STUDENTS HOLD ALL-COLLEGE MEETING

Rain or Shine!

JOHN CHASE TO DELIVER

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

John P. Chase, Jr., chairman, John P. Chase, Inc., Investment Counsel, and chairman, Regional Economic Stabilization Board for the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization, Region I, will deliver Suffolk University's 1962 commencement address on Sunday, June 17, at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The 11:05 a.m. exercises will be at the Hatch Memorial Shell, home of the battalion Massachusetts State Guard. If the Esplanade site is utilized, the commencement exercises will be conducted at Boston's famous Esplanade Concerts, however, the ceremonies will be at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

If the Hatch Memorial Shell is utilized, it will be the first time that a university has conducted commencement exercises there. The facilities were obtained for Suffolk through the courtesy of Metropolitan District Commission Chairman Robert Murphy. The M.D.C. has jurisdiction over the area.

Should inclement weather prevail, however, the ceremonies will be at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The commencement exercises will be early in the day, radio stations of colonel, and earned the President's permission.

The facilities Administration, University has conducted its commencement exercises there. The facilities were obtained for Suffolk through the courtesy of Metropolitan District Commission Chairman Robert Murphy. The M.D.C. has jurisdiction over the area.

Should the weather forecast for the afternoon appear unfavorable early in the day, radio station WZRH, WEEI, WHDH and WNAC will air notices of any change of plans between 10:30 and 11:05 a.m., according to Dr. Haley.

The election of Stephen P. Mugar of Belmont as a trustee of Suffolk University, was announced by George R. Rowell, chairman of the university's trustees.

Mugar, president and director of Star Market Co., Inc., is also a director of the Union Market National Bank, Watertown, trustee of the Watertown Savings Bank and Cathy Junior College for Women at New London, New Hampshire. He is a member of the corporation of Northeastern University.

He is also a director of Topco Associates, Inc. of Chicago, Caribe Stores, Inc. of Puerto Rico, National Co., Inc. of Malden, Bestok, Inc. of New York, Victoria Investment Co., Ltd. of Halifax, Nova Scotia, and Brigham's, Inc. of Cambridge.

Born at Harput, Armenia, the father of two is a graduate of Harvard magna cum laude and earned the President's Certificate of Merit. He is a director of numerous business and civic organizations, and serves as treasurer and director of

Stephen Mugar
Elected Trustee

The college's student body filled the university auditorium on April 26th to take part in the second annual All-College Meeting. The theme: "Are You Getting Your Money's Worth?"

Student Government President William McFarland, the moderator, opened the meeting with a brief but encompassing speech which voiced the sentiments of the enthusiastic assembly. He was interrupted four times in a five minute period by applause.

The meeting was then opened to questions from the floor. The President and Trustees were absent from the hall, therefore questions were directed to McCarthy and Dean Goodrich, whose presence was welcomed.

A majority of questions directed to the chair sought the reasons why Suffolk did not seem to have any definite plans for expansion. Rumors of expansion were plentiful but agreed, definite plans were not.

One student quoted the following statement made last year during orientation: "Gentlemen, we may not expand this year, it may not be next year." The student declared that this is the attitude prevailing at Suffolk.

The question was asked: "Do we have the money to expand?" A resolution that a financial statement listing the university's assets be requested was passed unanimously.

A letter requesting response to the many questions asked by the students was sent to the Board of Trustees with hopes of receiving a reply.

Before closing the meeting the students voted to hold another assembly on May 8th, at which time answers received from the Board of Trustees would be read, and other problems for which there was no time for discussion would be considered.

Cox Elected Vice-President

Of Am. Law Student Assn.

The election of Paul R. Cox, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Cox of 125 North St., Medfield, as national vice president of the American Law Student Association for 1962-63, representing the First Circuit, comprising New England and Puerto Rico, was announced by the group following a New York meeting.

The ALSA, founded in 1940, represents 128 student bar associations of 128 law schools approved by the American Bar Association, represents the Student Government President William McCarthy, the principal speaker at the annual commencement dinner of the Suffolk Law School Alumni Association, was asked to deliver the commencement address at the annual commencement dinner of the Suffolk Law School Alumni Association, set for 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 14 at the Parker House.

Announcement was made by Lawrence S. Cameron '50 of Hyde Park, assistant district attorney of Suffolk County and president of the alumni.

Cox's position as state attorney (Continued on page 2)
President and House Speaker Laud Suffolk's Business College

Suffolk University received congratulatory telegrams from President John F. Kennedy and U. S. House of Representatives Speaker John W. McCormack on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the S. U. College of Business Administration.

The messages were addressed to Daniel Bloomfield, S.U. trustee and former executive vice-president of the Boston Retail Trade Board and founder of the internationally-known Boston Conference on Distribution, who was chairman of the anniversary observance.

President Kennedy noted, "You have made great progress during the last 25 years and I know that this occasion reflects your determination to develop even further sound programs of training for careers in business. With very best wishes, John F. Kennedy."

"Speaker McCormack, in his message, stated, "I am proud of the extraordinary progress made by Suffolk University and the important position that it occupies throughout the nation in the higher education field. I extend my felicitations and best wishes, and also my kindest regards. Speaker John W. McCormack."

Both President Kennedy and Speaker McCormack were honorary alumni of Suffolk University. The President was conferred the honorary Doctor of Public Administration degree from Suffolk while serving as the junior U. S. Senator from Massachusetts.

