FIRST ALUMNI APPEAL LAUNCHED

The first Alumni Appeal in Suffolk's 66-year history was launched in late spring. Response to the letters sent to all alumni by President Fulham has been heartening. "Comments such as the following have made our efforts most rewarding," said President Fulham.

"Suffolk represents to me a most interesting educational resource. In my own case it made it possible for me to complete my B.A. & M.S. degrees, without which it would not have been possible for me to go on to the doctorate and an academic career. What impressed me most about Suffolk at the time was the willingness of the administrators from the President down to deal with an individual and his problems rather than merely to follow a set of rules and procedures."

Malcolm H. Gotterer BS '55, MSBA '56.

"The benefits to the community which flow from Suffolk University cannot be measured in dollars alone. As far as I am concerned, I hope that you will ever be strong, and continue to be a vital face in the greater Boston area."

Robert J. Heller LLB'68.

"Suffolk afforded several thousand people the opportunity to achieve a higher education when other doors were closed against them for many years."

Support, both moral and financial, is crucial to Suffolk today. As President Fulham noted in his letter, Suffolk has been able in the past to sustain itself with tuition revenue; but Suffolk has now reached the point that new revenues are necessary not only to improve facilities, offer new programs, and make available student aid, but also to maintain our current levels without increasing tuition. The logical and viable source for support is the Alumni.

No dollar goal was set for this first drive. Rather, the measure of success is in the number of Alumni who participate. At this writing approximately 400 alumni or 5% of the total alumni body has given. The average gift was $15.00. It is hoped that the percentage can be raised by a follow-up mailing.

The appeal is three pronged in structure based upon ability to give. Most alumni were sent a letter requesting any sum of money — whatever they felt they could at this time. Graduating seniors were also asked to contribute on this basis. A selected number of alumni, judged able to support the University more generously, were asked to join a new Century Club. Membership in the Century Club entails a gift of $100 or more. A third group of alumni and friends of Suffolk were invited to join the President's Society. Membership in the President's Society entails a gift of $1,000 or more.

There are privileges attached to membership in the President's Society and the Century Club, but more important is the commitment and involvement any size gift connotes. For a University to remain a vital force, it must have the support of all its alumni at all levels of financial commitment.

Gifts to the appeal may be restricted or unrestricted. Since scholarship aid is the University's primary need, this is where all unrestricted gifts will be used.

Suffolk needs your support. If you haven't already participated in the Alumni Appeal, please do and send whatever you can. Suffolk University and its future students need your help. Every gift — no matter in what amount — will be appreciated.

Judge Donahue: A Suffolk Tradition

Historical Review — A Series: This is the second article in a historical series which will be continued next fall.

When a complete history of Suffolk University is written, there is one person whose contributions will stand alone. The Honorable Frank J. Donahue is 90 years old, and half of those years have been devoted to the betterment of all facets of life at the University.

Dr. Ronayne Named Dean

Dr. Michael R. Ronayne, Jr. has been named Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Journalism to succeed Dr. Donald Grunewald. His term of office will commence on July 1, 1972 at which time he will leave his present position as Chairman of Suffolk's Department of Chemistry — a position he has held since 1970.

The selection of Dr. Ronayne was made on the unanimous recommendation of the Search Committee to select a new Dean which was made up of Trustees, students and faculty. The

Francis Flannery
Elected Vice President

Francis X. Flannery was elected Vice President of the University to succeed Dr. Donald Grunewald, whose term will expire on June 30, 1972. The election was made at the Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees on Wednesday, June 14. In addition to serving as Vice President, he will continue to serve as Treasurer.

Mr. Flannery was appointed Treasurer of the University in February of 1969. At the time of his appointment as Treasurer, he was also elected a Trustee of President’s Message

To be the President of Suffolk University is an exciting and rewarding occupation. There is no aspect of this responsibility which is more interesting than the rebirth of the Alumni Association.

