Alumni — Trustees

"...the next three vacancies occurring on the Board of Trustees... shall be filled by three candidates nominated one each from the Alumni of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Alumni from the College of Business Administration or the Graduate School of Administration, and the Alumni of the Law School..." (portion of By-Law adopted at the September 10, 1975 meeting of the Board of Trustees)

Three vacancies have occurred and two of the three vacancies have been filled, James L. Linnehan, JD '56, and Joseph B. Shanahan, Jr., AB '72, have been elected by you and approved by the Trustees to serve three-year terms on Suffolk University's Board of Trustees.

Mr. Linnehan, an Attorney with law offices in Boston and Lowell, is also a Certified Public Accountant. He has specialized as a defense counsel in tax cases in federal courts and also handles cases in bankruptcy, estates, trust, contract, tax accounting and bank examinations. He holds a BSBA degree from Northeastern University and a certificate of accounting from Bentley College.

He fills a vacancy created by the resignation of George C. Seybolt, President of the William Underwood Company.

A father of six, five of whom are presently attending college, Mr. Shanahan has pledged to "return to Suffolk University some of the rewards it has given to me... through voluntary assistance on the Board of Trustees." He and his wife, the former Katherine Chadwick, live in Lowell, Massachusetts with their children, Karen, 23, John, 22, James, 20, Susan, 18, and Timothy, 16.

Mr. Shanahan, AB '72, the youngest graduate of the University ever to serve on the Board of Trustees, also holds a Juris Doctor degree cum laude, 1975, from Suffolk University's Law School. He was formerly Assistant Director of Development at Suffolk University and is now actively engaged in the general practice of law. He is associated with the law firm of Geary and Dean. He holds membership in the American Bar Association, the Massachusetts Bar Association, the Boston Bar Association, the Lowell Bar Association and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. He serves as President of the Suffolk University Alumni Council. A Director on the Board of the Suffolk University Law School Alumni Association, District Chairman of the Elks National Foundation Scholarship Committee, the Chelmsford BFOE Scholarship Committee and a member of the Board of Directors of the American Heart Association Northeast Division. He is a candidate for a Masters degree in Taxation at Bentley College.

Mr. Shanahan fills the recently vacated position of Dr. Joseph J. Melone, a Prudential Insurance Company executive who was promoted to a position with the firm's main office in Newark, New Jersey. As an alumnus of both the College of Liberal Arts and the Law School, Mr. Shanahan feels that he "owns a great deal to the respected education and tradition which are embodied in the Suffolk University diploma." He is pleased to "have the opportunity to express (his) gratitude through service on the Board of Trustees." Mr. Shanahan and his wife, the former Catherine Connolly, AB '74, reside in Chelmsford, Massachusetts.

Nominations of alumni holding BSBA, MBA or MPA degrees are currently being screened by the Alumni-Trustee Nominating Committee for the next Alumni-Trustee election. The vacancy being filled is that of Ernest R. Blaisdell. A Suffolk University Trustee Honor.

On November 10, 1976 the Suffolk University Board of Trustees hosted an informal dinner in honor of the newly formed Alumni Associations' Directors. To mark the rebirth of the Alumni Associations, Mr. Shanahan feels that he "owes a great deal to the respected education and tradition which are embodied in the Suffolk University diploma." He is pleased to "have the opportunity to express (his) gratitude through service on the Board of Trustees." Mr. Shanahan and his wife, the former Catherine Connolly, AB '74, reside in Chelmsford, Massachusetts.

On November 10, 1976 the Suffolk University Board of Trustees hosted an informal dinner in honor of the newly formed Alumni Associations' Directors. To mark the rebirth of the Alumni Associations, Mr. Vincent A. Fulmer, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented gavels to Richard S. Dell'Aria, BSJ '71, JD '75, President of the General Alumni Association; William J. Mancini, MBA '77, President of the MBA/MPA Alumni Association; and Joseph B. Shanahan, Jr., AB '72, JD '75, President of the University Alumni Council. Each mahogany gavel was inscribed with the incumbent President's name, alumni association and year of office. At the end of each President's term of office the metal inscription will be removed and mounted on a plaque displayed in President Fulham's office. The gavels will then be reinserted and passed on to succeeding Alumni Presidents to symbolize the ever-growing alumni population and the deepening of alumni traditions at Suffolk University.

Suffolk University Alumni Association

The Suffolk University Alumni Association is now composed of three distinct but equal divisions as follows:

General Alumni Association representing the graduates of the undergraduate college and all other graduate programs not specifically designated as a separate division...

