Administration Agrees to Give Money For Yearbook . . . IF

The "Beacon" may yet shine this year. The Board of Trustees of Suffolk University met on Thursday, February 16, and handed down the decision of after an appropriation on the condition of a fairly good showing of interest among the seniors. It is the feeling of Bob Devlin, the "Beacon" editor, that at least two hundred seniors must be interested in order to give the administration this "good showing of interest."

The Yearbook staff has announced that subscriptions of five dollars or 100's will be accepted at the Bureau's office. The promissory notes are to be paid-in-full by March 3, in order to furnish minimum support for the yearbook.

We repeat: We need at least two hundred seniors to either pay, or offer a written promise to pay, to make even beginning the project worth while. The editors and

The "Beacon" feel confident that his final appeal to the University seniors will meet with a long successful response.

The Bureau's office is now fully authorized to accept your pledged promissory subscriptions, and has announced that if the program has not enough backers, all money received will be refunded.

Seniors and any undergraduate may sign up for the yearbook.

LET'S LIGHT THAT "BEACON."

At his weekly press conference, President Hynes announced that Mayor John B. Hynes will address the student body in a student Convocation to be held on Wednesday, March 8, in the school auditorium.

The subject of the Suffolk Law graduate's address was not disclosed at that time.

At the conference, the president also disclosed that the main recreation hall will get a new floor of dark red asphalt tile on March 17, a university holiday. This is in keeping with the administration's program of school progress.

Jack Clancy, Band To Appear Also

It won't be the first at Atlantic City, or the beach at Florida, and our odds are not too high for the Miss America ribbon, at least it is more important than I.R.S. Now the Suffolk of 1950 is bent to the ground and crowned with a great show led off by Court Cole, Jack Clancy, who will also present a surprise guest.

The seniors' candidates for the coveted title of "Most Popular" were selected by "WASH," and after the girls dragged out the pinwheels and mousers, they were artistically photographed by Journal Fotog, Herb Goodman. The resulting 8 pics are to be voted on by you, the student body, today in a general election guided by the Student Council. The ballots will be distributed carefully, and all concerned are now waiting for the announcement and coronation of the charming winner at the proceedings which will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Monday.

HEADED NOW BASEBALL star, Ted Williams, accepts an honorary membership card into the Suffolk University Varsity Club. Presenting the card to Williams, who was selected as the outstanding baseball player of the year by the club members, are Dick Conway, left, and Don Shea, center, the club's secretary and treasurer. Presentation was made at the recent Sportsman's Show.

Senior Class Discusses Problems Of Yearbook, Commencement, And Prom

A senior class meeting was held in the auditorium on February 15 at which a constitution was accepted, plans were discussed for Commencement Week, and the Year Book situation was further explained by Editor-in-Chief Bob Devin.

Mrs. Lincolna, senior class president, turned the meeting over to Bob Devin who explained that the Year Book issue should be brought up before a joint meeting of the Law School and the Administration on February 17. The results should be known now.

It was decided that senior class members would continue about one five dollars toward financing the book should the decision of the administration be unfavorable.

Bill Murphy, in charge of Commencement Week exercises, discussed the possibility of a combination of singing and dancing to be held in June. Though some of the more vocal members' greeted all the thought of such a fall day, better than 80% of the members present decided on Saturday, June 11 as the singing date. Bill Murphy outlined himself in gathering information on the available sites for the event and will make the "place" known at a future meeting.

James Pogras, chairman of the constitution committee, read a constitution which was unanimously accepted. Pogras explained that, although he looked forward to past class constitutions, he was another meeting would be held in June and said, "We'll be the the near future."

first class to work with a definite constitution. And, even if it weak we will at least have something to go on." The general opinion of the members, however, seemed to be one of complete satisfaction with the work turned out by Pogras.

