Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN), vol. 11, no. 1, September 1981

Suffolk University Office of Public Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun

Recommended Citation
https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun/126

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN) by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.
FOUNDER'S DAY FETE OFFICIALLY OPENS DOORS TO 8 ASHBURTON PLACE

Sept. 19, 1981 very likely will be recorded by Suffolk University historians as one of the most memorable days in the school's history.

On that day, the university's 75th jubilee observance was climaxed by a Founder's Day ceremony that officially opened the university's 12-story building on Ashburton Place.

Some 250 special guests were on hand as President Daniel H. Perlman and other officials cut the ribbon in the foyer to mark the official opening of the impressive structure, remodeled at a cost of $9 million. Classes are already being held in the building which will house Suffolk's School of Management and a number of administrative and faculty departments.

Calling the event a special day in the university's history, Perlman pledged to use the facility "as a center for responsive urban education of the highest quality."

Perlman was joined for the ceremonies by Board Chairman John S. Howe, Former Chairman Vincent A. Fulmer, Trustee John M. Corcoran, chairman of the building committee, Former Building Committee Chairman Michael L. Linquata, Trustee Dorothy A. Antonelli, and Darren Donovan, president of the Student Government Association.

(Continued on Page Three)
President's Corner

I want to welcome back to Suffolk University the members of the faculty who were away for the summer and extend a special welcome to those new members of the faculty in Law, in Management, and in Arts and Sciences, who join us this year; your presence strengthens the University.

The 1980-81 academic year was a good one for Suffolk University. Our students won unprecedented academic honors in various fields, notably Accounting, Biology, Debate, Physics, and in Law. The faculty were exceptionally productive in classroom teaching, in providing public service, and in publishing the results of their scholarship and creative writing. Many of you have sent me copies of reprints which I appreciate receiving.

In the several months since the publication of the last issue of The SUN, much has happened at Suffolk University that is noteworthy:

- CLEO Program. The Law School conducted a very successful CLEO program for 35 students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds who subsequently entered law school this fall. This program, under the direction of Professor Russell Murphy, provided six weeks of intensive study, simulating the first year of law school. Suffolk University was the only institution in this region to conduct a CLEO program which is made possible by a federal grant and assistance from the neighboring law schools. The students were housed in the dormitories at Emerson College and attended classes in the Donahue Building.

- 8 Ashburton Place. On September 19, Founder's Day, the ribbon was cut on our newest building at 8 Ashburton Place. This 12-story building, containing some 140,000 square feet, is now both the oldest and newest of our facilities, built originally in 1915 for the Boston City Club and totally rehabilitated by Suffolk University in 1980-81. This building provides an excellent addition to our physical plant, enabling us to relinquish costly rental space at Charles River Plaza and to sell the outdated energy-inefficient building on Mount Vernon Street. Above all, it greatly improves the quality of classroom space available to our students. Simultaneously, we have moved ahead with a two-phase renovation of our existing facilities in the Donahue, Archer, and Fenton buildings in accordance with our overall plan. Minor improvements were also made in the Ridgeway and 56 Temple Street buildings as well.

- Founder's Day. Also on Founder's Day, we welcomed back to Suffolk University Cleason Archer, Jr., the son of the man who launched the University in 1906 and was its head for over 40 years.

- $250 Million Title III Grant. In August the University received word from the U.S. Department of Education that its application for support under Title III of the Higher Education Act was approved for $250,000. This money will be used during the 1980-81 academic year to establish a Learning Resource Center, to strengthen the Placement Office, to improve and expand our curriculum in the technology-related disciplines, in allied health, and in international management. Much hard work went into the preparation of the grant application. Much more work will go into the completion of the various activities we have decided to undertake. I am grateful for the efforts of Dean Ronayne, who organized the endeavor, and to all those who are assisting in its completion including Dean Strain, Dean McDowell, and Messrs. Garni, Rubino, Johnson, and West. This undertaking will help to strengthen the undergraduate programs at Suffolk University and expand our range of services for students.

- Public Administration Fellowship Grant. Professor Michael Lavin received a grant of $75,600 for fellowships for students in the Public Administration program. These fellowships will cover tuition and fees as well as providing a stipend for participants. Priority for the award of the fellowships will be given to groups, including women and minorities, who are underrepresented in the field of public administration.

- Kresge Foundation Challenge Grant. Suffolk University received a $250,000 Challenge Grant from the Kresge Foundation in Michigan to be used for our facilities development program as part of the Campaign for Excellence. This grant boosts the total raised in the campaign to date to $2.2 million.