Suffolk and for the problems inherent in the strength of an institution such as Suffolk comes from the dedication of those who have been involved with its educational process in some way. They are graduates or friends who are enthusiastic about what Suffolk offers to its students and its community. The Cornerstone Society devotes its energies and resources to the continued strengthening of the University and its members are a source of distinguished alumni and friends who will be playing a great part in the molding of Suffolk, and its future.

Cornerstone Society

President Thomas A. Fullahm

The Cornerstone Society is represented in a distinct group of alumni and friends of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Business Administration at Suffolk University. These individuals have shown a deep concern for Suffolk, for the educational opportunities it provides, developed and offered to students of all ages. They demonstrate an understanding and commitment to the progress of Suffolk and for the problems inherent in the operation of an educational institution. The Cornerstone Society came into existence to ensure that what exists today on Beacon Hill as an educational wellspring will continue to exist and that it, in fact, will grow in strength.

The Cornerstone Society is significant. It represents two important elements in the building process. First, progress and second, dedication. The members of the Cornerstone Society are embodiments of these important elements. They are Suffolk’s progress in the world away from Beacon Hill and the source of Suffolk’s dedication.

Membership in the Cornerstone Society is restricted to anyone contributing $50 or more annually. If you are interested in joining this society, please contact the Development Office at 723-4700 extension 130 or one of the following Committee members:

Edward S. Evans, BB’50
Charles Batt, BS’51
Paul Salvas, AB’68
Mel Chenery, AB’50
Pamela Scangas, AB’72

Faculty Honored

Dr. Susan Fischer, BS’76

Five Suffolk University faculty members were honored for thirty years of service at the annual Deans’ Reception. Suffolk chain were awarded to Professors John V. Colburn, Dr. D. Donald Fiorillo, Charles Law, Dr. William S. Sahakian, and Associate Dean Joseph H. Strain.

Colburn, Associate Professor of English, has taught in that Department since joining the faculty in 1940. He earned his juris doctor from Suffolk in 1951 and has been on the faculty since 1951. He is also the recipient of the State Committee of the General Alumni Association of Suffolk University’s campus is Boston. The Admission Office announces this fact to prospective students and a good many of the current students’ activities and internship courses substantiate this as a fact.

Due to this strong interrelationship, the Social Committee of the General Alumni Association decided to bring you back to Suffolk University — and to Boston — via a Ticket Subscription Series. The series is planned to offer you a variety of events, at cost, with an informal cocktail reception either prior or subsequent to the event. Almost 500 alumni have participated in the series to date. The events which have taken place thus far are: two Celtics’ games; a play, Lily For You, with George C. Scott; a ballet, the Nutcracker; and two Bruins’ games. A combination of the weather and a low number of reservations caused the cocktail reception, prior to the Suffolk Rams basketball game, to be cancelled.

Coming up on the calendar are: a ballet, Sleeping Beauty, on April 7; the Boston Pops on May 26; and a Red Sox game in June.

Ticket Subscription Series

Suffolk University’s campus is Boston. The Admissions Office announces this fact to prospective students and encourages the enrollment of students with current students’ activities and internship courses. The subscription series is designed to provide students with opportunities for middle-level administrative roles such as principal, business manager, or curriculum coordinator within a school system, or to fill positions in admissions, housing, financial aid, or student activities in higher education. Requirements for professional certification in Massachusetts and New Hampshire have been incorporated into the program.

The Social Committee is already making plans for next year’s Ticket Subscription Series. If you have any suggestions or comments, please write to Social Committee, Office of Alumni Activities, Suffolk University, Beacon Hill, Boston, Massachusetts 02114.
A portrait of President Fulham was unveiled this fall in the Robert J. Munce Conference Room. Painted over a period of two years by artist in residence, Raymond H. Parks of the Humanities department, it will be displayed with portraits of the five other Suffolk University Presidents.

At a reception to mark the occasion, Vincent A. Fulmer, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented a citation to Mr. Parks expressing the appreciation of the Board "for rendering a distinguished portrait" of President Fulham.

The citation read: "You have captured the qualities of compassion, strength and purpose in the President's features. In doing so, you have given the University a valued work of art. We are proud to add your beautiful painting to the permanent collection of portraits of our great Presidents. Generations of men and women at Suffolk University will be grateful for your residency here."

