Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN), vol. 02, no. 7, 1972

Suffolk University Office of Public Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun

Recommended Citation
https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun/55

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN) by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.
DR. DONALD GRUNEWALD IS NAMED PRESIDENT OF MERCY COLLEGE IN NEW YORK

Dr. Donald Grunewald, vice president of Suffolk University and dean of the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Journalism, has been named president of Mercy College in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. He will leave Suffolk at the conclusion of the academic year.

President Fulham made the announcement Friday in a memorandum to the Board of Trustees, Faculty, Administration, Staff and Student Body. "We wish him every success which we know will be his," the President noted.

Dean Grunewald, 38, came to Suffolk in January, 1967 when he was appointed dean of the College of Business Administration. In July of 1969, he was appointed dean of the College of Liberal Arts and vice president of the university. He will become the first male president of the private, non-sectarian college with more than 1000 full time and 600 evening students. Mercy College is co-educational.

"We are sorry to see Dean Grunewald leave Suffolk University which he has served with utmost dedication and made significant contributions both as dean of the College of Business Administration and the College of Liberal Arts," President Fulham said.

Dean Grunewald, in discussing his new position, said: "I have enjoyed my five years at Suffolk University immensely. I am happy to have been a member of the Suffolk family during its recent growth and am proud to have worked with so many dedicated people.

"I have made many friends at Suffolk among the student body, faculty, staff and board of trustees and will always cherish these friendships. However, the opportunity presented to me at Mercy College is a very attractive one and I eagerly look forward to it. I will always hold a special place in my heart for Suffolk University."

(Continued on Page 2)
During his tenure at Suffolk, Dean Grunewald headed a department responsible for more than 2000 students and more than 100 full-time faculty and 40 part-time faculty. While he was dean, new programs were instituted in social work, child care, crime and delinquency, marine biology as well as an interdisciplinary senior seminar. As dean of the College of Business Administration, he started the new Masters in Business Administration program, revised the undergraduate curriculum and added a banking major with the cooperation of the American Institute of Banking. Enrollment was doubled in the business college during his term as dean.

Grunewald holds a bachelor of arts degree from Union College, a master of arts from Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, a master in business administration from Harvard, and a doctor of business administration, also from Harvard. He has authored many publications on business and economics, and prior to coming to Suffolk was an associate professor of business administration at Rutgers University. He is listed in "Who's Who in the East" and "Leaders of Education."

SENATE BILL FILED TO HALT STATE TAX ON TIAA CONTRIBUTIONS

A Senate bill has been filed to amend an act that would impose an average increase of $75 on State income tax this year for some 120 Suffolk University members of the university retirement plan, TIAA/CREF.

The law, Chapter, 555, Acts of 1971, amended G.L. Chapter 62, Section 2 (a), made non-profit employer contributions on annuity contracts taxable at a rate of five per cent for employees on their Massachusetts income tax returns. It was passed last July 21 and made retroactive to January 1, 1971.

Under Senate Bill 956, filed by Senator Robert L. Cawley, chairman of the committee on taxation, a provision of the law would be repealed. A hearing was held on March 8 at which Law professors Alfred I. Maleson and John J. Nolan spoke on behalf of Suffolk for repeal.

At press time, no action had been taken on the measure but it was expected to be reported out of committee favorably.

Francis X. Flannery, university treasurer, said that Suffolk was never notified that the law was passed until last November. While State and Municipal employees were exempted, the legislation affected hundreds of employees in non-profit organizations. The group is represented by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts.

Flannery has advised Suffolk staff members to hold off on filing State tax returns in the hope that favorable action can come on Cawley's bill before the April 17 tax deadline and that retroactively it could eliminate the tax for this year and the future. He said 120 Suffolk faculty and staff, over 30 years of age and in the school's employ for two years, are affected and face an average additional tax liability of $75.

Flannery added that had the university and other agencies affected by the passage of last year's law been notified of its implications at the time, efforts could have been made to oppose its passage.
REISCHAUER IS COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Edwin O. Reischauer, former U.S. ambassador to Japan, will be the speaker at the June 11 commencement at John Hynes Civic Auditorium, Prudential Center and be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters.

Former Harvard professor and author of many books, Reischauer served as U.S. ambassador to Japan from 1961-66. In addition to Reischauer, 10 other persons are scheduled to receive honorary degrees. Recipients will be announced after the degrees are voted on at the April 12 Board of Trustees meeting.

