NOW IS THE HOUR

The Yearbook problem has been solved through the cooperation of the Law School and the University. This settlement should not be looked on as a victory to one side, but as a show of unequalled school spirit. From the news at hand it now seems as if the BEACON and the LEX will be published with the combined efforts of both schools, with Bob Devlin as editor of the University, and Jack Malone, editor of the "LEX" section.

The Law School, after hearing the situation from Dean Simpson, decided to support ONE yearbook which will include both schools.

With such effort being put forth by both schools, it should also receive the backing of all the students. The graduation class of 1952 must back this project up with a 100% school-wide effort.

Let's all get back to this effort, and make the "50 BEA CON-LEX" the best yearbook ever.

CHAPLAIN, PLEASE

The JOURNAL has pleaded more than ever this year for more student cooperation with this paper. We knew we could put out a better paper if we had more help. Begging didn't help. We even tried offering money to students who would bring in advertising. Money didn't help. We made promises of practical experience that every student should and could take advantage of. Promises didn't help. We made offers of editorships for positions opened next year. Editorships didn't help. We've approached Deans, Professors, Doctors, Assistant Professors, and student teachers. They couldn't help. We've asked advertising students. They didn't help. We now address an open letter to the Chaplain.

Dear Chaplain:

HELP!!!!

(signed) JOURNAL EDITORS

P.S. Still no answer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

The editors of the JOURNAL have received many letters during the past few months for the "Letters to the Editor" column. These letters were unsigned and therefore could not be used. All letters to this column must have the sender's signature, as a sign of good faith. The name will be withheld on request. Just address the letter to "Letter Editor, Room 40 Journal, and leave at the switchboard, our mail box in the faculty room, or send to us through the mail."

NEW COUNCIL

The Student Council of 1949-1950 is a welcome sight. Councils of the past have been mere figure heads to be tolerated, but not to dictate. Under the able leadership of Phil Sullivan, this Council has undertaken and accomplished more than any other single organization in the school. They have also handled the production of two big shows, the Variety Show, and the recent Miss Suffolk Contest.

Now the Student Council wants to ask all the students for a favor. This school is in a precarious position. We are on the brink of accreditation. Nothing can keep us from getting there. But the way we act can speed it up, or slow it down. We all want to help. And that's the favor the Council wants from all of us. We have a grade, bring it to them, that's their job. Don't start whispering campaigns, don't circulate unwarranted petitions, and don't criticize without having some constructive ideas.

What we do and say now can affect the entire future of this school. Let's all help out.

INSIDE S. U.

By PAUL THORNTON

Greetings from Inside S. U. Well, we start this issue on a happier note than has been our custom of late. Everything seems to be running along smoothly and the spirit at S. U. is at its highest ebb. With a consensus of the corporation that has been displayed during the past month, S. U. can't help but become one of New England's outstanding Universities.

ALL HAIL THE QUEEN DEPT.—"We've watched them come and we've watched them go, more money deserting than this year's Comet." The choice of Gilda Corso for S. U.'s third annual queen won't be without the unanimous approval of the student body. Gilda, yours is the singular distinction of being chosen on a basis of popularity as well as beauty.

THE SHOW GOES ON DEPT. President Burre suggested a Kne for S. U. If we voted for one immediately after the assembly, I'm sure that another unanimous choice would have been made. King Clancy of the crown fits, wear it. Hair and eyes, pork and beans, Redvers and Hammerstein, Clancy and Strauss. (Famous combinations.)

THE QUEEN PICKS A KING DEPT.—"You shoulda seen it last year." Galsbait.

OLD SHOES AND RICE DEPT.—Bob Tontrell is in step with his favorite dance instructor, Lorraine DeLoche, wedding bells will follow graduation. Erwin Glimmer of the law school has set Angust as the date that he will merge with Sharon Grey of Brookline.

