PRUDENTIAL'S MELONE APPOINTED TRUSTEE; SEYBOLT RESIGNS

Joseph J. Melone, vice president of the Northeastern home office of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, has been appointed a member of the Suffolk University Board of Trustees, President Fulham has announced.

Melone, 44, was elected at the November meeting of the trustees. He succeeds Stephen P. Mugar, who recently retired from the board.

At the same time, it was announced that George C. Seybolt has resigned from the board. Seybolt, president of William Underwood Co., had served as a trustee since 1962 including a five-year period as board chairman. A life trustee, Seybolt was appointed trustee emeritus upon his resignation.

Melone directs all sales activities in New England and New York State for Prudential as well as the operations of Prudential Center in Boston. He has served in this position since April of 1973.

A native of Pennsylvania, he joined Prudential in 1968 as executive director of planning, analysis and marketing with the firm's corporate home office in Newark, N.J. He was later promoted to vice president and in January of 1970 became vice president of manpower development and research. Before coming to Boston, he served as vice president of sales manpower with the corporate ordinary agencies department.

Melone received his bachelor of science and master of business administration degrees from the University of Pennsylvania. While earning his Ph.D. in economics, he taught at the university's Wharton School. He later became associate professor of insurance.

Author of numerous writings on insurance and pensions, he is a director of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and the College Mental Health Center of Boston.

Malone and his wife, the former Marie J. DeGeorge, make their home in Sudbury with their two daughters, Lisa and Carol.

During Seybolt's chairmanship in the late sixties, Suffolk University experienced tremendous growth in enrollment, faculty and facility expansion. He also served as chairman of the advisory council of the Suffolk University College of Business Administration. Seybolt stepped down as chairman in 1970 and was succeeded by retiring President Judge John E. Fenton.

SUFFOLK AND AQUARIUM AFFILIATE FOR SCIENCE PROGRAM

The university, through its Biology department, has formed an affiliation with the New England Aquarium under which biology majors will participate in a course sequence and work study program, Dr. Michael R. Ronayne, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, announced Wednesday.

The program came about following meetings between John Prescott, director of the Aquarium, and Dr. Arthur J. West of Suffolk's Biology department.

Dr. Beatrice L. Snow, chairman of Biology, said that the affiliation will enable a student to take courses at Suffolk while carrying out "on-the-job" training in environmental sciences at the Aquarium on Boston's waterfront.

"The interinstitutional arrangements will be comparable to those already existing in our other institutional affiliations such as the medical technology program," Dr. West said.

EXCHANGE PROFESSORSHIP WITH MCGILL UNIVERSITY IS APPROVED

An exchange professorship with McGill University for the summer of 1976 was recently approved by the Suffolk Board of Trustees, Dr. Michael R. Ronayne, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has announced.

Under the program, Dr. Glen Eskedal, director of counselor education, will exchange assignments with Dr. William Talley, a senior member of the McGill faculty and professor in counselor education, for the summer sessions.

WESTERN ELECTRIC PROGRAM MOVES TO HAVERHILL

The Western Electric Satellite program is getting a new name and new home. Dr. Richard L. McDowell, dean of the College of Business Administration, said the program will be called the Merrimack Valley satellite, effective with the Spring term when it moves to the Bradford College campus in Haverhill.

Dean McDowell said the satellite "will continue to serve the Western Electric Co. but will also be increasingly able to serve the Raytheon Corporation in that area. It will also offer a campus setting, with library resources and dining facilities."
NICK BUONICONTI NAMED ANNUAL FUND CHAIRMAN

Nicholas A. Buoniconti, veteran middle linebacker for the Miami Dolphins and a 1968 graduate of Suffolk University Law School, has been named general chairman of the Law School Annual Fund.

Buoniconti, a law partner in the Miami, Fla. firm of Garber and Buoniconti, will direct an alumni network organized in 90 areas.

"It is a privilege to be able to assist Suffolk Law School by working to involve alumni in the support of its programs and educational goals," Buoniconti said in accepting the chairmanship. "For 70 years, Suffolk University Law School has provided a professional education opportunity which in turn has provided graduates who have served the public as practitioners and as members of the judiciary. I am proud of this heritage and I look forward to an exciting year for the Suffolk Law Fund."

