EDITOR'S NOTE

To the Reader:

Welcome to Volume IV of the Suffolk University Journal of Trial & Appellate Advocacy. In this volume, we are proud to publish our first lead article, which deals with employment contracts in Massachusetts. We are also publishing several student written notes and comments that explore legal issues ranging from assisted reproductive technology to postjudgment interest in contract actions. The Editors anticipate this volume will provide thoughtful and scholarly legal analysis useful to the practicing attorney.

I would like to recognize the Editorial Board for their commitment and diligence throughout the production process. In addition, I would like to thank each author, staff editor and Moot Court Board member for their unwavering commitment to the Journal.

The Editors wish to express their gratitude to Dean John E. Fenton, Jr., Acting Dean William T. Corbett, the Associate Deans, the Journal Faculty Committee, the faculty and the administrative staff of Suffolk University Law School for their support in the production of Volume IV. The Editors also desire to thank our faculty advisor Professor Richard Pizzano for his advice and encouragement.
