General Information

Boston

Modern technology and the pressing demands of urban development merge with the historically and culturally rich framework of Boston; the result is a unique blend of traditional beauty with modern urban life as exemplified by the revitalized Quincy Market area. The exciting contrast that arises from this interaction has made Boston a cultural as well as an educational haven.

Each fall, over 100,000 students return to the metropolitan area's colleges and universities. This great intellectual community enriches Boston life with innumerable programs.

Suffolk University Law School is located in the heart of the city near the State House and the Supreme Judicial Court. This close proximity to courts and legislature opens a range of opportunities to Suffolk law students, from public defender programs to consumer protection bureaus. The law student desiring to do so can make important contributions of skill and knowledge to efforts dealing with the social and economic problems of a great metropolis.

Suffolk University Law School

Suffolk University Law School was established in 1906. The University also includes the College of Liberal Arts and the School of Management. Suffolk University is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. The Law School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, and is accredited by the American Bar Association.

The Law School maintains Day and Evening Divisions, offering a balanced traditional curriculum. The faculty believes this approach assures each student that he or she will be equipped upon graduation to practice law in any American jurisdiction.

Suffolk University Law School fills a special need for a high quality, realistic legal educational program in an urban setting, available to both day and evening students.

Today the Law School has one of the largest bodies of living law alumni in the nation, numbering over 12,000 and representing every aspect of the profession in the judiciary as well as the bar and in legislatures and governmental offices.

Law Library

The Stephen P. Mugar Law Library is housed on four floors of the law school's Donahue Building. Its attractive, carpeted, air conditioned and spacious reading rooms are open 103 hours a week with professional assistance available days, evenings, and weekends. Carrels line the walls of the stack areas, which contain the bulk of the collection. The growing collection-presently at 200,000 volumes-is part of an integral network of state, bar and private law libraries which are accessible to Suffolk law students and provides them with one of the largest collections of legal, business, and government document material in the nation.

The E. Albert Pallot Law Library, located on the same floor as Mugar, is reserved for Suffolk law students and alumni. It contains duplicate sets of all major legal resources as well as a Massachusetts collection, a microfilm collection, a video and audio room, two conference rooms, copying facilities, and a government document collection.

The library's collection more than satisfies the standards of both the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools and is fully equipped to accommodate research in all states, Federal Law, English and Canadian legal materials, and international law. While stressing primary material, the law library has an excellent collection of biographical material on lawyers and judges, famous trials, law and literature, environmental law, and criminal law. The library is also a government depository.

The law library is equipped to handle all phases of modern technology. Lexis and Westlaw are made available to all students as well as being an integral part of course work. Law School students have access to hundreds of bibliographic and information data bases provided on-line by the Lockheed Company's Dialog system. The law library is also part of an on-line OCLC interlibrary loan system whereby it receives and sends books throughout the United States. There is also an extensive collection of microforms of government documents, back up copies on microform of the major law reviews, state, Federal and historical material. In addition there are video and audio facilities made available through the university's excellent Instructional Center.

The Masterman lounge, located between the Mugar and Pallot libraries is a gathering place for students to study, relax, and converse. There is also a small lounge in the Mugar library.

There are six conference rooms available to students for group study, cite checking, computer research and typing.

As part of its service oriented activities, the library staff provides the tables of contents to all law reviews, and acquisition list, a library guide and a union list of microforms in New England law libraries.

Summer Law School Program

Suffolk University Law School offers a Summer Program. This Program is open only to students who have completed in good standing the first year of law school at an American Bar Association accredited law school. All applicants to the program must present a letter of good standing from the Dean of their Law School.

A student in the program may take up to 5 credits (10 classroom hours per week). No student may under any circumstances take more than 7 credits (14 classroom hours per week). A student wishing to take 6 or 7 credits (12 or 14 classroom hours per week), must obtain special administrative approval.

Evening students wishing to use the Summer Program courses for acceleration purposes are advised that in order to satisfy the full time weeks in residence requirements of the accrediting authorities, they must take a minimum of 4 credits (8 classroom hours per week).

Any part-time (Evening) program that requires more than five credits per Summer must be approved by the law school administration.

Full-time (Day) students desiring to use the Summer Program for acceleration purposes are advised to consult the law school administration prior to embarking on this course of action.

Summer Law School applications and bulletins are available early in the spring through the Law School Admissions office. The course offerings in the Summer Program are subject to minimum enrollment requirement.

Center for Continuing Professional Development

The Faculty of the law school is committed to expanding the opportunities for our alumni and other members of the bar in continuing legal education. The Center for Continuing Professional Development recognizes that legal education is a lifetime activity for competent lawyers. The resources of our faculty, our law library, legal research facilities and physical plant are devoted to this task in a manner consistent with our primary goal of providing J.D. candidates with the best possible preparation for practice. The Center makes these resources available to the bench and bar as a part of Suffolk's ongoing commitment to legal education.

Admissions

Prelegal Study

Applicants must possess a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university prior to the time of registration. The Faculty does not specify particular subjects for prelegal education. The students come from many universities of varied curricula. The great disparity found in the content of particular subjects makes it impractical to designate particular subjects as the "best" preparation for the study of law. Concentration in one or more of the liberal arts, sciences and/or humanities, such as history, philosophy, literature, mathematics, or economics is desirable. Undergraduate courses in elementary accounting are recommended as they furnish a background helpful in many law school courses. The importance of proficiency in English, both written and spoken cannot be overemphasized.

Prospective applicants will find additional information in the 1984-1985 edition of the Prelaw Handbook published by the Law School Admissions Council and the Association of American Law School. This publication contains additional information on prelegal study, a brief word picture of most American Law Schools and other information relevant to Law School applicants.

A copy of the Prelaw Handbook may be obtained through many college book stores or ordered directly from:

L.S.A.S., Box 2000, Newton, PA 19940

Day and Evening Program

The day division of Suffolk University Law School is comprised of approximately 900 students. The program of study leading to the degree of Juris Doctor requires 90 credit hours of study to be completed in three years. Applicants for the first year of law school are only accepted for September of each year.

The evening division of Suffolk University Law School awards the same degree that is given by the day division. The course of study requires four years to be completed. The requirements for admission into the evening division are generally identical to those of the day division. Evening division students are graded in the same manner as students in the day division. Evening classes are usually held three evenings per week starting at 6:00 p.m.

Day and evening division applicants are accepted only into the regular degree seeking program. Applicants may not apply to audit courses or apply for a conditional acceptance.

Some states now require, under the rules for admission to the local bar, such procedures as Law Student Registration, the filing of a Law Student's Qualifying Certificate and/or other formalities, before an applicant begins the study of law. Therefore, persons who may desire to practice law elsewhere than in Massachusetts are advised to make inquiry with the local Bar Examination Authority of such other requirements for the relevant state bar examination.

Law School Admission Test

Applicants are required to have an official report of their score on the Law School Admission Test sent directly to Suffolk University Law School by the Law School Admission Service. The test is administered four times per year. Students seeking admission for the 1985 entering class must take the LSAT no later than March 2, 1985.

Applicants who took the LSAT more than three years prior to submission of their application must repeat the test in order to be considered for admission.

Information about the exact date and location of test centers is provided in the Law School Admission Bulletin which may be obtained by writing to:

Law School Admissions Services
Box 2000
Newton, PA 18940

The test dates for 1984-1985 are:

September 29, 1984
December 1, 1984
March 2, 1985

The Law School Data Assembly Service

The LSDAS provides participating law schools with a report containing LSAT results, a summary of an applicant's academic work, and copies of college transcripts. Central processing of transcripts eliminates the need for applicants to send separate transcripts to multiple law schools.

The Law School Application Matching Form

All applicants must submit a Law School Application Matching Form with their application to the Law School. Law School reports (both LSAT and LSDAS will be produced only for candidates using this Matching Form.) Matching Forms are available in the 1984-1985 Law School Admission Bulletin. Instructions regarding their use can be found in the Admission Bulletin.

Application Procedure

Applications for both the day and evening division must be received in the law school admission office by March 15, 1985 for the 1985 entering class. First year students are enrolled only in the fall semester.

Each application must be accompanied by a non-refundable $40 application fee and the Law School Application Matching Form.

Each applicant to the law school must take the Law School Admission Test and register with the Law School Data Assembly Service. All applicants to the school must supply a letter from the Dean of their undergraduate college as one of their letters of recommendation. A second recommendation should come from a college instructor if the applicant has graduated from college within the past three years. For persons who have graduated more than three years ago, it is suggested that this second letter be provided by a current employer.

To speed the processing of recommendations applicants are urged to follow the procedure described in the Law School Admission Bulletin. The Admission Bulletin is published annually by the Law School Admissions Office.

Applicants desiring to emphasize or explain any unusual circumstances in their backgrounds should feel free to submit supplementary personal information.

Interviews

Personal interviews are not required although some applicants on occasion have been asked to appear before a member of the admission committee in order to clarify a question concerning their application. Applicants are welcome to visit the school to meet with students or a member of the Admission staff and to attend classes for a day.

Admission Process

During 1983-1984 the law school received 3000 applications for 300 places in the day division and 180 places in the evening division.

The Admission Committee does not use an automatic minimum cutoff system in its evaluation of an applicant's grade-point average or LSAT score. Based on an initial objective review only, the grade-point average is given slightly more weight. The subjective review includes analysis of class rank, grade trends, year of graduation, range as well as depth of courses, and extracurricular activities. Work experience since graduation is evaluated on the basis of growth since college, maturity, and responsibility. Students are strongly urged to supplement the application with an autobiographical essay discussing the subjective factors they feel are particularly important to a review of their application.

The Admission Committee operates on a rolling admission process. A candidate is notified as soon as an admission decision is made. The review of completed files begins as early as mid-November with some notification letters being sent during December. It should be noted that the application deadline is March 15 but clearly it is to the applicant's advantage to complete his or her file early.

Underrepresented Minorities

Suffolk University Law School seeks to provide equal educational opportunities to people from all backgrounds. Applicants from such backgrounds should be sure to include a detailed personal statement outlining their background as part of their application.

Advance Tuition Deposit

All students accepted to the law school will be required to pay a $200 tuition deposit within two weeks of notification of acceptance. No student accepted prior to April 1 will be required to pay the tuition deposit until April 1. Further information concerning tuition deposits will be contained in the offer of admission.

Six-Year Program

Students currently enrolled in Suffolk University who have earned three quarters of the credits required for a Bachelor's degree and have outstanding academic records are eligible to apply for the combined degree program. The combined degree program is only open to those students who have attended Suffolk University since their freshman year. Under this program students may receive their college degree upon the satisfactory completion of the first year of law school. Applicants for admission under this program should follow the normal application procedure, indicating on the application form that they are applying for admission under the Six-Year Program.

Specific inquiries concerning the Six-Year Program should be addressed to the Director of Admission of the University, or the Dean of the appropriate College division.

Juris Doctor/Master of Public Administration

Suffolk University School of Management and Law School offer a combined JD/MPA program integrating professional education in law and public management. It is ideal for those wishing to obtain the skills and concepts necessary for good public and non-profit sector management. The JD/MPA program is open to full-time students.

