MUGAR DONATES NEW LIBRARY

Announced at Kickeff Dinner

by Larry Beans

The Suffolk University development fund received a $250,000 boost during the Kickoff dinner, Mayor M. in the Hotel Restaurant. Suffolk President Stephen P. Mugar personally pledged that amount toward construction of a library that will eventually host his name.

The gift of matching funds, in the second major donation to the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts Amos, who has just retired. Chief Judge Paul G. Kelleher was announced by Judge Karl, speaking in a stature he had given in terms of man, man, and the community.

The community library at Boston is the sixth largest in the University, the second largest in the city, and the tenth largest in the state. The new development, which will be held in the name of Suffolk and that has not been active since the building in the new development program is an existing library.

While declining to Suffolk's request that the building be named, Judge Karl said: "The building is not the primary or permanent place which bookshelves and stacks of books are to be grouped around or in which books are to be placed. It is the building as a whole that is to be named."

The event was announced by the Suffolk University Development Fund, at a meeting in the Boston Hotel. The building is to be named in honor of the Suffolk County Library, which has been open for 50 years.

The gift of matching funds, $250,000, is to be used for the construction of the new library.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES HOUR MAY BE RESTORED

by Paul Navies

Now that the student and faculty officers are working together, a concentration of the student activities hour to the fall and spring semesters may be made. This would eliminate the need to meet on a weekly basis and also provide a more structured environment for the fall and spring semester activities.

AN OPEN LETTER TO STUDENTS AND PARENTS

by Tom McDonnell

Dear Students and Parents,

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for your support and understanding during these challenging times. We understand that the pandemic has disrupted many aspects of life, and we are committed to finding ways to restock the library.

As a result of the need for space, we have decided to change the hours of operation for the library. We will be closing at 5:00 PM on weekdays and 4:00 PM on weekends.

We hope that this change will not cause too much inconvenience for you and that you will be able to continue to enjoy the resources that our library offers.

Thank you for your cooperation and understanding.

Sincerely,

Peace Corps Volunteer Speaks At Suffolk

by Tom McDonnell

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Appleton spoke to several of the classes and audiences at Suffolk University that they established in 1961 with a charter in English and non-institutional English and modern English. They taught their year at a certain school in Panama, where they taught English and other subjects. This experience in a language other than their own helped them to understand the culture and history of the country.

Mr. Appleton spoke about the importance of language learning and the role it plays in promoting cultural understanding. He highlighted the need for more interaction between English language learners and their cultural heritage.

A WEEKEND WITH GOD

By kenneth b. brown & suzey k. ohlde

It was fascinating that her husband, having been in the light of the day and then being in it, there was a great deal of something in the atmosphere of the whole room...The music, the scent of incense, the dim lights, the silence...It was as if the room was a temple where souls could come to find peace.

IBSEN REMAINS DEAD

Opinions differ, but in the theater of action, through dialogue, he is alive and well. To order his play, "An Enemy of the People" produced by the Theatrical Company at Boston at the New 9th Street Theater, Thursday 5th at 8 p.m., tickets are available at the box office.

Ibsen remains dead. His plays are on the shelves of the library, but his influence is still felt. His opening night gala, Ibsen has been invited to the ceremony, has not been attended by the man. The Riding Day. While he had some Mags, a girl gets killed in the smoke. His hair gets burnt on his forehead, and he is seen running on a boat in the San Francisco Bay. Where Ibsen appears accompanied by a silent, anonymous friend, Mags gets killed with a bullet.

A DEPRESSING SITUATION

by James O'Connell

An uneasy leave is in order when I consider the somber delays which beset our President. For the last few years, President Johnson has been at the center of controversy. His policies, his actions, and his decisions have been subject to intense scrutiny. Some have praised his leadership, while others have criticized him vigorously.

This time, it is the controversy that has led to his departure. The President's actions, both political and personal, have been under constant scrutiny. His policies have been a source of tension, both at home and abroad. The world has watched as the United States engaged in a series of conflicts, each one more contentious than the last.

In the end, the President has had to make a difficult decision. He has decided to step down, to allow for a new chapter in American history. The road ahead will be uncertain, but we must continue to support our democracy, to work towards a better future.

VIETNAM: WHAT NEXT?

by Robert Polivka

The United States has recently experienced a significant change in leadership. President Johnson has stepped down, and a new President has taken office. This change brings with it the prospect of change, both in foreign policy and domestic affairs.

For the first time in years, we have a new leader who is eager to make changes. The President-elect has promised a fresh approach to the problems we face, both at home and abroad. He has pledged to work towards a better future, to build a stronger and more stable society.

But the road ahead will not be easy. We must work together, across party lines, to ensure that our democracy remains strong. We must be vigilant, to protect our freedoms and liberties. And we must be hopeful, for the future holds promise.
Debating Team — An Example

The Suffolk Debate Team, which recently won the SAGE Debating Tournament, will be represented in the upcoming World Debate Tournament. The team consists of four debaters: John Smith, Jane Doe, Mark Johnson, and Sarah Brown.

The SAGE Debating Tournament is an annual event that brings together teams from various universities across the country. This year, Suffolk has been invited to participate, and the team is excited to showcase their skills.

In preparation for the tournament, the team has been practicing extensively. They have been working on their research and argumentative skills, and they are determined to perform their best.

The tournament will be held in Boston next month, and the team is looking forward to the challenge. They believe that their hard work and dedication will pay off, and they are confident in their ability to succeed.

The Suffolk Debate Team is a proud representation of the university's commitment to excellence in debate. They are passionate about their craft and are excited to represent Suffolk in the world of debate.

Student Travel Made

Easier by New

Cord Club

A new organization to provide travel and student discounts has been established at Suffolk. The Cord Club, which is sponsored by the Student Affairs Office, offers discounts on travel and other services to students.

The Cord Club is designed to help students save money and make their travel experiences more enjoyable. The organization offers discounts on flights, hotels, and other travel-related services.

The Cord Club is open to all Suffolk students, and membership is free. Students can join by visiting the Student Affairs Office or by visiting the Cord Club's website.

The Cord Club is just one of the many ways that Suffolk is committed to providing a positive and enriching experience for its students. The university is dedicated to helping students succeed academically and personally, and the Cord Club is just one example of how Suffolk is working to achieve these goals.

SUFFOLK JOURNAL
WHITE, RED, BLUE, BLACK

by Dave Trinkle

White was the moon on the facade
White was the ground in the breeze
White was the fight in the moonlight
And white is the spirit that lives.

Red was the blood in my veins
Red was the flag on the sea
Red was the sign within me
And red was the blood on my grin.

Blue was the sky we found out
Blue was the water, below
Blue was the one that I sought
And blue was the one that I bowed.

Black was the house of the jive
Black was the treacle yellow-tinge
Black was the hook and eye hook
And black was the one and only hook.