COMMENCEMENT

(Continued from page 1)

of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital, chairman and director of Boston Capital Corp., president, treasurer, and director of Buffalo Creek Land Co., corporation member of Massachusetts General Hospital and the Boston Medical Center.

Cox Elected

(Continued from page 1)

Bar Association, with a combined enrollment of some 35,000 law students.

As a national vice president, Cox will serve on the board of governors of the ALSA, which formulates and promotes the national policies of the organization. He will also attend the annual ALSA conference to be held in San Francisco this summer.

The position also serves to provide leadership to the student bar associations at Harvard, Boston College, Boston University, Suffolk University, and other educational institutions throughout the nation.

New Trustee

Stephen Magar

Country Club and the Appalachian Mountain Club.

Magar was awarded the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree by Suffolk University in 1960, and is a founding member of the advisory council to Suffolk's College of Business Administration.

Law Alumni

(Continued from page 3)

ney of Dade County, Florida, which includes Miami, is an equivalent post to that of our district attorney.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Miami Law School, the speaker served with the U.S. Air Force during World War II and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, and the Purple Heart.

In 1960 he was re-elected state attorney with the highest vote ever cast in the State of Florida on a county-wide basis. He is a past president of the Young Democrats of Florida and in 1957 he was chosen "Miami's Outstanding Young Man," and the following year was one of five selected as the outstanding young men of Florida.

Gersten is past president of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association of Florida and is currently vice-president of the National District Attorneys Association.

Many state and local officials, alumni, attorneys and members of the judiciary are expected to attend the dinner.

Dr. Archon Presided

(Continued from page 1)

of the ALSA, which formulates and promotes the national policies of the organization. He will also attend the annual ALSA conference to be held in San Francisco this summer.

As a national vice president, Cox will serve on the board of governors of the ALSA, which formulates and promotes the national policies of the organization. He will also attend the annual ALSA conference to be held in San Francisco this summer.

The position also serves to provide leadership to the student bar associations at Harvard, Boston College, Boston University, Suffolk University, and other educational institutions throughout the nation.

New Trustee

Stephen Magar

Country Club and the Appalachian Mountain Club.

Magar was awarded the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree by Suffolk University in 1960, and is a founding member of the advisory council to Suffolk's College of Business Administration.

Law Alumni

(Continued from page 3)

ney of Dade County, Florida, which includes Miami, is an equivalent post to that of our district attorney.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Miami Law School, the speaker served with the U.S. Air Force during World War II and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, and the Purple Heart.

In 1960 he was re-elected state attorney with the highest vote ever cast in the State of Florida on a county-wide basis. He is a past president of the Young Democrats of Florida and in 1957 he was chosen "Miami's Outstanding Young Man," and the following year was one of five selected as the outstanding young men of Florida.

Gersten is past president of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association of Florida and is currently vice-president of the National District Attorneys Association.

Many state and local officials, alumni, attorneys and members of the judiciary are expected to attend the dinner.

Dr. Archon Presided

(Continued from page 1)
With confidence and decisiveness born of a long background of experience in public life, Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., revealed his efforts to stem the tidal wave of corruption in Massachusetts, and gain the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator in a speech delivered to the Political Science Club of Suffolk University.

Legislature's Prestige at All-Time Low Ebb

Stating that there have been more criminal indictments and prosecutions during his administration than during the three immediate preceding administrations combined, the Attorney General attributed corruption in government to a general breakdown in the moral fiber of the community. He declared that the prestige of the legislature was at an all-time low ebb for the citizens as they associated all wrongdoing with the combined, the Attorney General insisted that he is not running on his family name. He pointed out that he is now serving in his fifth year as State's Attorney General and is a former Boston City Councilor. However, Mr. McCormack's political ambitions have been matched by an equally illustrous rival — Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy.

The National Interest

The elements of political drama surrounding this rivalry has made it an affair of prime national interest. Both men appeared on "Meet The Press," and Kennedy's evasion of questions concerning the hub of politics in Massachusetts would strengthen the hand of the Attorney General, who met the issue squarely.

The main issue of this election is the question of using public funds for Federal aid to parochial primary and secondary school education.

Kennedy stated that he believes Federal aid to parochial schools in certain areas "would be considered constitutional, but he evaded the point that this was in disagreement with the President, whose expressed position is that it violates church-state separation classes of the constitution.

McCormack answered this issue in a much more direct manner than his opponent. He asserted that he favors Federal aid for construction of public and parochial schools. "I do not think there is my great Constitutional question," he added in discussing Federal aid to parochial schools. At the same time he said he would vote for a bill providing aid to public schools only.

Legislative Issues

The present proposed legislation before Congress comprises two bills: (1) A proposal for direct Federal aid to public schools, and; (2) A bill to provide Federal funds to assist parochial schools to construct facilities unrelated to educational purposes. It is uncertain whether these bills should be joined and/or whether the First Amendment deals with the form of parochial school aid proposed is unconstitutional.

It is clear that the Supreme Court has never decided the basic issue and it has left undisturbed Federal and local ordinances which have financially aided parochial schools by payment out of public revenues for transportation costs of pupils, for lunches, for non-religious text books, etc. This legislation sought by the Catholic hierarchy constitutes an issue out of any constitutional law, but at public policy.

Ability Will Win

National interest in the choice of a Senator by Massachusetts voters will undoubtedly be whetted by the issues raised in debate. The candidate with the ability to make the clearest delineation in matters of public issue will be the next bright, young star to shine on a revitalized Massachusetts political horizon.