(Continued on Page Three)
The Kresge grant was the first gift to the university from a major national foundation. The policy of the Kresge Foundation is to award grants only to financially healthy institutions with a strong potential for stable enrollment. The campaign, under the leadership of trustee John Howe, has been making good progress. We will soon begin a "phonathon" to contact as many of the university's alumni as possible. I am grateful to those members of the faculty and administrative staff who have already made substantial gifts and pledges to the campaign. Many are taking advantage of the payroll deduction system to spread out the payment of their gifts. The University is also prepared to discuss estate planning options with anyone who is interested.

With a large enrollment of incoming and returning students, with new facilities, and with several new additions to our faculty and staff, we look forward to an excellent year for the Suffolk University community.

Daniel Perlman

JUBILEE '75 - WHAT'S AHEAD

School of Management 75th Jubilee Convocation, October 15, 2:00 p.m., Dean's Conference Room, Room 521, 8 Ashburton Place, and 5:30 p.m. at the Parker House, Boston.

Law School 75th Anniversary Colloquium, October 29, 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m., Law Library, 5th floor, Donahue Building.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences 75th Anniversary Colloquium, November 5, 4:00 p.m., location to be announced.

FOUNDER'S DAY (Continued from Page One)

The ribbon-cutting was followed by the placement of a time capsule within a wall on the doorway outside the building. The capsule contained a number of Suffolk memorabilia and periodicals.

Following the opening, guests moved to Temple Walk for the dedication of an alumni park with former President Thomas A. Fulham presiding. At this ceremony, History Prof. David L. Robbins, chairman of Suffolk's Heritage Committee, outlined the background of the Heritage Project.

Seven persons were recognized for their contributions to Suffolk development over the years (three of them are deceased) with President Perlman presenting medallions to the recipients or family representatives.

Cited were founder Gleason L. Archer, with his son, Gleason Archer, Jr., accepting and delivering remarks, the late Pres. Judge John E. Fenton, with son, Judge John E. Fenton, Jr., accepting, the late Treasurer Judge Frank J. Donahue, with Daniel Donahue, grandnephew, accepting, Carrola Bryant, former college registrar (she was unable to be present and her niece Hope B. Hynes of Newton, accepted), Trustee John Griffin, founder of the business school, with Virginia Rice, eldest daughter, accepting, Catharine Finnegan, Archer's administrative assistant, and former Bursar and Alumni Director Dorothy M. McNamara.

McNamara, known to thousands of Suffolk students affectionately as "Miss Mac," served the university for 47 years before retiring in 1974.

A tour of the new Ashburton facilities and a reception in the third floor cafeteria concluded the afternoon festivities.

In the evening some 400 of Suffolk's faculty and staff gathered at the Deans' Founder's Day reception at the Kennedy Library. Fourteen long-time members of the Suffolk faculty were honored for service of over 10 years. (See Personnel Page for story)
News From The Schools

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

The Physics Department is savoring the delights of two honors its Society of Physics received over the summer.

Not only was the society designated as an Outstanding Society of Physics Chapter but it received two outstanding awards.

The 25-member chapter, under the advisory direction of Dr. Walter H. Johnson, department chairman, received a 1981-82 Bendix Award of $485, the largest of some six awarded by the Bendix Corporation, and a $75 Marsh W. White Award for a student project involving a field trip to Cobscook Bay for study and measurement of a sun tracking solar collector.

The Outstanding Chapter Award is given to only 36 of the 500 SPS chapters in the United States. It recognizes the high quality of a chapter's activities during the academic year.

The Bendix Award stemmed from Suffolk's proposal "Radiation Damage in CdTe Crystal Nuclear Detectors" and was submitted by society members Chris Devaney and Richard DeVito.

The White Award was from a proposal submitted by Trefina Gindi and Irwan The. Seven colleges and universities received this award.

The University Counseling Center has announced its Fall, 1981 seminar program with Joan MacVicar, staff psychologist, speaking on "The Use of Imagery in Clinical Assessment" in the Goodrich Conference Room, Fenton 234, on Sept. 30 from 9 to 11 a.m.

The Biology Department is offering a special course in tropical marine ecology that will feature a sail on the Regina Maris, one of the tall ships that sailed to Cobscook Bay a year ago. The course is open to science and non-science majors and fulfills a five-hour science requirement. Contact Dr. Arthur West, department chairman, at X347 in Archer 40 for additional information.

