Suffolk University Alumni News Bulletin, Summer 1976

Suffolk University Alumni News Bulletin, Summer 1976

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.suffolk.edu/ad-news

Recommended Citation
https://dc.suffolk.edu/ad-news/111

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Advancement and Alumni Newsletters by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.
New Trustee Chairman

Vincent A. Fulmer, Secretary of the Institute, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been elected Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Suffolk University.

Mr. Fulmer, a Suffolk trustee since November 1972, succeeds Judge C. Edward Rowe, retired Justice of the District Court of Eastern Franklin in Orange. Judge Rowe has served as Board Chairman since November, 1974.

The Board of Trustees, at its June meeting, also elected trustee Jeanne M. Hession, Vice Chairperson of the Board, Miss Hession, Senior Trust Office and Associate Counsel for the Boston Safe Deposit Trust Corporation, succeeds C. Hambelton, headmaster at the Boston Business School.

Both Judge Rowe and Mr. Hambelton will continue to serve on the 21 member Board of Trustees.

Fulmer has been associated with MIT for twenty-five years. When he was appointed Vice President and Secretary of the Institute in 1963 at the age of 35, he became the youngest person ever named to the vice presidency in the Institute's history.

As Secretary of the Institute, Fulmer supports the MIT corporation and its committees in administering the work of the 75 member governing body and is also responsible for facilitating and supporting the work of the 400 member corporation visiting committees.

At Suffolk University, Fulmer is Chairman of the College Committee, a member of the Business School Committee, the Joint Advisory Council on University Affairs, the Development Committee and the Committee on Education.

A 1949 graduate of Miami University (Ohio) where he received his AB degree Cum Laude, Fulmer later received an SM degree in economics and science from MIT and served as an Instructor in economics at Williams College. In 1971, Suffolk University conferred upon him an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Since 1963, Fulmer has been a member of the Faculty Council at MIT and for 10 years served as Executive Officer of the Development Committee of the Corporation. Prior to that, he served for three years as Executive Assistant to the Chairman of the MIT Corporation during the period of the Institute's Second Century Fund.

Fulmer is Vice President of the Board of Directors of the Carroll Center for the Blind, a member of the Board of Directors of the Planning Office for Urban Affairs of the Archdiocese of Boston and a board member of the Institute of Social Technology of Puerto Rico.

A native of Alliance, Ohio and a World War II Navy veteran of the Pacific Theater, he is married to the former Alma Pineau of Woburn. The Fulmers live in Arlington with their six children.

Miss Hession, a 1965 Cum Laude graduate of Suffolk University Law School, was the first woman named to Suffolk’s board of trustees, when elected in May of 1973 and is also a life trustee.

A member of the Massachusetts Bar Association and the Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners Association, Miss Hession is also a member of the National Association of Bank Women Educational Foundation.

She is also an Honorary Life Director of the Foundation of Hope, Incorporated, a Massachusetts charitable foundation founded to aid women and girls released from prison by establishing homes for them until they can maintain an apartment of their own. She is a founder of this organization.

At Suffolk University Miss Hession is a member of the College Committee, the Nominating Committee, the Alumni Committee, the Development Committee, Joint Advisory Committee and the Committee on Education.

Miss Hession also serves on the faculty at the School of Banking at Williams College where she conducts a course in fiduciary law. A member of the executive committee of the Boston College Estate Planning Council, she makes her home in Braintree.
that "under your able and vigorous leadership the American Bar Association and American lawyers, generally, will recapture public confidence and attain high levels of public support."

President Fulham bestowed upon the Honorable Herbert Putnam Wilkins the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. The Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts was cited for "his willingness to re-examine legal doctrine, preserving the relevant and discarding the irrelevant, which is the hallmark of the most revered legal scholars and jurists." It was in 1951 that Associate Justice Putnam's father, the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, was justly recognized with the award of the honorary degree of Doctor of Judicial Science.

Justice Rehnquist Chapter
Phi Delta Phi, the nation's oldest legal fraternity, was chartered at Suffolk Law School on May 3. Associate Justice William H. Rehnquist of the United States Supreme Court became the first honorary member of the chapter which will bear his name.

Justice Rehnquist attended the initiation ceremonies which added the Suffolk chapter to the already existing 103 chapters throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. Also on hand for the ceremonies were the International President of Phi Delta, the Province President and the International Council. Presiding was Henry Berliner, Chairman of the District of Columbia Judicial Advisory and Removal Commission.

S.W.L.C.
Four years ago, a small group of women law students founded the Suffolk Women's Law Caucus. Since then, the Caucus has been actively engaged in increasing awareness at Suffolk of the current legal and social issues concerning women and in doing so has enhanced Suffolk's stature as a socially active law school.