STUDY GRANTS TO SUFFOLK GRADS

Suffolk graduates have been coping some lucrative study grants with which to continue their education. Among the awards announced during the past few weeks the most prominent went to Joseph Scionti, a 1960 graduate. Mr. Scionti, who received the first Suffolk University Fellowship for Graduate study, is now a Ph.D. candidate at Brown University in the field of History. His latest fellowship is a very lucrative award which will enable him to complete the Doctoral program without further financial assistance. Two more recent graduates have received teaching fellowships from Northeastern University. They are J. Charles Aranow, a 1961 grad, and Arthur Dablis, a member of the class of 1962.

The Science departments have really outdone themselves this year. William Ringler has received a fellowship for medical school from Baylor University; Jack Barbour Bethany and John Lasker received fellowships for dental school. For graduate work in Biology fellowships were granted to Joseph Bercovitz, David Bransigian, Gary McMullen, Beatrice Snow, and John Lopriore.

James H. McNamara
Luncheonette
123 Cambridge St.

LUNCHEONS — DINNERs — SNACKS
Open 24 Hours Daily
The Best Hamburger in Boston
Cafeteria Temple St. on Cambridge St.

CRAM COURSE NO. 4: BATHYMETRY

Continuing our series of pre-final exam cram courses, today we take up bathymetry — the study of ocean depths.

Admittedly, this is not a terribly popular course on most campuses. And small wonder. In the whole world there is only one bathyscope, and only two people can get into it. Nevertheless, the study of ocean depths is of great importance. Why, do you realize that the ocean is by far the world's largest biological environment? The ocean has more than three hundred times as much living matter in its vastnesses and islands combined? Unfortunately, only fishes live in it. And small wonder. Who'd want to live some place where they couldn't smoke? Surely not! I wouldn't give up my good Marlboro Cigarettes for the Atlantic and the Pacific put together. Nothing could induce me to forsake Marlboro's fine redwax filter. Marlboro's clean white filter, Marlboro's flip-top box that really flips. Marlboro's soft pack that's really soft. Let others repel to the spaucous depths. Me, I will stick with my Marlboro's and the tinnest store I share with a tycoon.

But I digress. Back to the oceans. The largest, as we know, is the Pacific, where was discovered by Balboa, a Spaniard of great vision. To give you an idea of Balboa's vision, he first saw the Pacific while standing on a peak in Darien, which is in Connecticut.

Even more astounding, when Balboa rushed San Francisco, he clearly saw the Hawaiian Islands. And for Being, as we know, a friendly cute, Balboa waved merily to the Hawaiians and shouted, "Great little ocean you got here, kids?" The Hawaiians, of course, recognize friendly courtesy, waved back, and in this happy, holiday, organized a luau, bust a cheery fire over which they prepared several gallons of poi, a nodding pig, and Captain Cook. This, of course, was the origin of Cooking.

Marlboro's largest biological environment? The ocean has more than one bathyscope, and only two people can get into it. Nevertheless, the study of ocean depths is of great importance.

Continuing our series of pre-final exam cram courses, today we take up bathymetry — the study of ocean depths.

Admittedly, this is not a terribly popular course on most campuses. And small wonder. In the whole world there is only one bathyscope, and only two people can get into it. Nevertheless, the study of ocean depths is of great importance. Why, do you realize that the ocean is by far the world's largest biological environment? The ocean has more than three hundred times as much living matter in its vastnesses and islands combined? Unfortunately, only fishes live in it. And small wonder. Who'd want to live some place where they couldn't smoke? Surely not! I wouldn't give up my good Marlboro Cigarettes for the Atlantic and the Pacific put together. Nothing could induce me to forsake Marlboro's fine redwax filter. Marlboro's clean white filter, Marlboro's flip-top box that really flips. Marlboro's soft pack that's really soft. Let others repel to the spaucous depths. Me, I will stick with my Marlboro's and the tinnest store I share with a tycoon.

But I digress. Back to the oceans. The largest, as we know, is the Pacific, where was discovered by Balboa, a Spaniard of great vision. To give you an idea of Balboa's vision, he first saw the Pacific while standing on a peak in Darien, which is in Connecticut.

Even more astounding, when Balboa rushed San Francisco, he clearly saw the Hawaiian Islands. And for Being, as we know, a friendly cute, Balboa waved merily to the Hawaiians and shouted, "Great little ocean you got here, kids?" The Hawaiians, of course, recognize friendly courtesy, waved back, and in this happy, holiday, organized a luau, bust a cheery fire over which they prepared several gallons of poi, a nodding pig, and Captain Cook. This, of course, was the origin of Cooking.
From the West End to the West Coast

By Albi Mason

Many moons ago, Journal Editor Al Chapman extended me an invitation to write an article for the Journal about my existence on the West Coast.

At that time I happily agreed to write something but until now I was lost for an inspiration, which means, when one comes right down to semantics, TIME. But today of all days, the day which I had previously planned to use in making a noticeable dent in the tons of outside reading I have to do for my courses at San Francisco State, today had to be the day that was “inspired.”

This so-called inspiration came as I sat at my desk trying to read, eat an unpalatable-looking sandwich simultaneously. Under the rubble piled high before me I suddenly became aware of an old copy of the “Suffolk Journal” some benevolent soul sent me. I thumbed through my book in determination as the smiling face of S. T. Comberbacke, Jr. appeared in a vision before me, urging me to write. I grabbed by battered typewriter and began to pound wildly at the rusty, hesitating keys, stopping after a few moments of nostalgic frenzy to consider where I should begin.