Paul Thornton, Inside S. U. Columnist, was asked to give his opinion on the Year Book crisis. Thornton has been active in this issue through his column and had done a great deal of research on the question. Thornton explained the then pending meeting between the Law School and Administration committee, read a motion and relieved a good deal of tension which was upon the town regarding the constitutionally accepted Pogras explanation that, although he looked forward to past class constitutions, he was another meeting would be held in June and said, "We'll be the the near future."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE JUNIOR CLASS

To the Junior Class:

Due to numerous inquiries from many of you concerning a Class Dinner, the other Junior Class officers and myself embarked on a program to raise funds for that purpose. The Class does not have a fund allocation, so we started with a new initiative.

Two class meetings were held, and you were dismissed from class. It is very unlikely that those to attend these meetings. Less than 20% of you were present at the meetings.

A motor racing Record Hop was held, and the grand attendance was 40 people. 16 Junior were present.

I can truthfully say that the Class officers and dance committee have exerted every effort in your behalf. The effort, it would seem, was not appreciated.

It is very unlikely that those to attend these meetings. Less than 20% of you were present at the meetings.

A GRAND DISPLAY OF SPIRIT

On Friday evening, Feb. 10, a record hop, sponsored by the Junior Class, was held in room 14 in the university. But you never would have known it.

Only 30 people were present, and only 16 of them juniors. There are approximately 262 people in the Junior Class, the 16 who attended comprised 6% of the total class. What a grand display of spirit!

Those who worked hard in behalf of their classmates and received little thanks are Dave Edelstein, Junior Class President, John Hockan, David O'Meara, Saul Tobin, Herb Gajman, Stephen Panagopoulos, and John LeCoutur. Refreshments were provided by Mike Driscoll and Miss Brezina, and delicious coffee and tasty sandwiches had to be given away for lack of anyone to buy them.

The purpose of the record hop was to raise funds for a larger, more illustrious class dance. The record hop itself was supposed to be merely a small get-together of the Junior Class, in which members could meet, talk, dance, and put a few bucks in the class treasury. From the turnout on Feb. 10, it would seem that the Junior Class wants no part of any social event at Suffolk University. If it makes no showing at a small affair, it must assume that the class officers will not undertake to plan a big affair. Why should they? Do they have any sort of guarantee that class members will attend, or that the spirit of the class will suddenly come out of hiding? So congratulations to the Junior Class. You have let some of your finest men put time and effort into something you allowed to flop miserably. In time of need you weren't there. If all you want to get out of Suffolk is the substance of a classroom lecture, then we feel sorry for you.

For your own sake, we hope your conscience is bleeding.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

Look around you and you'll find that you're in the midst of "National Brotherhood Week." Look around you and you may not see it. Our radios, magazines, and billboards are proclaiming loudly and blantly, "ATTENTION—This is not National Peanut Week or National Be Kind To Dumb Animals Week. No, this is National Brotherhood Week. For this week let us all be brothers." Next week we'll think about something else, but this week, please love thy neighbor. We shouldn't have a Brotherhood WEEK, rather, we should proclaim the beginning of "Brotherhood Millennium." And we shouldn't just hear about it on the radio, and read it on the paper for ads. We should live it, and live it so sincerely in our minds and hearts that the college youth of a hundred centuries from now will have to name a "Brotherhood Week."

There is a spark in the human soul, a truth that is even simpler than the naked molecule. There is nothing so precious in the universe as a human being. And to preserve that human being and move him forward, men of all tongues, sizes, and colors have banded together across the ages to perform the impossible. If took the concerted efforts of almost every "kind" of human being in the world to unleash the secret of the cosmic force—to make atoms dance to a mammoth tune. If the fantastic problem of atomic fission could be solved by the effort of all races, creeds, and colors, all pushing in the same direction, why then could not the same be true in the relatively simple problem of understanding a fellow human being.

Brotherhood Week should not be thought of—it should be lived.

