
Suffolk University

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.suffolk.edu/ad-news

Recommended Citation
https://dc.suffolk.edu/ad-news/96

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Advancement and Alumni Newsletters by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.
Dedication of the Frank Sawyer Building
Contents

A great day for a new building
The Frank Sawyer Building, the University's newest facility, is dedicated. 2

History, heritage and harmony;
local and otherwise
The Collection of Afro-American Literature, housed in the Sawyer Library, means more than just books. 4

News
Faculty Notes 13
Class Notes 14
In Memoriam 16
A great day for

Under bright blue skies, and with all the ceremony befitting the occasion, Suffolk University dedicated its new building.

Events began at noon on Thursday, April 29, in front of the Frank Sawyer Building, named in honor of Mr. Sawyer, a Boston businessman and friend and supporter of the University. More than 400 persons heard remarks by John S. Howe, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and greetings from His Excellency Edward J. King, governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and from Judith M. Dumont, president of the Master in Business Administration Association, speaking on behalf of the student body.

President Daniel H. Perlman praised and thanked Frank Sawyer for his generosity, recognizing him as a benefactor, "Whose faith in this institution and whose deep understanding and appreciation of its mission is a source of strength to all of us charged with fulfilling the promise of Suffolk University."

Mr. Howe and Mr. Sawyer officiated at the unveiling. As the covering fell away revealing the building’s name, and amid applause from the audience, large blue and gold balloons with twenty-five foot...
streamers rose to the sky, signaling the event to everyone in the Beacon Hill and downtown Boston areas.

In addition to dedicating the Sawyer Building, Suffolk University also dedicated the Mildred F. Sawyer Library, located just off the main lobby. The Sawyer Library replaces the Colleges Library which was located in the Archer Building. Mrs. Sawyer cut the ribbon at the library’s entrance as her husband, Frank Sawyer, and their daughter, Carol Sawyer Parks, looked on.

Following the formal ceremonies, over 400 guests gathered for lunch in the third floor dining area and at other locations throughout the building. A large ice sculpture honoring the occasion adorned the main dining area.

Suffolk University acquired the building, located at 8 Ashburton Place, in 1978. Constructed in 1915, it was originally the home of the Boston City Club. Following extensive renovations by Suffolk University, it opened its doors for classes in September, 1981. In addition to the School of Management, the Sawyer Building houses a data processing center, administrative offices, the Mildred F. Sawyer Library and classrooms and offices for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Seated at the head table for the dedication luncheon are (left to right): Mr. and Mrs. John S. Howe, Rev. Thomas J. Fleming, S.J.; Mrs. Carol S. Parks; President and Mrs. Perlman; Mr. Michael L. Linquata, former trustee; and Ms. Judith Dumont, president, Master in Business Administration Association.

The ceremonies are held in front of the Sawyer Building.

Photos by Frank Siteman
History, heritage and harmony:

The Collection of Afro-American

It started because an English professor at Suffolk University saw the potential of literature to contribute to racial harmony. It has grown to include over 3000 titles and a bond between the University and a United States national historic site.

The Collection of Afro-American Literature is the joint project of Suffolk University and the Museum of Afro-American History, on Smith Court on Beacon Hill. Housed in Suffolk University's Mildred F. Sawyer Library within the Frank Sawyer Building at 8 Ashburton Place, the collection includes fiction, non-fiction prose, drama, and poetry by all important black American writers from the eighteenth century to the present. It also contains numerous related historical, literary-historical, critical, biographical, and bibliographical works by writers of all races, as well as a collection of periodicals. Though its scope is national, a special feature of the collection is its emphasis on Afro-American writers associated with New England.

Another feature is its Writers Forum. In an effort to enrich and expand the written word, Afro-American writers are invited to come read and discuss their work at open sessions held, usually, at the University. In recent years, more than a dozen prominent writers have spoken to audiences that have included a blending of Suffolk and the wider Boston communities.

The project is the brainchild of Dr. Edward Clark, professor of English at Suffolk University. "I've always been interested in the potential for harmony between races," Clark says. "I wrote my doctoral dissertation on race in James Fenimore Cooper's novels." Clark joined the Suffolk University faculty in 1961. By the late 1960's, he was eager to teach a course in black literature. He began preparing the new course, but, he discovered, "There were no textbooks and little literature in print available."

With the cooperation of Francis X. Flannery, vice president and treasurer, Clark began ordering books in black American literature for the colleges library. In 1969, he taught his first course in black literature, "Afro-American Literature: 1920 to the Present." That course has subsequently evolved into two courses, "The Literature of Race: 1746-1940" and "The Literature of Race: 1940 to the Present." "I use 1746 as my starting date because that is the year in which Lucy Terry wrote 'Bars Fight'. That's a poem about an Indian raid in Pittsfield, Massachusetts and is considered to be the first black American poem," Clark observes.

Clark's collection of black literature grew slowly. Then in the fall of 1971, he learned that the Museum of Afro-American History had purchased the African Meeting House for use as its new home. A link between the Museum and Suffolk seemed a natural. "I proposed to Dean Donald Grunewald that Suffolk University and the Museum develop jointly a collection of Afro-American literature. The project would make available literature to the University, the Museum, and wider academic communities and would also bring into cooperative effort two institutions of predominantly different races."

The dean agreed. Clark then approached officials of the Museum who were also enthusiastic about the idea. That December, after a series of local and otherwise

Literature means more than books.

meetings, President Thomas A. Fulham and Henry E. Hampton, Chairman of the Board of the Museum, signed a formal agreement.

That agreement gives legal ownership of the collection to the University with ownership going automatically to the Museum should the University ever wish to end its participation in the project. A six-member board of overseers sets general policy for the collection. Membership on that board is equally divided between the University and the Museum.

Since 1972, Byron Rushing has been president of the Museum of Afro-American History. Rushing, who attended Harvard College and who was recently elected a State Representative for the ninth District, has long been involved in black concerns. Under his leadership, the Museum has evolved into a major research facility for the study of Afro-American history in New England. It prepares and presents various changing exhibits and slide-tape presentations and sponsors archaeological research in an effort to recapture and make visible the history of this important social group. It created the Black Heritage Trail, which is a walking tour exploring the history of Boston’s nineteenth century black community, a community whose principal neighborhood during that period spanned the area between Pinckney and Cambridge Streets and between Joy and Charles Streets, known generally as the north slope of Beacon Hill.

But probably the Museum’s most important project is the restoration of the African Meeting House at 8 Smith Court, the oldest black church building still standing in the United States. Completed in 1806, the brick structure with its characteristic four long arched front windows, was a center for cultural as well as religious activity for the black community on the north slope. Inside, light shown through large windows located on three of the building’s four sides. A gallery curved above three quarters of the length of the sanctuary. Below, a school for black children occupied the basement of the Meeting House from 1808.

The African Meeting House factored prominently in the lives of blacks during the nineteenth century. Its history and theirs were richly blended. At the end of the century, however, blacks left the Beacon Hill area to settle in the South End and Roxbury sections of Boston. No longer needed, the building was sold to a Jewish congregation who used it as a synagogue throughout much of this century until it was purchased by the Museum of Afro-American History. Its character and identity, though, are as that of a house of worship for the black community and it is to this period in its history that it is being restored.

In October, 1980 a United States Congressional Act designated the African Meeting House and fifteen other structures in the immediate area as the Boston African American National Historic Site. This national acknowledgement of the area, which contains the largest concentration of pre-Civil War black history sites anywhere in the United States, has meant the assistance of the National Park Service in the painstaking restoration of the African Meeting House and assistance in the publication of materials highlighting and documenting the sites along the Black Heritage Trail. It means, also, that the National Park Service will maintain the Meeting House once restoration is complete.

But what has it meant for the Collection of Afro-American Literature? “We have a positive link with the Museum of Afro-American History and now, indirectly, of course, with the historic sites. Just as the sites on the north slope have been recognized nationally, my hope is that our project will become a national model for cooperative undertakings between institutions of different races,” says Clark. “Someday maybe the collection can be housed nearer to the historic sites, perhaps in the Abiel Smith School, adjacent to the Meeting House and one of the sixteen historic sites along the trail. That would be appropriate.”

But Clark stresses that Suffolk University’s interest in the venture would continue. “I can’t think of a better way for us, as an academic institution, to promote interracial accord.”

E.F.F.
Richard T. Bray, associate professor of journalism at Suffolk University, died suddenly on August 24. Professor Bray, a member of the Suffolk faculty since 1975, had taught courses in news writing, reporting, feature writing and copy editing. Last spring, the Evening Division Student Government Association awarded him the Outstanding Faculty Citation at its annual banquet.

Born in New York City, he received his bachelor of science degree from Fordham University, a master of arts degree from St. John's University in New York and his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin.

Before joining the Suffolk University faculty, Professor Bray was associate professor of English at the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point and an assistant professor of English at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

Prior to entering the education field, he was a newspaper reporter, serving with the New Bedford Standard Times and the Long Island Star-Journal. His freelance articles have appeared in the Boston Globe, the Boston Herald American, the Milwaukee Journal, the National Reporter, and Critic.

President Daniel H. Perlman said of his passing, "Professor Bray was a respected and valued member of the Suffolk University faculty. His passing is a great loss to his family, the faculty and the students who have been inspired by his classroom tutelage and guidance."

Professor Bray was a member of the Academic, Curriculum and Student Publications Faculty Committees and also served as faculty advisor to the evening student publication, the Evening Voice.

Professor Bray leaves his wife, Patricia, and two sons, William and Jonathan.

Second physics student wins fellowship

For the second consecutive year, a Suffolk University physics major has won a research fellowship at Argonne National Laboratory, Argonne, Illinois.

Richard DeVito, a member of the class of 1982, received a summer fellowship for the study of neutron radiation damage to solids.

As a student at Suffolk, DeVito worked on a research project with Michael R. Ronayne, Jr., dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Professor of Chemistry Walter H. Johnson and a fellow physics major, Christopher M. Devaney, studying the effects of gamma radiation on cadmium telluride crystals. Their work made use of the Suffolk University cobalt 60 source and resulted in the presentation of a research paper at the New England section of the American Physics Society held at Boston University in May.

Approximately twenty fellowships were awarded in physics. Said Dr. Johnson, "It's important for our students to receive recognition when they've done so well. They deserve it."

DeVito has enrolled in the Ph.D. in physics program at Syracuse University.

During the fall of 1980, James M. Daher, BS’81 was a participant in a one-semester undergraduate research program at Argonne.

Education department offers certificate programs

The department of education has announced two new graduate programs in education which begin during the 1982-1983 year.

A program leading to a certificate of advanced graduate study in leadership is designed to assist the individual's professional functioning, to assist him or her with advancement goals and to develop leadership skills on the basis of the state of the art. The program includes three specialization options: higher education administration; public school administration; and organizational development. Study comprises a minimum of thirty-six hours beyond the master's degree and admission is limited to persons displaying evidence of a master's degree in an appropriate field.

The director of the program is Professor Joseph M. McCarthy.

The Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in Office Technologies and Administrative Services, offering preparation beyond the master's degree, is tailored to meet the needs of educators seeking employment in the private sector in administrative services, business educators responsible for updating and reshaping business curriculums to meet the needs of the changing office, and currently employed office managers and/or those in training-related positions in business or industry.

In addition to these programs, the department of education is offering for the second year a program leading to a Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in Counseling. This certificate is intended to be an advanced program for practitioners of counseling functioning in clinics, agencies, schools or colleges and is open to persons with master's degrees in counseling fields with relevant experience.

For information on any of these programs, contact the department of education at 723-4700 extension 261.
Building on the success of the innovative programs begun during the past several years, the School of Management has planned an exciting and ambitious series of lectures for the coming year.

On September 22, 1982, the School of Management inaugurated its Distinguished Alumni Series with a presentation by Richard J. Hoffman, BSBA '66, vice president and chief investment strategist for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

The series was created as a way of recognizing the outstanding accomplishments and abilities of SOM alumni and of providing them with the opportunity to share their views with students, faculty and alumni of Suffolk University as well as the academic, business and government communities in and around the Boston area. The series will continue throughout the academic year.

On December 7, 1981, the School gave birth to DIALOGUE, a lecture series focused at providing full and part-time faculty members with an opportunity to exchange information with the Suffolk University community and other publics with whom they have an affiliation. Nine DIALOGUES have taken place to date and a full schedule is planned for the fall. Dialogues are typically offered during the lunch hour, from 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. for the convenience of those working in and around Boston.

Dialogues scheduled for October and November included: DIALOGUE X, David Breyer, assistant professor of management, whose topic was, “Work-family Interaction Among Managers,” on October 27; DIALOGUE XI, David Pfeiffer, professor of public management, who will speak on, “Disability and Public Policy,” on November 15; and DIALOGUE XII, David Cirillo, associate professor of management and Warren E. Davis, president of High Technology Professionals for Peace, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, speaking on, “Organizational Climates and Management Practices of Defense and High Tech Firms: Do They Contribute to the Nuclear Arms Race?” on November 17.

In 1979, the vision of Dean Richard L. McDowell became a reality. Through funding by the Gillette Company, State Street Bank and Trust Company and the Shelby Collum Davis Foundation, the Business/Government Forums (formerly “On the Hill, Off the Record”) were established. The School began offering a series of breakfast forums aimed at increasing interaction between corporate and government officials and Suffolk students, faculty and alumni.

Panels consist of top business and government executives from the Boston area. The series will continue throughout the academic year.

On November 13, 1980, the SOM successfully hosted the first forum. This session brought from New York Anthony Corso, the Northeast Regional General Counsel from Mobil Oil Corporation, for a discussion on “National Energy Issues for the ’80’s.” The second session, which took place on March 11, 1981, investigated the “State Regulation of the Banking Industry.” This discussion drew nearly 200 persons and evoked a large amount of favorable commentary from the audience. The closing session of the 1980-1981 series on May 12, 1981 examined “Federal and State Regulations of the Securities Industry.

The 1981-1982 series opened on November 18, 1981 with a discussion of “The Effects of Airline Deregulation on Air Travel and the New England Economy.” Bruce Cunningham, vice president of strategic planning for New York Air and David Davis, executive director of MASSPORT were panelists. Also that season was a session investigating, “Opportunities, Obligations and Regulations of Cable Television.”