This year's graduating class is expected to number about 750 in the colleges and law school, including February graduates. This year, for the first time in several years, there was no mid-year commencement.

THREE HIGH SCHOOLS HONORED AT JOURNALISM LUNCHEON

The high schools of Revere, Wakefield and Melrose were awarded scholarships totaling $3000 by Suffolk's Journalism department at its second annual Greater Boston High School Newspaper Awards Luncheon, March 16.

Revere's "Patriot" was cited for excellence in news writing, $1400 scholarship; the Wakefield "Lookout" was honored for excellence in editorial writing, $1000 scholarship; and the Melrose "Imprint" was chosen for excellence in typography, $600. Officials of the high schools and Suffolk's Journalism department will decide on a member of the high school staff to receive the scholarship.

President Fulham presented plaques to the editors of the winning papers at a buffet at which some 25 high schools sent representatives. Earlier, Melvin B. Miller, publisher of the Bay State Banner, leading black newspaper in the area, addressed the students.

BLOOD DRIVE COMING UP IN APRIL

The annual blood drive, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, will be held on April 26 at the Ridgeway Lane Building from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Ombudsman Bob Coughlin announces.

APO has set its goal at 150 pints. Last year, they collected 87 pints, a drop of 45 from the previous year. This was attributable to mid-year exams fatigue, etc. according to Coughlin. A total of 143 persons showed up to donate blood but only 87 were taken.

Coughlin thinks the timing for the drive is better this year. He points out that each donor insures blood coverage for both donor and his immediate family for one year. Let's help put APO over the top this year!
LAW SCHOOL RECEIVES $25,000 BEQUEST

The law school has received a gift of $25,000 under the will of a Lawrence attorney, it was announced recently by President Fulham.

The gift was made by the trustees under the will of Attorney Allen J. Ash, in memory of his parents, Samuel and Rebecca Ashkenazy. It was donated through Max Goldstein, Esq. and Nathan Rotfort and the Arlington Trust Co., trustees under the will of Ash, who determined that the entire amount be used at Suffolk University Law School for some worthwhile purpose to be decided by the board of trustees. A commemorative plaque is also to be prepared.

Suffolk can thank Law Professor John E. Fenton Jr. for the bequest. He was a close friend of the late Attorney Ash as well as Attorney Goldstein and Rotfort, and is responsible for the gift.

#

CLOSED CIRCUIT TV USED FOR MOOT COURT COMPETITION

Mark up another Suffolk first. The university, thanks to the time and efforts of Robert B. Jennings, assistant professor of education, and Ivan Banks, building superintendent, employed closed circuit television for the finals of the law school moot court competition. This enabled more than 150 law students, unable to be seated in the 78-seat capacity moot courtroom to view the arguments.

It was the first time Suffolk had used its TV equipment for a special event, and those who viewed the competition on two 24-inch monitors in Room 311 agreed it came in loud and clear. Jennings operated the Panasonic camera in the courtroom. Despite not having total equipment, Jennings and Banks were able to set up amplifiers and cables and pick up the competition. Both men spent about 20 extra hours to provide this service and deserve commendation.

It is hoped that following this successful venture, closed circuit television will be utilized for future events at the school.

#

A NEW TELEPHONE EXTENSION IN LIBRARY

Richard J. Sullivan, director of libraries, issues a reminder that the library has a new extension for those seeking information about audio-visual equipment. Instead of calling the regular library extension for this information, dial 349 and ask for Miss Eileen Fairchild.
DR. STUART A. MILLNER, assistant professor of English - Quietly and without fanfare, Dr. Millner has been providing invaluable service to the English department and Suffolk by spending many hours in the high schools of Boston and surrounding communities. Millner discusses matters concerning our English department, listens to the opinions of various chairmen on English in high schools today and presents favorably the benefits and assistance offered in Suffolk's English program.

DR. DONALD M. UNGER, chairman of the Education Department - He has been appointed a member of the advisory education committee of the Museum of Science, Boston, a committee which is currently chaired by Dr. Julius A. Stratton, president emeritus of M.I.T. It was through Unger's efforts, that Suffolk's Education department attained membership at the Museum.

TOM C. CLARK, retired Supreme Court justice - Justice Clark was at Suffolk on March 22 when the Law School's annual voluntary moot court competition was officially named in his honor. A portrait of the retired high court justice was hung in the moot court. Justice Clark was also a judge for the competition joining Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Boston and Judge Frank J. Murray of the U.S. District Court, Boston on the tribunal. The winners were Leonard Polletta and Brian Riley over runner-up Peter Feeherry.