Among several projects sponsored by the Caucus, one of the most interesting is the Continuing Internship Program. This year, over twenty students were placed in Boston area agencies which provided first hand experience in dealing with legal problems. The agencies involved included: Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, the Women's Rights Project of the Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts, the Attorney General's Office, and the Special Legislative Committee to Study the Effects of the Massachusetts State Equal Rights Amendment. As the program is expanded, more and more Suffolk students will be able to broaden their law school education and bring back to the institution fresh ideas and projects.

In April, the Caucus sponsored a Conference on Women's Rights in conjunction with the Women's Equity Action League. Topics covered ran the gamut from wills, estates and insurance to constitutional law and sex discrimination.

Still another activity of the Caucus is a newsletter which is published several times a year. Major issues of interest to the lawyer and law student are discussed and analyzed. (Subscriptions are available on request from Ms. Kathleen Williams, Circulations Coordinator, for the S.W.L.C. newsletter.) The Suffolk Women's Law Caucus is a valuable asset to the academic life of the Law School and will continue to provide a forum for student participation in today's major legal issues.

Suffolk Competes
The Suffolk International Moot Court Team placed second in the arguments at the Phillip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Regional Competition in Portland, Maine. Competing against teams from Harvard, Boston University, Western New England and the University of Maine, Suffolk was bested only by Harvard.

The team members, selected by a joint Moot Court Board — Faculty Committee, are John Brequet, John Conlin and James Papalones, all second year day division students.

The 1976 record focused on a dispute between the United States and France arising from United States' attempts to prevent takeovers of major domestic industries by foreign nations. Appearing before law professors, judges and attorneys simulating the International Court of Justice, the team received high praise for their performances.

Dean's Reception
Well over one hundred Law School alumni attended the Dean's Reception at the Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts Bar Association at Wentworth By-the-Sea. An annual event, the reception is an opportunity for Suffolk alumni to get together socially at the professional meeting.

Among the seventy attorneys who received 50 year plaques at the Meeting, fifteen were Suffolk alumni. Admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1926 were the following Suffolk attorneys:

- Henry A. Bartiekwicz JD '25
- Eugene L. Cuneo JD '25
- Michael J. Dray JD '25
- Harry Kalo JD '25
- Louis Karp JD '27
- Thomas J. Lane JD '25
- France C. Lichtenstein JD '26
- Edward J. McGrath JD '25
- I. Jerome O'Connor JD '26
- John Santoro JD '25
- Joseph H. Sarrillo JD '25
- Charles V. Staiti JD '26
- Roger F. Turner JD '25
- Frederick R. Walsh JD '25

Best wishes to these members of the bar. Suffolk is proud of their contributions.
New Alumni Activities Director
Ellen Burns Peterson has been named Direc­tor of Alumni Activities for Suffolk Univer­sity. Mrs. Peterson, a graduate of Cardinal Cushing College and of Suffolk Univer­sity, where she received her M.Ed., suc­ceeds Lenne Gaptur. Ellen was a secondary school teacher until 1971 when she entered college administration. She has served as Assistant Director of Admissions and Ad­missions Counselor at Cardinal Cushing College and since 1972 has been the Transfer Student Counselor for Suffolk University.

Ellen assumes the responsibility for the Suffolk Bulletin and for the continued development and strengthening of the new alumni associations.

Lenne Gaptur, who was awarded her J.D. degree on June 13, continues on as special assistant to the Director of Develop­ment.

Title IX
In compliance with Title IX the Board of Trustees at its February meeting reaffirmed its support of equal opportunity in all operations of the University and voted to include a statement to that effect in the Suffolk University by-laws.

The statement reads: "Suffolk Univer­sity selects students, faculty and staff with­out regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, marital or parental status in the operation of any of its pro­grams and activities as specified by Federal and State laws and regulations."

Title IX prohibits discrimination based upon sex as it relates to both employment and educational functions of the University. All universities receiving Federal financial assistance are subject to Title IX.

Commencement 1976
Suffolk University conferred one thousand, one hundred and thirty-one degrees on June 13, 1976. This marked the largest graduating class in the history of the Uni­versity. The John B. Hynes Venetian Auditorium hosted the two ceremonies, Law School and Colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Business Administra­tion.

As parents, spouses, children and friends gathered, the Call to Commence­ment Exercises was delivered by the Honor­able C. Edward Rowe, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Presiding over the ceremonies was President Thomas A. Fulham. The Invocation was delivered by Robert Menard, O.F.M., Campus Minister.

Four hundred ninety-six graduates re­ceived the degree of Juris Doctor and six distinguished guests received honorary degrees. Three graduating law students were cited for outstanding achievement during the morning ceremonies. Dean David J. Sargent presented awards to Mrs. Martha Maloney Campbell of Auburndale, David J. Sargent presented awards to Mrs. Barbara L. Sandick of Pittsfield, and Robert Menard, O.F.M., Campus Minister.