There is so much to say about dynamic and cosmopolitan San Francisco. It is the kind of city that you either fall in love with or just plain dislike. I fell in love with the city, and in doing so it was necessary for me to accept its bad features, and there are many, in order to fully appreciate its better aspects.

I guess my acceptance to San Francisco State was the deciding factor which resulted in my staying in this city. I felt pretty good about my admission to S. F. State until confronted with my first experience of mass-registration.

“I’ll let you in but try and sign up for the next one!” was the first thing that caught my attention. For the most part they are pasted colored with one large, varied-shaped window in front, and are built with an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes have a more public view. The entrances of some of these homes have an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes have an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes have an eye to the weather as well as the view.

The peculiar style of the Franciscan houses was the first thing which caught my attention. For the most part they are pasted colored with one large, varied-shaped window in front, and are built with an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes can be very elaborate, but it is hard to tell from the outside as they are sometimes closed off from public view by a high wall with an iron picket fence. To make up for the lack of a front and back yard, some of the homes have a courtyard miniature of the hanging gardens of Babylon inside the front gate.

Upon first coming into the city via the Golden Gate Bridge the view of the city is captivating. The most prominent feature(s) of the city are the hills. To the right of the bridge is hundreds of seemingly little stucco houses embedded in the hillsides. Farther to the left side of the bridge is the downtown financial center. The office buildings and hotels look like huge skyscrapers at this point but when you get into the heart of the city you find that they are just sitting on top of hills. Due to the infamous earthquakes the law requires the buildings to be below a certain height. Everything is built to withstand the frequent tremors.

Across Stockton-Columbus Streets, however, a totally different culture resides. Shouts of “Come on!” signs indicating where pizza is sold, and the aroma of spaghetti sauce. This is North Beach, the Italian sector. And a “walk on the wild side” of North Beach will lead the tourist traps in the Bay Area, with its own police force.

San Francisco is a haven for ethnologists. Everyone who comes to the city for the first time usually wants to see Telegraph Hill, Fisherman’s Wharf and Alcatraz. The Cable cars also have a large tourist patronization. But anyone in his right mind would avoid riding on a cable car. San Franciscans are an ardent patron of the “Dharma Bums,” and the “Subterraneans” and the “Dharma Rums,” for this is their original home.

The peculiar style of the Franciscan houses was the first thing that caught my attention. For the most part they are pasted colored with one large, varied-shaped window in front, and are built with an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes have a more public view. The entrances of some of these homes have an eye to the weather as well as the view. The entrances of some of these homes have an eye to the weather as well as the view.

San Francisco University Law School

Prof. Malcolm M. Donahue recently represented the law school at the New England Conference of Trial Judges held at Harvard Law School.

He was one of a group of law school representatives to serve as reporters of the proceedings. The conference, the first of its kind to be conducted in New England, was attended by the trial judges of nine states.

Topics discussed included “Judicial Ethic and Law Enforcement,” “The Fair Trial and Public Prejudice,” and “The Adversary System and the Revision of Civil Procedure.”
Mr. John V. Colburn, Associate Professor of English, and director of student activities, began teaching at Suffolk University in 1946. He received his B.S. in Education and his LL.B. from Suffolk Law School in 1958. He has also been the Director of Student Activities since 1952.

Mr. Colburn is an avid reader, enjoys the theatre, tennis and swimming; although, at present, he finds little time for any hobbies. The reason for this is that Mr. Colburn is working toward his Ph.D. in Eighteenth Century Literature at Boston University. (It has become an accepted thing to see J.V.C. running up and down the stairs of S.U. trying to make his classes at B.U. on Mon., Wed., and Fri. mornings — he may have set a new record for the "Flying" mile.)

When asked why he didn't seek a career in Law, Mr. Colburn replied, "The teaching of English is my first love. I found this out after a year and a half of practicing the Law. However, I feel that a Law Degree is good to have if one wants to be in the field of school administration."

Mr. Colburn stated, when asked his opinion of the Suffolk Student Activities Program, "There's room for improvement in this program, and I feel that as time passes great strides will be made with all possible speed and efficiency. I have enjoyed tremendously this post because I enjoy working with students. Sometimes we forget that it's the students who make a university."

Referring to his own area of teaching, he said, "I feel our English Department is comparable to any of the larger area schools. Dr. Vogel, present Chairman of the English Dept., has carried on with Dr. Hannay's policies and has made great strides in the past year."

All-College Picnic Planned for June

Saturday, June 2, is the date for the All-College picnic sponsored jointly by the Sophomore and Junior classes of Suffolk University. The picnic is in honor of the graduating seniors.

The event will be held at the Harold Parker State Forest, North Andover, Mass., from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students and faculty are invited and guests are permissible. Drink and food will be free to ticket bearers (tickets will be available free of charge on the second floor). Each person will be allowed one ticket that will supply enough refreshments for two people. Everyone will have to supply their own transportation, as well as any extra "supplies" that you might wish to bring.

It is also requested that everyone bring sports equipment, as there will be baseball, softball, swimming, etc.

Further information and directions to get to the site of the picnic will be posted.

Check your opinions against L'M's Campus Opinion Poll - 21

- Which would take more courage?
- Is it true that "clothes make the man?"
- How did you choose your present brand?

Get Lots More from L'M

L&M's the filter cigarette for people who really like to smoke.

