A Message from Miss McNamara

Dear Alumni —

With this November/December issue of ALUMNI NEWS, I would like to wish each of you the best for the upcoming holiday season. The renewed interest of so many of you in the Alumni Association is the most heart warming Christmas gift I've had in years.

I am sincerely pleased with the way alumni have been responding to our efforts and hope I will be seeing increasing numbers of you at future alumni events. I would also like to extend an invitation to come and visit Suffolk anytime — my door is always open.

You’ll be happy to hear that we’re getting the “bugs” out of the computer system and our list should be perfect by the first of the year — thank you for your patience! When the list is completed, you’ll be receiving your membership card for the Alumni Association along with a big sigh of relief from me.

Again, all the best to you and your families during the holidays and the year ahead.

Sincerely,
Dorothy McNamara

NEW ALUMNI DIRECTORS MEET

The newly elected Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association held its first meeting on Monday, November 20. Twenty-eight of the thirty-three directors joined with President Fulham and Miss McNamara in discussing the Association, its future and the role of directors in implementing its programs in coming years. If the enthusiasm and the high percentage of directors present that night are any indication of the future, the new Association has many vigorous and productive years ahead of it.

The dinner meeting was preceded by a reception hosted by President Fulham. Frank Daniels ’23, the senior alumnus on the Board was designated as acting chairman until the officers of the Association are elected.

Following dinner, President Fulham welcomed the directors and expressed his enthusiasm for the large turnout that night and for the high interest of all the classes in the election of the new directors. President Fulham took several minutes to brief the directors on his thoughts on the role of the Association and on the plans of the University. He charged the directors with full authority for conceiving and implementing programs for the Association with strong back up support and coordination by Miss McNamara and the Office of the General Alumni Affairs. He added that in years to come, he hoped to see the University working very closely with its Alumni and looked forward to the time in the future when perhaps one or two seats on the University’s Board of Trustees could be set aside to be filled by the election of the Alumni themselves. While many Alumni currently serve on the Board of Trustees, they are not elected by the Alumni. In discussing current affairs at the University, President Fulham talked of plans to occupy the Wright & Potter Building in several years; the need for the University to continue moving forward if its to remain competitive and attract students. He added personal thoughts on several new programs the University was contemplating for the future including the establishment of a Center for State Government Management.

In an outline of programs that the directors could consider, it was suggested that they adopt by-laws, appoint a nominating committee to recommend a slate of officers and an Executive Committee, that the directors meet four times annually, that the Executive Committee meet monthly or as often as necessary and that the work of the Board and the Association be carried on via many committees made up of directors and members of the Association. Programs suggested to be undertaken in the Association’s first year were: the establishment of the best methods of serving the Alumni of the three colleges and the Law School as separate units under the aegis of the General Alumni Association, the establishment of class agents to serve as

Vincent Fulmer Appointed Trustee

Vincent A. Fulmer, Vice President and Secretary of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been appointed to the University Board of Trustees. He will be filling the vacancy of the late Joseph A. Sullivan.

Mr. Fulmer was appointed Vice President and Secretary of the Institute in 1963. At age 35 he was the youngest person to be appointed to a vice presidency since the founding of the institute. He has been a member of the Academic Council of M.I.T. since 1966.

In his present capacity, Mr. Fulmer supports the M.I.T. Corporation and its committees in administering the work of the Institute's governing body. He has special responsibility for facilitating and supporting the work of the Corporation Visiting Committees, which have grown to include some 400 members serving in thirty committees.

In addition to his services in behalf of the Corporation, Mr. Fulmer has overall responsibility for the direction and coordination of the Institute's relationships with industry. He has also served since 1963 as Executive Officer of the Development Committee of the Corporation, which is concerned with long-term financial planning.

Mr. Fulmer received his A.B. degree cum laude from Miami University in 1949. He later received an S.M. degree in economics and science from M.I.T., and an L.L.D. (Honorary) from Suffolk University in 1971.

