O GOD OF EARTH AND ALTAR
(To the music of “Webb”)

O God of earth and altar
Bow down and hear our cry,
Our earthly rulers falter,
Our people drift and die;
The walls of gold entomb us,
The swords of scorn divide,
Take not Thy thunder from us,
But take away our pride.

From all that terror teaches,
From lies of tongue and pen,
From all the easy speeches
That comfort cruel men,
From sale and profanation
Of honor and the sword,
From sleep and from damnation,
Deliver us, good Lord.

Tie in a living tether
The priest and prince and thrall,
Bind all our lives together,
Smite us and save us all;
In ire and exultation
Aflame with faith, and free,
Lift up a living nation,
A single sword to Thee.

—G. K. Chesterton.

AMERICA, THE BEAUTIFUL

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties
Above the fruited plain!
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea!

O beautiful for pilgrim feet,
Whose stern, in passion's stress,
A thoroughfare for freedom bent
Across the wilderness!
America! America!
God mend thine ev'ry flaw,
Confirm thy soul in self-control,
Thy liberty in law!

O beautiful for glorious tale
Of liberating strife,
When valiantly, for man's avail,
Men lavish'd precious life!
America! America!
May God thy gold refine,
Till all success be nobleness,
And ev'ry gain divine!

O beautiful for patriot dream
That sees beyond the years
Thine alabaster cities gleam
Undimmed by human tears!
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea!

—Katherine Lee Bates.

THE CALL OF LIFE

Like stars upon a troubled sea
Shine out the altars fair,
Where longings of the centuries
Have voiced themselves in prayer.
A guide to tempted, wandering hearts,
A strength in sorrow's hour.
A peace within the common lives
They touched with holy power.

We seek the good those altars held,
Yet read their message clear,
To loyalty receive the light
God sends us now and here.
Within these walls may worship fill
Our waiting souls anew.
A present help within our lives
To make them pure and true.

Eternal Life, whose love divine
Enfolds us each and all,
We know no other truth than thine,
We heed no other call.
O may we serve in thought and deed
Thy kingdom yet to be,
When truth and righteousness and love
Shall lead all souls to thee.

—Emma E. Morean.
THE MARCH OF FREEDOM
(To the music of "Marseillaise").
Hark, hark, the peal of clarions calling,
A host unnumbered marching by,
O'er sorried ranks the pennons falling!
\| The hills give back the battle cry. \|
Whence come ye, hero warriors, hither?
What land, what ages, gave ye birth
What crave ye still of bleeding earth
What laurel-wreaths that shall not wither?
To arms the clarions call,
To deeds the doing worth;
March on, march on, till freedom dawn,
And justice rule the earth!
Glory to God, the day is breaking,
The long-awaited golden morn!
The heroes dead who, self-sacrificing,
\| Gave all to hasten freedom's dawn. \|
As brothers, comrades, march beside us;
On, then, to conquest of the world!
On, till our battle flags are furled
In freedom's peace, and God shall guide us.
Ye mountains, clap your hands!
Exult, O sky and sea!
March on, march on! breaks o'er all lands
The dawn of liberty!
—Charles Sprague Smith.

BATTLE HYMN OF WOMEN
They are waking, waking, waking,
In the East and in the West;
They are throwing wide the windows to the sun;
And they see the dawn is breaking.
And they quiver with unrest,
For they know their work is waiting to be done.
They are waking in the city,
They are waking on the farm,
They are waking in the boudoir and the mill;
And their hearts are full of pity
As they sound the loud alarm
To the sleepers who in darkness slumber still.
In the guarded harem prison,
Where they smother under yells,
And all echoes of the world are walled away,
Though the sun has not yet risen,
Yet the ancient darkness pales,
And the sleepers in their slumber dream of day.
Oh, their dreams shall grow in splendor
Till each sleeper wakes and stirs,
Till she breaks from old traditions and is free,
And the world shall rise and render
Unto Woman what is hers,
And welcome in the race that is to be.
Unto Woman, God the Maker
Gave the secret of His plan;
It is written out in cipher on her soul.
From the darkness you must take her,
To the light of day, O Man!
Would you know the mighty meaning of the scroll.

CHORUS
Joy, joy; joy, they are awaking,
They are coming to the light.
Let us each do all we can
For the Brotherhood of Man
And for Woman struggling upward
Out of night.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.
November 3.—Alfred W. McCann of New York, a close friend of Dr. Wiley's and a co-worker with that remarkable man in all his efforts to create and sustain standards in the food-stuffs which are put on the market, will discuss for us the important and significant question, "How Shall the People Get Pure Food?" Mr. McCann made a veritable sensation at Mr. Coleman's Sociological Conference at Sagamore last spring and he is certain to do the same thing here.

November 10.—Prof. Henry Clay Vedder, a Baptist and a Socialist, will talk to us "Concerning Law and Order." Dr. Vedder is at the head of the History Department in Crozer Theological Seminary, but he relates with pride that his forbears for six generations were Dutch and Yankee farmers, with never a college-bred man among them. He himself paid his college expenses by working at his father's trade of carriage-trimmer. The right kind of man for Ford Hall!

November 17.—At last the day has dawned when even sex questions may be discussed out in the open! The Committee feels itself exceedingly fortunate in having secured Clifford G. Roe of Chicago, the foremost prosecutor in America of the white slave traffic and now the executive secretary of the American Vigilance Society, to tell this audience about the new methods of solving vice problems in our great cities. We have called his topic "The Un-Social Evil." Ford Hall folks will not need to have the title explained.

November 24.—And then comes Judge Lindsey, for whom we have been negotiating ever since these Meetings started. Even the little bit of space now left to us will suffice to introduce him, for he is the best-known public speaker in this country. His topic will be "Giving the Boy a Square Deal."

The Meetings Are Entirely Free
No Tickets Required