Buoniconti is a native of Springfield and received his undergraduate degree from Notre Dame University where he was named All America. For several years, he was a member of the New England Patriots. It was during that period he attended Suffolk.

Earlier, Michael Linquata of Gloucester was elected chairman of the annual fund for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and College of Business Administration.

JOURNALISM DEPT. GETS GRANT FOR MINORITY WORKSHOP

Suffolk's Journalism department has received word that The Newspaper Fund, Inc. has approved a $3600 matching media grant for the department to operate an urban journalism workshop for Boston minority high school students next summer.

Prof. Malcolm J. Barach, chairman of the department, said that the Fund has also given approval for the sum of $975 for implementation of a high school visitation program next Fall. Under this program, professional journalists will visit Boston high schools to provide journalistic guidance and assistance.

Barach said that the grants are the first of their kind to be awarded to a journalism department in Massachusetts. The projects are designed to encourage minority students to consider newspaper work as a career.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN ENTERS FINAL DAYS - A LAST REMINDER

The 1975-76 United Way, still short of its $17 million goal, has been extended to Dec. 4.

Here at Suffolk, it was hoped that all returns could be cleared up by the end of November. This year's drive is still far short of last fall's 49% pledge and needs some late support to improve upon the 1974-75 figure.

If you have not returned your pledge cards, please do so. They may be submitted to Karen Grant, Public Relations Office, Third Floor, 100 Charles River Plaza.
BASKETBALL TEAM OPENS AT PORTLAND DEC. 3

The 1975-76 Suffolk University basketball team will open its season Dec. 3 at the University of Maine, Portland minus two key players the Rams expected to have this winter.

Playmaker guard Kevin Clark of Cambridge did not return to school, and Most Valuable Player Steve Barrett of Watertown has been sidelined indefinitely with a virus.

The Rams, 19-7 a year ago and an NCAA Division III regional finalist, have a veteran team headed by Capt. John Howard of Holbrook, Bob Ferrara of Boston and Chris Tsiotos of Winthrop.

"The loss of Kevin Clark and Steve Barrett will hurt us," said Coach Law. "One consolation is that we have a little depth this season with some promising freshmen in Bob Mello and Steve Forlizzi of Somerville and Donovan Little from Boston Tech."

Suffolk's first home game will be against Nasson College Dec. 11 at 3 p.m. at the Cambridge YMCA.

S.U. DEBATERS SCORE CONVINCING VICTORIES

Suffolk's speech and debate team, which is picking up right where it left off a year ago, scored one of its biggest victories Nov. 8 and 9 at Southern Connecticut State College by sweeping the tournament, which featured 45 colleges from 15 states.

The S.U. team set a tournament record with a total of 254 points bringing back to campus some 22 trophies. Another tournament first was the matching of Suffolk vs. Suffolk in the final round of championship novice debate. Sid Russell, a master in education degree candidate, was selected outstanding novice coach. Dr. Allan J. Kennedy, chairman of Speech, was named best coach of the competition.

Most recently, Suffolk went to the semi-finals at the University of Vermont, losing 2-1 to Boston College, the best showing for the team in an eight-round tournament. The team received a Revere bowl.

"Future tournaments in which we will participate are at the University of Massachusetts, Brandeis, and College of St. Rose, Albany, N.Y.," Kennedy said. "At this point, I would say that Suffolk has one of the largest, all round competitive speech programs in the New England area."

CHRISTMAS PARTY IS SET FOR SATURDAY DEC. 20

The annual faculty and staff Christmas party will be held Saturday Dec. 20 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the university dining room. All faculty and staff and their children are invited.

As usual, there will be activities and entertainment for the youngsters and refreshments for the adults.