DELTA PSI ELECTS
NEW OFFICERS

The newly elected officers of Suffolk's Delta Psi chapter of Delta Sigma Pi are:

President — Bing Towne
Senior Vice President — Peter Larson
Vice-President — George Sullivan
Secretary — Richard Mangion
Treasurer — Dino Gianouskos

CHANCELLOR — Gene Rumpel
HISTORIAN — Paul Mondello

The officers, the fourth slate elected since the organization was chartered, will preside for the academic year 1962-63.

CONDA'S RESTAURANT
30 DERNE ST., BOSTON
FIRST CLASS FOOD — SELF-SERVICE RESTAURANT
SODA FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Authors Article

'59 Psych. Grad

Aaron Wolfgang '59, formerly of Chelsea, is senior co-author of an article appearing in a recent issue of "Perceptual and Motor Skills," published by Southern Universities Press.

Wolfgang is currently studying for his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at the University of Wisconsin, which, according to Dr. Leo Lieberman, Suffolk's psychology and guidance chairman, has an outstanding faculty, including Dr. Carl Rogers of non-directive therapy fame.

Wolfgang recently wrote to Dr. Lieberman to apprise him of his progress.

A graduate with high honors, he majored in Psychology and minored in Sociology in the S.U. College of Liberal Arts.

His published article is entitled "Anxiety and Misinformation Feedback in Concept Identification," written with his colleague at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Tomah, Wisconsin, Vladimir Pishkin, and Richard M. Lundy of the University of Wisconsin.
Peace Corps Accepts Two Suffolk Graduates

A Suffolk University 1961 graduate and a graduate student of the class of 1962 have been notified of their preliminary acceptance as members of the Peace Corps by R. Sargent Shriver, director.

The two were accepted as the result of applications obtained from Suffolk University Placement Director George Higley.

The Corpsmen are Christos Simorellis, who majored in History and was active in the Near and Middle East Club, and Steven E. Solomon, a 1961 graduate of College of Liberal Arts, and Steven E. Solomon.

Suffolk students may be surprised to find they have a potential star in their midst.

Helen Stetano (Barron) will record Yea, It's Me, her own composition, for Ace Recording Studios, Boston.

Helen has composed a number of songs, but she feels certain that this is the best she has written. "With a little luck," said Helen, "I won't have to worry about tuition next fall."

The song is a lyrical love ballad that shows promise of a great future on the "pop" record market, provided, of course, that all her classmates at Suffolk run out and buy a copy as soon as it's released.

The Autumn Garden: The Summer Harvest

By Edward F. Morley

"The Autumn Garden" concerns a group of aging people at a summer resort. It is scattered into four different subplots: One concerns a roguish young man and his understanding wife; another, a mawkish female and her rather droll husband; a third, a cantankerous old woman, her homosexual grandson, and his possessive mother; the fourth, a romantic but faded southern belle, a pragmatic little European girl, and a waspish gentleman banker. These fragments occasionally merge, but, more often than not, the audience is wondering why all the pseudo-Chekhovian talk is necessary. The characters have indolently fritted away their lives, (all except the European who is a coy and clever contrast to their American insouciance).

The cast does pretty well considering the material's stagnant staging, perfunctory pacing, and futile fulminations. Lillian Helfman wrote this play, now at the Charles, or perhaps it should be said that she guided the strings for her puppets. One remembers a line from the last one, "Make the best of it." Unfortunately, that's about the only clear idea Miss Helfman had when she wrote this work.

Summer is coming, out of work actors are practicing their worn-out lines for the straw-hat circuit, and mosquitoes are having a wonderful time thinking of all the human flesh they will bite. The Harvard Summer Players are planning a few interesting items, including Shaw's "Captain Brass-bound's Conversion" and Molieres "The Misanthrope" (in the Richard Wilbur translation). Another Shaw play, "Androcles and the Lion", is released.

Peace Corps Accepts

The appointment of Malden Atty. Max C. Goldberg, law school Class of 1951, as an assistant U. S. Attorney, is announced by W. Eodon, Jr., U. S. Attorney for the District of Massachusetts.

He is a former Malden City Councilman; attorney for the Malden Board of Appeal, and has served as a special agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

During World War II he was a captain with the U. S. Marine Corps and in 1955-56 was an assistant district attorney of Middlesex County.

His experience also includes service as president of the First District Eastern Middlesex Bar Assn., and as a special assistant attorney general of Massachusetts.

The civic and veterans' organizations leader is a member of the Malden Young Democrats, worked in the Massachusetts Senate, and served as a special agent with the United States District Court, and has maintained a law partnership in Malden with Special Judge Louis H. Glaser.

His most recent appointment was made on motion of U. S. Atty. Garrity by U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

BRUNCH, LTD.
OPERATORS OF YOUR
Snack Bar

Are you planning your Life Insurance Program as carefully as you are choosing your career? You should be!

The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, America's ninth Largest Insurance Company, has THE plan that grows WITH your success.

We will GUARANTEE your insurability regardless of future contingencies.

I WILL PERSONALLY FUND QUALIFIED APPLICANTS AT NO INTEREST!

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Philip H. Swaebe (Suffolk, '60)
D. S. Furti Agency
116 State Street
Boston, Mass.

OR PHONE: La 3-4005

Seniors & Graduates

The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company.
Captain Freddie Knox and slugging Ray Gonnerty are currently leading the Suffolk nine to another winning season under the able guidance of Coach George Doucette.

