The President and Trustees of Suffolk University are pleased to welcome you to the annual Commencement Dinner introducing our 2006 Honorary Degree Recipients and celebrating the generosity of Summa and Frost Society Members.

Saturday, the Twentieth of May Two Thousand and Six

The Fairmont Copley Plaza Boston, Massachusetts
Letter
From the President

Dear Distinguished Friends and Alumni,

Our annual Commencement Eve Dinner heralds the high point of the University's academic year. We take enormous pride in celebrating our impressive slate of graduates and esteemed honorary degree recipients. Commencement marks a singular milestone in the lives of our students and serves as one of the most important measures of our success as a university. In addition to honoring the collective scholarship of our graduates, Commencement offers us a unique opportunity to bring together all of the many individuals who have helped support our students on their academic journey—family, friends, faculty, and all of you—our generous Summa donors and Frost Society members.

It would be difficult to overstate the important role you play in the day-to-day life of our University. Your generosity is critical to Suffolk's ability to support and grow key academic priorities, particularly given the ever-changing realities which shape our world. The rapid advances in technology and an increasingly competitive global economy demand new skills and methodologies on the part of our faculty and our students. As Suffolk responds to the evolving needs of today's learner, Summa gifts offer the support necessary to create a variety of new opportunities for our students, faculty, and academic programs.

As we consider the formidable reality of Gleason Archer's dream of creating a university for all qualified students, we salute the many individuals who have contributed to our extraordinary success. In particular, we salute our Summa donors and Frost Society members. Through the strength of your vision and leadership commitment, we have expanded our curriculum, founded new research centers and institutes, built state-of-the-art classrooms and residence halls, grown our endowment, and continually enhanced the University's reputation, both nationally and internationally, as a center of excellence and scholarship.

On behalf of all members of the Suffolk community, especially our exceptional students, I thank you for helping us make and keep this University strong and vibrant. I look forward to your future support as we take Suffolk University to even greater heights in her second century.

Very truly yours,

David J. Sargent, JD '54

The Recipients
Helaine M. Barnett is president of the Legal Services Corporation, a private non-profit corporation established by Congress in 1974 to fund and monitor free civil legal aid in the United States. Ms. Barnett, who in January 2004 became the first legal aid attorney to be appointed president of the LSC, previously had spent 37 years devoted to providing legal service to the poor of New York City.

Since her appointment, Ms. Barnett has implemented a number of revisions and policy changes at the LSC, including: revising the organization's performance criteria, issuing a major report entitled "Documenting the Justice Gap in America," establishing a pilot loan repayment assistance program to assist LSC programs with recruitment and retention of skilled lawyers, and creating a pilot mentorship program.

Before joining the LSC, Ms. Barnett had spent her entire career at the Legal Aid Society of New York City. She headed the society's multi-office civil division from 1994 to 2003. During that time, the division grew into a nationally recognized provider of legal services that worked with 25,000 clients annually. Ms. Barnett also developed and executed a disaster response plan to coordinate delivery of critical legal assistance to New Yorkers in the aftermath of the September 11, 2001 attacks.

Ms. Barnett is the only legal services attorney to serve on the American Bar Association's Board of Governors and its Executive Committee. She received her undergraduate degree from Barnard College and her law degree from New York University School of Law.
Dr. Donald Berwick is one of the most important leaders in healthcare improvement and reform. Dr. Berwick heads the Institute for Healthcare Improvement, a Boston-based non-profit organization that was founded in 1991 and is dedicated to improving health care throughout the world.

Dr. Berwick has published over 110 scientific articles in numerous professional journals, focusing on subjects ranging from health care policy to technology assessment to health care quality management. He is clinical professor of Pediatrics and Health Care Policy at Harvard Medical School, and a professor of Health Policy Management at the Harvard School of Public Health.

A summa cum laude graduate of Harvard College, Dr. Berwick holds a master of Public Policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government and received his MD cum laude from Harvard Medical School. In 2005, in recognition of his work for the National Health Service in the U.K., he was appointed honorary Knight Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, the highest award given to non-British citizens.

Dr. Berwick is married to Ann (Greenberg) Berwick, an environmental attorney and former chief of the Environmental Protection Division in the Massachusetts Attorney General’s Office. They have four children.
Edward F. DeGraan, BA '66

Honorary Doctor of Commercial Science

Since graduating from Suffolk University in 1966, Edward F. DeGraan has carved out an impressive business career as an executive at The Gillette Company, one of the world's biggest makers of consumer products.

Mr. DeGraan joined Gillette in 1968 as a management trainee in the Safety Razor Division in Boston and has held a number of management positions of increasing responsibility since that time. After being named president and chief operating officer in 2000, he served as acting chief executive officer from October 2000 to January 2001.

