University Wins City’s Best Neighbor Award

Suffolk University has been named the City of Boston’s Best Collegiate Neighbor. City of Boston Code Enforcement Director Richard Iannella presented the award to Suffolk University Vice President/Treasurer Francis X. Flannery at a reception in August at the Four Seasons Hotel.

In citing Suffolk University as an outstanding neighbor, Iannella noted: “Founded in 1906 and with a present enrollment of 5500 students, Suffolk University is an independent urban co-educational institution comprised of a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and School of Management and a Law School.

“Suffolk University occupies 10 separate properties in the City of Boston. Located on Boston’s historic Beacon Hill, the University initiated transformation of Temple Street to Temple Walk. Annually, Suffolk University contributes to the upkeep and planting that helps beautify the walk and enhance the neighborhood. In keeping with the history, pride and beautification of the Hill, the University has installed window boxes and planters filled with flowers, planted trees and shrubs and set up benches and maintained lighting.

“The maintenance program at Suffolk University expends considerable time, effort and money to maintain its Beacon Hill campus. The University spends $36,000 annually to have its trash removed by an independent contractor.”

Suffolk will soon open a new four story building on Cambridge street which will house the institution’s first gymnasium and a bookstore.

(continued on page 3)
Sugarman Named To Probe Municipal Court Practices

Law School Dean Paul R. Sugarman has been appointed a special master to investigate alleged improprieties by some judges in Boston Municipal Court.

The Supreme Judicial Court appointed Sugarman following a Boston Globe Spotlight series detailing lax work habits and early departures from court.

Sugarman's appointment calls for the long-time respected trial lawyer to conduct an inquiry of practices and procedures in BMC and files a report within 90 days. In appointing Sugarman the SJC called him "a distinguished trial lawyer with broad experience," noting his experience as a former chairman of the Board of Bar Overseers, past president of the Mass. Bar Association and a member of the Cox Commission, the governor's 1976 select committee on judicial needs.

Sugarman was named Suffolk Law Dean last December succeeding David J. Sargent, who moved up to the presidency of this Institution.

Scholarship Winner

at Suffolk University Law School is, the first recipient of the Carol DiMaiti Stuart Scholarship presented by the Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers. The $1000 scholarship award was presented at a dinner September 26 in Boston's 57 Restaurant.

The award is named in memory of Carol DiMaiti Stuart, 1985 Suffolk Law School graduate. Darden, who ranks in the top 15% of her class, was chosen based on academic excellence and financial need.

Business Prof Bubnys Receives Fulbright

Edward L. Bubnys of Brookline, assistant professor of finance in the School of Management, has been awarded a Fulbright grant to lecture in Lithuania, the Board of Foreign Scholarships and the United States Information Agency have announced.

Bubnys is one of approximately 1500 U.S. grantees who are traveling abroad for the 1990-91 academic year under the Fulbright program, which was established in 1946 under Congressional legislation introduced by former Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas to better mutual understanding among this country and other nations.

Bubnys joined the School of Management faculty in 1988 after serving as an assistant professor of finance, insurance and real estate at Memphis State University. He received his B.S. in mathematics from the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago in 1973, his Ph.D. in economics from the University of Illinois in Urbana in 1978 and his master of science in finance from that institute as well.

The Fulbright grant marks the second notable award Bubnys has received this year. Earlier, he was the recipient of the School of Management Faculty Achievement Award for his research and scholarly activities.

Red Sox Salute Suffolk Law Librarian

Patricia I. Brown of Winthrop, associate law librarian, a woman's baseball Hall of Famer, was honored by the Red Sox before the start of the twilight doubleheader against the Milwaukee Brewers, Monday, Sept. 10.

Brown threw out the first ball at the Fenway Park twinbill, and she and three of her former teammates in the All-American Girls Baseball League were officially recognized by the Red Sox organization.

Joining Brown were Pat Courtney and Maddy English of Everett, and Mary Pratt of Quincy.

Red Sox catcher Tony Pena and Pat Brown

All four were among a group of women whose names were enshrined in Baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. in November of 1988. The wall size display contains uniforms, bats, balls, photos and a large plaque listing the names of the players, their hometowns and the years they played.