Candidates for the JD/MPA program must meet the admission criteria for both the MPA, as determined by the School of Management, and the JD, as determined by the Law School. No student will be considered for admission to the School of Management until the Law School Admission Committee has acted favorably.

The curriculum requirements for the JD/MPA degrees will be granted upon completion of 128 semester hours of work. Of this number, 80 semester hours must be completed in the Law School and 30 in the MPA program. Eighteen semester hours of electives are also required. At least 9 semester hours must be taken in the Law School. The remaining 9 hours may be completed in either the Law School or MPA program. In addition, candidates are required to complete a non-credit colloquium meeting during the academic year.

Transfer

A student who has maintained a satisfactory record at another accredited law school may apply for admission as a transfer student.

Credit for courses previously taken will be determined after the student has been admitted. Credit is not usually granted if more than five years have elapsed since the student last attended law school. Transfer applicants are requested to complete the regular application process, however, their materials need not be submitted until June 1. No decision will be made on transfer applications until all transcripts of prior law school work have been received. Transfer applicants must provide a letter of good standing from the Dean of their law school. An application from a student with an unsatisfactory record at another law school will not be considered.

Nonmatriculants

Students in good standing having completed two years at other approved law school may attend as nonmatriculants in the third year provided the credit earned is to be transferred to the other law school.

Law students wishing to attend as nonmatriculants must support their application with a letter from the Dean of their school granting permission to attend Suffolk and an official law school transcript. The letter from the Dean must state that credits earned at Suffolk will be applied toward the candidate's degree requirements at his original law school. Inquiries should be addressed to the Director of Admission.

Nonmatriculating students may not transfer to degree status.

Foreign Students and Admissions

Foreign students may be admitted to the J.D. program or to undertake a course of study as Special Students.

J.D. candidates must take the Law School Admission Test. Information concerning this test may be obtained from L.S.A.T. Box 2000, Newton, PA 18940, U.S.A.

All foreign students must obtain an analysis of their academic background from Credentials Evaluation Services, P.O. Box 24679, Los Angeles, CA 90024, U.S.A.

In addition, applicants who are residents of non-English speaking countries must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language. Information concerning this test may be obtained by writing to TOEFL, Educational Testing Service, Box 899, Princeton, NJ 08540, U.S.A.

It should be noted that Massachusetts requires a J.D. from an approved school before taking the Bar examination.

Tuitions and Fees

Tuition

Tuition for the Day Division 1984 - 1985 is $5,950 per year or $2,975 per semester.

Tuition for the Evening Division 1984 - 1985 is $4,462.50 per year or $2,231.25 per semester.

Tuition for Special Students (students other than students enrolled in the regular Day or Evening Division) is $225.00 per credit hour. (This is subject to change for the Summer Program commencing June 1985.)

Regular students who through adding or dropping courses do not take the normal annual course load during any academic year may be reclassified as Special Students for annual tuition payment purposes, but in no event shall the annual tuition cost for such student be less than that stated above for regular students, and provided further, that in no event shall a student taking ten (10) credit hours or more per semester in the Day Division or seven (7) credit hours or more in the Evening Division per semester be classified as other than a regular student.

Regular students in the Evening Division who wish to accelerate through the use of the Summer School program should consult the Law School Registrar's Office to ascertain the minimum residency requirements and the Student Accounts Office to determine the tuition adjustment, if any.

Tuition Liability

Students who are obliged to withdraw from the Law School or to drop courses before the end of the fourth week of the fall or spring term may, on approval of the Law Registrar and the Student Accounts Office, receive a reduction of their tuition liability.

Tuition liability is determined according to the following schedule:

Withdrawal or Drop Forms filed and approved within:	Create Student's Liability of:
One week of opening of term	20%
Two weeks of opening of term	40%
Three weeks of opening of term	60%
Four weeks of opening of term	80%
After four weeks of opening of term	100%

All adjustments in the student's tuition liability will be based on the date on which the Withdrawal Form or Drop Form is received by the Law Registrar's Office. The Summer Session Tuition Liability is published separately.

Fees

Application Fee - Each application for admission to the Law School must be accompanied by an Application Fee of $40.00. This Fee is not a part of the tuition, and will not be refunded.

Student Bar Association Fee - Student Bar Association dues, in the amount of $15.00 per year, are required of all students registered as candidates for the degree of Juris Doctor.

Late Registration Fee -
$50 for registration during the first two weeks of classes
$100 for registration during the third and fourth weeks of classes
$250 for registration after the fourth week of classes

Deferred Tuition Payment

While the tuition and fees for each semester are due at the time of registration, students who find it necessary may arrange for a deferred tuition payment plan. It must be clearly understood, however, that each student who registers is obligated for the tuition charges of the full semester, even though in approved emergencies the student's tuition liability may be reduced. There are two payment plans available:

Plan 1: One payment of all charges (for full semester) before registration for each semester.

Plan 2: Two payments - one half before registration; one half in sixty days.

A service charge of $25.00 per semester is added to the tuition bill under Plan 2. A late payment fee of $25.00 is assessed for late payment of tuition.

No other provision is made for installment payment, whether monthly, quarterly or otherwise, directly with the College. Parents or students who wish to make such arrangements should do so with a bank or other commercial firm that handles such financing.

Students who plan to borrow money from banks or elsewhere for their college costs are urged to submit their applications early enough to meet the payment due dates.
FUNDS NOT RECEIVED BY THE DUE
DATE WILL BE ASSESSED A $25.00
DEFERRED PAYMENT CHARGE.

Graduation Fees

June Graduates - The graduation fee, including diploma, is $25.00. This fee is payable whether or not the student attends the graduation ceremony.

January and September Graduates - As there is no formal graduation ceremony in January or September, the graduation fee is $8.00 (cost of diploma). January and September graduates are also invited to attend the June graduation ceremony and, if attending must pay the full graduation fee of $25.00. This fee, together with any other unpaid balance, must be paid when the application for degree is filed.

All fees are subject to change by action of the Board of Trustees. Any such change may be made applicable to students already enrolled in the school.

Financial Aid Information

I General Policies

All programs are administered without regard, to race, color, handicap, religion, sex, national origin, or age.

Suffolk University Law School will attempt to provide financial assistance to all students with demonstrated need. Any student applying for aid must be in and maintain good academic standing in accordance with the Regulations of the Law School set forth in this catalogue.

In determining a student's need, all resources; parental contribution, spouse's support, summer earnings, available loans, special benefits (Veteran's, Employment or Social Security) and the student's income, are considered. The amount of monies available from these sources applicable to the cost of education will determine a student's remaining need.

A student should weigh these resources prior to applying for assistance. Students who cannot meet the educational costs of the Day Division through a combination of their resources should consider applying to the Evening Division. Because of the limited grant monies available, awards exceeding direct cost (tuition and fees) will only be made in cases of extreme need.

Ideally, every attempt is made to package an award to include some grant monies, loan and work study funds (with the exception that few entering students receive work study funds.) The loan will be assumed as a resource for all eligible students. Every applicant for financial aid should first apply to a bank or lending institution for a guaranteed student loan. Students are reminded that a guaranteed student loan is one of the Title IV federal financial aid programs and approval for this loan is based on federal regulations and law school financial aid policies.

Although grant monies are not required to be paid back to the University, recipients should realize that the continuance of many of the programs depends on Alumni contributions.

A student's financial status is assumed to be dependent upon a resource other than his or her own. As a general rule, a student can expect that the greater the number of applicants for a particular type of fund, the greater the financial disclosure required for consideration. For example, students requesting consideration for grant dollars must provide full parental information and financial disclosure on the GAPSFAS regardless of age, marital status or compliance with the federal test for independence.

A. Cost of Education - Student Expenses 1984 - 1985

	Day Student	Evening Student
Tuition	$5950	$4462.50
Books and Fees	465	465
Livings Costs	(4205-10,180)*	(4205-10,180)*
Total	$6415+	$4927.50+

* Living costs will vary according to the student's status and circumstances.

Adjustments to average costs used will be made for individual students where warranted.

 Additional late charges and deferred payment fees may be added by the accounting department.

B. Application Procedures

Any student applying for financial assistance during the academic year 1985-86 must file financial aid materials by February 1, 1985.

Students applying for admission in September, 1985 will receive some financial aid materials automatically in the Admission Bulletin.

Continuing law students may obtain materials in the Law School Financial Aid Office at the end of the Fall semester. Remember that financial aid awards are not renewed automatically. Students must re-apply by February 1, 1985 for all funds sought for the 1985-86 year.

A complete application consists of the following by stated deadlines:

- 1) Graduate and Professional School Financial Aid Statement (GAPSFAS) (2/1/85).
- 2) Suffolk University Law School 1985-86 Financial Aid Application (2/1/85).
- 3) Financial Aid Transcripts from any prior post-secondary school (2/1/85).
- 4) Photocopy of 1984 Federal Tax Returns (1040, 1040A, 1040EZ) of student and parent(s) (4/20/85).
- 5) Guaranteed Student Loan application from lender and Federal Guaranteed Student Loan Needs Test Form 1985-86 (6/30/85).

Optional Forms:

- 1) Law School Assured Access Program loan forms: GSL and/or ALAS
- 2) Family Education Loan application from Massachusetts College Student Loan Authority

II Financial Aid Resources

A. Law School Financial Assistance

Financial assistance to law students is administered by the law school Financial Aid Officer. The types of funds available are three: grants, loans and employment. A complete application is required for consideration and an applicant is reviewed for all possible sources automatically. Timely applicants receive primary consideration. The Financial Aid Office will notify the student body when and if requests for specific funds are being accepted. Reconsideration of financial aid decisions generally take place at the close of the first semester unless emergency circumstances warrant otherwise.

I. Tuition Assistance Grants

(a) General Trustee Fund

The major source of grant awards is the General Trustee Fund. Eligibility and selection is based on need. Students who file a GAPSFAS will automatically be considered for grant monies from this fund. The following is a partial list of past contributors to this fund and mention is made in appreciation of their support.

The late Gleason L. Archer, Founder and Dean of Suffolk Law School and first President of Suffolk University, whose foresight, business acumen, enthusiasm and energy led to the establishment of Suffolk University.

The late Hiram J. Archer, Professor of Law and Trustee of Suffolk University.

Marion B. McGinnis in memory of her father, Thomas J. Boynton.

The Trustees in memory of the Late William F.A. Graham, Esq. of the Class of 1924, long a Trustee of Suffolk University.

The Trustees in memory of Judge William H. Henchey, a former Professor of Law and Life Trustee Suffolk University.

The Trustees in memory of the late Honorable John B. Hynes, former Mayor of the City of Boston, Trustee and Treasurer of Suffolk University.

(b) Restricted Funds

Certain funds have been restricted in their use in accordance with the wishes of the benefactors. The following is a list of those funds with a description of eligible students. Students who believe they may be eligible for one of these grants should indicate on the Law School Financial Aid application that they wish to be considered.

Allen Ash Fund, established in memory of the late Judge John E. Fenton, Sr. Funds are to be awarded to a needy student from the Greater Lawrence area who best exemplifies the ideals of the late Judge Fenton.
Bevilacqua Scholarship Fund, established by Joseph A. and Robert J. Bevilacqua of Providence, Rhode Island. This fund is to be used to provide scholarships for Rhode Island residents on the basis of scholarship and need.