In the afternoon six hundred thirty-five degree recipients from the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Business Administration gathered. Dr. Richard L. McDowell, Dean of the College of Business Administration, cited three who graduated Summa Cum Laude: Robert K. Casey of Bradford, Joni Ann Muschiette of Londonderry, New Hampshire, and Jo Anna Harwell of Manchester. Dr. Michael R. Ronayne, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences honored ten Summa Cum Laude degree recipients: Stephen W. Murphy of Wollaston (AB); Randall K. Abbott of Rockland, Maine, Maria O.T, Achramian of San Antonio, Texas, Patti B. Cohen of Lowell, Peter M. Gor­czewski of Brooklyn, Oregon, Karen S. Harlan of Manchester, Dennis F. Jackson of Lynn, Joel E. Mann of Stoughton, Barbara J. Sandick of Pittsfield (all BS) and Rebecca Pearl of New York City. New York (BS in Journalism).

Suffolk Bulletin Cited
The Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) has announced that the Suffolk Bulletin has been chosen to receive the CASE award for publications improvement. The award, which is based upon national competition, will be made in July at the national assembly of CASE, to be held in Washington, D.C.

Alumni Associations
At the start of this “Alumni Year of Change,” a primary goal of the association was to restructure the General Alumni Associa­tion to respond to the needs and interests of our various constituencies. We are pleased to report that after considerable study and drafting of bylaws, the Board of Directors voted to dissolve the current Association and form three separate asso­ciations, with an alumni council which will coordinate activities.

The three associations are: The Law School Alumni Association, The Master in Business Administration (MBA) Associa­tion, and the General Alumni Association. You all have received copies of the Consti­tution and Bylaws and Call for Nomina­tions. Very shortly, you will be receiving a ballot which will enable you to vote for the directors of your associations. The fall issue of the Suffolk Bulletin will announce the results of the elections and the new directors of each association.

Pops ’76
The Suffolk banner was displayed proudly at the annual Pops alumni night perfor­mance on June 2. Over 200 alumni enjoyed the special kind of camaraderie that Pops evokes with their combination of a tradi­tional concert repertoire, light music and even lighter refreshments!

The program ranged from Overture to Der Freischütz, Little Fugue in G minor, piano soloist, Barbara Nissman playing Concerto No. 1 in B flat minor, Op. 23 to a resounding rendition of The Stars and Stripes Forever. Selections of Pops musicians include Harry Ellis Dickson.
Reunion '76

An overflow crowd of alumni from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Business Administration packed the New England Room at the Logan Hilton for Reunion '76. The event marked what is hoped will be an ongoing tradition at Suffolk — reunions. Since they have never been held before, reunions this year proved to be an exciting view of what's in store for future years.

Reunion Chairman Richard Dellaria, BSJ '71, and his hardworking committee, designed an evening which began with cocktails in the hotel's Glass Garden and proceeded through a sumptuous buffet. Highlights included comedy sketches by Steve Bulyga, Joe Pilato and Steve Alexander and dance music provided by The Way Back Machine — rock — and The Tuft's Stage Band — nostalgia.

Those who attended were from many different classes and they all are looking forward to "doing it again next year!"

Backstage Revelations 1976

"The theatre is dying! The fabulous invalid has gone under at last!" That is the ominous annual cry of rattled drama critics and a baffled public. "Not so," replies Dr. Frederick Wilkins of the Department of English, whose course in "American Theatre Today" completed its third and most venturesome edition in May. "The theatre is as alive as ever it has been," says Wilkins, "and in a greater variety of forms and forums than ever before."

Students in "American Theatre Today" would doubtless agree. Using the theatres of Boston and Cambridge as their laboratry, they attended thirteen dramatic productions — from Shakespeare to the avant-garde, and from Ibsen and Lorca to revue and opera — as well as staging their own production (the New England premiere, in fact) of a sensational success from the current off-off-Broadway season.

Among their discoveries were (1) that Boston is second only to New York City as a theatrical center in the United States; (2) that the traditional proscenium-arch division between performers and spectators is rapidly disintegrating; (3) that the disintegration is taking place, not because more plays are produced in churches than in traditional theatres in Boston, but because theatre people wish to break down old barriers; and (4) that while contemporary drama may look impenetrable at first, its seeming madness masks both method and meaning.

But if the class had merely attended plays, the course would have been little more than an extended theatre party. And it was much more. What the students did as well, after Dr. Wilkins's introductory lectures, was meet and talk with actors, directors, designers, and writers, who answered their questions and provided rare insights into the workings of theatre today. Playwright Allan Sternfield responded to student queries about the satiric point in his new play, The Advance Man. Joann Green, director of the Cambridge Ensemble, discussed the transformation of Gulliver's Travels into a play for four actors. Brian Bedford and Dai Bradley explained their personal involvement in the roles they play in Equus. The members of Stage 1 described the transition from gymnastics and personal dreams to their communally conceived theatre-piece, Masque. And the Caravan Theatre troupe, after a special pre-production performance of their latest play, told how their playmaking evolves from initial concept to final production.

