ORIENTATION HELD FOR NEW STUDENTS

"Student Support Needed In Activities," Says Rand At Meeting

On October 1st an assembly of some 300 new students met in the school auditorium for a program of orientation to the various extra-curricular activities.

Harry Burroughs, Son Of Newsboys' Foundation Head Student Here

Harry E. Burroughs, Jr. son of the late Harry E. Burroughs who established the Newsboys' Foundation here in Boston, is now a student at Suffolk University.

He came here because it was his father's alma mater and because Suffolk is a very progressive school," he said.

Harry's father Harry Sr. was when he died, a very prominent and wealthy man. A self made man. His life story is one of rags to riches—and making, some fame.

Harry Sr. began his career as a newsboy on the streets of Boston. Later he sold exclusively to employees of the State House. It was about this time, Harry Jr. related, "that my father won a scholarship from the Boston Trust to come here to Suffolk. It took him just a year and a half to pass the Bar. After this he went to B.U. for his Masters Degree and in Harvard for his Doctor Of Law Degree."

Harry Jr. continued, "Then he began to practice law." In 1927 Harry Sr. established the Newsboys' Foundation. The purpose of this foundation," says Harry Jr. "is to bridge the gap between life in the street and the cultural aspects of life. The institution is charitable, open to all newsboys and street traders."

In 1935, Harry Sr. started a summer camp in Poland, Maine called Agassiz Village. Boys from all the social agencies in Boston are sent there as well as many boys from the foundation.

Harry Sr. also wrote two books. One called "Boys In Men's Shoes" is used by Simmons College and by many other colleges as a text book.

On three occasions, Harry Sr. was asked to appear on radio programs. Twice for "Hobbs Lobb" and once for "We the People." In 1944 Harry Sr. was commended for his achievements as a social worker by an article in the "Reader's Digest." In 1946 he was mentioned in "Who's Who in America."

Burroughs was a chairman of the board of trustees of the Mass. Bar Association.

Harry Burroughs Jr. graduated in Sept. '45 from Tilton High School and then entered Norwich Military Academy. He spent there a year and a half and then came to Suffolk. He is in the College of Liberal Arts.

Student Council president, Larry Rand, opened the program. He pointed out that the first way of getting things accomplished was for the students to support the various school activities. Student Activities Director, Mr. Malette, emphasized Rand's views.

Mr. Law, Director of Athletics, last year gave the new students an overall picture of sports activities. Mr. Law said "Last year we found ourselves in a lough and but our soccer team won district honors. Our basketball team showed great promise which we hope they will capitalize on this year with the new material on hand. After losing their first game, the basketball team went through an undefeated schedule. Our hockey team, which practices in the early morning hours, stood out among the best and this year they should be even greater than last."

Mr. Law went on to describe the athletic program which he hoped the new talented material would strengthen.

Mr. Rand next called upon Mr. John Gilman and Mr. Tom MacDonald to give a talk on the National Students Association. They explained that the NSA was organized to stimulate certain educational movements throughout the nation.

McDonald Elected To Third Highest Office In N.S.A.

Thomas J. McDonald and Simon Gilman, delegates of the National Students Association, recently represented 100,000 college students of Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine at the NSA convention at Madison, Wisconsin.

McDonald was elected Commissioner of Domestic Student Affairs for the New England area. McDonald's position, which is the third highest elective office in the region, warrants his investigation of all phases of student council activities and educational opportunities in this area.

This office also concerns itself in giving aid to various student governments so that they might obtain improvements in their respective schools. To attempt to equalize educational opportunities for all people, and to terminate the practice of discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, and religion, McDonald's office is the elimination of the many quota systems.

Kerensky To Speak Here October 22

Alexander Kerensky, the prominent Russian orator and liberal, has consented to speak at Suffolk on Wednesday, October 22. This will undoubtedly be an occasion that no one will want to miss.

Mr. Kerensky will long be remembered as one of Russia's foremost champions of democracy. In many important democratic reforms. In May 1917 Mr. Kerensky assumed the duties of Minister of War and it is he who organized the last Russian offensive against Germany. Shortly after this having subdued Lenin's first revolutionary uprising, Mr. Kerensky, became president of the Provisional Government and Commander-in-Chief of the army. Five months later Lenin overthrew the Provisional Government and made a separate peace with Germany.

Declared an outlaw by the Bolsheviks and with a price on his head Mr. Kerensky remained in hiding in Russia until June 1918, when he succeeded in making his escape.

He became Vice-president and Minister of Justice of the newly formed Revolutionary Provisional

VA To Speed Up Checks For Vets

Veterans Administration is completing plans to speed up benefits for some 1,325,000 World War II veterans that have enrolled in colleges and universities this fall.

The enrollment set a new record of at least 10 per cent over the previous high enrollment of 1,200,000 last April and will tax the facilities of VA in qualifying the veterans for subsistence allowances.

Although no serious delays in payment of subsistence allowances are anticipated, VA is advising student-veterans to be able to meet personal financial obligation for at least the first six weeks of the fall term.

In most cases, the veterans should receive their first subsistence check early in November.

