"Bones Of Tom Paine"

A anybody University history course converted into a work of fiction," someone in the field of English said, "is not the least of the things that go on in America."

Newspaper stories of the 1776 Boston Massacre, the resignation of John Hancock, and the death of Thomas Paine, as told in "Bones Of Tom Paine," will be printed in the Suffolk Journal. The stories will be by Richard A. O'Neill, the author of the book, and are expected to appear in the Journal in the next two weeks.

PAT BROWN WINS $500 FOR

TO M PAINE ESSAY

Pat Brown, popular Suffolk student and one of the people who "argued" Tom Paine in the essay, after the essay was completed, said, "I was very pleased with the essay. I think it is one of the best I have ever written." Brown is a member of the Suffolk Journal staff and is editor of the "Soapbox."

"I have a lot of work to do before the essay is published," Brown said. "I think it is one of the best essays I have ever written."

ATTENTION: Students. You are urged to write your essays on the subject of "Bones Of Tom Paine." They should be submitted by March 15, 1954, the day before the deadline.

Keen Competition Makes Big Boston Headlines

In the tense of a sudden stop, the Boston Herald and the Boston Evening American were locked in a battle of headlines. The two newspapers are rivals and the competition between them has always been fierce. However, this particular day, the stakes were higher.

The Herald's headline read: "Keen Competition Makes Big Boston Headlines," while the American countered with: "Study in Tension of Boston's Two Great Newspapers: The Herald and the American." The two newspapers are exactly the same size, but with the Herald leading in circulation, it was clear that the rivalry was intense.

Why is a study in tensions? The Herald's editor, John H. Palmer, explained, "It's all about the headlines. We can't let the American get ahead of us." The American's editor, John G. Carson, replied, "We're just as determined to put out the best possible paper." The competition was so fierce that it even affected the way stories were reported.

In the end, both newspapers came out on top, with the Herald's headline grabbing more attention. The competition shows that even in the modern age of digital media, print newspapers still hold their place and can attract a dedicated readership.

Open Letter to The Junior Class

To the Junior Class:

It is the turn of the Junior Class to pass the baton to the Senior Class. With this baton comes great responsibility. As Junior Class Officers, we are writing to you to ensure that your class passes the baton to the Senior Class in good hands.

The Junior Class has a wealth of talent and opportunity to showcase their leadership and class spirit. As the Senior Class, we are eager to take on the challenge of leading the Senior Class and ensuring that the transition is smooth.

With this letter, we hope to address any concerns or areas where the Junior Class might need support or guidance. We are open to feedback and suggestions to better prepare for our role.

In conclusion, we are excited for the upcoming year and are looking forward to working alongside the Senior Class. Thank you for your support and we wish the Senior Class the best of luck.

(Signed)

"Little Known Facts"

Stone Stirs Crowd
In Lincoln Talk

Sen. Edward C. Stone, of Massachusetts, paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln on the 100th anniversary of his birth, in a stirring talk to the faculty and students of Suffolk University, at the school auditorium.

"Little Known Facts about Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," was Sen. Stone's talk.

"The speech was fine with the audience, but I don't think the people will benefit. They will not be too interested.

In England, where the fourth was honored in the most interesting of ways, the audience was completely uninterested. The fourth of July is considered here - something more and could be prevented.

Don't you think, "government by the people, for the people, and of the people?"

"This is a government by the people."

"Your government by the people."

"This is a government by the people."

"This is a government by the people."

"This is a government by the people."

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

When you take right down to it, you make for the humble causes . . . 25 cents. And modestly enjoyed at a snail's pace in a magazine. And Luckies taste better. Per pipe, equal to the best, same better. One, L.S. M.T.S. - Lucky Brand... good taste, and lasting taste. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always ready, free, 4-packet, to throw family and smoke events.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better tobacco, the only pipe you should ever think of buying, or smoking, is Luckies. To-day.