The School of Management continues to investigate ways in which they can expose students, faculty and alumni to those issues affecting our ever-changing economic, political and social environment. Through their host of lectures, they have committed themselves to providing an arena for agreement and disagreement among members of the community. Suggestions for future discussions are welcomed. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Karen E. Connor, professional relations officer at 723-4700 extension 309.
Alumni Boards organize for 1982-1983

Suffolk University’s three alumni associations have each organized their boards for the 1982-1983 season.

The Law School Alumni Association has elected Mary Ann Driscoll, JD’74, as president. Attorney Driscoll practices law in Dorchester. Elected as vice president was The Honorable Thomas J. McGrimley, JD’56, Administrative Law Judge, OHA-SSA. Judge McGrimley was also elected co-chairman of the 1982 Law Alumni Dinner Committee. Paula O’Brien-Killion, JD’74, will serve as clerk for the Board. Attorney O’Brien-Killion is also serving her first term on the Board, having been elected to a three-year tenure in the spring. Re-elected to three-year terms of office were: Harold Cohen, JD’55, a practicing attorney in Foxboro; Charles N. Collatos, JD’64, Commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Veterans’ Services; Joseph W. Kane, JD’70, Chief Counsel, Massachusetts Division of Insurance; and Diane C. Tillotson, JD’78, of the Boston law firm of Hemenway and Barnes. Arnold E. Johnson, JD’56, will remain on the Board having been elected by the Directors to fill the term of The Honorable Joseph D. Clancy, JD’51, who resigned.

Directors of the General Alumni Association’s Board elected Robert E. Coughlin, AB’73, EdM’74, MBA’82, as president for 1982-1983. Mr. Coughlin is a Unit Supervisor for the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission. Mary Ferris, AB’73, was elected vice president. Ms. Ferris is an Administrative Assistant for Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation. Elected clerk was Susan M. Gryglak, BSBA’78, who is employed by Eckel Industries, Inc. of Cambridge. At their summer meeting, Directors welcomed the following new members: Janis Chalas, BS’79, MBA’81, a sales representative in Needham; John D. McCarthy, BSBA’62, MBA’69, a former Board member who is employed in Boston; John McGonagle, BS’75, a social worker at Brigham and Women’s Hospital and John Sicuso, BSBA’81, a Mutual Fund Accountant in Boston. Re-elected to three-year terms were: Robert Coughlin, Anthony Farma, BA’77, EdM’82, and Mary Ferris.

William R. Moulton, MBA’80, will serve as president of the MBA/MPA Alumni Association. Mr. Moulton is employed at Wright-Price Engineers in Boston. Elected vice president was Frank M. Kemp, MBA’78, a sales representative in Boston. Michael Backer was elected clerk for 1982-1983. Mr. Backer is employed at Digital Equipment Corporation in Marlboro. Newly elected Board members include: Richard Bradley, MPA’80, a Boston police officer; Marylou Mottola, MBA’79, a Public Affairs Coordinator for the Division of Water Pollution Control in Boston; and Valerie Russo, a Management Accountant at State Street Bank and Trust Company in Quincy. Re-elected to three-year terms were: Douglas Baird, BSBA’71, MBA’75; Frank Kemp; and Robert Zickell, Jr., MBA’73.

High school students receive Suffolk awards

This spring, fifty area high school juniors were the recipients of the first annual Suffolk University Book Award. Sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences/School of Management admissions office, the awards recognized students who had not only distinguished themselves academically, but who were also outstanding school citizens, as demonstrated by their involvement in school and community activities.

“We wrote to all public, private and parochial high schools in Boston and to many schools who had sent us large numbers of freshmen over the past five years asking these fifty schools to nominate an outstanding student,” says Joseph F. Walsh, assistant director of admissions. “The results were phenomenal. The high schools were extremely enthusiastic and recommended some very strong candidates.”

Each student received a copy of Lost Boston by Jane Holtz Kay, a 304-page pictorial narrative of the city of Boston. “We chose that book,” explains Walsh, “not only because it is an attractive and informative history of Boston, but also because we felt that it was an appropriate volume for us, as a major university located in the heart of Boston. Presentations of the awards were made in Suffolk University’s name by school officials at end of the year recognition ceremonies.

The admissions office expects to see the program continued and broadened in the future. “We know the program was a success. We’ve had requests from other schools that we include them in next year’s awards,” says Walsh. “Now we would like to involve alumni in this. The connection is a natural. Alumni could sponsor and present the awards to deserving students in high schools in their cities or towns. In that way, everyone—the student, the alumnus or alumna, and the University—is recognized.”

Further information on the awards programs is available by contacting the admissions office at 723-2945.

This year’s recipients and their families were invited to visit Suffolk University this fall. “We’re pleased that we’ve been able to recognize these students,” says Walsh. “We wanted to tell them so in person.”
Business educator institutes planned

This year, Suffolk University's department of education is offering a series of one-day institutes for business educators. The institutes, to be held on Saturdays, will feature well-known lecturers speaking on a variety of current topics and will be aimed at alumni and other educators who want to keep their professional expertise up to date.

Says Dr. Barbara Ash, director of business education programs and coordinator of the institutes, “In the past we have run one-week summer institutes that have been very successful. This year we decided to try a Saturday approach in locations convenient to business educators.”

The first institute, concentrating on word processing, was held on October 23 at the Sheraton-Mansfield Inn in Mansfield. The institute featured as lecturers Dr. Alan C. Lloyd, director of career advancement for the Olsten Corporation and senior author of the Gregg typing textbooks, Mr. Peter F. Meggison, assistant professor of office administration and coordinator, word processing specialist degree program at Massachusetts Community College, and Dr. Jolene D. Scriven, coordinator of the graduate program, business education and administrative services department at Northern Illinois University.

On February 5, 1983, the second institute, entitled, "The Office of the Future" will be held in Worcester. The final institute, “Shorthand and Typewriting: The Impact of Technology”, is scheduled for April 9, 1983 in Portsmouth, N.H.

Participants may attend an institute for no credit at a cost of $50 or they may arrange to receive one credit ($139) or combine the institute with independent projects receiving up to three credits.

For further information or to receive an application form, contact Dr. Ash at 723-700 extension 280.

School of Management institutes new programs

This fall, the School of Management is offering three new programs of study: a Master in Public Administration with a concentration in health administration (MPA/H); an Advanced Professional Certificate (APC) for MBA degree holders; and a combined Master in Public Administration and Law degree program (MPA/JD).

The MPA/H program is designed to meet the present and expanding needs of managers in the areas of hospital administration, public health, research, health planning, medical education; insurance and health care with an emphasis on a practical approach to health management education.

The program, ideal for persons seeking advancement or preparing for careers in public or private health care organizations, will integrate the disciplines of public management and health administration to provide the skills necessary to deal with the challenges of the political, social and economic environment, and the increasing responsibilities of managers in the health field.

The APC program will be offered for individuals seeking graduate level management education to complement their MBA degree.

The program will provide professionals with an opportunity to obtain advanced management education in areas with which they are unfamiliar or to update their present base of knowledge. It will also provide a foundation and better understanding of concepts and practices for those moving into new areas of management or seeking advancement in their current functional or professional areas.

The MPA/JD degree program integrates professional education in law and public management, providing the skills and concepts necessary for good public and non-profit sector management. MPA and JD degrees will be granted upon completion of 128 semester hours of work.

For further information, please write the School of Management or phone (617)723-4700.
Paul R. Tierney, JD’64, president of the Law School Alumni Association, addresses law graduates.

Over a thousand become new alumni

A 69-year old woman who battled back from serious automobile injuries to receive her degree . . . the son and the nephew of retired Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski Jr. . . . a mother of five who is also a grandmother . . . a husband and wife who received master’s degrees together.

These were just some of the 1049 men and women who received degrees from Suffolk University’s College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, School of Management and Law School at the morning and afternoon exercises Sunday, June 13 at John B. Hynes Veterans’ Auditorium.

President Daniel H. Perlman conferred degrees at both exercises, the 10 a.m. program for Suffolk University Law School at which 425 juris doctor degrees were awarded and the 2:30 p.m. commencement when a total of 624 degrees were conferred.

Judge A. Leon Higginbotham, circuit judge for the U.S. Court of Appeals, Third Circuit, Philadelphia, spoke at the law school exercises and warned the graduates that “the major problems of our nation and the world haunt us because those in power have limited moral and human values or lack the commitment to make real the values they profess in the abstract.”

Higginbotham declared that today’s lawyers “must be the visionary persons in our society. They must be the legal architects who aid in renovating the policy of justice and in redesigning the landscape of opportunity in our nation.”

A former member of the Federal Trade Commission and presently a law professor at the University of Pennsylvania, Higginbotham was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Other honorary doctor of laws degrees went to Higginbotham’s colleague on the U.S. Court of Appeals third circuit bench, Judge John J. Gibbons, Atty. S. Shepard Tate, former president of the American Bar Association, and Atty. Thomas J. Wynn, JD’68 former president of the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Award-winning author, photographer and filmmaker, Gordon Parks, addressed the graduates of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and School of Management. He was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters. Other honorary degrees were awarded to John M. Corcoran, president of the John M. Corcoran Co., doctor of commercial science; Carol Sawyer Parks, executive vice president, Checker Taxi Co., doctor of commercial science; and Frederick Ungar, president, Frederick Ungar Publishing Co., doctor of letters.

Parks, first black photographer for Life Magazine and director of the movie, “Shaft,” said that it was up to the people, not the government to help prevent nuclear war.

“Nuclear war is a distinct possibility and we must learn to live with the knowledge of it,” he said. “We must come to realize that both sides are vulnerable and that there could be no winners in such an exchange.” He added that since the superpowers don’t have the answer to such a problem it is up to the people to consider the terrible possibility.

Parks urged graduates to make a “concerted effort” to make the nations of the world “recognize their contributions to the possibility of such a holocaust and to find a doctrine of defense rather than one of threat and retaliation.”

Among the graduates was 69-year old Julia F. Clayton of Somerville, who received a bachelor of science degree under Suffolk’s free senior citizen program. She had resumed her studies after an automobile accident that left her with serious head injuries.

Retired Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski Jr., JD’47, DJS’70, was on hand to personally present juris doctor degrees to his son, Robert W. Chmielinski and to his nephew, Richard G. Chmielinski. Richard received his degree magna cum laude.

Kevin F. Bowen of Chelsea received the Outstanding Student Award in the day division of the Law School and was also the recipient of the Daniel J. Fern Award, named for a 1931 alumnus. Joan Zahorjan of Somerville was cited as the Outstanding Student in the evening division. She also addressed the graduates. Michael Gillis of Milton received the Leo Wyman Memorial Award, named for a 1918 alumnus and Suffolk University law professor of more than 30 years.

Serving as class marshal for the law school exercises was Marlborough District Court Judge Frederick V. Gilgun. He was a member of the 1957 graduating class. Marshal for the college was William C. Lepelley, who received his BSBA degree in 1957.

Dr. Carol Robb of the Suffolk campus ministry delivered the invocation for the Law School graduates and Fr. Frank Fairbairn, also of Suffolk’s campus ministry, gave the invocation at the colleges’ exercises.
Law Library expands facilities

Suffolk University Law School's law library facilities have been considerably expanded. In 1981 the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences/School of Management vacated its quarters in the Archer Building to move to the Frank Sawyer Building in what is now known as the Mildred F. Sawyer Library. Plans were made then and work completed late this summer that rehabilitated the space in the Archer Building for use by the law school library.

What has evolved are facilities that make the Suffolk University law library one of the most comprehensive in the Boston area.

Entrance to the new facilities is through the fourth floor of the law library in the Frank J. Donahue Building. The new Edward I. Masterman (JD'50) student lounge provides a quiet area for student relaxation. Beyond this area is the entrance to the E. Albert Pallot Law Library. The Pallot Library incorporates approximately 65% of the space previously occupied by the colleges library. It consists of a large main floor reading room with a mezzanine above. Seating capacity for the library is 200.

What is unique about the Pallot Library is that it is restricted to Suffolk University students, faculty and alumni. Says Edward J. Bander, law librarian, "The main law library is open generally to area students and practicing attorneys. The Pallot Library will have select access and will contain a basic collection of citation material, including all decisions of the highest courts and will take care of 90% of a student's needs. We believe we will be better able to service our own students who are, of course, our primary concern."

The library contains a separate Massachusetts collection. In addition, there is a video room, a typing and conference room and office space for the Transnational Law Journal Office.

The library, dedicated in ceremonies held there on October 21, is named in honor of E. Albert Pallot, a member of the Suffolk University Law School class of 1932.

Alumni to have new directory

The Law School Alumni Association is sponsoring the publication of a new law alumni directory. To be prepared and published by Directory Publishing Company of West Springfield, the directory will contain alphabetical, class and geographical listings as well as a business section which will list businesses alphabetically as well as names of graduates who either own or are employed by those businesses.

To insure that information about its graduates is as complete and up-to-date as possible, Suffolk University Law School has mailed questionnaires to all graduates for whom it has active addresses. This allows law graduates to update their own files, giving not only home and business address information, but current information concerning job titles and types of legal specializations as well.

To locate addresses for lost alumni the alumni/development office, working with the close cooperation of Directory Publishing Company, has conducted a search which has resulted in the updating of many inactive alumni files.

It is expected that the law alumni directory will be ready for distribution in early 1983. The last law alumni directory was published in 1978.

CLE program announced

With the understanding that legal education is a lifetime activity, Suffolk University Law School has inaugurated a continuing legal education (CLE) program. The program will give Suffolk University law graduates and other practicing attorneys an opportunity to return to the Law School to expand their skills.

The Center for Continuing Professional Development, which is organizing the program, is presenting a series of seminars and workshops throughout the academic year.

The first program, a workshop on computers and the law, was held at the Law School on November 6, and was designed to introduce the general practitioner to the potential of computer usage in the small and medium sized law office. Such subjects as hardware and software as they pertain to the legal office, programming languages, word processing and its uses in the legal environment, leasing, renting and purchasing options and guidelines, and legal research using Lexis and Westlaw were among the topics discussed. Faculty for the workshop included Edward J. Bander, law librarian, A. Jason Mirabito, assistant professor of law, Dr. Michael A. West of the Joint Legislative Committee on Education, and Donald F. Mikes, director of audiovisual services at Boston College.