Perhaps nothing emerged as emphatically from the course's encounters with local theatres as the warmth, humanity and dedication of the theatre folk who make Boston their home. A vital and too-unsung part of Boston's artistic life, they showed personally as well as professionally why theatre is so alive today, and they made many lasting friends among the students of "American Theatre Today."

Both neophytes and long-term lovers of theatre should watch for the fourth edition of this unique English course which provides as intimate an introduction to "the fabulous invalid" as could be found anywhere.
What's Happening in Journalism

The Journalism Department has been very active these last few months. Professor Malcolm J. Barach, Chairperson, announced that there will be two new journalism concentrations: Journalism and Scientific Communications and Journalism and Technical Communications. These concentrations are for students seeking careers covering the science or technical fields. This brings the various journalism concentrations to a total of eight.

Also, Suffolk has been granted a campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national society of professional journalists. At the chartering ceremony some 90 journalism students were inducted. The members are entitled to participate in a wide range of activities, including a national writing competition, scholarship program, career conferences and job placement seminars. Membership can continue beyond graduation and graduates have the opportunity to affiliate with a professional chapter. There are currently 250 chapters of Sigma Delta Chi serving cities and college campuses throughout the nation. Suffolk is the third university in the Boston area to be granted a Sigma Delta Chi chapter.

Twenty-five Boston High School minority students will be attending Suffolk's first urban journalism workshop. During the two week summer period the students will attend lectures by professional journalists and take field trips to news outlets and state agencies. Professor Barach will provide the students with a general introduction to news writing, reporting, editing, and an overview of journalism as a profession. The workshop, transportation, and lunch costs will be presented under the auspices of The Newspaper Fund, incorporated.

A Family Affair

Would you sit through two graduation ceremonies on the same day? The Donoghues' of Saugus will — and gladly! At 10:00 a.m. Mrs. Marion P. Donoghue will proudly watch her daughter, Patricia, receive a juris doctor degree from Suffolk University Law School. Then Patricia, with her brother and sister, will reverse roles and anxiously wait for her 55-year-old mother to receive a Bachelor of Science degree in government from Suffolk University College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

It was Mrs. Donoghue's attendance at Suffolk that prompted her daughter to apply to the law school. Recently, Mrs. Donoghue was recognized by the International History Honor Society and by the National Social Science Honor Society. Recognitions she may never have received if "the children hadn't always received my marks in the mail ahead of me and kept a close check on me! They were my severest critics."

Have You Published?

As "step one" in a procedure to obtain a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Suffolk, Professor Edward G. Hartmann of the Department of History has prepared a tentative bibliography of Publications by alumni of Suffolk.

Consisting of books, periodical articles, etc., the bibliography is far from complete and Professor Hartmann is requesting your help. Alumni of the colleges who have published are urged to inform Professor Hartmann of their accomplishments. Please cite complete bibliographic data for each entry and write to him in care of the University.

L
Bergenheim on Busing
Publisher of the Boston Herald American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, Robert C. Bergenheim addressed the graduates of the Colleges of Business Administration and Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Mr. Bergenheim spoke to the 627 graduates on forced busing. In his address he likened busing to the tragedies of Vietnam and Watergate. "Like a nation of sheep, we were herded together in support of Vietnam," he said. "Now, we are herding our children together, shoving them into little yellow buses because we think we can give them a better education."

In the past five years the number of whites in Boston Public Schools has dropped from 62,000 to 36,000 with 53 per cent of the students non-white although the city as a whole is still 75 per cent white, the Herald American publisher noted.

As a means to equalize good education without relying heavily on forced busing Mr. Bergenheim proposed the following: a district elected Boston School Committee, which will provide minority representation; a quota system for hiring minorities in the school system, priorities for more new schools in minority neighborhoods, and a G.I. bill-type enrollment or voucher system whereby suburban communities would accept students from Boston and be paid so much per pupil.

In closing, Mr. Bergenheim said to the graduates: "... don't be like sheep, don't believe everything you hear or everything you read. At the same time, don't ignore everything you hear or everything you read. Don't leave it up to someone else. Think for yourself and act on your convictions."

Four Honored
Four honorary degrees were conferred at Commencement ceremonies for the College of Business Administration and Liberal Arts and Sciences. Each recipient has, through his chosen field, contributed greatly to the advancement of society.

Robert C. Bergenheim, publisher of the Boston Herald American and Sunday Herald Advertiser, has built a reputation that makes his name synonymous with excellence and integrity in journalism. For more than thirty years Mr. Bergenheim has sought to maintain incisive reporting, sound judgment, pursuit of truth and a free press in an age of controversy and complex social dilemmas. The degree of Doctor of Journalism was conferred on him.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities was conferred on Charles H. Bradford, M.D., a practicing specialist in orthopedic surgery. For the last forty years in his numerous publications on orthopedic subjects Dr. Bradford has constantly adopted new solutions to unsolved problems and persistently and uncompromisingly sought to benefit all mankind.

