Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

No one questions that the composition of coal ash is complex and that the environmental impacts of coal ash disposal are significant. However, recent studies have suggested that coal ash may contain trace amounts of metals, such as arsenic and selenium, which can pose a threat to human health and the environment. These findings highlight the need for further research on the safety of coal ash disposal methods. It is important for policymakers to consider these potential health impacts when developing regulations for coal ash management. The public should also be informed about these findings so that they can make informed decisions about their exposure to coal ash.

Suffolk Athletics Preparing for Marathon

It has happened many times in the past few days to me: I have found myself in a state of bewilderment as I sit at my desk and look out the window at the snow-covered landscape. The thought of a marathon in such weather is mind-boggling. It seems impossible that anyone could run a marathon in such conditions, yet the Suffolk Athletics team has been training for it. They have been running in the cold, wet, and windy conditions, and they are determined to succeed. The team members have been working hard to prepare for the race, and they are confident that they will be able to make it through the finish line.

Bright Horizon for Suffolk Quintet

The Suffolk Quintet has been training hard for their upcoming performance. They have been working hard to prepare for the performance, and they are confident that they will be able to give their best.

It isn't a particularly good policy to say "Wait until next year." It is better to do it right the first time around. It might have to be postponed. Money is scarce in trying to get equipment, props, etc. I'll have to be patient.

All Suffolk's shows were done by the Suffolk Players. The big conference game was attended by a very few people, but there were only so many people who could attend.

SLUGGERS Called Out

Shoestring Theatre has pulled out the stops for the next show, "The Suffolk Players." The show features a cast of talented actors, including some from the Suffolk University drama department. The show is set in a small town during the 1920s, and it follows the lives of the inhabitants as they deal with the challenges of their time. The show is directed by uw director of theatre, and it is sure to be a hit with audiences.

EXTRA SPORTS: The Suffolk University track team is preparing for the upcoming season. They have been training hard, and they are ready to take on the competition. The team members have been working hard to improve their skills, and they are confident that they will be able to make it through the season.