The league was started in 1942 by P.K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs. It was a 12-team league that stayed in existence until 1954.

Pat Brown played for the Kenosha Comets of Wisconsin, the Chicago Colleens and the Battlecreek Belles of Michigan.

More than 50 of her family, friends and associates were on hand when Pat delivered the first ball.

(continued on page 3)
Red Sox
(continued from page 2)

Pat Brown has been employed at Suffolk University Law School for 36 years. She is an attorney and legal research consultant and is listed in the most recent editions of Who’s Who in American Law and Who’s Who in the East.

She holds bachelor of arts and master in business administration degrees from Suffolk University and received a juris doctor degree from Suffolk University Law School. She also has a master’s degree from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

A member of the Massachusetts and Boston Bar Associations, and the Association of American Law Libraries, she does volunteer work as the director of a referral center at the Union Congregational Church in Winthrop. One of her special concerns is helping prison libraries grow and making necessary legal materials available to inmates.

‘Best Neighbor’ Award
(continued from page 1)

Other Best Neighbor Award recipients were Best Residential Property - Peabody Properties; Best Commercial Property - Faneuil Hall Marketplace; Best Restaurant - The Westwood Group; Best Government Agency - Boston Parks & Recreation; Best Franchise - McDonald’s Corp.; Best Hotel - Four Seasons; Most Improved Neighbor - The Druker Co.; Recycling Initiative Award - The Beacon Companies; Civic/Business Improvement Award - Roslindale Village Main Street; Public Service Award - Robert E. Cummings of the Greater Boston Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Service Awards (continued from page 1)

worked in the Office of the President and Law School offices. She holds B.A., MBA and law degrees from the University.

An active volunteer for Boston Aging Concerns, an organization providing assistance to the elderly and disabled, Mulcahy received a mantel clock and an engraved plaque during the program.

Shannon, who received a rocking chair for his long service, is currently an associate professor of economics. He began his career at Suffolk in 1960 as an instructor in government and economics. He became an assistant professor in 1963 and an associate professor in 1972. He holds his B.S. and master of arts degrees from Boston College.

Those recognized for 20 years service were Harvey A. Katz of Psychology, Eric R. Myrvaagness of Mathematics, John C. Cavanagh of History, John O’Callaghan of Government, Jack Hajj of Mathematics, Rudolph Zuckerstatter of Philosophy and recently retired Ruth Wynn of the Sawyer Library. They received Suffolk captain’s chairs.

The following have completed 10 years service: Susan D. Sweetgall of the Law Library, Steven Spitzer of Sociology, Cynthia M. Chappell, who recently left the Law Registrar’s Office, Laura Hourtiene of Humanities & Modern Languages, Elliot Gabriel of the Dean of Students Office, Ellen F. Foley of Institutional Advancement, Russell G. Murphy of the Law faculty, Paula Fleck of Student Accounts, Thomas Finn of the Law faculty, Bette Mandl of English, Darlene F. Poplawski of Data Processing and Joseph M. Walsh of the Athletic Office. They received a Suffolk University pen & pencil set.

In addition to Sargent and Ronayne, Law School Dean Paul Sugarman and SOM Dean Richard L. McDowell and VP/Treasurer Francis X. Flannery were present to greet the faculty and staff.

Athletic Director James E. Nelson hosted the speaking program. The list of employees with at least 10 years service now numbers 174 while there are 68 who have 20 or more years affiliation with the Institution.
New Faces On Campus

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Laurie Umansky, History-instructor. She is teaching various integrated studies and women's history classes. She has previously taught at Brown and Northeastern Universities. Received a B.A. from UMass-Boston and M.A. degrees from Beacon College and Brown University. Umansky is a Ph.D. candidate at Brown University. She and her husband Carroy Ferguson, and daughter, Carena, reside in Medford.

Sanjiv Jaggia, Economics - visiting assistant professor. He is teaching several economics and statistics courses. Jaggia received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Panjab University, India and his Ph.D. from Indiana University this summer. He and his wife, Priscilla, a professor at UMass-Boston, live in Dorchester.