The University complex is basically a three legged stool which stands upright on the active support of the faculty, the student body and the alumni. Administration and the physical facilities might be considered the seat which holds the three legs together, but without the active support of the alumni, faculty and student body, the structure topples. The circulation of the ALUMNI NEWS, the response of the questionnaires, the letters, visits and phone calls to the University from members of the alumni is eloquent testimony to the reawakening of interest in our stimulating school.

It is difficult to visit any campus without finding an alumni building, an alumni laboratory, an alumni gymnasium or an alumni student union. I do hope that in the not too distant future, I can have the pleasure of dedicating an edifice or complex which can have the title of “The Suffolk Alumni Building” proudly incised in its facade.

ALUMNI RECEPTIONS-SPRING 1972

Although financial support and enthusiasm are necessary, the most important thing that the alumni can contribute to the University is to allow themselves to become identified so that the student body will know with whom they will become associated in the years to come.

Thomas A. Fulham
President

Alumni Comments

Our first issue of the ALUMNI NEWS brought several comments, suggestions and questions. Your questions will be answered by mail, and we hope to incorporate many of your suggestions regarding content in our next issue. Because of the great interest the ALUMNI NEWS generated, we have decided to publish on a more frequent basis than the quarterly we originally anticipated.

We will be back in the fall with 8 issues during the academic year. Features we intend to continue are the Tribute Column, the Historical Series and Class Notes. New features will include Faculty and Alumni Spotlights.

Your suggestions regarding other ways to improve the ALUMNI NEWS are welcome and if you’d let us hear from you during the summer, we may be able to incorporate them into upcoming issues.

This time, we’ve included some of the comments we’ve received from you:

“Congratulations for an excellent first edition! Something like this has been long overdue. I’m sure this will go a long way in revitalizing a hitherto dormant alumni,”
Ronaldo J. Itri, BA ‘68

“Congratulations on a fine alumni news bulletin. News from ‘home’ is always welcome.”
Dr. Peter F. Galvani, BA ‘66

“ALUMNI NEWS is the greatest thing at Suffolk in 45 years, next to ‘Dottie Mac’."
Thomas J. Casey, BSJ ‘68

“Sounds terrific, don’t let us hear from you during the summer, we may be able to incorporate them into upcoming issues.”
Robert A. Moffatt, LLB ‘50

“Any tribute to ‘Miss Mac’ (also known to some of us veterans as the ‘Angel’) is just a part of what she deserves having kept many in school by just her words and deeds.”
Aradam H. Sevagian, BS ‘60 and MA ‘62

“I found the first issue, Vol. 1, No. 1, extremely interesting.”
John F. Collins, LLB ‘41

Joseph F. O’Rourke, LLB ‘41

“I am very much impressed with the SUFFOLK ALUMNI NEWS, a fine step in the right direction. Good to see Miss ‘Mac’s’ feature, the best of the best.”
Gerard F. Develin, AB ‘59

At about the same time Suffolk was creating the Law Placement Office, several law schools were formulating plans to form an association of law placement officers. Such an association has since been formed and Suffolk Law is a charter member. The organization is officially known as The National Association for Law Placement. The Association's goal is to promote the exchange of ideas, information, and experience pertaining to the recruitment, placement and maximum utilization of law school graduates; the enlistment of employers and law schools in recognizing the importance of well-coordinated placement service.

Mr. DeVico is treasurer of the Association and he tells me that already a number of our students and some alumni have been able to receive information about placement opportunities in distant states. In short, Suffolk Law is aware of the problem facing today's law school students and some of the alumni and has set out to do something about it. You, the alumni, can assist the school and through the School, the students, by getting in touch with Law Placement whenever you need the services — full or part-time, of a legal assistant. Likewise, if you hear of a suitable position, pass the information along to Law Placement where files of competent alumni and students are maintained.

The academic caliber of the student body is excellent; their motivation superb.