Almost thirty years ago Robert J. M. Jussaume received a law degree from Suffolk University. At Commencement 1976, as President and Chief Executive Officer of the General Trust of Canada and Director of their important Canadian industrial and financial institutions, the honorary degree of Doctor of Commercial Science was conferred on him. It was not only for his knowledge and expertise in the fields of business and law that Mr. Jussaume was honored. It was also for his continuing concern with the welfare of academic institutions evidenced by his connection with the University of Sherbrook as a trustee and sometime lecturer.

Author, editor, and translator of some twenty-five books, Dr. Harry Zohn received the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters. A refugee from Nazi persecution, Dr. Zohn conquered problems of a new language and culture. As Professor of German and Chairperson of the Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages at Brandeis, it was indeed fitting that his alma mater, Suffolk University, honor him this year of his thirtieth anniversary of graduation.
Twenty-Fifth Year
Class Marshal

Leading the commencement ceremonies for the 1976 class of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Business Administration was Class Marshal Charles R. Butts.

Mr. Butts received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1951. He is currently President of C. Butts Realtors and recently served as chairperson of the Alumni Annual Fund Drive in the Milton-Mattapan area.

Mr. Butts' son, Robert R., received a Bachelor of Science Degree at the Commencement ceremonies.

MBA Luncheons

The Spring meeting of the MBA Luncheon Club was held at the University in the President's Conference Room. Dean Richard L. McDowell spoke to 21 MBA alumni about the MBA program, its current status and its future.

Plans for the upcoming year include continuing the luncheons with an emphasis on speakers of interest to the MBA alumni.

“Last Hurrah”

The MBA Association hosted a Pre-Commencement breakfast at the Holiday Inn Penthouse Dining Room. All MBA graduates and their spouses were invited.

Dr. Richard M. McDowell, Dean of the College of Business Administration and the Department Chairpersons congratulated the 124 MBA graduates and spouses who were in attendance.

It is our final affair and last hurrah, said Don Roberts, President of the MBA Association who hopes that the breakfast will become an annual event.

Business Advisory Council

The Business Advisory Council for the College of Business Administration has three new members. Serving terms through academic year 1978 will be James J. Carroll, Gerard F. Kennedy and Guerard H. Hawkins.

Mr. James J. Carroll is the Assistant Vice President of Boston's State Street Bank and Trust Company where he manages staff services. As manager of staff services, his responsibilities include communications, affirmative action, training and development, urban affairs, education and labor relations. In addition to his career with the State Street Bank, Mr. Carroll teaches Organizational Behavior at Babson College and is a member of several civic and professional associations including the Sub-committee on Performance Evaluation and Promotion Standards, Standards and Goals Project, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Committee on Criminal justice.

Mr. Gerard F. Kennedy is Vice President of the Foxboro Company. Since joining the Foxboro Company in 1936, Mr. Kennedy has served in various positions. In 1964, he was named General Manager of the Highland Plant in East Bridgewater, Massachusetts and in 1967 was given responsibility for the United States factory branch services. He was named United States Manufacturing Manager in 1967 and was elected a corporate Vice President in 1969. Mr. Kennedy is a member of the Foxboro School Committee including four years as Chairman.

Mr. Guerard H. Hawkins, Jr., is Director of Financial Relations for Raytheon Company in Lexington, Massachusetts. In this capacity he assists in maintaining contact with the investment community and providing information about Raytheon. Having joined Raytheon in 1957, Mr. Hawkins has served as controller for several divisions of the company in both government and commercial business areas.
"Assist The Courts"
The Honorable Raymond J. Pettine, Chief Justice of the United States District Court for the District of Rhode Island, delivered the Commencement Address to the Law School graduates.

In his speech, Judge Pettine invoked the future attorneys to "... be prepared to assist the court, which does not have the facilities, resources or the time to explore the forces outside the judicial process at hand..."

After citing numerous cases where lawyers "acted as advocates (who) travel many roads and seek alternatives that will satisfy (their) clients and assist the court in resolving a controversy," Judge Pettine alluded to the courtroom as "... the hurricane's quiet eye. Surrounding it all are the issues which, in their resolution as the trial goes forth, will affect societal norms." It is in such a setting that lawyers must have "total competence," warned Judge Pettine.

In closing, the Honorable Mr. Pettine said: "You have before you an exciting life in a profession that will offer endless challenges and rewards."

Twenty-Fifth Year Class Marshal
The Honorable Lawrence L. Cameron, JD 1951, served as Marshal for the 1976 graduating law students. An honorary position, the Class Marshal leads the academic procession to and from commencement ceremonies.