Editorial written on the 15th of Feb. therefore, whether there be or not a yearbook or not is still a mystery to your Ed. The next couple of days should answer this question one way or the other. All that I can say at this present writing is that the latest developments look a little brighter than they did in the past.

BLACK CRUISE DEPT.—It is rumored that the S. U. Social Club has met with an ignominious death. Somehow the bureaucracy that usually accompanies an announcement of this type is not felt in this case, for this is truly an act of mercy.

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY DEPT.—In answer to the repeated pleas for new Journal members, the feature Dept. of the Journal has had an increase of ONE member (and also one Dept.) John McDonough, a pre-legal sophomore, has taken over the duties of "Roving Reporter." His assignments are not very hard and require your cooperation. Let's all lend him a hand by willingly giving him our open opinions to his questions. The new dept. mentioned above is Outside S. U. This is an Alumni column that is being handled by an already overburdened Senior, John Clancy (Ed. Note: Wash there were more John Clancys at S. U.).

SPEAKING OF THE ALUMNI DEPT.—Plans are underway for the foundation of a Suffolk University Club of Boston. The proposed club is strictly an Alumni club open to graduates and graduating Seniors of the Law School and University. It is to be non-sectarian and non-political. The "Constitution" of this club is now in the hands of a student council member for study and report.

A UNITED UNIVERSITY is a GREAT University.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

BY JACK MALONE

The Wig and Robe Society wishes to announce to the students of Suffolk University Law School that membership is open. Parties interested should contact any member of the Society, or apply in person at Denmore Hall, 12 Albion Street. The "Hall" is open for inspection or study on any week day from 1:00 to 2:00.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Prompted by the letter printed in the last issue of the Journal, inquiry was made of the Chief Librarian, Dr. Hartmann, as to the extent and severity of the situation.

While books continue to disappear during examination periods, the rather selfish and most certain if dishonest practice has been greatly reduced during the current year.

In addition, plans have been made so that in the future all treatises will be set aside in a refrigerator room where the same procedure will be followed in the use of such books as is now the practice for any other reserved book, namely, the user will sign for the book whenever he wishes to avoid himself of it.

However, the most urgent problem confronting Dr. Hartmann's staff is one that took your editor completely by surprise. mutilation of the Massachusetts Reports by way of tearing out pages from the "leading cases" is a practice which is certainly not indicative of mature law students. Unfortunately, nevertheless, such is the situation! Since it is hardly conceivable that these acts take place only in secret, detection of such offenders is rare. Hence, the remedy appears to be in the hands of the students themselves, both in refraining from such mutilation and in reporting placed on the malicious destroyers who are discovered by their fellow students. Let your editor know if you can guide by both statements. The library is for the use of all—not a corner of printed books for a selfish few.

Any queries?

If you're curious about any particular field, drop us a line and we'll see if there are any well established alumni in your chosen profession.

My copy in the last issue suffered seriously from the time period of our extended editors. So to continue where they cut me off, I was in the process of bragging about two prominent alumni who were both lawyers AND physicians! Now there's an education I wouldn't want to suffer through, though it does promise past joy medical bills.

From the wilds of Macleodville, Minnesota, radio station KVOX spreads its voice under the capable direction of Station Manager Manuel M. Marzetti, S. U. grad.

For you suburbanites we point to Mr. Philip J. Gallagher of 241 Main Street, Woburn. Gallagher, a former Mayor of Woburn and a former assistant mayor of that city, was President of the National Association of Postmasters for 3 years and edited the Postmasters Gazette for the same length of time. He was also their Legislative representative in Washington for three years. Locally Mr. Gallagher kept himself busy as a City Solicitor and as a member of the Board of Assessors. I called Mr. Gallagher to be brought up to date and to present himself to be a member of the local Rotary Club and work at his Law Practice. "The getting old," he says. Perhaps so, but Suffolk has reason to be proud of his record.