Incidentally, how long has it been since you visited the school? Why not drop by and visit us when in the area. Suffolk Law School has changed since you attended classes here — the degree of the change will vary depending upon when you graduated. For example, the present day student body no longer consists of students from Massachusetts, with a sprinkling from the neighboring New England states. A tabulation of Suffolk's student body last year shows that some 26 states and 200 colleges are represented. While the largest number of students come from the Northeast sector of the United States, there are some from as far away as California, Florida and Hawaii. Five foreign countries also are represented. Besides Massachusetts, the states having the largest number of students are Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

In addition to changes in the composition of the student body, you will be surprised at the number of electives now available to second and third year students. Some of the members of the faculty are achieving national recognition and serving on committees of the A.B.A. in their chosen fields. The Suffolk Law Review has become firmly established among the Law Review Fraternity, having been cited by the Supreme Court of the United States. In short, the law school, your law school, has not been standing still, but has been forging ahead and with your assistance will continue to move ahead.

The finding of suitable salaried jobs as lawyers for law school graduates is the responsibility of the Organized Bar. Your law school recognizes its responsibility, and is actively pursuing all avenues in its effort to assist placement opportunities. Will you, both as a loyal alumnus and as a member of the Bar recognize your responsibility and work with us?
ATRIBUTE

Thirty-one years a Teacher:
Dr. Robert S. Friedman

When asked his goal in teaching, Dr. Robert S. Friedman stated simply that he entered the profession "with the hope of giving others the guidance which I lacked." Not only has Dr. Friedman reached his goal, but he has demonstrated that goals such as his can be realized on a daily basis.

Since 1941, Dr. Friedman has served as counselor and friend to countless students. The 1965 Beacon says of him that "He is truly loved and admired by the many students who have known him as professor and advisor."

On another level, Dr. Friedman's efforts have gone far in building the Biology Department to the point where it is today. When he arrived at Suffolk, the courses in biology were few, and the faculty was made up of three people. Today, the courses number in the twenties and the faculty has grown to eleven members. He guided the Biology Department for over two decades. This dedication to quality in education is typical of Dr. Friedman.

His concern for Suffolk and its students led Dr. Friedman to assist in the establishment of the Biology Department Special Fund (now named the Arthur J. West Biology Fund) and the Albert K. Sheldon Loan Fund. Suffolk University's Marine Biology facility at Cobscook Bay in Maine was another project Dr. Friedman assisted in beginning.

Honors bestowed upon him are numerous. In 1965, alumni, students, faculty, administration and friends honored him at a testimonial dinner for his quarter century of service. That same year, the Board of Trustees conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. This year Dr. Friedman will be cited Distinguished Service Professor of Biology.

Reischauer—Commencement Speaker
Former U.S. Ambassador to Japan, Edwin O. Reischauer, was the commencement speaker at this year's graduation ceremonies.

Reischauer, a leading authority on Far Eastern affairs, served as U.S. Ambassador to Japan from 1961-1966.

A University Professor at Harvard, he received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Oberlin College in 1931, a Master of Arts degree from Harvard in 1932, and a Ph.D. from Harvard in 1939.

He was a student at the University of Paris from 1933-35, and studied abroad on the Harvard-Yenching Institute Fellowship in France, Japan, and China.

Reischauer became a senior research analyst for the State Department in 1941 and worked for the War Department from 1942-43.

He also served as chairman of the Japan-Korea Secretariat and special assistant to the director of the Office of Far Eastern Affairs.

Law Library to be Expanded

At their April meeting, the Trustees voted to undertake expansion of the Law Library. Several circumstances necessitate the undertaking of this project: enrollment in the Law School has grown 66% in the past five years; accreditation requirements under consideration by the American Bar Association will require the addition of at least 187 seats to the library; additionally, it is felt that there is not sufficient study space for our law students, most of whom depend upon study space in the library for extended periods of time. Total cost for the project will be $215,000.