Rosemarie DiBiase, Psychology - assistant professor. She specializes in the social and emotional aspects of infant and childhood development. Dr. DiBiase received her B.A. from the University of New Hampshire, and her Ph.D. from Temple University. DiBiase and her husband, Curtis Moody, reside in Jamaica Plain.

Irina Peterburgsky, Math and Computer Science - assistant professor. She has been appointed coordinator for the ten Math 101 courses, and will also be teaching a course in linear algebra. Dr. Peterburgsky received both her Bachelor's and master's degrees from Kiev University, and her Ph.D. from the Kiev Institute of Mathematics, U.S.S.R. She and her son emigrated to the United States two years ago and live in Brookline.

Celeste Kostopulos-Cooperman, Humanities and Modern Languages - assistant professor. She instructs several introductory humanities classes, as well as the Spanish language. Dr. Kostopulos-Cooperman received a B.A. from Simmons College, and her A.M. and Ph.D. from Brown University. Previously, she was an instructor at Brandeis University. She, her husband Gene, and son Adam, live in Needham.

Peter Bachiochi, Psychology - assistant professor. Dr. Bachiochi received his B.A. degree from Boston College and his M.B.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Connecticut.

Donna Giancola, Philosophy - instructor. Giancola received a B.A. degree from Assumption College, an M.A. from Boston College, and is currently a Ph.D. candidate at Boston University.

Dan Stefanescu, Mathematics and Computer Science professor. He received his B.S. degree from MIT, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard. Dr. Stefanescu also served as an assistant professor at UMass-Boston.

School of Management

Michael Anderson, Finance - assistant professor. He is teaching Financial Institutions and Investment Analysis, and Portfolio Management. Anderson was previously a research assistant at Indiana University. Anderson received a B.A. and MBA from Michigan State University. Expects to receive his Ph.D. this fall from Indiana University. He and his wife, Kathy, reside in Medford.

Meera Venkatraman, Marketing - visiting assistant professor. She is teaching Principles of Marketing. She received her B.S. from Bombay University, India, her MBA from the Indian Institute of Management, Calcutta and her Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh.

Hassan Ehsani, Finance - assistant professor. He is teaching Investment Analysis, Capital Management. Dr. Ehsani previously taught at the University of Houston and Wayne State University in Michigan. Dr. Ehsani attended Tehran Business College in Iran. He received an MBA and Ph.D. from the University of Houston. Dr. Ehsani lives in Revere with his wife, Manoo, and their son.

Robert J. Defillipi, Management - assistant professor. He is teaching Business Policy and Managing in the External Environmental. He received a B.A. from Northeastern University, a Masters of Social Work in Social Planning from the University of Maryland, a Masters in Philosophy from Yale University and expects to receive Ph.D. before the years end. Defillipi lives in Willimantic, CT with his wife, Jane, and their two sons, Chris and Mike.

Ruth Clarke, Management - assistant professor. She is teaching Business Policy. Dr. Clarke received a B.A. from Reading University in Reading U.K., and an M.S. and Ph.D. from UMass-Amherst.

Stephen Tomczyk, Accounting - associate professor. He is teaching Principles of Accounting. He previously taught at Bentley College in Waltham as an associate professor of accounting. Dr. Tomczyk received his B.S. and MBA degrees from the University of Detroit. He received a Doctorate in Business Administration from the University of Kentucky.
Newsmakers

ERIC BLUMENSON, Law faculty - His book, Massachusetts Criminal Defense, came off the presses in September by Butterworth Legal Publishers. The two-volume work explains the case law statutes, regulations and strategic considerations involved in defending criminal cases in this state.

MARGARET COLLINS WEITZ, Humanities and Modern Languages - She was one of a small group of literary scholars invited to the Shakespeare Institute held in Stratford-upon-Avon in August. This followed a three-week study tour of France as one of five Americans chosen by the Foundation Franco-Americaine. The quintet visited schools and cultural institutions and were guests of the French Ministries of Education and Foreign Affairs.