It's easy to see how some very successful local alumni can get by unnoticed—especially those in "suburban towns." Well, we'll just have to dig 'em out!

I understand that Turk Ottis was offered an instructorship at the University of New Hampshire where he's doing graduate work. His wife, Nancy Tupper Ottis, a Journal writer in '45, is working in the University Library and they seem very happy about being in the country.

Well, might as well start diggin'!

A lady bought a parrot from a pet store, only to learn that it cursed every time it said anything. She put up with it as long as she could, but finally one day she lost her patience.
"If I ever hear you curse again," she declared, "I'll wring your neck."

A few minutes later she remarked rather casually that it was a fine day. Whereupon the parrot said, "It's a hell of a fine day today." The lady immediately picked up the parrot by the head and spun him around in the air until he was almost dead.
"Now then," she said, "It's a fine day today, isn't it?"
"Fine day!" spat out the parrot. "Fine day! Where the hell were you when the cyclone struck?"

"You're wrong, Madam," he replied. "If you should go into a room in which there were two beds, one with a woman in it and the other with a man in it, with whom would you sleep?"

"Why, the lady, of course."

CBS Contest To Bring Out TV Talent

A nationwide college writing contest, designed to encourage the emergence of new television writers, was launched by the Columbia Broadcasting System and Radio Video, Inc. The competition, known as the CBS awards, is open to students in American colleges and universities.

It will offer four prizes, the first will be awarded March 31, 1950, and the others at monthly intervals during the rest of the spring academic semester. The amount of the award will be not hundred dollars if the prize-winning script is a one-act play, twenty dollars if it is a half-hour script. Contest rules are: The first place prize must be a comedy or a play. The script is to be sent to CBS Awards Headquarters, 15 East 47th Street, New York 17, New York.

CLUB NOTES

GERMAN CLUB

With the strain of exam period gone, a group of German students found time to relax for an evening at the home of Dr. Vogel. The club has been fortunate in its recent acquisition of a collection of European recordings of German folk songs by Richard Taubert. An informal explanation and discussion accompanied the playing of the records. Plans for future meetings include the showing of films and singing picture.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club held its regular executive meeting at 4 o'clock in Room 14. The meeting was presided over by John Clement, vice-president, who reported on the progress of the membership campaign. The president, Dr. Vogel, reported on the progress of the campaign at past meetings the necessity of enrolling new members in order that the club maintain its high membership after graduation. Many active members are seniors and will be leaving in June.

SPANISH CLUB

At the February 6 meeting of the Spanish Club, Dr. George McKee addressed the club in Spanish. The topic was "Latin America and the United States." The lecture was well attended and was very educational. The club is now making extensive plans for procuring speakers and films for future meetings.

PRESS CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Press Club on Wednesday, March 8 in Room 14.

All university students are invited to join the club and take an active part in its activities. It is hoped that all members will be present at this meeting so that they can assist in planning a program for the next two months. Tentatively, the program calls for guest speakers from city and local newspapers that will encourage good relations between the press and the student body.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday, February 2, in Room 14. The topic was "The History of the Play." The club is now making extensive plans for procuring speakers and films for future meetings.

FRENCH CLUB

The regular meeting of the French Club was held on February 2. The group met in Room 14 and then went to the home of Dr. Catherine Fekler, where a social gathering was held. Games were played and refreshments were served. The attention of club members is called to the special meeting to be held February 23, at 1:30 p.m. in Room 14.

After viewing the attendance of the Bridgeport basketball game, it was evident that our plan for "touting sport" fell to the winds. I hope that on February 27 a larger representation of the student body will be on hand when we cross sticks with St. Andrews at the Skating Club.

We of the sports staff caused quite a turmoil when we tried to settle the question of a team nickname in the last issue of the Journal. This only goes to prove that you are interested in what happens in the field of athletics. I will take a little longer to secure a proper name for the team, but I feel that it will be worth the added time so that all those interested can voice their opinions.

