Mississippi Kidnap-Murder Shocks!

Chicago Schoolboy Lynched On Visit To Worst U.S. State

Greenwood, Mississippi — Last Wednesday the body of 14-year-old Emmett Louis Till of Chicago, who had been kidnapped and held three days previously because of alleged slight remarks to a white woman, was pulled out of the Tallahatchie River. Till had been visiting his uncle, Moses Wright, a tenant farmer, when he was kidnapped and kidnapped by a group of white men, including two members of the Ku Klux Klan, and killed. The black man, J. W. Milam of Glendora, will be charged with murder, according to the Sherriff George Smith of LeFlore County. The case is supposed to have involved Mr. Bryant and Mr. Weems.

The NAACP's chief, Roy Wilkins, who is leading the investigation, said: "Gloria can spell, but can't buy a house anywhere. She has to live in a place where she is as far from her husband as she can get away from him."

YVONNE WALKER
of the AME Church, who attended the Mambo Calypso Festival in New Orleans, said that she had been "awestruck." She added: "I was almost speechless." She then proceeded to sing a rendition of a popular Calypso tune, "My Man.""}

ADVERTISING EXECUTIVE DIES

New York, N.Y. — William G. Block, 47, the nation's foremost Negro advertising executive and president of International United Newspapers, Inc., died on Saturday morning in Sydenham Hospital, New York City, after a prolonged illness.

As head of an organization that served as the national advertising representative of the largest black newspaper in the world, Mr. Block was not one to walk softly. His death ended a career that had been marked by many firsts. He was the first Negro to be named head of a national advertising company, and he was one of the first Negroes to be given a position of power in a major newspaper. He was also the first Negro to be appointed to the editorial board of a major newspaper.

In direct contrast to what happened in South Carolina, several weeks ago, a team of all Negro little league and a team of all White played against each other at Orlando, Florida. The report said it was all baseball. About the only indication that the event was precedent shattering, was the large number of fans who attended. This could be attributed to the widespread stories which preceded the game.

Orlando won the game 5-0, but had to fight all the way to get the victory. The fans were excellent. The Negro team was given a round of cheers when they took the field.

The Negro Little Leaguers representing Pennsylvania, Florida, appeared to be somewhat nervous at the start. Their pitcher was extremely wild in the first inning. As a result the Orlando team scored four runs in that frame. Since the score was 5-0, the fact that the winners only scored four runs, shows how the Orlando team handled, giving you some idea of what kind of pitching the Little League team represented themselves.

One form of reprimand came from the state of Florida. From nowhere else, but through the press, it was reported the President of that district had requested the team to withdraw from the National League. He also had suggested the states of Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, Georgia, and Mississippi, form its own Little League and restrict it to Whites only. I suppose this sort of thing is more or less to be expected. This proposed action is sort of a direct rebuke to the men who were big enough in mind and body to allow this game to be played between Orlando and Pennsylvania. It is an effort to cause them to stop to the incoming tide of those who would prefer to run and hide behind this flag as “White supremacy.”

As Peter J. Goveen states, a team of this nature is something that has never been achieved in the Little League head, which gives all teams the right to participa- tion, regardless of race, color or creed. Those who signed such contracts had mentioned a few names, called men, who preferred to keep it as a “white man’s game.”

TIPS FOR VETS

Veterans planning to start school under the Korean GI Bill this fall are urged by J. L. O’Banion, head of the Prov- incetown VA Regional Office, to send their applications in early to avoid the last-minute rush next month.

At present, only 23 out of 200 veterans have completed VA predicated that two-thirds of a million Korean GI veterans will be in the national school and training establishment by fall. By filling in the reporting early, veterans will help in processing their papers, Mr. O’Banion said.

Application forms may be ob- tained from VA offices. Completed application, along with an original certified copy of the veteran’s separation paper, should be sent to the nearest VA local office.

To help school-going veterans make their arrangements in time, VA issued a check list of steps that must be taken before enrollment time. The first item is the choice of a goal, and a training program that will lead to that goal. VA explained that a law allows a veteran only one change of program, so he should make sure he is making the correct choice. The second item is to be certain the veteran’s GI bill will cover that course. VA explained that is available in any VA regional office. It is repeatedly stated that VA headquarters in Washington, D.C., or any local office will assist veterans to complete all paperwork for courses a veteran plans to take. VA explained that, through its ongoing efforts was starting to make the most use of the GI bill. This could be profitably used by veterans who are in the medium for products.

A pioneer in the field, a member of the advertising innovations in wide acceptance of Negroes, use of Negro models, sales personal, and retail advertising.

The heavy rains recently caused the postponement of the 25th reunion of the American Jour- nalist to Berliumaging Reunion on August 14th. The affair will be held at a later date to be announced.

A squad from Perry Post, which included Commander J. B. Bertlhe, Leander C. Appel- stein, Elmer B. Thomas, T. N. John P. Dyck, and George T. Smith, were heroes of the rain. They have been working every day of the last week. Commodore Griswold was a veteran of World War II.