Architect's plans call for the demolition of some existing walls and law faculty offices on the 4th floor to add 133 seats; and, minimal renovations to the 3rd floor to add 54 seats. Total seating capacity will be 389.

The project will be underway soon and a September completion date is anticipated.

The office of University Development has undertaken a fund raising campaign for the project. Several charitable foundations are being contacted for contributions toward expansion of the Law Library. At this writing, the Charles Hayden Foundation has voted $40,000 to the project. The University, its students, faculty, administration, and alumni, are most grateful for the generosity of the Hayden Foundation and are proud of the recognition such a grant connotes.
Suffolk Law School was located on Mount Vernon Street when Frank Donahue began attending in 1917. He had already read the complete set of Massachusetts Reports before starting, and he passed the Bar Examination during his first year as a student. But he stayed on as a student and received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1921.

In 1913 Judge Donahue was elected Secretary of State in Massachusetts — the youngest person in history to hold the post. He was later named to the state Industrial Accident Board by the then Gov. David I. Walsh, and reappointed by the three succeeding governors, all of whom were Republican.

When the City of Fall River went into financial chaos in 1931, Judge Donahue was named Chairman of the Fall River Board of Finance by Gov. Joseph B. Ely. After Judge Donahue directed the efforts to stabilize that city’s problems, the Governor appointed him to the bench of the Massachusetts Superior Court in May, 1932 where he is now the Senior Justice. During this period of his life, he kept an active interest in the life of Suffolk as a member of the law faculty. In the 20’s he taught Conflict of Laws, Carriers, Private Corporations, and Municipal Corporations.

In 1942 Suffolk awarded him the honorary Doctor of Jurisprudence degree. During World War II, Judge Donahue returned to teach on a part-time basis in the Law School. In 1945 he was named to Suffolk’s Board of Trustees. The war had depleted the resources of Suffolk. Enrollment was at its lowest; faculty and staff had had “payless paydays”; and the situation so bleak that in order to open in 1946 it was necessary to take a mortgage on the University building.

At the end of the war, the influx of veterans seeking higher education, through the G.I. Bill of Rights, brought Suffolk’s enrollment back and lifted it to new high points. The College departments grew at an amazing rate, so that in enrollment they were at least as large as the Law School.

As a trustee, Judge Donahue knew the intimate details of running a school. As a judge he demonstrated wisdom and restraint. His background as an administrator demonstrated that he could get things done efficiently. It was natural then that, in 1948, his fellow trustees elect him Treasurer — to guide Suffolk through difficult financial times. He did what was necessary — brought and maintained financial and fiscal order to Suffolk. During his 22 year tenure as Treasurer he kept Suffolk financially solvent, operating solely through tuition payments and shrewd investments. Suffolk is one of only a handful of privately run universities in the country that enjoys this distinction.

The Honorable Frank J. Donahue

In 1952 his colleagues on the Board of Trustees awarded Judge Donahue the first of only two honorary Doctor of Laws and Letters degrees ever conferred by Suffolk. (The other was given to Richard Cardinal Cushing in 1966, at the dedication of what is now the Frank J. Donahue Building.)

Judge Donahue’s wide interests and vast energy have involved him in many areas. He was elected Chairman of the Needham Democratic Committee before casting his first vote. Later, when he moved to Hyde Park, he was responsible for the drive which brought an additional 100,000 registered Democrats onto the voting lists — and the state at the time was overwhelmingly Republican. For many years he served as a Democratic State Committeeman and for several years he was State Chairman.

Another facet of Judge Donahue’s career is his involvement in journalism. The lead story and headline on page one of the first issue of the Boston American (March 21, 1904) are his. The news story concerned a tremor felt in Boston the previous day, and the headline read “Another Earthquake Coming.” Although that event didn’t occur, headlines continued, Judge Donahue becoming subject of them rather than author. His eight years on the newspaper led him into the public arena, and the rest is history enough to fill a volume.