The time lapse between date of enrollment and receipt of the first check involves two factors. First, a veteran generally is not entitled to receive a subsistence allowance until he has been in training for 30 days. Secondly, all checks are mailed normally on the first of the month, covering the allowances due for the previous month. Therefore, a veteran enrolling during the latter part of September ordinarily would not receive his first check any earlier than the first of November.

The initial check will include all assistance allowances due the veteran from the date of enrollment through the end of the first full subsistence period.

NSLI Premiums To Be Paid In Home Areas

Veterans whose permanent residences are outside of New England but who are attending school here are urged to send their National Service Life Insurance premium payments to the Veterans Administration Branch Office having jurisdiction over the area in which their homes are located.

The veteran, however, is given the alternative choice of sending the Veterans Administration bill him at his school address. Should the veteran prefer this arrangement, he should note his temporary address on the day of the premium notice envelope, VA Form 269, marking it "Temporary Address Only." This will insure his records remaining at the VA Home Office in his home area.

If a veteran desires to pay his premiums at a VA Collection unit near his school, he is urged to give his permanent address, in order that the remittance may be recorded and his insurance account be properly credited at the VA Branch Office in his home area.

Can't Help Singing?

Can't Help Singing? Then Looka Here!

Announcement came today from Mr. MaLette that Suffolk is definitely planning the formation of two new activities, namely, a University Orchestra and a University Glee Club. The registration blanks indicate that interest in these two organizations was very high.

Mr. MaLette will personally take charge of the orchestra. Long connected with concert work, he was a member of several symphony orchestras and conducted both his own orchestra and band in his younger days, he had the honor of being assistant conductor, master and conductor of the President's band and orchestra in Washington, D.C. Therefore, his background and experience in the field of instrumental music are perfect qualifications for this position of "maestro."

So here's a real break for Suffolk students—an opportunity to "bring down the rafters"—with music.

POLITICAL VIEWS FROM BEACON HILL

BY JACK STEWART

It wouldn't help matters in any direction if I were to call the 80th Congress Un-American. First, because the Congress, acting upon the sovereign power given it by the voters of the United States, has already defined the issue, or should I say, glittering generality "Americanism" to suit its own whims.

Therefore anything the Congress does is supposedly done on the ethical interpretation that theologically it is responsible to God—physically, to the people (and we perfectly capable of taking care of himself. It is the people that I'm worried about).

Therefore, I make this accusation. I accuse the 80th Congress of sheer un-democratic squealing and political huckstering while the great majority of the people it represented were left to go homeless, undernourished, confused, and afraid.

The Republican-majority Congress promised many things to the people of America. It was to put its shoulder to the wheel and stabilize not only our country, but the shaky, glittering world as well.

Well, what happened as far as our own country was concerned? It could be bluntly stated that the Congress opened with a prayer to God for inspiration and adjourned with a pat to the back and inspiration from the NAM. The Real Estate Lobby, and the various and sundry price fixing groups throughout the nation. To quote Congressman Chas. A. Halleck (R., Indiana). This is a Congress that considers economy a virtue.

This is probably the first time in our history that the economy has become synonymous.

In all fairness to the matter let's see what the Republican Congress has done in the terms of their own program, in the Congressional Record, Cong. Hall's words.

In our Republican Statement of Intent, we have promised to make this people a growing nation, to defend their lives and their property, to protect their homes, their families, and their property, to defend their homes, their families, and their property, to defend their homes, their families, and their property.

Here is a list of the Ver bills passed by the 80th Congress.

ANTIDOTE FOR A THIRD PARTY

Congress was never so vigorous and aggressive, never at "rarin' to go" as when it was about to adjourn. Our legislators, embarrassingly enough, suddenly discovered that they had neglected to do anything. The bills they had passed solved no national problems, instituted no needed reforms, and were significantly "insignificant."

Our Congressmen were adjourning because of poor health. They had spent many a "sickly" session discussing ailments and exchanging remedies. Their progress was marked by wrangles and debates, insults and bogging-down, challenges to debate, insinuations were evident, and Congressional committees were busily investigating each other. Statistics and reports were plentiful, unfortunately, they were filed away "for future reference."

Finally the people's choices limped home on tired tongues, they had talked a great fight. Their record of achievements makes them eligible for the "Men of Myopic Deception" award. Their most far-sighted planning was the procuring of round-trip train tickets.

Let us briefly enumerate their accomplishments:

Their solution to the food problem was adequate in its finality: "Don't eat!"

And the housing shortage? Remember the slogan "Fifteen per cent or bust!"?

How did they counter-act inflation? Why they restricted the sale of balloons!

What they failed to note or take action on is that, within our own country, we are faced by two main problems:

1. We must restore the self-respect of the American dollar.
2. We must restore the self-respect of the American people.

Can a third party do this? Perhaps.

But do we actually need a third party to do this? No, we don't.

For a third party is not a cure. It is merely a bad alternative. If there is a flaw in our Constitution, we amend it. We don't substitute another document. And if there are weeds in our garden, we yank them out—we don't destroy the garden.

So it is with our Congress and our Congressmen.

There are flaws—those whose only thought is political survival, and there are weeds—the die hards of the "old guard." These men must be removed and replaced.

The Congressional machine needs new parts.

In 1917, after the overthrow of the Monarchy, Mr. Kerensky embarked upon the brief but brilliant career for which he is so well known.