The department will present its first faculty colloquium featuring Dr. Margaret Raben discussing "Value Systems in the Built Environment: philosophy expressed in architecture."

The Department of Communications and Speech, in conjunction with the Walter M. Burse Debate Society, instituted a summer lecture series on Sunday evenings.

The program featured outstanding faculty from a number of New England institutions including Prof. Nicholas Burnett of Emerson College, John Meany of Boston College, Prof. Kenneth Strange of Dartmouth and Prof. David Snowball of University of Massachusetts, Prof. Robert Branham of Bates College and Prof. Dallas Perkins of Harvard.

The lectures were followed by question and answer periods and a large number of students returning as debaters attended.

The coaching staff of the Debate Society is made up of Dr. Edward J. Harris, Jr., department chairman, Prof. Gloria M. Boone, Brian R. Greeley, Stephen Doucette and Patricia Harrison.

The Psychology Department is holding an open house Friday Oct. 2 from 2 to 5 p.m. On Wednesday, Oct. 7 the department will present its first faculty colloquium featuring Dr. Margaret Raben discussing "Value Systems in the Built Environment: philosophy expressed in architecture."

(Continued on Page Five)
Encouraged by the success of its Saturday Executive M.B.A. program, the School of Management has instituted a Saturday M.P.A. (Master in Public Administration) program.

So far, 15 people have signed up for the program, which is a 48-credit curriculum with 16 courses over two years. Students take two courses each quarter, one in the morning and another in the afternoon with a new class admitted each Fall.

"The M.P.A. is built on the successful experience of the M.B.A. program, now in its fifth year," said Dean Richard L. McDowell. "Those enrolled are drawn from State, local and non-profit organizations as well as Federal."

Said Peter Nowak, who will direct the program, "The M.P.A. like the M.B.A. meets the needs of people who can't go to school full-time or evenings. There are a number of people who have evening meetings or work during the week."

Dean McDowell is hoping that the proposed M.P.A./J.D. program with the Law School will be ready for the Fall of 1982. This program would permit a student to complete in four years, a five-year program.

"While the law school has not yet voted on it, this would be the first major cooperative degree program between the School of Management and the Law School," McDowell said.

A maximum of 20 students would be permitted to enroll in both the Law School and M.P.A. under the design of the program.

- Maryann Bartolo -

The Department of Education has awarded funding for nine Public Service Education Fellowships within the M.P.A. program.

"This program, aimed at improving access to public service by Federal government, is designed for groups not heavily represented in the Federal work force," said Dean Richard L. McDowell.

It's the first time Suffolk has participated in the program.

Michael T. Lavin, assistant professor of public management, says the program will "enhance the ability of Suffolk's M.P.A. program to meet present and future needs for highly trained public managers especially in terms of training fully qualified women, minority and handicapped persons for professional career positions as public managers."

The fellows will be selected on the basis of demonstrated need, academic potential and status as an underrepresented group. Tuition, plus a $4500 stipend is the maximum that can be received.

Contact for the program is Dr. Michael T. Lavin, assistant professor of public management, or Donna Pastor in the Admissions Office.

A trio of SOM faculty took part in the Mass. Association of Public Accountants seminar on continuing professional education. Speaking on financial statement disclosures and programs were Accounting Professors Harold Stone, John Armstrong and Robert Waehler.
Suffolk University Law School hosted one of seven CLEO (Council of Legal Education Opportunity) summer institutes nationally for disadvantaged students during the summer.

How successful was it?

Successful enough for one visiting professor, who has directed three prior institutes, to call it "the strongest New England institute he has seen in seven years involvement in CLEO."

The program ran six weeks from June 22 and was directed by Russell G. Murphy, associate professor of law at Suffolk.

"It was successful," noted Murphy in that it insured every one of the 33 participants admittance to an ABA accredited law school this Fall."

Murphy said that the faculty concluded that all of the students taking part were capable of succeeding in the first year of law school.

All of the students were economically and educationally disadvantaged students, were graduating college seniors, certified by the national CLEO office in Washington, D.C.

The faculty was made up of Murphy, Wayne Budd, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association, Judge Roderick Ireland of Boston Juvenile Court, Suffolk Law Profs. Gerard Clark and Richard Perlmutter and Atty. Leslie S. Espinosa of Cambridge.

Edward J. Bander of the Law Library has been named a director of the new Albert Einstein Library in Barnstable Village. Bander continues to interpret the world of the colorful Mr. Dooley. Bander and Dooley were featured in Fair Share, a monthly publication for lawyers and Bander authored two articles in Butler's, a weekly journal for New England lawyers.

