One of the most intéressant things that has happened in recent war days is the great interest shown in our local and national radio stations by the Chaplains and Chaplains-in-Chief.

One of the most interesting things that has happened is the great interest shown in our local and national radio stations by the Chaplains and Chaplains-in-Chief.

It is a fact that Chaplains and Chaplains-in-Chief have been able to get a direct line to the minds of the men and women in the armed forces of our country. They have been able to reach them through the medium of radio and television, and their words have been heard by millions of our fellow citizens.

TRIBUTE TO THE GREAT

Few bills which have ever been introduced in the United States Congress have received such universal approval as the one introduced by Senator Claude Pepper of Florida in the 77th Congress: H.R. 647. This legislation is designed to keep open the flow of books and ideas from Finland to America by acquiring the birthplace of the late Dr. George Washington Carver, world-famous agricultural chemist in Tuskegee, Two miles southwest of Diamond, Newton County, Missouri, at a price of four times the value of the property. The time of this acquisition is an event of great importance for the American people, for it marks the beginning of a new chapter in the history of education and science. It is a reminder of the great achievements of African Americans and of the contributions of the Negro to America and to the world we hope to build.

HIGH WIND IN JAMAICA

The whirlwind which is passing over the earth, carrying in its path a storm of rain and destruction is now common everywhere, as the United States struggles for victory over the forces of evil. It is a key moment in the war, and the future of the world is in the balance. The British West Indies last week took the lead. They have reached a peak in the battle for liberty and independence, and in the struggle for freedom they are setting an example for the rest of the world. The people of Jamaica have been lifted to a higher plane of action and have become a force to be reckoned with. The bighorn of the sip, a system which has so improved the picture of the war.

While the reforms announced for Jamaica are not steeped in the traditional of the British Empire, they are a step forward in the direction of achieving a better understanding between the races. The government is taking steps to ensure that the interests of all sections of the community are represented in the decision-making processes. The new measures are designed to improve the social and economic conditions of the people and to promote greater co-operation between the various groups. The government is also taking steps to ensure that the educational system is improved and that the people have access to better health and housing facilities.

RACE RELATIONS ARE IMPROVING

By Charles B. Rasool, Sr.

It is deliberately noteworthy that January 21st was celebrated in Providence, for the past three weeks has been a turning point in the long history of race relations. While and until the recent days, the race has been a major issue in the history of our nation, the present situation is a major step forward. The events of the past year have shown a clear indication of improvement in the race relations in the United States. The National Negro Congress, held in Washington, D.C., in February, was attended by representatives of all the major civil rights organizations, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Urban League, and the National Council of the Negro Press. The meeting was a major step forward in the effort to improve race relations in the United States. The meeting was a major step forward in the effort to improve race relations in the United States.
