Doctor Slain!

San Francisco, Cal.—Dr. Geor. P. Guild, 31, research physician at the University of California clinic here, was hit by Ray W. Guild, Sr., former president of the Boston NAACP Branch, and former assistant attorney general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, was shot to death last Wednesday by a former mental patient, Rudolph Issacson, 41, who was being treated by Dr. Guild in the clinic.

The young physician, who had just remarried in June after the death of his wife, was shot three times following an argument over medication for a chronic stomach complaint from which the patient suffered. Dr. Guild graduated from Cambridge High and Latin School in 1903, from Harvard College in 1907, and from Boston University Medical School in 1913. Before residing in California, he was an intern at Salem General Hospital, Salem, Mass. He lived with his parents in a Framingham, Con- eld, Mass., and was the father of two children.

It Happened Even in Georgia

Savannah, Ga.—The Savannah NAACP branch has taken sharp issue with the Georgia state legislature and the Negro resident for a recognition of its segregation. The segregation suggestion was made by Lewis L. Scott, attorney, who was announced by W. W. White, president of the local NAACP and acting president of the state NAACP.

Mr. Law asserted in a public statement that "the state is a public officer or public officer who solicits to the people of Georgia the same schools that evading what is clearly the law of the land does all of us great service.

Mr. Law's statement recalled the State Senator Theodore Bilbo's idea to send the Negro back to Africa.

Urban League Activities Broader

The Urban League of Greater Boston Legal and counsel and for the Boston NAACP Branch and grand bouquet of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, was elected to state board.

The Urban League of Greater Boston, Legal and Counsel, and for the Boston NAACP Branch and grand bouquet of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, was elected to state board.

A new policy change has been reflected in cooperation with leading airlines. The Urban League is currently screening and referring young women for positions as reservations clerks—first in Boston! A young high school student who lost interest in formal studies was given new home for the future through Urban League work and referred to other agencies. A new comer to the City Council by the League in finding a decent apartment in a good neighborhood. The city's Apolitical Remodeling Committee has enabled several young women to be placed in good homes where they can grow and develop in security.

The Urban League has sought, throughout its history, to accomplish its announced purpose through the combined efforts of Negroes and white Americans working in common understanding that the principle of democracy is a major concern in the common good. In a recent statement the League stated, "The Urban League believes that through the devoted efforts of men asserting their own rights and in behalf of the American principles of democracy, we will be a national understanding in purpose, strong in its convictions of right, secure again and beyond from without and within to the inspirations of man-kind and purpose.