As a current member of the Board of Trustees at Suffolk University, as the Presiding Justice of the South Boston District Court and as a former President of the Law School Alumni Association, the Honorable Mr. Cameron more than fulfills the traditional requirement of an outstanding member of the twenty-fifth year reunion class.

Honorary Degrees
Honorary degrees were conferred upon six distinguished guests at the Law School Commencement. President Thomas A. Fulham bestowed the degrees, citing the outstanding contributions of each of the recipients.

Lawyer, legislator and now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Rhode Island, the Honorable Joseph A. Bevilacqua received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. This Spring, Judge Bevilacqua was chosen to receive the Dean Frederick A. McDermott award by Suffolk University Law School.

Graduate of the Class of 1926, Edward J. Bushell, Esquire, was honored as an "Active general practitioner and skilled trial advocate ... whose pursuit of the best interests of his clients is legendary ..." Mr. Bushell received the honorary degree of Doctor of Juridical Science.

As Chief Justice of the United States District Court for the District of Rhode Island, the Honorable Raymond J. Pettine was cited for his "passionate devotion to the advancement of human rights and his active participation in countless civic, community and cultural organizations." The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Juridical Science was bestowed upon Fernando J. St. Germain. In the words of President Fulham, "your legislative achievements as a member of the House of Representatives from the First Congressional District of Rhode Island have enhanced the quality of life in your district, your state, your region, and your nation."

President-Elect of the American Bar Association, the Honorable Justin A. Stanley received a Doctor of Laws degree for his vast and diversified experience as a practicing lawyer, teacher of law, college administrator, and civic leader. Experiences that have "thoroughly prepared (him) to provide forthright, intelligent, and effective leadership to the organized bar in America during this post-Watergate period of diminished public respect for the legal profession." President Fulham continued, saying
In Memoriam
Carlton W. Chamberlain, JD ’42, of Weston, Massachusetts.
Daniel J. Connolly, Jr., JD ’69, of Lynn, Massachusetts.
William A. Dryer, MA ’55, of Weymouth, Massachusetts.
Arthur P. Foster, JD ’51, of Lantana, Florida.
C. Sumner Idersey, MBA ’70, of Natick, Massachusetts.
Robert C. M. Mulcahy, JD ’22, of Watertown, Massachusetts.
Henry Murphy, JD ’28, of Lawrence, Massachusetts.
George F. Ramacorti, JD ’69, of Braintree, Massachusetts.
Charles T. Sexton, JD ’23, of Milton, Massachusetts.

1924
Law School
John J. McDonough, JD, is a Clerk of the Suffolk Civil Court, Boston, Massachusetts.

1930
Law School
Samuel Robinson, JD, is a consultant to Robinson Associates, Swampscott, Massachusetts.

1933
Law School
George Dewey, JD, has been named Acting Head of the Massachusetts District Court system.

1938
Law School
Doreworth D. Johnson, JD, retired from Standard Oil Company, Indiana and has opened an office in Lakewood, Colorado.

College of Business Administration
Fritz T. Sablow, BSBA, is Executive Director of New Hampshire Humane Society in Laconia, New Hampshire.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Nicholas J. Vergados, JD, is an attorney in Lowell, Massachusetts.

1950
College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
John V. Clancy, BS, has been named Managing Editor of the Wildlife Publication of the Division of Fisheries and Wildlife.

1951
Law School
Joseph D. Clancy, JD, was nominated by Governor Michael Dukakis to be the next full-time judge in the Natick District Court, Natick, Massachusetts.

1952
College of Business Administration
Myer Kravetz, BSBA, has been named Callin Consultant for Arrow Automotive Industries, in Hudson, Massachusetts.

1955
Law School
James Nixon, JD, presides as Judge in the 3rd District Court of Eastern Massachusetts.

1956
Law School
Thomas J. McGrimley, JD, practices law in Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts; is also chairman of the Boston Retirement Board, Assistant Coordinator of the Massachusetts Civilian Air Patrol and holds the rank of Colonel in the United States Air Force Reserve.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Bernard McMahon, MA ED, the principal of Wilmington High School and the Administrator of Non-Instructional Personnel in the Wilmington, Massachusetts, Schools has retired.

1959
College of Business Administration
Richard M. Wheeler, BSBA, has been named Materials Manager for Arrow Automotive Industries, in Hudson, Massachusetts.

1960
College of Business Administration
Dominic Rocca, BSBA, has opened a flower shop in Reading, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Walter F. Wydo, Sr., BSBA has become a corporate member of the Cheshire Country Insurance Agency, Inc. and is vice president of the New Hampshire firm.

Law School
Robert F. Cox, JD, is assistant vice president of the American Mutual Insurance Company of Boston, Massachusetts.

1961
College of Business Administration
Richard Ricardi, BSBA, has been promoted to Assistant Director of Building Services at State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America.

Law School
Joseph J. Dyor, JD, has gone into partnership with Alfred J. Doyle, Jr. with offices located in Worcester, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Brother Joseph Fellegrino, BSBA, is an ordained deacon, in Boston, Massachusetts.

