Gilda Corso Chosen Queen Of SU In New Popularity Contest

MISS SUFFOLK AND COURT
The 1950 Miss Suffolk is Gilda Corso of Arlington contest. She was chosen by popular vote of the students on February 23 and 24. Her court includes (l. to r. standing) Juanita Swigler, Roxbury; Frances Balukonis, Dorchester; Zelma Goldberg, Roxbury; Billie Glickstein, Roxbury; and Betty Jackson, Waltham. (Kneeling, front) Shirley Bagdian, Lawrence; Barbara Savini, Stoughton; Queen Gilda Corso; Alice Wittlin, Lawrence; and Lucille Kane, Marlboro.
Entire Cast Putting Heart And Soul Into “Hasty Heart”

The Hasty Heart by John Patrick, the latest production of the Dramatic Workshop which will be produced March 25-26, is the kind of plays you can get your teeth into. And Mr. George Reinsfeld, the other day in his office, said, “It’s been both doing situation comedy” for so long, he went on, “that we are afraid we were getting a rut.” Comedy is a thing that makes little tricks to make an audience laugh. But it gives the strong impression for any group really serious about the theatre when they are not doing it for fun.

There are five plays, which, while they are not tragic, are not so serious that they are not interested in the work of the human in them and how people make them tick. It is gratifying to see, in the stage directions which lift the spirit, and in the human element of the characters, as many as the human element, in so many as the human element, that is so rare the greatest and fine

Latest Miss Suffolk Revue Adds Needed Twist To Co-ed Contest

There's nothing to say but "Strings did it again!" In one of the most likely Miss SU Contests ever held, Gillis Cawley took up the scripture, rules, and roses and was named Suffolk's most popular co-ed of 1956.

CORSO, THIRD SÜ QUEEN

CO-ED OF MANY TALENTS

By VIC CAMPSI

Miss Suffolk's latest Miss added a new feature to the usual script of the contest by including a co-ed contest. Gillis Cawley, who has been named Suffolk's No.

1 co-ed for the past three years, was again the Miss Suffolk co-ed for the 1956-57 season. Her co-ed contest was held in the Student Center's Ballroom on Friday, January 20, with an audience of approximately 300 in attendance. The co-ed contest was a hit with the students and was handled by the Student Center Staff.

The co-ed contest was coordinated by Miss Suffolk's co-ed coordinator, Miss Cawley. She coordinated the co-ed contest by selecting the co-ed team, planning the program, and supervising the activities of the co-ed team.

The co-ed contest was a success and was well received by the students. The co-ed team was comprised of six students, each of whom was selected by the co-ed committee to represent their respective colleges.

NOW IS THE HOUR

The student problem that this age school through the cooperative efforts of the Suffolk County and the University asks attention. The student problem is not a new one in the Beetroot world and we only wish it could be. It is a problem of escaping and educating the young student that we, as the people of Suffolk County, should consider. It is a problem of giving the young student an understanding of the world and the society that is around him.

THE MEETING OF DEPARTMENTS

The students in this age school have been asked to consider the problem of government and the government that governs them. The government that governs them is the government that governs the world. It is the government that governs the world that we should consider.

Burrows Scores Deciding Goal In Overtime Period

1950 Hockey Team Ends Successful Year With 4 Wins

Hoopmen Bow To Stonehill
At West End House 68-48
Brockton native Joe Burrows scored the game-winning goal in overtime off a pass from teammate Elmer Hadley to give Suffolk a 4-3 victory over St. Anselms in the college hockey season finale Friday night at the West End House. St. Anselms, which had come into the game the week's top team in the New England Intercollegiate Hockey League, was held scoreless in the third period for the first time this season. The game was the only scheduled meeting between the teams this year.

Suffolk ended its season with a 4-3 record, one game over .500, completing a successful year of playing in the tough NEICHL. Hadley also scored twice for Suffolk, adding a goal in the first period to give Suffolk a 2-1 lead for the rest of the game. St. Anselms' Bob Haining scored twice to tie the game at 2-2 at the end of the first period. But Suffolk scored goals in the second and third periods to try to put the game away, only to have St. Anselms come back with goals by Jack Farley, Dave Giguere and Bob Haining in the final period to tie the game at 3-3.

In overtime, Burrows, who had scored once in the game so far, passed the puck to Hadley, who then passed it right back to Burrows, who fired it into the net for the winning goal.

Jake Stahl Top Scorer Of Month
In Basketball

The title of 'Scorer Of The Month' in the month of January has been awarded to Jake Stahl of the Suffolk University basketball team. Stahl, a junior from Natick, has been leading the team in scoring all season long. In January, he averaged 14 points per game, topping the team's leading scorer, junior guard John O'Brien, who averaged 13 points per game. Stahl's performance has been key to the team's success, helping them to a 10-5 record in January.

Pete Kontos One Of Best Net Men
In SU Hockey

Pete Kontos, the starting goalie for the Suffolk University hockey team, has been named one of the best net men in the New England Intercollegiate Hockey League. Kontos has been consistently strong in the net all season, leading the team to a 4-3 record. His performance has been critical to the team's success, helping them to a top spot in the league.

New And Bigger Sailing Teams Expected In 50

Sailing teams are expected to be bigger and better in 1950. The new SU sailing team, which will be headed by Pete Kontos, is expected to be one of the strongest in the league. Kontos, who has been a member of the team for the past two years, has shown great promise and is expected to lead the team to success.

Bowdoin Sinks SU 57-31

Bowdoin College, which has been the New England Intercollegiate Hockey League's top team for the past two years, scored a 57-31 victory over Suffolk University in the season finale. The game was held on February 10, with Bowdoin winning by a wide margin. Suffolk played a strong game, but could not keep up with Bowdoin's high-powered offense. The game was the last of the season for both teams, and Bowdoin ended the season with a perfect record of 10-0.

Suffolk's top scorer was Elmer Hadley, who scored twice in the game. St. Anselms' top scorer was Bob Haining, who scored twice in the game. The game was the last of the season for both teams, and Suffolk ended the season with a 4-3 record, one game over .500.