DAVID PFEIFFER, Public Management - He's been invited to present two papers at a conference on Developing an Independent Living Approach to Disability Technology at SUNY Institute in Utica, N.Y. The conference is funded by the National Science Foundation. Pfeiffer’s papers consider the interface of the Independent Living Movement with the Disability Rights Movement and how to achieve public policy objectives.

MARGUERITE DENNIS, Enrollment and Retention Management - Her fourth book on college education financing is now in publication. It’s entitled Keys to Financing a College. Dennis, who taught an enrollment management course at the Snowmass Institute in Colorado during the summer, presented a 10-point program on how to finance a college education at a program at the C. Walsh Theatre on Oct. 13. Joining her was Financial Aid Director Chris Perry.

FRANCES AMATUCCI, professor, SOM - She recently finished an oral history of American Industrialist George Hutchinson Love, one-time chairman of Consolidated Coal and Chrysler Corp. The history is being distributed by University of Pittsburgh Press to major libraries throughout the country. Amatucci teaches business policy and is developing a course on mergers and acquisitions.

JOEL CORMAN, chairman of Management - The long-time business professor has been named to direct the full-time MBA program. He'll be available for prescheduling of courses and creation of a program cohort. Corman is nationally recognized as a leader in the small business field and conducts the Small Business Institute program at the School of Management.

DWIGHT GOLANN, Law faculty - Much in demand by the media for observations on the savings and loan crisis, Golann wrote an article in the “Focus” section of the July 8 Sunday Boston Globe, which spurred appearances on Channel 4's six o'clock news and an editorial rebuttal on Channel 5 asked him to do in response to the channel's editorial position. Earlier, Golann appeared on ABC's "Good Morning America" show for a five minute interview with Joan Lunden on the S and L crisis.

PAUL KORN, Counseling Center - He's been elected chair of the program committee for SOAR (Society Organized Against Racism In New England Higher Education, Inc.) Suffolk is a four-year member of the group made up of more than 30 colleges and universities to provide support and consultation in the fight against racism and to promote a multicultural learning environment. Suffolk will host the SOAR governing council meeting on Dec. 14. Korn led a workshop at the annual SOAR student conference Oct 5 and 6.

DANIEL SANKOWSKY, professor, SOM - Has succeeded Corman as chairman of the Management Department. An authority on teaching and learning of quantitative skills, he has provided leadership for the school's efforts to enhance retention of undergraduate students.

JACQUELINE LANDAU, professor of management - She presented a paper, “Factors Related to Managers and Professionals Willingness to Relocate,” co-authored with colleague Michael Arthur and Boza Shamir of Hebrew University in Jerusalem at the annual meeting of the Academy of Management in San Francisco. The paper was also published in the Best Papers Proceedings.
Personnel

Charitable Giving Campaign Underway

The University's Annual Charitable Giving Campaign, for years known simply as the United Way but now expanded to include other organizations, kicked off on October 2.

This year, according to Human Resources' Dan McDonald, employees will have an opportunity not only to contribute to the United Way but also to Community Works and to Oxfam America.

"These alternatives expand the University's giving program by adding both a local and international grassroots organization," McDonald said.

McDonald says the University hopes to collect pledges from more than 55% of the faculty and staff. "The problems of homelessness, school dropouts, affordable child care, alcohol and substance abuse, racism, and AIDS remain and it is only through the generosity of all of us that these may be aggressively attacked," McDonald noted.

Campaign incentives include a possible weekend for two at the Hotel Meridien for pledging $65 or more (1.25 a week) and a chance at winning a Suffolk captain's chair for pledging $52 or more for the year ($1 a week). To be eligible for these drawings, return your pledge cards to the Human Resources Office by Oct. 31. There will also be a special drawing for first time givers.

Staffed Training Offered

Brochures describing staff training and development programs were recently mailed to all administrative and support staff employees. This year, for the first time, the University has developed a coordinated series of development and training programs for managerial and support staff. All of the programs will take place at the University and most of them will be held during work hours.