He became Vice-President and Minister of Justice of the newly formed Revolutionary Provisional Government which, in the short period of its existence, introduced many important democratic reforms. In May 1917, Mr. Kerensky also assumed the duties of Minister of War and it is he who organized the last Russian offensive against Germany. Shortly after this, having suffered Lenin's first revolutionary uprising, Mr. Kerensky became president of the Provisional Government and Commander-in-Chief of the army. Five months later Lenin overthrew the Provisional Government and made a separate peace with Germany.

Declared an outlaw by the Bolsheviks and with a price on his head, Mr. Kerensky remained in hiding in Russia until June 1918, when he succeeded in making his

VA To Speed Up Checks For Vets

Veterans Administration is completing plans to speed up benefits for some 1,325,000 World War II veterans that have enrolled in colleges and universities this fall.

The enrollment set a new record of at least 10 per cent over the previous high enrollment of 1,200,000 last April and will tax the facilities of VA in qualifying the veterans for subsistence allowances.

Although no serious delays in payment of subsistence allowances are anticipated, VA is advising student-veterans to be able to receive a subsistence allowance for at least the first six weeks of the fall term.

In most cases, the veterans should receive their first subsistence check early in November. The time lapse between date of enrollment and receipt of the first check involves two factors. First, a veteran generally is not entitled to receive a subsistence allowance until he has been in training for 30 days. Secondly, all checks are mailed normally on the first of the month, covering the allowance for the preceding month. Therefore, a veteran enrolling during the latter part of September ordinarily would not receive his first check early in the first of November.

The initial check will include all subsistence allowances due the veteran from the date of enrollment through the end of the first full subsistence period.

NSA To Represent 2 Million Students

National Students Association is a nation-wide representative of the community of American college students. It will bring to American college students the benefits of regional and national co-operation on many phases of educational problems and activities. It will satisfy the significant and long-felt need for responsible representation of American college students in the ever-growing sphere of international student activity.

Students To Vote On Constitution

The student vote will vote immediately after mid-semester exams in amend the Student Council constitution. The proposed amendment, which is being passed on the council bulletin board for fourteen class days ready for follow.

1. That minutes of every Student Council meeting be made public and displayed conspicuously.
2. That Student Council meetings be open to all students.
3. That the manner in which every member of the Student Council votes be published in the minutes.

N S A
The proposed amendment, which must be ratified by two-thirds of those voting was received in Student Council by a legal petition of two hundred students. The council voted to post statements from the constitution which may aid in clarifying student opinion on the question. Samson Gilman and Stanley Burrows were named to a "Committee to Amend the Constitution." Their only duty will be to receive proposed amendments and submit an opinion to the council.

Also to be ratified by the student body at a near date will be the National Students Association constitution which must be accepted by the school before Suffolk becomes a member of that organization. Copies of the constitution are to be passed out before voting, to enable students to vote more intelligently.

The Student Council has recommended to Mr. Henry MacLette, Director of Student Affairs, that the shooting club and an outing club be accepted as university functions. Both of these organizations were formed by petition to the council. The shooting club, which was represented by Herbert Goodman and John Carley will use the Medford police range. Its activities will include both rifle and pistol shooting. The Outing club has been recommended by the council to submit a constitution when and if that organization decides to become a permanent university activity.

Last and Found
December 2 was announced by Laurence Rand president as the day of Student Council elections. The Student Council will head a committee in charge of election. Also named were William Robinson and Richard Carson.

The council announces the establishment of a "bag and fudge" department and a "Student Mail" file in the old Student Council offices (near room 22) on the second floor.

How The NSA Was Born

In August, 1946, a meeting of the World Student Congress was called by the British and Czechoslovakian student groups. The U.S. did not have a national student organization. As a consequence, the American delegates to Prague were composed of fifteen students who represented existing national collegiate groups and ten students elected by student governments of ten leading colleges.

While in Europe, these delegates were impressed by the activities of national student unions of other countries as contrasted with the complete absence of such undertakings in the U.S. and England. The day seed of a national student group in the U.S.

Upon their return, these twenty-five students, in conference with one national youth group, decided to call a conference of American students to sound out campus opinion on the desirability of forming a national student organization for the U.S.

This convention met at the University of Chicago, December 28-30, 1946. Three hundred colleges and universities were officially represented. The National Constitution Committee was set into operation to lay the groundwork for the future Constitutional Convention, which was held August

Ruth Mack, Globe Fashion Artist Guest At S.U. Class

Looking as pretty and demure as her cartoon creation "Sally Slaughter," Miss Ruth Mack, daughter of the celebrated sports cartoonist, Gene Mack, was recently a guest of the Feature Article Writing class at Suffolk.

Miss Mack, fashion artist for the Globe, was invited by Mr. Paul Kieruland, feature writer for the William A. Globe, and instructor of the course, to give a personal interview which was to be written as a class assignment.

The blue-eyed blonde answered the questions thrown at her by the students and some of the answers she came up with were: "I live the 'New Look'." "I give stockings are super."

"I like hats are best."

"The Red Sox will win the 1948 pennant with Joe McCarthy as manager."

"I.B. Ahoor, Bing Crosby, Ted Williams, and Ted Brown are her favorites."

