere vote of gratitude; through his untiring efforts to establish this institution, we have been able to fulfill our ambitions, for he has prepared us for the noble profession of the law.

CLAUSE 2. In view of the conflicting opinions of the members of the Supreme Court, as regards decisions interpreting our Constitution we give and bequeath to Professor Hiram J. Archer, the privilege and pleasure of determining the final interpretation of the aforesaid constitution, as he sees fit. Bearing in mind that any decision which he may make carries much more weight so far as the juniors will be concerned than any decision which our court might render. In addition thereto we give and bequeath to the said Professor Archer our sincere vote of appreciation for the helpful and constructive criticism which he has so often tendered us in our many moments of need.

CLAUSE 3. To Professor Kenneth B. Williams, we give and bequeath three bound volumes of Massachusetts Reports, numbered to correspond with the years 1935 - 1936 and 1937, respectively. We also give to the said Kenneth B. Williams a plaque designating him our most popular and energetic instructor of legal principles.

CLAUSE 4. We give and bequeath to Professor Arthur Vinton Getchell, our promise that if and when we reach the general court of Massachusetts as Legislators, we will institute a bill, changing the law of landlord and tenant as regards notice to quit premises. We leave this promise in order to avoid causing him any embarrassment in propounding this point of law, even at Suffolk in the future. In addition thereto, we give and bequeath our sincere thanks for his most informative lectures, his personal interest, and self-sacrifice.

CLAUSE 5. To Professor Thomas F. Duffy we give and bequeath a medal for his correct pronunciation of the word "says". We also give to the aforesaid Professor Duffy one hundred tickets to the 1939 Suffolk Alumni Ball, sincerely trusting that this bequest will help defray his expenditures as a liberal sponsor.

CLAUSE 6. We give and bequeath to Professor Thomas J. Finnegan an exemplary monitor to insure perfect ventilation and room temperature, thereby following as a natural and probable conclusion from the afore-mentioned facts that Professor Finnegan's temperature will remain that of the reasonably prudent man.

CLAUSE 7. In consideration of our love and affection, we give and bequeath to Professor A. Chesley York, a stereopticon machine so that he may give illustrated lectures, on condition however, that he refrain from using said machine in propounding the law relative to one's "John Hancock." This condition being imposed for benefit of new entrants. In order to prevent any ambiguity either latent or patent as to the identity of the afore-mentioned legatee. The initial "A" stands for Amos.

CLAUSE 8. To Professor Theodore E. Stevenson we had contemplated devising Green Acre in fee, but inasmuch as he has succeeded in winning his right to common law courtesy, the necessity no longer prevails.

CLAUSE 9. It is with great pleasure that we give and bequeath to Professor Herbert S. Avery, Section 77 B of the bankruptcy Act, <sup>with Remainder of Said Act</sup> over to whomsoever cares to take, admonishing them, however, that fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

Redding + Robinson

CLAUSE 10. To Professor Alexander B. Smith, we give and bequeath two decisions which actually concur on the question of covenants running with the land.

CLAUSE 11. To Professor John A. McCarthy, we give and bequeath the Class of 1940 in the fond hope that he will do right by them in deeds.

CLAUSE 12. If as good debtors we marry only real good bankrupts we leave the blame therefor to Professor John L. Hurley.

CLAUSE 13. To Professor Franklin L. Miles and Professor Arthur Stinchfield we give and bequeath a principle of criminal law upon which they may agree.

CLAUSE 14. To Professor Joseph E. Warner, and Professor Warren A. Fogarty, we give and bequeath the task of telling the Juniors what one may, or may not, do under our Constitution, The New Deal to the contrary, notwithstanding.

CLAUSE 15. To Professor Leo Wyman we give and bequeath whatever common sense we may have remaining after taking the Bar examination.

CLAUSE 16. To Professor Patrick Menton, we give and bequeath our sincere thanks for assisting us, a befuddled Senior Class, through the maize and intricacies of Massachusetts Practice.

CLAUSE 17. To Professor Mark Crockett, we give and bequeath our sincere vote of thanks, not only for his excellent instruction in the law, but also for his generous donations to the University Law Library, by which we, his students, have profited greatly.

CLAUSE 18. To Professor Leo Halloran, we give and bequeath one set of notes from one of our more prominent Bar reviewers.

CLAUSE 19. To Professor Willard Lombard, we give and bequeath one fast plane to render his trips to Maine more expeditious.

CLAUSE 20. To Miss Catharine Caraher, the lovely and ever charming assistant treasurer, we give and bequeath a group picture of the Class of 1938, as a token of our admiration.

CHAPTER X. The early years of the life of the author, from his birth to his departure from this world.

CLAUSE 21. In consideration of our debt to Suffolk University, we, in return, give our undying promise that no matter what our lot may be, whether a success or failure, we, as individuals, and as the Class of 1938, will do no act to blot the fair name which it has justly earned.

CLAUSE 22. All the rest and residue of our estate, we leave to the Class of 1939, with a power of appointment to dispose of as they see fit. We hereby appoint said Class of 1939 as executors of this our last will and testament, and it is our desire that they may qualify without giving sureties on their official bond.

CLAUSE 23. Should any legatee deem it advisable to contest this will, it is the desire of the Class of 1938 that his particular bequest be null and void. In the event that any aspirant should doubt the propriety of the aforesaid clause, we respectfully refer them to 262 Mass. 490.

CLAUSE 24. Signed, published and declared by the Class of 1938, as and for its last will and testament, in the presence of us, who at their request and in their presence have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.