In 1952, after graduate studies in economics at M.I.T. and Harvard University, he served as instructor in economics at Williams College, and in the following year returned to the Institute to accept administrative duties in the Executive Development Program in the School of Industrial Management. He joined the staff of the M.I.T. Industrial Liaison Office in 1953, becoming Director in 1958. From 1960 to 1963 he served as Executive Assistant to the Chairman of the M.I.T. Corporation while on leave from the Liaison Office, during the period of the Institute's Second Century Fund.

His professional affiliations include the American Economics Association, the Operations Research Society of America, and the Institute for Management Sciences; collegiate affiliations include Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Sigma Chi Fraternity. His other professional activities have included published articles on science and government and industrial consulting on area development. He is an advisor to the national office of the National Urban Coalition and to the Planning Office for Urban Affairs of the Archdiocese of Boston. He is a Trustee of the Institute of Social Technology of Puerto Rico and a former Trustee of the Children's Museum of Boston and the Boston Industrial Mission. He is Chairman of the Board of Governors of the M.I.T. Endicott House, and he is Treasurer of the XI Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa at M.I.T.

Mr. Fulmer was born in Alliance, Ohio, in 1927 and served in the Pacific Theater during World War II as a naval ordnance man. He is married to the former Alma Pineau of Woburn, Massachusetts; their residence is at 26 Kimball Road, Arlington. Their children are Kevan, Kristine, David, Amy, Charles and Alma Leigh.

ALUMNI NEWS would like to welcome Mr. Fulmer to the Board of Trustees.

GEORGE SPILLANE: Student, Teacher, Trustee

Historical Review — The Fifth in a Series

As he nears two and a half decades as a Suffolk University Trustee, George H. Spillane, Esq., has much to reflect upon in his life with his Alma Mater.

A graduate of the Class of ’21, he attended classes in Suffolk Law School’s first real “home” at 45 Mt. Vernon Street. In his spare time as a student, he would walk down the street and observe the construction of the new Suffolk on Derne Street. He watched the founder, Dr. Gleason L. Archer, supervise the building of the structure from the ground up.

ADDRESS ERRORS—BLAME THE COMPUTER!

Last winter, the Alumni Office began thinking and talking about putting all alumni names on computer tape. The reason for doing this was basically to facilitate operations and do away with the old addressograph plates which slowed everything down in terms of corrections and address changes. The computer tape method also offered increased capability in the area of generating just about any kind of listing. Thus, the tedious job of coding the names and programming the computer began last July, and we received the first print out just in time for the September ALUMNI NEWS. As you might guess, there are errors — and we apologize to all victims! The Alumni Office has just about completed correcting the print out and we anticipate a perfect list by the first of the year.

So what good does this do you? Well ... we will be able to compile just about any kind of list you can think of — by major field, by class, by degree, by region, by area of professional interest — and your new Board of Directors will be able to plan functions for specific interest groups, age groups, regional groups and so forth.

To top it off, we're planning an alumni directory which will list all alumni alphabetically within the Law School and Colleges by class. (It will be handy to have if you're planning a cross-country trip and need places to stay along the way). The directory will be available at cost sometime in 1973.

We apologize for any errors in your name and assure you that we're making every effort to correct them.

A TRIBUTE

DOCTOR CATHERINE FEHRER

Since she arrived on the Suffolk scene in 1948, Dr. Catherine Fehrer has been a vital part of the phenomenal progress of the Department of Modern Languages.

Perhaps the most tangible testimonial of her efforts while she was department chairman was the installation of our Language Laboratory. It is among the most modern facilities in the East — in fact, it is identical to the one at Harvard University.

Another of her involvements was the Trustees' sanction of a $2500 University Graduate Fellowship program which annually encourages an outstanding senior to continue at any graduate school.