Second Annual Bloomfield Lecture

The second annual Daniel Bloomfield Memorial Lecture featured an eloquent address by noted Boston Attorney, Edward B. Hanify. A partner in the law firm of Ropes & Gray, Mr. Hanify is active in numerous legal and professional organizations. Former President of the New England Law Institute, he is also a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, chairman of the Human Life Foundation, a trustee, secretary and a director of the John F. Kennedy Library. His talk, entitled "Business Ethics: Achieved by Effort, Litigation, or Self-Discipline", was delivered before an enthusiastic audience at the Suffolk University Auditorium.

Mr. Hanify emphasized that the primary force for business ethics "...is the moral environment of the business which is created by the personality and attitude of its leaders." He later concluded that, "when business is conducted in this country by men who simply believe that all the profit in the world is not worth the loss of their individual souls, we will have advanced appreciably in our effort to promote business ethics."

The Bloomfield Lecture was established by the Trustees of Suffolk University in 1974. Daniel Bloomfield (1890-1963), a former Suffolk Trustee, was a leader in the business, arbitration, and international communities, and a major link between the University and these communities.

Return to the Court

His walk was slower, lacking the bounce that characterized it during his 30 years of coaching basketball at Suffolk University, but the remarkable thing was that he was back. Less than three months after suffering two disabling strokes, Coach Charlie Law walked into the Cambridge YMCA with his wife, Phyllis, to watch his Suffolk basketball team play Connecticut College on Saturday, February 5.

Law received a standing ovation from the crowd of 300 when he was introduced over the public address system before the game. Players, cheerleaders and fans came over to shake his hand and wish him well.

The popular 63-year-old coach, who started the University athletic program back in 1946, was deeply touched. "It was wonderful to get back and see the team again and that reception really affected me," Law said. "I've made a lot of friends at Suffolk and it's nice to know you are missed."

Law sat on the bench next to his long-time assistant, Jim Nelson, and for a time it seemed he never had been away. At half-time, he checked the scoreboard to see how many points Pat Ryan had ever had and praised the performance of backcourt man Bobby Mello.

The final score pleased him — Suffolk 81, Connecticut College 72. It was the Rams 12th win of the year and also marked the remarkable return of a great coach from his long illness.

Basketball Record '76-'77 Season

SU won the Northeast 12th win against three losses and strengthened their chances for a third straight bid to the NCAA Division III regional tournament. Law had directed them to berths in the tourney the past two years. He was only five shy of 300 victories when stricken.

This year's talented, veteran team has been one of the top Division III teams all season under Interim Coach Jim Nelson's guidance. They have ranked third behind Boston State and Brandeis.

Coach Law took ill following the Harvard-Yale football game. He was confined to Walter Hospital for several weeks, later spent some time at the New England Rehabilitation Center in Woburn. He is now recuperating at his Weston home. He has received literally hundreds of cards, many of them from Suffolk alumni, and would be delighted to hear from more Suffolk graduates.

Pi Alpha Alpha

The College of Business Administration and the Graduate School of Administration at Suffolk University has received designation as a Founding Chapter of Pi Alpha Alpha. Pi Alpha Alpha is the National Honor Society for Public Affairs and Administration in the United States. In this context, the Suffolk Chapter is the only Chapter in New England to be so designated. Of 18 Chapters nationally, Suffolk is one of 10 which has the authority to admit graduate students.

Congratulations to the faculty and students in the Department of Public Management and Administration for achieving this status!
Twenty Years of Service

At the annual Deans' Reception, two College of Business Administration faculty members were honored for twenty years of service. They were Professor Benson Diamond and Professor Martin Donahue.

Dean Richard L. McDowell in making the presentations cited Professor Diamond as a "...repected teacher who is as popular as he is fair, a practitioner whose understanding of his craft has been generously shared with his students... and one of the Business school's most valuable legacies from the University's law school origin." Professor Donahue was hailed as "a teacher who has served the school in the development of many of its departments, a man whose energies can be counted on to support the Suffolk cause... an enduring friend to the student, faculty and administrator alike."

McDowell Honored

Dr. Richard L. McDowell, Dean of the College of Business Administration and Graduate School of Administration at Suffolk University, recently received an Honorary Membership in the American Institute of Banking and was appointed to AIB's Board of Governors for a three year period. Dean McDowell is the first person not directly associated with the banking community to receive membership on the Board of Governors.

This Was No Pie In The Sky

While you were an undergraduate student at Suffolk University, did you ever dream of throwing a sticky, juicy banana cream pie at the Dean of Students, the Director of Admissions, the Registrar, or certain faculty members? Well, students Joe Hayes, John Bartley and the Student Government Association were right on target when they decided to help the Globe Santa fund by sponsoring the "pie in the face routine."