On Saturday, February 19, 1983, and Saturday, February 26, 1983, Alfred J. O'Donovan, III, associate professor of law, will conduct a two-day seminar on United States income taxation of foreign income and persons. This intensive seminar will be of interest to lawyers or certified public accountants with a practice which includes resident and non-resident individual and foreign and domestic corporate clients which from time to time engage in a variety of international transactions. It will also be of interest to lawyers employed in the tax departments of accounting firms. Topics to be treated will include the jurisdictional basis for the imposition of the tax, "outward bound" and other transfers of assets to foreign corporations, sources of income rules, foreign tax credit, controlled foreign corporations, principles relating to residence, fixed or determinable annual or periodical income, U.S. trade or business and effectively connected income, and the effects of income tax treaties.

Tuition for the two-day tax seminar is $150 which includes luncheons and all seminar materials.

Among the other seminars planned for 1983 are a two-day workshop on products liability, a one-day workshop on real estate law, a one-day workshop on equitable property division incident to a divorce, and a one-day session on civil rights law.

Charles P. Kindregan, professor of law, is coordinator of the program. For information or application forms, please contact his office at 723-4700, extension 106 or write to the Suffolk University Law School Center for Continuing Professional Development, 41 Temple Street, Boston, MA 02114.

Law School conducts self-study

Suffolk University Law School is currently undergoing an American Bar Association (ABA) reaccreditation.

Under the rules of reaccreditation, all ABA-accredited law schools must periodically participate in an internal review process to enable them to look objectively at their growth and to determine their direction for the future.

According to John C. Deliso, assistant dean, the self-study is perceived as a blueprint permitting the Law School to assess its goals and objectives. The school is encouraged to continue its self-assessment after the actual reaccreditation process is over.

Dean David J. Sargent received notification from the ABA section on Legal Education and admissions to the Bar in May that Suffolk was to be reinspected during the 1982-1983 school year. In response, Dean Sargent formed a task force comprised of members of the Law School faculty and administration to participate in the reinspection process.

Members of the faculty and administration who are involved in the self-study include: Edward J. Bander, law librarian; Associate Professor Karen Blum; Assistant Dean Deliso; Professor Valorie C. Epps; Assistant Professor Mark D. Greenbaum; Associate Professor Stephen C. Hicks; Professor Bernard Keenan; Professor Charles P. Kindregan; Associate Dean Herbert Lemelman; Professor Joseph P. McEttrick; Professor Russell Murphy; Associate Professor Marc G. Perlin; and Professor John R. Sherman.

The Law School’s last ABA reaccreditation took place during the 1975-1976 school year. It was done simultaneously with the American Association of Law School Accreditation.

Alumni admitted to Bar of Supreme Court

Fifty-nine Suffolk University Law School alumni enjoyed a spring weekend in Washington, D.C. and became members of the Bar of the United States Supreme Court at the same time.

The group, participants in the U.S. Supreme Court Bar Admissions Program sponsored by the Law School Alumni Association, were admitted on Monday, May 17. Dean David J. Sargent moved the admissions of all applicants.

On Sunday evening, May 16, the Washington D.C. area Law School alumni hosted a buffet reception for admission participants and their guests, and for Washington area law alumni and their guests in the Gold Room of the Rayburn House Office Building. Close to two hundred persons attended, including Dean Sargent, Associate Dean Malcolm J. Donahue, Assistant Dean John C. Deliso and Paul R. Tierney, president of the Law School Alumni Association. Mary Ann Gilleece, JD’74 coordinated the reception as well as a luncheon honoring participants and their guests which followed the Monday admissions. Assisting Attorney Gilleece were Michael J. Riselli, JD’72 and Daniel P. Russo, JD’78.

The Law School Alumni Association expects to sponsor the 1983 admissions which are set for May 16.
LAW SCHOOL

The Law School has two new faculty members. Gwendolyn Y. Alexis has been named an assistant professor. Professor Alexis received a JD from Harvard University Law School and was previously an attorney in the corporate finance section of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City. Clyde E. Lindsay, named assistant professor, holds JD, MBA and AB degrees from Harvard University and was most recently assistant professor of law at Salmon P. Chase College of Law, Northern Kentucky University. Bernard V. Keenan, professor of law, was appointed to the Massachusetts Bar Association's Task Force on Legal Education. The Task Force studied and evaluated the recommendations of the Supreme Judicial Court's Special Committee on Legal Education. The Task Force was sponsored by the Association of American Law Schools. He also serves as the Law School's liaison to the Boston Bar Association.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has announced a number of new appointments. Peter R. Burn has been named assistant professor of biology. Professor Burn holds a BA in biology from the University of Pennsylvania, an MS from Northeastern University and a PhD from the University of New Hampshire. Most recently, he was director of research at Ecos in Concord, MA. He also was a parasitologist at the Osborn Laboratories of Marine Sciences, New York Zoological Society. Philip H. Clendenning who holds bachelor's and master's degrees and who received a PhD degree from Cambridge University's Queen's College, has been named assistant professor of history. Dr. Clendenning is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies and the Institute of Persian Studies. An instructor in the department of communications and speech, Brian R. Greeley received a BS in communications and speech from Suffolk University and an MA in business and organizational communications from Emerson College. He served as debate coach at Suffolk University from 1980 to 1982 and was an instructor of communications and speech at Middlessex Community College in Bedford for the 1981-1982 academic year. James N. Humphrey is an assistant professor of business. Professor Humphrey received BA and MA degrees from the University of Wisconsin and a PhD from the University of Maryland. Previously, he was a research physicist at Electronics Corporation of America in Cambridge. Appointed assistant professor of biology, Henry L. Mulcahy holds a bachelor's degree from Tufts University, MS degrees from both the University of Massachusetts and Harvard University and a PhD from Harvard University School of Public Health. Dr. Mulcahy was director of laboratories in the department of biological chemistry at Harvard University. Marilyn Plotkins has been named assistant professor of communications and speech and director of Suffolk University Theatre. She holds a BA from the University of Pittsburgh, an MA in theater education from Emerson College and a PhD in theater history and criticism from Tufts University. She has taught acting, voice and movement, and theater production and performance at Tufts University, Boston College, Curry College, Emerson College and Boston Center for the Arts as well as directing and choreographing many productions for area college and community theaters. Samuel B. Rhodes is an assistant professor of biology. Professor Rhodes received a BS from the University of Michigan and an MS and PhD degrees from Michigan State University. He previously was an assistant professor of biology at Franklin College, Franklin, Indiana. An assistant professor of English, Gerald Richman received bachelor's degrees from the University of Massachusetts and Bragocene College, Oxford University and a PhD from Yale University. He previously taught at Mankato State University, Mt. Ida Junior College, Boston State College and served as a lecturer at Suffolk University. David G. Tuerck is assistant professor and chairman of the economics department. Professor Tuerck received an AB and an MA from George Washington University and a PhD from the University of Virginia. Most recently he was director in the economics studies group, Coopers and Lybrand, Washington D.C. Tan Vo Van is an assistant professor of mathematics. Professor Vo Van holds MA and PhD degrees from Brandeis University. Previously, he was an assistant professor of mathematics at the University of Massachusetts at Boston and a lecturer in mathematics at Suffolk University from 1978 to 1980.

In the last issue, the Alumni Bulletin referred to Phyllis Mack, assistant professor of sociology, as Dr. Mack. She should have correctly been referred to as Ms. Mack. We regret the error.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

The Dean of the School of Management has announced a number of additions to the faculty. William R. Allen has been named associate professor of management. Professor Allen holds a bachelor's degree from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, and MBA and PhD degrees from the University of Florida. He comes to Suffolk University from the University of Rhode Island where he was associate professor of management. Appointed assistant professor of health administration, Eric E. Fortress holds a BA from Antioch College, an MPH from the University of Hawaii at Manoa, and SM and ScD degrees from Harvard University. Professor Fortress will head the new Health Administration component in the MPA program. James A. Hart has been named assistant professor of finance. He holds BS, MA and PhD degrees from Fordham University and a JD from Georgetown University. He has previously taught at DePaul University in Chicago and at the University of South Florida in Tampa. An associate professor of management, Roger N. Millen holds BS and MS degrees from the University of Massachusetts and a PhD from Purdue University. He previously was associate professor of management science at Northeastern University. Benjamin M. Perles is visiting professor of management. Professor Perles holds a BS from Northeastern University and MBA and PhD degrees from Boston University. His previous associations have been with Long Island University, West Virginia College of Graduate Studies Institute and Bentley College.

ADMINISTRATION

A number of administrative appointments have been announced. Cathy Boskey has been named director of law placement. She holds a BA from Goucher College and a master of education degree from the University of Virginia. Most recently, she was assistant director of career planning and placement at the University of Virginia. Appointed budget analyst, Maureen Dooley holds a BSBA (magna cum laude) from Suffolk University and is a candidate for the MBA in the School of Management. Previously, Ms. Dooley was executive secretary to Francis X. Flannery, vice president and treasurer. Joseph M. Kelley has been named director of development. Mr. Kelley received a BA from Boston College where he served as director of alumni giving. Most recently, Mr. Kelley was director of the capital campaign at Northeastern University. Mr. Kelley replaces Frank M. Whiston, who has accepted a position with Brakely, John Price Jones, a fundraising and management firm. The School of Management has announced that Amy Meyer is the new assistant dean for management and advising. She holds an AB in French from Boston University and an MBA from Harvard Business School. Previously she was special consultant to the president of the Council for Opportunity in Graduate Management Education. Robert B. Reggio, an American Council on Education Fellow in Academic Administration, will serve a one-year internship at Suffolk University. He holds a BA from New York University and an MS and Ph D from St. John's University.
CLASSNOTES

1930
LAW SCHOOL
A certified assessor in Massachusetts and a full member of the Massachusetts Association of Assessing Officers, Edward Horne, JD, is presently completing his first term as a tax assessor in Scituate.

1938
LAW SCHOOL
Nicholas Barbadoro, JD, has been named clerk of courts for Norfolk County by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

1947
LAW SCHOOL
A partner in the Walpole law firm of Martin, Santos and Mulvee, Joseph R. Santos, JD, serves as a law professor at Bryant College. Recently, Attorney Santos was named to the Board of Trustees at Southwood Community Hospital.

1949
LAW SCHOOL
August M. Stiriti, JD, is presently serving as a master of chancery for Middlesex County.

1949
COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES
August M. Stiriti, JD, is presently serving as a master of chancery for Middlesex County.

1950
COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES
Former Boston Herald Traveler sportswriter, George J. Donnelly, BSJ, and his wife are currently living in Ireland. Mr. Donnelly is a free-lance writer for the Irish Echo in Boston.

1951
LAW SCHOOL
Theodore Anzalone, JD, is currently engaged in the private practice of law with offices in Boston.

1952
COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES
A district staff manager of public relations for the New York Telephone Company, Howard D. Lewis, BSJ, has been elected president of the Brotherhood of Temple Beth Emeth in Albany, New York.

1953
LAW SCHOOL
Francis T. Crimmins, JD, has been appointed to the finance committee for the town of Stoughton. Mr. Crimmins is engaged in the real estate and insurance business.

1955
LAW SCHOOL
A certified public accountant and attorney in Milton, William F. DiPesa, JD, is the new commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in Boston. Charles B. Gray, JD, is a member of the Boston firm of Parker, Coulter, Daley and White. A new associate justice, John H. O'Neil, JD, is serving at the Fall River District Court.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

1956
LAW SCHOOL
Recently retired as publisher of the Middlesex News, William B. Parry, JD, continues as a consultant with the paper's parent organization, the National Group of Harte Hanks Communications, Inc. The Honorable Rudolph A. Sacco, JD, is currently sitting on the bench at Hampden County Probate Court in Springfield.

1957
LAW SCHOOL
The Honorable David T. Doyle, JD, is presently serving at the Salem District Court.
1961

LAW SCHOOL

A professor and director of the University of Massachusetts, Boston's criminal justice program, Herman W. Hemingway, practices law with offices in Brookline.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Bausch and Lomb, world-wide leader in soft contact lens care products, has promoted Harold Essigian, BSBA, to regional accounts manager of the personal products division, Eastern United States. A former comptroller for the city of Bridgeport, Connecticut, William J. McMahon, BSBA, has joined CITIYTRUST as a municipal banking representative.

1962

LAW SCHOOL

Robert F. Jarvis, JD, is presently working for the Massachusetts State Auditor's office as a legal counsel.

Robert B. Shumway, JD, is a senior partner in the Worcester law firm of Shumway, Giguer and Byrne.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

A site senior for the U.S. General Accounting Office in Boston, Gino I. Angelone, BSBA, was recently elected a fellow of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Army reservist Lt. Col. Arnold B. Briggs, BSBA, has completed an advance search and rescue course at the U.S. Coast Guard base at Governor's Island, New York. The Franklin-Lamoille Bank in St. Albans, Vermont has promoted Robert M. Gillis, BSBA, to president and chief executive officer.

1963

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

William G. Ellis, MBA, is now serving as president of the Wayland Academy in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. Executive vice president and administrator at Harrington Memorial Hospital in Southbridge, Richard M. Mangion, BSBA, has completed requirements for fellowship in the American College of Hospital Administrators.

1964

LAW SCHOOL

James D. McDaniel, Jr., JD, has been nominated to the position of associate justice of the Superior Court.

Richard Meany, JD, is currently practicing law in Harwichport.

1965

LAW SCHOOL

Maurice F. Cunningham, JD, is presently practicing law in Boston.

James J. McNernis, JD, a practicing attorney in North Andover, has been named to the Merrimack College Board of Trustees. A practicing attorney in Cranston, Rhode Island, Judith Stevenson Calcagni, JD, is the editor for Regan Reports in medical, hospital and nursing law. Presently practicing law in Boston, John J. Twomey, JD, is also a member of the Massachusetts Board of Public Accountancy.