B.C. is her favorite college football team although Bob Marzetti, former Brown U. and Chicago Bears, and now back field coach at Harvard is her brother-in-law.

She wants a family after marriage, preferably a baseball team.

"Welcome Home Fireman Kenny"

Every journalist instructor at Suffolk is a professional newspaperman and the staff includes two former City Editors, a Night City Editor, an ex rewrite man and a popular feature writer.

The ex rewrite man is Herb Kenny of The Boston Post. When forest fires swept thousands of acres in Maine Kenny was ordered north to cover the story. He was away from Newspaper Row and his Suffolk classroom for a week, covering major disasters at Kennebunkport, Portland and Bar Harbor. When he returned he found on his Suffolk blackboard this message: "Welcome Home, Fireman!"

S.U. LIBRARY OVERRUN BY HUNGRY HOBOES

Hobo Dance To Be Followed With Gala Affair At Copley Plaza Thanksgiving Eve

BY C. K. AVERY

Over 200 tall, short, heavy, light, and other unutilized type hoboos, trapped into S.U.'s once quiet and dignified library Saturday night, November 1st, for a hobo jammer. It was one of those dreary affairs in which couples came dressed in their trampiest looking duds.

Twisted cigarette and cigar stubs protruded from red-painted, jabbering lips. Top hats, that had once seen their glory, rested precariously on hobbling heads. Colorful patches contrasted an interesting spectacle in clothing material that was recklessly draped over attendant hoboos.

Diana Patchik came dressed in the fascinating French style of red, beret, hip-tight skirt (short).

Bob Mahoney and his 5-piece combo gave forth with a bouncy rhythm that kept the hoboos jumping all night.

During the dancing, baskets of apples were placed in various sections of the hall which couples thought were free for the taking. As soon as a hobo would take an apple, appointed sheriffs would whisk them into a grunged-up jail where the hobo and his partner had to remain until they finished eating the apple.

Joe Clancy had arrested on the dancing the stealing of the walls of the jail bulged to a breaking point.

The serious case of the night happened to be the stealing of a whole basket of apples.

Sheriffs searched in vain, finally discovering the culprit to be one Mr. Fox. Curled up in the base drum, Fox was innocently enjoying the juicy fruit as the sheriffs closed in on him for the arrest.

S.U. Trio

George Karavassilis grouped all attendees about the microphone and invited them to sit on the highly polished S.U. Library floor to witness a floor show.

A trio trouped out to the spotlighted mike and the show was on with Phyllis Terrazano, Ed Pearl and George Karavassilis singing "My Heart Belongs to a Hobo." They clicked so well that they

Brooks School Invades State House Grounds

It seemed peculiar to see pretty "big" babies slurping fresh milk out of nipped bottles. Even more peculiar was it to hear dispersed ladies making with honest-to-goodness baby-talk. Yet, Friday noon, October 18th, the S.U. "Campus" (the same one the State House is privileged to use) was invaded by such babies from the neighboring Brooks School for Girls.

The "merry" Brooks girls chose to romp out in their best baby clothes to entertain "Ted Day," a form of initiation for freshmen. Veteran students in Suffolk cor-

APPOINTMENTS

The acquisition of a larger, qualified group of instructors has always been a major point in S.U.'s program of improving its collegiate standing. The Journal welcomes two of the new members of the faculty whose appearance on the roster will undoubtedly aid S.U. in its accreditation goal.

Dr. Raymond J. Murphy, a native New Yorker, was educated at St. John's, Columbia, Michigan and Harvard. He received the degrees of B.S., M.A., LL.B. and Doctor of the Science of Jurisprudence.

Because Dr. Murphy has a definite distaste for glittering adjectives, we will attempt to describe his accomplishments with the employment of nouns and verbs. He was an instructor and an administrative assistant at St. John's in the business world, he has held the position of assistant to a New York railroad executive, partner in a law firm, and member of the New York, Massachusetts and Federal bars.

Thanksgiving Day Dance To Be In Copley Plaza

Swinging into line in the midst of the festive bustle, Suffolk is heading up the holiday with the Second Annual Thanksgiving Dance. This gala event is to be held in the magnificent Copley-Plaza ballroom from 8:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. on Wednesday evening, November 26th. Pete Cutler and his orchestra will be the music-makers.

This will be the biggest and most expensive informal affair the Social Club has ever attempted. But we are confident in anticipating a large turn-out with many faculty and alumni members there.

Here is an opportunity for you to enjoy an evening of dancing to the distinguished Copley-Plaza for only $2.40 per couple. And just to make sure that you are able to attend the dance, the tickets are now on sale at the bookstore, the library, the bureau's office, the switchboard, and from various clubs.

AVC To Distribute Medals To Vets

Suffolk University's AVC chapter held its term election of officers. Those elected were: W. Stewart (CA), Chairman, Spencer B. Sterne (CLA), Vice Chairman, Samuel B. Cinnamon (Law Sci.), Recording Sec'y, How Zorfas (Law Sci.), Corresponding Sec'y, Albert J. Linn (CBA), Treasurer, Jack Smith (Law Sci.), retiring chairman, and Ed Masterman (PL), retiring treasurer to the executive committee.