Marjorie Sudsbury, secretary to President Fulham, urges those who have not responded to the invitations to kindly do so before Nov. 25.
HISTORY Profs John Cavanagh and David Robbins led a group of students from the History Society for a weekend retreat to Martha's Vineyard Nov. 8-9. The group stayed at the Youth Hostel and visited such spots as Gay Head, Edgartown and Vineyard Haven. A busy month for MODERN LANGUAGES - The Modern Language Club hosted three events to mark the centennial of Rainer Maria Rilke - a lecture by Dr. Anneliese Harding of Boston's Goethe Institute, followed by a talk by Prof. Christa Saas of the University of Toronto on Rilke's Poetics and then a "Tribute to Rilke" in the Suffolk Auditorium. Prof. Fred Wilkins of English delivered readings of Rilke's works in English while Leni Fromm of the former German Radio Hour in Boston read in German. The department and Modern Language Club listened to Robert Poetschke, vice-consul for information for the Canadian Consulate in Boston and Lionel Poulin of the Quebec Government Bureau, Boston during French-Canadian Week Nov. 17-21. The Canadian Consul General also provided an exhibit on Canadian bilingualism. During an exhibition of German books of the recent past at the Boston Public Library, visited by Dr. Ilse Fang's German Civilization class, Dr. Stanley Vogel of English was lauded for his authoritative work, "The German Literary Influence on the American Transcendentalist." The praise came from Richard Dorn of the largest German book publishing house, Harrassowitz. In EDUCATION, Dr. Robert Bates has been selected to serve as a member of the Interstate Certification Compact Accreditation team that will evaluate Wheelock College. Dr. Don Unger, chairman, will be on a team that evaluates Boston College and Sheila Mahoney will be a member of the team to evaluate Regis College. R. Arthur Winters, assistant professor, has co-authored an article with Dr. James C. Hansen of SUNY at Buffalo, entitled "Toward an Understanding of Work-Leisure Relationships." It will be published in the issue of Vocational Guidance Quarterly next Spring. The quarterly is the journal of the National Vocational Guidance Association. Mrs. Nancy Squires of Swampscott, who holds a degree from the University of Maine, has joined the department to replace Mrs. Dorothy Guarente, who has retired as secretary and moved to Carmel, Calif.

