PERLMAN PLEDGES TO ACCEPT CHALLENGES OF CITY AND UNIVERSITY

Pledging to accept the challenges of Suffolk University in its urban location and of the city itself, Dr. Daniel H. Perlman was inaugurated as the seventh president of Suffolk University on Wednesday, April 29 at John Hancock Hall.

With some 700 guests in attendance, including a number of relatives and friends, Perlman received the medallion of office from Chairman Vincent A. Fulmer.

In introducing the new president, Fulmer said that Perlman "has brought to the title of president of Suffolk University a new meaning and academic stature, a new message of hope for the students and faculty."

Delegates from more than 100 colleges and universities attended the installation.

Perlman, whose address entitled "Education for Opportunity," received a standing ovation, said Suffolk must accept the challenge of its urban location and consider the special role it can play.

He said it must also "recognize and confront the problems and opportunities of the city...but emphasized that "we must not claim to do more than we can by way of curing social ills, but we must not shrink from trying."

(See Page 2 for excerpts from address)
We must broaden our mix of students to assure that Suffolk University is fully reflective of the diversity in Metropolitan Boston and to ensure that Suffolk University continues to fulfill its complex mission of providing opportunities for those who seek a place on the ladder of achievement as well as opportunities for those who having climbed the ladder in one field seek to resume their education so they might move off a plateau or embark upon a new career.

We will seek to develop and enrich our curriculum: not so much by proliferation as by integration. We must examine the interconnectedness of things... As we examine opportunities for interdisciplinary studies, we should go back to the wellspring of the great thinkers of our culture and of other cultures to examine what is enduring rather than what is transitory, where our disciplines converge as well as where they separate.

We must recognize and confront the problems and opportunities of the city, but with a humility that admits that while complex social problems demand examination and study they are not easily solved by the application of technical measures....

...We must maintain the sound management and fiscal prudence that have provided the keel of stability, keeping Suffolk University on an even course. Such restraint will be at least as necessary in the future as in times past, given the projections we all confront.
BIG MOVE TO ASHBURTON
IS EXPECTED TO BEGIN IN MID-JULY

The first of a multiple stage move to the university's newly renovated 12-story building at 8 Ashburton Place is expected to begin about July 15, Vice President-Treasurer Francis X. Flannery reports.

At that time, all of the administrative offices presently leased on the third floor at 100 Charles River Plaza will begin the move to the new quarters. University Development, Alumni, and Public Relations, and Financial Aid will be located on the eighth floor as will the Instructional Materials Center and College Admissions, which will be vacating their present offices on Temple Walk. Accounting (Vice President's Office, Payroll, Business Manager, et al) will move to the seventh floor of Ashburton as will the College Registrar's Office. Data Processing, presently on the mezzanine level at Charles River, will also be on the seventh floor but will not move until the new Prime computer is installed at Ashburton in August.

In another move, the Athletic Department, presently on the mezzanine level at Charles River, will be located in the Ridgeway Building.

Flannery said that in early August the School of Management will move to the fifth and sixth floors of Ashburton. It is expected that the Mt. Vernon Building will remain open for classes until mid-August. Room 134 in the first floor of the Fenton Building will be converted to a student lounge, its original design.

While law school classroom expansion is underway in the Donahue Building this summer, the mailroom will be temporarily housed on the fourth floor of the Archer Building before eventually moving to Ashburton.

The College Library will remain at its present location until the Christmas break and then move to the first two floors of Ashburton. The Law School library is expanding to the College library present quarters.

Construction is still on schedule and classes are slated to open in the Ashburton Building in September.

"We may have some telephone loss in installing the new communications system," Flannery pointed out, "but we hope to keep it at a minimum. It will be an awfully busy time, the move coming while we will be having four summer sessions plus a summer law school session."

BEACON HILL SWEEP IS A COMMUNITY HIT

With President Perlman even joining in with a broom, Suffolk faculty, students and administrators teamed up for a cleanup of the area's streets on April 27 and 28.