Chapter 388 has outlined a plan for distributing Victory Medals to the eligible Veterans in the school. The requirements for the medals will be the presentation of the veteran's original discharge papers. A poll has been made of the veterans in the school to determine in what category they fall, Army, Navy or Marines.

The AVC now has operating quarters in the lower basement men's lounge. Any student desirous of obtaining information about veteran privileges or any of the information that pertains to veterans may find the answer by contacting the AVC representative.

The AVC will also act in the capacity of representative agent for any students who are having difficulty in obtaining checks and other VA services.

to September 7, 1947, at the House of Representatives. This convention was attended by 1,000 students representing the student bodies of over 300 colleges and all parts of the U.S.

During the eight day convention, a constitution for this new organization was ratified and a program of activities for the year was drafted and accepted.

The most significant aspect of this new organization is that the collegiate delegates meeting in Madison, not so representative of any particular group or club on their campus, but rather as official delegates from their student body.

Aims. As stated in the preamble of the constitution which the convention adopted the NSA aims to (1) secure and maintain peace and freedom and the rights of students (2) stimulate the development of democratic self government (3) foster better educational standards, methods, and facilities, and work for the improvement of student social, cultural, and physical welfare (4) promote international rights regardless of sex, religion, political beliefs, or economic circumstances.

Supporters. The leading educators, also recognizing the need for an organization of this type, have pledged their aid in the promulgation of its programs.

President Truman in his letter to the constitutional convention of the NSA said: "Our American faith in education requires no apology or defense. We must, however, make certain that the programs of our educational institutions serve most effectively the needs of our democratic society. We should, therefore, welcome heartily the formation of such an organization that has, as one of its prime objectives, a constructive effort to improve the quality of our services in institutions of higher education." I congratulate your group on the opportunity that lies before it."

POLITICAL VIEWS FROM BEACON HILL

Committees have already been appointed to launch the publicity and ticket selling for this bang-up occasion. George Ingraham and Joseph Clancy are co-chairmen of the ticket committee. The advertising committee consists of Morton Fennberg and Louis Levine. Heading the investigation committee is Charles Ryan assisted by Beatrice Butler. With the proper spirit of cooperation amongst the members there should be no great difficulties in making this dance a rousing success. The Social Club plans to unveil a new huge school banner and give away another door prize in a live turkey event.

The holiday is zooming in on you and the corridors are noisy with the talk of Thanksgiving. Join in. Begin by buying your ticket now. Tickets will not be sold at the door.

S.U. Girls' Club To Redecorate 4th Floor Lounge

In the field of organization the poor male has again had his superior position in the male sex. This latest uprising appears at Suffolk with the formation of the Girls' Club, which will herald the spotlight with S.U.'s other extra-curricular activities. Led by Miss Ruth C. Widmayer, Advisor to Women, the outstretched femininity of our University will attempt to prove that they are not outnumbered in progressive ideas.

Being a permanent organization the Club's first move was to draw up a constitution. The chore was assigned to Miss Connie Cuiopulos. Next in line are plans for the redecoration of the fourth floor lounge. The committee appointed to improve the appearance of that popular gathering place consists of Marguerite Hemmer, Barbara Collier, and Carmen Cuiopulos.

The Club's most important iron in the fire is the formation of a cheering squad. A branch of the cheer squad will undoubtedly attract more spectators at S.U.'s athletic events as well as boost the morale of our fighting men.

Philosophy Club Elected Officers

Abstract philosophies were temporarily abandoned while the Philosophy Club got down to the concrete business of electing its officers.

Leslie W. Bohlstedt was elected president, Cornell P. Sheehan, vice president, Homer J. Sage, secretary, and Stephen H. Vinal, treasurer.

The philosophy of the individual student is the individual student.

Here is an organization which somewhere in the near future will have as much chance in the U.S. as a snookball will in the process. The snookball will be again in 48. You know. "Vote Republican or Vote Communist."

The larry of the whole situation is this. The whole stupid, blundering mess is the biggest advertisement the Communists ever had. Communists in the country are trying to prove that the Communists have filtered into a major portion of everything in the country. First it's labor, then it's the Veterans organizations, the publications, the civil service, the schools, the colleges, the maritime service, now the movies, and next week the Old Ladies Home.

Now I wonder if certain politically-minded people who have literally failed the people and who used this country as a base before, are not trying to turn our heads to the left while they sneak into office through the door on our right.

Communism as a theory, theology, or economic principle is absolutely no good. Furthermore, to get away from the doctrine preached in the U.S. today, to get away from the mythic individuals who are forever calling names and exaggerating conditions, the communists in the U.S. have been as strong as they were in 1932, based on the electoral vote, the National electoral vote.

In 1944 the communists were on the defensive in the U.S. today, in the U.S. they went into the column called "Others" which includes everybody that voted for Joe Doaks and his grandmother.

This column only got 216,219 votes. These figures do not speak well for the communists or the seagoing groups who use it as a basis for an insinuation to destroy.

Let certain groups figure this out. Under their reactionary administration communism was at its height. It was only in 1944 that it was utterly defeated. They were replaced by a spirit of progressive liberalism, and communism declined. They attacked control of the legislature, they organized again and according to their own accusations and actions communism is again on the upswing.

