SUFFOLK HOOPSTERS RECEIVE NCAA TOURNAMENT BID

PLAY BOSTON STATE AT BRANDEIS ON MARCH 7

Suffolk University's determined basketball team has been invited to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Division III tournament at Brandeis University.

The Rams, 17-6 with one regular season game remaining Thursday night at Salem State, will meet Boston State at 6:30 p.m. on Friday March 7 at the Shapiro Athletic Center, Brandeis University, Waltham. In the other tournament pairing, Brandeis will face Rhode Island College at 8:30 p.m.

The two winners collide Saturday, March 8 at 8:30 p.m. The winner of the regional tournament moves on to New York for further competition, which concludes in Reading, Pa.

Word of the invitation was received in the Athletic Office Tuesday afternoon while Suffolk was defeating Curry, 93-84. It marks the first time in the history of the university that a Suffolk sports team has been invited to a post season tournament.

"We're really delighted," said veteran Coach Charlie Law, dean of New England college coaches and now in his 29th year of coaching at Suffolk. "The kids truly deserve it. They have fought back from deficits all year and after a slow start have won 15 out of 17 games."

Tickets are expected to go on sale in the lobby of the Donahue Building. There will be 250 allotted for each game. Additional tickets will be on sale at the door. Reserved seats are $3.50 and unreserved are $2.50.

This is the second big accomplishment for the Rams this season. Earlier, as pre-tourney underdog, they won the Merrimack College Christmas Tournament. And as an encouraging note for the future, all five-starters will be back next season.
JOHN DEAN ADDRESSES OVERFLOW GATHERING, DEFENDS FEE

Former White House counsel John Dean III addressed an overflow gathering of 670 Suffolk students and faculty Tuesday in the auditorium. His 90-minute talk and question and answer session was also carried to another 650 closed circuit televiewers at eight different locations throughout the school.

Dean was escorted to Suffolk from his Back Bay hotel by Student Government Officers David Cavalier and Helen Orcutt. Dean apologized for his wife, Maureen, not being with him as she was the previous evening at M.I.T. but explained she was ill.

Defending the $3000 fee he received at Suffolk and other colleges, Dean said that he needed such a stipend to pay bills that had accrued during his Watergate troubles. As for Watergate, Dean said that the only illegal activity he ever participated in was the coverup. He said the reason he became involved in Watergate was partially because of loyalty to President Nixon and because he was blinded by his own ambition to get ahead.

Dean fielded all questions from the floor and was frank in all of his answers. He declined all press interviews as part of a contractual agreement for his lecture tour.

MORE THAN 500 DIPLOMATS, DELEGATES AT LAW OF SEA CONFERENCE

Distinguished visitors and diplomats from 17 nations attended the two day Law of the Sea Conference sponsored by Suffolk University Law School and the Massachusetts Department of Commerce Feb. 1 and 2 at the Sheraton Boston.

Suffolk was well represented at the conference. President Fulham welcomed the delegates to open the conference and also made the closing address at a dinner Sunday night at Pier Four. Many of the trustees, administration and faculty were present.

Ambassador John Stevenson, keynote speaker, said there was a critical need to revamp the traditional legal system governing the sea pointing to the new equipment and high powered ships and development in oceanic research.

Conference coordinator was Prof. Basil Yanakakis of the law school.

In a warmly received closing address, President Fulham, long an authority on oceanography and fisheries, called for global agreement on establishment of an economic zone. He said the U.S. should not wait any longer than the 1975 meetings in Geneva. "Each season that is added to the delay giving local coastal state conservation control merely diminishes the amount of animal protein that will be available in the near future to suppress world hunger," Fulham said.
NO SMOKING EDICT WILL BE ENFORCED AT SUFFOLK

President Fulham has issued a notice calling for strict enforcement of the No Smoking in Classroom Law. Many violations have been brought to the attention of the administration by non-smokers.

State Law prohibits smoking in classrooms.