Tagged the Beacon Hill Sweep by its chairperson Fran Burke, the sweep was part of the 75th anniversary activities proposed by the Jubilee Committee.

"It went over beautifully," said Burke. "The city cooperated with equipment and the Suffolk community really enjoyed getting involved."

The streets involved Derne, Temple, Ridgeway Lane, Hancock, and Mt. Vernon.

The Sweep also invoked media interest with Channel 5 sending Mary Richardson to interview Suffolk people and Channel 7 sending a film crew.
Among those attending the inauguration of President Perlman were his wife, Dr. Suzanne Perlman, formerly of the faculty at Northwestern University, their two children, Julia, 11, and David, 9, the new president's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Perlman of Chicago, and brother, Dr. Robert Perlman of Harvard Medical School. Vice Mayor Edward M. Sullivan brought the greetings of the city from Mayor White. Gov. Edward J. King was a last minute cancellation and was spelled by his legal counsel William Highgas. King was swearing in a judge in Springfield and foggy weather delayed him. The Charter Day reception for alumni at the Copley Plaza Wednesday evening attracted close to 800 and was a fine climax to the long day's activities. State Sen. Jack Brennan of Malden, who holds two degrees from Suffolk, read a resolution adopted by the State Senate hailing Suffolk on its 75th birthday. Sen. Fran Doris of Revere had a resolution introduced in the Senate commending the university on its selection of President Perlman as new chief executive. A nice touch to the evening reception was the appearance of Arthur O'Shea of Brookline, a member of the class of 1929, presenting President Perlman a copy of the commencement program of that year's graduating class in the law school. For many years, O'Shea was executive secretary to the Board of Selectmen in Brookline.

Outgoing Student Government President Mary Singleton and John Zorka of the Alumni Association brought the greetings of their respective groups at the luncheon for delegates preceding the inaugural ceremonies. Others bringing tributes at the inauguration were Dr. Kenneth G. Ryder, president of Northeastern University and executive chairman of AICUM (Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts), Allen E. Koenig, president of Emerson College and representing the American Council on Education, John Phillips, president of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, and Law Prof. Alfred I. Maleson, speaking on behalf of the faculty. President Emeritus Thomas A. Fulham delivered the welcoming address and Board Chairman Vincent A. Fulmer presided at both the luncheon and inaugural ceremonies. Telegrams were read from Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Paul S. Tsongas wishing the new president the best of luck in his tenure. On hand to see Perlman installed was his former boss, Dr. Rolf A. Weil, president of Roosevelt University in Chicago. Coming in from Mercy College for the inauguration was Dr. Donald Grunewald, that college's president and former Suffolk vice president. Grunewald renewed acquaintances with many Suffolk friends. Charter Day - Inauguration Day was also the birthday of CLAS Dean Mike Ronayne.
PRESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT NAMED - Dr. Ronald G. Koback of Attleboro has been appointed assistant to the president of the university, President Perlman has announced.

Koback, 35, is formerly director of personnel services for the Attleboro school system, a position he held for nine years. In the newly created position, Koback will work closely with President Perlman in communicating administrative decisions, serve as presidential representative to groups within and outside the university, and provide research, analysis and written assistance on matters affecting the president's office.

A native of Woonsocket, R.I., Koback was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1967 with a B.A. in French and was selected for a year of independent study at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. He received his master of arts degree from the University of Rhode Island and his Ph.D. in educational administration from the University of Miami compiling a perfect 4.0 average. In 1980, he received a juris doctor degree from Suffolk Law School, attending evenings and ranking eighth in a graduating class of 125.

Koback and his wife, Sheila, have two children, Peter, 12, and Gretchen, 8.

Annuity income payments made to retired participants by the College Retirement Equities Fund rose by 36 per cent, effective May 1, CREF and the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association (TIAA) announced recently.

According to Tom Edwards, chairman and chief executive officer of TIAA-CREF, "The May 1, 1981 annuity unit value is $35.86, up from $26.27. This means, for example, that a retiree receiving 20 annuity units per month, and therefore $525.40 monthly since last May, will receive $717.20 monthly, 20 times $35.86 for the coming 12 months. Yearly changes in the annuity unit value since CREF began in 1952 have ranged from decreases of as much as 17 per cent to this year's increase of 36.5 per cent."