1964
College of Business Administration
Paul G. Klibansky, BSBA, is a probation officer at Salem District Court, Salem, Massachusetts.

Law School
Ira D. Hall, JD, has been named vice president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
John D. Riordan, JD, is a practicing attorney in the city of Brockton, Massachusetts.
1965
College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Thomas F. Delaney, BS, is presently Principal of the Emerson School in Boston, Massachusetts.

Thomas Neer, AB, was appointed Principal of the Winthrop Junior High School, in Winthrop, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
David L. Smart, BSBA, has been elected treasurer of the South Boston Savings Bank in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
Patricia P. McGovern, AB '62, JD, is presently a staff attorney with the Massachusetts Defenders Committee in the Boston office.

College of Business Administration
Robert F. LeBlanc, BSBA, has been sworn in as Town Administrator of Methuen, Massachusetts.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Robert J. Kane, AB, is a certified public school teacher and operates his own small business in Brockton, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Robert Talbot, MA, is President of the Robert Talbot Realty Corporation, Inc. of Salem, Massachusetts.

1966
College of Business Administration
Jerry F. Schenck, BSBA '63, MBA, is Academic Dean at Andover Junior College, Andover, Massachusetts.

Law School
Anthony J. Vigliotti, JD, is Register of Deeds for Worcester County, Worcester, Massachusetts.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Carmela R. Visco, AB, is a teacher at the Belmonte Junior High School in Saugus, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Edward Dunford, MBA, is an auditor-accountant with the U.S. Customs Service.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Irrenee A. Gryz˙ybińska, BSBA, is vice president of the Chelsea Provident Cooperative Bank in Chelsea, Massachusetts.

Law School
John E. Dugan, JD, is executive Vice President of Multibank Consultants, Incorporated, Quincy, Massachusetts.

1967
College of Business Administration
Edward Dunford, MBA, is an auditor-accountant with the U.S. Customs Service.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Jacek F. Schenck, BSBA '63, MBA, is Academic Dean at Andover Junior College, Andover, Massachusetts.

Law School
John E. Dugan, JD, is executive Vice President of Multibank Consultants, Incorporated, Quincy, Massachusetts.

1968
College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Eugene D. Bernstein, BSBA '68, JD, is a member of the firm of Solomon and Bernstein in Lowell, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Edward Dunford, MBA, is an auditor-accountant with the U.S. Customs Service.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Irrenee A. Gryz˙ybińska, BSBA, is vice president of the Chelsea Provident Cooperative Bank in Chelsea, Massachusetts.

Law School
Joseph T. DelGallo, MBA, is a Tax Examiner for the Massachusetts State Department of Corporations and Taxation.

1969
College of Business Administration
Thomas L. Lyons, BSBA, is Vice President of Johnson & Wales College in Fall River, Massachusetts.

Law School
Loring DeAgazio, MBA, has been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

College of Business Administration
Edward Dunford, MBA, is an auditor-accountant with the U.S. Customs Service.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Irrenee A. Gryz˙ybińska, BSBA, is vice president of the Chelsea Provident Cooperative Bank in Chelsea, Massachusetts.

Law School
John E. Dugan, JD, is executive Vice President of Multibank Consultants, Incorporated, Quincy, Massachusetts.

1970
College of Business Administration
John J. Burns, BSBA, is Manager of the South Attleboro Star Market, South Attleboro, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Anthony J. Coletti, BSBA, has been appointed to the 317th Engineer Battalion, Germany, as an information specialist.

Law School
Robert J. Connelly, JD, has recently been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

College of Business Administration
Eugene D. Bernstein, BSBA '65, JD, is a member of the faculty at Andover Junior College. He is the president and principle broker of J.P.M. Realty, Inc. in Malden, Massachusetts.

Law School
Loring DeAgazio, MBA, has been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

1971
College of Business Administration
Eugene D. Bernstein, BSBA '65, JD, is a member of the firm of Solomon and Bernstein in Lowell, Massachusetts.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Francis J. Malone, JD, has been elected treasurer of the South Boston Savings Bank in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
Robert J. Connelly, JD, has recently been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

College of Business Administration
John E. Dugan, JD, is a practicing attorney and a certified public accountant in Danvers, Massachusetts.

Law School
Loring DeAgazio, MBA, has been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

1972
College of Business Administration
Edward Dunford, MBA, is an auditor-accountant with the U.S. Customs Service.

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Irrenee A. Gryz˙ybińska, BSBA, is vice president of the Chelsea Provident Cooperative Bank in Chelsea, Massachusetts.

Law School
John E. Dugan, JD, is executive Vice President of Multibank Consultants, Incorporated, Quincy, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Eugene D. Bernstein, BSBA '65, JD, is a member of the faculty at Andover Junior College. He is the president and principle broker of J.P.M. Realty, Inc. in Malden, Massachusetts.