"Not only must we recognize that the law prohibits smoking but we should respect the rights of those who do not smoke and have the right to be instructed in a smoke-free atmosphere," the President noted. If there are continued violations after the formal notice, proper disciplinary measures will be taken, Fulham added. This applies to faculty, staff and students.

PENTON BUILDING 2-MONTHS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Construction on the Fenton Building is running well ahead of schedule and at the present pace, it may be available for occupancy two months ahead of the scheduled September opening, Vice President Francis X. Flannery reports.

Plans call for the Fenton Building to house Suffolk's College of Liberal Arts with the Law School slated to take over all of the Donahue Building. Because of classroom and office space limitations, the university may have to rent additional office quarters in the area.

'FEBRUARY SOIREE' WILL BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT - FEB. 28

A call to all of the Suffolk family:

The Social Committee is holding its February Soiree Friday night in the University Cafeteria, and it is shaping up as another swinging affair.

Chairwoman Mary Mahoney and her committee have arranged a fun-filled program which will feature refreshments, entertainment and prizes. There will be dancing from 8:30 to midnight to the H.G. Dance Band, an eight-piece group under direction of John Finnerman, a Suffolk graduate. And, of course, there will be food and refreshments, all for $2.50 per person. There will be a cash bar.

Serving on the committee are Howard Aucoin, Alberto Mendez, John Colburn, Ted Marshall, Jim Nelson and Wilbur Young. Sounds like a good time. Will you be there?

DUKAKIS APPOINTS DEAN SARGENT TO SCREENING COMMISSION

Law School Dean David J. Sargent has been appointed to Governor Dukakis' 11-member judicial nominating commission. Gov. Dukakis hopes to abolish the Executive Council through a constitutional amendment and use the screening commission in its place.

Dean Sargent, in the past, has debated Gov. Dukakis on many occasions on the subject of auto insurance and the question of no fault insurance.
Archivist Dick Jones, one of S.U.'s most popular personalities, has been released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Still our resident wit, Dick was asked when checking in if he had ever been a patient at St. Elizabeth's before. "Only once, when I was born," he quipped... The good news that Suffolk's basketball team has been invited to compete in the NCAA Division III tournament at Brandeis has to be the personal highlight of Veteran Coach Charlie Law's career as Suffolk's only hoop mentor. He's labored long (29 years) under often trying circumstances and all of S.U.'s family certainly offer him a well deserved salute... Interest in the basketball team this season picked up considerably. Faculty members seen at this year's game included Mal Wetherbee of Psychology, Alberto Mendez of Modern Languages and Gary Castanino of Sociology. And Business College Dean Dick McDowell has also proved to be a big fan. He broke away from the International Law of the Sea reception at the Sheraton Boston so he could make the opening 8 p.m. tapoff for Suffolk's game at Lowell Tech... Speaking of the Law of the Sea Conference, the SUN beam this month goes to Law Prof. Basil Yanakakis for this successful conference which focused international attention on our law school. By the way, the entire conference was audio taped and one day's session videotaped by Suffolk's media center headed by Colleen Kazanowski. The complete series will be kept in the permanent library of the Instructional Materials Center. Mrs. Kazanowski, incidentally, has been selected to serve on the Board of Directors for the Massachusetts Association for Television in Education... His many friends and associates at Suffolk were saddened by the death recently of Dr. Eugene O'Neill, professor of English emeritus. He passed away Jan. 31... Back from an exciting trip to Russia is Nancy Bliss, secretary to Dean Ronayne. She rated Leningrad the most fascinating of Russia's cities...