In November 2003, he was named vice chairman and chief operating officer of Gillette. When Cincinnati-based Proctor & Gamble acquired Gillette in early 2005, Mr. DeGraan was one of only five Gillette executives asked to stay on and help integrate the two companies.

Mr. DeGraan is an active member of Suffolk's alumni community. He and his wife, Patricia, have four children.
U.S. Representative William Delahunt has represented the Tenth Congressional District of Massachusetts since 1997.

Congressman Delahunt's district covers Cape Cod, the islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, and the South Shore. He is a lifelong resident of Quincy.

A 1963 graduate of Middlebury College in Vermont, Congressman Delahunt serves on the Judiciary Committee and the International Relations Committee, where he has worked to promote democracy and economic opportunity in Latin America as a member of the Western Hemisphere Subcommittee. He is also co-chair of the Coast Guard Caucus, the Older Americans Caucus, and the Congressional Working Group on Cuba.

He also is the ranking Democratic member on the newly created Investigations and Oversight Subcommittee of the International Relations Committee and will help create an agenda that includes understanding the impact of U.S. policy on economic interests.

Congressman Delahunt served in the Coast Guard from 1963 to 1971 and received his law degree from Boston College in 1967. Before being elected to Congress, he enjoyed a distinguished career in public service and law enforcement. While serving as Norfolk County District Attorney from 1975-96, he developed the first prosecutorial unit focused on domestic violence in the United States. The prototype program became a model for prosecutors nationally and abroad in combating violence against women.
THE HONORABLE GUSTAVO A. GELPI, JD ’91

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Judge Gustavo A. Gelpi is the first and only Suffolk Law School graduate to serve as a member of the federal judiciary in the District of Puerto Rico. The 1991 graduate was appointed to the bench in 2001, following a distinguished career as a trial lawyer.

In 2001, Judge Gelpi served as special counsel in the litigation division of McConnell Valdes in San Juan. That followed posts as the Solicitor General of Puerto Rico and as Assistant Attorney General in San Juan.

Judge Gelpi, who received his undergraduate degree in history from Brandeis University in Waltham, is the author of more than 10 legal publications in both English and Spanish.

Judge Gelpi serves on the Federal Bar Examination Committee and is a Fellow of the Federal Bar Association. He has previously been an editorial board member of The Federal Lawyer and chair of the professional ethics committee of the Federal Bar Association, among other appointments and positions.
David Gergen has been a commentator, editor, teacher, public servant, best-selling author, and advisor to presidents for 30 years. In addition to being communications director for President Ronald Reagan, he held positions in the Nixon and Ford administrations. In 1993, he served first as counselor to President Bill Clinton on both foreign policy and domestic affairs, and later as special international adviser to the President Clinton and Secretary of State Warren Christopher.

Mr. Gergen currently serves as editor-at-large at U.S. News & World Report and is a regular television commentator. He is also a professor of public service at the John F. Kennedy School of Government and is director of its Center for Public Leadership. In 2000, he published the best-selling book, Eyewitness to Power: The Essence of Leadership, Nixon to Clinton.

From 1984 to 1993, Mr. Gergen worked mostly as a journalist. During his two and one-half years as editor of U.S. News & World Report, the magazine posted record gains in circulation and advertising. For five years during that period, he teamed with Mark Shields for political commentary every Friday night on the MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour.

A native of Durham, N.C., Mr. Gergen is an honors graduate of Yale University and Harvard Law School. He also served in the United States Navy for three and one-half years. He is active on many nonprofit boards and hold 14 honorary degrees. Mr. Gergen will give the 2006 Commencement address to undergraduate students at Suffolk's College of Arts & Sciences and Sawyer Business School.
Before he was New York City’s charismatic mayor, Rudolph W. Giuliani was a federal prosecutor who made his mark as the U.S. Attorney General for the Southern District in New York. After being appointed to that post in 1983, Mr. Giuliani ran up an impressive record of 4,152 convictions with only 25 reversals as he spearheaded efforts to combat drug dealers, organized crime, government corruption, and white collar criminals.

Mr. Giuliani was elected New York’s 107th mayor in 1993 after running on a campaign that focused on quality of life, public safety, business development, and education. He was easily reelected in 1997, sweeping four of the city’s five boroughs.

The law enforcement strategies implemented by the Giuliani administration have become models for cities around the world, and during his tenure New York went from being synonymous with unsafe streets and neighborhoods to being ranked as the safest large city in America by the F.B.I. Under Mr. Giuliani’s leadership, the city’s overall crime rate fell 65 percent and its murder rate dropped by 70 percent.

