CAMBRIDGE

MUSIC NOTES

MARIAN ANDERSON IS NOT GREATEST ARTIST

Elinor Anderson still revalued the great Negro artists as not being the greatest composers and performers, according to the critic. Miss Anderson, of course, is not a Negro, but she has been given the great honor of being the greatest Negro artist of all time. However, Miss Anderson's performances are not as great as those of the Negroes who have been her predecessors in the field of music.

The Grand Central Cathedral, New York, on Tuesday, January 15, will be the scene of the first Negro concert ever given in this city. The program will consist of Negro composers and performers, including Marian Anderson.

AN IN MEMORIAM

1944 SAMUEL J. JETER

This is a touching tribute to a great man. He is remembered for his contributions to the community and for his kind heart.

"Next Door" BY TED SHEDER

"Now Officer, didn't you ever play baseball then" said the teacher.

"No," said the officer. "Well, I guess I'm not the best player in the world, but I can hit a few balls."
WHO IS MAKING THE GREATEST SACRIFICE?

The question of who is making the greatest sacrifice often arises. Throughout history, many have made significant sacrifices, and each individual's sacrifice can be measured in different ways. Some people sacrifice their personal comfort and convenience, while others make sacrifices that affect the world at large. The key to understanding who is making the greatest sacrifice lies in evaluating the impact of the sacrifice on others and the broader context in which it occurs.

For example, a person who donates their time and resources to help others in need is making a sacrifice that has a direct impact on the lives of those they assist. Similarly, a person who makes a significant financial contribution to support education or healthcare is also making a sacrifice that benefits society as a whole.

In contrast, a sacrifice that is made for personal gain or recognition may not be considered as significant as one that is made for the greater good. Ultimately, the greatest sacrifice is subjective and depends on the person's perspective and the context in which the sacrifice is made.

“You get out of life what you put into it”

If you work and use your head, anyone can get along. I’ve been at Revere for 19 years. During that time I’ve been able to buy a house and two acres of land. I don’t owe anyone a nickel. After work I put in a couple of hours on the farm. Two jobs, one at Revere and one on the land, keep me pretty busy. But I do like to be busy. I work in a plant to help make America strong, and I work on my farm because I love to see things grow. When I first came here, this grooved was just a field. But I’ve worked it and fertilized it, until now it’s my best ground around here.

Rippled Island, 1944

In the national

1943 news clip, a story of a Rippled Island event that separated—no one said—was an example of the worst. It's always news.

The story brought boot law to court as the result of the court's NAACP decision, and our media coverage has to involve the policy of AP of International News to disrupt.

Local Bowlers Make High Scores
By Zieg Rine

The Washburn bowlers thrashed the Amateurs 5 to 1 in the Cambridge Auxiliary Bowlers championship, from the AA bander for open.

Charles Jason, double AA bowler from Washburn, scored 132 for his high single game, 284 for his total game, an average of 143.8. The news was no better for the Amateurs, as Charles Kermode scored 102, Mike B. 110, and Bud noss 112.

Contract Bridge

A meeting of contract bridge players will take place at Estell's on Monday, January 18, 8:30 p.m. There will be discussion and play made for holding another tournament. There seems to be a very strong sentiment among the players here to try to arrange a monthly tourney, and it seems we should all work together toward that end. We hope to be able to arrange a good number of players and make it a good bridge game.

Beau Jack Beats Constantino

Beau Jack Constantino

"Sensation of the town" really hard to say. Beau Jack, whose name is associated with a very popular local tournament, has scored a victory over Constantino, a well-known local player. The match was played at the Brown Shoe Company, and the score was 21-15 for Beau Jack. Constantino has a strong following in the city, and the match was a hard-fought one. Beau Jack, however, emerged victorious.

Jack Clarybourne Thows His Man

Boston—Shooting in at Keefe Stadium yesterday, the last day of the season, was Beau Wiggins, who topped the previous record of 111, made by Claude Cole, last Thursday. Breaking the record by 13, Wiggins is now the champion of the city, and his performance was a credit to the city. Beau Wiggins has a long record of success in the city, and his performance yesterday was a continuation of his excellent form.

The Road Ahead

... will not be an easy road. For many, 1944 will be a sad and lonely road. But it is up to us to make it the road to complete Victory, which includes not only a military triumph over our enemies, but also a just and lasting peace, and a satisfactory solution of the critical problems of the post-war era.

That this war will end is a certainty. That the United Nations will be victorious is also a certainty. When this victory will come is not known to man; but the problems to be solved after victory are known to all of us, and must be solved by the cooperative efforts of all of us.

If we desire the continuation of democracy in fact as well as in name, if we believe in free enterprise, now is the time to think and to plan for their perpetuation. Those who would destroy democracy and the system of free enterprise are thinking and are planning; they will be ready and glad to take over if we are not ready.
