Bays Temple St. Buildings Planning Consultants Hired Demolition Starts Soon

A committee of the board of Suffolk Community, the forerunner of Suffolk Community College, have taken a more active role in the planning of a new small building facility, the Temple Building, for the college. Two planning consultants have been hired to look into the feasibility of the Temple site and to see what could be done with the site without too much expense.

The consultants will study the entire site and suggest possible plans for the buildings. They will also be responsible for the design and construction of the new buildings.

Dr. Vogel Returns After Extensive Tour Abroad

Dr. Vogel, the President of the university, has returned from a tour of the English universities and has visited many countries around the world. During his tour, he met with many important people in the field of education.

Attend Simmons
Under Grants

Fifty-four college graduates, including two from Suffolk, attended Simmons Under Grants. These are undergraduate scholarships to graduating seniors who have demstrated high scholarship and a broad range of accomplishments. Both Suffolk's Eliza
D. R. H. and Roberson, received Simmon's
Under Grants. Roberson also received a $300 scholarship from the College. Two other Suffolk alumni, William H. Hennessy and John B. Howlett were also awarded Simmons Under Grants.

What ions a young alumis of New York city when he hears the news of a new job, a new apartment, and eventually a new wife? A new life, you say. But what about the U. S. Grad from New York City?

Youth and fresh perspectives in the City, but also the old familiar faces and the familiar routines. A new life, yes, but also the old life.

And just as the new grad is fitting into his new job, new apartment, and new wife, so is the S.U. Grad from New York City.

Among the many young people being graduated from college today, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more than the others—about the world and its future. They are not just walking through the hallowed halls of higher learning. They are building for tomorrow, and they are making choices that will affect the world they will inherit.

CULTS OF OUR TIME

Anticipation

A cult is defined as a "nation of cultists, able to work and study without a great deal of pressure which may, if not carefully controlled, lead to mental or spiritual illness." It is a term that has been used to describe various groups and movements in recent years. The concept of cults has been extensively covered in the media, and many people are concerned about their impact on society. However, it is important to note that not all groups that are labeled as cults are harmful. Some cults provide a sense of community and purpose to their members, and can be beneficial in certain contexts. It is crucial to approach the topic of cults with a critical and open-minded perspective, and to understand the complexities and nuances of these groups.}

We are pleased to bring this issue to you. In recent years this university, along with many others, has been dealing with a significant number of student protests and calls for change. These events have highlighted the importance of student voice in governance and decision-making processes. As we move forward, it is crucial to consider how we can work together to create a more inclusive and equitable campus environment. We stand in solidarity with all students who are fighting for their rights and demanding a greater say in the direction of our institution. Let us continue to support one another and strive for a future where everyone's voice is heard and valued.

Perspective

"Ole Miss"

By John S. MacKay

Below an earlier one-bedroom home on a lot in Macon, Ga., is a small cement wall that was built to support the home. It is all that is left of a wall that was once there. It is all that is left of the house that once stood there. It is all that is left of a way of life that is now gone.

In the early 1900s, Macon was a bustling city with a population of more than 10,000. Today, it is a small town with a population of less than 5,000. The change is dramatic, and it is clear that the way of life that once existed here has been lost.

The cement wall is a symbol of the past. It is a reminder of what was, and it is a reminder of what is gone. It is a reminder of the changes that have taken place in Macon.

ANOTHER YEAR, ANOTHER DOLLAR

With the 1983-1984 season coming to an end, the Michigan State University basketball team is on the brink of history. The team is currently ranked number one in the nation and is poised to win the National Championship. The team has been led by head coach Tom Izzo, who has guided the team to several conference championships and a Final Four appearance last season.

The team has a talented roster, with players such as Mateen Claiborne, Miles Bridges, and Cassius Winston. The team has also benefitted from the leadership of veterans such as Nick Ward and Kenny Goins.

The team's success can be attributed to a strong work ethic and a commitment to preparation. The team spends long hours in the weight room and on the court, perfecting their skills and strategies.