1966

LAW SCHOOL

Melvyn D. Cohen, AB'64, JD, reports that he has recently opened an office for the general practice of law in Brockton. The Massachusetts Attorney General's office employs, Richard E. Raftery, JD, as chief of the contracts division.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Phillip Collins, MBA, is the new distribution system implementation manager for Polychrome Corporation in Yonkers, New York.

1967

LAW SCHOOL

In addition to his State House duties, State Representative, Salvatore J. Ciccarelli, JD, maintains a law office in Watertown.

Register of deeds for Worcester County, Anthony J. Vigniotti, JD, is associated with the law firm of Donahue and Rauscher. The Honorable Augustus F. Wagner, JD, is sitting on the bench of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Terrence Conroy, MBA, was recently elected president of the Carlson Development Corporation in Cutchitaue.

1968

LAW SCHOOL

Theodore J. Aleixo, Jr., JD, was awarded the Legislator of the Year Award by the Massachusetts Bar Association. Sheldon A. Fine, JD, has become associated with Arty. David Yarosh. The firm is located in Boston and will be known as Yarosh and Fine. James Gillis, JD, was recently sworn in as clerk-magistrate for the Hingham District Court.

Gary MacDonald, BSBA, is minister of music at the Congregational Church of Godstown, New Hampshire. James P. Moran, MBA, BSBA'62, is employed by Ocean-Spray Cranberries Inc. of Plymouth as manufacturing controller. Employed by Raytheon Company in Nashua, New Hampshire as program business manager, Philip Saracusa, BSBA, has been re-elected secretary of the Board of Trustees at Northern Essex Community College.
In Memoriam

JD'24 Edward I. Finks of Boston.
JD'25 Joseph P. Conaty of Fall River.
JD'26 John J. Beatty of Falmouth.
JD'26 William H. Finnegan of Melrose.
JD'26 Nathan F. Masterson of Peabody.
JD'26 James W. Norton of Medford.
JD'28 Nathan Rosenfeld of Milford and Narragansett, Rhode Island.
JD'30 Thomas F. Allen of Converse.
JD'30 George I. Breen of Brookline.
JD'30 Arthur E. Richardson of Lynn.
JD'30 Paul H. Snow of Concord.
LLM'30 John H. Sullivan, Jr., of Dedham.
JD'31 Paul T. Burke of Newport, Rhode Island.
JD'31 Henry J. Phillips of Auburn.
JD'32 James J. Campobasso of Lakeview, California.
JD'33 Daniel J. Sexton of Malden and Everett.
JD'36, LLM '37 William J. Connolly of Dorchester.
JD'37 William F. Pethybridge of Kennebunk, Maine.
JD'39 Paul F. Dinsmore of Union, New Jersey.
JD'40 Edward J. Baker of East Providence, Rhode Island.
JD'40 Edward H. McClune of South Weymouth.
JD'41 Louis A. Biron of Lowell.
JD'41, LLM'50 John M. Haddad of West Roxbury.
JD'41 Bernard H. O'Donnell of Boston.

JD'42 Wilson H. Lufkin of Hanover.
JD'42 James D. Macwenz, II, of Natick.
HON'48 The Honorable Amos N. Blandin, Jr., of Hanover, New Hampshire.
AB'48 Robert Gochring of Port Ludlow, Washington.
AB'49 Joseph F. Bell of Dedham.
JD'50 David B. Kidder of Eliot, Maine.
BSBA'50 Richard P. Shaw, Sr., of Reading.
BS'51 John F. Clements of Auburn, Maine.
HON'51 George B. Rowell of Boston.
BS'53 Frank Penza of Marshfield, M.A.
BSBA'56 Karl L. Briggs, Sr., of Weymouth.
BSBA'56 Charles Disessa of East Boston.
JD'62 Laurence G. Gettings of Braintree.
JD'62 Horace Libby of Augusta, Maine.
BS'66 Paul D. Zinkus of Dennisport.
JD'67 Arthur W. Hicks of Braintree.
JD'69 Paul R. Boucher of Leesburg, Virginia.
JD'73 Ina H. Hawley of Cornish, Maine.
EdM'73 Shirley M. Lamson of Hingham.
JD'74 Edward H. Brown of Wayne, New Jersey.
BSBA'74 William E. Seaver of Derby, New Hampshire.
MBA'76 Richard E. Hamm, Sr., of Brockton.
JD'78 Margaret Doyle of Worcester.
EdM'80 Ann Bove of Scituate.
Edward J. Gaynor, BSBA, is presently chief operations manager of Xtra Mart, a 45-unit convenience store chain based in Fabry, Connecticut. The Vermont Mutual Insurance Company in Montpelier has promoted James F. Sloan, BSBA, to assistant secretary.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

An associate and manager of public relations for Whitman and Howard, Inc. in Wellesley, Norine P. Baci-galupo, BSJ, has been elected vice president of the Publicity Club of Boston.

Robert C. Benson, Jr., BSJ, is presently working toward his master's degree in business administration at New Hampshire College in Portsmouth.

The New England School of Law recently awarded Robert J. Giard, JD, his juris doctor degree.

Charles E. Gould, AB, recently received his junior doctor degree and is practicing with the Waltham law office of Joseph S. Iandiorio.

1971 LAW SCHOOL

Peter R. Andrade, JD, is presently serving as clerk of courts for the Superior Court of Massachusetts.

A member of the Paxton Planning Board, Stephen B. Bik, JD, is now a partner in the Worcester law firm of Bowditch and Dewey.

A partner in the law firm of Cocoza and Cocoza of Yonkers, New York, Paul F. Cocoza, JD, also serves as president of the Yonkers Lawyers Association and is president of the PFC Abstract Corporation in New York.

An insurance consultant and a director of financial planning for the McCarthy Companies in Lawrence, Michael E. Fitzgerald, JD, has been awarded the professional insurance designation of a chartered property casualty underwriter.

An associate justice, The Honorable Paul P. Heffernan, JD, is presently serving at the Somerville District Court.

Thomas J. Ryan, JD, reports that he has become associated in the practice of law with the firm of Driscoll and Martingly with offices in Brockton and Bourne.

Bryan Stevens, JD, is currently engaged in the private practice of law with offices in Quincy.

Legal counsel to the town of Eastham, James R. Wilson, JD, practices law from his Hyannis office.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Campbell-Mithun, Inc., an advertising firm, recently named Michael Gordon, MBA, management supervisor and director of food service marketing of their Chicago, Illinois office.

Essex Bank of Peabody recently promoted Mark F. Tierney, MBA, to vice president in the commercial banking division.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Currently a student at Georgetown University Law School, James A. DeMarco, AB, is a director of the National Center on Institutions and Alternatives, a criminal justice organization, in Washington, D.C.

A teacher, Stephen C. Estes, AB, also serves as acting social studies department head at Traip Academy in Maine.

Arthur J.F. Pontes, AB, is presently the assistant director of the American International School in Quito, Ecuador.

Norman Thidemann, AB, currently serves as executive secretary to the town of Chelmsford.

1972 LAW SCHOOL

An instructor at Massasoit Community College, Frederick G. Barry, Jr., JD, also maintains a law office in Milton Village.

Alan S. Buchholz, JD, is employed at Centronics Data Computer Corporation in Hudson, New Hampshire.

A former leonminster city solicitor, James F. Connors, JD, is a practicing attorney in Fitchburg.

Alexander L. Evarts, JD, is currently employed as secretary and counsel for the Windsor Improvement Corporation of New Hampshire.

An Arlington attorney, William Grannan, JD, is presently enrolled in the graduate taxation program at Bentley College in Waltham.

Richard W. Kearney, JD, is general counsel for the Ludlow Corporation in Needham Heights.

Richard W. McLeod, JD, presently is engaged in the practice of law in Worcester.

Assistant attorney general, Frederick W. Riley, JD, is chief of criminal investigations for the Massachusetts Attorney General's office.

Specializing in environment, energy and hazardous waste litigation, Michael Ventresca, JD, is working with the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Stephen H. Owen, MBA, is employed by the Central Maine Power Company in Augusta.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Jerry A. Houghton, EdM, has been chosen as assistant superintendent of business for the Billerica school system.

A mathematics teacher, Dennis R. Smith, MAEd, is employed at Middleboro Junior High School.

Central New England College employs Charles S. Town Jr., AB, as coordinator of cooperative education.

1973 LAW SCHOOL

A practicing attorney in Worcester, Lawrence F. Army, JD, has been appointed town counsel in Douglas.

A member of the Danbury law firm of Jones, Damia, Wellman, Kaufman and Borofsky, Marvin Borofsky, JD, is currently serving as president of the Danbury Bar Association in Connecticut.

The Raytheon Company has named Frank J. Cherill, JD, manager of the microelectronics department in its equipment division.

Raymond K. Clement, JD, maintains a private law practice in Groveton, New Hampshire.

A Smithfield attorney, Joseph De Angelis, JD, also serves as majority leader for the Rhode Island House of Representatives.

Vice president and counsel for Filene's, Dawn Marie Driscoll, JD, is also an administrative board member for the organization.

William F. Fahey, JD, is engaged in the general practice of law with offices in Cambridge.

A senior partner in the West Fallsmouth firm of Farrell, Duffy and Farrell, Paul G. Farrell, JD, has been named to the Massachusetts Board of Registration in Pharmacy.

A former Massachusetts assistant attorney general, Richard J. Finnegan, JD, practices law from his Boston and Brookline offices.

North Adams city solicitor, Neil C. Giroux, JD, has been elected a director of the Green Mountain Club.

A former Boston Municipal Court justice, Sandra L. Hamlin, JD, is now an associate justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Based in Raleigh, North Carolina, Chester F. Hayes, JD, reports that he has been promoted to secretary and general counsel of Transportation Mackay Divisions and ITT Space Communications Inc., both subsidiaries of the ITT Telecommunications Systems Corporation.

Robert E. Holland, JD, is now practicing with the firm of Holland, Crowe and Drachman in Boston.

A partner in the law firm of Hurwitz and Hurwitz in New Bedford, Barrett A. Hurwitz, JD, has recently been elected president of the New Bedford Bar Association.

A practicing attorney in Fall River, Patrick E. Lowney, JD, is director of the Southeastern Massachusetts Criminal Justice Agency.

A partner in the law firm of Monseon, Monseon and MacConnell, Peter MacConnell, JD, has been named a director of the Northampton Cooperative Bank.

A former Rhode Island legislator, Andrew E. Mcconnell, JD, is now serving as administrative assistant to the mayor of Pawtucket.

Specializing in medical malpractice law, Philip J. Mulvey, Jr., JD, is with the Boston law firm of Holingsworth and Pappas.

Michael J. Noferi, JD, practices law with the firm of Rosen, Noferi and Noferi and has been appointed town moderator of Milford.

A director of the Natick Trust Company, Mark H. Raider, JD, is engaged in the private practice of law with the firm of Zaltas, Medoff and Raider.
Richard C. Tallo, JD, is the town solicitor for Johnston, Rhode Island. State representative W. Paul White, JD, is serving on the board of the Massachusetts Council for Public Justice.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Theodore L. Anderson, MBA, is the controller for Thom McAn Shoe Company in Worcester.

Frank Farina, BSBA, is presently pursuing his juris doctor degree at Georgetown University Law School where he is employed as director of internal audit management analysis.

An employee of Alexander Grant and Company in Boston, Timothy A. Hult, BSBA, has been elected a fellow of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

A management accountant, Kathleen Lynch Cochrane, BSBA, is working for the State Street Bank and Trust Company of Boston.

Francis J. Murphy, MBA, is manager of market planning at Honeywell, Inc. in Waltham.

The Acton Corporation has elected George M. Phillips, MBA, president and chief operating officer.

Anthony J. Rufo, Jr., BSBA, has been elected president of the Massachusetts Savings Bank Internal Auditors. Mr. Rufo is presently the internal auditor for the West Newton Savings Bank.

Edmond E. Ryan, MBA, is second vice president in the group pension division of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Michelle L. Cunha, BS, is presently completing her studies for a masters in business degree at Anna Maria College. Ms. Cunha was recently elected president of the Massachusetts Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives.

Richard De Young, MAEd, has been named principal of the Park Street School in Springfield, Vermont.

Newsome and Company, Inc., a Boston-based public relations firm, has promoted Jill Sullivan Gabbe, BA, to the position of vice president. The Massachusetts Division of Employment Security employs Charles McElmann, EdM, as manager of the employer charge department.

1974

LAW SCHOOL

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs William M. Appel, JD, BS’69, as legal counsel for the division of personnel administration.

James M. Burgoyne, JD, is a member of the Worcester firm of Fletcher, Tilton and Whipple. The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut has promoted Mark A. Canter, JD, to associate counsel in its law department.

Ronald E. Curtis, JD, is presently engaged in the practice of law in Fairfield County, Connecticut. A partner in the law firm of Gaughen, Gaughen and Lane, Robert H. Gaughen, Jr., JD, has been elected president of the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Joseph M. Jones, JD, reports that he has received his master of laws degree from Georgetown University Law School. Atty. Jones was also awarded the Outstanding Attorney award from the U.S. Department of Justice, tax division.

Stephen D. Lafond, JD, is a partner in the law firm of Greenspan and Lafond with offices in Hartford and Tolland, Connecticut. A former assistant district attorney for Norfolk County, E. David Levy, JD, is now associated with the firm of Levitz and Lyons in Stoughton.

The law firm of Ryan, Boudreau and Kirkpatrick of South Hadley has announced that David G. Sacks, JD, is joining the firm which will be known as Ryan, Boudreau, Sacks and Kirkpatrick.

David Turcotte, JD, a former assistant district attorney in New Bedford, has joined the law offices of Armand Fernandes.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

David M. Corbett, BSBA’70, MBA, has been promoted to senior manager in the tax department of the Boston office of the international accounting firm-Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company.

A certified public accountant, Charles M. Edgar, BSBA, is working for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as an assistant inspec­tor general.

A real estate broker and tax consultant, Paul A. Roberts, MBA, currently teaches accounting in the Lowell school system.

J.R. Sousa and Sons, Inc. of Danvers employs Kenneth Sweeney, BSBA, an accounting manager.

George R. Trubiano, Jr., BSBA, is presently working for the Sheraton Corporation in Boston.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Captain Edward F. Bzdula, AB, is an optometrist at the Kenner Army Community Hospital in Fort Lee, Virginia.

