At the St. John's Baptist Church, Sunday, Rev. Harold V. Thobe brought the service to a close with the graduation. He deplored the fact that the people had not been able to do so in the past, and he asked the congregation to pray for the future of the church.

Three Bostonians who have done incalculable good in the promotion of religious understanding were awarded citations Thursday evening, May 21, at the annual dinner of the Boston Interreligious Commission for Protestants and Jews. They are all men of power and influence in the community. Robert F. Lemuel, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston; Senator Leverett Saltonstall, a Unitarian; and Rabbi Israel Abrahams, of the Congregation Beth Elohim. While the committee deserves praise for using its eighth annual dinner to recognize the three men, it would be more in keeping with the spirit of the occasion to have honored the Boston Collegiate Church, which has played such a splendid role in the religious unity of the community, and to have given them a dinner in the Congregational Church and the Synagogue. It is reassuring to know that there are men of such integrity and breadth of outlook in the city.

The award for the Catholic Church was given to Archbishop Lemuel. The citation read in part: "The archbishop’s idiom of word and action is one of the most powerful factors in the world of today’s international problem. The strength of his mind and spirit and the courage and self-sacrifice with which he has endeared himself to all people who are aware of the nature of his purpose in life are so obvious that no speech could add to them. They are the best arguments for the truth of his cause.

The archbishop is not only a religious leader of rare mastery and force but a man of great personal charm and conviction who is able to bring others to his point of view with the skill of a great orator. His influence is not confined to himself alone but is a spiritual force that inspires, influences, and directs the thinking of those who know his mind and work with him.

The archbishop is a leader who is always ahead of his time and a man who is always working for what is right. He is one of the great religious leaders of the world and one of the greatest men of today. He is a man of peace who has done more for the cause of understanding and good will than anyone else in the world.

Fighting for Democracy

TO THOSE WHO GRIEVE

It is better to break your heart than to have your heart broken.

I read that once and it has always stayed with me. It is not for the weak and the timid who are afraid to look at the world as it is and to face the facts of life. It is for those whose dreams are shattered by the realities of life and who are thrown down to earth. It is for those who have looked ahead in all the world and found nothing.

To them I say—nothing can be worse than nothing. Even though you have lost what you thought you had, you have not lost hope. You have not lost your strength. You have not lost your chance of winning.

And to them I say—nothing can be worse than nothing. Even though you have lost what you thought you had, you have not lost hope. You have not lost your strength. You have not lost your chance of winning.

Freedom March from Philadelphia to New York

It isn’t listed on any calendar of the great events of this week, but it is an event that will enter into the history books as a symbol of freedom and democracy. It is the Freedom March from Philadelphia to New York, called by the Philadelphia Council of Churches.

The march is a protest against the persecution of the Negro people in the United States. It is a call for the end of segregation and discrimination. It is a call for the right of all people to live in freedom and peace.

The march is led by Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., who is a leader of the civil rights movement. He is accompanied by thousands of other people from all walks of life who have come together to support the cause of freedom.

The march is a demonstration of the power of the people to stand up for what is right. It is a demonstration of the power of love to overcome hate and prejudice.

The march is a symbol of hope and courage. It is a symbol of the power of the people to make the world a better place.

The march is a call to action. It is a call to stand up for freedom and democracy. It is a call to stand up for the rights of all people.

The march is a call to action. It is a call to stand up for freedom and democracy. It is a call to stand up for the rights of all people.

To the Editor:

I am a Catholic, and I am in favor of the colored Catholic Church. I do not think that our Church should do anything to help them. I am against the idea of segregation and discrimination.

I believe that all churches should be integrated and that everyone should be able to worship where they choose. I believe that all people should be treated equally and that there should be no discrimination against anyone.

Let's raise the money in the mighty seventh!

The Seventh WarLoan is the biggest in History because seven billion people have left hundreds of millions of dollars in individual loans. That money means you must buy more war bonds.

They're giving their all... back them up with your dollars!

At the battle lines approach, a heart of the enemy's homeland, the fighting grows fiercer... and more critical! So far, every red-blooded American must back this cause... with every dollar he can lay hands on. Another reason is that in the past two years only two men in one. In the same period last year, you were asked to invest in new war bonds, but now is the time to act for Victory.

They must be backed! No need to tell you that War Bonds are the safest and best investment in the world. So pour out your love again, Americans, in the mighty 7th War Loan. Let's make sure we maintain our position as the greatest fighting nation that ever was and give them back to us.