The Rams thus far are sporting a 3-2 record. Knox has pitched all three Suffolk victories and has yet to be defeated. First baseman Gonnerty is leading the team in hitting. Ray is batting well over .400 at this writing, and has been supplying most of the big blows that drive in runs.

In Suffolk's first two games, they clobbered Lowell Tech (15-3) and Lowell State (12-3). They then lost a tough one to Hartford, which saw Hartford explode for five runs in the eighth inning and go on to win, 8-6. Freddie Knox turned back Bates, 5-2. The Rams then lost to Bowdoin (9-4) in a game that featured 10 stolen bases by the Bowdoin Polar Bears. Charlie Ramos pitched well in this one, but was the victim of poor support.

The Rams have had some tough luck, but look for them to finish strong. Veteran hurler Brent Collar has been bothered by a bad back, which has affected his pitching. A healthy Brent Collar could make a big difference in the remaining games.

In the catching department, Charlie Paradigreco and Joe Daley have been splitting the chores. Sonny gives Suffolk more strength in that position than they've had in years. Barry Malinsky, who has been looking good at the plate, Ronny Cimelli, and Ralph Feragne, make up the outfield. Grant, McGrath, Callahan, Conly, Sullivan, and Senna bring up the bench.

Athletic Director Charlie Law thinks the ball club is "as good a balanced team as we've had over the past few years, and should give a good account of themselves in the remainder of the season." I'm sure they could do even better with a little more support. Practice is held daily at Smith Field in Allston.
On Films...  ARTHUR T. DABILIS

"Five Finger Exercises," adapted from the prize-winning play by Britain's Peter Shaffer, is a clear study of a family riddled with domestic operations, and yet it turns out to be a total failure as a film. When I read the play last year, I realized that each problem that confronted this family was a British family: strict class consciousness is always noticeable, homosexuality is implied, etc. The setting in the film version, however, is American, and the implications that I mentioned are either left completely behind or are hidden carefully.

The result is an awkward, insincere, Hollywoodesque motion picture that is surrounded by non-people and amounts to no more than a piece de bravure.

Golf Team Riding High

The Suffolk University Golf Team, under the direction of Pro Harold Stone of the Accounting Dept., is having a good season.

After losing their opener with Babson at the Sandy Burr Golf Course, the team, captained by Robert Indresano, squad Salem Teachers College 6 to 1. One point each was taken by Capt. Indresano, Bill McMahon (1961 winner of the New England Junior Tournament), Bill Accarrondo, Dan MacDonald, Paul Downey, and Chuck Tedeman.

Other members of the team include Harry Fine, Bill Cohen, George Moore, Timothy Howe, Kevin Kelly, and Phil Sadowski.

Matches to May 17 have been played with the following results: Suffolk 5½, Lowell Tech 1½; S.U. New England College 6 to 1; Babson 6; S.U. 4½, Salem Teachers 2½; S.U. 3½, Merrimack 3½.

Recent point averages of the members show:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Player</th>
<th>Won</th>
<th>Lost</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Indresano</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McMahon</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Downey</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accarrondo</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tedeman</td>
<td>1½</td>
<td>1½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacDonald</td>
<td>1½</td>
<td>1½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fine</td>
<td>1½</td>
<td>1½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cohen</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Dear Aggie,

Agatha Von Bureau

Dear Aggie,

I want you to know that I don't agree with any of your advice. I think you are a crank, a lecherous old hag, and some kind of nut. Furthermore, I never read your column; it's rotten. P.S. Please sign your new five-year contract and return it promptly.

Your Editor

Confidential to Abby: I've read your column, too, sweetie.

Dear Aggie,

I am in a bad fix. I just got my midterm marks, and I am flunking every test of my five courses. I got a "D" in English. What should I do?

Sincerely Trying for a University Degree

Dear Stud,

Don't spend too much time on English.

Less than ten years out of Suffolk and he's already founded a school! That's the dream come true for Dr. Robert R. Rodman, who with his associate, Harry Gayney, have created Lee Academy.

The college preparatory school, located in the Berkshire town of Lee, Mass., began in September with an expected enrollment of 65 boys. Prior to his current job as director of speech activities at Nichols College, Dr. Rodman was dean of men at McIntosh School in Dover, N. H.

Margie Donovan will be an elementary school teacher in the Danvers system._Elizabeth Falkner was named a representative of the Conn. Mutual Life Insurance Company. Leonard Rosenberg will serve as a unit leader in the Monte- rose Day Camp this summer. Re­ nard Duggan is the new general coach at the Apprentice Regional High School. J. L. DeMott is now director of local service throughout N.E., the USO as­ sociation. William M. Fallone, former chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, has been named a neutral arbitrator in the current MTA situation. Thomas McDonald was guest speaker at the Ayer PTA recently. He's a Harvard Mental Health's Role in Guidance.

The Rev. Kenneth E. Bath, pas­ tor of Greendale People's Church in Worcester, delivered the sermon at the first cooperative Lenten Service at the Methodist Church in West Brookfield. Jean McPhae Schaefer has been appointed as psychiatric social worker by the N. H. State Division of Alcoholism.

This Suffolk News was named Non-com of the month at Clark AFB, Manila. Capt. Frederick E. Phillips completed training at the military aviation school at Bad Tolz, Germany. David J. Murphy, ex-YA attorney, is Suffolk County's newest Assistant District Attorney.

Deported Alumni —

Thomas J. Greaman, Mass. Civil Service Director since 1912.