#

HOWE ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES: FULMER HONORED

John S. Howe, retired chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Provident Institution for Savings, has been elected chairman of the Board of Trustees at Suffolk University.

Howe, who heads up the University's capital campaign, succeeds Vincent A. Fulmer, who had served as chairman of the board for the past five years.

Howe has been a Suffolk trustee since 1974. His career in investment banking, commercial banking and savings banking spans more than 40 years.

President Perlman lauded both Howe and Fulmer for "giving unstintingly of their creative energies and considerable talents."

At a special reception honoring Fulmer for his service as chairman, Perlman noted that Fulmer was the motivating factor in the establishment of visiting committees, the student-trustee committee and the search committee for selection of president.

Fulmer and his wife, Alma, were honored at the Great Hall in Quincy Market with trustees and university officials in attendance. He was presented with a captain's chair and Revere bowl.
Personnel Page

14 RECEIVE SERVICE AWARDS AT DEANS' RECEPTION

Fourteen members of the Suffolk University faculty and staff received service awards for having completed more than 10 years employment with the university.

The awards program, begun a year ago, was part of the Deans' Reception at the Kennedy Library on Founder's Day.

One of the recipients, Prof. H. Edward Clark of English, received a captain's chair for having completed his 20th year as a member of the university faculty.

Honored for 10 years service to the university were:
Helen Borden of the Law Library; Harvey Cannon, Mailroom; Prof. Alexander Cella of the Law School; Prof. Arthur Chiasson of Humanities and Languages; James Coleman of the College Library; Karen DeCilio of Public Relations; Prof. Anthony Eonas of the School of Management; Prof. Glen Eskedal of Education; Prof. Walter Johnson of Physics; Marjorie Kelleher of Development; Prof. Joseph McEttrick of the Law School; Prof. Alberto Juan Mendez-Herrera of Humanities and Languages and Prof. Bernard Meyler of the School of Management.

President Perlman made the presentations in the film auditorium of the library.

#

RETIREMENT SEMINAR SET FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 6

"Countdown to Retirement," a pre-retirement planning seminar for university employees, will be presented for five consecutive Tuesdays beginning Oct. 6 from 3-5 p.m. at the Munce Conference Room (Archer 12).

Whatever your age and whether you're close to retirement or not, this program should be of interest to all. Experts in all related fields will direct the sessions, which will include such topics as the TIAA-CREF Retirement Plan, Social Security, Medicare and Supplemental Health Insurance, Financial and Legal Planning, Changing Roles, and Relationships in Retirement.

All faculty and staff have received a descriptive brochure and registration form. For additional information, contact the Personnel Office in Room 731, 7th floor, Ashburton Place.

#

A WELCOME TO NEW MEMBERS OF THE UNIVERSITY SUPPORT STAFF

Canute Byfield of Mattapan, utility person, Physical Plant; Salvatore Cravotta of Everett, secretary, College Registrar; Monica Dennis of Stoneham, secretary, Law Placement; Theresa Devereaux of Everett, secretary, Chemistry; Lillian DiCarlo of Chelsea, secretary, English; Debra Eastman of Somerville, secretary, College Placement; Donna Falk of Brookline, secretary, College Admissions; Dennis Ferriera of Charlestown, maintenance mechanic, Physical Plant; Leo Helmar of Milton, programmer, Data Processing; Lauren Kane of Boston, University Police Officer; Eileen Kelley of Everett, secretary, Associate Dean's - Law School; Lucius Lawrence of Dorchester, maintenance mechanic, Physical Plant; Thomas Lenox of Medford, University Police Officer. Also Annemarie Merlin of Jamaica Plain, secretary, faculty resource unit, School of Management; Pat Moynihan of West Roxbury, secretary, Accounting; Gloria Murray of Quincy, secretary, Athletics; Kevin O'Connor of Somerville, University Police Officer; Arthur Pappas of Somerville, utility person, Physical Plant; Barbara Passero of Brighton, secretary, Biology; Pasquale Piscitelli of Revere, University Police Officer; Elizabeth Rezendes of Somerville, data processing coordinator, Financial Aid; Karen Rogers of Somerville; data entry clerk, College Registrar; Susan Tatten of Jamaica Plain, staff secretary, President's Office; Lynette Vetrano of Malden, secretary, Law Faculty; and Debora White of Ashland, payroll assistant, Payroll.

(Continued on Page Eight)

The National Association of College and University Business Officers has cited Suffolk University for an innovative program which reduced campus operating costs.