Law School
Loring DeAgazio, MBA, has been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.

College of Business Administration
Eugene D. Bernstein, BSBA '65, JD, is a member of the faculty at Andover Junior College. He is the president and principle broker of J.P.M. Realty, Inc. in Malden, Massachusetts.

Law School
Loring DeAgazio, MBA, has been appointed Probate Judge for the city of Central Falls, Rhode Island, where he also maintains a law practice.
1972

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences
Michael J. Donovan, AB, is an Assistant Clerk in the Suffolk Superior Civil Court, Boston, Massachusetts.
Donna M. Freyermuth, AB, is now a second-grade teacher in the South School, Plymouth, Massachusetts.
Michael Gerry, MA ED, is coordinating the Community Garden Project, in Gardner, Massachusetts.

College of Business Administration
Richard P. Burkmsbaw, BSJ, is president of the Blake Memorial Funeral Homes, Incorporated in Chelmsford and Lowell, Massa­chusetts.
Kenneth J. McAvey, MBA, has been named Controller of Pandel-Bradford, Incorporated in Lowell, Massachusetts.
Martin Shindler, MBA, is an Accountant at the Lybrand in Boston, Massa­chusetts.
Richard R. Wood, BSBA, is Regional Manager of the Hobbs Brook Agency, in Gardner, Massachusetts.

College of Law
Gardner, Massachusetts.

Michael J. Donovan, AB, is an Assistant Manager of the Hobbs Brook Agency, Incorporated, he is based in Cleveland, Ohio.

Law School
Kathleen Ruth Franklin, JD, is a lawyer in East Orleans, Massachusetts.
Michael H. Handler, JD, is currently a trial attorney and partner in a law firm in Braintree, Massachusetts.
Frederick V. McNenymen, Jr., JD, is Vice President in the Securities Services Division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston, Massachusetts.
Philip D. O'Connell, JD, is a lawyer in Auburn, Massachusetts.

1973

John V. Fitzpatrick, BS, is in the management training program at F.W. Woolworth Company.

College of Business Administration
John P. Devincenzo, BSBA, is an assistant buyer for Perkins Tobacco Shops, division of the Stop and Shop Companies.

Law School
Katherine E. Franklin, JD, is a lawyer in East Orleans, Massachusetts.
Michael H. Handler, JD, is currently a trial attorney and partner in a law firm in Braintree, Massachusetts.
Frederick V. McNenymen, Jr., JD, is Vice President in the Securities Services Division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
Kathleen Ruth Franklin, JD, is a lawyer in East Orleans, Massachusetts.
Michael H. Handler, JD, is currently a trial attorney and partner in a law firm in Braintree, Massachusetts.
Frederick V. McNenymen, Jr., JD, is Vice President in the Securities Services Division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Devincenzo, BSBA, is an assistant buyer for Perkins Tobacco Shops, division of the Stop and Shop Companies.

1974

College of Liberal Arts
Chester Komejko, AB, is Recreational Instructor for the City of Boston, Massachusetts.
Bruce R. Ota, MBA, is employed by the Government Food and Drug Administration and is doing Radio-Pharmaceutical assays at Winchester Analytical and Engineering Laboratory in Winchester, Massachusetts.

Law School
Steven Michael Boorstein, MBA, is employed by the G.T. Sylvania Corporation, Lynn law firm of Driscoll and Gillespie in Lynn, Massachusetts.

Law School
Kathleen E. Franklin, JD, is a lawyer in East Orleans, Massachusetts.
Michael H. Handler, JD, is currently a trial attorney and partner in a law firm in Braintree, Massachusetts.
Frederick V. McNenymen, Jr., JD, is Vice President in the Securities Services Division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
Kathleen E. Franklin, JD, is a lawyer in East Orleans, Massachusetts.
Michael H. Handler, JD, is currently a trial attorney and partner in a law firm in Braintree, Massachusetts.
Frederick V. McNenymen, Jr., JD, is Vice President in the Securities Services Division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company in Boston, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.

Law School
John P. Roche, Jr., MBA, was a co-winner of the Sportman of the year award given by the Franklin Jaycees'. He is employed by the General Electric Company, Framingesham, Massachusetts.
Calendar of Events

This section will keep you up to date regarding alumni events in each quarter of the year. As we move toward more alumni involvement, you will find this space filled with social, academic and regional programs designed for Suffolk alumni. For details concerning any of these events contact the Alumni Office at (617) 723-4700, extension 133.

July

August
- Annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the three Alumni Associations and election of Alumni Council members.
- Annual meeting of Alumni Council members.

Sept.
- Election of nominee to the Suffolk University Board of Trustees.
- MBA Luncheon Club Meeting.
- Alumni Associations' Executive Committee Meetings.

Oct.
- Law School Alumni Dinner.

*Date and time to be announced in a special mailing.