We refer you to the Editorial on page 11. Today's Editorial is the most interesting one we've written for the Suffolk Journal. It is a thoughtful piece that addresses the important issue of leave claims. The author explores the complexities of leave claims and provides insights that will help us better understand this topic. Please take the time to read it and consider its implications.

HEADING UP THE STAGE

Last week, in the midst of a letter-writing crusade, the Boston College faculty and student community were swarmed by preparations for the upcoming fall season. The Student Council had been actively involved in organizing events and activities, and the Student Body was eagerly anticipating the return of its favorite clubs and organizations. With the new semester on the horizon, excitement was palpable as students prepared for the challenges and opportunities that lay ahead.

Club Women's Club
After attending the Club Women's Club's recent meeting, students were eager to share their thoughts and ideas. The club women discussed the importance of diversity and inclusion in the club's activities, and plans were made for upcoming events that would bring together students from all backgrounds. The club's executive committee was working on a strategy to increase membership and engage new members.

Student Council Will Send N.C.S. Delegates To Moscow

The Student Council has decided to send delegates to the N.C.S. meeting in Moscow. The council is hoping to strengthen ties with other college organizations and learn about the latest developments in student affairs. The delegates will represent the council's concerns and interests at the conference.

Press, Coming, Will Teach Course at Harvard in Fall

Professor Press, a renowned expert in the field of education, will be teaching a course at Harvard in the fall. The course will focus on the latest research in educational psychology and will include a hands-on component for students. The course is expected to be highly popular, and students are encouraged to apply early.

Profile of An Educator

On War and Peace

To commemorate the 70th anniversary of the end of World War I, the University of Minnesota hosted a symposium on the theme of War and Peace. The event was attended by scholars, policymakers, and veterans from around the world. It was a day of reflection and dialogue, with speakers sharing their insights on the impact of war on society and the importance of peace.

The 1918 World War I ended in 1918, marking the end of a period of unprecedented global conflict. The war had a profound impact on society, with untold numbers of lives lost and entire societies transformed. The symposium explored the legacies of the war and its lasting effects on the world.

We want to thank all of our sponsors for making this event possible. Their support has been invaluable in bringing together experts from around the world to discuss the themes of War and Peace.

The University of Minnesota is proud to serve as a hub for research and dialogue on important issues of our time. We look forward to continuing this important work in the years to come.
DEADLINE SET ON GI BENEFITS

Registration Hits New High---

MORE THAN 500 UNROLLED

BY J. A. SULLIVAN

with the beginning of the fall semester comes the last burst of student enrollment. As more and more students continue their education at the New England Institute, the number of students increases, reaching a peak of over 500 during the fall semester. The increase in enrollment is due to a variety of factors, including improved academic programs, better financial aid options, and heightened awareness among prospective students.

WELCOME FROM MRS. ELOISE H. STOCKER

As the President of Suffolk University, I am delighted to welcome you to our community. This is a special time of year when students are preparing to begin their academic journeys. The fall semester always brings a sense of excitement and anticipation as we welcome new students to our campus.

REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS MCMAHON, R.I.

The Representative of our district, Thomas McMahon, R.I., has been actively involved in the promotion of higher education in our area. He has been instrumental in securing funding for scholarships and other financial aid options, which has helped to reduce the cost of tuition for many students.

Suffolk Journals:BENEFIT S, CONTINUOUS FIGHT FOR GI BENEFITS

AVC Chapter 888 continues its fight for GI Benefits, advocating for equal treatment and access to educational opportunities for veterans. They have been working tirelessly to ensure that our veterans receive the support they need to continue their education.

Attention Veterans!

Join the AVC Chapter 888 and become a part of the movement for GI Benefits. We are fighting for equal treatment and access to educational opportunities for all veterans.

Social this Fall: AVC Chapter 888

AVC Chapter 888 continues its work throughout the fall semester, with events and activities for all students. They are committed to creating a welcoming and inclusive community for all students.

Registration is now open for the fall semester, and we encourage all eligible students to enroll. As a registered student, you will have access to a variety of resources and support services, including academic advising, financial aid, and counseling services.

COUNCIL EXTENDS WELCOME

To the students of our community, we extend a warm welcome. As the fall semester begins, we are excited to see you on campus, and we look forward to working together to create a vibrant and dynamic academic environment.
EDUCATION

CAN WE DEPEND ON YOU?

The Suffolk Journal, on behalf of the students both existing and future welcomes you new students. The old adage, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," carries through to college life too. It will be a happy and rewarding one.

What we have tried hard to do is to show you that
That reading something or school spirit and cooperation school spirit doesn't necessarily mean participation and other activities, will help you get into the spirit of things.

The Suffolk Board of Directors is proud of the student who attended.

 WHO'S TO BLAME ***

"Prejudice" is a dubious word. It's gotten on the ears and bridges everywhere in the minds of various people, and it makes one think of a terrible and destructive feeling. It is hard to explain, and one has to be careful with it.

We see a large group of people, liberal in fact, who we should "liberal"ly blame the world of the past and those of today in order to disagree with that statement. But it seems to me that the source of that liberal idea is a negative one, but that the reason the prejudice a person has, the more he is to blame.

Where does prejudice begin?

is inherited? No. You can warn a sound proof,
and hate a certain person.

is it a result of college indoctrination? Not enough these days is probably the best answer.

is it in the teaching of religious thought? Not good thought would destroy it.

Where, then, where do we learn our prejudices?

precipitation has the world at large in such a state of enlightenment. It is acquired, not learned. It is a state of being. It is a feeling. It is the result of what we have heard and what we have seen.

It is the result of the environment in which we are growing up. We are conditioned by our parents, our friends, our teachers, our companions.

It's the same thing as saying that prejudice is a natural result of the environment in which we grow up.

And Education in habits

Specific habits in the world do transfer, but habits can be changed. If we are not careful in the habits we take,
we can put ourselves in a position
in which we may have prejudice.

The most harmful prejudice in the world is the one that we do not know we have.

Now, how can we overcome
prejudice?

The first and most important step is to become aware of our prejudices. The second step is to change them. The third step is to practice them.

The Suffolk Board of Directors

DO WE NEED A THIRD PARTY?

Do we need a third party?

The people of the United States are clearly divided in their opinions. Through the years, many political parties have been formed to represent different beliefs and values. But what will happen if this country is divided in two?

What can we expect from the third party?

A third party can bring new ideas to the political arena. It can challenge the major parties and force them to change their views. It can also provide a voice for those who feel left out by the two major parties.

REGISTRATION

The campaign for the upcoming national presidential election is in full swing. It is important for every college student to vote,
but how do we register?

There are several ways to register to vote:

1. Online registration - Many states offer online registration, which is easy and convenient.

2. In-person registration - You can register to vote in person at your local election
   office or at a voting center.

3. Mail-in registration - You can register to vote by mail, but make sure to check the deadlines for your state.

It is important to register to vote,
so don't wait until the last minute!

EXCLUSIVE INSIDE INTERVIEW

By WALTER G. SIMMONS

Crisis Expected In Edu. System

Walter F. Oates, who is associated with the educational welfare of students, has expressed his belief that a serious crisis is developing in the educational system. The crisis, he says, is due to the growing number of students who are not able to afford the cost of higher education.

Oates points out that the cost of tuition, room and board, and other educational expenses is rising at a faster rate than the average income of students. As a result, he says, many students are forced to take on part-time jobs in order to afford the cost of education.

"This is a serious problem," he says. "It is difficult for students to concentrate on their studies when they have to work long hours in order to pay for their education." Oates believes that the educational system is not doing enough to help students who are unable to pay for their education.

"The system is designed to benefit the wealthy," he says. "It is time that we begin to address the needs of the lower-income students." Oates is calling on universities and colleges to develop programs that will help students who are unable to afford the cost of education.

AROUND BOSTON'S STAGES

Comedy To Drama

Am Of Dramatic Workshop Group

Arthur Miller, the innovative playwright, is currently working on his latest play, "The Crucible," which is set to open next season at the Boston Playwrights' Theatre. The play is a historical drama about the Salem Witch Trials of the 17th century.

Miller has been working on the play for several months, and he has beenmorethan happy with the progress he has made. He says that the play is a "powerful" story that will resonate with audiences for years to come.

"I am confident that this play will be a great success," he says. "I have worked hard on it, and I believe that it will be a lasting contribution to the world of drama."