Nelson G. and Mary Burke Scholarship Fund, established by Nelson Burke, a Trustee of the University and a graduate of the Law School. Income from this fund is to be used for scholarships in the Law School and University for deserving students from the State of Rhode Island.

Fenton Scholarship, established in honor of the late Judge John E. Fenton, Trustee and Chairman of the Board. Funds are to be used for deserving needy law students.

John J. Labanara Scholarship Trust Fund established by the family and friends of John J. Labanara, who graduated from the Law School in 1971. The income from this fund is to be used for scholarships for deserving students.

Law General Alumni Fund, income to be used for scholarships for deserving and needy law students.

The Thomas B. Munro Memorial Scholarship Fund, established by James Munro in honor of his son, income to be used for scholarship awards to deserving and needy Evening Division law students.

Stephan L. Peters Scholarship Fund, established by Louis Peters, to be awarded to a deserving and needy law student.

R. Nathalie and Leonard Poretsky Scholarship Fund, established by Leonard Poretsky, income to be used to award scholarships to deserving law students.

2. Loan Programs

Students applying for financial assistance are expected to meet a substantial portion of their need through one of the following loan programs. Loans are considered as an available form of "self-help" for all financial aid applicants.

(a) Guaranteed Student Loan Program

The Guaranteed Student Loan Program is a federally funded Title IV program. In the past, graduate students have been eligible to receive a $5,000, low interest loan, per year to finance the law school program.

On October 1, 1982 Congress enacted legislation that significantly changed the regulations governing eligibility for this loan. Students and parents (or the independent student) with a combined total adjusted gross income of over $30,000. are no longer automatically eligible for this loan.

Eligibility for students in this category can be determined in two ways: 1) use of federally governed Guaranteed Student Loan Needs Test Form or 2) a federally approved needs analysis system (GAPSFAS). Use of the latter method will also allow a student to apply for other sources of aid and students are advised to use the more complex system.

Since either method is currently acceptable, the Financial Aid Office may use whichever most benefits the applicant. Eligibility for this loan is determined each year the student applies. Remember: this program is governed by federal regulations that can and do change often. Once eligible does NOT mean always eligible.

Students are advised to review the law school financial aid application materials prior to obtaining this loan application from a bank or lender. (See also Law School Assured Access Program under the heading Alternative Loan Funds.)

(b) Auxiliary Loans to Assist Students (ALAS/PLUS)

On October 1, 1982 Congress also enacted legislation which allowed graduate students to borrow under a program previously available to parents of undergraduate students (Parents Loans to Undergraduate Students - PLUS).

This program would allow graduate students to borrow up to $3000. per year. The interest rate charged fluctuates, but is expected to rest around 12-13%.

Until major changes are made to the current regulations as they pertain to graduate student borrowers local lending institutions are extremely reluctant to participate. The Financial Aid Office will keep students informed about the availability of this program. However, this loan is available under the Law School Assured Access Program - see Alternative Loan Funds.

(c) National Direct Student Loan Program

In order to receive a National Direct Student Loan (NDSL) a student must file all financial aid materials. NDSL loans are made to students who are citizens or permanent residents of the United States and who are registered in the Juris Doctor Degree program. A student may not borrow more than $12,000 under this program (combined graduate and undergraduate total). These loans are part of a student's financial aid award. The amount and terms of the NDSL will appear on the financial aid award letter, if the student has been selected to receive such a loan. Priority for this fund is given to those students who are extremely needy.

The amount of monies available under this program varies from year to year depending on federal allocations to the University. Repayment and accrual of interest begins nine months after the student ceases at least half time study and can be spread out over a ten year period. Interest charges begin at the start of the repayment period at the rate of 5%. The amount of money awarded may be accepted or rejected by the student. Should more monies be available in this fund during the course of the year, students will be notified and requested to contact the Financial Aid Officer.

(d) The Unity Loan Fund

In cases of extreme emergency, the law school may be able to make available a small short term loan, fully repayable within ninety days.

(e) Alternative Loan Funds

In addition to the previous mentioned loan programs, the following sources may assist students in securing alternative or supplemental loan funds. A student who is not eligible to receive a full $5000 Guaranteed Student Loan will be the most likely applicant for the following.

(1) The Law School
Assured Access
Program

The Law School Assured Access Program was developed by the Law School Admission Council (LSAC), The Higher Education Assistance Foundation (HEAF), The First American Bank of Washington, D.C. and the Student Loan Marketing Association (SALLIE MAE) to provide an assured source of funding for Guaranteed Student Loans and ALAS loans for law students. Suffolk University Law School participates in this program. The benefit to law students is that this program provides an avenue to obtain federal loans, GSL's and ALAS loans, when the student might not otherwise be able to obtain these funds from a private lender because of prerequisites imposed by the lender or state guarantee agency. Please be advised that these are still federal loan programs and subject to federal regulations governing disbursement and eligibility. Few students applying to this law school have difficulty finding a willing lender for the GSL if the student is eligible. However, those students who are no longer eligible for GSL's should be able to obtain ALAS loans via this program. These $3000 loans will be available without the usual requirement for in-school payment. At the student's option, in-school interest will be capitalized and in-school principal deferred. Both will be payable after completion of studies or cessation of full time studies.

Students in need of this program should request applications from the law school Financial Aid Officer.

(2) The Family
Education Loan -
Massachusetts
College Student Loan Authority

In response to increasing costs of education and the decreasing access to federal loan programs, the Massachusetts College Student Loan Authority (MCSLA) was created to provide financing to students and parents via the Family Education Loan.

Eligibility is determined by comparing a family's net resources with the cost of education. In addition to family income and assets, including other financial aid awarded, factors such as family size, the number of children in post-secondary education and any unusual expenses are taken into account. Co-Borrowers are parents or legal guardians of the student. A creditworthy spouse may also qualify.

Up to 75% of a student's cost of education may be borrowed with a $2000 minimum.

Loan proceeds are disbursed directly to the college or university and credited to a student's account. The annual percentage rate for the loan is 12.5%. Payments begin 30 days after the loan is disbursed and extend for a 15 year term. Late charges of 5% of the overdue amount or $5.00, whichever is less, are assessed if payments are not received within 10 days of the due date. No requests for payment deferral can be granted. Loans may be prepaid without penalty after four years.

Processing and determination begin at the law school Financial Aid Office. An independent credit evaluation of the applicant is performed on behalf of MCSLA. The credit criteria parallel industry standards for extension of consumer credit. Most important are a good history of credit repayment, stable monthly income and an ability to bear a fixed monthly cost. There is a $30 application fee. Students or parents interested in this loan should write the law school Financial Aid Officer.

3. Employment

(2) College Work Study Program

Students who have substantial financial need may be given work-study employment in law oriented work for a public or nontaxable private corporation provided that work is in the public interest and does not exceed 15 hours per week during the academic year.

First year students do not generally receive work study funds during the academic year but are allowed to apply for summer work study funding following the completion of their first year.

Continuing and first year students who wish to apply for summer work study must have their financial aid applications completed by February 1st and complete a work study postcard in the Spring term. An attempt is made to notify students receiving summer work study monies in April in order to allow time for students to locate summer positions. The Law School Placement Office will keep a listing of available work study positions and agencies which have employed Suffolk University Law School students in the past.

Under the work study program the federal government provides 80% of the funds for a student's salary. The employing agency provides 20%. Students who have been authorized to receive work study funds for a specified period should begin their job search immediately. When they are certain where they would like to work they should make an appointment with the Law School Financial Aid Officer who will provide them with the forms necessary for the payroll department and billing.

B. Outside Financial Aid Sources

2. State Resident Assistance

The following is a list of states and various organizations within them which accept applications for assistance from students who are residents of the state. Students should contact these organizations directly for further information.

(a) Connecticut

Connecticut State Scholarship Grants - A limited number of grants of up to $1,000 per year for graduate study are available under the Connecticut State Scholarship Program, contingent upon the action of the General Assembly in extending the program. Students may apply if they are U.S. Citizens, have been legal residents of Connecticut for at least twelve months prior to the time of the application and are currently enrolled in or have been admitted to an accredited law school. The deadline for filing all required credentials is March 10. Contact the Connecticut Graduate Award Program, Educational Testing Service, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540

Stamford (Conn.) Bar Association Foundation Scholarship Program - This foundation provides a limited number of scholarship aid awards in varying amounts up to $1,000 for law students who reside or intend to practice in the Stamford-Darien area of southwestern Fairfield County, Conn. Qualified students should write to the Stamford Bar Association Foundation, Peter M. Ryan Esq., P.O. Box 1214, Darien, CT 06820.

Milton H. Meyers Law Scholarship - This scholarship was established by the Colonial Bank and Trust Company of Waterbury, Connecticut. This scholarship is in the amount of $500, to be awarded to a law student who is a resident of the Waterbury, Connecticut area, has successfully completed the first year of law school and certifies to his or her present intention of practicing law in Connecticut upon graduation.

(b) Maine

The Maine Bar Association has established a Loan Fund, the purpose of which is to assist needy law students who are residents of Maine and who intend to practice in that state. Applicants should communicate directly with the Maine Bar Association, P.O. Box 788, Augusta, Maine 04330.

(c) Massachusetts

The Lawrence Bar Association Scholarship -

This is awarded to a qualified law student residing in the Lawrence, Andover, Methuen or North Andover area. Applications are available through the Lawrence Bar Association.

Diocese of Worcester (Massachusetts) St.

Thomas More Society Scholarship Program -

This society annually awards a limited number of scholarship grants in the amount of $500 to law student who are member of the Diocese. Applications should be filed no later than September 30 in order to qualify for scholarship grants payable on February 1. For information and application materials, students should write to The Scholarship Committee, The St. Thomas More Society, c/o Chancery Building, 49 Elm St., Worcester, Massachusetts 01608.

Walter S. Barr Fellowship - Residents of Hampden County, Massachusetts are eligible for the Walter S. Barr Fellowships, administered by the Horace Smith Fund. Request for applications forms, together with a statement of the applicant's educational intentions and a list of secondary schools and institutions of higher education attended, with dates, should be directed to the Horace Smith Fund, Box 131, Springfield, MA. The deadline for applications is December 30.

Northern Worcester County Bar Association Scholarship Program - The

Northern Worcester County Bar Association awards an annual scholarship to a needy law student who is a resident of Northern Worcester County. Applicants may obtain information about the scholarship program from the Secretary of the Northern Worcester County Bar Association.

Bristol County (Massachusetts) Bar Association Scholarship Fund - The Bristol County Bar Association provides scholarships on the basis of need and scholastic record to students who are residents of Bristol County, Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers - The Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers Scholarship Foundation has available limited funds for financial aid to women law students domiciled in Massachusetts who show evidence of financial need. Applications are available in the Financial Aid Office in February of each year.

(d) New Jersey

Atlantic County (New Jersey) Bar Association Haneman-Perskie Memorial Scholarship Fund.

This program makes scholarships available to students who are residents of Atlantic County, New Jersey. The awards are based on academic ability, financial need, leadership potential and character. Applications may be obtained by writing, the Atlantic County Bar Assoc., 1201 Bacharach Boulevard, Atlantic City, NJ, 08401, prior to January 1st.