An old routine as far as comedians are concerned, but not old at Suffolk University, where someone could pie Dean of Students Dr. D. D. Bradley Sullivan three times for a mere $126.00, while one could pie the Dean of Students, Dr. D. D. Bradley Sullivan three times for a mere $125.00, while one could pie the Director of Admissions William Coughlin, the Registrar Mary Hefron, the Director of Public Relations Lou Connelly, William Ruehlmann of Journalism, the Director of Student Activities Ken Kelly, Basketball Coach Jim Nelson, Hockey Coach Chris Snow and Lou Peters of the Bookstore.

"It was good natured fun," said Joe Hayes of the Student Government Association, "but most importantly, it raised all that money which made Christmas a happier time for many children... We are grateful to all of the students, faculty, and staff who participated."

Seminar Luncheon

The MBA/MPA Alumni Association recently sponsored a seminar luncheon, Suffolk University, Law School Professor John Sherman led the seminar discussion on "The 1976 Income Tax Reform Laws: How They Will Affect You."

Professor Sherman, who teaches in the areas of income, corporate, estate and gift taxation and business planning, received his juris doctor degree from Harvard University and his LLM in taxation from Boston University. In his presentation, Professor Sherman discussed the various changes in personal and business tax deductions, the Keough Plan, municipal bond funds, real estate depreciation and guidelines for tax planning.

Possible Aid for Middle Income Families

Suffolk University undergraduate students would be eligible for additional scholarship funds under a proposal being considered by the Joint Education Committee of the Massachusetts Legislature.

House bill 444 asks for the Commonwealth to match funds expended by the State's privately supported colleges and universities for scholarships for Massachusetts students. The bill had a hearing on February 14. Support for the measure was given by Kenneth G. Ryder, president of Northeastern University, Richard E. Crockford, president of Dean Junior College, and George W. Hazzard, president of WP.

According to the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts, the maximum for each grant would be equal to the amount an institution spends each year from its own funds to provide financial aid to its own students.

AICUM pointed out that if an institution provided $100,000 from its own funds for financial aid for Massachusetts' students, it would be eligible for a state grant of $100,000. At least $50,000 would have to be used for additional help for Bay State students while $50,000 could be used for additional financial aid or for other educational purposes.

President Thomas A. Fulham urged Suffolk alumni, staff and students to contact legislators and voice support for the bill. Fulham contacted all 27 Suffolk graduates serving in the Legislature urging their support for the bill, and was greatly encouraged by the response he received.

It was pointed out that the program, if approved, would supplement the present state scholarship program, which provides scholarships for the lowest income group. The matching grants would provide a means of extending state aid to students from the middle income families.
Law School Alumni Dinner

It was one of the largest Law School Alumni Dinners that anyone could remember. Following the cocktail reception, five hundred alumni and almost one hundred Law School students crowded into the Hotel 57 Ballroom to renew old acquaintances and to meet other Suffolk Law graduates over a delicious dinner.

David J. Saliba, JD ’72, Chairman of the Dinner Committee, introduced the forty-person headtable guests who have gone into private law practice in Turkey where he had spent heavily upon unrestricted gifts from alumni and friends. A Suffolk University Law School graduate, he received his MA from Columbia University, his JD from Suffolk University Law School and his founding of the annual Law School Alumni Dinner Committee and his committee members, for their long hours of work in making the dinner such a success.

Law School Annual Fund

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of awards by Chief Justice Edward F. Hennessey of the Supreme Judicial Court. Chief Justice McLaughlin was presented an engraved certificate of distinguished service from the Law School Alumni Association in honor of his outstanding contributions to the legal profession and in recognition of his forthcoming retirement from the bench. Also receiving a special award was retired Superior Court Justice Frank J. Donahue. The engraved certificate awarded the title of “Alumni Extraordinaire” to Judge Donahue in recognition of his untiring efforts on behalf of Suffolk University Law School and his founding of the annual Law School Alumni Association. Judge Donahue, a Life Trustee and 1931 graduate of the Law School, was a good indication that the new Law Alumni Association is alive and vibrant. Special recognition goes to David J. Saliba, JD ’72, Chairman of the Law Alumni Dinner Committee and his committee members, for their long hours of work in making the dinner such a success.

Ron Wysocki Heads Annual Law Fund

Ronald A. Wysocki of Peabody has been named General Chairman of the Suffolk University 1976-1977 Law School Annual Fund, according to Dean David J. Sargent.