SOMETHING WORTH NOTING is the fact that Suffolk's English department has on two occasions this academic year sponsored lectures on foreign literature instead of limiting its speakers' list to subjects of English and American interest. The first was the reading by Austrian Poet Frank Zwillinger on Nov. 11 followed by the recent lecture by Harvard Prof. Henry Hatfield on Thomas Mann. Chairman Stanley Vogel said this was done "in the spirit of interdisciplinary cooperation." In addition, the department's many new courses related to sociology, psychology, education, business and law have also evoked considerable attention... Debbie (Lepore) Cavallaro of the College Registrars Office invited staffers to visit the new fruit, vegetable and flower store she and hubby, Ken, have opened on Route 2A in Arlington. It's called "C & C Country Farms..." The John Dean speaking program at Suffolk ran about as smoothly as any major lecture on campus that we can recall. Student Government, Student Activities and the Media Center combined for an efficient presentation... Prolific Prof. William Sahakian has authored an article "Philosophical Psychotherapy" in Psychologia - An International Journal of Psychology in the Orient, Japan's leading English language publication in psychology...

A WARM WELCOME to the following new employees: Barbara Patchett, secretary in the Law School; Ava Farrell, secretary for Law Placement; Yvette Brophy, Law School Registrar's office; Catherine Sullivan, part-time secretary in the Sociology Department; and Anne Foley, secretary to the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Judge Rowe. Karen Grant, secretary in Public Relations, has been cited by the United Way for her successful efforts in directing S.U.'s 1974-75 UW drive. She was one of a select group to receive special achievement awards as was the university. The Sociology Club has lined up Sen. Joseph Timilty to speak here March 6 at 1 p.m. in Room 520. Timilty will speak on Housing. The club is also trying to get Sen. Edward Kennedy to address the group. Mike Meriano of Maintenance is looking forward to his March 5 birthday when daughter, Ann, will take him and Mrs. Meriano to a surprise Boston restaurant for dinner. Prof. John Cavanagh, chairman of the History Department, accompanied a group of his American Revolution course students to Faneuil Hall Feb. 13 for a lecture by Sam Bass Warner Jr. on the economic and political roots of the Revolutionary movement. Prof. Bernard W. Meyler of Business is serving as a member of the public relations committee of the Mass. Society of Certified Public Accountants. Bill Coughlin of Admissions represented Suffolk at the annual high school brotherhood awards breakfast sponsored by the Jewish War Veterans. Prof. Harold Stone of Accounting reminds us that 1973 alumnus Miss Anne Shaw has just passed the fourth part of the CPA exam. Ronnie Lacroute of Modern Languages took a group of nine French class students to see two French plays by Arrabal Feb. 8. The production was directed by Barnard Uzan, a young Frenchman teaching and acting in this country, and sponsored by the Alliance Francaise. "The students were so enthusiastic about the plays, they asked for more outings in the future," Ms. Lacroute noted.

When Suffolk's chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, national evening students honorary society, inducted 20 new members here Jan. 29, the national president Clinton Bowen was on hand for the ceremony. Also present were President Fulham, Deans McDowell and Strain, and Trustees Jeanne Hession and Vincent Fulmer. Lee Sutherland of the Business faculty was made an honorary member and Dr. Peter Sartwell, assistant to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, received a citation for his efforts. English's Dr. Robert Johnson has had his poem, "A Rose" translated to Portuguese and published in Poema Convidado-5. Miss Priscilla Loanes is the recipient of this year's Ella M. Murphy Memorial Scholarship. Mrs. Betty Williams of Psychology has been nominated for president-elect of the Massachusetts Personnel and Guidance Association. Reminders from Marcia Dearborn of the Cafeteria. The cafeteria has changed its hours to Monday-Thursday 8 to 6 p.m. and Friday 8 to 5:30 p.m. The cafeteria will present Circus Days from March 18-21. Featured will be corn on the cob, fried chicken, candied apples, and foot long hot dogs just for starters. The Modern Language Club hosted a Mardi Gras party Feb. 11 in Room 24A of the Archer Building. New Orleans jazz and bayou song tapes were the highlights as well as assorted wines and cheeses. Finally, faculty and staffers are urged to sign up for the talent phase of Spring Fest May 9. And we know from the past, there is a lot of genuine talent in our midst. See you in March.