Guy W. Calissi Memorial Foundation. This non-profit corporation was created for the purpose of awarding scholarship to law students who reside in New Jersey. Hattie M. Strong Foundation College Loan Program - Upper-class law students are eligible to receive interest-free loans normally ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 from the Hattie M. Strong Foundation College Loan Program. The terms of repayment are based upon monthly income after graduation and are arranged with each individual so as to work a minimum of hardship. Students who wish to apply for a loan should write to the Hattie M. Strong Foundation, 409 Cafritz Building, 1625 I Street, NW, Washington, DC 20006, by January 1984. This letter should contain a brief personal history, the name of the educational institution attended, the subject of studies, and the amount of funds needed. If the applicant qualifies for consideration for a loan, formal application blanks will then be sent to be filled in and returned to the Foundation. Loans are made on a competitive individual merit basis, taking into account the applicant's scholastic record, motivation, need, and self-reliance, without regard to race, sex, or religion.

Law School Prizes

The Daniel J. Fern Law Prize is awarded annually at commencement to the two graduating students who have demonstrated academic excellence by sustaining the highest cumulative average, the one in the Day Division and the other in the Evening Division, during the course of study at Suffolk University Law School. The prize is named for Daniel J. Fern, a graduate of the Law School of 1931 and through whose generosity this fund was established.

The Irving J. Pinta Prize, established in the memory of the late Irving J. Pinta and awarded to a student who (1) has completed the second year day division or third year evening division and (2) has been selected to represent the law school on one of the recognized national moot court law teams and (3) has accepted the obligation of such participation.

Seymour Schneider Prize, established by Arthur T. Van Wart, income to be used to award a prize to a student from the law school who has demonstrated exceptional work in the field of Constitutional Rights for the individual.

Steinberg Scholarship, established by Louis H. Steinberg of the class of 1925. Monies in this fund are reserved for the student in the fourth year evening class who has the highest cumulative average for the three preceding years.

The Leo Wyman Memorial Prize, awarded annually to the graduating third year student who in the judgement of the faculty has contributed the most in advancing the civic and professional responsibilities of the lawyer.

Placement

The law school has maintained a Placement Office for over a decade. A staff of six individuals oversees numerous services and programs designed to benefit students and alumni/ae. These services include assisting students in securing part-time, summer and permanent employment. Assistance is also provided for students seeking volunteer and work-study position. Emphasis is placed on preparing a resume and supporting documents as well as sharpening interviewing skills and job search strategies.

The resources of the office which are available to all students and alumni/ae include: professional directories, notices of employment opportunities, lists of law firms by areas of specialization, alumni/ae directories, judicial clerkship information and statistical information of the employment status of recent graduates. The library also contains books on job search strategies, interviewing techniques, salary negotiations and compensation, as well as statistical information about law firms nationwide. In addition, the Placement Office receives periodicals which provide timely information on legal issues. The Placement Office provides a Bulletin to inform employers about Suffolk students. All alumni/ae who are seeking a new position or alternative career may also take advantage of and utilize the services of the Placement Office. The Placement Office conducts a general meeting in the early fall to inform first year students of the various activities the office sponsors. For second and third year students, similar meetings are also held throughout the year.

One of the major programs coordinated by the Placement Office is the Fall On-Campus Recruitment Program, which extends from September through December. The Placement Office invites law firms, corporations, and legal services offices as well as state and federal agencies to interview students for summer and permanent positions. The program is a rapidly expanding one as the number of on-campus visits by employers increases each year. Each spring, a variety of panel discussions focusing on different specialty areas of the legal profession are held at the law school. All students are encouraged to attend the career presentations.

An additional service of the Placement Office is the Alumni/ae Career Resource Network. Over 200 alumni/ae have volunteered to meet with current students to discuss their specialty areas within the law and pertinent job search strategies. In addition, a Placement Office newsletter for students is published weekly during the academic year.

Suffolk is a member of the Placement Consortium of Massachusetts Law Schools comprised of all 7 law schools in the state. The Consortium sponsors various programs including a Government Career Day, a Corporation Symposium, and a Public Interest/Agency Program. The Law School is also a charter member of the National Association for Law Placement and participates in the annual as well as the regional meetings of the association.

Almost every aspect of the legal profession is represented among the alumni/ae numbering in excess of 12,000. Graduates may be found in private practice, corporations, public interest organizations, and the private practice, corporations, public interest organizations, and the military as well as in the Executive, Judicial and Legislative branches of government in 44 states and seven foreign countries.

A Placement Office survey for the Class of 1983 which was compiled from data received from 92% of the graduates reveals the following information: 62% are in private sector employment, 21% are employed by governmental and other public sector agencies, 11% obtained judicial clerkship, 5% are employed by or attending academic institutions, and 1% are serving as Judge Advocates in the military.

Course of Study

Method of Legal Study

The study of law requires an ability to analyze and organize complicated fact situations. Professors of law, skilled in legal analysis, show students how to approach a complicated fact pattern either through the study of adjudicated cases or the use of carefully constructed problems. Students are challenged by the questions and comments of the professor and their fellow students as they work with the cases or problems. From time to time the professor may clarify or lecture on some points of fact or law, but the ultimate responsibility for developing the skills of legal analysis rests on the students. It is the students' role to prepare the course assignments carefully, to fill out their knowledge by use of the library, and to attend class prepared to actively work with the assigned materials. In class students must analyze the presentation of their class mates, compare the work of others to their own, and be prepared to respond to the questions of the professor. Thus, the student's role is an active one, and value of their legal education will depend in large measure on the enthusiasm, dedication and responsibility with which they approach their work.

The faculty of the law school has concluded that a balanced law school curriculum, maintaining a proper mix between required courses, elective courses and clinical programs, will best prepare a student to become a member of the legal profession. The curriculum is designed to provide each law student with the basic knowledge essential for a future lawyer while also providing opportunities for individual concentration in specialized areas of the law.

Day Division Requirements

The Day Division course of study consists of three academic years of full-time study. Under the Regulations of the School, Standards of the American Bar Association, and the Rules of the Board of Bar Examiners of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, only those students who can devote substantially all of their working time to the study of law are eligible to enroll in the full-time Day Division and to complete their law course in three school years.

Semester Hours Requirements - The academic year consists of two semesters, the First or Fall Semester, commencing in September, and the Second or Spring Semester, commencing in late January. The Day Division is a three academic year program requiring six, fifteen hour semesters of class work. A total of ninety semester hours is required in order to earn the Juris Doctor Degree.

Includes petitions, complaints, requests, motions, applications, as well as defenses thereto and the theory behind the offensive and defensive use of the same; covers Straight Bankruptcy, Arrangements under Chapter 11, Regular Income Debtors and small proprietors, Chapter 13, and Involuntary Petitions.

The course deals extensively with the organization of the court, the U.S. Trustees, jurisdiction, title and avoidance powers of the trustee, fraudulent conveyances and preferences, liquidation and distribution including priorities and exemptions, discharge and dischargeability, and plans and their confirmation.

Business Planning I, Prof. Vacco, Two Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985)

General survey of the basic factors to be considered in the organization, financing, operation and liquidation of the small business venture. These factors will be examined within a choice of business entity framework. Proprietorships, partnerships, limited partnerships, business trusts, close corporations and professional corporations will be covered. There will be an emphasis on federal taxation of these entities. Exam mandatory. Paper to satisfy the writing requirement optional.

Business Planning II, Prof. Sherman, Three Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This course combines advanced work in Corporations and Federal Taxation in the context of business planning and counseling. (Except with the permission of the instructor, the courses in Corporate Taxation and Corporations are prerequisites for Business Planning. Some previous work in Accounting, though not required, would be helpful.) This course will be conducted on the basis of examination of certain representative problems involving business transactions presenting a variety of corporate and tax issues for analysis and resolution. Problems will involve the incorporation of an existing proprietorship in conjunction with bringing into the venture an important service contributor and an outside investor; the formation of a publicly-owned corporation; stock redemption; the sale of a business; merger and other types of combination transaction; and recapitalization, division and dissolution of corporations. Class discussion is directed entirely to the problems, each of which will occupy several class sessions; the casebook and other course materials are utilized only as they bear upon the solution of the problems. Special attention will be given to making judgment decisions and choosing from among alternative courses of action.

The class will be divided into groups of 3 or 4 students for the purpose of preparing short written memoranda from time to time on certain aspects of the problems under consideration. On each occasion all of the groups will submit a memo, and the best memo received will be duplicated and distributed to the class with the instructor's comments.

Business Planning I may be taken in addition to the Business Planning II but is not a prerequisite. Class meets two hours and the third hour represents the memoranda required. The final examination consists of an involved business problem distributed at the beginning of the course for which a complete, detailed professional level business plan and supporting memorandum must be prepared by each student and turned in at the end of the course.

Civil Rights: Laws Against Racial Discrimination (Seminar), Prof. Blum,
Three Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This seminar will concentrate on enforcement of laws against racial discrimination, with emphasis on the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments and suits brought pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981, 1982, and 1983. A substantial portion of the course will be devoted to a study of recent developments in the area of section 1983 litigation and the impact of such developments upon the enforcement of civil rights by state and federal courts. In addition, the course surveys Supreme Court cases in the area of Title VII law and federal court decisions involving problems of affirmative action.

Students will be afforded an option of taking a final examination or submitting a paper which may be used to fulfill the writing requirement. Reading materials for the course will be filed on reserve. Enrollment limited to twenty students.

Close Corporations, Prof. Solk, Two Credits. (Not offered in 1984-1985)

This course considers the problems unique to the incorporation of business involving a small number of shareholders. Among the topics to be discussed are: close corporation statutes; tax considerations; special problems of control; restrictions on shares; employment of owners (anticipating their retirement or death); shareholder agreements; and related issues. Also to be considered is the professional responsibility and the role of the lawyer in setting up the close corporation. This course will qualify for satisfaction of the writing requirements. At least one semester of Business Associations is required as a prerequisite.

Collective Bargaining-Seminar, Prof. M. Brown, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This course will explore in depth both the legal and practical aspects of the collective bargaining process with particular emphasis on the collective bargaining aims and techniques of labor and management; the parties' obligation to bargain in good faith; and the accommodation of collective bargaining, arbitration and enforcement of labor contracts. While the course will deal primarily with the National Labor Relations Act, there will also be discussion of collective bargaining in the public sector. Readings will be assigned for each class. The Basic Labor Law Course is a prerequisite.

Comparative Legal Systems, Prof. Hicks, Three Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This seminar is intended to complete the jurisprudential, historical and process oriented perspectives of the meaning of law. Its aim is to elucidate the essential characteristics of modern U.S. law by contrasting it with ancient, primitive, religious, socialistic and civil law systems. A variety of particular topics will be considered such as alternative dispute settlement mechanisms, the role of the lawyer and civil and criminal procedure. Their context will range from Roman Law to Islamic Law, African customary law to Cuban people's tribunals, revolutionary socialist law to the modern continental legal systems. Readings will be assigned. There is a recommended textbook. Papers required.

Complex Litigation, Prof. Blum, Three Credits. (Fall, 1984)

This course will focus on problems encountered by federal courts in the pretrial and trial of complex civil cases. Students will become familiar with the procedures suggested for the management of such cases in the manual for Complex Litigation. The emphasis will be on class actions, with particular attention to problems of subject matter jurisdiction, notice, discovery, jury trial and res judicata. Students will be required to submit a paper which may be used to fulfill the writing requirement.