Edward P. Dalton, EdM, BSBA’69, is the assistant supervisor of court probation services for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Johnson and Johnson Company, Inc. of New Brunswick, New Jersey employs Colt Murphy, AB, as manager of the health fitness center.

Richard L. Lasota, BSBA, is presently completing his studies for a masters in business degree at Anna Maria College. Ms. Cunha was recently elected president of the Massachusetts Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives.

Richard De Young, MAEd, has been named principal of the Park Street School in Springfield, Vermont.

Newsome and Company, Inc., a Boston-based public relations firm, has promoted Jill Sullivan Gabbe, BA, to the position of vice president. The Massachusetts Division of Employment Security employs Charles McElmann, EdM, as manager of the employer charge department.

1974

LAW SCHOOL

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs William M. Appel, JD, BS’69, as legal counsel for the division of personnel administration.

James M. Burgoyne, JD, is a member of the Worcester firm of Fletcher, Tilton and Whipple. The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut has promoted Mark A. Canter, JD, to associate counsel in its law department.

Ronald E. Curtis, JD, is presently engaged in the practice of law in Fairfield County, Connecticut. A partner in the law firm of Gaughen, Gaughen and Lane, Robert H. Gaughen, Jr., JD, has been elected president of the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Joseph M. Jones, JD, reports that he has received his master of laws degree from Georgetown University Law School. Atty. Jones was also awarded the Outstanding Attorney award from the U.S. Department of Justice, tax division.

Stephen D. Lafond, JD, is a partner in the law firm of Greenspan and Lafond with offices in Hartford and Tolland, Connecticut. A former assistant district attorney for Norfolk County, E. David Levy, JD, is now associated with the firm of Levitz and Lyons in Stoughton.

The law firm of Ryan, Boudreau and Kirkpatrick of South Hadley has announced that David G. Sacks, JD, is joining the firm which will be known as Ryan, Boudreau, Sacks and Kirkpatrick.

David Turcotte, JD, a former assistant district attorney in New Bedford, has joined the law offices of Armand Fernandes.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

David M. Corbett, BSBA’70, MBA, has been promoted to senior manager in the tax department of the Boston office of the international accounting firm-Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company.

A certified public accountant, Charles M. Edgar, BSBA, is working for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as an assistant inspector general.

A real estate broker and tax consultant, Paul A. Roberts, MBA, currently teaches accounting in the Lowell school system.

J.R. Sousa and Sons, Inc. of Danvers employs Kenneth Sweeney, BSBA, an accounting manager.

George R. Trubiano, Jr., BSBA, is presently working for the Sheraton Corporation in Boston.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Captain Edward F. Bzdula, AB, is an optometrist at the Kenner Army Community Hospital in Fort Lee, Virginia.

Edward P. Dalton, EdM, BSBA’69, is the assistant supervisor of court probation services for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Johnson and Johnson Company, Inc. of New Brunswick, New Jersey employs Colt Murphy, AB, as manager of the health fitness center.

Richard L. Lasota, BSBA, is presently completing his studies for a masters in business degree at Anna Maria College. Ms. Cunha was recently elected president of the Massachusetts Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives.
Edmund C. Grant, JD, is affiliated with the Boston law firm of Bowers and Bowers. Engaged in the private practice of law, Francis X. Gribbons, JD, maintains offices in Holden. Former attorney for the Massachusetts Labor Relations Committee, Sharon Henderson Ellis, JD, recently opened a private practice of law in West Roxbury. She will specialize in labor arbitration, mediation and fact finding.

A member of the Essex County Advisory Board, Ralph R. Joyce, Jr., JD, has a private practice in Lawrence. A former Essex County assistant district attorney, Eugene Lucarelli, JD, has joined the Newburyport law offices of Vincent Malgeri. John Martin, JD, is commissioner of the Massachusetts Industrial Accident Board. Mark S. Maynard, JD, has opened an office in association with David Cataldo for the general practice of law in Worcester. A practicing attorney, L. Jeffrey Meehan, JD, is a partner in the law firm of Doherty, Wallace, Pillsbury and Murphy in Springfield. Assistant city solicitor in Somerville, Margaret M. Melican, JD, has joined the faculty of the evening division at Fisher Junior College. William F. Miller, JD, reports that he is now associated with the law firm of Haussermann, Davison and Shattuck in Boston. U.S. Air Force Captain Joseph E. Minicier, JD, a judge advocate, recently received the Meritorious Service Medal at Patrick Air Force Base in Florida. Judith Pickett, JD, is presently affiliated with the Boston Conservation Law Foundation. The Holyoke Mutual Insurance Company in Salem has promoted Douglas C. Ryder, JD, to secretary and general counsel. Zvi A. Sealing, JD, currently serves on the Massachusetts Legislators' staff for the Committee on Human Services and Elderly Affairs. A practicing attorney specializing in corporate and contract law, Donald E. Wetmore, JD, has been appointed chairperson of the law, real estate and insurance department at Mercy College in Dobbs Ferry, New York.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT
Chester Adamczyk, MBA, is presently employed by Constraintics in East Hartford, Connecticut. Van Leer Plastics of Woburn has promoted Paula Adamczyk Marchewka, MBA, ABT'71, to the position of vice president of finance. She will simultaneously serve as an assistant treasurer to the Keyes Fibre Company of Stamford, Connecticut.

The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company in Boston employs Robert M. Altimar, BSBA, as a cost containment and management report services consultant. Domenic Bozzotto, MBA, BSBA'74, is president of Boston's Local 26. A hotel, restaurant, institutional employees and bartenders union.

Richard W. Brooks, MBA, was recently appointed treasurer of the Murray Printing Company in Westford.

The Xtra Corporation has promoted William Galatis, BSBA, to general manager of the firm's trailer leasing division. Employed by the GCA Corporation in Somerville as a controller, Sebastian J. Sicari, BSBA, was recently elected a fellow of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

BayBank Middlesex in Lexington has elected John R. Sylva, MBA, vice president. Mr. Sylva manages the bank's marketing division and is responsible for directing the bank's marketing efforts including planning, research, advertising, merchandising, public relations and site location analysis.

Eugene H. Tellier, Jr., MBA, has been named senior vice president and financial officer at Amoskeag National Bank and Trust Company in Manchester, New Hampshire. Andrew G. York, III, MBA, is president of the Baribiz Schools of Tulsa, Nashville, and Chattanooga, Tennessee.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES
Sandra Elaine Breisacher, EdM, is presently the director of special activities at the American Diabetes Association in New York. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Pat Cronin, EdM, as a research assistant for the Special Committee which will study philanthropy. Vincent Donofrio, MAEd, is teaching English at Littleton High School. Schleicher and Schuell, Inc., a leading producer of separation materials, devices and specialty products for science and industry, has announced that Richard L. Lasota, BS, is the Southeastern regional manager based in the Atlanta, Georgia area.

John J. McGonagle, BS, has been appointed director of the office of community health at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. Dennis Vandal, BSJ, works at the Worcester Telegram and Gazette.

1976

LAW SCHOOL
Arnold B. Abrams, JD, has become a partner in the law firm of Solomon and Stanton in Meriden, Connecticut. A practicing attorney, Bruce F. Dal Pra, JD, recently opened his own law office for general practice in Manchester, New Hampshire. A patent attorney, Walter F. Dawson, JD, is employed by Raytheon Company's office of the general counsel.

Chairman of the Suffolk County courthouse committee, Michael J. Donovan, JD, AB'72, has been named clerk-magistrate of the Suffolk County Superior Civil Court. President of the Newton Teachers Association, Janet Goldrick, JD, was recently appointed principal of Burr Elementary School in Newton. Practicing law in Boston, Thomas Kilroy, JD, also teaches at Fisher Junior College, evening division.

Michael J. Lowney, JD, recently graduated from the University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine. David M. MacDonald, JD, is associated with the law firm of Cowles, Sorrells, Patterson and Thompson in Dallas, Texas. Specializing in family law, Kathryn Piper, is presently practicing law in Vermont.

Former chief legal counsel for the abandoned property division of the Massachusetts Treasury Department, Paul E. Shanley, JD, was recently sworn in as deputy state treasurer.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT
William J. Begley, BSBA, is a senior staff accountant at Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation in Boston. Randall Carbone, MPA, is presently a tax shelter coordinator for the Boston office of Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc. Vice president of community services for the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce, Brian R. Gilmore, MBA, BSBA'69, has been named to the Campaign Cabinet for the United Way. The Par Research Corporation of Rockpoint has appointed Barry Ginsberg, MBA, BSBA'73, treasurer and vice president of finance. A certified public accountant, Paul Green, MBA, is the controller at the Riley Stoker Corporation of Worcester.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES
S. Marshall Brooks, Jr., BSJ is a writer and founder of the Arts End Books publishing firm. Presently a general assignment reporter for the Daily Press in Newpport News, Virginia, William Lancaster, BSJ, recently was awarded his masters degree in journalism from Michigan State University. Diane Lipczynski Mastalerz, EdM, is employed by the New England Mutual Insurance Company in Boston. A financial administrator, Philip J. Lussier, BS, works for Wang Laboratories, Inc. in Lawrence. William J. Mahoney, MAEd, is a project management consultant working for businesses in Lexington and Boston. Employed by the College of St. Mary in Omaha, Nebraska, James T. McGrath, EdM, MBA'71, MAEd'75, recently received his Ed.D. degree from Boston College. Raymond C. Tautkus, MAEd, was recently promoted to captain on the Brockton police force.

1977

LAW SCHOOL
Recently retired from the U.S. Air Force, Joseph T. Barron, Jr., JD, is an assistant state's attorney in Clearwater, Florida.
Senator Edward L. Burke, JD, is a visiting lecturer in the continuing education program at Framingham State College. Senator Burke is also a member of the Paul Nyer law offices in Framingham.

Bernardo J. Cabral, JD, is presently engaged in the practice of law in New Bedford.

A former assistant district attorney in Essex County, Peter J. Carrozzi, JD, has joined the law firm of Costello, Hourihan, Frattaroli and Barrett in Salem.

Michael F. Edgerton, LLM, JD’73, is legal counsel to the chief administrative justice of the Trial Court of Massachusetts.

Bruce W. Edmonds, JD, is an assistant district attorney for Plymouth County.

Howard L. Greenspan, JD, has become associated with Stephen Lafond, JD’74, in the general practice of law with offices in Tolland and Hartford, Connecticut.

A practicing attorney in Haverhill, Roberta Harding, JD, is with the firm of Perrone and Herlihy.

Currently serving as a member of the board of Nashoba Community Hospital, Peter E. Knox, JD, MBA’71, practices law in Littleton.

William Martin, JD, is the collective bargaining agent for the city of Springfield.

Kevin D. McCarthy, JD, maintains an office for the general practice of law in Warwick, Rhode Island.

Practicing law in Newton, James A. McLaghlin, JD, is a partner in the firm of Goodman and Gogue. Specializing in international trade law, Gill D. Messina, JD, practices in partnership with Kenneth M. Homsey with offices in Lawrence and Red Bank, New Jersey.\n
Messina was recently named legal counsel to the New Jersey District Export Council.

William C. Murray, JD, reports that he is presently an assistant counsel in the law department at the Hartford Insurance Company in Connecticut.

Baker A. Smith, JD, is the assistant to the Housing and Urban Development secretary for labor relations in Washington, D.C.

Robert P. Sullivan, JD, is the new city attorney for Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

A practicing attorney in Boston, Patrick K.B. Tracy, is a partner with the firm of McDonough and Tracy.

The Boston law firm of Griffin and Higgins employs Geline W. Williams, JD.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Peter C. Bennett, MPA, AB’74, is serving in the newly-created post of collector/treasurer in Marshfield. A certified public accountant, David W. Dube, BSBA, is a finance instructor in the evening division at Fisher Junior College.

Nationwide Insurance Company employs Steven F. Fields, BSBA, as a senior claims adjuster in Santa Clara, California.

A teacher of economics at Somerset High School, Edmond Goulart, Jr., MBA, is serving as chairman of the Dartmouth Planning Board.

Nicholas J. Simione, Jr., MBA, is currently working for the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities.

A senior accountant with the firm of Lambert Patterson and Company in Framingham, Stephen A. Sousa, BSBA, was recently elected a fellow of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Gary Zumbahlen, BSBA, is presently employed by Bradlee’s as a sales manager.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Timothy J. Ahern, EdM, reports that he is currently working at the Barnstable New Middle School in Hyannis as a reading specialist.

Peter Argeropoulos, BS, is presently serving as superintendent at the Massachusetts Correctional Institute in Framingham.

Joel Braverman, EdM, BS’76, is employed as a training coordinator by Honeywell Information Systems in Willowdale, Ontario, Canada.

A captain on the Somerville Police Force, Donald Calliguri, BS, is serving as a district court prosecutor. Former radio news producer at WPOP, the all-news CBS affiliate in Hartford, Connecticut, Charles W. Collie, BSJ, reports that he has recently been appointed press officer to Governor King.

A teacher at Eastern Junior High School in Lynn, Donna Hegan, MAEd, is also an assistant racing secretary at Wonderland Park in Revere.

St. Anne’s Hospital in Fall River employs Mark Kostegan, BSJ, as the director of development and public relations.

Paul Moccia, EdM, is the principal of Lakeway Elementary School in Littleton, Vermont.

Stephen J. Roberts, BS, works at the Hampden County Prerelease Center.

Charles L. Sumner, AB, was recently elected executive secretary for the town of Littleton.

1978 LAW SCHOOL

The Massachusetts Department of Social Services employs Louis B. Birenbaum, JD, as an assistant general counsel.

A practicing attorney in New Hampshire, Thomas Brackett, JD, serves as treasurer of the Greenland Community Church.

Theresa A. Buffum, II, JD, is now engaged in the general practice of law with offices in Rockland.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Anthony F. Buono, JD, as a real property administrator.

A partner in the law firm of Fine and Burton of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, Alan R. Burton, JD, recently received his masters degree in taxation from Boston University Law School.

William Constantino, Jr., JD, maintains an office for the general practice of law in Sterling.

James C. Donnelly, JD, is vice president, treasurer and chief financial officer of the Boston Gas Company.