Francis X. Flannery, vice president and treasurer, accepted the award in New York on June 25. Suffolk was one of 47 institutions honored at the annual NACUBO meeting.

The university recognized a savings of $6000 for preventive work and major repair work on law books without sending them to a commercial firm. Law Librarian Edward J. Bander and staff, by using a liquid plastic adhesive, cheesecloth as connector and wax paper as the protector of the other parts of the book, were able to keep more books on the shelves for use.

By doing so, they were able to devote more time for students' needs rather than to recordkeeping on books out for repair. The work was performed during summer when classes were not in session.

Paula Fleck, manager of student accounts, reminds all employees with dependents taking courses at the university that they must file the proper forms with the Personnel Office and the Accounting Office.

Failure to do so will result in the person receiving a bill from the Accounting Office.

---

Shown with President Periman after being honored at Deans' Reception for long-time service to university, 10 years or more, were from left: Prof. Alexander Cella, Prof. Glen Eskedal, Prof. Bernard Meyler, Harvey Cannon, (President Periman), Prof. Walter Johnson, Marjorie Kelleher and Prof. Alberto Mendez. Missing from photo are honored staffers unable to be present, Helen Borden, Prof. Arthur Chiasson, James Coleman, Karen DeCilio, Prof. Anthony Eonas, and Prof. Joseph McEttrick. Seated is Prof. H. Edward Clark.

Reaching 20 years of service to the university this year is Dr. H. Edward Clark of the English Department. Presenting him with a captain's chair is President Daniel H. Periman.
New Faces on Campus

(There are a number of new full-time faculty and administrators on campus as we move into the 1981-1982 academic year. Here are some of the people you may be meeting this year.)

ADMINISTRATION

CHRISTOU, CORILEE S., reference librarian, College Library. B.A. in classics (cum laude), Brandeis University, Master of Library Science (magna cum laude), Simmons College. Most recently she was government documents/reference assistant at M.I.T. Dewey Library.

KELLEY, JOSEPH M., capital campaign director. A.B. in psychology, Boston College. Previously was director, alumni support at Boston College.

WALSH, JOSEPH F., assistant director of college admissions. B.A. in philosophy, Maryknoll College, M.Ed. candidate, Boston State College. Before coming to Suffolk he was guidance director at Arlington Catholic High School.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

CHATTERJEE, KRISHNA, instructor in government and economics. B.A. in economics (with honors), M.A. in economics, Delhi University, M.A. in economics, Boston University. Previously was a lecturer in the department of economics and business management at Emmanuel College.

DiLIDDO, REBECCA, M., assistant professor of biology. B.S. in biology/chemistry, Milligan College, Ph.D. in biology, Ohio State University. Most recently was postdoctoral research associate at M.I.T. in biology department.

DREXLER, JOSEPH J., assistant professor of government and economics. B.A. in political science, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, M.P.A., Ph.D., University of Pittsburgh. Previously was assistant professor, political science department, Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

HOLLEY, JOHN C., assistant professor of sociology. B.A. in sociology and economic and social history, University of Kent, Canterbury, England, Ph.D. in sociology, University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Previously was assistant professor of sociology (visiting) at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, PA.

PEARY, GERALD M., assistant professor of journalism. B.A. in English, Rider College, M.A. in dramatic arts, New York University, Ph.D. in communications, University of Wisconsin. Previously was film critic and staff writer at the Real Paper in Cambridge.

WHITNEY, JAMFS N., assistant professor of mathematics. B.A., Haverford College, M.A., Ph.D., Brandeis University. Previously was lecturer at Boston State College.

LAW SCHOOL

DODD, VICTORIA J., assistant professor of law. B.A. (with honors), Radcliffe College, J.D. from University of Southern California. Most recently was visiting assistant professor at Pepperdine University Law School.

GREENBAUM, MARC D., assistant professor of law. B.A. (with honors), Rutgers College, J.D. (magna cum laude), Boston College Law School. Most recently an associate in the law firm of Foley, Hoag & Eliot.

(Continued on Page Ten)
SOLK, GERALD, associate professor of law. B.A. (with honors), Pepperdine University, J.D., University of California Law School, LL.M., New York University Law School, doctoral candidate in international economics at Sussex College in England. Most recently a visiting professor of law at the McDowell Law Center of the University of Akron.

WASSERMAN, SARAH L., assistant professor of law. B.A., Radcliffe College, J.D., Suffolk University Law School. She has served as director of the Prosecutors Program at Suffolk Law School from September, 1978 to the present.