Computers and the Law - High Technology, Prof. Mirabito, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

This course will treat two main topics: (1) the legal implications of computers, and (2) the uses of computer systems in the legal profession. Within this bifurcated framework, the following subjects will be discussed: (1) legal protection of computer systems (intellectual property protection); security and computer crimes issues; privacy issues; governmental regulation (antitrust, taxation) and computer contracts and litigation. (2) the uses of computer systems by the legal profession to improve the administration of justice, law office management, legal research and the delivery of legal services, with introduction to word processing, Lexis, Westlaw, OCLC, Apple, Lockhead and networking.

The course is intended to be a practical study of the impact of computers on law and the legal profession, important in a society and in a profession in which computers will have ever increasing effects.

Each student will select a computer-related issue for classroom presentation and a paper requirement for the course. Limited to twenty students.

Conflict of Laws, Prof. Donahue, Three Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985)

Choice of law in state and federal courts. Techniques of conflicts analysis (torts and workmen's compensation; contracts; family law; administration of estates); recognition of interstate judgements; constitutional control of state choices of law. The examination is required, but optional papers may be required in fulfillment of the written work requirement.

Conflict of Laws - Seminar, Prof. O'Toole, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

A survey of Conflict of Laws taught primarily by the problem method. This is a basic course with no prerequisites. Problems will be assigned and readings suggested to cover typical issues involving jurisdiction, foreign judgements, choice of law, and international transactions. The class discussion will focus on these problems. Students may elect to write a paper lieu of an examination.

This course addresses a number of complex issues which arise in the area where law and psychiatry meet. These include: the criteria for the involuntary civil commitment of the mentally ill, the rights of mental patients to treatment and to refuse treatment, the right to die, the insanity defense, the guilty but mentally ill verdict, diminished capacity, and the prediction of dangerousness of the mentally ill.

Law as a Career and an Enterprise, Prof. Baker, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This course is designed to offer participating students ways of determining what role they would like to play in the legal profession and in what setting it would be most appropriate, followed by an analysis of issues in financing, managing and marketing a small law practice. (This is not designed to substitute for a course in small business, but provide students with an increased consciousness of the problems and pitfalls setting up their own practice may involve.) Class attendance is required. The ultimate course product will be a business plan for a small law practice. The course will have the benefit of advice and input from members of the Suffolk University Business School faculty. Limited enrollment.

Lawyer as Negotiator, Prof. Ortwein, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

The materials for this course consist of writings relative to negotiation as a process, by lawyers, psychologists, and psychiatrists. Some deal with negotiation in specific context such as labor relations. Other materials deal more generally with the psychodynamics of the negotiation process. In a sense, the course is clinical in that students will be required to perform a series of simulated negotiations and subsequently, discuss them in class. Among the types of mock negotiations the students will take part in are: Personal injury, divorce settlements, landlord/tenant and commercial negotiations. Separate classroom attention will be given to psychological factors which are present in all negotiations. The purpose of the mock negotiation but also to permit the students to examine their limitation. There is no exam or paper requirement for this course. The student's grade will be based upon his/her performance in mock negotiations. Students may fulfill the writing requirement with permission of the instructor.

Legal Aspects of International Business Transactions, Prof. Mirabito, Three Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985)

The course will be introduced with a hypothetical case study which encompasses the whole spectrum of international business transactions, progressing from export transactions, through licensing, joint ventures and the complex issues of foreign direct investment.

Within this framework, the following legal issues will be discussed: export contracts and their financing; international trade rules (tariff and trade policy, the GATT, commercial treaties, the 1979 Trade Agreements Act); import protection (dumping, countervailing duties, etc.) international antitrust laws (U.S. and foreign); export controls; intellectual property, its protection abroad, and licensing; foreign joint ventures; foreign direct investment and its protection; national and international regulation of multinational contracts and dispute settlement.

The effort will be made to see how legal considerations interact with commercial (and political) interest, and how a lawyer can bring professional knowledge and skills to bear on the issues raised by the various subjects treated. The objective is to give the student a basic understanding of legal issues in international business transactions, important for both those who intend to specialize in the area as well as the general practitioner.

The final grade will be based upon a research paper, or, if desired, a final examination.

Legal Counseling for the Elderly, Prof. DeVico, Two Credits. (Not offered in 1984-1985)

Military Law, Prof. DeVico, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

This seminar will consider and discuss selected areas of Criminal, Civil and Administrative Law in the Military. The Civilian and Military justice systems will be compared. Pre-trial and post-trial procedures employed in both systems are looked at and compared. The jurisdiction and responsibilities of the Convening Authority, Staff Judge Advocate, Trial Counsel (prosecutor) and Defense Counsel are studied with relation to the jurisdiction and responsibilities of the Civilian Law Enforcement Authorities.

The Federal Tort Claims Act and other types of claims against the U.S. are examined with a view toward Resolution without resorting to litigation. The several forms of discharges awarded by the military are considered. The effects of less than honorable discharges are discussed as are the procedures available for upgrading such discharges to Honorable when appropriate.

Upon Request attendance at Courts-Martial trials and Administrative hearings is arranged.

Office Practice-Civil Litigation, Prof. Garabedian, Two Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985)

The Simulated Law Firm or Civil Litigation Workshop adopts the concept of the law firm and courtroom as the center of student learning, rather than the classroom. The activities of the simulated law firm involves a case by case basis much like the activities of an actual law firm. Student associates handle simulated legal matters from initial interview with the client, through a hearing before a judge, and on to the closing of the file.

The course will endeavor to train and prepare the student associate in the following lawyering skills: 1) Interviewing and counseling; 2) Fact gathering and investigation; 3) Negotiations; 4) Drafting and brief writing; 5) Trial skills (including preparation of trial notebook); 6) Strategy to be employed in handling various legal matters.

The course will expose the student associates to legal matters and problems (including drafting of legal documents) confronted by the public at large in today's society. The requirements for admission to the workshop are: 1) Open to third year Day and fourth year Evening students; 2) Must have completed course in Evidence or be taking it concurrently. No exam required.

Patent Law and High Technology, Prof. Mirabito, Three Credits. (Spring, 1985)

For many companies in and around Route 128, their technology is their most important asset. Attorneys employed by such companies (or attorneys with such companies as clients) are involved in advising their clients in many diverse issues which impinge on the technology/legal interfaces. Such issues which include the methods of protection of that technology by patents or otherwise; the rights of former employees to establish companies in competition with their former employers, the structuring of legal instruments with outside suppliers or purchasers; relevant U.S. law restricting the sales of their products or technology abroad; and, the sources and legal methods of financing or growing high-tech firms. This course will be predominantly concentrated in the area of patent protection (the acquisition, use, and defense of those patents), but will also deal with the myriad of legal issues alluded to above. Prospective students are advised that because the course is heavily technically-oriented, they should possess the appropriate background. The grade for the course will be based either on a final examination or a significant research paper.

Prisoners' Rights, Prof. Rufo, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

This course studies the evolution and existence of a body of law known as prisoners' rights. With a recurring theme of the lawyer's role in this area the focus on the constitutional principles involved in the litigation of these rights. Examination required.

Public Policy and the Law, Prof. Bulger, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

This course will consider the interrelationship between public policy and the law. It will examine the process by which ideas about public policy become effectively translated into law. It will explore the emergence of a consensus around various issues of public policy and the means by which that consensus ultimately affects legal doctrine, legal institutions, and legal practices.

While focusing upon the impact of selected areas of contemporary public policy in the development and transformation of the law, this course will also endeavor to evaluate the ways in which existing legal doctrines, legal institutions, and legal practices have operated to shape the course and direction of public policy in these selected areas.

Public Sector Labor Law, Prof. Greenbaum, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

This course will examine the regulation of labor-management relations in the public sector. Among the issues to be considered are the rights of public employees to form labor organizations, the scope of the duty to bargain, the right of the public employee to strike, impasse procedures, and limitations on the availability of arbitration as a means of resolving disputes arising under public sector collective bargaining agreements. Emphasis will also be placed upon the constitutional protections afforded public employees. May satisfy writing requirement.

Real Estate Financing, Prof. Nolan, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

The basic legal framework of financing by means of the real estate mortgage. Analysis of the mortgage documents, both residential and commercial, and a review of the applicable principles of the law of property, contracts, and equity. An examination of the rights and obligations of borrower, lender, and their counsel. A consideration of some of the problems of lien priority, acceleration, assignment of interest, and foreclosure.

Real Estate Transactions, Prof. Dreyer, Two Credits. (Spring 1985)

An introduction to the Federal Securities Laws, with particular attention focused upon the registration, disclosure and liability provisions of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The role and conduct of the Securities and Exchange Commission in civil enforcement actions will be studied.

Seminar in Current Tax Problems and Planning, Prof. Sherman, Four Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985) Full year course.

This seminar will deal in depth with selected problems in current tax law and the planning necessitated by those problems. Issues of tax reform may also be covered. No more than two or three issues will be covered in a semester and they will be treated in depth. Each student will be expected to be thoroughly familiar with all aspects of the issue and to have read extensively in the literature.

A paper will be required and it will fulfill the legal writing requirement. Students will be required to satisfy the instructor as to the adequacy of their tax background. Limited to 15 students.

State and Local Taxation, Prof. Cohen, Two Credits. (Fall, 1984)

The development of the state and local tax systems, with particular emphasis on recent Massachusetts changes in real and personal property taxation as well as business taxes; consideration of the uniformity and equality requirements of both state and federal constitutions; emphasis on the assessment and collection of taxes, and the taxpayer's legal remedies concerning tax abatements.

State Practice, Two Credits

Courses are offered in the State Practice of several states. These courses consist of an analysis of court structure, jurisdiction, rules, appellate process, interpretation and construction of the state constitution, summary of state civil procedure and practice before state administrative agencies.

Courses available for: Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont. Maine, New Hampshire and New York practice are offered every other year.

Writing requirement fulfilled.

Trial Practice-Criminal, Prof. Burnim, Two Credits. (Spring, 1985)

All students perform in a moot court trial setting from materials prepared and gathered by the professor who is experienced in both the prosecution and defense of criminal cases. All phases of the criminal trial will be covered including voir dire of jurors, opening and closing arguments, direct and cross examination, impeachment and rehabilitation of witnesses, use of demonstrative and real evidence, pretrial motions to suppress concerning illegal search and seizure, Miranda warning, and identification situations. Each student will have frequent opportunity to actually perform as trial counsel, both prosecution and defense, and performances will be critiqued. Demonstrations will be performed by the professor and visiting trial lawyers. It is expected that student performance will be videotaped and available to students for playback viewing. Evidence is a recommended prerequisite.

Trial Practice-Probate, Prof. Pettoruto,
Two Credits. (Fall 84, Spring 85)

This course will involve trial practice and procedure in the probate and domestic relations areas. The course will cover trial practice in the areas of Domestic Relations, including Divorce, Custody and Adoptions; and Estates; and Guardianships and Conservatorships.

In additions to covering the procedural aspects of the above, it will also cover the substantive law as needed.

Students should have some knowledge of Family Law and Wills. Enrollment will be limited in order to obtain a full participation by students in the area of trial practice.

This course is intended to bridge the gap between the law school and the practice of law in the areas covered by the course.

Worker's Compensation, Profs. Nolan, Martin,
Two Credits. (Fall 1984, Spring 1985)

A consideration of the no-fault workmen's compensation laws of Massachusetts and in the United States generally from substantive and procedural aspects. The course attempts to integrate the remedies available with related sources of compensation and benefit on both state and federal levels.
Exam.

Clinical Programs

Voluntary Defenders

The Suffolk Voluntary Defenders is one of several clinical programs offered to Suffolk students. The program is essentially a public defender office, with third-year students representing indigent criminal defendants in the Massachusetts District and Municipal Courts. In this way, students witness the criminal justice system first hand, obtain experience in trying criminal cases, and provide a valuable service to their clients and the Commonwealth.

The program consists of a fieldwork component and a classroom component. In the classroom, Defenders will become familiar with District Court procedure and develop trial skills through role playing exercises.

In the Courts, students will provide their clients total representation in all phases of the District Court process, including arraignments, bail hearings, suppression and discovery hearings, negotiations, trials, and sentencing. Law reform efforts are encouraged. Suffolk Defenders have provided representation on a regular basis in adult and juvenile cases in South Boston Municipal Court and the District Courts of Brockton, Salem, Lynn, Quincy, and South Boston.

Defenders are fully responsible for the conscientious and thorough representation of their clients, but they are assisted by weekly interviews with their supervisor, and experienced criminal trial lawyer. Supervisors will also attend several trials, evaluate each student's performance, and make suggestions for future improvement. In addition, there will be several group meetings focusing on particular problems in the defense of criminal cases.

The program is a full year course granting 6 credits. Students with specific questions concerning the program are welcome to meet with the Director of Defenders.

The Prosecutor Program

Students in the Prosecutor Program learn the technique of trial advocacy and the role of the District Attorney by actually trying cases in the District Court. Each student is assigned to a court in proximity to Suffolk Law School where they work under the supervision of an Assistant District Attorney. In this court they appear weekly, are assigned cases, and handle all aspects of prosecution. They learn first hand how a criminal case progresses through the judicial system, from arrest of the defendant to pre-trial complaint screening and interviewing witnesses, arraignment and bail hearing, pre-trial discovery and motions to suppress, plea bargaining and sentence recommendations with the defense attorney, trial of the case and appeal to the six-person jury session.

Court appearances are supplemented by weekly classes in the Law School. Trial skills are developed through role playing exercises which include techniques of direct and cross examination, use and introduction of physical evidence, impeachment of defense witnesses, use of expert witness, impaneling in jury cases, and opening statements and closing arguments. District Court procedures and appeal to the jury session are covered, as well as discussion of pending cases and particular problems in the individual courts. The classroom component consists of lectures, demonstrations, section meetings with supervising assistant district attorneys, individual counseling and small discussion groups.

To be eligible for this program, the student must be in his final year of law school and have successfully completed a course in Evidence. He appears in court under Supreme Judicial Court Rule 3:11 which provides that a senior law student with the written approval of the Dean of his character, legal ability and training may appear without compensation on behalf of a regular or special assistant district attorney in criminal proceedings in any district court and with special permission by the presiding judges in higher courts of the Commonwealth. The program is a full year course granting six credits.

Suffolk University Legal Assistance Bureau

The program is staffed by third year students and a limited number of second year students who handle all phases of legal work including the trial of cases. Students in the program are taught to interview clients and witnesses, research case and statutory law, conduct factual investigations, examine and cross-examine witnesses in court, prepare and argue legal motions, and proceed with the handling of a case as an attorney would all the way through any necessary trials. Students are expected to take on the full responsibility of the case showing the necessary initiative and legal expertise for the successful completion of the case. All areas of the law of domestic relations are covered in this program. The third year students in the program receive six semester hours credit. Eligible second year students may receive three semester hours credit. All students are required to have taken a course in Evidence and Practice and Procedure, or be enrolled in such a course concurrently before their admission to the program. Besides providing needed legal assistance to the underprivileged, Suffolk University Legal Assistance Bureau offers students an opportunity to work with the law and to make their study of law more meaningful and rewarding. Membership in the Suffolk University Legal Assistance Bureau is open to all at the Law School and is based solely on the individual merit of each student.

Outside Clinical Studies Program

The Outside Clinical Studies Program is not a course. It is rather a method of allowing law students who do-not or cannot enroll in any of Suffolk's clinical programs to obtain credit for a clinical type program which they may find for themselves. The particular skills to be pursued are the following:

1. Client interviewing and counseling: this includes analyzing the problem and making appropriate referrals when necessary to professionals.
2. Fact-gathering and sifting.
3. Legal research of the problem.
4. Decision-making about alternative strategies.
5. Negotiation.
6. Professional responsibility.
7. Preparation for trial and appeal advocacy before tribunals.
8. Drafting of legal documents.

Another goal of the program is to inculcate in the student an understanding about the behavior of judicial and other governmental areas where there are noteworthy delegations of discretion, and to evaluate the impact of that discretion on people especially on those whose will or resources to resist a particular official's actions are not very great. Clinical training can be especially profitable in helping law students focus on the realities of government policy-making and rule-making, the execution of government policies, the application and enforcement of rules in individual cases, and on the effect of such official activity on individuals and classes of reasons. Specifically this goal's function is to study:

1. The functioning of the legislature, governmental agencies and the courts; policy-making; rule-making, and rule-applying as formally anticipated and actually carried out.
2. The impact of governmental agencies, the courts, and the law on various classes of persons, especially those who live in environments of poverty and/or manifest various forms of alienation.
3. Professional responsibility.
4. Prospects for reform of institutions and the law found to be needed in the aforesaid categories.

The chief purpose of such internships is to discern how various governmental agencies work. It provides the law students with a better sense of the realities involved in governmental organizations. A continuous feedback system is utilized in order to assure quality control. The student is thereby given a vantage point for discovery of how the governmental agency works or actually fits within the governmental hierarchy.

The prerequisites for procuring two hours credit per semester are as follows:

1. The student must not be enrolled in any other clinical program, or clinical type of program for credit.
2. The work must be for a government or non-profit organization or agency
3. There must be no monetary compensation.
4. The work must be supervised by a lawyer.
5. The work must involve an average of at least 6 hours per week for 15 weeks.
6. The student and the supervisor must submit whatever reports may be required.
7. The project must have prior faculty approval;

Rules Relating to Law School Studies

Registration

Registration is accomplished as far as possible by mail prior to the commencement of each semester. Registration forms will be mailed to applicants who have been admitted to regular classes as well as those students returning.

A student who requires a special program of courses should make an appointment for a personal interview with the Registrar well in advance of the opening of the semester.

Day students taking electives are allowed to carry 14, 15 or 16 hours per semester as long as the total yearly hours do not go below 29 or exceed 31 hours in any one year.

Evening students taking electives may carry 9, 10 or 11 hours per semester as long as the total yearly hours do not go below 19 or exceed 21 hours in any one year.

Day

No day student may register for more than 16 credits or less than 14 credits in any one semester, nor register for credits which result in more than 31 credits or less than 29 credits in any one year without prior approval of the Petitions Committee.

Evening

No evening student may register for more than 11 credits or less than 9 credits in any one semester, nor register for credits which result in more than 21 credits or less than 19 credits in any one year without the prior approval of the Petitions Committee.

Grading System

Course and/or papers examinations are numerically graded on the scale of 100%, and a student's class standing is determined in the basis of his weighted average, which is cumulated after the first year. Reports of grades are made by percentages which are equivalent to the following letters:

90% and above	A
87% - 89%	B+
83% - 86%	B
80% - 82%	B-
75% - 79% (Satisfactory)	C
70% - 74% (Unsatisfactory)	D
Below 70% (Failure)	F

A student is required to maintain good academic standing. For a statement of conditions under which a student is not in good standing, and the consequences thereof, see Regulation, No. 5.

Dean's List

Students whose weighted average is 83% or above for any academic year are eligible for the Dean's List.

Honors

Students who have complied with all requirements for the degree of Juris Doctor, and whose scholastic achievement, in the judgement of the Faculty Administrative Committee, has been outstanding, will be recommended for the degree with honors.

how does this relate to me taking summer courses?

Internal Transfers

The law school's policy is one of not allowing students to transfer between divisions unless the student can present compelling reasons for such a transfer. Such requests should take the form of a petition addressed to the dean.

All students seeking such a transfer are advised that a determination will be made as to what percentage of the total weeks in residence and semester hour requirements of the division transferred from have been completed.

This percentage figure will determine the number of credit hours and weeks in residence to be completed in the division transferred to.

Withdrawal

Students who withdraw in good standing may rejoin the school subject to the regulations in force when they reenter, provided they apply for and receive a withdrawal from the Dean. A letter of withdrawal stating the reasons therefor should be completed prior to withdrawal.

Students seeking to reenter must file an application with the Admissions Office.

Students who withdraw when not in good standing may be readmitted to the Law School only through special action of the Faculty Readmission Committee. Such petitions should be addressed to the Chairman, Faculty Readmissions Committee. An application should also be filed with the Admissions Office.

A student may not withdraw during the examination period.

Attendance Policy

The American Bar Association, the American Association of Law Schools, various Boards of Bar Examiners and the Veterans Administration, all require that law students be in regular attendance at the Law School, and the Law School Administration is required from time to time to certify to said attendance, and to indicate to certain of the accrediting agencies the procedure at the Law School for determining said regular attendance and the sanctions imposed for excessive absences. In addition, the sense of the Faculty is that attendance is academically important in the learning of the Legal process.

The method of taking attendance is to be left to the integrity of the instructor in each instance.

It shall also be kept in mind that various and unpredictable exigencies may and will occur in the lives of students during this required attendance period which may result in violation of the attendance requirements for reasons beyond the control of such student. There is an administrative procedure for dealing with this problem on a case by case basis administered by the Associate Dean's office.

Requirements for the Degree of Juris Doctor

Students must complete an Application for Degree at the Accounting Office no later than two months prior to the end of the final semester of work. Upon filing this Application, the student is required to pay the balance of any tuition and fees (including the graduation fee) at that time. The Registrar will not accept any forms until clearance has been granted by the Accounting Office. Failure to comply with this requirement will delay graduation until the end of the following term.

A candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor must be in good academic standing and comply with the following requirements.

(a) The candidate must have completed at least three years of full-time study in law school or have completed at least four years of part-time study in law school. The last year of study must be completed at Suffolk University Law School.

(b) The candidate's complete law school record must (1) show a cumulative weighted average of at least 75% and (2) show unsatisfactory grades outstanding in no more than three courses, of which not more than two are failures.

Degrees are awarded by the Trustees at Suffolk University on the recommendation of the Faculty. Recommendation may be withheld by the Faculty for good cause other than failure to meet the foregoing requirements.

Weeks in Residence Requirement

In addition to the degree requirement of credit hours established by Suffolk University Law School, the American Bar Association as a national accrediting authority has imposed a weeks in residence requirement upon all law schools subject to its accreditation. This requirement, which Suffolk University Law School must adhere to, is as follows:

All full-time students (Day Division) must have ninety weeks in residence to graduate.

All part-time students (Evening Division) must have one hundred and twenty weeks in residence to graduate.

Any student on other than a regular full time program should consult with the Registrar of the law school in order to be certain that any such special program will meet the weeks in residence requirement.

Legal Writing Requirement

All Law students must satisfactorily complete a substantial legal writing project during the upperclass years. Failure to do so will prevent a student from graduating.

The Legal Writing Requirement may be completed by a student in any one of the following ways provided that any such method produces a substantial writing (as certified by a full-time faculty member).

(a) Membership on the Suffolk University Law Review for at least one semester.

(b) Participation in the Clark Competition, or membership on the Moot Court Board, National Moot Court Team, the International Moot Court Competition, Tax Moot Court, or the American Patent Lawyer's Association Moot Court Competition.

(c) Research Assistantship for full-time faculty member (whether for course credit or otherwise).

(d) Independent Research Project under the direction of a full-time faculty member.

(e) Participation in a seminar offered by a full-time faculty member.

(f) Participation in an elective course offered by a full-time faculty member.

(g) Membership on the Transnational Law Journal for at least one semester.

Each student must file with the Registrar's Office a notice of the manner in which the requirement will be satisfied. This notice must be filed no later than the beginning of each student's final year in law school. (Forms for this purpose are available at the Associate Deans' Office.)

Transcript Requests

Requests for Transcripts should be directed to:

Office of the Registrar
Suffolk University Law School
41 Temple St.
Boston, MA 02114

The first transcript is prepared at no charge to the student. All other requests are prepared at $1.00 with an added $.50 charge for each additional transcript ordered at one time.

One week of normal processing should be allowed and three weeks of processing at the end of each semester.

Class Standings

Official class standings are compiled only at the closing of each academic year, within each class and by section. However, unofficial class standings are compiled after the first semester. Only official class standing may be recorded on transcript.

Course Schedule Report

Student course schedules are mailed to all returning students upon completion of his or her Registration prior to the opening of each semester. Only those students who have fulfilled his or her financial obligations will receive schedules.

Course Verification/ Examination Reports

Final course verifications/examination number reports are mailed to each student prior to the termination of each semester and prior to the examination period. Only those students who have fulfilled his or her financial obligation will receive examination numbers.

This report lists all courses properly registered for as well as the examination numbers to be used when taking each examination.

Elective Add/Drop Period

During the first two weeks of classes all students who have registered for elective courses have an opportunity to make additions and/or deletions to their course schedules. Course changes will not be allowed prior to the first day of classes nor after the close of the designated add/drop period.

Academic Regulations

I. Only students who can devote substantially all of their working time to the study of law are eligible for admission to the three year full-time division program.

2. Special programs of study not prescribed by the faculty must be approved in advance of registration by the Faculty Administrative Committee. The student must take the courses and examinations for the section in which he or she is registered. Students taking reexaminations must write the examination prepared by the same professor who gave the original examination unless exempted from this requirement by the written authorization of the Dean, or Faculty Administrative Committee.

3. Students are expected to perform all class assignments and to attend class meetings in all courses for which they are registered. Failure to meet these requirements may result in exclusion from this course, probation, suspension or dismissal.

4. a) No student may omit an examination scheduled for his or her program of study or take an examination not so scheduled. If for some compelling reason beyond his or her control the student must omit a scheduled examination, a written statement setting forth the reasons therefor must be promptly submitted to the Dean. If the compelling reason exists in advance of the examination, the written statement must be submitted prior to the examination. The Dean of the Faculty Administrative Committee will approve or disapprove the omission. An unapproved omission of a scheduled examination will be recorded as "F" with a grade of 60%. No record will be made or credit given for an unapproved taking of any examination. An approved omission of a required examination will be recorded temporarily as "Incomplete;" a permanent grade of 60% will be recorded if the student fails to take the next regularly scheduled examination in the course.

b) Any paper or other project for a final grade in a course must be submitted no later than the end of the examination period for the semester in which such course is taken. If, for compelling reasons, the instructor allows an extension of time to complete such paper or project, such extension may be for a period no longer than 90 days from the end of such examination period no further extension may be granted. During any such extension, the grade in such course will be recorded temporarily as "incomplete." However, if by the end of such examination period or extension, the paper or project has not been submitted, a final grade of 60% will be recorded.

c) A student may type any or all law examinations as an alternative to writing in longhand. Each student must provide his own typewriter, electric or manual, and must apply for the option in writing during an announced registration period prior to the commencement of examinations.

5. a) A student is academically deficient and not in good academic standing when for any academic year he or she: (i) has a weighted average of less than 75%, or (ii) if a full-time student has unsatisfactory grades in more than two courses or more than nine hours, or (iii) if a part-time student has unsatisfactory grades in more than two courses or more than six hours. The Faculty Administrative Committee will impose an appropriate sanction on the academically deficient student.

b) A student will be notified of his academic deficiency before definitive action by way of dismissal or probation is taken. A student so notified may file with the Dean a typewritten "Petition for Consideration," within the time set forth in the notice. The Petition must state specifically and fully any extraordinary extenuating circumstances beyond the student's control which rebut the presumption raised by the record and which establish that the deficiency was not due to lack of ability or failure to apply himself diligently to the study of law. The Petition must indicate if the circumstances are still operative. If such circumstances are related to physical or psychological incapability before or during examinations, convincing medical proof of the existence of the condition must accompany the Petition. Interference with study by employment is not an extenuating circumstance for a student enrolled in the full-time day division. The Faculty Administrative Committee may require any academically deficient student to appear for an interview before it takes action on his case.

c) No application for readmission by academically deficient students may be considered until the expiration of one full academic year; that readmission, if granted, shall not be until the expiration of two full academic years; that this shall apply to only students academically deficient. No student may file more than one petition for readmission.

d) An academically deficient student who has not been dismissed is on probation until the deficiency is removed. The Faculty Administrative Committee will prescribe the terms of probation. The Committee may require a student to repeat a course, take a re-examination, or repeat an entire academic year. A student on probation and taking a reduced program (as a condition of the probation or otherwise) will be determined to be academically deficient if the percentage of unsatisfactory grade hours in more than 30% of the total credit hours carried. Grades received on re-examinations or in repeated courses are final. Grades received on re-examinations, when the course is not repeated, will not exceed 80%.

6. A student who is not academically deficient may take a re-examination in any course in which he or she has received an unsatisfactory grade in a prior academic year. The student may register for re-examination at least 30 days before the commencement of the examination period. Re-examination shall be in the same division, but the Dean or his delegate may waive this requirement on a showing of good cause. Grades received in re-examinations are final. They may not exceed 80% and they will be added to the student's academic record. Only one re-examination may be taken in any one course.

7. A student may be placed on disciplinary probation, suspended, or dismissed for conduct unbecoming to a student of the law. Conduct unbecoming to a student of the law includes violation of rules and regulations of the law school or university, engaging in illegal activity involving moral turpitude, activity involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation, or any other conduct which reflects adversely on the student's fitness to practice law.

8. The Faculty Administrative Committee reserves the right to change the schedule of classes, the program of instruction, the requirements for credits or degrees, and any rule or regulation established for the government of the student body in the school. Any such change may be made applicable to students already enrolled in the Law School.

Student Services

Health Center

The University's Health Service Department has the responsibility for providing primary care and health counseling for students.

Its personnel includes one full-time registered nurse and one part time registered nurse, as well as a part time Medical Director. The physician's services are available during the morning hours or by appointment. The Health Services facility is open until 10:00 pm during the week.

In addition to primary care and emergency services, the following are also provided: an allergy vaccine formulated program; hypertension screening and follow-up; overseas travel inoculation and health counseling; tuberculin tests and follow-up; influenza inoculations when properly indicated; sport participants physical examinations; gynecological service, family planning, and V.D. on a limited bases with referrals to appropriate clinics, hospitals, or laboratories when, in the opinion of the Health Services personnel, it is indicated; and various health educational information and programs.

All accidents or injuries having occurred within the University should be referred to the Health Center immediately.

A student who has recently had or has been exposed to a communicable disease should be cleared by the Health Services Department before returning to classes.

The Health Center is located on the first floor, Fenton Building, Room 104.
(Telephone extension number 260.)

Insurance

Sickness and Accident Insurance Policies

Information and applications concerning students' sickness and accident insurance may be obtained from the Health Center, Room 104, Fenton Building. Claim forms and assistance with forms, as well as liaison between students and insurance company, is processed by the Health Center, Room 104, Fenton Building.

University Counseling Center (Department of Psychological Services)

The University Counseling Center exists to help students function more effectively by helping them to define and achieve their personal and academic goals. Counseling Center facilities and programs are offered to undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, administration and alumni without charge. When appropriate, referrals will be made to agencies outside the University.

Services include the following: (1) individual and group counseling relating to personal and academic adjustment and to career exploration; (2) psychological and vocational testing; (3) experiential courses in Interpersonal Relations, Helping Skills, and Career Choices; Life Goals, designed to increase self-awareness and awareness of others and to develop interpersonal and life planning skills; and (4) individual and group consultations to help improve the University environment.

Strict confidentiality of records and counseling relationships is maintained at all times. No information concerning any person's counseling relationship shall be shared unless a written release is obtained from that person.

Counseling Center Services are available from 9:00 am to 4:30 pm, Monday through Friday, and on Wednesday evenings from 5:00 to 8:00 pm. Appointments can be made in Archer 20 or by telephone (extension 226).

Student Organizations

Law Review

The Suffolk University Law Review is a legal periodical published four times during the year. The editors and staff of the Law Review are chosen from the second and third year day classes and the third and fourth year evening classes. Designed primarily as a reference work, the Law Review contains: lead articles, which vary greatly in topic and scope; notes, which discuss broad aspects of the law; case comments, which analyze recent decisions of impact; and, topical surveys, which review developments in a particular area of substantive law. Lead articles are written by prominent jurists, attorneys, and legal scholars. Notes, case comments, and topical surveys, which comprise the bulk of each issue of the Law Review, are written and edited by students.

Individuals and libraries throughout the United States and abroad subscribe to the Law Review. Although the Law Review generally publishes articles of national appeal, two issues of each volume are regionally oriented. The first issue of each year reviews the major decisions of the prior term of the United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and the state supreme courts within the First Circuit. The second issue of each volume is the Annual Survey of Rhode Island law, the only such service available to the Rhode Island bar.

Law Review membership is a valuable adjunct to a legal education. Under the supervision of an editor, Law Review staff members develop their legal writing, research, and analytical skills in the course of writing an article of publishable quality, and enhance their knowledge of substantive law.

Members of the legal community traditionally judge the quality of a law school by the work produced in the Law Review, and Law Review membership is recognized as a mark of distinction.

Moot Court Board

The Moot Court Board organizes and administers six annual programs: the Clark Competitions, the First Year Program, the Best Oral Advocate Run-Off Competition, the Client Counseling Competition, the National Moot Court Team Program, and the International Law Moot Court Team Program. The focus of these activities is upon developing expertise in oral advocacy, legal writing, and other lawyering skills.

The Board consists of third-year executive members, assisted by second-year staff members. Selection to the staff is made on the basis of high academic achievement and proficiency in legal writing.

The members write memoranda, create trial records, construct client counseling patterns, act as judges, and aid in the management of the various programs. Membership on the Moot Court Board provides excellent training in developing the legal skills of case analysis, brief writing, legal search and oral advocacy.

The First Year Program

The First Year Program is administered in conjunction with the course in Legal Practice Skills which forms part of the required curriculum for the first-year law student.

The students in each Practice Skills section form teams of two members, evenly divided between petitioner and respondent. These "co-counsel" are presented with a trial record prepared by the Moot Court Board involving certain legal issues. Each term submits a brief advocating the position of its client. The "co-counsel" then argue the case before a bench of three judges comprised of professors, local attorneys and members of the Moot Court Board. These judges deliberate and announce a decision for the petitioner or for the respondent.

This program affords every first-year student in the law school an opportunity to develop skills in oral and written persuasion. Certificates are presented for the best team brief and for the best oral advocate in each of the Legal Practice class sections.

The Justice Tom C. Clark Annual Moot Court Competition

The Clark Competition represents the highest level of achievement in the Law School's oral advocacy and brief writing program. The Competition is the subject of intense interest among students due to the challenge and complexities of the legal issues involved. The Clark Competition is a voluntary program open to all law students excepting first year students.

Traditionally the subject matter of the Competition has been drawn from constitutional issues of immediate social and legal impact and is drafted by the Moot Court Board. Participants submit briefs and argue orally in several elimination rounds before benches composed of members of the local Bar, professors and members of the judiciary. The final competition is held before a panel of state and federal judges, occasionally including a United State Supreme Court Justice. Scholarship prizes and awards are given for those advocates who excel in the Competition.

Members of the National Moot Court Team are generally selected from those who excel in the Clark Competition.

The Client Counseling Competition

The Client Competition simulates an actual law firm consultation as closely as possible. Typical client problems are constructed by the Moot Court Board and a person acting the part of the client instructed as to his role.

Prior to the days of the actual competition, participants, who work in teams of two, receive a brief memorandum concerning the problem.

On the days of the Competition each team interviews the client, eliciting from the client all relevant information. The participants confer and verbally prepare a post-interview memorandum.

The teams are judged on the basis of perspicacity of questions asked of the client, on the general conduct of the interview, and on the structure of the post-interview memorandum.

Judges for the event are professors and members of the local Bar. The winning team of the Competition represents Suffolk at the Regional Competition, the winner of which represent the Northeast Area in the National Client Counseling Competition.

The McLaughlin Oral Advocacy Competition

The McLaughlin Oral Advocacy Run-Off Competition is a voluntary activity open to those individuals selected as the Best Oral Advocate of each of the Legal Practice Skills sections. The Competition enables participants to further the acquisition of skills in oral advocacy and commences at the conclusion of the First Year Program.

Each advocate receives an exhaustive memorandum prepared by the Moot Court Board analyzing both the cause of the petitioner and the cause of the respondent. Participants argue before panels of judges comprised of faculty and members of the Moot Court Board. The judges in the final round are distinguished jurists.

At the final round the winning oral advocate and the finalist are presented awards in recognition of their achievements. The winner also has the distinct honor of selection as the Best Overall Oral Advocate of the first-year class.

National Moot Court Competition

The National Moot Court Competition combines oral advocacy and brief writing in a simulated appellate case chosen for its propitious nature or esoteric qualities. The Competition is conducted under the auspices of the Young Lawyers Committee of the Bar of the City of New York. A committee composed of faculty and members of the Moot Court Board selects the National Moot Court Team to represent Suffolk, usually from those students who show the most promise in the Clark Competition.

The team is comprised of three members and an alternate who prepare a printed brief. Two members argue the case against other law schools in the northeast region. If successful, the team advances to the final round argument held in New York City each December.

Selection to the National Moot Court Team is an honor and distinction.

International Law Moot Court Competition

The Phillip C. Jussup International Moot Court Competition is conducted under the auspices of the Association of Student International Law Societies and the American Society of International Law. Students interested in the field of international law are selected to represent Suffolk.

Five team members are selected by a joint faculty-Moot Court Board committee. The team prepares two briefs on an assigned fact pattern of international study and argues twice for the petitioner and twice for the respondent. Selection to the International Moot Court Team is an honor and a distinction.

Suffolk Transnational Law Journal

The Suffolk Transnational Law Journal is a legal periodical published twice a year. Organized and run entirely by Suffolk students, the Journal publishes a wide variety of articles in each volume. Although noted legal scholars author the lead articles, the notes, case comments, recent development surveys and legislative digests are staff written. Designed as a research tool and international forum, many individuals and libraries around the world subscribe to the Journal. Consequently, the articles focus on broad national and international issues.

Staff members are selected from the second and third year day classes and the third and fourth year evening classes after participation in the summer writing competition.

Membership on the Journal affords a staff member an invaluable opportunity to develop his or her research and writing skills. By participating in the Journal process a staff member will gain expertise in certain areas of the law and project that knowledge to the legal community in published form. In addition to satisfying the law school's writing requirement, staff members may receive two credits per semester for their Journal efforts. Moreover, because selection of a student to a staff position traditionally indicates scholastic excellence, Journal membership, along with a published writing sample, adds great weight to any job application.

The Advocate

The Advocate is a periodical publication of Suffolk University Law School. The objectives of the Advocate are to publicize the activities and outstanding achievements of the Law School and to present articles by students, faculty, and guest writers on timely subjects pertaining to the law.

The Advocate is funded by the University and staffed by students of the Law School. Staff positions are open to students from each class and the Editorial Board is selected from third year staff members.

Guest editorials by students and faculty are welcomed by the Advocate. The Advocate will continue to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas among members of New England's Legal community.

Black American Law Students' Association

The Black American Law Students' Association (BALSA) is an organization of minority students whose function is to address the particular needs of minority law students.

BALSA acts as a liaison between minority law students and the administration on such issues as recruitment, financial aid and administrative decisions affecting minority student's academic concerns.

Suffolk's BALSA tries to relate the academic experience of minority law students with experiences of practicing attorneys. This goal is partially achieved through an annual orientation for first year minority law students featuring minority members of the legal community. BALSA also sponsors an Annual Legal Writing and Exam-Taking Seminar for first-year students and a Law Day recruitment program for minority undergraduates interested in pursuing a legal career.

The Suffolk chapter of BALSA is a member of the National BALSA chapter and is an active member of the Combined Boston BALSA which is comprised of area law schools.

Hispanic American Law Students' Association

The Hispanic American Law Students' Association (HALSA) was formed with two basic objectives: to recruit more latinos to law school in general and especially to Suffolk Law School, and to find a way for students with bilingual skills to serve the Latino Community in Boston.

HALSA is a member of the LaRaza National Law Student's Association and sends a representative to the yearly conferences. The group is open to any law student who speaks Spanish and has an interest in the Latino Community.

Environmental Law Society

The Environmental Law Society is primarily conceived to be an educational experience. The Club, through its activities and meetings, gives members a broad exposure to both technical and theoretical aspects of Environmental Law.

In the past the Club has brought speakers to the Law School on subjects such as Environmental Litigation and employment opportunities in Environmental Law.

Members of the Society have in the past participated as interns with environmental agencies for which academic credit has been granted.

An annual essay contest in Environmental Law is sponsored by the Society, with a $100 prize awarded by the American Trial Lawyers Association.

Dicta

Dicta is the student run newspaper of the law school. The paper presents legal news and commentary to Suffolk students and to the community as a whole. Although funded in the main by the Student Bar Association, the paper is independent, reflecting the views of the editorial staff and student contributors. First-year students are especially encouraged to contribute.

Phi Delta Phi

Suffolk's chapter of Phi Delta Phi International Legal Fraternity is the William H. Rehnquist Inn. Founded in 1859, Phi Delta Phi is the oldest legal fraternity and boasts over 100 inns throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico. A conservative membership estimate of 50,000 includes 7 of the 9 Supreme Court justices and 50 law school deans.

Phi Delta Phi brings the law student together with lawyers and law professors in a professional and social setting and encourages leadership in service to school and bar. Activities include cocktail parties and luncheons featuring legal speakers. The one-time life membership fee provides access to a variety of loans, scholarships, and insurance.

All law students having at least an 80 average after their first-year are eligible for membership. Detailed information may be obtained from the Inn Magister through the SBA Office.

Student Bar Association

The regular student body is integrated as The Student Bar Association of Suffolk University Law School. This Association functions under a Charter granted by the Dean and Faculty, and is affiliated with the Law Student Division of the American Bar Association.

A student Delegate represents the Association at the Annual Meeting of the Law Student Division Meeting of the American Bar Association held in conjunction with the Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association. The President, elected by the Day Division, and Chairman, elected by the Evening Division, are accredited to attend Law School Committee Meetings of the Board of Trustees.

Suffolk Law Forum

Suffolk Law Forum is the distinguished speaker series sponsored by the Student Bar Association. The Forum invites a variety of leaders in law to address the Law School on their areas of expertise.

The program Committee of the Forum offers the law student the opportunity to participate in noteworthy intellectual and social events. The students on the committee are engaged in recruitment, scheduling, publicity, and receptions.

Suffolk Lawyers Guild

Over the past years the Suffolk Lawyers Guild has sponsored speakers on various topics of interest. The Lawyers Guild has also participated in an Immigration Project, offered an intensive course on tenants' rights and sponsored other activities of social concern.

The activities of the Suffolk Lawyers Guild are not limited to speaker programs. Through the programs offered, The Guild seeks to expose law students to the many ways in which skills are needed to aid poor working and minority people in their struggle to gain their rights.

Suffolk Women's Law Caucus

The Women's Law Caucus developed to serve a three-fold purpose: Women in the Law, Women in the Community, and Women in the University, and particularly Suffolk University. This development focuses upon the need for Suffolk women to realize their "tripartite role" as an impetus for social change and revitalization. The Women's Law Caucus seeks: to encourage research by interested scholars on specific legal and social issues related to women; and to lend active support to state and national legislation which lessens legal discrimination against women;

To promote a more equitable admissions policy in conjunction with an attempt to encourage more women to study law and to attract more women to apply to Suffolk; and to promote the retention of more women faculty and the addition of relevant curriculum relating to women;

To provide the women of Suffolk Law with employment assistance designed to augment the existing placement programs;

To further the interests of women law students at Suffolk and foster enhancement of the women's cause through a professional organization, whenever and wherever possible.

There is no defined membership policy for the Caucus. Any person is welcome to attend meetings or lectures or to take part in S.W.L.C. activities if so inclined. For the purpose of administrative efficiency a steering committee coordinates our program. General meetings and law forums of the Caucus take place periodically. These meetings provide women with the opportunity to meet with other students and practicing attorneys, to exchange ideas, and to interrelate on social and professional levels.

Suffolk University Law School Alumni Association

More than 12,000 alumni have graduated from the law school, 8,500 of whom are living and are considered members of the law school association. The alumni have played an integral part in promoting and maintaining the high standard of legal education which has been a tradition at Suffolk University Law School.

Governed by directors elected from the Law School alumni, the association sponsors a variety of social, cultural and educational functions throughout the country. Currently, the alumni association is working closely with the Law Placement Office to expand job opportunities for graduates. The alumni, through the Law School Annual Fund, make generous contributions to support the scholarship program and other financial needs of the Law School