A faculty member of the University of Hartford, David J. Elliott, JD, is associated with the law firm of Day, Berry and Howard in Hartford, Connecticut.

Former Essex county assistant district attorney, John Gillen, JD, has joined the Salem law firm of Costello, Hourihan, Frattaroli and Barrett.

A tax manager at Mann, Judd and Landau in Boston, Richard D. Hellmond, JD, was recently elected a fellow of the Massachusetts Society of Public Accountants.

Bruce Holland, JD, is president of W.E.B. Associates and executive vice president of the American Chemical Works Company in Rhode Island.

A former member of the Hillsborough County attorney’s office in New Hampshire, Donald A. Kennedy, JD, has joined the law firm of Malloy and Sullivan in Manchester. A lieutenant in the Valley Falls Fire department and a social studies teacher at Cumberland High School, William J. McAtee, JD, is engaged in the private practice of law in Rhode Island.

Curt C. Pfunder, JD, reports that he is working as a trial attorney for the U.S. Justice Department in the anti-trust division in Dallas, Texas.

Daniel P. Russo, JD, is an assistant counsel to the U.S. House of Representatives’ committee on Ways and Means in Washington, D.C.

C. Robert Satti, Jr., JD, is a deputy assistant state’s attorney in Bridgeport, Connecticut.
Recently completing a 20-year newspaper career with the Boston Globe, Alan H. Sheehan, JD, BS'74, has joined the Boston law office of Ronald A. Wysoki, JD'72.

Edward S. Vaughn, Jr., JD, is a professor and chairperson of the business administration department at Stonehill College.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

David M. Assad, MBA, recently received his juris doctorate degree from New England School of Law. The New England Telephone Company employs Pamela A. Bombardieri, MBA, as an account executive in Woburn. She is responsible for planning and directing sales and revenue plans for business customers in the general merchandise/retail industry.

Atlantic Tracy, Inc. of Somerville has appointed George P. Bukuras, BSBA, controller and manager. Alan L. Doyon, BSBA, is a certified public accountant in Burlington.

The Stop and Shop Companies, Inc. employs Leo F. Fuce, Jr., MBA, as corporate budget director.

A member of the faculty at North Shore Community College, Bruce M. Guy, MBA, is vice president of the Progressive Credit Union.

John F. Heaps, Jr., MBA, is now vice president of the commercial loan department at Old Colony Bank of Hampden County.

Shawmut Bank of Bristol County, N.A. employs Einar G. Johnson, Jr., ABA, as an associate vice president and assistant comptroller.

Andrew M. Larkin, MBA, was promoted to assistant vice president at the Malden Trust Company.

The IBM Corporation in Essex Junction, Vermont employs Scott Reynolds, MBA, as a senior accountant.

Working for the North Carolina Judiciary, Gerard F. Daly, BS, is the assistant administrator of the trial court services division.

A radiologic technologist, Carole Ann Duggan, BS, is employed by the Lahey Clinic Medical Center in Burlington.

The Boston Herald American recently named Alan S. Eisner, EdM, city editor.

Robert T. Goff, BS, is presently attending the New England School of Law.

The Digital Equipment Corporation in Maynard employs Phillip A. Kuehne, MS, as business manager of corporate employment development.

Western New England College School of Law has awarded Mark G. Morisi, BS, his juris doctor degree.

Steven J. Pasquantonio, BS, is employed by Basics, Inc. in Holbrook.

Michael J. Stabile, BS, presently practices law with offices in Medford. Atty. Stabile received his juris doctor degree from the New England School of Law.

1979

LAW SCHOOL

Former Boston attorney, Robert J. Carnes, JD, is now an assistant district attorney for Berkshire County.

David L. Cataldo, JD, recently became associated with Atty. Mark Maynard, JD'76, in the general practice of law with offices in Worcester.

A practicing attorney in Fall River, Joseph J. Czerwonka, JD, BS'77, is with the law firm of Vrana, Cunha and Esposito.

Working at the U.S. District Court in Boston, David A. DiMarzio, JD, serves as clerk to magistrate Robert DeGiacomo.

Charles M. Hughes, JD, is an assistant district attorney for Middlesex County.

The Industrial National Bank in Providence, Rhode Island has promoted Robert A. Levy, JD, to vice president.

Bruce W. Lord, JD, is an attorney and small business consultant in Bellingham, Rhode Island.

John D. McElhiney, JD, AB'77, has become associated in the general practice of law with Atty. Robert Matson in Woburn.

Richard A. Nylen, JD, presently serves as commissioner of the Metropolitan District Commission.

William B. O'Leary, JD, is serving as an attorney for the U.S. Coast Guard in Boston.

Peter Pease, JD, is practicing law with the Boston firm of Brown and Stafiel.

Practicing law in Stamford, Connecticut, Donald Powers, Jr., JD, is associated with the firm of Merchant and Rosenblum.

James A. Rempis, JD, is presently engaged in the private practice of law with offices in Boston.

Anita L. Tomaselli, JD, is practicing law in New Canaan, Connecticut.

The Jackson Laboratory in Bar Harbour, Maine employs Kenneth P. Trevett, JD, as an assistant to the director.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

A field auditor, Joyce M. Blackman, MBA, MA'74, is working for the Massachusetts State Auditor's office.

Joseph G. Bonanno, MBA, recently received his juris doctor degree from the New England School of Law.

The American Precision Museum in Windsor, New Hampshire employs Kenneth R. Boyle, MPA, BSBA'78, as the development coordinator.

Ronald D. Breen, BSBA, is employed by the Commercial Union Insurance Company in Boston.

A senior staff auditor, Michael J. Byrne, MPA, works at Tufts University in the internal audit department.

John A. Clarkeson, MPA, is an accounting manager with the Massachusetts District Attorney in Boston.

A marketing coordinator, Viola Hurtig Morse, MBA, is working for the Harvard Community Health Plan in Boston.

Charles Johnson, MBA, is employed by Westvaco in Chicago, Illinois.

The Recuperative Center Association has recently appointed Gregory C. Karr, MBA, director of the center in Roslindale.
The Arlington Trust Company employs Jerry Lynch, MBA, as first vice president.

Margaret E. Maxwell, MBA, is a member of the University of Massachusetts Building Authority.

Barry E. McCabe, MBA, was recently elected assistant controller of the Dartmouth National Bank in Hanover.

Mary E. McClelland, BSBA, is employed by Honeywell Information Systems in Wellesley.

Gerard Morris, MBA, is press secretary to Governor King.

A certified public accountant, Robert H. Nichols, BSBA, has opened an office in Hingham.

An engineer, Maureen Ann Shea, MBA, works for the General Electric Company of Lynn in the aircraft engine group.

Lowell D. Snorf III, MBA, has received his juris doctor degree from Delaware School of Law.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Donald H. Briggs III, EdM, is presently teaching at the Cardinal Cushing School.

Northeastern University Law School recently awarded Kevin L. Courtney, BS, his juris doctor degree.

A customer service representative, Diane Cusolito De Castro, BS, works for Purolator Courier Company.

Paul Healey, AB, is a patrolman for the Hingham Police Department.

Susan Jepson, MS, serves as director of career services at the Woman’s Educational and Industrial Union in Boston.

The Boston law firm of Murphy and Beane employs Daniel J. Knight, AB, as a law clerk and investigator.

Sheila A. O’Rourke, EdM, is employed by the College of Environmental Science and Forestry in Syracuse, New York.

Kathleen Sheridan, BS, is currently employed at Barnsider, Inc. in South Hamilton.

1980

LAW SCHOOL

Charles R. Arthur, JD, is a partner in the law firm of Arthur and Jaworski in Reading.

Thomas S. Barrett, JD, presently practices law with the Quincy firm of Fleming and Langlois.

A practicing attorney, Carla N. Beaufre, JD, is associated with the firm of Kamberg, Berman, Hendel, Gold and West in Springfield.

Kevin Bradley, JD, is associated with the law firm of Desautels and Bergeron in Burlington, Vermont.

Karen Brown-Gattozzi, JD, has been appointed town counsel in Kingston.

An attorney, Edward M. Wheeler, JD, recently joined the Malden law firm of Bushell and Brennan.

Stephen R. White, JD, is engaged in the practice of law with the firm of Pucci and Goldin in Providence, Rhode Island.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

The international accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company has promoted Mark D. Abrahams, MBA, to manager of the Boston office.

Nancy B. Adams, MBA, serves as a member of the Massachusetts Industrial Finance Agency.

Vivian L. Davis, MBA, has been named executive director of Hospice of Greater Lawrence, Inc. PEBSCO/Pilgrim, Inc. of Salem employs Ernest Farrow, MBA, as executive vice president.

The Union National Bank of Lowell recently elected J. Peter Forte, Jr., MBA, assistant vice president.

Jeanette M. Himmelfarb, MBA, is now vice president of the city division at Shawmut Bank of Boston.

A controller, Dean Kiklis, MBA, BSBA ’79, works for the Device Development and Technical Impex Publishing firm in Lawrence.

Mark J. Lanza, MPA, is serving as assistant executive secretary for the town of Yarmouth.

An accountant, Peter R. Lloyd, BSBA, presently works at Lynn Hospital.

Salvatore L. Sanfilippo, MBA, is employed by the Flying Tigers Corporation at Logan International Airport, Boston.
A social studies teacher, Peter K. Tully, MPA, is employed at McCall Junior High School in Winchester.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Lillian Andrusskiewicz, AB, is presently enrolled at the New England School of Law. Currently pursuing his law degree, Michael A. Angiulo, BS, is also attending the New England School of Law.

A teacher in the Weymouth adult education program, Susan M. Calaway, BS, is employed by the Instron Corporation in the marketing department.

The Jordan Marsh Company employs Elaine P. D’Entremont, BSJ.

A director of Bay State Skills Employer Specified Training Program, Paul P. Herbert, MS, works for Computer Component Systems Inc. in Lawrence and for the Greater Lawrence Technical School.

Eugene J. Hunt, AB, reports that he is a senior proposal engineer working for the fiber optics division of the Digital Communications Corporation in Germantown, Maryland.

Timothy G. Kearney, AB, is presently pursuing his juris doctor degree at the University of Bridgeport Law School, Connecticut. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Edmund J. Norton, Jr., BS, in the department of youth services.

Susan Quinlan Brown, BS, is serving on the faculty at Berkshire Community College in Pittsfield.

Stephen C. Regan, AB, is employed by the New England Telephone Company. Presently the director of athletics, Richard M. Sullivan, BS, works at the Colonel Daniel Maur Boys Club in Dorchester.

Marcia Weinstein Young, MS, is a rehabilitation counselor and administrator at Wrentham Institute.

1981 LAW SCHOOL

Aida Abboud Gennis, JD, is presently employed by the law firm of Reimer and Braunstein in Boston. Now practicing law in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Ellen Abromson, JD, is associated with the law firm of Martioni, Martioni and Martioni.

Robin Aihini, JD, is working for the Honorable Joseph W. Hatchett at the U.S. Court of Appeals in Tallahassee, Florida.

A practicing attorney in Salem, Thomas J. Alexander, JD, is associated with the law firm of Ronan and Segal.

An associate, Lee Alfieri, JD, is practicing with the law firm of Alfieri, Withington and Betters in Plymouth.

The law firm of Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Glovsky and Popeo, P.C. employs Judith Alviani Fields, JD, as an associate in Boston.

Currently engaged in the private practice of law, Anthony P. Antico, JD, is a partner in the Peabody law firm of Antico and Barrett.

Wynn Arnold, JD, is associated with the law firm of Tetler and Holmes in Hampton, New Hampshire.

The State of New Hampshire employs Joseph Aronson, JD, at the Supreme Court in Concord.

Gail D. Baker, JD, is associated with the law firm of R.C. Ploetz and Associates in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Currently practicing law in Bridgeport, Connecticut, Suzanne Baldasare, JD, reports that she is with the firm of Marsh, Day and Calhoun.

Charles Barrett, JD, has opened an office for the general practice of law in association with Anthony Antico, JD’81, in Peabody.

Nancy Bern, JD, is affiliated with the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston. The law firm of Slepkow, Slepkow and Rappoport employs Paul G. Bettencourt, JD, in East Providence, Rhode Island.

A practicing attorney in Andover, Joanne Bibeau, JD, is associated with the firm of Asioan, McGarry and Tully.

L. Lee Boatright, JD, reports that he currently practices law with the firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey in Cleveland, Ohio.

William C. Bowling, JD, is engaged in the practice of law with the Boston firm of Reimer and Braunstein.

Currently practicing law in Rhode Island, Christopher Boyle, JD, is with the firm of Moore, Vergadano and Lynch in Newport.

A practicing attorney, William H. Brown, JD, is with the law office of Arthur Croce in Wellesley.

Richard L. Burpee, JD, reports that he is currently employed by the U.S. Court System in Norfolk, Virginia.

James Cambio, JD, BS’78, is engaged in the private practice of law with offices in North Providence, Rhode Island.

Deidre Cashman Kulevich, JD, has joined the law firm of Thatcher, Beckett and Henderson in Cohasset.

M. Scott Channell, JD, recently opened an office for the general practice of law in Beverly.

Specializing in domestic relations and litigation, David Cherny, JD, is affiliated with the Boston law firm of Atwood and Wright.

The Boston law firm of Hale and Dorr employs Jennifer Clark Snyder, JD.

Presently serving trial justice Harry Wood, Michele R. Collias, JD, works for the U.S. Court of Claims in Washington, D.C.

Touche Ross and Company in Boston employs Justine Collins, JD, in the tax department.

A practicing attorney in Connecticut, John K. Costello, JD, is with the firm of Siegel, O’Connor and Kainen, P.C. in Hartford.

Francis T. Crimmins, Jr., JD, has opened an office for the general practice of law in Stoughton.

Jane Ellen Currier, JD, recently announced the opening of a law office in association with Eldon D. Goodhue for the general practice of law in Topsfield.

A practicing attorney, Kevin Daly, JD, presently maintains an office for the general practice of law in Salem.
Presently engaged in private practice, Roy F. Gelineau, Jr., JD, maintains offices in Salem.

Thomas G. Gennis, JD, is a self-employed attorney in Somerville.

