BUILDING DEPT. TAKES STEPS TO REDUCE ENERGY WASTES, EXCESSES

A number of rigid measures have been adopted by the University Building and Service Department in an effort to cut back on energy wastes and other excesses, Ivan Banks, director of the physical plant, has announced.

The most notable step affects summer air conditioning. All university-owned buildings will have air-conditioning units set to maintain an 80-degree temperature in accordance with Federal guidelines.

"Air conditioning units centrally operated in university buildings will be set to work only when the inside temperature reaches 80 degrees," Banks explained. "Temperature controls will be set to maintain an 80 degree temperature and will operate only as needed."

Banks has directed that windows should not be opened since sufficient fresh air should be provided through air conditioning and warned that window or other small air conditioners must also be set at 80°. "Any variances from this procedure could result in removal of the unit," he said.

In another energy-saving move, low-voltage fluorescent lights have been installed as have new radiator valves.

Banks also announced that requests for services from the department must now be placed at least three days in advance except in emergency cases. He said this is necessary "so that we may properly program our time and effort and provide good service to everyone."

He also stressed the importance of staff keeping office keys in their possession. "We receive three dozen requests a week to unlock various offices and rooms because someone forgot or misplaced a key. This means someone from our department must leave what he is doing in order to unlock doors and the end result is a waste of labor, energy and consequently money."

Banks reminds staffers that if any department has a shortage of keys, the supervisor should contact the service department for new keys. He noted that department heads should collect the key of any terminating employe.

"I sincerely urge 100 per cent cooperation from everyone in taking what are admittedly drastic measures in some cases but we must all join together to help eliminate waste, excesses and spiraling costs in our energy and labor resources," the director said. "Thank you for your anticipated cooperation."

HISPANIC WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED APRIL 4-7

A wide-ranging program of events will be offered when the annual Hispanic Week observance is held at the university, April 4-7.

One of the biggest attractions will be the appearance of the acclaimed Boston Flamenco Ballet featuring artists from Mexico and Spain on stage at the Suffolk Auditorium Wednesday, April 6 at 8 p.m.

Under direction of Simon Blanco, who is conducting the 1977 Spring Tour, the performers will present a two-part program. The first part, "Mariachis," will feature an ensemble of Mariachi musicians rendering popular and traditional Mexican selections by Augustin Lara, who has written many well-known songs about Mexico and Spain including "Granada."

Part two will present artists from Spain performing songs and dances in the most classical flamenco style dating back to the middle of the 19th century.

The program is open to the public with no admission charge.

Hispanic Week will kick off with a discussion on "Puerto Rico: Statehood, Commonwealth or Independence?" Monday at 11 a.m. in the Munce Conference Room. Participants will be Ms. Angela Rodriguez, executive director of the Hispanic Alliance; Mrs. Conchita F. Rodriguez, associate commissioner of the Metropolitan District Commission and formerly of the Mayor's Office of Human Rights; and Miguel Torrado, executive director of HOPE (Hispanic Office for Planning and Evaluation).

On Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Room 646 of the Fenton Building, Muriel Cohen, award-winning education writer for the Boston Globe, will discuss her recent visit to Cuba for a series of articles.

There will be a visit to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts Wednesday afternoon.

The observance will conclude Thursday evening April 7 at 7 p.m. with a Spanish Fiesta in the university's main dining hall. The event will be open to members of the Modern Language Club, students registered in foreign language classes and Spanish-speaking students enrolled at the university.

During the week, displays of Hispanic realia will be on exhibit throughout the university to mark the significance of Hispanic and Latin American culture and their contributions to Western civilization.

Sponsoring the observance are the Modern Language Club, the Latin-American Club, the Humanities Club and the Student Government Association.
BUSINESS SCHOOL - Dean Richard L. McDowell has been appointed by Governor Dukakis to a one-year term on the State-wide Health Coordinating Council as an "at large consumer." He was also elected to a three-year term as a representative to Region 1 (New England) of the National Council of the American Society for Public Administration. . . Gov. B.F. SKINNER AND DR. SPOCK WILL SPEAK ON CAMPUS

Two noted authorities will be speaking on campus this month.

On Thursday, April 7 at 1 p.m. B.F. Skinner, the famous psychologist and social scientist, will speak on "Human Behavior and Democracy". His lecture, open to the public, will be sponsored by the Suffolk Faculty Lecture Series Committee, the Political Science Association, the Student Government Association and the departments of Government, Psychology and Sociology.

Skinner is currently professor of psychology at Harvard University and the author of a number of books on human behavior.

The General Alumni Association will sponsor a lecture by Dr. Benjamin Spock, the famed baby doctor and anti-war activist, Tuesday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the University auditorium.

The lecture is open to the public with a $2 charge for Alumni and $1 for students, faculty, and staff. There will be a reception in the Main Dining Room following the lecture with an open bar and refreshments.