MISS WENDY LINDLEY - Effective, April 3, Miss Lindley will be the University nurse for the evening division. She is a graduate of Spaulding High School, Barre, Vt. and Methodist Hospital School of Nursing (1969) and had experience in the medical-surgical unit at Lennox Hill Hospital in New York City and in the kidney transplant unit at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Miss Lindley will be at the Medical Suite, Room 11, Archer Building Monday through Friday from 4:45 p.m. to 6 p.m. and at the Switchboard-Information Office in the Donahue Building from 6 to 9:35 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday. She will also have evening hours during summer session. Her appointment will supplement the efforts of Mary Brady, the university's day nurse.

THE SUFFOLK JOURNAL - The university's student newspaper recently received a First Class rating from the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota in an evaluation of some 1250 college publications. Congratulations to Editor-in-Chief Tom Heslin and staff and to faculty advisor Malcolm J. Barach. The Journal editors are also to be commended for their extra efforts in publishing the Journal weekly after years of monthly publication.

MISS LENNE A. GAPSTUR - New addition to the University Development Office, Miss Gapstur comes to us from the State Board of Higher Education where she was a research associate. Her new duties will include proposal writing for the Development Office, writing and editing the Alumni Newsletter and helping to implement Alumni programs. Miss Gapstur holds a bachelor of arts degree from Trinity College, Washington, D.C., and a master of arts degree from John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio. She was also an English instructor at Marymount College, Boca Raton, Florida.
S.U. TO OFFER ALUMNI SEMINAR APRIL 22

Suffolk faculty members will participate in a day-long seminar for the Alumni on Saturday, April 22 at the auditorium in a program selected by Alumni in a response to a questionnaire.

The program stems from discussions by the Committee on Alumni and Community Affairs. Its chairman, Edward Clark, professor of English, has prepared the following program: 10:30 a.m. to 12 - "The Future of the Family: Values and Changes" featuring Gary P. Castanino, visiting assistant professor of sociology and John M. Moran, assistant professor of education; "New Developments in Law" (Taxes, Real Estate, Insurance) with Herbert Lemelman and Alfred I. Maleson, professors of law at Suffolk. 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. - "The Consumer and the Environment" featuring Philip F. Mulvey Jr., professor of biology, and Doris B. Pote, assistant professor of law and trustee of Consumer Affairs Foundation, Inc.: "New Developments in Management" with Benson Diamond, professor of business administration, and Norman Slater, assistant professor of business administration.

In addition to Professor Clark, the Committee on Alumni and Community Affairs includes Mrs. Joan deAlonso, associate professor of modern languages, and Dr. Beatrice L. Snow, associate professor of biology.

A LITTLE BIT OF CULTURE - CHINESE STYLE

China Weeks, under the auspices of the Humanities Club and the Modern Language Club came to Suffolk for two weeks, March 13-24, and there were exhibits everywhere. Aim of the program, according to Dr. Ilse Fang, was to provide a "general audio-visual introduction into the realm heretofore inaccessible to young Americans."

Among the lobby exhibits were artefacts in porcelain, copper, lacquer, white metal, ivory and wicker complemented by embroideries on wearing apparel and pouches. In the President's conference room, there were costumes, musical instruments, the model of a junk, and the Ming dynasty wooden statue of one of the "Eight Immortals."

The library wall cases contained woodcuts, a painted catalpa leaf with early paper book pages while the second floor wall cases exhibited samples of stationery, early Peking gazettes (1907) dice games, chess etc. The screens in the lobby and the college library bulletin board contained present day Chinese publications and works of art, and the lobby brick wall bore six paintings by early 20th century masters.