Jeffrey B. Goldstein, JD, is now with the Worcester County district attorney's office.

A practicing attorney in Salem, Annette M. Gonthier, JD, is with the firm of Costello, Hourihan, Frattaroli and Barrett.

A former law clerk at the Massachusetts Superior Court, Virginia C. Goscinak, JD, MAEd'75, has joined the Boston law firm, Bingham, Dana and Gould.

A law clerk, Corinne M. Grande, JD, is employed at the Rhode Island Department of Revenue.

The U.S. Navy's Judge Advocate General's office employs Joyce Guglielmino Beardsworth, JD, is presently practicing law with the firm of White, Inker, Aronson, Connelly and Norton, P.C. in Boston.

Currently practicing law in Cambridge, Melanie Hagopian, JD, is with the law firm of Gargano and Piper.

The U.S. Navy's Judge Advocate General's office employs Thomas N. Harvey, JD, at the Naval Education and Training Center in Newport, Rhode Island.

George E. Hazel, JD, is presently employed by the U.S. Postal Inspection Service in Boston.

Martin Himmelfarb, JD, is practicing with the law firm of Stanzler, Levine and Joyce in Boston.

Richard C. Howard, JD, BS'77, recently joined the law firm of Bushell and Brennan in Malden.

A practicing attorney in White Plains, New York, Robert Howard, JD, is associated with the law office of Ivan Skura.

Susan Howard, JD, is now working for the Hillsborough County Attorney's office in Manchester, New Hampshire.

Practicing law in Worcester, Harold E. Johnson, JD, reports that he is associated with the firm of Tashjian, Simarian and Wickstrom.

Michael S. Kalis, JD, is employed at the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Boston.

A practicing attorney in New Hampshire, Michael P. King, JD, recently opened an office for the general practice of law in Goffstown.

Joyce Kirby, JD, is working for the Honorable Arthur Votolato at the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Providence, Rhode Island.

Now associated in the practice of law, Mark Krieger, JD, practices with the firm of Cerilli, Cerilli and Greenfield in Providence, Rhode Island.

James Kroesser, JD, has joined the law firm of Hayes, Ledoux, Whipple and King in Salem.

The Connecticut Supreme Court employs Katherine Lambert, JD.

Roxanne C. Leary, JD, is associated with George Spartichino in the general practice of law in Cambridge.

An assistant district attorney, Bradford N. Louison, JD, is working for the Bristol County District Attorney's office.

Arthur G. Luonga, JD, is presently employed in the office of the State's attorney for the Eleventh Judicial Circuit in Miami, Florida.

A practicing attorney, Brian Lynman-Askew, JD, is associated with the law firm of Macrides, Zezima and Chistiano.

Richard A. M. Lyon, JD, reports that he is now working at the Home Owners Federal Savings and Loan Company in Boston.

Patricia J. MacDougall, JD, was recently sworn in as clerk to U.S. Magistrate Robert Collings at the U.S. District Court in Boston.

The Bangor Punta Corporation employs Thomas Mackie, JD, in Greenwich, Connecticut.

Currently practicing law in Boston, Peter M. Malaguti, JD, reports that he is associated with the firm of Lawson and Wayne.

A law clerk, Susan Marcotte Carlin, JD, is serving the Honorable J.R. Weisberger at the Supreme Court of Rhode Island in Providence.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Paul R. Matthews, JD, in the Department of the Attorney General.

Donna G. Maturi, JD, is now associated with the law office of Usher Moran in Lynn.

Thomas J. McCabe, JD, is employed at the State Supreme Court of Rhode Island in Providence.

L. Stephen McCready, JD, recently opened an office for the general practice of law in Medford.

Michael Meduski, JD, is now serving in the Judge Advocate General Corps of the U.S. Army.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Corinne D. Mermin, JD, in the executive office of energy resources.

Alba N. Mooney, JD, is currently employed by the Massachusetts Defenders Committee in Lynn.

A practicing attorney, Jules Jay Morris, JD, reports that he is with the Lexington firm of Hamilton, Brook, Smith and Reynolds.

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company in Boston employs Thomas J. Morrisey, JD.

John Mulvey, JD, is currently working at the Superior Court of Massachusetts in Boston.

The U.S. Court of Bankruptcy employs Harold Murphy, JD. Atty. Murphy is currently working for the Honorable Thomas Lawless in Boston.

The Massachusetts Defenders Committee of Lynn employs Lynn Marie Murphy, JD.

A practicing attorney in Providence, Rhode Island, Sandra Murphy, JD, is affiliated with the firm of Laventhal and Horwath.

Kevin Murray, JD, is with the National Labor Relations Board in Boston.

At the Lawrence District Court, Patricia Flynn, JD, works in the probation department.

A judicial law clerk, D. Michael Frink, JD, works for the Honorable Hugh Bownes at the U.S. Court of Appeals in Concord, New Hampshire.
The Digital Equipment Corporation in Marlboro employs John Palleschi, JD.

A member of the faculty at Suffolk University Law School, Edward J. Pallotta, Jr., JD, is a legal practice skills instructor.

Richard J. Plouffe, JD, reports that he is now practicing with the Boston law firm of Murphy and Mitchell, P.C.

Susan Powers, JD, is currently practicing with the firm of Chadbourn, Kaysor, Ruggles, McGee and Hastings, Ltd. in Chicago, Illinois. The State of Rhode Island employs Bennett, JD, working at the University Law School, and Levinson.

A practicing attorney in Cambridge, Marilyn Silver, JD, is associated with the firm of Gargano and Palleschi, JD.

Michael N. Raisbeck, JD, is associated with Honeywell Information Systems in Billerica.

A practicing attorney in Boston, James B. Re, JD, is with the firm of Bingham, Dana and Gould.

Andrew Richardson, JD, is employed by the Rhode Island Legal Services Department.

Donald A. Roberts, JD, reports that he is now with the law firm of Gilpin, Maynard, Parsons, Poli and Bennett in Houston, Texas.

Paul Roche, JD, works for the city of Boston public facilities department.

James Rooney, JD, is currently working in the personnel office of the office of the deputy chief of staff for the U.S. Army in Washington, D.C.

Practicing law in Worcester, John Ross, JD, is associated with the firm of Fusaro and Fusaro.

William Rozanski, III, JD, is now practicing with the law firm of Abramson and Hickey in Woodbury, New Jersey.

Bernard R. Sacks, JD, is working for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Boston.

Cheryl Sbarra O'Leary, JD, currently practices law in Boston.

Richard L. Scheff, JD, works for the U.S. District Court Department in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Benjamin Scungio, JD, reports that he is working for the Honorable A.N. Votolato at the Federal Bankruptcy Court in Providence, Rhode Island.

A practicing attorney in Boston, Richard Shea, JD, is associated with the firm of Parker, Coulter, Daley and White.

Jonathan S. Tryon, JD, reports that he is now employed by the University of Rhode Island.

Henry S. Shelley Jr., JD, is practicing for the U.S. Navy Legal Services Office in San Diego, California. An instructor at Boston University Law School, Jeffrey Shribman, JD, is practicing with the law firm of Dimento and Dimento in Swampscott.

Richard M. Simon, JD, is associated with Fox and Company in Boston.

Maureen Slack, JD, reports that she now practices with the law office of Kenneth Goldberg in Malden.

A practicing attorney in California, Stephen Smith, JD, is engaged with the law firm of Morgan, Wenzel and McNicholas in Los Angeles.

Currently practicing law in Boston, Karen M. Thursby, JD, is associated with the firm of Herlihy and O'Brien.

The State of Maine employs Angela M. Tomaselli, JD, in the Judicial Department at the Aroostook Court House in Caribou.

A former language teacher at Winthrop Junior High School, Joyce M. Toomey, JD, is employed as a legal intern and tax examiner for the estate tax bureau of the Massachusetts Department of Corporations and Taxation.

Jonathan S. Tryon, JD, reports that he is now practicing with the Boston law firm of Burns and Levinson.

Karen Spar Kasner, JD, is currently practicing law in New York City with the firm of Fisher, Kelly, Wassen and Fallon.

William R. Swanson, JD, is working for the Pneumo Corporation in Boston.

A practicing attorney, Maura K. Sweeney, JD, is with the firm of Sisson, Lee and Bloomenthal, P.C.

Mark Tay, JD, is presenting practicing law with the firm of Tay, Derreau and Tay in Lawrence.

Megan J.G. Taylor, JD, is with the Boston law firm of Nissen and Lumsden.

Paul Vitello, JD, is practicing with the New Haven, Connecticut law firm of Toro and Vitello, P.C.

A practicing attorney in Boston, George E. Wakeman, Jr., JD, is associated with the firm of Cargill and Masterman.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts employs Nona E. Walker, JD, at the Appeals Court in Boston.

William J. Wedge, JD, works for Coopers and Lybrand in Boston.

William Welte, JD, is associated with the Boston law firm of Glynn and Dempsey.

Robert J. Wheeler, Jr., JD, recently became associated with the law office of John McBride in Everett.

A practicing attorney in Illinois, Jeffrey White, JD, is with the firm of William Needler and Associates in Chicago.

Currently a law clerk, Kathryn Williams, JD, is serving the Honorable John King at the New Hampshire Supreme Court in Concord.

Kenneth Wilson, JD, is now practicing with the Brookline law firm of Kream and Kream.

Adele Winn, JD, is employed by the Court of Appeals in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Marvin J. Wolfert, JD, is with the Braintree law firm of Murphy, Lamere and Murphy.

A practicing attorney in Peabody, Barbara L. Worthen, JD, is with the firm of Liacon and Liacon.

Patricia Young Carter, JD, is working at Leading Edge Products, Inc., a computer marketing corporation, in Canton.

John Zachilli, JD, is associated with the law office of Pacifico DeCapua in Milford.

The Supreme Court of New York employs Miles P. Zatkowsky, JD, in the appellate division in Brooklyn.

A practicing attorney in Cambridge, Kathleen Zawistowski, JD, is affiliated with the firm of Gargano and Piper.

Lenore F. Zug, JD, is practicing law with the Boston firm of Burns and Levinson.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Stella E. Bassey, MBA, is an investment officer at the Agriculture Bank of Kaduna in Nigeria.

Martha Burke Lawless, BSBA, is employed by the General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Lexington.

Martin F. Catyb, Jr., BSBA, is employed by AVIS Rent-a-car as a manager.

Gilbert Conklin, MBA, is the proprietor and operator of Gib's Bakery in North Quincy.

The Bay State Health Care Foundation employs Patricia Ann Costello, MBA, in the marketing division.

An accountant, Linda L. Doyon, BSBA, works for T.W. Mullen and Company in Boston.

Barbara George Sullivan, MBA, is an instructor at Bridgewater State College.
Deborah L. Hartjes, BSBA, is an administrative assistant at H & R Block in Boston.

George R. Hotz, BSBA, is employed by Buttonwood Securities Corporation in Boston.

A bank examiner, Kenneth R. Kerrigan, MBA, is now working at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Michael A. Lanava, MPA, is the director of the industrial development commission in Fitchburg.

Rene P. Moreau, MBA, is an assistant manager employed by Toys-R-Us.

Joseph J. Previte, Jr., BSBA, is the manager of Previte's Meats and Provisions in Quincy.

Jody Bloom, BS, is an international report analyst at the New England Merchants National Bank in Boston.

Janice Brennan, EdM, is associated with the Holden School in Charlestown.

An English teacher, Stephen D. Flynn, AB, also is the drama director at Matignon High School in Cambridge.

A program specialist, Leslie McMinn, BS, presently works with the National Youth Work Alliance in Washington, D.C.

A correspondent of the Quincy Patriot Ledger, Mark Micheli, BS, is also a writer for the Massachusetts Board of Medicine.

Jean Vitiello, MS, is chairperson of the business education department at Cardinal Cushing Central High School in South Boston.

1982

LAW SCHOOL

Susan Carlin, JD, is serving as clerk to Associate Justice Joseph Weisberger at the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

Jo Francis Cheek, JD, has received a clerkship to the Hon. Francis Boyle of the U.S. District Court for Rhode Island.

The Hon. Anthony Armentano has appointed Thomas M. Daniels, JD, as his clerk at the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Katherine D. Pappas, BSJ, is employed by the Chelsea Record as city editor.

An assistant professor of Linguistics, Marc E. Prou, EdM, works at the University of Massachusetts in Boston.

Arnold M. Salvatore, BS, is employed by Analog Devices in Norwood.

Konrad Schoen, AB, is working as a paralegal for Paul Renner, P.C. in Denver, Colorado.

Angela Tsaffaras, AB, is employed by the U.S. Postal Service.

Thomas C. Federico, JD, is serving as clerk to Chief Justice Joseph Bevilacqua of the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

Brian Edward Heffernan, JD, is a clerk for the justices of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Marianne C. Hinkle, JD, currently serves as clerk to the justices of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

The Hon. Richard B. Kellam has appointed Frank Libby, JD, as his clerk at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

The Hon. John E. Fenton.

Michael Maglio, JD, is serving as a clerk to the justices of the Connecticut Superior Court.

The U.S. District Court for Connecticut has the services of Stephen V. Manning, JD, as clerk to the Hon. Gilroy Daly.

Currently serving as a clerk, Anne Mc Donough, JD, is working at the Massachusetts Land Court for the Hon. John E. Fenton.

Mark Roder, JD, is a clerk for the justices of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Francis K. Toto, JD, is working for Associate Justice Joseph Weisberger as a clerk at the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

Paula Yorra, JD, is working for Chief Justice Joseph Bevilacqua at the Rhode Island Supreme Court as a clerk.

SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Patricia E. Bean, BSBA, is the comptroller at Huygens and DiMella Inc. in Boston.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company employs Gregory Borges, MBA, as an assistant staff manager in Boston.

Jacqueline C. Breen, BSBA, is pursuing her law degree at Suffolk University Law School.

A controller, Donald J. Carmody, MBA, is working at the Brae Burn Country Club in Newton.

Patricia M. Casey, MBA, is a senior auditor at Multibank Financial Corporation in Worcester.

Winchester Hospital employs Michael E. Conklin, Jr., MBA, as controller.

George V. Colby, BSBA, works as an operations coordinator at IMCAC Corporation in Needham.