A graduate of Vassar, Dr. Fehrer received the masters and Ph.D. degrees from Bryn Mawr. She also has done advanced graduate work at the Sorbonne, the universities of Florence and Mexico, and Middlebury College. She was instrumental in establishing Suffolk's Foreign Student Teacher Exchange Program, and has served as director of the Bryn Mawr Junior Year in France program while at Suffolk.

Currently on a year's leave of absence, Dr. Fehrer is now in Europe, involved in the new movement which is studying the Independent University and its role in education.

World traveler, she was on a tour of Latin America and made a hurried trip back to Suffolk to head the department when the late Dr. George McKee became ill in 1963. She was Chairman of Modern Languages until two years ago, when she decided to devote all of her time to teaching.

Another of Dr. Fehrer's accomplishments at Suffolk University is the establishment of the Foreign Student Assistant program. This program gives foreign students free tuition plus a stipend during their quest for a Suffolk degree. This year there are three students, one each from Germany, France, and Guatemala participating in the program. During their stay at Suffolk, these students, as a condition of participation in the program, work up to 10 hours per week aiding students in the study of their native language.

Due to her efforts, we now have a German Major at Suffolk, and the Russian language was taught here for the first time under her stewardship.

Dr. Fehrer has served on several college committees during her tenure, and is a member of the American Association of University Professors, the Modern Language Association, the New England Modern Language Association, the French Center in Boston, the French Library in Boston, and the College Club.

Her presence at Suffolk has been most valuable and we look forward to Dr. Fehrer's continued involvement in the University.

A LOOK AT CURRICULUM-
SUFFOLK VOLUNTARY DEFENDERS

One of the most popular electives in the Law School these days is run out of room 20N by Professor Wilbur G. Hollingsworth. The Suffolk Voluntary Defenders program is so much in demand that Professor Hollingsworth is able to pick the participants from over 200 interested second year day and third year evening law students.

Essentially a two year program, the Suffolk Voluntary Defenders program operates under Rule 3:11 of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The rule provides that a senior law student, with the written approval of the Dean of his character, legal ability and training, may appear without compensation on behalf of indigent defendants in criminal proceedings in any district court under certain specified supervision of a member of the bar.

The program under Professor Hollingsworth started with the beginning of the second semester in February 1970. A small group of day and evening seniors, after intensive instructions on district court procedure, were assigned to the East Cambridge and Somerville courts. At the same time, those third year evening and second year day students who desired to participate as seniors were receiving more detailed instructions on court procedure in preparation for the following year.

The number of participants in 1970 was 15; and, that number grew to 45 in the academic year 1970-71. Last year, the program generated so much interest among law students that 200 students attended the weekly preliminary lectures with no assurance that they would be accepted into the program their senior year.

Since the Voluntary Defenders program is in such demand, stringent guidelines must be used for selection of participants. Attendance at the weekly hour long lecture/discussion during the second year of law school (third year for evening students) is a primary consideration, if the Supreme Court requirement of "training" is to be given more than "token" recognition. A second criterion Professor Hollingsworth applies is the mark on an examination which, as he so aptly put it, is "Designed to make them fail." (The students, of course, being informed of this in advance.) Finally, the students who have successfully passed the first two tests are individually interviewed. This all takes place prior to senior year so that in September of the senior year, participants are trained, certified and ready to begin work in the District Courts. Since the 1971-72 academic year, students participating in the two semester program at the senior level have been granted four credits.

During their year as Voluntary Defenders, Suffolk students actually defend indigent defendants in the District Courts. It is Professor Hollingsworth's job to oversee and advise the Defenders in every case they handle — no simple job when one considers that last year and this year the participants numbered 85.

Briefly, the procedure for each case handled is as follows:
1) The student attorney is assigned to court on a rotation basis so that he will appear in court on each day of the week an equal number of times.
2) In court, the student is assigned one or more cases and asks for and is granted a continuance.
3) Within two days, the student must turn in a complete case which consists of the top sheet (name, address, etc.), copies of the complaints against defendant, and a running sheet (interview with defendant, etc.).
4) After reading the case, Professor Hollingsworth discusses with the student the points of law involved and what action is to be taken.