Charles H. Cosgrove, attor­ ney, and Newton Alderman.

John H. Furley, former Headmaster at South Boston High School.

Joseph B. Cianey, attorney, and former State Senator.

John J. Connor, general attor­ ney of Liberty Mutual.

John R. Brulay, former town moderator, and Maine attorney.

Rev. Bertrand McDowell, C.P., Passionist priest, and former attorney.

The Warden to the Warden the following engagements:

A.F. E. Herbert Santus and Jean­ette D. Oliveira — Komsa L. Evangelides and Joyce Dakos —

Here is the latest list of newsworthy — Ted Sheehan and Sandra Grace — Arthur Lacciar and Despina Malis — Albert E. Jay, Jr. and Ellen P. Clery — Thomas Fanning and Patricia Peace — Stephen J. Garber and Norma R. Lowit — Philip F. Den­ nelly and Rosemary Zekas — Ar­ thuir Prances and Antoinette Cavanaugh.

(Please see next column.)
Peace Corps Accepts
Two Suffolk Graduates

A Suffolk University 1961 graduate and a graduate student of the Class of 1962 have been notified of their respective acceptance as members of the Peace Corps by R. Sargent Shriver, director. The two were accepted as the result of applications obtained from Suffolk University Placement Director George Higley.

The Corpsmen are Christos Simonellis of Lowell, a 1960 graduate of the College of Liberal Arts, and Steven E. Solomon of Revere, a 1962 graduate degree candidate.

Simonellis, who majored in History and minors in Education, expects to teach in Cyprus. While in college he served as program chairman of the Near and Middle East Club and was active in the Drama Club.

Solomon, who has been accepted for the training program of the Peace Corps project in Pakistan, will leave July 14 for the Corps' training site in Puerto Rico.

The question was asked: “Do we have the money to expand?”"3 A resolution that a financial statement listing the university’s assets be requested was passed unanimously.

A letter requesting response to the many questions asked by the students was sent to the Board of Trustees with hopes of receiving a reply.

Before closing the meeting the students voted to hold another assembly at May 8th, at which time answers received from the Board of Trustees would be read, and other problems for which there was no time for discussion would be considered.

All the articles and photos in this special edition appeared in the Suffolk Journal between September, 1961 and May, 1962 - our senior year. They are reprinted by permission of the Editor ... me.

Alan Chapman
HISTORY HONOR SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Suffolk Newman Club was held on September 28, in Room 48. Jack Hennessy, U.S.C.C. Newman Club, offers a very Catholic Student on a secular camficers. At this time, Fr. Thomas Finn,

President, opened themeeting and im act the new spirit of humanistic materisms that has crept into the American mind.

The Newman Club offers a very tine religious program, which will be announced at a later date. The schedule and educational events is as follows:

Oct. 5... "Operation Abotion", a film.

Oct. 19... "Sex in College", a lecture by Rev. Michael Judge,

O.F.M.

Nov. 2... "Evolution and

The Church", a lecture by Prof.

Russell Howland.

Nov. 9... Annual Spaghetti Supper and Evening Mass.

Nov. 23... A lecture by Fr.

Norman Ford, C.S.P., noted Jazz expert.

Dec. 7... "A Modern View of the Church", a lecture by Fr. J. E.

Kroon.

Dec. 29... Newman Dance at the Boston Club.

Everyone, regardless of religious afiliation, is welcome to the meetings and events sponsored by the Newman Club.

Again!

DEBATE TEAM DEFEAT

HARVARD

The Suffolk University Debate team is making a habit of beating Harvard University. The latest victory came on Nov. 4, at Boston University, when our novice team took on and destroyed all Harvardian arguments. Last year, the Suffolk varsity debate team defeated Harvard in similar inter-collegiate competition.

The novice team also outpointed Emerson College at the same tour-ament, Nov. 4.

The novice debaters, Judy Brogna, Virginia Donovan, John Brown, and Foster Silva, promise to improve with experience. Their stunning victories were spoiled by close loses to Bowdoin and Dartmouth, the tournament champions.

The question debated was,

"Should labor unions be under the judictions of antitrust legislation," and the novice team took the affirmative stand.

The varsity team took the negative stand on this question at the Brown University tournament on

Oct. 22, and beat Providence College and the University of Bridgeport.

The varsity team consists of Bill

McCarley (Captain), Bill Smith,

Tony Dileso, and Robert Canavan.

The Suffolk University Debate team is a member of the Eighth Forensic District of the National Inter-Collegiate Debate Association.

SIX FINALISTS CHOSEN

The annual Miss Suffolk contest will reach its climax during the next few days, when Miss Suffolk for 1962 will be chosen from the field of six finalists.

The voting, which will end Wednesday, Feb. 21, will culminate with the coronation of the new Queen that evening at the Parker House roof. The coronation dance, sponsored by the junior class, is one of the biggest annual events of Suffolk University.

The finalists, as chosen by the student body during a week long balloting, include Anne-Marie Fitzpatrick, Janet Karle, Jane Sklow, Barbara Burek, Nancy Walk, and Louise Moran.

Anne-Marie Fitzpatrick, a junior from Jamaica Plain, Mass., is a French major with aspirations to teach. Last year she was chosen Rose of Delta Sigma Pi, Suffolk's business fraternity.

Janet Karle, a sophomore from Medfield, Mass., also wants to teach. She is the business fraternity's Rose this year.

