RAMS EYE UPSET IN CLARK OPENER DEC. 1

Co-Eds Top Frosh Ticket

After last year's loss to a tough CofC team in the opening game, the Co-Eds went out to get a 60-56 win Saturday. A 19-point lead over the opposing side, it seemed, was not the same as the previous year.

New Use For Auditorium

A turnout of 120 Catholic Suffolk students attended All Saints' Day Mass in the Auditorium, Nov. 1.

The 4:30 a.m. service at which Rev. Edmund J. Keen, S.C., Newman Club Chaplain, officiated, was the first of its kind in the auditorium.

In past years, Mass was held in the President's office, but the large number of Catholic students attending prompted the move to the auditorium this year.

After Mass coffee and doughnuts were served by Newman Club members.

The encouraging response to the switch indicates that the auditorium will be used for mass for all holy days of obligation in the future.

Presence Needed

Class meetings continue to pose a problem at Suffolk.

The auditorium is utilized by many Suffolk students toward "class friends" and the formal attendance at meetings is no longer guaranteed.

It appears that the problem is still as acute this year, as at recent meetings of the freshmen class, which boasts an enrollment of over 200 students, brought out the minimal total of 20 students.

Students vote apparently thrilled at the prospect of not having to attend the uneventful school, that definitely couldn't enter through a meeting in which the respective classes are usually concerned.

Even the senior class had a low attendance at its recent meeting. It appears that some students in this last year do not see the necessity of being enrolled in the classes, and that they are satisfied with the present system of taking courses and getting their degrees in a shorter time.

"This is the worst year I've ever been through," said a senior who left early. "I've heard that the senior year is supposed to be the most exciting, but this year it's been a complete waste of time. I don't see any point in being here."

Even the auditorium, which has been used for many years, is now being neglected. It is possible that the auditorium should be used more frequently in the near future.