CREF variable annuity income, based on common stock investments is paid to retired participants in the form of annuity units. The number of units payable to a participant remains the same from year to year and the dollar value of each unit changes once each year on May 1. It reflects primarily the investment experience of CREF's common stocks for the preceding fiscal year - April 1 to March 31.

In addition to CREF incomes, most annuities also receive annuity income from TIAA. This is based primarily on bond and mortgage investments and consists of a fixed contractual amount of lifetime income, plus dividends as declared by the TIAA board of trustees.

SAFARLY INCREASE GUIDELINES ANNOUNCED - The Personnel Office has released the salary increase guidelines for support staff for the coming fiscal year. They show a total salary budget increase of 11 per cent, which is somewhat higher than a year ago.

Karen Hickey, personnel director, reminds department heads that increases should be based upon two factors: PERFORMANCE and POSITION in the salary range (comparative ratio).

Salary ranges have been increased by 8 per cent. Here are the comparative ratio listings.

- 85 to 94 - - Distinguished Performance - 11-14%; Fully Competent - 9-11%; Acceptable - 6-8%.
- 95 to 104 - - Distinguished Performance - 10-13%; Fully Competent - 8-11%; Acceptable - 5-7%.
- 105 to 115 - - Distinguished Performance - 7-10%; Fully Competent - 6-9%; Acceptable - 0%.

Questions on guidelines should be directed to Personnel Office.

OPEN ENROLLMENT FOR HEALTH INSURANCE - The Personnel Office reminds faculty and staff that June is open enrollment month for group health insurance plans. That is when you may enroll in the Harvard Community Health Plan if you haven't already or if you are presently enrolled in the John Hancock plan. Enrollment is also available in the Hancock plan.

Harvard Community Plan officials are planning to build a new health center in Medford Square. It should be open by July 1, 1982. Call Personnel Office if you have questions on either of the health plans.

NEW EMPLOYEES

Frank McCorty of Brookline - Alumni Records Clerk, Development Office.

Sonnie Robinson of Lynn - Secretary, Development Office.

Ann Bishop of Charlestown - Secretary, Dean's Office CLAS/Education.

The University was saddened to learn of the death of retired Athletic Director and Basketball Coach Charlie Law. The popular mentor died at Cape Cod Hospital, Hyannis on April 24 after a long illness.

Law organized the athletic program at Suffolk in 1946 as well as serving as director of physical education. He coached basketball, hockey, baseball and golf during an association of 32 years with the school. He retired in 1978. Last Fall, he and his wife, Phyllis, moved to Yarmouthport.

Known to his colleagues as the "Dean of New England Basketball Coaches," Law compiled an NCAA-coaching record of 295 wins and 258 losses. In his last two years of coaching, 1975 and 1976, his basketball teams competed in the NCAA Division III post season tournament. His 1976 team was ranked 15th in the nation in its division.

Francis X. Flannery, vice president and treasurer, called Law "a fine man of outstanding ability who gave a lifetime of dedicated and devoted service coaching and helping others."

In addition to his Suffolk duties, Law was a member of the Harvard University football coaching staff for 22 years.

Besides his widow, Mr. Law leaves two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Phifer of Santa Barbara, Calif. and Miss Janet Law of Auburndale, and a grandchild.

Funeral services were private.

The law school will be one of seven law schools from throughout the nation that will host a CLEO (Council of Legal Education Opportunity) summer institute for economically and educationally disadvantaged students.

The Suffolk program, under the direction of Associate Prof. Russell G. Murphy, will run for six weeks beginning June 22.

Some 30 graduating college seniors, certified by the national CLEO office in Washington, D.C. as potentially qualified for law school admission, will participate in the program.