I see that President Burs and Athletic Director, Charlie Lacy, have filed the application for membership in the N.C.A.A. As yet there has been nothing definite announced in the way of approval. This is a delicate matter, so when Suffolk is accepted we can feel that our school will have made tremendous progress in its endeavor to make it one of the leading schools in New England.

As I said in the last issue, we might join the New England Conference of Intercollegiate Athletics. Charlie Lacy talked with Tom Giering who is the director of athletics at MIT. He informed that a meeting of the executives will be held in April for the purpose of granting memberships for schools who are not accredited but have applied and appear to be heading in the right direction.

If this executive meeting decides to allow associate membership for Suffolk, we were sure that the school for possible membership in the regular November meetings. If this comes about, it will mean better schedules, more recognition, and better relations with schools and colleges throughout the New England area.

Suffolk has been received favorably by most schools who feel we are making an honest and enthusiastic effort to promote athletic programs according to the rules and regulations of the various athletic associations throughout the country.

In compliance with the N.C.A.A. code of ethics, Suffolk plans to award athletic scholarships to promising freshmen in September, 1959. These scholarships will be awarded not only on athletic ability, but also on scholastic achievement. It is our hope that the school has always awarded scholarships to worthy and worthy students, and now feels as though the added qualification of athletic ability in a few cases would prove beneficial to the university, as well as to the students themselves.

In regard to this I have talked with several students throughout the school, and the popular consensus is that they favor a plan to award scholarships as long as they are granted with a high standard of scholastic requirements so that we would not lower our educational standards in an endeavor to raise them in a field of athletics.

The plan to use publicity matters is still in the planning stage, but I feel that by the beginning of the baseball season we will be using their services. All those interested watch this column for further details.

Good Play In Second Half Fails To Stop Bridgeport

The Suffolk quintet succumbed to big opposition Feb. 9 at the West End House when they faced Bridgeport University. The home team lagged behind the whole game due to the poor ball handling and passing in the first half.

The Bridgeport quintet took advantage of every possibility afforded to take a 40-18 lead at the rest period.

In the second half Suffolk played the better ball game. Through careful ball handling and delicate teamwork Suffolk was able to outscore the visiting team. Although they played a different type ball game, the hoopers were not able to burn up the twenty-one point lead reaped by the opposition during the first half.

Jake Stahl took the high scoring position with 8 double markers gathered on net shots and feed-ins. Jim Bejley was runner-up with 6 double pointers and one from the foul line.

AIC's Third Period Spree Smothers SU Ice Sextet

The American Interscholastic Athletic Conference (AIC) has selected Suffolk as one of the best teams in the country. The team, coached by Coach J. J. Smith, has a record of 10-1-1. The team's success is due to the excellent coaching and the hard work of the players.

The team's first game was a 1-0 victory over the local team. The team's second game was a 2-1 victory over the local team. The team's third game was a 3-0 victory over the local team. "The Hasty Heart" For Workshop Showing In March

By PERI TRAUSTEIN

"The Hasty Heart," a play-drama that combines true pathos and genuine humor to tell a story of universal love and understanding, will be the next ambitious undertaking of the Suffolk University Dramatic Workshop. A success on Broadway in 1948, the play was made into a moving picture that was hailed both here and in England, and that may bring an Academy Award to its star, the young English actor, Richard Todd.

This is a story not of war, but of the efforts of war, of people and their understanding of each other. The play is set in a General Hospital in the South East Asia Command. Based on the "Ismael Theme," it is the story of a young Scotch soldier, ill with an incurable kidney disease, who feels that the world is a pretty grim place and is convinced that "every man's hand is against him." There in the hospital are brought together six young men from six different countries: America, Australia, Africa, England, Basutoland, and Scotland. The strength and happiness that the others bring to the Scot prove to him that he is wrong, that there is love and friendship for anyone who is willing to accept them. This his last month is made the most wonderful of his life.