In an interview with the ALUMNI NEWS Judge Donahue expressed confidence in the growth and solvency of our Alma Mater. His recollections of Suffolk’s past indicate the depth and length of his involvement in Suffolk. For example, Judge Donahue recalls that in the ’20’s, a law professor got $15 for teaching from 6 to 9 p.m. and that the total budget for the entire law faculty in those years was $15,000.

Judge Donahue presides daily in Courtroom 1006 at the Suffolk County Courthouse and this year marks his 40th year as a Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court. A Clerk of Court told us that Judge Donahue “is the first one in and the last one out of this courthouse, every day.” Since he’s been on the bench, the Judge feels that the most valuable work he has done is with the Judicial Council. He wrote and sponsored the legislative act which created the Appellate Division of the Superior Court, comprised of five Superior Court Justices. Other states have followed this lead — another example of the vision of this remarkable man.

Since the death of his wife in 1961, Judge Donahue has traveled extensively each summer, mostly to Europe, and London, “my favorite city.” An ardent walker, he manages at least four miles a day during the week, and last Sunday he walked 22 miles. “I’ve walked my way into old age,” he smiles.

The original Suffolk charter hangs on the wall in the President’s conference room. On it is affixed the signature of the then Secretary of State, Frank J. Donahue. That office is located in the Frank J. Donahue Building. He was a student here, and became an alumnus. He was a faculty member here, and became a trustee and administrator. His presence at Suffolk is a source of continuing pride.
Afro-American Library Established

A collection of Afro-American literature, featuring the complete works of noted black writers, has been established jointly by Suffolk University and the Museum of Afro-American History.

The announcement was made by Thomas A. Fulham, president of Suffolk University, and Henry E. Hampton, president of the Museum of Afro-American History, which several months ago purchased the African Meeting House on Smith Court, off Joy Street, from Congregation Ansell Lebariz.

Under the agreement, it is envisioned that the collection will serve as the nucleus for a permanent center in Boston for the study of Afro-American literature. It will be housed principally at Suffolk's college library and be staffed by Suffolk personnel.

"We view the establishment of such a collection as a cooperative step by two neighbors to foster closer racial relations," President Fulham and Hampton said in a joint statement.

The collection will contain the complete works of all important Afro-American writers, including poetry, plays, novels, short stories, and essays in both book and periodical form, as well as critical, historical, biographical and bibliographical works on Afro-American literature by writers of all races.

Establishment came following discussions among Suffolk English Professor Edward Clark, J. Marcus Mitchell, curator of the museum, and Byron Rushing, administrator. Professor Clark long has been interested in racial literature and minority group rights. He also developed the first course in Afro-American literature at Suffolk.

The collection will serve many purposes. Suffolk students will be able to read works that go beyond textbooks and the collection will be available for perusal and study by museum visitors and members of the Greater Boston academic community.

Suffolk will contribute to the financing of the collection, and both institutions will aid in fund-raising efforts for support and maintenance of the collection.

Alumni Day Smash Success

Despite heavy rainstorms, the largest crowd ever to attend an Alumni Association Alumni Day Dinner jammed the cafeteria on Saturday evening, May 20. The event began with a reception hosted by President Fulham in the President's conference room and was followed by a deluxe buffet dinner and an evening of dancing. For the first time in years, tables were arranged by classes and Alumni had a chance to renew old acquaintances. While in recent years attendance has been heavy from the more recent classes, this year nearly all classes of the colleges and law school were represented with a heavy contingent of the Law School Alumni from the 30's and 40's.

The entire evening was planned by Miss Dorothy McNamara, Secretary of General Alumni Affairs, and everything went off without a hitch. For the fall, Miss McNamara is planning a new Alumni event — HOMECOMING. More on that in the issue of ALUMNI NEWS next September.