A senate aide, Pat Cronin, MPA, is presently working for Senator John Olver.

An administrative trust officer, Maureen M. St. John, MBA, works at the Harvard Management Company in Boston.

John E. Sullivan, MBA, is a staff supervisor at the New England Telephone Company in Boston.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES

Elizabeth Binari, AB, is employed by the Retina Associates of Boston.

Michael J. Keefe, JD, is serving as clerk to the Hon. J. Calvitt Clarke at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

The Hon. Richard B. Kellam has appointed Frank Libby, JD, as his clerk at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

A clerk, Gregory A. Madoian, JD, serves magistrate Jacob Hoggan of the U.S. District Court for Rhode Island.

Michael Maglio, JD, is serving as a clerk to the justices of the Connecticut Superior Court.

The U.S. District Court for Connecticut has the services of Stephen V. Manning, JD, as clerk to the Hon. Gilroy Daly.

Currently serving as a clerk, Anne Mc Donough, JD, is working at the Massachusetts Land Court for the Hon. John E. Fenton.

Mark Roder, JD, is a clerk for the justices of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Francis K. Toto, JD, is working for Associate Justice Joseph Weisberger as a clerk at the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

Paula Yorra, JD, is working for Chief Justice Joseph Bevilacqua at the Rhode Island Supreme Court as a clerk.

Patricia E. Bean, BSBA, is the comptroller at Huygens and DiMella Inc. in Boston.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company employs Gregory Borges, MBA, as an assistant staff manager in Boston.

Jacqueline C. Breen, BSBA, is pursuing her law degree at Suffolk University Law School.

A controller, Donald J. Carmody, MBA, is working at the Brae Burn Country Club in Newton.

Patricia M. Casey, MBA, is a senior auditor at Multibank Financial Corporation in Worcester.

Winchester Hospital employs Michael E. Conklin, Jr., MBA, as controller.

George V. Colby, BSBA, works as an operations coordinator at IMCAC Corporation in Needham.

A senate aide, Pat Cronin, MPA, is presently working for Senator John Olver.
A district manager, Edward L. Cummins, Jr., MBA, is employed by the Chrysler Corporation in Natick.

An advanced group underwriter, Katherine M. Davis, MBA, is employed by Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in Boston.

Joseph M. De Meo, MBA, currently serves as director of fiscal services at the Cheshire Medical Center in Keene, New Hampshire.

Sears Roebuck and Company employs Joseph C. DeNicolus, MBA, BSBA'80, as a division manager in Braintree.

A systems analyst, Dianne Doshon, MBA, BSBA'77, works for the Boston Gas Company in West Roxbury.

The Jordan Marsh Company in Wayland as an administrative assistant.

The city of Boston employs, Peter Lahaire, MBA, as an assistant controller.

A staff supervisor in the development and training department, Peter B. Doyle, MBA, works for the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission in Boston.

William F. Earley, MBA, works in Braintree for Wollaston Alloys Inc. as an assistant controller.

An assistant vice president, Stephen Evans, MBA, is with the Provident Institution for Savings in Boston.

The city of Boston employs, Barry A. Fadden, MPA, as principle budget analyst/administrative assistant in the budget division.

The Charrette Corporation of Woburn employs Arthur A. Pill, MBA, as an assistant controller.

A trust operations analyst, Barbara A. Flaherty, MBA, is employed by BayBank Middlesex in Burlington.

A staff accountant, Sandra J. Fogg, BSBA, currently works at Lavenhol and Horwath in Boston.

Joseph P. Foley, Jr., MBA, is a salesman for the Jeffrey Chemical Company of Wilmington.

Charles K. Frankian, MPA, presently works for the town of Wayland as an administrative assistant.

Walter R. Harrigan, MBA, is a controller at Space Metal Buildings of East Taunton.

An advanced group underwriter, Kathryn M. Davis, MBA, is employed by Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in Boston.

Joseph M. De Meo, MBA, currently serves as director of fiscal services at the Cheshire Medical Center in Keene, New Hampshire.

Sears Roebuck and Company employs Joseph C. DeNicolus, MBA, BSBA'80, as a division manager in Braintree.

A systems analyst, Dianne Doshon, MBA, BSBA'77, works for the Boston Gas Company in West Roxbury.

The Jordan Marsh Company in Wayland as an administrative assistant.

The city of Boston employs, Peter Lahaire, MBA, as an assistant controller.

A staff supervisor in the development and training department, Peter B. Doyle, MBA, works for the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission in Boston.

William F. Earley, MBA, works in Braintree for Wollaston Alloys Inc. as an assistant controller.

An assistant vice president, Stephen Evans, MBA, is with the Provident Institution for Savings in Boston.

The city of Boston employs, Barry A. Fadden, MPA, as principle budget analyst/administrative assistant in the budget division.

The Charrette Corporation of Woburn employs Arthur A. Pill, MBA, as an assistant controller.

A trust operations analyst, Barbara A. Flaherty, MBA, is employed by BayBank Middlesex in Burlington.

A staff accountant, Sandra J. Fogg, BSBA, currently works at Lavenhol and Horwath in Boston.

Joseph P. Foley, Jr., MBA, is a salesman for the Jeffrey Chemical Company of Wilmington.

Charles K. Frankian, MPA, presently works for the town of Wayland as an administrative assistant.

Walter R. Harrigan, MBA, is a controller at Space Metal Buildings of East Taunton.

Wang Laboratories, Inc. of Lowell employs Mark Hausmann, BSBA, as a facility operations manager.

Elizabeth M. Hurley, MBA, is an operations officer at Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

A sales manager, David Irons, MBA, is employed by Colombo, Inc. in Methuen.

Howland B. Jones, III, MBA, is a sales engineer at the Massachusetts Municipal Association in Boston.

A comptroller, Kenneth L. Knopf, MBA, is working for the Choate-Symmes Health Services, Inc.

Mary T. Lomasney, MBA, is working for the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston.

An accountant, Peter A. Lynch, BSBA, is employed by Morse Shoe, Inc. in Canton.

The Massachusetts Hospital Association in Burlington employs Kevin M. MacKinnon, MBA, as director of health insurance systems.

Michele K. Mamakos, MBA, is a controller for Reliance Electric Company in Norwood.

Charles H. McLaughlin, MBA, is presently working for State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston as cash and securities control unit head.

Vice president of patient service, Kathryn Melendy, MBA, is working for the Choate-Symmes Health Services, Inc.

An internal auditor, John R. Messina, BSBA, works at Computervision Corporation in Bedford.

William J. Miller, III, BSBA, is the marketing manager at Alden House, Inc. in Boston.

An assistant treasurer, Michael A. Mulcahy, BSBA, presently works for the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Julius F. Nugent, MBA, is a marketing manager for Prime Computer of Natick.

A data processing accounting coordinator, Charles J. Parker, MBA, is employed by Cameron and Colby in Boston.

The Digital Equipment Corporation in Salem, New Hampshire employs Bruce E. Peterson, MBA, as a financial consultant.

Raymond Sheffield, MBA, is a marketing manager for Peterson Products, Inc. of Avon.

An internal auditor, John R. Messina, BSBA, works at Computervision Corporation in Bedford.

John R. Messina, BSBA, works at Computervision Corporation in Bedford.

William J. Miller, III, BSBA, is the marketing manager at Alden House, Inc. in Boston.

An assistant treasurer, Michael A. Mulcahy, BSBA, presently works for the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Julius F. Nugent, MBA, is a marketing manager for Prime Computer of Natick.

A data processing accounting coordinator, Charles J. Parker, MBA, is employed by Cameron and Colby in Boston.

The Digital Equipment Corporation in Salem, New Hampshire employs Bruce E. Peterson, MBA, as a financial consultant.

Raymond Sheffield, MBA, is a marketing manager for Peterson Products, Inc. of Avon.

An internal auditor, John R. Messina, BSBA, works at Computervision Corporation in Bedford.

William J. Miller, III, BSBA, is the marketing manager at Alden House, Inc. in Boston.

An assistant treasurer, Michael A. Mulcahy, BSBA, presently works for the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Julius F. Nugent, MBA, is a marketing manager for Prime Computer of Natick.

A data processing accounting coordinator, Charles J. Parker, MBA, is employed by Cameron and Colby in Boston.

The Digital Equipment Corporation in Salem, New Hampshire employs Bruce E. Peterson, MBA, as a financial consultant.

Raymond Sheffield, MBA, is a marketing manager for Peterson Products, Inc. of Avon.

An internal auditor, John R. Messina, BSBA, works at Computervision Corporation in Bedford.

William J. Miller, III, BSBA, is the marketing manager at Alden House, Inc. in Boston.

An assistant treasurer, Michael A. Mulcahy, BSBA, presently works for the East Weymouth Savings Bank.

Julius F. Nugent, MBA, is a marketing manager for Prime Computer of Natick.
A medical technologist, Lisa Caramanica, BS, is employed at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Philip Carrozza, MS, is working at the Educational Opportunity Center in Boston as a senior counselor.

A teacher, Michael J. Citino, BS, is presently employed by the Los Angeles Unified School in California.

A special needs counselor, Julee R. Colella, BS, works at the Greater Lynn Mental Health Center.

Robert A. Cooper, BS, reports that he is presently employed by the Hilton Hotel at Logan Airport as supervisor of safety and security.

Janet R. Curry, BS, is employed by the Charles Copeland Company of Milton.

Anthony Danieli, BS, is a research laboratory assistant at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

A business education teacher, Helene DeGrandpre, MS, is working for the Conway School district in New Hampshire.

Phyllis DeSantis, BSJ, reports that she is presently working at Emerson College.

Carol Ann Desrosiers, BS, reports that she is self-employed as a title examiner in New Bedford.

An assessment counselor, Denise M. DeStefano, MS, is employed by the U.S. Department of Labor in Chelsea.

Robert Di Guardia, BSJ, is the chief programmer/analyst at Suffolk University.

A self-employed design engineer, Robert Fortier, BS, maintains offices in Whitman.

The U.S. Postal Service in Boston employs Mark P. Hayes, BS, as a letter carrier.

Laura Iannaco, BS, is an apparel buyer for Afia S.A. in Mexico.

Angela Baldassare-Jervey, EdM, is employed by the Merrimac School system as an assistant principal.

Barbara F. Lightizer, MS, is the director of social services at the Dexter House Nursing Home in Malden.

A scientist and technician, Kathleen Malloy, BS, reports that she currently works for Energy Resources Company, Inc. in Cambridge.

A registered nurse, Marjory O. Mattson, MS, is employed at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

A teacher, Joyce Mulvey Morley, EdM, is employed by the city of Taunton.

The Boston School Department employs Joan F. Mullane, AA, as an administrative secretary.

A staff assistant, Karen Barringer Nakos, BS, is working at the Mt. Auburn Hospital in Cambridge.

Robert Nunes, BS, reports that he is currently employed by Stop and Shop Companies, Inc.

The New England Telephone Company employs Richard F. Orluk, BS as a representative.

Ingrid Pagliano, BA, is employed by RMJ Securities in Manhattan, New York.

Stephen J. Plocharczyk, EdM, is the principal of the Windham Center School in New Hampshire.

Rosemary J. Powers, BA, reports that she is presently employed by the Cabot Corporation as assistant manager of the employees' credit union in Boston.

A bilingual special education teacher, Maxina P. Rosa, EdM, is employed by the city of Boston.

Alan V. Seferian, BS, is an accountant at Alumabilt, Inc. in Newton.

A benefits claim approver, Barbara A. Sherrick, BS, works for the Equitable Life Assurance Company in Boston.

A legal consultant, Susan T. Stanziani, BS, currently works at the Quincy Courthouse.

Alan Tiegli, BSJ, is a sports writer for the Milford Daily News.

Diane L. Tracy, EdM, is a program director of veterinary technology at Mt. Ida Junior College in Newton.

A generic consulting teacher, Mark Viebrock, EdM, is working with the Waltham public school system.

The Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston employs William M. Wood, BSJ, as a communications assistant.
Law School Alumni Association Board of Directors

Leonard N. Augello, AA'49, JD’52
Nicholas Barbadoro, JD’38
Marianne B. Bowler, JD’76
Harold Cohen, JD’55
Charles N. Collatos, JD’64
MaryAnn Driscoll, JD’74
Arnold E. Johnson, JD’56
Joseph W. Kane, JD’70
Joseph P. McDonough, JD’40
Thomas J. McGrimley, JD’56
Keesler H. Montgomery, JD’50, LLM’61
Arthur T. Murphy, JD’38
Paula O’Brien-Killion, JD’74
Paul R. Tierney, JD’64
Diane C. Tillotson, JD’78

---

General Alumni Association Board of Directors

James M. Brown, BS’78
Janis Chalas, BS’79, MBA’81
Robert E. Coughlin, AB’73, EdM’74, MBA’82
Patrick H. Dwyer, BSBA’62, EdM’70
Anthony F. Farma, BS’77, EdM’82
Mary R. Ferris, AB’73
Susan M. Gryglik, BSBA’78
John G. Hommel, BSBA’72, JD’76
Gerard A. Lozeau, AB’64
John D. McCarthy, BSBA’62, MBA’69
John J. McGonagle, BS’75
Carolyn E. Powers, BS’79
John J. Sicuso, BSBA’81
Christopher C. Spinazzola, AB’76
Roland E. Vanaria, D.D.S., BS’70

MBA/MPA Alumni Association Board of Directors

Michael L. Backer, Exec. MBA’77
Douglas R. Baird, BSBA’71, MBA’75
Richard Bradley, MPA’80
Paula Cormen, MBA’80
Robert P. Edson, BSBA’67, MBA’72
Frank M. Kemp, MBA’78
Patricia Kindregan, MPA’77
John W. Licorish, MBA’72
Mary Lou Mottola, MBA’79
William R. Moulton, MBA’80
Vincent Polito, BSBA’59, MBA’64
Valerie Russo, MBA’82
Robert F. Ryan, BSBA’68, MBA’77
Rodney C. Schonland, MBA’78
Robert P. Zickel, Jr. MBA’73

---

Changing Your Address?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Year &amp; Degree</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Address</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>State</th>
<th>Zip Code</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Telephone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Place your old label here)