The SPEECH department, in cooperation with Emerson College, will host the fifth annual championship debate tournament for more than 20 high schools from the New England area. Dr. Allan J. Kennedy, department chairman, has been re-elected president of the Massachusetts Speech Communications Association. Kennedy will also direct the 1976 Conference of the Basic Course for the Eastern States Speech Communication Association. From the ENGLISH department - Dr. Edward Clark has written an article, "The Harlem Renaissance and Today" in the current issue of Literatur in Wissenschaft und Unterricht, published in Kiel, Germany. Dr. Rudy Kikel has published a cycle of poems in the latest issue of Flowshares and a lengthy poem, Finding Out: After Having Taught Victorian Poetry and Prose, in Small Moon, journal of the Poetry Cooperative of Boston. Dr. Robert Johnson held a reading of his poetry on Nov. 18 including his collection, Blossoms of the Apricot. Dr. Fred Wilkins reminds us that the fourth annual visit of Peter Arnott's marionette theatre will be presented during activities hour, Tuesday, Dec. 2. Euripides play, The Bacchae, is Arnott's most recent translation and the newest addition to his puppet repertoire. Wilkins says the play is "a stunner" and as an extra treat, Arnott will give a preview of the production at 3 p.m. a day earlier in the President's Conference Room with all of Suffolk's family welcome. Ms. Anna Fessenden of SPEECH memos us that the Suffolk University Theatre will present Moliere's classic comedy, A Doctor in Spite of Himself, Dec. 4 at 1 p.m. and Dec. 5 and 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Admission for students and faculty and staff is free. Call the Theatre department at Ext. 282 for further details.
Nurse Mary Brady of the University Health Office is retiring after 10 years service and without ever missing a day's work. Mrs. Brady has treated thousands of students during that time, but she has also administered to the needs of faculty and staffers repeatedly - flu shots, nose drops, throat sprays, weight checks, blood pressure readings - you name it. That's why it was nice to see so many of the Suffolk community turn out for her farewell reception at which she received a gold wrist watch and the plaudits of all. Best wishes in retirement to this lovely lady... In an age of lecture circuit ripoffs, it was heartening to see Detective David Toma give Suffolk more than its money's worth in his Nov. 6 appearance. In simple, down to earth language Toma held his audience rapt as he discussed such topics as drugs and prostitution. He spoke for more than three hours... Something different is the social hour planned by Mary Mahoney's Social Committee. It will be held in the President's New Conference Room (Archer Building) Thursday Dec. 4 from 4 to 5 p.m. Open to all faculty and staff. Drinks are 50¢ a pop with hors d'oeuvres... President Fulham, making a rapid comeback after knee surgery, has announced formation of a committee of secretaries to assist in compiling a secretarial procedures handbook. Committee members are Virginia Barca, Nancy Bikowski, Nancy Bliss, Lorraine Jacques, Deborah Holt, Susan McCarthy, Mary Martin, Sherry Moulton, Pam Strasen, Marge Sudsbury and Deirdre Widmann... The MBTA has tabled plans to accept new members in its pre-paid pass program until after the first of the year. Suffolk will be contacted after some changes are made. Personnel Director Judy Minardi reports that a transportation bulletin board has been placed on the first floor stairwell of the Donahue Building with MBTA and rail schedules available... Among new staffers hired in November were Dolly Madden of Medford, secretary in College Admissions; Debra Cannon of Boston, on call switchboard operator; Yvonne Ouelette of North Quincy, and Irene Garvey of East Boston, aides in Law Library... Congratulations to fellow staffer Joe Shanahan of Development, who just passed the recent bar examination. Shanahan was graduated cum laude from the Law School in June... Prof. Louise Weinberg of the Law School has been invited to serve on the Intellectual Property Committee of the Massachusetts Bar Association... On a recent Sunday afternoon, Center for Public Management Director Don Levitan was watching the Patriots-St. Louis Cardinals game. When Pats linemen Ray "Sugar Bear" Hamilton suddenly scooped up a Cards fumble and rumbled 30 yards for a touchdown, Levitan bounded off his seat with more than the usual enthusiasm. Hamilton is an M.P.A. candidate at Suffolk, and Levitan quickly penned a letter to the "Sugar Bear" congratulating him on his "first six points..." Governor Dukakis has tapped another Suffolkite for a post. Dean Richard L. McDowell of Business has been appointed to the Massachusetts Public Health Council... Dr. Frances Burke of the Center for Public Management addressed the New England Regional IPA Funded Program on Civil Service Evaluations in Durham, N.H. Nov. 3-4... Bill Hunter of the Mailroom and Dolly Madden of College Admissions are engaged and marked the engagement with a double ring presentation... Tom Condon has returned to Suffolk's data processing after a brief leave of absence... Payroll supervisor Alice De Rosa has a new water color print of a seashore for her office, presented to her by artist Ray Parks of our Humanities Department...
Prof. Phyliss Mack of Sociology attended the all day session of the Mass. Sociological Association in Worcester Nov. 6. She was also the featured speaker at the Mother Daughter banquet sponsored by Gamma Sigma Sigma Sunday, Nov. 7. Prof. Harold M. Stone of Accounting has been elected chairman of the Educational Committee of the Massachusetts Association of Public Accountants for the coming year. A reminder, College Registrar Mary A. Hebron has announced that staff members may register for courses for the Spring semester Tuesday, Nov. 25 between the hours of 8:45 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Suffolk's club hockey team got off on the right skate with a 6-5 victory over Rhode Island College in its season's opener. There is considerable interest in Coach Chris Snow's program. But come on now, the Suffolk Goats as a nickname? Meanwhile, the unexpected loss of ailing Steve Barrett has considerably dampened Suffolk hopes for a big basketball season. Women's Athletic Director Ann Guilbert advises S.U. women that free court time is available each Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Boston Harbor Marina Tennis Club in Quincy. Congresswoman Marjorie Holt of Maryland spoke to the Law School Forum Thursday after meeting with Suffolk students at the site of the Constitution in Charlestown. Only woman on the House Armed Services Committee, she made these points clear: She is opposed to "bailing" New York City out of its troubles; is vigorously against school busing, and is critical of President Ford's removal of James Schlesinger as Secretary of Defense. Pat Mitchell of WBZ-TV Channel 4 will be visiting Suffolk Thursday, Dec. 4 at 1 p.m. as a guest of Communique, S.U.'s chapter of Women in Communications. Mike Lombard of Accounting lost a tough race for school committee in Somerville. He was defeated by 54 votes and in a recount lost a vote. The happiest of Thanksgivings to all, and one more reminder: there are only 24 shopping days to Christmas.