President Fulham Named to Four Posts

President Thomas A. Fulham has recently been named to four posts. The first appointment is to serve in an Interim Planning Group to explore the concepts of the Open University and the External Degree program for Massachusetts. The appointment was made by Lieutenant Governor Donald Dwight.

Secondly, Mark C. Wheeler, Chairman of the Massachusetts Health and Educational Facilities Authority, announced the appointment of President Fulham as a member of the Authority. President Fulham succeeds Mrs. Margaret Merry, past President of Wheelock College, as a member of the Authority.

President Fulham has also been named to the Executive Committee of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts. Serving with President Fulham are the following leaders in private higher education: Jerome B. Weisner, President, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, George W. Hazzard, President, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Frederick C. Ferry, Jr., President, Pine Manor Jr. College, Henry J. Courniotes, President, American International College, Kenneth J. Greene, President, Babson College, Richard Chapin, President, Emerson College, and William C. H. Prentice, President, Wheaton College.

President Fulham was also elected to the Board of Directors of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and was installed in office at its May meeting.

We're sorry if we are still using an incorrect address for you. Our new computer system which incorporates the changes you indicated on your questionnaires will not be fully operational until late summer. Until then, we are forced to use the older address plates.

In other actions of the Board of Trustees at their Annual meeting, Trustee Herbert C. Hambelton, Jr. was elected Vice-Chairman of the Corporation; Trustee George C. Seybolt was elected Life Trustee.
Board Approves Purchase of Wright & Potter Building - Occupancy is Two Years Away

At its April meeting, the Board of Trustees formally approved purchase of the Wright & Potter Building, adjacent to the Archer Building. The University has been negotiating to buy the five-story structure for many months.

President Fulham expressed confidence that final papers might be passed by the end of July but noted that the University must also obtain a variance so that the building can be used for educational purposes. He also pointed out that it will be two years before Suffolk can occupy the property because of present tenancy arrangements.

The building, located at 32 Derne Street and owned by the Wyman Trust, has approximately 38,000 square feet and has been used as a printing plant for more than 40 years.

Dr. Donald Grunewald is Named President of Mercy College in New York

Dr. Donald Grunewald, vice president of Suffolk University and dean of the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Journalism, has been named president of Mercy College in Dobbs Ferry, New York. He will leave Suffolk at the conclusion of the academic year.

President Fulham made the announcement in a memorandum to the Board of Trustees, Faculty, Administration, Staff, and Student Body. “We wish him every success which we know will be his,” the President noted.

Dean Grunewald, 38, came to Suffolk in January, 1967 when he was appointed dean of the College of Business Administration. In July of 1969, he was appointed dean of the College of Liberal Arts and vice president of the University. He will become the first male president of the private, nonsectarian College with more than 1,000 full time and 600 evening students. Mercy College is co-educational.

“We are sorry to see Dean Grunewald leave Suffolk University which he has served with utmost dedication and made significant contributions both as dean of the College of Business Administration and the College of Liberal Arts,” President Fulham said.

Dean Grunewald, in discussing his new position, said: “I have enjoyed my five years at Suffolk University immensely. I am happy to have been a member of the Suffolk family during its recent growth and am proud to have worked with so many dedicated people.

“I have made many friends at Suffolk among the students body, faculty, staff, and Board of Trustees and will always cherish these friendships. However, the opportunity presented to me at Mercy College is a very attractive one and I eagerly look forward to it. I will always hold a special place in my heart for Suffolk University.”

Dr. Ronayne Named Dean (cont. from page 1)

Committee interviewed candidates both within the University and outside.

Dr. Ronayne came to Suffolk in 1966 as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Chemistry. Since his arrival at Suffolk, he has taught physical and inorganic chemistry at both the graduate and undergraduate levels with graduate emphasis in Kinetics, Thermodynamics and Photo-Radiation Chemistry.

