Another Yearbook Tax

The Class of '42 attended another of its regular meetings of the Directors of the book. Backed up by a subscription drive from the students and the "Roads" newspaper, the class members feel they would be able to add additional pages to the yearbook. If there is no subscription drive, the book may have to be postponed.

3 CHRISTMAS CAROL

A cold and rainy Christmas Day, as is the case in most parts of the country. It is no wonder that people are quick to complain about the weather. However, there is something special about Christmas Day that makes it a joyous occasion for many people. The warmth of the holiday season brings people together, and the joy of giving gifts is a cherished tradition. In this season of giving, it is important to remember the true meaning of Christmas, which is the celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ. Let us take a moment to reflect on the reason for the season and the values that it represents.

LEGAL SPEAKING

By B. Lloyd Ryback

Many franklins, Black M., and his family, in the last few days, have turned to the new year with enthusiasm. It is a time of renewal and hope, and many people are looking forward to the new opportunities that the new year will bring.

When you open your door on Christmas morning to pick up the morning paper, notice the large size of the Old Compton. Lately, the paper has been running long on stories and events, and you may wonder why. Some people think it is because the paper has a new owner, and they are trying to please the new owner.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS ON CIGARETTE TESTS

NUMBER 3...THE SEA GULL

"I'm not as gallous as I look!"

Maybe our little one was not so bad after all. On the other hand, he may have been trying to sell those quick-light cigarettes over the desk where we work. Well, let's not be too hard on him. After all, how can you judge a pigeon by its weight? Oh yes, they are by one fast flight. What's all the fuss about, anyway? What is coming to making your mind about saving my address?

And think you'd like to take your turn.

That's why we suggest:

Try a sensible test—whether you make it a day after day, back after back time for 30 days. It's the mighty Camel Milds Test! Simply smoke Camel—only Camel—50 packs. Let your own "Z-Zone" (for Thrust, 10 for Freedom) be your proving ground. Then you've tried Camel as a steady smoker, you'll love any...

STUNTS OF SUFFOLK MAMMALS

More People Smoke Camels

These little guys have been noticed climbing around the campus, Palace, and the different dormitories. This morning, we observed a pair of the animals in the Park along with the Thrust spacecraft. The test going on is an attempt to increase the appeal of Camel to students who have not been interested in smoking cigarettes. Students are encouraged to try Camel cigarettes and contribute their opinions to the test. Those interested in participating should contact the Student Affairs Office.

Scribes Addressed by Top Publicists

The top press offices, including the ones of the University of Southern California, have been addressed by top publicists, according to Mr. Rogers. In a recent letter, Mr. Rogers expressed his interest in the opportunity to work with the university. He is especially interested in the faculty and students, who he believes are the backbone of the university's success.

We also heard with the Press Helpline and we were mentioned in the "Scribes Addressed by Top Publicists" section. The university has received several invitations to participate in various public relations events, and we look forward to working with the university in the future.

It is being compiled with one on Russian law, and another on Soviet political economy. The first textbook program, which is a short course in constitutional and international law, will be published.

A joint dance was held in the Student Union Building last night. The dance featured a swing band and a variety of dances such as the Lindy Hop and the Two-Step. The music was provided by a live band, and the atmosphere was lively and energetic. There was a good turnout, and the attendees danced until late into the night, enjoying the festive atmosphere.

Free Reading Course Available To Students

In keeping with the trend throughout the country to improve the reading and writing habits of students, Suffolk University is offering a course in reading improvement as a free service to all students who can benefit by it. The course is under the able guidance of Edgar L. de Forest, Director of the Reading Clinic.

In a well planned and carefully coordinated series of classes, Mr. de Forest has helped many students to develop their reading comprehension rates. In the Tuesday evening class which meets in the auditorium, the Tachy-oscopist, a machine which flashes numbers and words on a revolving screen, is employed. The Tachy-oscopist is a second, is used to speed up recognition and to encourage unitary seeing. In addition, the students are given a series of Harvard Reading Films which are arranged to give an accurate picture of the reader's progress in the film and gradually increase to 60s by the last. These films are most useful in that they do not permit the student to read back during the question period. The same films are then given over the radio.

The Thursday classes are devoted to reading specific stories designed to improve the vocabulary as well as reading.

Some students who are interested in reading are having such success that they might also enrol the course which would be open for one of these.

Get Year With Pay

Innovations to workers in industry today are being matched by those at least in liberal arts college. The College of Arts & Sciences offers professors, or, permanent tenure opportunities, at any age on full time or part time study and research.

Dr. Devon F. Spenser, Professor of biology, expresses it this way: "For one teaching in a small college there are advantages and disadvantages. One great advantage is the privilege of being one. In the large institution one becomes a department, which is a very different situation. In a college, one is the only person who is responsible for all the work in the field. He has the opportunity to take advantage of the opportunities for study and research."

WILLIAMS MEN

AID FOREIGNERS

Williams College men this year have the privilege of living well and contributing something to the work of educational institutions in other parts of the world.

The financial aid plans originated at Bowdoin College last year, and have since been adopted by the two other New England, foreign-study institutions.

The college has a fund available for foreign study and research and will aid students who are interested in study and research.
