AVERAGES, APATHY
MAKE SMALL VOTE

by Walter O. Dines

With only four out of twenty-six positions contested, the election of 1960 was a small vote. The candidates ran without opposition and the polls had to be filled through absentee. Election committee officials, however, were disappointed with the number of ballots cast, described the situation as "sad.

Mayor's Field Day

RECOGNITION DAY PRINCIPALS

Boston Mayor John F. Collins, center, an honor graduate in the Class of 1940 at Suffolk University Law School, was principal speaker at yesterday's Recognition Day ceremonies. With him are John V. Connors, assistant professor of English and director of student activities for the college, also a graduate of St. John's School and a Suffolk Law. Robert F. Monroe, right.

Farewell To The Seniors

Seniors, Class of 1960, when you come into Suffolk, you are entering a sphere of thinking and acting — is the outlook for tomorrow, a few air planes flying overhead. Now why are you leaving your alma mater, your realms of thought and action has been expanded into the large or small "universe.

We are prone to get pretty excited about the future in this space age and can become quite confused. But if a college education ever does anything for you, it should at least measure you that the fundamentals of knowledge, which were drilled into you, are applicable to every "out" whether large or small — whether in antiquity or the future.

Gravity holds the weight of the earth. Boston, Moscow, or Tokyo — or on the moon, and or Jupiter. The numerical value may differ from place to place, but the concept is the same. Atoms, radioactive elements, behave the same way. And energy will be exploited everywhere according to textbook theory.

Finally, remember that on this earth, the game of life is played according to fundamentals — the trend of which you learned at Suffolk.

After four years, we are still proudest and glad that we came to you at Suffolk. Farewell and fare thee well.

Much Effort Involved In 'Antigone' Production

By the Instructor

For the first time in the school's history, Antigone was staged, a feat that required a tremendous amount of effort on the part of the students. The students worked tirelessly to ensure that Antigone was a success. The production was not only a success, but it was also a reflection of the hard work and dedication of all involved.

Students! If you want to stay in college don't let your parents see the tall story.

Joshua's tall production of Tall Story stage smooth.