ASHKEBONSSI, RAHMIN, assistant professor of finance. B.A., National University, Iran, M.B.A., St. Louis University, Ph.D. candidate, St. Louis University.

CHANG, CHUNG-sik, assistant professor of finance. B.A, Sogang University, Ph.D. candidate, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

HALLADAY, MAURICE, assistant professor of management and computer information systems. B.S., Tufts University, M.S., U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, Ph.D. candidate, University of Massachusetts-Amherst.

KOBU, BULENT, associate professor of management. M.S.M.E., Technical University of Istanbul, M.S.I.E., Purdue University, Ph.D., Istanbul University. Previously was associate professor of business at Istanbul University.

LEE, LUCY CHAO, associate professor of accounting. B.S., National Taiwan University, M.S., Ph.D., University of Illinois. Most recently was associate professor of accounting, University of San Francisco.

RAHMAN, MAWUDUDUR, associate professor of accounting. B.Com., M.Com., Dacea University, Bangladesh, M.B.A. Indiana University, Ph.D., Manchester University, England. Previously was visiting associate professor, University of Saskatchewan.

ZANZI, ALBERTO, assistant professor of management. B.S., M.B.A., Utah State University, Ph.D. candidate, University of Southern California.

BLOOD DRIVE SET FOR OCTOBER 16

The semi-annual Blood Drive, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, will be conducted on Friday, Oct. 16 at the Ridgeway Lounge.

This year's goal will be 100 pints and is being directed by Fraternity President Jack Cameron and Bill Fonte.

Red Cross beds and equipment will be set up throughout the day and all faculty, staff and students are encouraged to take part if they are able.

More than 80 pints were collected at the most recent drive. The drives are held during the Fall and Spring.

Asst. Activities Director Barbara Fienman reminds those planning to donate blood, there will be coffee and light refreshments available at the lounge.
NEW ENGLAND-CHINA CONSORTIUM
SPONSORS EVENING OF CHINESE CULTURE

On Saturday Sept. 12 the New England-China Consortium hosted an evening at the Museum of Fine Arts to benefit member organizations. The Consortium rented the West Wing of the museum so that members could view an exhibition of great interest to all - The Great Bronze Age of China. Seven hundred members of the Consortium attended, 73 of whom were Suffolk University faculty members and guests. Among the Suffolk people present were Dr. Cleophas W. Boudreau, chairman of the Humanities and Languages Department, and President Perlman and his wife Suzanne and daughter Julia.

The evening was highlighted by a lecture entitled "East meets West" given by Prof. Henry Tate, art historian for the New England Conservatory of Music. Appropriately in China at a similar function, there will be a lecture given entitled "West meets East." Music was provided by the Brass Ensemble from the New England Conservatory of Music. The ensemble gave up a few of their seats to Chinese students making this a truly bicultural event. Saki was served as well as some vintage domestic wine.

The New England-China Consortium is comprised of 50 member institutions of which Suffolk is a charter member. It is a fast growing organization and there is a waiting list for membership. "The Consortium is concerned not only with the cultural aspects of Chinese-American relations, but with the educational aspects as well, said Dr. Boudreau. "The Consortium sponsors Chinese students in America for one-to-two years and the students are coming to America primarily to study technological fields at the present time."

Dr. Boudreau and Dr. Donald M. Unger, chairman of the Education Department, are Suffolk's representatives to the Consortium.

Mr. Max Hesse of Chinese Educational Tours will arrange the tour. Sixteen members of the Consortium will be going. Dr. Boudreau hopes to be a member of the delegation.

The Consortium, still in its infancy, is already blossoming. It hopes to work towards progress in international education and cultural exchange. "Organizations such as the Consortium are helping open doors too long closed and it is a credit to Suffolk University to be involved in such an organization," said Prof. Boudreau.

- Julie Catalano -

FULMER HONORED — Presenting Paul Revere Bowl to Vincent A. Fulmer at recent reception in his honor is new Board Chairman John S. Howe while Mrs. Alma Fulmer and President Daniel H. Perlman look on.
October 7 - Psychology Department Faculty Colloquium Series, Dr. Margaret Raben, "Value Systems in the Built Environment: Philosophy Expressed in Architecture," 2-3:30 p.m., Goodrich Conference Room, Fenton, 234.

October 14 - Counseling Center Seminar Program, Paul Korn, "Consultation Skills and Their Application," 9-11 a.m., Goodrich Conference Room, Fenton 234.

