T o the student body of Suffolk University:

Dear Students:

Suffolk University and its sister institutions in the Boston area have been engaged in a comprehensive fund-raising campaign in support of the March of Dimes. In recognition of this, the student body of Suffolk University is undertaking a special drive to encourage participation in this worthwhile endeavor.

On Wednesday, February 15, the Suffolk University March of Dimes Campaign will be launched. The campaign will span a period of one week and will include a variety of activities designed to generate interest and encourage participation.

The campaign will begin with a special event, the Suffolk University March of Dimes Kickoff, to be held on Wednesday, February 15. The event will feature speeches by prominent figures, including Suffolk University President John P. H. Kennedy, and will be followed by a march through the streets of Boston to raise awareness of the March of Dimes and its goals.

In addition to the kickoff event, the campaign will include a variety of other activities, such as a March of Dimes awareness rally, a March of Dimes march to the State House, and a March of Dimes community service day.

The Suffolk University March of Dimes Campaign is supported by the Student Senate, the Suffolk University March of Dimes Committee, and the Suffolk University March of Dimes Council.

We encourage all members of the Suffolk University community to participate in the Suffolk University March of Dimes Campaign. This is an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of those who are affected by polio and other birth defects.

Sincerely,

John P. H. Kennedy, President

Ind. Relations Clinics End, Attendance Proves Success

The Ind. Relations Clinics were held in the Jeanette A. Taylor Hall of the Suffolk University Graduate School. The clinics were attended by over 500 students from various colleges and universities.

The attendance at the clinics was very high, with over 500 students registered for the different courses. The clinics were well received by the students, who found the information provided to be very useful.

The success of the clinics is attributed to the hard work of the staff, who worked tirelessly to ensure the smooth running of the event. The staff members were able to provide information on various topics, such as career planning, job hunting, and general advice on academic matters.

The success of the clinics is a testament to the importance of providing information and support to students. The Suffolk University Graduate School is committed to providing the best possible education to its students, and the Ind. Relations Clinics are just one of the many ways in which this commitment is being realized.

Students Attend Marketing Conference

A group of students from Suffolk University attended the American Marketing Association's Northeast Regional Conference, which was held in New York City.

The conference was attended by a group of students from Suffolk University, who were interested in the field of marketing. The conference provided an opportunity for the students to learn about the latest trends and developments in the field of marketing.

In addition to the conference, the students were able to meet with professionals in the field of marketing, and to network with other students and professionals.

The Suffolk University students who attended the conference were very pleased with the experience, and they plan to attend future conferences in the future.

"HE" TO ACCEPT PRESIDENCY

General Dwight D. Eisenhower has firmly broken his silence, and declared his decision to continue on in the present post until called for by the people to assume the presidential office. It was a long time coming for the announcement, but it came finally. The President has been the best friend of the people.

"He" is a great military leader, a great citizen, and a great man. His decision means that he will not run for President. His action will enable him to remain in private life. This is a great blessing for all of us.

The people of the United States have been waiting for this decision. The President has been the best friend of the people.

This move illustrates the great trust we have in the people's ability to make the right choice. The President's decision is a great blessing for all of us.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Final Examinations have rolled around once again and the usual gripes about preparing for them led the Inquiring Reporter to ask the student body what they thought about Final Examinations.

QUESTION: Do you think that final exams are necessary to prove your knowledge of a course?

John Barrett, Sr. C.J.

Final exams are not necessary to judge a student's knowledge of a course but they are necessary for most courses, the most practical way of finding out what a student really knows in a course and in the course of the semester. I personally prefer a course in which many different short quizzes are given as these are very important parts of the final mark, thus minimizing to some extent the importance of the final exam.

The main fault I find with final exams is seem to be an affair of pulling all the eggs in one basket.

Robert Grover, Sr. Management

The necessity for finals depends upon certain factors. If the class is made up entirely of lecturers and lecture material with no class participation, a final exam would be necessary to determine your knowledge and grade. If, however, a certain amount of class work, written assignments, and oral recitation is required, the professor should be able to rate himself how much you know and grade you accordingly. I feel that too much emphasis is placed upon your work in a final whereas it should be given a minor percent age in comparison to the work done during the entire semester.

Isabel Silver, Sr. Management

I approve of final exams. The reason that I am for it is because it provides a review of the work done and the rate of forgetting is so great that reviews help one retain longer the knowledge one has acquired. The brain can be a very lazy thing, but at times and if final exams make it necessary for me, it will put into action to prove my knowledge of a course. I must say that I think finals are essential.

Joseph Teska, Sr. Accounting

I approve and disapprove of the question to some extent, but I lean more towards the negative side than the positive. Most students are in school who take away with them an education. Final exams do not bear the points of an individual's knowledge nor ability. Some people can express themselves better orally than they can by writing a two hour examination, whereas get enmeshed up in a situation which demands the preparation and concentration to write an A paper in a final. I have noticed that a person who is unable to study well loses the knowledge and is not able to retain the knowledge he has acquired. The brain can be a very lazy thing at times and if final exams make it necessary for me it will put into action to prove my knowledge of a course. I must say that I think finals are essential.

John D. Reagan, Sr. Gov't.

I believe that finals are necessary.

The only way that you can prove that you have the facts in your head is to be able to put them down on paper. The reason that most students have a tendency to go blank is that they are nervous. The main fault that I find with final exams is that they are an affair of putting all the eggs in one basket.

The news from Kenya. Mr. Strahan reports that he may go home in February or March. He has picked up quite a crowd of fellows at the hotel and has been entertained in the most lavish style. He is not at all in credit and has no more of his magnificent clothes than a hobo but is, however, a very popular figure among the many who have taken the time to get to know him. He is very well off and has a fine car and is very popular with the natives.

PROFESSOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE

The professor has just had a narrow escape. As he was walking down the hall, he noted something peculiar. A stranger, who had just entered the building, appeared to be following him. The professor quickly changed his route to avoid the stranger, but the stranger continued to follow him. The professor, being a professor, was accustomed to such things and made a mental note to inform the authorities. He then continued on his way, confident that he could handle any situation that might arise.

Geographical File

The professor is known for his geographical knowledge. He has written several books on the subject and is considered an authority in the field. He is currently working on a new book that will cover the entire world, from the highest mountains to the deepest ocean trenches. He spends most of his time researching and writing, and is often seen with a map in his hand, studying it intently.

Mildness

The professor is known for his mildness. He is never seen to lose his temper, no matter what the situation. His students often remark on his calm and collected demeanor. He is said to have a calming effect on those around him, and is often sought out for advice and guidance.

No Unpleasant After-Taste

The professor is known for his attention to detail. He is always careful to ensure that everything he does is done with precision and care. He is particularly meticulous when it comes to his work, and is often seen spending hours going over his notes and correcting mistakes.

Norfolk Tops Oxford

The professor is a big fan of Norfolk Cigarettes. He has been using them for years and has found them to be the best on the market. He is often seen smoking a Norfolk cigarette, and is always happy to share his opinion with others.

Chesterfield - Largest Selling Cigarette in America's Colleges

The professor is also known for his love of Chesterfield cigarettes. He has been using them for years and has found them to be the best on the market. He is often seen smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and is always happy to share his opinion with others.