The pay off is that they appropriate eleven million dollars to carry on their witch hunt. That eleven million dollars could help pay the mortgage on the 100,000,000 GI homes. This is a tangible way of stopping the so called "Red Tide."

Yes, it's certain legislators tried legislating for the people instead of the vote communism would have as much chance in the U.S. as a snookball will in the process. The snookball will be again in 48. You know. "Vote Republican or Vote Communist."

EDITORIALS

DON'T LET YOURSELF DOWN

In a college we find a cross-section of human nature. Our first concern is with that portion of human nature termed "indifference." We go on from there.

Indifference in a college is unexplainable—excusable. How can a student be indifferent to his own future? If he is, then we must turn to another word—stupidity.

Stupidity is not measured by poor marks so much as it is by naive unconcern.

Indifference and stupidity point to two factors: (1) Complete unawareness of what college has to offer. (2) Complete unawareness of what should be offered to college. If the student would only remember that whatever he does in college, whatever he accomplishes, goes down on his record. If he would only remember that this record of grades and activities goes where he goes, that he cannot elude it. If he would only remember that this record will be subject to keen appraisal, and that it must not be found wanting in any respect.

Perhaps then the student will re-evaluate himself and snap out of his lethargy. Perhaps then he will realize that he has been walking through the school, but has seen nothing—that he has sat in on classes but has heard nothing—that he has spoken to others but has said nothing—that he has received an education but has learned nothing—that with all he has done, he has done nothing. Perhaps then he will realize that he must make college part of himself, and himself part of college.

When the student can truthfully say to himself, "I know where I stand. I know where I'm going. I know how to get there," he will have opened a new world. He will have discovered that there is a life to college, an incentive to college, a destination to college. He will have found that college is not a disdainful immobility, but a sincere and helpful friend—a good friend.

And only a fool would turn down friendship.

LET US FORGET

Let us pause to think on the eve of the day when we honor those who died that we might live. The men who fell in the desert sands of Tunisia, the sloping beaches of Anzio and Normandy, the coral reefs of Tarawa, the rolling jungles of Saipan, and the fields and forests of Bastogne and Huertgen.

Let us forget.

These men died that we might live in a nation and a world based on an ethical, theological, and judicial concept that all men have a right to the attainment of life and liberty—and the pursuit of happiness.

What a terrible thing that virtually on the eve of the day we aside to honor these men, the halls of Congress are vilified by political inquisitors who unconstitutionally and undemocratically strive to destroy the sacred rights of the living and the honor of the dead.

Congressman J. Parnell Thomas had a point in his injunction. A sound political propaganda point. If you throw enough mud against the wall, some of it's bound to stick.

It stuck!

It will stick even better when the child learns how to turn its pants to the authorities for expressing a view other than that prescribed by his government.

Yes, when these men died a fanatical man was screaming. Today Germany is ours, tomorrow the whole world. "We were then inflicted in the final stroke of the gavel at the Senate investigation."

Did it sound like, "Today the committee is ours, tomorrow the whole world?"

We of the colleges hope that our dead have not died in vain.

KERENSKY PLEADS BALANCE FOR OUR TROUBLED WORLD

The highlight of the evening, which was the presentation of prizes.

Prizes Given

A jug of cider to hobo delight as first prize to Phyllis Terzani, dressed in today's neck tie and blouse and to Byron Morgan in top hat and scattered patches.

Second prize, violin solo, to Ruth Ogan and Joe Higgins as the shortest couple present.

Third prize, a new suit to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marple as the tallest couple.

To the heaviest couple went the fourth prize of vanilla cream which John's rules, immediately began to spread over uninvited guests.

John Durigan and Ann Ruth won prize number five, a set of lead weights for being the lightest couple present. Ann was really fatless.

Jack Wallace trumped his prize 14 shoes upon the table to receive the sixth prize for wearing the most shoes.

Five number seven, a bottle of Aizer-Spitzer which was promptly used to red-dressed John's pants, for being the pig of the evening.

Richard House received the eighth prize for being the tallest couple.

Joe Clancy received the ninth prize, a set of dolls to be used to signal his whereabouts.

The tenth and final prize went to pretty Ann Johnson, the girl with the most ridiculous clothes.

Directly after prizes were given, all were invited to dancing to the accompaniment of the band.

Chen Chen and Joe Clancy, the Ryan, pretty Connie Chubb, and others, tirelessly served the hobo guests with refreshments.

When it was discovered that the doughnuts disappeared too quickly for normal consumption, all searched for the culprit. Mr. Fox, who it is reported, has an ungovernable mania not only for apples, but doughnuts as well.

Fox was discovered with Shell number N200-SOME-JOB-12 feeding his face with all four limbs.

To keep the show moving Charlie Ryan dressed in his best formal suit and danced with the girls.

Partners lacked fingers and swore to share cigarette stubs with each other.

Muck marriage licenses were handed out, the hobo baggage to be taken to the following terms: (1) The tramp must prepare to prepare the hobo's bed every night no matter what freight he chooses. (2) The tramp must not pass any hobo in the street without lip-stick stains. (3) The hobo must promise to wash every where the hobo goes and take the tramp to the hobo convention every year.