October 15 - School of Management 75th Jubilee Convocation.
2 p.m., Dean's Conference, Room 521, 8 Ashburton Pl., Speakers: Eileen Schell, Secretary, State Office of Consumer Affairs, Regina Herzlinger, professor of business administration, Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, Charles McKay, senior vice president, The Foxboro Company.
- 5:30 p.m., Parker House, Boston, Dr. Warren Bennis, professor of research, University of Southern California School of Business Administration.

October 24 - Suffolk University Presidential Ball, Boston Park Plaza Hotel, 6:30 p.m., $25.00 per person.

October 28 - Counseling Center Seminar Program, Vernon Patch, M.D. College Center, "Pharmacology as an Adjunct to Counseling College Students," Goodrich Conference Room, Fenton 234, 9-11 a.m.

October 29 - Law School 75th Anniversary Colloquium

November 5 - College of Liberal Arts and Sciences 75th Anniversary Colloquium
4 p.m., "Turning America Around At Home and Abroad," by Dr. John G. Stoessinger, professor of political science, Hunter College City University of New York. Location- to be announced.
Potpourri

With apologies to Kurt Weill for garbling the lyrics, it is indeed a long, long time from May till September and this year's September Song is filled with many good tidings for Suffolk University - a new building, a bulging enrollment, Kresge and Title 3 grants, all of which came to be over the summer months. In addition to welcoming you all back for what promises to be a very encouraging year, a fond welcome to the new chairman of the Board of Trustees, JOHN S. HOWE, who steps up to the spot after such inspirational leadership as chairman of our capital campaign. And a SUN beam on outgoing chairman VINCE FULMER for his five years service as board chairman. Has there ever been a chairman who gave as many hours and dedication to the position as Fulmer?

There will be a number of events on tap for the Fall and one that got off to an auspicious start a year ago was the annual Presidential Ball. This year's ball, sponsored by the General Alumni Association in cooperation with the HBA/MPA and Law School Alumni Associations, will be held at the Boston Park Plaza with tickets priced at $25 per person. All members of the Suffolk community are invited and ducats can be purchased through the Alumni-Development Office. Summer activities at Suffolk included a unique, successful Elderhostel program at the Robert S. Friedman Laboratory in Cobscook Bay in Maine. Some 25 elder citizens took part in the week-long program directed by Biology Chairman ARTHUR WEST. Serving as faculty for courses in biology and art were West, RAY PARKS of Humanities and Languages and BOB HOWE of Biology. Suffolk senior citizen coordinator ROSALIE WARREN was also on hand and Humanities-Languages Chairman CLEO BOUDREAU provided some of the best cooking any gourmet would desire. The participants issued rave notices over the program. And before the doors close at Cobscook Bay for the season, there will be a field trip over the Columbus Day weekend and Dr. West advises those interested (and the demand is heavy) should contact West at X347 in Archer 40. During the summer, we were saddened to learn of the deaths of Mrs. Mary Preiss, mother of Journalism's RICHARD PREISS, and Clifford Connor, father of KAREN CONNOR of the School of Management. Our sympathies to both.

Hope it's not too late to report what was a pretty well kept secret - the Evening Division's Student Association's special recognition awards to MIKE RUBINO of Career Planning and Placement as outstanding administrator, JOE McCARTHY of Education as outstanding faculty member and ANNE TOFFEY as outstanding EDSA member. They were cited at the annual EDSA dinner dance in June. You could have caught Accounting Prof. ROGER VOLK on WEEI Sept. 29 between 10 a.m. and noon. He discussed the Recovery Tax Act of 1981. He said little about it at the time but Suffolk Police Sgt. HAROLD GROVER now wants to shout a big thank you to all of his Suffolk friends for all the good wishes and concern during his successful heart surgery at Mass. General Hospital last May. He's back at his post fit and able. HAROLD STONE of Accounting was coordinator for a seminar on small business financing sponsored by the Mass. Association of Public Accountants in August.

(Continued on Page Fourteen)
The effervescence of ALBERTO MENDEZ of Humanities and Languages was captured on Channel 7 on the program, "Revista", Sept. 13 and 14 when he and his wife, Violeta, appeared to discuss the customs and cultures of Chile. The Mendez' also danced on the show... LEE SUTHERLAND of Management is a traveling man. His wife, Maria, is president of two travel agencies and among Lee's many recent trips was a journey to Athens to accompany his daughter, Sandra, for college there this Fall...

