SPELDY RECOVERY, MR. PRESIDENT

"No man is inadequate," insisted Mr. President, "since "as for Man, his days are few." This truth is much beloved by President Dwight D. Eisenhower who must tell it with pride, because of the greatest influence. Perhaps a few lines in his sake would do with a great deal of personality, so that he would not know of the one...--

SPELDY RECOVERY, MR. PRESIDENT. No max is inexedable," since "as for Man, his days are as grass." This truth, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who rose to fame and fortune with the greatest resilience, perhaps, could not have been more succinctly expressed. The eloquent speech of the President, delivered late Wednesday afternoon, was the most impressive and moving address of the week.

The President's emphatic declaration that "no max is inexedable," is a most inspiring testament to the President's own resilience. His recovery from the illness he contracted while in England is a testimony to his unyielding spirit and unshakable faith in the human spirit.

The President's address was a call to action, urging Americans to stand strong and rise to the challenge of the day. His words were a reminder of the inherent strength and resilience of the human spirit. The President's recovery is a testament to the power of faith and the indomitable spirit of humanity.

Time and Work Tell The Story

A true story of a young boy who worked hard and made his own way.

By Joe Ziegler

On the first day of the week, a young boy named Tom went to work. He worked hard all week, from Monday to Friday. On Saturday, he rested.

Times are tough, and Tom knew he had to work hard to make ends meet. But he never gave up, and he proved that with hard work, anything is possible.

Shaw House Fall Program Begun

The Robert Gould Shaw House, Inc., located at 11 Windsor, 6, 8 and 10 Hammond Sts. in Roxbury, with Morris R. Taylor, Headworker, begins its regular Fall and Winter classes this week.

There will be a diversified program for adults including social clubs, dramatics, singing, piano, folk dancing, and sewing. For senior citizens there are clubs carrying on impressive weekly meetings with club rooms open daily.

A Red Feather Service, Shaw House provides activities for those as young as 3½ who enter the Nursery School which is part of the Associated Day Care Services. Immediately-cultural programs in a group called the "Tiger Tail" meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday except Wednesdays. Starting a 9 weeks program, the boys will join the Small Fry group for sports, dramatics, printing, music, and general recreation. Girls of the same age engage in the Camp Fire Girls, handicrafts, music, dancing, dramatics, gym, clubs, and charm groups. Young adults form the chorus and senior dramatic group. There are discussion groups for those High School age and beyond. The Fathers are members of the Parent Teacher organization connected with the Nursery School as well as of the tin Council.

An over-all activity of the House is its participation in the Red Feather Drive. Annually a special tool is distributed with this effort. This year a Red Feather Harvest Supper will be held on November 15 in which the Inter-Club Council cordially invites the interested public.

During the summer the Toy Tots of Shaw House presented a donation to UNESCO. On Thursday, October 13, the Adult Dance Group will present a program of song and dance for the benefit of the Kindergarten School at Monrovia, Liberia, through UNESCO at the International Institute, 195 Commonwealth St., Boston at 8:15. All are invited.

Dancer Sparkles In Dorsey Show

By Vin Haynes

The Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey show which sneaked on in some folks last Sunday at John Hancock Hall, was just that. A very good show which gave colorful semblance of the Dorsey television production. Amid the strains of modern rhythm and melodies of old ballads were interpolations of the sparkling dancing of Bunny Briggs and the hilarious Johnny Morgan and the drumming of Louis Bellson.

It was Briggs who captured the individual spotlight with his distinctive style, something very different to most dance routines. Bunny abandoned the usual frantic body motions which accompany tap dancing, but chose to beat out clear rhythm on seemingly motionless feet which impersonating characters like Quasimodo or a child running. His performance was the kind that will cause fans to swarm the big theatre owners and managers with queries as to why they do not conduct band shows in Boston any longer.

Louise Bellson is always a treat for the jazz fan. He was high-lighted with a five minute solo while the audience viewed him on a revolving stand. This enabled them to see as well as hear the effects of his footwork with two bass drums. Johnny Morgan as the comic was a sight to see, constantly laughing until Jim and Tommy created the nostalgic