Sponsored by the International Relations Club, Mr. Kerensky spoke here at the Suffolk and Boston, and thousands of students interested in the affairs of this nation and the world.

Mr. Kerensky concerned himself primarily with the schism in European politics between the United States and Russia. It was his theory that the reason for the present conflict between these two nations is that they have been friends throughout history, but that old friend equilibrium (balance of power) is now broken.

He then explained that European prominence world affairs has been replaced by United States wealth and supremacy. The United States is now the most powerful nation in the world, the most free Russia, the most powerful nation in Europe which has opposite government and economic systems.

Only before 1914, Kerensky went on to say, "did we have Wilson's dream of a new world, and only at that time did we have a new economic system, free enterprise." Now we have capitalism in the United States and communism in Russia, we had lost our way.

Under such conditions, the world can never have a new world, functioning as a single unit.

Communist Russia is completely a "statist" state. In Stalin's hands it has become a system of unlimited power, ruling on violence and not on law.

Mr. Kerensky said that the purpose of Russia's dictatorship is to bring about a new world, the overthrow of the system of capital in the world, and a powerful force for its further development.

All Communists believe that the world can never have a new world, functioning as a single unit.

The Journal extends its congratulations to the International Relations Club on the presentation of Mr. Kerensky. This was the first attempt this year to give the students of Suffolk a broad view of world affairs.

Mr. Kerensky was highly pleased with the successful outcome of the Suffolk Club's presentation.

EXCLUSIVE INSIDE INTERVIEWS

BY WALTER F. GALLAGHER

Pitirim Alexandrovitch Sorokin of Harvard University not only engineered the touch necessary to topple the Czarist regime at Archangel in the Fall of 1918, but also predicted World War II as early as 1920 in his own series, "Crises of Our Age."

Voluminously foot-noted in every language he has mastered the Slav languages as well as English, German, French, and as he modestly proposed, "Perhaps if condemned to death could reduce the respective death sentence even in Spanish."

Banished from Russia in 1922 when the freshly tailored purges had not reduced the respective death sentence even in Spanish.

Simply, I found a spectacular, wily figure actually just the opposite.

man behind a big desk with the nose sun streaming in, rupturing the deliberate quest of his dandy period, the wrinkled hands and face of one enthused with a thousand harvest—a far more than merely brilliant person to whom the Song of the Volga Boatmen was more than a song; it is a way of life.

Went To Harvard

The University of Minnesota offered him a position on its staff and he gladly accepted the offer of the wide acclaim he had achieved. He came, saw his long-concealed Mississippi, River and he was a boy in the St. Petersburg jail—and is now trying to conquer human selfishness.

After lecturing three six years he went to Harvard to become chairman of the Sociology Department where he has published over twenty volumes. In 1930 he became naturalized.

Not the slightest bit homesick for Russia, one brother having "perished" in jail and the other shot, the professor said, without any student body that he ever returned, he would be shot.

Condemned To Death

Although a wandering, preaching apostle of the greatest mass social studies in history, the overthrow of the "Czarist Russia" and secretary to the Kerensky government when it was overthrown, he was recognized widely as editor-in-chief of the Russian paper "Will of the People," that Communist newspaper.

He was a man of action, he was condemned to death by the Communists in the fall of 1918 and was held in Moscow, pending the decision of Lenin and his sons. He was persecuted not because there was an open season on peasants, but because he did not, nor was he a gentleman and his anarchical conception of Communism. Even after a bit of publicity by Lenin himself, he was an intellectual and therefore should be encouraged to join the party. The "Fit" as he called himself, "I am not afraid of death."

I found out what it was like in that miserable prison.

Talking about present internal tensions, Sorokin declared that the division of booty between the U.S. and the USSR would at least postpone a war between great powers, if not entirely eliminate use.

To prevent a war which unfortunately but decidedly would be the beginning of mass annihilation, Sorokin once devoted all of his free time to a study of how to make human beings and groups more altruistic, in order to help the threads of peace cling together.

SPORTSCOPE HIGHLIGHTS

BY THOMAS A. GULLASON

During the past month we have witnessed the unveiling of a host of the many sports activities in this school, namely soccer and that darkhorse ping pong.

S.U. Basketeers Receive Large Turnout At 'Y'

Suffolk's basketball team, with a year of competitive play under its belt, is looking forward to a great season. Sixty-eight candidates turned out for the first tryout session at the Army-Navy Y. Charlesworth and some of the new prospects looked mighty good.

Apparently, this year will definitely give us bumper competition, especially at Becker College. "No doubt, this game will be the biggest sell on the Royals schedule." Last fall Becker College, with a record of 12-1, defeated the N.E.A.A. champions Holy Cross, by only six points.

Lettermen Remain

Couch Charles Lusk was excitedly pleased at the team turnout and when asked about the future of the team he stated, "It's a little early to make predictions, but I think we will produce a team that the school will be proud of."

Seven lettermen from last year's team are back to bolster the squad. They include J. Wallace Foster, Stratford, Fairfield; Goldman, Stoughton and Sanford. The first game will be played on December 11 at Assumption College in Worcester, followed by Loyell Textile, Fitchburg State, Bridgewater State, Harvard (J.V.), Becker College and nine other teams will be announced later. Two games will be played in the Boston Arena.