"These institutes are designed to provide selected students a means of identifying their capacity for law study and an opportunity to acclimate to that process," Prof. Murphy explained. "They are the essential vehicle for CLEO's primary objective which is to provide educationally and economically disadvantaged students an opportunity to attend an accredited law school and to improve their prospects for graduation and entry into the legal profession."

Other law schools hosting 1981 institutes are Ohio State, Georgetown, Arizona State, University of Kansas, Mercer, and the University of Puget Sound.

SUFFOLK RECEIVES COMMUNITY GRANT - The university is one of 10 urban colleges and universities to receive a $3000 program development grant for community revitalization projects this Spring. The awards were made by the Center for College and University Partners in Community Development in Washington and part of a unique program to foster college and university participation in inner-city rejuvenation involving higher education associations, federal and local government agencies and associations of public officials.

The Suffolk project is for development of a master community plan that would satisfy the university's need for more space, insure historic building preservation, meet the community's need for better housing and Boston's need to increase its property tax.

"ON THE HILL, OFF THE RECORD," the School of Management's business/government breakfast forum, held its closing session on May 12 at the Parker House with the topic "A Look at Federal and State Regulations Affecting the Securities Industry." The program featured the following speakers: James Dowd, president of the Boston Stock Exchange; Michael Unger, director of the State Securities Division; Francis X. Knox, assistant counsel for the National Association of Securities Dealers and Willis H. Riccio, regional administrator for the Securities and Exchange Commission. William Geary, lecturer in the School of Management, and executive director of the Advertising Club of Boston, served as moderator for the forum, which is funded by the Gillette Co., State Street Bank and Trust Co. and Shelby Cullom Davis Foundation.

PETHERICK STUDIO HAS NEW HOME - The Florence R. Petherick Art Studio, named for Suffolk's retired humanities professor, will be relocated in the Fenton Building Rm. 636A when the Mt. Vernon Bldg. closes. Presently on the fourth floor of Mt. Vernon, the studio recently displayed a collection of artist-in-residence Ray Parks' paintings of the Cobscook Bay area. The program was hosted by the Humanities Club and the Beta Beta Beta Biological Society. Among the guests was Dr. Petherick.

FUND FOR LEFTIN - The Suffolk University Sigma Xi Club has established an undergraduate research fund in memory of late Chemistry Prof. Jehudah H. Leftin. Dr. Maria M. Bonaventura, department chairperson, said that monies from the fund are expected to be used to support, encourage and reward undergraduate research. Contributions should be made directly to the club by check to treasurer Dr. Martha Richmond of Chemistry.
SUFFOLK'S OUTSTANDING STUDENT — Susanne M. Radovich of Milton, a senior in the School of Management, was chosen outstanding student during Recognition Day activities. A finance major, she compiled a 3.85 average in SOM to top that college and was chosen Outstanding Student for participation in school activities. Dean Richard L. McDowell presents Radovich with business school award.

COMPARING MEDALLIONS in light moment after presidential inauguration are newly installed President Perlman and Dr. Donald Grunewald, president of Mercy College, N.Y. since 1972.

SENATE LAUDS SUFFOLK — Sen. John A. Brennan, Jr. of Malden (B.S.B.A. '70, JD '73) presented President Perlman with Senate-adopted resolution hailing Suffolk's 75th anniversary at Charter Day reception for alumni.

FIRST MIGLIORINI AWARD WINNER — Daniel R. Taylor of Auburndale was the first recipient of the Andrea and Maria Civita Migliorini Award established by Dr. Maria Migliorini Bonaventura in her parents' memory. Bonaventura makes presentation to Taylor for his meritorious performance in chemistry, exemplifying Suffolk's motto of honesty and diligence.

35 YEARS OF SERVICE — The old-timer of the Suffolk faculty in point of service, but looking 20 years younger than retirement age, John Colburn of English admires clock presented to him at a retirement party. Applauding are from left, Dean Michael R. Ronayne, English Chairman Fred Wilkins, Dr. Stanley Vogel, and Associate Dean Joseph H. Strain.
ADMITING PLAQUE honoring late Jehudah H. Leftin at Science Banquet are from left, his son, Barry, and widow, Mildred Leftin, President Perlman and Chemistry Department Chairperson Maria M. Bonaventura. Plaque later was placed on the door of Leftin's former office, now a laboratory, Archer 65A.

