ANOTHER YEAR IS ENDING

Outside S.U., the club in which many college students spend much of their time, is preparing to go into a new season. Only knowing that the members of the club have decided to make it more interesting to all who enter, do they manage to do so.

You walk into the room and you remember. You remember your days as a freshman, sophomore, junior, and then senior. You recall the people you met and the experiences they brought. You remember the laughter and tears, the success and failure, the highs and lows of college life.

You are no longer a student in the club, but you are welcome to come back and visit. Outside S.U. is a place for all to gather and share their experiences.

Salute To Ramettes

The Ramette, Suffolk University's female rector, has recently completed her thesis while maintaining her other responsibilities.

The fast-breaking season ended by high-spirited trio of Pat Brown, Joe Kelly, and Richard Holm claimed to all opponents that this team has certainly rounded itself in immediate competition, and have gained the respect of all the teams that have met them on the court.

The other members of the starting team consisted of Beverly Johnson, Mary Whalen, and Barbara Tomoshauskas, three naturally placed hard-hitters that is the fundamental principle of all good sports.

Mare Roxbury, Shirley Biancone, Maria Francis, Jane O'Leary, and Joan Keneally complete the squad. These girls are noticeable action and did much to enhance the sport, as they paraded in their uniforms and kept the air filled with laughter and fun to cheer in the city.

We predict great things in the Ramette's future and ask the student body to support this team. With a cheer and a purpose, the Queens can go on to greater heights.

Outlook Good For S. U.

Suffolk, long noted for the need for education, is the place to go. The University is beautifully located in the historic area of New England, in the center of all cultural activities. At the College of Liberal Arts, Suffolk is able to offer its students five departments through study. This is a typical example of Suffolk's pride in recognizing the student of moderate means.

The cost does not reflect the quality of an education. It is the students who by their education, the school's efforts have increased their knowledge and made them valuable to society. The graduates are a strong weapon in society, and Suffolk is proud of them.

Suffolk will remain the school for students of moderate means. With the rising tuition costs in most educational institutions, especially local schools, Suffolk holds to its belief that a good education is not expensive.

As the stature of its graduates is growing, so is the stature of Suffolk's presence. The increasing high number of graduates shows that the outlook for our future holds a high school.