THE ALUMNI FOLLOW SUIT DEPT.—Carl A. Bosley, Seniors, graduate of S. U., has made it known that he is interested in a certain Barbara Huggins of the same town. Barbara is going to be a welcome addition to S. U.'s growing list of Registered Nurses. Captain Charles Kelley carried off the boss's daughter last month in a wedding held at Wright Patterson Air Base, Dayton, Ohio, when he was united with Mary Elmer, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Lawson McKee Grant. Merrill Abbott, Roxbury, will join with Dorothy H. Kramer sometime in the near future.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.—Dean Munce recently commented to your Ed. on fingernail cuts. He said, "A fingernail cut is a nuisance, too small to see the subject and too large to shift the readers."

MISUNDERSTANDING CAN HURT DEPT.—Larry O'Hanlon, President of the Senior Law School, has been made the butt of many remarks from both Law School and University students, because of the stand he took on the Year Book issue. An explanation would be too long and tedious to print here but, before Mr. Larry was very influential in bringing about the present amiable Year Book situation.

A Fitted University is a Great University.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

By JACK MALONE

The senior class, through its duly elected officers, has decided to "elect" that the student body should elect a new president of the student body. The election will be held on the afternoon of the student body election. The election will be held on the afternoon of the student body election. The election will be held on the afternoon of the student body election.

A vote at a senior class meeting determined that a senior class function should be held, and a committee composed of Ed Lyons, Bob Barrett, and Frank Galt was appointed to investigate the type of function that would be most feasible.

Another appointee was Jerome Baird, Chairman of the Rules Committee.

Steadily the wheel of fortune turns as the Suffolk Club grows from its inception as a mere idea to a now active, unified organization. The latest step in the construction of a sound foundation for this group was the election of the officers of the organization. Following the dictates of the constitution and by-laws, a primary reduced the number of candidates for the executive offices to two for each office. The results of the balloting: President, Jack Malone; Vice-President, Jerome Baird; Secretary, John Linahan; Treasurer, Michael Santorola.

The five members of the Executive Council were elected without a protest, although a run-off was held to determine the fifth member because of a tie vote. The successful candidates were: Arthur Lydon, Peter Martin, Albert Price, Joseph Hegarty, and John Lyons. Immediately following the election the president appointed Andrew Farisi to the office of Auditor.

The senior law and law school have embarked on a seasonal program of gaudy proportions and if the faculty were to put any law in the figure, the faculty should double again in size and prestige.

Chris Patten, chairman of the Membership Committee, announced that in addition to the new members already voted into the organization this year, it is necessary to gain even more. The plan is to complete the whole of the student body organization by the end of the year. The new members which will be added will be as a directory.

Because of the influx of members the Society is cramped for space in its present location. Hence the building committee has been negotiating for the purchase of new quarters. The plan is to complete the whole of the student body organization by the end of the year. The new members which will be added will be as a directory.

CLUB CHAPLAIN TALKS ON EUTHENASIA

In one of the most timely talks ever given at Suffolk, the Reverend Father Peterson, F.S.P., chaplain of the Suffolk Newman Club and Pastor of St. Ann's Parish in Boston, spoke before a large group on the subject of mercy killing.

As one of the most outstanding professors of Canon Law and Eucharist, Raymond, Father Peterson stressed the fact that, "We are not free to settle the New Hampshire case, it is for the jury, and they must judge Doctor Snyder according to evidence presented by the court and not on the individual morality. All I am going to do is to present the traditional Catholic viewpoint."

Father Peterson then went on to say that it is the most pressing of all our problems and that the right to order a life is limited by action taken by an aggressive nation. Father Peterson then explained that the state and the church have the right to act in such a way. "At last," he said, "we are going to take up arms for their country in a war."

Abortion and mercy killing were treated by Father Peterson in much the same way. If a mother is in danger, medical action can be taken, he explained, "but if it is not a direct aggression against the child."

The cry of "Mercy or Pity" believed and America who advise mercy killing is an attempt to disguise their lives.

Father Peterson attacked the group as a very important part of the history of a woman who has lived extremely meagre. In the 24th family tree Father Peterson named approximately 24 college professors, 2 Vice Presidents, 1 President, numerous senators and one of England's greatest was Prime Minister, Winston Churchill. The argument was, of course, that according to the standards of those who believe in mercy killing, this woman would have been killed.

"I am also fond of swimming and on this ring, I'm going to make sure you're interested, but I'm not going to say my full-time job."