Last winter, staff were sent a questionnaire asking them about their training and development interests. The programs offered are based upon the responses to that survey. Program topics include such things as "Understanding Your Leadership Style," "Communicating Under Pressure," "Voice and Telephone Techniques," and "Effective Writing." Some of the courses will be lead by training consultants while others will be taught by Suffolk faculty and staff. Faculty and staff leaders include Paul Korn, Bob Rosenthal, Phyllis Addario and Jane Scherban.

A series of computer programs taught by the MIS staff is also included. These programs include "INFORM" (introductory and advanced courses), "WordMarc/PrimeWord" (introductory and advanced courses), "PROCOMM," "COLLEAGUE/PASSPORT," "Electronic Mail," and "Introduction to PC Literacy". The MIS teaching staff includes Bob DiGuardia, Mary McDonough, Paula Streletsky, Susan Scott, Darlene Poplawski, Mary Kelly and Fuad Yatim.

Lunch time programs on financial planning and health issues are also planned. Topics include "Financing a New Home or Condominium," "Debt Management/How to Save," "Smoking Cessation," a combination of outside lecturers and Suffolk staff. Suffolk facilitators include Karen Maney, John Pagliarulo, Toni Tinberg and Dan McDonald.

The registration process and an enrollment form is included in the booklet. Further information is available for the Human Resources Office.

These programs were designed to support and enhance professional and personal development. All are encouraged to take advantage of the programs.

Easy To Find

In an effort to better inform and assist employees the Human Resources Office has affixed "Hot Files" beside each Human Resources Bulletin Board throughout the campus. Each set of "Hot Files" contains ample supplies of Tuition Free Course Forms, John Hancock Preferred Claim Forms, John Hancock Preferred Handbook and Directories, Addendums to the Hancock Directories, Flexible Reimbursement Account Claim Forms, Delta Dental Plan Booklets, Delta Dental Claim Forms, and Employment Applications.

The "Hot Files" are located next to the Human Resources Bulletin Boards in the Sawyer Building on the 7th floor, in the Donahue Building on the 1st floor (adjacent to the Bookstore) and in the Fenton Building on the 2nd floor. Supplies will be replenished on a weekly basis.

For more information contact the Human Resources Office at ext. 8415.

Designated Smoking Areas

Effective Sept. 1, the University designated certain areas within the Institution where smoking is permitted.

They are:

ARCHER - The hallway on third floor near the Counseling Center, and in the rear stairwell on Ridgeway Lane side.

DONAHUE - The smoking section of the Masterman Lounge, the Faculty Lounge, and the rear stairwell near Ridgeway Lane.

FENTON - The smoking sections of the Fenton Lounge and the rear stairwell.

ONE BEACON STREET - Hallway near elevators. Cafeteria on the 26th floor may also be used.

RIDGEWAY - To be designated when building is completed.

(continued on page 8)
Potpourri

By Lou Connelly

Back in a classroom setting after all these years was veteran character actor Paul Benedict. He plays a college film professor in the new Marlon Brando film, “The Freshman” and earned warm reviews and a profile in the New York Times, a copy of which English’s Fred Wilkins passed on to us. This writer remembers Benedict as a fellow student at Suffolk back in the late fifties when Paul developed his first flair for acting, performing with the Suffolk Drama Club before getting involved with the Charles Playhouse and such budding thespians as Dustin Hoffman, Al Pacino and Robert De Niro. Benedict received his B.S. in English from Suffolk in 1960 and returned here some years back to reminisce with faculty like Ed Hartmann and Stan Vogel and other long-time staff...

Riding a tidal wave of success in annual fund phonathons, Gail Mansfield & Company picked an appropriate setting to reward some 200 alumni volunteers and students on Aug. 29, a dinner cruise aboard the “Spirit of Boston” through Boston harbor. The evening included music and a number of presentations including the Dick Jones Award for top phone solicitation to veteran Law Prof. Tom McMahon. For 1990-91 the goal is $290,000 and 6,000 donors, ($100,000 already raised) hoping to top last years, and Mansfield points out that a day caller program has now been instituted...