Wysocki, who received his juris doctor degree from Suffolk Law School in 1972, will direct an alumni network organized in 80 areas from New England to Florida. A practicing attorney with the Boston law firm of Crane & Inker, he was a reporter and columnist for the Boston Globe for 17 years.

The campaign, according to Wysocki, involves area solicitation in 80 areas across the East Coast, a phon-a-thon in Boston, mail solicitation for alumni outside of organized areas and a group known as the Leadership Committee which will solicit major gifts from alumni and friends.

“Last year the Annual Fund realized over forty-two thousand dollars. With over 8,000 alumni we should be doing much better than that. We must remember that Suffolk Law is unique in that it does not have a significant endowment. The school depends heavily upon unrestricted gifts from alumni and friends. These gifts, along with tuitions, balance the budget. When we were students, tuition did not cover our education. As alumni, it is incumbent upon us to support our school and those who follow in our footsteps.”

Wysocki served eight years as president and as a director of the Boston Press Club and chaired the annual Boston News Awards dinner three times. He is a member of the House Press Association, the Newspaperman’s Benevolent Association and the Massachusetts Bar Association. He served as Boston chairman for the 1976 Law School Alumni Dinner. Wysocki, his wife Elizabeth, and their four children have their home in Peabody, Massachusetts.
According to Wysocki, many alumni are actively at work as Area Chairmen for the campaign, and many of those are volunteers from last year's campaign. At press time the following area chairmen were actively engaged in solicitations:

Thirty-five Years of Service

Professor John F. X. O'Brien, a popular member of the Suffolk University Law School faculty for more than thirty-five years, retired at the close of the Fall semester. To mark the occasion, many of his friends and colleagues honored him at a dinner on November 11.

Professor O'Brien formerly served as Dean of the Suffolk University College of Business Administration and from 1940 to 1944 held the position of Acting Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. He became an Assistant Professor of Law in 1941 and since 1948 has held the title, Professor of Law. A teacher of contracts for 20 years and negotiable instruments and sales for 15 years, he was called upon in the fifties and again in the sixties to serve as Acting Dean of the Law School. In 1962-63 he was appointed special Assistant Attorney General for the Commonwealth.

On behalf of the Law School alumni, Judge James J. Nixon, President of the Law School Alumni Association, presented Professor O'Brien with a Suffolk University pen set and an engraved certificate acknowledging his "...leadership and service to the Suffolk University community..."

Dean's Receptions

Law School Dean, David J. Sargent attended the annual luncheon for Suffolk University Law graduates at the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Bar Association. The luncheon was chaired by Paul A. Krouss, JD '68, and arrangements were handled by Samuel M. Isardi, JD '62.

Earlier this year, Suffolk Law Alumni gathered at the Connecticut Bar Association meeting for an alumni Luncheon and also in Providence, Rhode Island.

Two additional receptions are being planned for Law School Alumni. On March 16, there will be a Dean's Reception for graduates and friends in the Washington, DC area. It will be held at the Fort Myer Officers Club from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. In Massachusetts, the Worcester County Bar Association members are invited to a Dean's Reception at the Marion Lincolns Inn in Worcester on April 27, from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m.

For further information, contact the Suffolk University Development Office.

Suffolk Law Students Broadcast "Legal Briefs" on WBZ-FM

On Friday, December 10, 1976, the Suffolk University Law School Student Bar Association's proposal to air a series of programs on radio station WBZ-FM was given final approval by the station. Entitled "Legal Briefs," it features an interview and discussion type format from 6:30-9:00 a.m. every Saturday morning.

Dealing with areas of the law which are of interest and relevance to laymen, Suffolk University Law School students prepare and research individual shows, and schedule a guest expert or experts, depending on the particular topic. The student researcher also serves as moderator for his or her particular show.

"Legal Briefs" made its debut on January 30, the first show featured student moderator Arnold Gent, a third-year law student, interviewing Suffolk University Law School Professors Charles Kindred, John Ger, and Barry Brown on the subject of "The Ethics of Lawyers' Advertising."

Future topics include: No Fault Divorce, Living Wills, Search and Seizure, Arrest, and other subjects of relevance to the lay public.

Present plans are to record enough shows in advance (recording is done at the WBZ-studios every Tuesday afternoon) so that the program will air throughout the summer, and then be picked up the following school year by the new Student Bar Association administration.

All those who would like to make topic suggestions or comments about "Legal Briefs" may contact Howard Bloom or Sonya Nersessian by calling Suffolk University (722-4700 Extension 174) or by writing to:
