

Suffolk University

Digital Collections @ Suffolk

Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN)

Suffolk University Publications

1971

Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN), vol. 02, no. 1, 1971

Suffolk University Office of Public Affairs

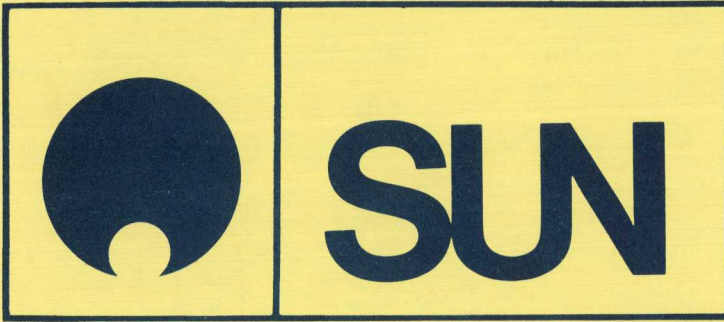

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun>

Recommended Citation

Suffolk University Office of Public Affairs, "Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN), vol. 02, no. 1, 1971" (1971). Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN). 49.

<https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun/49>

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN) by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.

THE SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY NEWSLETTER

Published by Public Relations Office
Louis B. Connelly, Director

Vol. 2 Number 1

September, 1971

THOMAS A. FULHAM WILL BE INSTALLED AS PRESIDENT
SEPTEMBER 26 AT OUTDOOR CEREMONIES ON TEMPLE STREET

Thomas Anthony Fulham will be installed as president of Suffolk University on Sunday, September 26, at 2 p.m. at outdoor ceremonies to be held on Temple Street, adjoining the school.

Governor Frances W. Sargent and Mayor Kevin H. White head the list of invited guests which includes leaders from education, government and industry as well as members of Suffolk's faculty, administration and staff. Speakers will include student leaders from the colleges and law school and representatives from the faculty and alumni.

Several hundred are expected to attend the ceremonies, which will mark the first outdoor inauguration in Suffolk's 65-year history. Judge John E. Fenton, chairman of the board of trustees, will preside and install Fulham.

Highlight of the program will be an address which will be delivered by Sister Mary Vianney Fulham, president of Mt. St. Mary College, Hooksett, N.H. She is the sister of President Fulham.

Mr. Fulham has served as president of Suffolk since October 19, 1970, when he succeeded Judge Fenton, who retired after five years as president.

The Sunday program will feature a champagne reception and tour of Suffolk's expanded and renovated facilities following the inaugural exercises.

The 56-year old Fulham has been prominent in the fishing industry for nearly 20 years and is a recognized authority in the ecology field. He has been chairman of the Massachusetts Board of Natural Resources since 1954 and is U.S. Commissioner for the International Commission for Northwest Atlantic Fisheries, representing 15 nations.

(continued on page 2)

The inaugural ceremonies will be opened by Judge Fenton, who will introduce Superior Court Judge Frank J. Donahue, dean of the Massachusetts jurists, and former long-time treasurer of Suffolk University and presently a trustee. Judge Donahue will bring welcoming remarks.

The greetings of the city will be delivered by Mayor White and the Commonwealth's remarks will be brought by Lt. Governor Donald Dwight. Governor Sargent will be unable to attend because of a personal commitment.

Other speakers will include Donald W. Goodrich, retired dean and vice president of Suffolk University, who will speak on behalf of the faculty, Neal D. Hannon, president of the Suffolk General Alumni Association, Joseph B. Shanahan, president of the Suffolk Student Government Association, and John C. Deliso, president of the Suffolk Student Bar Association.

President Fulham's response will be made following the address by Sister Mary Vianney Fulham.

The invocation will be delivered by the Reverend Harold G. Ross, Jr., pastor of St. John's Baptist Church, Woburn, while the Reverend Monsignor Russell H. Davis of St. Paul Church, Wellesley, will give the benediction.

Music for the occasion will be supplied by members of the Boston Fire Department Band.

S.U. BUILDINGS NAMED FOR ARCHERS AND JUDGE DONAHUE

The Suffolk University Board of Trustees, in an action taken at their September 8 meeting, voted to name two university buildings after Gleason L. and Hiram J. Archer and Judge Frank J. Donahue, former treasurer of Suffolk and life-time trustee.

The Derne Street building, commonly referred to as the "old building," will be named The Archer Building in memory of Gleason L. Archer, founder of Suffolk, and his brother, Hiram, late clerk of the corporation, professor and life trustee.

The Temple Street structure, or "new building," will be named The Frank J. Donahue Building in honor of Judge Donahue, the 90-year old Massachusetts Superior Court jurist, who has given so much of himself to the law school and colleges since his graduation from the law school 50 years ago.

President Fulham noted that "the board of trustees found it most fitting to recognize the significant contributions made by these men to Suffolk's history. The tireless dedication and devotion to Suffolk University by Gleason and Hiram Archer and Judge Frank Donahue will always be remembered by students, alumni and all of Suffolk's family."

The board also voted to identify the building on Cambridge Street and Ridgeway Lane, now used for classrooms and student activity offices, as the Ridgeway Building.

PROFESSOR FIORILLO VOTED HONORARY DEGREE

Professor D. Donald Fiorillo, chairman of the Suffolk Sociology Department and a member of the faculty for a quarter of a century, has been voted an honorary degree by the Board of Trustees. The board took the action at its September 8 meeting.

Professor Fiorillo is scheduled to receive the honorary degree of doctor of humanities at the Sunday commencement at which Charles H.W. Foster, State secretary for environmental affairs, will speak and receive the honorary degree of doctor of public administration.

President Fulham noted that "it is with great pride that I am able to confer an honorary degree on Professor Don Fiorillo. He has given an entire career to Suffolk and has been a true pioneer in the development of many programs which have contributed to making this university the progressive institution it is today."

Fiorillo, 47, joined Suffolk's faculty following graduation from Clark University (AB 1945). He earned his master of arts degree at Boston College in 1949 and did doctoral study at Boston University.

During his long tenure at Suffolk, he has served the university in many capacities. He was an assistant dean in charge of activities in 1947. Student clubs he founded included the Sociology Club, the Veterans Club and the Varsity Club.

It was Fiorillo who established recognition awards for student academic and athletic achievement. He also served as basketball coach one season.

He founded the Suffolk University Internship Training Program for Sociology majors back in 1949, founded the Suffolk University Forum, featuring noted lecturers, and the Suffolk University Labor-Management Institute.

He is director of the Suffolk University Social Welfare Program, founder of the Suffolk Crime and Delinquency Studies Program, and founder of Suffolk's Urban Studies Program.

Most recently, Prof. Fiorillo was coordinator and director of a highly successful summer institute on drugs sponsored jointly by Suffolk's Sociology Department, the Attorney General's Office and the Massachusetts Department of Education.

He makes his home in Shrewsbury with his wife, Pauline, a daughter, Paula, 19, and son, Donald, 17.

SEPTEMBER...A BUSY MONTH AT S.U.

Thirty days hath September, but it's such a busy month at Suffolk, we could use a few more days on the calendar.

A commencement, an inauguration, orientation, registration, a re-accreditation meeting. These are just some of the things keeping faculty and staffers on the go.

All those new faces registering in the colleges reflect an increase in admissions, certainly a healthy sign. At orientation programs, approximately 340 new freshmen were welcomed as were 325 transfers at separate ceremonies.

"This represents an increase in freshmen of approximately 40 students from last year," said Bill Coughlin, director of admissions. "Transfers are up about 10 from last year. In light of decreasing admissions at many colleges, this is very heartening to us."

In the law school, about 700 new first year students were greeted at orientation programs for day and evening divisions with the total about evenly divided between evening and day students. They were welcomed by President Fulham, Dean Simpson, faculty members and student officers, and a reception followed both orientation sessions.

ABOUT 130 DEGREES WILL BE CONFERRED at Sunday's September commencement. Degrees will be awarded in the colleges of liberal arts, business administration and journalism. S.U. is happy to welcome Charles H.W. Foster, the Commonwealth's new secretary of environmental affairs, as commencement speaker. Marshal will be John J. McCarthy (BSBA, 1949).

RE-ACCREDITATION - In preparation for the upcoming re-accreditation visit by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, President Fulham has called a joint meeting of administrators, members of the long range planning committee, department chairmen, and chairmen of study committees. The meeting will be held in Room 517 on Tuesday, September 28 from 4 to 5 p.m.

A reception in the President's Conference Room from 5 to 6 p.m. will follow the meeting, and there will be dinner and discussion from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Faculty Dining Room. Dean Joe Strain is chairman of the planning committee.

AND FINALLY, to close out that 30th day of the month, there is the opening lecture of the fall series, "Perspectives-Consumer Business Relations," being sponsored by Suffolk's College of Business Administration and the Better Business Bureau of Eastern Massachusetts.

Kicking off the four-part fall series will be Walker Sanbach, executive director of Consumers Union and publisher of Consumer Reports. All of the sessions will be held in the Suffolk University Auditorium at 2 p.m. Tickets are available at a cost of $6 for all four lectures. Other speakers will be Atty. General Robert H. Quinn (October 19), Miles W. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, (November 4) and Elisha Gray III, chairman of the board of Whirlpool Corporation (November 30).

NEW APPOINTMENTS AND NEW FACES AT SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY

There are several new full-time appointments in the College of Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Journalism, Law School and Administration effective with the 1971-72 academic year.

Here is a list of the latest additions to Suffolk's growing family with capsule biographies.

Law School

CAPTAIN ANTHONY J. DeVICO, U.S. Navy, director of Navy Law Center, Boston, named director of law school placement. Office will be on third floor, 56 Temple Street. AB, MA, Boston College, LLB, Boston College Law School. Formerly commanding officer Naval Justice School, Newport, R.I., and assistant judge advocate general for personnel, Navy Department, Washington, D.C.

ALEXANDER J. CELLA, assistant professor of law. AB, Harvard, MPA, Littauer Graduate School of Public Administration, Harvard, LLB, Suffolk University. Legal counsel to three successive speakers of Massachusetts House and to State Senate president. Former two-term State representative from Medford.

JOSEPH P. McETTRICK, instructor in law. AB, Boston College, JD, Boston College Law School. Formerly staff assistant in National Consumer Law Center, Boston College Law School.

Journalism

MALCOLM J. BARACH, chairman of journalism department. Previously was assistant professor of journalism in department. BA in Journalism, Long Island University, MFA, Columbia University. Instructor at Grahm Junior College, 1967-70. Has served as news editor for radio stations in New York, proofreader for Time Magazine, and copy editor for newspapers in New York and New Jersey and for the Boston Globe.

Administration

JAMES O. PETERSON, director of student affairs. BA, University of Massachusetts, MS, Indiana University. Previously was resident assistant in counseling at Indiana University, and high school teacher in Burlington.

College of Business Administration

JOHN J. BURKE, instructor in accounting. BSBA, Boston College, BA, St. John's Seminary. Previously associated with John Hancock Insurance Company in area of taxation.

(continued on page 6)

ANTHONY G. EONAS, assistant professor of business administration. BSIE, MBA, Northeastern University. Previously was instructor at Northeastern University and assistant professor at Bentley College.

BERNARD W. MEYLER, assistant professor of accounting. BS, University of Baltimore, MBA, Northeastern University. A certified public accountant, he was assistant professor of accounting at Bentley College from 1967-71.

DAVID G. RISSMILLER, assistant professor of business administration. BS in ME, and MS, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, MBA, Rutgers University. A certified public accountant, he previously was associated with Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery and also taught part-time at Suffolk.

JOSEPH P. VACCARO, instructor in business administration. BSBA, Boston College, MBA, Suffolk University. Previously instructor at Burdett College.

College of Liberal Arts

MRS. STEPHANIE L. CATALAN, instructor in sociology. AB, Northeastern University, MA in ED, Suffolk University, doctoral candidate in sociology at Boston College, Mrs. Catalan previously was part-time lecturer at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital School of Nursing and Northeastern University.

ARTHUR P. CHIASSON, assistant professor of French. AB, Brandeis University, MA, Tufts University. Doctoral candidate, Tufts, he has been part-time instructor in French at Tufts since 1968.

PETER F. CONRAD, instructor in sociology. BA, State University of New York at Buffalo, MA, Northeastern University. Doctoral candidate in sociology at Boston University. Previously instructor at Northeastern and occupational therapy assistant at Boston State Hospital.

DR. ROBERT S. EHRLICH, assistant professor of sociology. BA, MA, Boston University, PhD, Brandeis University. Previously assistant professor at Boston University and part-time lecturer in sociology at Suffolk.

GLEN A. ESKEDAL, assistant professor of psychological services. BS, King's College, MA, Michigan State University, doctoral candidate at Boston University. Previously taught part-time in counseling at Boston University, and was counselor part-time at B.U. Counseling Center.

DR. JAMES FIORE, assistant professor of biology. BA, State University of New York at Binghamton, MA, PhD, Duke University. Since fall, 1969, research associate in Systematics Ecology Program of Maine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

(continued on page 7)

WALTER H. JOHNSON, JR., instructor in physics. BA, Rice University, MA in Physics, Harvard University. Candidate for PhD at Harvard, all requirements completed except dissertation. Lectured in physics at Harvard Bubble Chamber Group.

RUDY J. KIKEL, instructor in English. BA, St. John's University (NY), MA from Penn State, doctoral candidate in English at Harvard. Served as graduate assistant in English at Penn State and as teaching fellow at Harvard, part-time lecturer at Suffolk.

MRS. RONNIE S. LACROUTE, assistant professor of modern languages. BA, Cornell University, MA, University of Michigan, Phi Beta Kappa. She has been a teacher of French at Maynard High School.

JUAN ALBERTO MENDEZ-HERRERA, instructor in Spanish. Received degree of Profesor de Education Primaria, Esceula Normal of Chile (equivalent of a BS in Education degree), degree of Profesor de Castellano from University of Chile, MA, in Spanish and literature from University of Texas. Doctoral candidate in Spanish at Harvard.

POTPOURRI

Statistics in the accounting department add up to these marriages. Mike Dwyer has already tied the knot (to Peggy Farren on July 31 with honeymoon in Ireland) and Danny McCarthy will marry Nancy McDonough on October 24...Speaking of Ireland, Nurse Mary Brady vacationed there this summer...Placement Director Jim Woods looking forward to a visit to the Pocono Mountains, PA. as part of the three-day conference of the Eastern College Personnel Organization October 3-6...Time Flies Department: Athletic Director Charlie Law's youngest daughter, Randy, was married September 8 to Richard Mather of Albuquerque, N.M...New staff additions include these young ladies: Patricia Haskins, Class of '71, secretary in the Office of Student Affairs; Valerie Jamiol, Modern Languages Department; Carole McGrane, Law School Registrar's Office; Linda (Locke) Carroll and Grace Russell, College Registrar's Office; Sandra Surgeon, Curry College, '70, Law School faculty secretary; Gloria Deren, secretary to Dean Grunewald; and Karen Grant, secretary in Admissions.

Congratulations to new mother, Marilyn Jurich, asst. professor of English and hubby, Joseph Jurich (a faculty member at Boston State) on birth of a daughter, Joscelyn Shawn Ganjgara during the summer...Stylish Betty Williams of the Psychology Dept. has been elected vice president in charge of programs for the Boston Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management...Hayes C. Lamont, asst. professor of biology, has been elected to full membership in the Harvard-Radcliffe chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi...Business Prof. Henry Ormonde is attending Louisiana State U. for a PhD and living in Baton Rouge with wife, Geraldine, Suffolk class of '71...

Five S.U. educators have been selected to appear in the 1971 edition of Outstanding Educators of America, annual awards publication. They are Dr. Arthur J. West, biology, Dr. H. Edward Clark, English, Dr. William Sahakian, philosophy, Dr. Edward G. Hartmann, history and Dr. Glen Lewandowski, education...Law Registrar Doris Pote has been named to the 1972 edition of "Who's Who in American Women"...If you have news items, please drop them off at the P.R. office or with Dick Jones, archives director, in the mail room. See you next month...