Tickets for the Spock lecture are available at the Office of Alumni Activities at Charles River Plaza, third floor.
One of the most successful musical nights at Suffolk in some time took place on March 12 when Gunther Schuller and the New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble performed before a near capacity crowd in the University Auditorium. The group's easy, toe-tapping numbers featured several famous Scott Joplin rags, including "Maple Leaf Rag," Jelly Roll Morton's "Grandpa Spells" and some offerings from the Academy-award winning film, "The Sting." The L.I.F.E. Committee is to be commended for this fine evening, which was capped off by Schuller and many of the ensemble joining with faculty and students for a champagne reception following the concert. The L.I.F.E. Committee, SGA, Lecture Series Committee, and Evening Division SGA express their thanks to all who took part and attended. DR. WILLIAM SAHAKIAN of Philosophy welcomed back his daughter, Barbara, from Cambridge University in England where she just received her Ph.D. She will do research at M.I.T. She has already written a dozen papers for professional journals in psychology and brain research and lectured at Oxford and other universities. Many Suffolk professors will remember having Barbara in their classes. DEAN MICHAEL R. RONAYNE is back at his desk following an illness at Winchester Hospital. Former Deputy Prime Minister of Sierra Leone, John Karefa Smart, will address the Political Science Association April 12 at 1 p.m. in Fenton 636A and B. ASSISTANT DEAN SANDRA MORGAN of the Business School and Richard A. Cohn of Sacramento, Calif., assistant professor of finance at M.I.T., will be married April 17 at the St. Botolph Club on Commonwealth Ave. Sandy will wear the same silk-satin wedding dress that her great grandmother, Emma Francis Adams, wore when she was married in Boston 100 years ago. Another wedding in the future is that of KARL McKNIGHT of Security and ANNE MERIANO of the College Library, slated for June 10 at the Old North Church.

Sympathies this month to Vice President Treasurer FRANCIS X. FLANNERY on the loss of his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Flannery of Brighton and to PROF. JOHN BURKE of Business on the death of his mother, Mrs. Ella Burke of Medford. KAREN (JUREWICH) SIMONEAU of the College Library terminated in February to await the arrival of her first child. PROF. CHARLES KINDREGAN of the law school recently lectured the New England Training Institute on medical malpractice law in a H.E.W.-sponsored program. HOWARD F. AUCOIN, chairman of the Suffolk Social Club, reminds staff about the planned dinner-social at Stella's Restaurant scheduled for Friday, April 29. A reception is scheduled for 7:30 with dinner set for 8:30. There will be a cash bar with dancing provided in the main lounge. The Institute for Business Management will sponsor a seminar "How the Small and Medium-Sized Company Can Analyze Sales and Marketing Problems Using New Techniques" Wednesday April 27 at the Boston Marriott Hotel in Newton (from 9 to 5 p.m.). SANDRA WILSON of Marlboro and PORTIA WONGWAJARACHOT of Chelsea have joined the University Development staff as secretaries. TOM WALSH's baseball team opens its season Monday, April 4 at Curry College in a 3 p.m. game. The Rams have some promising talent on hand and it could be a good year. Suffolk basketball CAPT. CHRIS TSIOTOS, who missed the NCAA Division III playoffs because of a broken bone in his foot, was cheered by a letter of sympathy and encouragement from Sen. Edward "Ted" Kennedy. Tsiotos is a government course intern in Kennedy's Boston office. Suffolk's hoopsters deserve a salute for their fine effort without Tsiotos against eventual New England champion Boston State. The Rams, under interim coach JIM NELSON, finished 15-7, their third straight winning season and third tourney in a row.

The General Alumni Association is sponsoring its annual Spring Dinner-Dance May 15 at Lombardo's in East Boston. Cost is $15 per person and that includes a roast beef dinner, an open bar and dancing. ELLEN PETERSON, director of alumni activities, points out that Suffolk faculty are invited to attend. . . And Suffolk's annual Alumni Night at the Boston Pops, scheduled for May 26, will have an added bonus this year. In addition to Arthur Fiedler and the Pops orchestra, Tony Bennett, long one of America's top song stylists, will be the guest performer. . . BOB WAehler of Business and MAL WETHERBEE of Psychology, two golf buffs, took advantage of the vacation week to play the beautiful courses at Pinehurst, N.C. Waehler is anxious to conduct a faculty-staff golf tournament at season's end, and those interested should contact him. . . The Law School's Law Day Dinner April 30 at the Copley Plaza will feature former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas as the principal speaker. . . The Student Bar Association is sponsoring a series of speaking programs each day of the week of Law Day. . . DR. DION ARCHON of Government reminds us that Governor Dukakis will speak at the university auditorium April 28 at 1 p.m. as part of the Spring lecture series. . . The annual Tom C. Clark Moot Court Competition finals will be held Wednesday, April 6 at 5:30 in the Moot Court Room, 3rd floor, Donahue Building. Arguing for the petitioners will be JOSEPH D. O'CONNELL and CRAGIN P. PARKER, JR., both second year evening students, and for the respondents will be CRAIG M. BROWN and JOSEPH B. COLLINS, second year day students. The case deals with the issue of civil liability of an executive official for authorizing warrantless electronic surveillance for national security purposes. Presiding judges will be Judge Edward F. Gignoux of the U.S. District Court in Maine, Chief Judge Raymond J. Pettine of the U.S. District Court in Rhode Island and Paul A. Freund, professor of law at Harvard Law School. . .

Congratulations to the Suffolk Journal for being named a regional finalist in Sigma Delta Chi's college newspaper competition. The Journal was selected along with the papers of Fordham University and Penn State in "Best Overall Content" in Region I (the Northeast). Should the Journal be selected tops at an upcoming dinner in Boston April 23, it will go into the national finals. And JOE HAYES, a Journal writer, was named a finalist in best individual feature writing. . . SUSAN HARRINGTON of Development enjoyed a week's vacation at Disneyworld in Orlando, Fla. . . A get well quickly to Security's JIM GALVIN, convalescing at Massachusetts General Hospital following surgery. . . GAIL BRICKLEY of Sociology is vacationing in Bel Air, California. . . A large number of faculty and students have signed up for the bus trip to Cobscook Bay for the opening of the Friedman laboratory the weekend of April 15. . . The Springfest Committee isn't superstitious. They have set their annual funfest for Friday, May 13. As usual there will be a student talent show and many other attractions. . . See you in April. . .