Highlights of the two-week program included a reception for famous Chinese painter Mme. Fan Tchun-pi, who demonstrated calligraphy and painting, a Peking opera performance by Mr. and Mrs. Hu Yung-fang, a lecture on Chinese poetry by Professor James R. Hightower of Harvard, and a guided tour of Harvard's outstanding collection of Chinese bronzes at the Fogg Museum. In addition, authentic Chinese dishes were served from the school cafeteria.
Big news this month, of course, is the imminent departure of Dean Don Grunewald to become president of Mercy College in New York State, and the SUN joins with his many friends and admirers to wish the Dean much success in his new position. He is a dedicated man, spent many long hours at the university and we will miss him...What makes Billy run? Billy is Mr. William Coughlin, director of admissions, who must rank as Suffolk's foremost jogger. He recently ran in the 11th annual 10-mile run staged by the Greek Orthodox Community in Cambridge from Lexington to Cambridge via Massachusetts Avenue, finished, and clocked himself at 7 minutes, 22 seconds per mile. It's nothing new to Billy who previously ran in a Stoughton road race, and in answer to the query, says, "I find it not only exhilarating but a way to keep young"...Miss Bernadette MacPherson, assistant professor of speech, represented the university at the annual convention of the Speech Association of the Eastern States at the Sheraton Boston. It marked the first time in the association's 63-year history that it met in Boston. Miss MacPherson also represented the university along with student Brenda St. Martin at the oral interpretation festival at Emerson College on March 3 and 4...Henry Mascarello, part-time lecturer in Suffolk's crime and delinquency program, has been named to a national task force which will study how the courts, correctional institutions and law enforcement agencies are responding to the rising crime rate...Dr. Leo Lieberman, director of psychological services, presented a course in the creative management of scientists and engineers for the American Management Association at its New York City headquarters from March 6-10...

TRAVEL BUREAU - The warm weather climates have attracted the following secretaries for vacation time or weekends: Jill Richardson (Law Registrar's Office) Puerto Rico; Yvette Brophy (Law Registrar's Office), Terry Manning (Law Faculty) and Michelle Powers (English Faculty) Florida; Julie Laughlin (Public Relations) Bermuda. Donna Tomlinson (Treasurer's Office) and hubby, Ric, are planning a Hawaii vacation...Ed Saunders of Admissions is at a convention in Chicago and Athletic Director Charlie Law spent a week in Los Angeles at the NCAA coaches convention...Dean Brad Sullivan found that those many early Saturday mornings of peewee hockey practice paid off. His son, Dennis, has been elected captain of the 1972-73 Needham High hockey team...Professor Frederick C. Wilkins, associate professor of English, served as recorder on a panel on "Composition, Standards and Accountability" at the annual meeting on College Composition and Communication at the Statler Hilton on March 23...

THE BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT presented a day-long symposium on marine biology at the university Saturday, March 25 which attracted some 200 persons in the field. Dr. Arthur J. West, chairman of the Biology department, and Gerald F. Comeau of the advisory committee for the symposium, put together a very thorough program of instruction featuring some excellent spokesmen...Mrs. Ann Boutelle, lecturer in the English department has authored an article on "Language and Vision in Early Poetry of Hugh MacDiarmid" in the Contemporary Literature, published by the University of Wisconsin Press...Dr. Edward Hartmann of our History department has been appointed a member of the Columbia University Club in New York...Herbert L. Lyken, lecturer in business administration, has been appointed manager of minority vendor relations for Raytheon Co...Phi Beta Kappa faculty members will meet Monday, April 3 in the Zieman Poetry Library to discuss the possibilities of forming a chapter at Suffolk. They will be addressed by Professor Robert L. Carovillano, chairman of the physics department at Boston College and chairman of the committee formed to obtain a charter at B.C... See you next month...
POTOPURI

The SUN

The news this month, of course, is the imminent departure of Deputy Attorney General of the United States of America. This has been a significant event, not only for the Department of Justice, but also for the nation as a whole. The Deputy Attorney General is a key figure in the administration of justice, and his departure will undoubtedly have a significant impact on the future of the Department.

However, there is another significant event occurring this month, and that is the sun finally setting. This is a rare occurrence, and one that is eagerly anticipated by many. The news of the Deputy Attorney General's departure is certainly a cause for concern, but let us not forget the beauty of the natural world.

As the sun sets, we are reminded of the importance of the Department of Justice, and the need for us to work together to ensure that justice is served. Let us not forget the significance of this event, and let us work towards a better future for all.

SUN

The news this month, of course, is the imminent departure of Deputy Attorney General of the United States of America. This has been a significant event, not only for the Department of Justice, but also for the nation as a whole. The Deputy Attorney General is a key figure in the administration of justice, and his departure will undoubtedly have a significant impact on the future of the Department.

However, there is another significant event occurring this month, and that is the sun finally setting. This is a rare occurrence, and one that is eagerly anticipated by many. The news of the Deputy Attorney General's departure is certainly a cause for concern, but let us not forget the beauty of the natural world.

As the sun sets, we are reminded of the importance of the Department of Justice, and the need for us to work together to ensure that justice is served. Let us not forget the significance of this event, and let us work towards a better future for all.