Authentic sources state that a public address system has been installed in the auditorium room. When that time comes students will have to take their sleeping at home.

Drama Workshop To Present New Play In December

The drama workshop has started the new year with casting for their new play, "Fashions of Life in New York" under the direction of Mr. Kerwin of the English department.

The play will feature new faces and figures. The acting will be of the same high calibre that was shown in the production of "The Animal Kingdom" last year.

We believe that December 17th and 18th, the dates set for the performances, may well serve the students of Suffolk University with an opportunity to introduce their family and friends to the school.

Enough for the present introduction. Let's take a look at the sports allies for basketball and basketball.

Along the Sports Trail

It's off to the native soccer squad. I've been informed via confidential sources that the whole squad has shown better never before demonstrated by any other previous team. Congratulations in order to the following men: Rite, Hume, Heiler, Sturman, Varg, Mahors, Nivak, Snelling, Torng, Burrows, Swansburg, T. John, A. Tobin, Perkins, Quinn, Murphy, Sullivan, Anderson and Sernikowicz. Keep up the good spirit men, someone is watching you, and is proud of you.

Take A Bow

Introducing another sports personality to the student body. An excellent hockey no less. A "S.U. welcome to our new hockey star," exclaims Miss Frederica Green. He references "Lapin" to this. She played hockey in Canada for a number of years and was formerly a sports writer at McGill College, Montreal.

Miss Green has been an ardent hockey fan for a long time and when questioned about her ideas on the Boston Bruins she bluntly stated, "They don't belong on the ice. We're sick with the Canadians. But no doubt they do have the skill all around player in the league in Milt Schmidt."

Comment In Passing

I've read everything the athletic sphere. I'd like that that is a "No. 1" thing. Everything is so volatile. Nothing is permanent. It's not this confusion out there.

Thought For A Day

Wouldn't it be a great idea if we could get at least half of the female student body out to some of the basketball and hockey games? I think an air of femininity would help. Don't you?

Royals Play Superior Ball In M.I.T. Clash

BY SHAW AND ROBINSON

Let by a newly appointed coach, Harry Briggs, the Suffolk soccer squad started its season by dropping a close, hard-fought game to Fitchburg State Teachers, 1 to 0.

In their second contest of the campaign the Royals did a complete reversal and whipped Bridgewater State Teachers College 4 to 1. Other games included a 4 to 0 defeat at the hands of Tufts and a 3 to 3 tie in a return engagement with Bridgewater State.

NOW THE SUMMARIES

Even though the Suffolk booters dropped their initial contest 1 to 0 to Fitchburg State Teachers, they dominated the play throughout the game. Suffolk's defense referee banished the team's star fullback and co-captain, Nick Novak, from the game. Then, with less than four minutes to play, Miller (CF) of Fitchburg, tallied the only score of the game.

With the Royals playing Bridgewater State Teachers on home ground at the Boston Common, the Suffolk stalwarts, playing brilliant offensive and defensive ball, scored three times in the first half and once in the second to rack up their first victory of the season.

John "Polack" Sernikowicz was the big gun for Suffolk, scoring three quick goals by John Barling to win a 4 to 0.

At Tufts

Injurying to Tufts for the third game the Royals, after trailing by one goal in the first half, collapsed in the last half as the Jumbos revitalized, slammed three quick goals by John Barling to win a 4 to 0.

Barling playing a standout game as goalie by turning away some hard shots. Sernikowicz, our leading scorer, had to leave the game in the first quarter with a lame leg. McKinley was Tufts' leading point-getter, collecting 3 goals.

Return Match

In a return match with Bridgewater State Teachers, the Royals met stiffer competition. After battling stubbornly to overcome a break at 2 to 2 deadlock, Suffolk came within minutes of winning its second game of the season over Bridgewater when Sernikowicz scored his second goal of the day, but with only seconds remaining, Bridgewater volleyed in their third and tying goal. R. Tobin scored a goal and played a steady game for our side.

Gaulie Ernest Anderson, playing his first game for the Royals, made some sensational saves.

After the game coaches Briggs and Anderson, in a friendly spirit, played off the game later in the season.

Even though the Suffolk soccer team lost 1 to 0 to the M.I.T. Junior varsity at Cambridge, operators conceded that the Royals won a moral victory. By their slashing attacks in the third period of which they carried the ball to the opponent's cage five times and missed scoring by inches, the Royals demonstrated superior play.

The lone goal of the afternoon was sunk in the first period by center, Robert Winter. Souter, a quick running play in the opening minutes. For the rest of the game M.I.T. was forced to stay on the defensive to retain their one-point lead.

For Suffolk: Anderson G. Burrows, HFB, Novak LFB; Quinn, Mchues, Murphy HFB; Sullivan CHB; Varg, Limmer, Souter, LFB; Winkle CF; Austin, Silberman, ROF; Bremer RF; Mandel, Morrison, Brewer LOF; Serrif LFB.

For M.I.T.: Dayton G. Ferguson, Stein RFB; Klemchuk LFB; Stevenson, Skilman RFB; Drucker CHB; Varg, Limmer, Souter, LFB; Winkle CF; Austin, Silberman, ROF; Bremer RF; Mandel, Morrison, Brewer LOF; Serrif LFB.