SUFFOLK SPEAKER — Geoffrey Marshall, deputy chairman of the National Endowment for Humanities, addressed a Suffolk faculty gathering on May 13.

COLLEAGUES TOGETHER AGAIN — Retired Humanities Professor Dr. Florence Petherick was among the guests at the exhibit of Suffolk's Ray Parks' paintings of Cobscook Bay.

Public Management's CHUCK DAVIS has written an article "Veterans Preference, Affirmative Action and Public Employment" that will appear in an upcoming edition of the Journal of Public and International Affairs. DON MORTON, assistant professor of sociology, will participate in the Institute for the Humanities and Criminal Justice offered this summer at Boston University. CYNTHIA LATTA of Government and Economics presented an economic analysis on Proposition 2½ in a paper presented at the annual meeting of the Eastern Economics Association in Philadelphia. ARTHUR P. CHIASSON of Humanities and Languages has had his poem, "Solemn Season," accepted for publication in the Fall issue of New Voices in American Poetry (Vantage Press). And an excerpt from English's ROBERT JOHNSON'S Francis Ford Coppola book has been reprinted in Contemporary Literary Criticism, Vol. 16.

DR. JOHN L. SULLIVAN of Sociology took part in the 1981 symposium on aviation psychology at Ohio State University and delivered a paper on pilot-controller positions at a seminar on communicating for air safety sponsored by Eastern Air Lines and Embry Riddles Aeronautical University at Daytona Beach, Fla. DR. JOE McCARTHY of Education served as a commentator in a session on Catholic Graduate Education in the 1920's and 1930's at the Spring Meeting of the American Catholic Historical Association. Dr. LOUIS A. D'ABROSCA of Education served on a visitation team at Johnson and Wales College in Providence. DON FIORILLO of Sociology will offer a series of workshops on field experience next Fall. He urges sophomores and transfers to attend these pre-intern orientation sessions which will be held on Tuesdays from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m. in Fenton 438. Public Management's DON LEVITAN is the first faculty member to be accepted for membership in Pi Alpha Alpha, the National Honor Society of Public Administration.

Three Suffolk seniors, majoring in sociology, have successfully completed an in-service training program at Boston Juvenile Court. The program, under the supervision of Suffolk instructor ED SKEFFINGTON, chief probation officer at the juvenile court, added BRIAN BEATTY, THOMAS KEAVERY and JOHN MORRISSEY to 70-plus students who have gone through it during the past 15 years. JIM CORNELL, instructor in Journalism, has a new book out. It's entitled The First Stargazers: an Introduction to the Origins of Astronomy, published by Charles Scribner's Sons, N.Y. Dr. MARIA M. BONAVENTURA of Chemistry reminds us that 1969 alumnus Dr. ROBERT L. CARET (A.B.) has co-authored a recently published textbook on organic chemistry - Organic Chemistry. Once a part-time lecturer at Suffolk, Caret teaches at Towson State University.

It was last summer when the tall ship Regina Maris took a Suffolk crew to Cobscook Bay. Now the biology department has utilized the barkentine again. Dr. ROBERT HOWE and student ELAINE HYNES of the department were among a team that sailed to the Bahamas in a research effort funded in part by the World Wildlife Fund and New York Zoological Society. Included was a visit to the uninhabited island of East Plana for study of a unique, endangered rodent, the Bahamian hutia... The Student Government Association honored Dr. ALBERTO MENDEZ and BARBARA FIENMAN, asst. student activities director, as outstanding faculty and administrator at its senior banquet, second time Mendez captured the honor... Congratulations to MELANIE ZYBALA, lecturer in history, who's been selected to participate in the 1981 Summer seminar program for college teachers, sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities. She's received a $2500 stipend to study at Cornell University. Have a nice summer!