"I am summer sweet in (Cruze) Suffolk's personality, but also steps the unusual distinction of being in the past 'roster act' in the history of Suffolk University. Her sister Gilda who spent two years at Mt. Holyoke, Northampton, attended at Suffolk with her. They scheduled during the past two years have been almost identical."

Gilda, age 23, a native of Boston, had an Arlington resident for the past 12 years, came to Suffolk a junior two years ago. Previously, Gilda also qualified as a public school teacher, and as a secretary in the Massachusetts General Hospital, and the state of New York College, Cambridge, Mass.

In 1938, Gilda also took a year course at the Fay School of School, Boston, and studied at the Boston Conservatory of Music for two years. She also managed to squeeze in five years of piano, too. (If Mary, stress over this, it's a cinch she'll have for the next talent show.)

Majoring in education and with a minor in psychology, Gilda plans to be an elementary grade teacher after she graduates from Suffolk in June. "I'll teach as long as I can single," she said. "When the right fellow comes along and slips

The coming week or so will close the current season of basketball. With the conclusion of the hockey season almost at hand it will be up to the minor sports to fill out the athletic program till the starting of the baseball season. Coach Charlie Lax has announced that basketball practices will be called out about the middle of March. This will be the last of the West End Hoops. Definite plans for practice will be announced later so that they will coincide with class schedules. Ken MacDonald of the sports staff will handle the coverage of basketball. He will give you a first hand report throughout the season.

It is not the policy of this paper to see further co-operation when John Colburn and John Heane take over the reigns of tennis and golf respectively.

The athletic scholarships are still in the limelight. The athletic department has interviewed a large number of boys who have established a reputation for themselves in hockey and basketball. If they are able to meet the entrance requirements of the university, next year's teams will look very promising. Charlie Lax has reserved ice at the Skating Club so that Dave Perkins can see the boys in action. Some of the boys are outstanding players of the greater Boston and suburban leagues.

Coach Charlie Lax is still one of the hardest men in the athletic department. When he is not attending two varsity games in one day, he is visiting the local high school looking for talent. This week March 27th through 29th, at the New England Ice and Skating Club in New York.

Charlie Barakus, chairman of the nickname committee, has announced that he is completing his plans to obtain a suitable name. He hopes to announce the name at the varsity dance. A ballot box is expected to be set up on the second floor on the 9th for the purpose of conducting a vote from the student body. The list has been condensed by various student organizations, so that the student body will only have to choose from two or three.

Hoopmen Edged Out In Overtime Period By Hillier College

The S. F. quintet was edged out by the Hillier College quintet on February 11 at the West End House 50-25. It took two overtime periods for the Blue and Gold to take the victory.

Jack Stahl, who has been the high scorer for the past 3 games, scored 22 points. The Hillier five was led by high scorer Maggiore with 23 points.

With minutes to play, Suffolk called 5 points to even the score 57-57. A foul was called against S. F. but the game had ended before the foul had been committed, thus a five minute overtime period.

This period ended with a score of 75-61. The officials called for a third overtime period and this time the S. F. men were unable to even the score at 80-80 before the end of the period.

Hoopmen Bow To Stonehill At West End House 68-48

Suffolk's hoopmen bowed to powerful Stonehill with a 68-48 rout February 21st at the West End House.

Stonehill set a fast scoring pace in the early moments of the match as they out-played Suffolk in all departments. Points and theft ball playing netted a 30-18 lead for the visitors at the rest period.

Despite Suffolk's jamming tactics, Stonehill worked its pivot offense frequently enough in the last half to keep widening their margin to 68-48.

Sette Hucate and Fandl proved constant scoring threats as they netted 15 and 14 respectively to give Stonehill College a 12-1 record, making it the first-ranking team in the North-East Conference.

Jake Stahl Top Scorer Of Month In Basketball

Named player-of-the-month is "Jake" Stahl. Stahl is in the "working" department.

Jake is the smallest man, but the biggest threat on the hoop squad. He is fast, elusive, and can out-bounce and out-run anyone twice his size. His scoring ability comes from the accurate use of either hand.