This process continues until the case is disposed of — a rigorous schedule for Professor Hollingsworth, and his door is always open for questions.

Currently, Suffolk Voluntary Defenders operate daily in the Salem and Lynn District Courts and 3 times weekly in the South Boston Court.

The reputation of Suffolk students is excellent and, when ALUMNI NEWS asked the Honorable Henry R. Mayo, Jr. (Judge for the District Court of Southern Essex at Lynn) about his experience with Suffolk's Voluntary Defenders, he said, "We consider that we are privileged to have them here." The Honorable Philip J. Durkin, (Judge for the First District Court of Essex at Salem) commented that "The program is running extremely well and Suffolk students make an excellent appearance before the court. They have shown both in the trials and disposition of the cases careful preparation and an understanding of the principles of law involved." He added that if the future months work out as well as have the past, "he will be most satisfied."

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

CONGRATULATIONS

ALUMNI NEWS would like to congratulate Miss Dorothy McNamara, Secretary of General Alumni Affairs, on her 45th anniversary at Suffolk. On her anniversary, November 28, a reception was held in her honor which was attended by administrators and faculty members from all segments of the University. Miss McNamara's continued service and dedication to Suffolk are appreciated.

Annual Appeal - Final Days

On December 31 at midnight, the First Annual Appeal will officially be ended; you’ve got only a few weeks to be counted among the contributors to the first appeal, and we hope you’ll join them.

The results of the First Annual Appeal have been particularly gratifying and in January, you will be informed as to the exact dollar amount raised and where your dollars are being spent.

So please take this last opportunity to join your classmates in their support of Suffolk and, at the same time, get your 1972 charitable deduction on the books for income tax purposes.

(Sheets postmarked after 12 midnight, December 31, 1972, cannot be counted in this year’s appeal.)

New Educational Placement Officer for the Colleges

Placement announces the appointment of C. Thomas Stefany as Educational Placement Officer. Mr. Stefany will serve to acquaint students and graduates with regard to teaching opportunities and aid them in seeking a teaching position. The Placement Bureau is a life-time source of information and aid to all Alumni of Suffolk University. Alumni are encouraged to avail themselves of this service by requesting the proper forms from the Placement Bureau, Room 21, Archer Building, or by telephoning 723-4700 ext. 259.

SUFFOLK ALUMNI ELECTED

Although a dozen or so years separate them on the Law School alumni mailing list, John J. Moakley ’56 and Terrence P. McCarthy ’70 have much in common. Both ran as Independents and won in hotly contested races against incumbents in the recent Massachusetts elections.

Congressman-elect Joe Moakley of South Boston beat Louise Day Hicks in a contest that drew national attention for the seat formerly held by former Speaker of the House John W. McCormack. Ex State Senator and State Representative Moakley, who currently serves on the Boston City Council, will now have an office across Government Center Plaza in the JFK Building, in addition to his Washington office.

State Representative-elect Terry McCarthy of Oak Bluffs won over Benjamin C. Mayhew, Jr. to represent Dukes County on Cape Cod. Operator of the only Volkswagen dealership on Martha’s Vineyard, McCarthy was President of the Student Bar Association during his senior year at Suffolk.
MBA Association has New Executive Secretary

The College of Business Administration has hired Edward S. Vaughn, Jr. (BSBA '68) to head a more concentrated effort in serving the members of the MBA Association. Mr. Vaughn received his undergraduate degree from Suffolk and, in 1972, his MBA from Boston College. This move on the part of the administration was prompted by the tremendous growth in size of the MBA program and the fact that currently MBA students make up a growing percentage of the total University enrollment.