In conclusion, the Michigan State University basketball team is on the brink of history. The team has a talented roster and a strong work ethic. The team is poised to win the National Championship and will be remembered as one of the greatest teams in the history of college basketball.
Suffolk Univ. Commencement – 1962 – An End

Nation's Economy Vitality Concerns All Its Citizens

By John F. Kennedy

The one hundred sixty-seven members of the class of six hundred and fifteen harbor no illusions about the state of the economy in the United States. Although the country has been through some of its most momentous political and economic changes in the past century, the economy remains the most vital concern of the nation. The problem of raising the standard of living and ensuring the vitality of the economy is of paramount importance to all Americans.

Suffolk's Commencement was symbolically linked to the nation's economy. The ceremony took place at the Arrowhead Grounds, which were the site of the first major economic conference in the country. The event was attended by a distinguished group of economists, politicians, and business leaders.

As the nation looks to the future, it is clear that the economy will continue to be a vital concern. The challenges of economic growth and development will require the continued efforts of all Americans. The importance of a well-functioning economy cannot be overstated, as it forms the foundation for a strong and prosperous society.

As we close this chapter, let us remember that the nation's economy is a reflection of our collective efforts and the vitality of our citizens. Together, we can ensure a bright future for all Americans.
AND A BEGINNING: CHASE ADDRESSES GRADS

President recently, in the announcement delivered at the commencement exercises, stated that the admission of a large number of students to the school had to be made before a feeling for the need of union and cooperation could develop. He also pointed out that the need for a sense of identity on the part of the students is important if they are to be able to work together effectively. This is particularly true in the present situation when there is great pressure on the part of the students to achieve success and to be recognized as competent. The need for a sense of identity is also important for the development of a sense of responsibility and for the maintenance of a good sense of humor.

Through the exercise of the sense of identity, the students will be able to feel that they are a part of a larger whole and that their actions are meaningful. This will lead to a greater sense of cooperation and to a more cohesive group. The need for a sense of identity is also important for the development of a sense of responsibility and for the maintenance of a good sense of humor.

FIRST NIGHTER

The new season opened Thursday afternoon, September 20, 1961, with a matinee performance of 'The Pleasure' in the Emerson Theatre. The play, an adaptation of the famous French play 'Les Plaisirs de la Bataille,' was produced by the American Repertory Theatre and directed by the well-known English actor and director, John Gielgud.

Gielgud, who has directed and acted in many renowned productions, has gained international recognition for his work in theatre and film. In 1951, he directed the film 'A Midsummer Night's Dream,' which starred Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier. His direction of 'The Pleasure,' set in a Parisian brothel, promises to be a memorable performance.

In the play, a group of young students, including the famous poet Charles Baudelaire, visit the brothel and become involved with the women who work there. The play explores themes of love, desire, and the consequences of moral decay.

The performance was well-received by the audience, with many praising Gielgud's direction and the cast's performances. The play continues to run through the weekend, and tickets are selling out quickly.

The Pleasure is an intriguing play that delves into the dark side of Parisian society. Gielgud's direction ensures that the audience will be thoroughly entertained and engaged. Don't miss your chance to experience this captivating production.

The Student Marketing Club will hold a dance to raise funds for the United Fund on February 2. The proceeds from the dance will be used to support the United Fund's various projects. The dance will be held in the college's gymnasium and will feature music provided by a live band. Attendees are encouraged to wear a theme dress of their choice.

The club's officers are working hard to ensure the success of the event. They believe that the dance will be a great way to bring the community together and raise awareness about the importance of giving back to the community.

If you're interested in attending the dance, make sure to mark your calendars and get ready for a fun-filled night of dancing, music, and community involvement.

Well-Rounded Education Stressed

Dr. Vogel

well-rounded education stressed

President D. Vogel, who addressed the gathering, said that the essence of education is not just the ability to recall. It is the ability to think for oneself, to question, to analyze, and to understand. This is why well-rounded education is so important. It is not just about the facts and figures, but also about the development of the individual.

Dr. Vogel also mentioned that the well-rounded education should include a variety of subjects that can help students to develop their intelligence, imagination, and creativity.

The importance of well-rounded education was emphasized by the President during his speech. He said that students should not just focus on one subject, but should try to explore different areas of knowledge.

This will help them to develop a broad understanding of the world and to appreciate different cultures.

Dr. Vogel concluded his speech by urging students to take advantage of the opportunities offered by their university and to strive for a well-rounded education.