Some of the older "jacks" around school claim he plays the same style of basketball that Wally Baines, former S. U. star, did two years ago before transferring to Arizona State. Wally was the only contestant scoring threat Suffolk had, until Jake walked through the portal at 20 Dene St. this year.

Only a freshman, Stahl has three years of basketball ahead of him, besides the one great season he has left behind.

His ten scoring, mark in collegiate competition is 27 points, while he got against Hillier College.

Even though a freshman and the youngest player on the squad, his ability does not turn his head. Even after his "27 point" game he was telling everyone in the shower room about the shaming plays someone else did, and snapping his teammates on the back and reminding them a word of sincere encouragement.

Leading Suffolk in the scoring department were Jerry Foster and Tom Devlin scoring 15 and 14 points respectively.

Get Your Ticket Now For Varsity Dance In Bradford

S. T. students prepare your tickets, now. Don't get caught short of the ticket at the door, or miss by missing the dance of the year. Social functions are a part of education, you know, so start making plans to attend the annual varsity ball dance.

Grab the girls. Take out a loan. Steal a car. Do anything, but be sure to make the dance. Agreed. Then go, and have a wonderful time with all your considerations.

Lois Holton of the Hotel Bradford, March 10th at 8:30 p.m. Your athletic teams have been doing a superb job in representing Suffolk around the inter-collegiate circuit, and they deserve some recognition from the student body. The teams may not have Bob Goupy, or Jack Garrity on their rosters, but they have more spirit than you could imagine. Why not reciprocate their spirit by making the dance a success, and making it possible for them to receive awards—a small token of our appreciation.

Tickets may be obtained from any athlete, and within a short time, they will be on sale on the second floor. Admission price is $2.40 per couple.

Don Woodrow, chairman of the dance committee, has announced the following committees for the "dance advertising": Jack Conway, emcee; Joe Sands, finance; Don Sher; tickets; Dave Perkins, Jack Downs; Sam Wright, and John Trepanowicz. In addition, it was stated that the dance will be in a large hall.

His ten scoring, mark in collegiate competition is 27 points, while he got against Hillier College.

The "little power-house" comes from Lynn, Mass., where he captured Lynn Classical's team last year in a state championship in the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

SU Fails To Halt Winning Streak Of Tufts Sextet

The Tufts College sextet lengthened its winning streak to five straight after leaving the Boston Skating Club on February 20th, by sweeping Suffolk 11-3.

The Jumbos were quick to take advantage of the half-period absence of stability, Pete Kontos was stunned by a puck as a Jumbo wingman bounced a ten footer off his head. His replacement, Bob Benoit, faced a chance to subvert the rest of the team, but he failed miserably, and the score stood 3-0 when the half ended and the second period.

The Suffolk team was on its toes from the initial face-off and scored point in the second frame. Co-captain Fred MacDonald intercepted a pass in the center ice zone. He found an opening in the left wing and with the help of Byron Ballou, drew the Tufts goalie out of his cage to score Suffolk's first tally of the game.

The mighty Jumbos can well be proud of its linemen, Bill Burrows, a high senior with twenty-eight goals he has scored so far this season. He alone hit the red light three times, with consecutive goals on other tallies. When the period ended the Jumbos led the score with a lead of 11-3.

The third frame was dominated by the Suffolk six. Jackie Downs was the mainstay of the attacks. Downs went in several times on the breakaway, and finally scored by center ice was rebound. Again before the period ended Downs hit the lamp again with Chip Mass, gaining an assist.

Bowdoin Sinks SU 57-31

Bowdoin College sank the Suffolk Basketeers in a one-sided battle at Brunswick, Me. Feb. 25, by a score of 57 to 31.

The Suffolk team ran up against a combination of a larger court, a fast two-playdown squad, to out-dictate them all the way except in the opening minutes. The Blue and Gold boys just couldn't get the ball through the hoop, despite the fact that they had better shooting percentage than the Bowdoin men. Time after time Suffollians drove under the hoop, and the ball "bounced" the defender and dropped out, only to have the fast Bowdoin chock pick it up and convert it into a point.