Mr. Giuliani is also credited with moving 640,000 individuals from the city’s welfare rolls with one of the country’s most successful welfare-to-work programs and with enacting more than $2.5 billion in tax reductions.

Mr. Giuliani’s brightest moment as a public official, however, came during the city’s darkest hour. He was hailed for the recovery efforts he led following the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks on New York City, and was named Time magazine’s Person of the Year for 2001.

After leaving office in January 2002, Mr. Giuliani formed Giuliani Partners, a professional services firm that focuses on emergency preparedness, public safety, leadership during crisis, corporate governance, and financial management. He is a 1965 graduate of Manhattan College and a magna cum laude graduate of New York University Law School.
Alan A. Khazei

Honorary Doctor of Public Service

Alan Khazei is the chief executive officer and co-founder of City Year, a national service corps made up of young adults between the ages of 17 and 24. Since its creation in Boston in 1988, City Year has graduated more than 6,500 members who have completed 9.7 million hours of service in 15 metropolitan areas across the United States.

Mr. Khazei, who graduated from Harvard University and Harvard Law School, founded City Year with his college roommate, Michael Brown, with the belief that the energy and idealism of young people could change the world. In 1992, the Bush Administration named City Year one of only eight demonstration national service programs in the country, and in 1993 the Clinton Administration modeled its AmeriCorps program on City Year.

City Year has an annual budget of more than $40 million and bills itself as an "action tank" that constantly combines theory and practice to advance new policy ideas, make programmatic breakthroughs, and bring about major societal changes. Members focus on education and youth development during their year of service in a wide variety of activities, from running after school programs to increasing AIDS awareness.

Mr. Khazei was recognized by Time magazine in 1994 as one of America's outstanding leaders. He has received numerous awards for his work with City Year, including the Reebok Human Rights Award and the Jefferson Award for Public Service.
As president and CEO of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston, Linda Whitlock’s passion for children translates into high-impact programs that help more than 8,000 children and teens from low-income neighborhoods in Greater Boston.

BGCB has 200 staff members and an annual budget of more than $12 million, making it one of the city’s biggest and most esteemed non-profit organizations. In 2003, Boston magazine named Ms. Whitlock one of the Most Powerful Women in Boston.

Ms. Whitlock is an alumna of Mount Holyoke College and received a Master of Arts degree in psychology from the University of Michigan. She has also received an honorary degree from Pine Manor College, the Shattuck City Champion Award from the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, the Heroes Among Us Award from the Boston Celtics, and the Leadership Award from ACCESS, a provider of college financial aid to Boston Public School students.

Before joining BGCB, Ms. Whitlock served in the administrations of Massachusetts Governors Dukakis and King. She has also taught in the Department of Urban Studies and Planning at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and served on Massachusetts Governor Mitt Romney’s Transition Team as well as Boston Mayor Thomas Menino’s Task Force on Out-of-School Time in Boston.
Summa is the BRIDGE OF OPPORTUNITY that supports the inspiration, hard work, and success of our students.

The Centennial Scholarship Program

The Centennial Scholarship Program, established in honor of Suffolk’s 100 year anniversary in 2006, has achieved more than $2.9 million in endowment support through the generosity of these donors. The program is well on its way to achieving its goal of recognizing 100 Centennial Scholarship benefactors.

Scholarships are critical to advancing our historic mission of access and opportunity. A named award can often tip the scales to ensure that a student can attend Suffolk. Centennial Scholarships serve as tangible evidence of Suffolk’s commitment to recruit and retain an exceptionally talented student body. We are deeply grateful to the following donors who have embraced the mission of the Centennial Scholarship Program and made new or additional scholarship commitments of $50,000 or more as of May 12, 2006.

Centennial Scholarships
The Frost Society

Also joining us tonight are members of the Frost Society.

George A. Frost was a Boston-area businessman and philanthropist. When he gave financial assistance to his young friend Gleason Archer, he believed that it represented an investment in human life.” Instead of accepting repayment from Archer, Frost urged him to help others. Gleason Archer fulfilled that legacy by founding Suffolk Law School and then Suffolk University, institutions that have changed the lives of many men and women through educational opportunities.

Today the Frost Society honors and thanks those who assure the gift of educational opportunity to future generations. We recognize and give special thanks to alumni and friends who have included Suffolk University and/or Suffolk Law School in their wills and trusts, established life income gifts, or named Suffolk as an irrevocable beneficiary of a life insurance policy or retirement plan. The University is deeply grateful to the approximately 200 alumni and friends who have notified us that they have included Suffolk in their estate plans.

Listed in tonight’s dinner program are those current Frost Society members who have given us their blessing to recognize their membership in print. This list is up-to-date as of May 3, 2006.