Mr. Vaughn will be working in three major areas, namely: he will be working with the Admissions Office in recruiting MBA students, he will serve as Executive Secretary of the MBA Association in coordinating its activities and he will aid the Placement Office in developing employment opportunities for MBA graduates. It is his hope that stronger relationships can be formed among the University, the MBA students and the MBA alumni.

This year’s goals are several and Mr. Vaughn outlined them in an interview with ALUMNI NEWS. Mr. Vaughn hopes to maintain and increase the momentum which has developed in the program since its beginning four years ago. To do this, Mr. Vaughn intends to continue the MBA newsletter which was begun last year and to publish more frequently. He envisions increased communication among MBA students, MBA alumni, the University, smaller businesses in the area and the community at large. Other goals this year include instituting programs geared to meet the needs and interests of MBA students and alumni; and, the continuation and expansion of research programs such as DISC and the National Health Insurance Research Project—both done last year for SBANE (Smaller Business Association of New England).

Currently underway are plans for an MBA Christmas Party, a new resume placement project and speaker program.

contacts with each class means of generating current participation in the Association by undergraduates and graduate students who will be the Alumni of the future, continuation of the Annual Appeal, programs for Alumni such as seminars and an Alumni College, class reunions, and several social programs including the traditional Alumni Day Dinner in the spring.

In a lively and forthright discussion by the directors, it was decided to appoint a nominating committee who would recommend a slate of officers at the January 15 meeting of the Board.

The history of Alumni at the University was discussed at length with several directors paying tribute to Miss Dorothy McNamara not only for her many years of service to the University but also giving her credit for spearheading efforts to bring the Alumni together. A future project suggested was that the Alumni could undertake an effort to underwrite a new building which could be called the Dorothy McNamara Building. A strong effort was urged to promote the image of the

Upon graduation Mr. Spillane was admitted to the Bar, and the Suffolk Law Faculty, where he taught contracts for about a dozen years. But the Great Depression and its economic consequences forced him on a leave of absence from the faculty so that he could devote all of his energies to his job with the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

He retired in 1948, the John Hancock Co. cited him as “an outstanding businessman and Number One man in the Number One District Agency of the Company.” He is a member of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, and one of the best known life insurance, endowment, and annuity specialists in New England.

A life Member of the Board for ten years, he thoroughly enjoys his participation on the Board, and serving on the Finance and Auditing committees in particular, give him extra satisfaction.

Mr. Spillane saw Suffolk sprout from the corner at Derne Street. Years later he was a member of the Board of University and to acquaint the public with the role of the University in the education of the community.

Several directors commented on the perception of the University by Alumni graduating before and after 1948. The former, it was pointed out, felt that Suffolk University had given them an opportunity to obtain an education when it may not have been possible to do so elsewhere, with a resulting feeling of gratitude to the University. Those graduating after 1948, with an expansion of public higher education taking place, appeared to view the University from a different perspective and with perhaps different feelings. In this view, it was suggested that the Alumni consider doing something for the students presently at the University in order to develop a stronger feeling for the Alumni Association.

The directors agreed to meet four times a year beginning in January, to work as nearly as possible through committees, to review at the next meeting the range of programs discussed and to formulate specific plans to be implemented. All in all it was a great start.

Trustees which supervised the erection of yet another monument of Suffolk's steady progress—the Donahue Building.

One of his Board proposals that has been very successful was the creation of the Advisory Council to our College of Business Administration in 1961. It is presently composed of thirty local and national leaders from the various fields of the world of commerce.

He’s never missed a Board meeting, and rain or shine, he takes the bus to fulfill his duties in Boston. A longtime resident of Billerica, he likes to share gardening chores with his wife, Esther. Last year they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Suffolk is proud and honored to have George H. Spillane as a son—a student, a professor, and a trustee. One measure of Suffolk’s gratitude was its bestowal upon him of an honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree in 1948. The guidance of this man so deeply rooted in the growth of the University has been invaluable.