Asst. Dean RONALD E. SUNDBERG of SOM will moderate a symposium on the effect of new technologies on the classroom at the Association for Continuing Education's 43rd annual meeting in Los Angeles Nov. 1-5...

ED SKEFFINGTON of Sociology reminds us that over the summer months CINDY SHEA, who received her B.S. degree this month, completed her field work in placement at Boston Juvenile Court as did ANNE MARIE MCDONOUGH, now in law school. Skeffington supervised the program...

JIM NELSON of Athletics calls attention to the plan at the Charles River Park Health Club, open to Suffolk people for $50 for the academic year. It runs from Oct. 1 through May 2, Monday through Friday. Sign up at the Athletic Department's new home at Ridgeway 3...

Dr. ARTHUR CHIASSON of Humanities and Languages has been included in Who's Who in the East. Chiasson, a translator, stage advisor and actor, has brought to the modern stage the works of the great French comic-dramatist, Moliere, and a number of his translated productions have been shown at Brandeis and Tufts Arena Theater in recent years...

DR. MARSHALL D. HASTINGS also of Humanities and Languages took part in an intensive two-week workshop on the teaching of French civilization over the Summer.

It was held at Middlebury College in Vermont...

ED FARREN of the Physical Plant and University Police says that bicycle locks are being sold on a cost basis and those interested should contact Crime Prevention Officer JOHN CURRIER at Extension 111. Among those attending a Law Enforcement Trainers Institute this summer at Boston University was DON MORTON of the Sociology Department. The institute, in its third year, was originally designed for police academy instructors but opened up this year for college teachers of criminal justice...

The Counseling Center has three new interns for counseling students this academic year. They are: ELLEN PORTER HONNET, a third year doctoral candidate at Harvard, RICHARD LAZUR, and CHRISTOPHER NEWELL, both third year doctoral students at Mass. School of Professional Psychology. Newell holds an M.S. in counseling education from Suffolk (1976)...

JOE VACCARO of Marketing and his wife, Pat, hosted a party for 31 of Vaccaro's past and present students from various student advertising campaigns. Before the night was over the students presented the Vaccaros a plaque noting their "eight years of perseverance and dedication to Suffolk University and the American Advertising Federation... Congratulations to English's FRED MARCHANT who received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago during the Summer...

STAN VOGEL of English traveled to Portugal over the Summer and particularly enjoyed the Algarve and Madeira...

BILL COUGHLIN of Admissions served as a faculty member at a New England Association of College Admissions Counselors at the Brooke School in North Andover. He discussed admission marketing techniques...

DR. JOE McCARTHY of Education has authored a 438-page bibliography of Pierre Teilhand de Chardin, a French priest and author, containing over 4900 citations in 22 languages. It's published by Garland Publishing...

(Continued on Page Fifteen)
In the Sociology Department, DR. JOHN L. SULLIVAN took part in a Federal Aviation Administration's meeting at Logan Airport to discuss the effectiveness of air traffic control system, and PHYL LIS MACK attended the first annual New England Conference on Alcohol Issues in Hyannis. . .

hairman STEVE SPITZER has been appointed a member of the C. right Mills Award Committee of the Society for the Study of Social Problems. He also presented papers at the annual meeting of the American Sociological Association in Toronto and the American Society of Criminology in Washington, D.C. . .

DR. CAROL ROBB, campus minister, has recently published an article entitled, "Framework for Feminist Ethics," in The Journal of Religious Ethics, Spring, 1981. It stems from her two years of teaching at Harvard Divinity School as the women's research associate in ethics. . .

DR. KEN GARNI of the Counseling Center is president of the International Association of Counseling Services and as such has been asked to testify as an expert witness for the California Association of Counseling Center Directors at a hearing to discuss the dissolution of the Counseling Center at San Francisco State University. . .

DR. WARREN BRIGGS of Management served as a guest faculty member for two sessions of the Executive Management Program at Penn State University during the Summer. He also took part in the Academy of Management's meeting in San Diego. . .

Nurse MARY GIBBONS of the Health Office attended two programs, one a quality assurance seminar sponsored by the American College Health Association in Boston, the other a course, "Triage and Physical Assessment for College Health Clinic Nurses," at Tufts University Medical School. . .

Dr. JOANNE CARR, director of special education, is the subject of a front page story in The Tab, a large Greater Boston weekly with circulation over 113,000. She discusses the rights of special needs persons. . .

Journalism's DICK PREISS was a press liaison officer for the U.S. Olympic Committee at the National Sports Festival III in Syracuse, N.Y. during the last week of July. . .

See you next month. . .