Simultaneously, Professor Ronayne has held offices on and been a member of several committees including Speaker of the Educational Policy Committee, President of the Suffolk University Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, member of the Academic Standing Committee, the Joint Council on Student Affairs, and the Committee on Promotion, Tenure and Review.

Dr. Ronayne has authored and co-authored several articles in his field and is listed in American Men and Women of Science and Outstanding Educators of America.

Dr. Ronayne was born in Boston and married to the former Joanne Rooney. He received his B.S. from Boston College and his PhD in Physical Chemistry from the University of Notre Dame.

ALUMNI NEWS would like to add its congratulations and best wishes to those of the students, faculty and administration of the University.

the University to succeed the late John B. Hynes, former Mayor of Boston.

Prior to his becoming Treasurer, Mr. Flannery held the position of Assistant Treasurer since 1964, when he came to Suffolk.

Mr. Flannery is a member of the Investment and Finance Committees of the Board of Trustees and is a member of several professional associations including the Association of College and University Business Officers, the College and University Personnel Association, the American College Public Relations Association, the Massachusetts Society of CPAs and the American Institute of CPAs.

Treasurer Flannery was a member and later Chairman of the Town of Brookline Personnel Board. He resigned that post to become the first lay head of Saint Mary’s of the Assumption Parish Council.

A graduate of Boston College, Mr. Flannery received an M.B.A. at Suffolk and is a Certified Public Accountant. He and his wife, Mary, and their four children live in Brookline.

The University is pleased with the action of the Board of Trustees and the ALUMNI NEWS adds its special good wishes and congratulations.
In this issue, because of several requests, we've divided the class notes into two sections - The Colleges and The Law School. Hopefully, this will make reading them more enjoyable and finding news of classmates easier.

Thank you for your responses to the questionnaire we included in the last issue of Alumni News. Most news has been included; however, there are a few responses we received after the notes went to the printer. If yours is one of them, it will be included in the first issue next fall.

In the meantime, if you have any more news, let us hear from you. Address your letters to Miss McNamara, Office of Alumni Affairs, Suffolk University, 41 Temple Street, Boston, Mass. 02114. We look forward to your letters.

Alumni Fellows Program Announced

A new awards program has been established by the General Alumni Association. As structured, it will name outstanding alumni to a group which will be called Alumni Fellows. The program will annually honor three Suffolk graduates who have distinguished themselves in their professional careers or in community or social service. First awards will be presented at a special Homecoming Day event tentatively scheduled for early fall 1972.

Each alumnus will be advised of the event and sent special nomination forms. After nominations are received, a committee made up of administrators and faculty at Suffolk who are themselves Suffolk alumni will act upon them.

Law School Honors Former Supreme Court Justice

Justice Tom C. Clark, retired Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court was honored Wednesday, March 22 by the students of Suffolk University Law School at the annual moot court competition. The competition was named “The Justice Tom Clark Moot Court Competition” in the Justice’s honor. Prior to this year the competition had no formal title, but henceforth it will bear Justice Clark’s name.

Joining Justice Clark in judging the competition were Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Boston and Judge Frank J. Murray of the U.S. District Court, Boston.

The topic of the competition was “The Constitutionality of Discriminating Charter Privileges of Private Clubs.”

The winners of this year’s competition were Brian Riley of Providence, Rhode Island and Leonard Polletta of Waterbury, Connecticut. Second place went to Peter Feeberry of Wayland, Massachusetts. The winning team received $750 and Paul Revere bowls while the second place winner received $250 and a plaque.

Questionnaire Follow-Up

Follow up questionnaires have gone out to those alumni from whom we haven’t heard. The original questionnaire was mailed in December in an effort to update our records for re-accreditation. Response was good, but we still need information from more of you.

If you haven’t sent in either questionnaire, call Miss McNamara at 227-1040 and she’ll see you get another.

Suffolk Journal Rated First Class

Suffolk University’s student newspaper, The Suffolk Journal, has received a First Class rating in an evaluation of some 1,250 college publications by the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota.