Burrows Scores Deciding Goal In Overtime Period

A ten-foot winner that pointed through 89 Anselms' defenses by Bill Burrows with four minutes to go in a sudden death overtime contest on February 21st gave Suffolk an impressive win to close in the 1949-1950 season.

1950 Hockey Team Ends Successful Year With 4 Wins

The hockey season is over. It is with regret that we make this announcement, as the skaters turn in their equipment and retire from the scene for another season. We cannot deny they did their job well, and we're proud to admit they were from Suffolk University.

Handicapped by inefficient practices and a small amount of material to choose from, they went out and gave us a good, clean, fast-paced game which we are all proud in watching their games.

The team finished their season with a record of four wins, three losses, and one tie. Defeating such opponents as St. J. J. Merriam and St. Anselms, it shouldn't be long before we will see an entry in the inter-collegiate circles.

Players like MacDonald, Kontos, and Burrows, the mention only a few, were examples as to why we are so proud of our team. They were all athletes in the right, the right type to stand in this school.

Their cooperation and spirit was everything that Coach Perkins needed to win a championship. We will miss them, but we will be proud of them.

At present, the Suffolk team is in the first year of the new season, in the hands of Dave Perkins, one of the most experienced coaches in the area of the team.

Preparations for next season are being made now, with plans for the marketing of athletic scholarship to a few of the standard hockey players in the high school and prep school circuits. Don't let it be said that Suffolk is not forcing school, for it reflects the value and need of athletic in student activities.

New And Bigger Sailing Teams Expected In '50

Show may be falling on the ground but a sailor that means that spring is just around the corner, and when spring comes sailing makes factories turn to thoughts of sailing. Last year the sailing club had quite a few new, active members, but they were few in number and they were offered a chance to compete in the Charles River Regatta. At once races the team was lucky to get some members in some one day.

An officer's being made that has an active membership. Officers are to be elected and a constitution is to be drawn up. Until boats are available, it is not known if they are going to be held later in the spring and moves in learn the fundamentals and the basic rudiments of sailing and sailing a dinghy.

The St. Anselms state of the school, N. H. came to Suffolk with a seven-man team. They were only to be met by a Suffolk team. The Suffolk squad determined to stand and fight, and with a new, displaced, sailing team, they were to meet the St. Anselms team, 4-1, at the Regatta Skating Club.

Although the first period of the match was decided by Suffolk, the second half was decided by St. Anselms. By the end of the match, Suffolk was in a losing position. Suffolk's defense was able to keep the puck in the front half of Suffolk's half, and Suffolk's defense was able to keep the puck in the front half of Suffolk's half.

It is hard to single out the players for an individual performance, as the team as a whole was able to keep the puck in the front half of Suffolk's half, and Suffolk's defense was able to keep the puck in the front half of Suffolk's half.

Fiorillo And Students Work To Solve Social Problems

"Lectures may be fine," but not in this case. Recitation should be given to the work being carried out by Mr. Fiorillo and his classes of Social Problems. Employing the practice of studies combined with actuality, the results have proved fruitful. Students in Sociology classes have been placed in three divisions. The first is that concerned with case histories. Students are given the opportunity to participate in actual case work, and observe the causes, effects, and remedies of the problems confronting them.

The second group consists of case material in group work. These people work in conjunction with various social agencies. The third division is the community interest group, which aids in the many campaigns such as the Red Cross, and Community Chest drives.

At all times the school and outside agencies are closely allied, and maintain constant supervision over the students. Class lectures are followed by conferences. These conferences answer the questions of those who have encountered problems in their work. The student is put in the shoes of the case worker, and given a chance to use his own judgment.

These discussion periods are enhanced by the presence of many eminent men and women in the field of sociology. The cases cited are interesting. For instance, the one which concerned a destitute family in Boston's famed Slum Row. It seemed that the father of the household had been the victim of a traffic accident, and had received a considerable sum of money for his misfortune. The family, although in desperate need of food and clothes celebrated by purchasing a television set. This family is still in a bad way, because of the way it foolishly spent the money which was greatly needed.

This is typical of the cases which face the student at all times by the students. Let us not disregard the fine work being done here at Suffolk, and remember that this program is carried out so that we may be better suited to the jobs awaiting us in the future.