Jane Sklow, a honey-blonde from Beth Paige, Long Island, New York, is a junior majoring in elementary education. (Another teacher!)

Barbara Burek is a transfer student to her sophomore year here. She is a liberal arts major, and resides in Boston.

Nancy Walk, a junior from Chelsea, Mass., has already made her diminutive size felt. She is mascot of the cheerleaders.

Louise Moran, a sophomore from West Roxbury, Mass., is an English major.

These popular co-eds dispel the old adage that beauty and brains are a rare combination. All have abundant beauty, and intellectual pursuits.

The new Miss Suffolk will be crowned by last year's Queen, Sylvia Kaetsenos, and will reign for the duration of 1962.

The contest committee, under the direction of Bruce Quick, Senior Class President, will conduct the final election, as they did the preliminary contest.

The Coronation Dance on Feb. 21, at the Parker House, is under the direction of Junior Class President, Richard Ficeano.

Baseball team with Coach George Dousette, right rear
The column couldn't keep up with the swiftness of the rest of the JOURNAL staff, so we were forced to miss last issue. Hope you had a good group of holidays and that this year will be a worthwhile one.

Approximately 100 old faithfuls attended and enjoyed the alumni dinner-dance-stage show at the Bradford Ballroom.

Our yearbook, The BEACON, certainly has an industrious stuff. Independently, they sent out alumni requests for donations, and the returns have been surprisingly good.

News of men in the service is beginning to look "like the old days." Marion Walter Joyce and Thorne Dakin, now second lieutenants, at advanced training school at Quantico, Va., Frank Crockett is all signed up with the USMC, and waiting to be called. Doree Bob Martin, who is slated for the flight training program, Francis E. Silva, now in the regular army, chose the Kaufman, American College and plans to attend graduate school.

Gordon, Ga. Robert C. Herrick is at Westover AFB as a map and chart specialist, and is now in the regular army, chose the Kaufman, American College and plans to attend graduate school.

 Hits have qualified for election to “Who’s Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities”: Kenneth Compton, 516 Blue Hill Ave., Boston. Ken is an English major in the Liberal Arts College. He plans to attend a graduate school before seeking a teaching career.

Anthony Dileo, 43 Roberts Rd., Cambridge, is a History major in the Liberal Arts College. John P. Heeney, 701 Washington Elms, Cambridge, is an English major in the Liberal Arts College and plans to attend graduate school.

The qualifications for membership in Who’s Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities include: 1. A cumulative average for his four years of study and be nominated and elected by faculty and members of the student body.

SUFFOLK DELEGATES TO LOWER THE BOOM(ERANG) AT U.N.

There is a copious popular record on the market entitled "My Boomerang Won’t Come Back." If you see some Suffolk students packing boomerangs don't get alarmed! They are neither the authors of this crazy popular record, or juvenile delinquents, nor are they Australian aborigines who have infiltrated the student body. In all likelihood, these "boomerang packing" students are members of the Political Science Club who will represent Australia in the Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations Assembly in New York this March. And they are properly preparing themselves to represent Australia as realistically as possible.

All kidding aside, the Political Science Club of Suffolk University has enthusiastically accepted an invitation to attend the 35th Annual Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations Assembly at the Commodore Hotel and the United Nations, headquarters in New York City on the 23rd, 24th and 25th of March.

City Vert Building 21 Myrtle St.

NITED STATES SENATE CLASSES See Leo

Our yearbook, The BEACON, certainly has an industrious staff, so we were forewarned.

TO WHO’S WHO

Kenneth Compton, 516 Blue Hill Ave., Boston. Ken is an English major in the Liberal Arts College. He plans to attend a graduate school before seeking a teaching career.

Anthony Dileo, 43 Roberts Rd., Cambridge, is a History major in the Liberal Arts College. John P. Heeney, 701 Washington Elms, Cambridge, is an English major in the Liberal Arts College and plans to attend graduate school.

Each delegate will be afforded the opportunity for practical exercises in dealing with problems of an international scope. Every "serious" delegate at the model U.N. sessions will study and present the position actually held by the country he represents on a given issue, and try to win the student body for his position or achieve a workable compromise. Needless to say, all of this will require much advanced preparation on the part of each delegate.

Suffolk's delegates will have to take Australia's position in a variety of issues:

Paula Brown and Eleonora Wagner will be on the Political Committee which will discuss three disarmament problems (1) machinery for negotiation of disarmament; (2) the sequence of disarmament measures, control and inspection; and (3) arms systems. Leo Hanahan and Alan D. Dawkworth will represent Australia on the Special Political Committee which will take up the question of Angola.

Thomas Brownell and Arthur Ryan will be the delegates to the Trusteeship Council which will take up the questions of Southwest Africa and the Pacific Island Trust Territories.

Joseph C. Cissell and Richard Walsh will represent Australia on the Administration and Budget Committee. The reorganization of the Secretariat will be the delegate's responsibility.

Thomas Herrell and William O'Hara will represent Australia's views on the Legal Committee which will take up the questions of the Antarctic Treaty and the question of the seas beyond the continental shelf.

Professor Lawrence Read will be the faculty advisor to the delegation, and will accompany the group to New York.

All the delegates are going to Washington to represent Suffolk adequately at this important collegiate conference. It is hoped that this project will be a great success.

NOTE: Anyone having trouble with their boomerang coming back can contact any one of the delegates, who I'm sure, will not hesitate to give pointers. Our delegates are not only experts on Australian affairs, but also on the boomerang.