Congratulations to Government’s John Berg whose paper, “Citizen Power, Corporate Power,” was selected the outstanding faculty paper at the 1990 conference of the New York State Political Science Association. He received a $100 check for his efforts at the parley at John Jay College of Criminal Justice...

A couple of Steves, Spitzer of Sociology and Hicks of the Law faculty, teamed up for a project, “Law, Myth and the Foundations of Social Order,” that was rewarded by a grant of $1,175 from the American Bar Association Fund for Justice and Education. It is part of the 1990-91 Mini-Grant program of its Commission on College and University Nonprofessional Legal Studies and was one of only nine selected for the funding. The proposal is to support and develop a symposium for undergraduate faculty teaching an interdisciplinary course in CLAS...

Law Prof. Victoria Dodd was interviewed by Channel 56 concerning the David Souter nomination to the Supreme Court. She also authored an article on the front page of the New York Times Business Section Sept. 30 and presented a workshop, “Liability Issues in Experiential Education,” at the National Society of Internships and Experiential Education conference with Pat Yates of Career Services and Doris Clausen, our international student advisor...Margaret Collins Weitz of Humanities and Modern Languages received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to study in residence at the Rockefeller Foundations Study Center in Bellagio, Italy. Among the scholars joining her will be historian Sir Owen Chadwick and novelist Hortense Calisher...Sharon Artis, presidential assistant, will travel to Africa in November and during her absence Rose Wright of the Bellotti Learning Center will become acting director of multicultural affairs with assistance from Zegenu Tsige, new assistant dean of students...

Lt. John Pagliarulo of the Suffolk Police reports that two of his officers, Tyrone Johnson and Thomas Ralph were graduated from a seven-week campus police academy at the Mass. Criminal Justice Training Council in August. Johnson won the “Directors Award” as the most improved officer during the course...

A reminder: Carol Dittes is spelling Wendy Sanford as Protestant campus minister this semester while Wendy is on sabbatical in New Hampshire until January...Kudos are in order for two staffers who have completed degrees. Melissa Madden, recruiting coordinator in Career Services, got her B.S. in Communications this summer and Anthony Voto, mailroom supervisor, received a B.S.B.A. in marketing...

Condolences this month to Judy Dushku of Government on the death of her sister, Patricia (Rasmussen) Gadsby of Brookline, to Pat Brown of the Law Library on the loss of her brother, Thomas K. Brown of Scranton, Penn., and to Veep Frank Flannery on the passing of his brother, Paul Flannery of Waterford, Conn...

Career Services and Coop Ed welcomed Betsy McDowell, new assistant, who comes from the Women’s Educational and Industrial Center... Prof. Steven Ferrey presented a paper at the semi-annual meeting of the American Council for an Energy Efficient Economy held in Monterey, Calif. He also authored a chapter in The Venture Capital, a manual published by Warren, Gorham & Lamont in September...Don Levitan of Public Management was the speaker at a manager seminar at the 54th annual meeting of the Vermont Municipal Clerks and Treasurers Association...

The Suffolk University Counseling Center will undergo a reaccrediting visit from the International Association of Counseling Services next spring, the fourth such visit since its original accreditation in 1975...Bursar Paula Fleck reminds one and all that all employees, dependents and spouses registered for courses must file a tuition waiver form with Human Resources each semester. If billed for tuition costs contact the Student Accounts Office at ext. 8407...

Saroj Sawhney of Economics is chair of the program committee for the second annual international convention of the Congress of Political Economists slated for Jan. 9-12 at Boston' Park Plaza...

Granddad Lee Sutherland of SOM is singing the praises of Alexandra Anwara Rahman, born July 17 to her daughter, Sandra Sutherland Rahman. Sandra, an MBA alum, is married to part-time accounting Prof. Habib Rahman...

Doris Lewis of Chemistry has been elected to the board of directors of the Northeastern section of the American Chemistry Society...Journalism's Gerald Peary gave a guest lecture at Harvard's Summer School on movie reviews and also was a panelist at the Boston Cyclorama on independent film-making...Mike Anderson of Finance gave a presentation on the “Investigation of Credit Card Pricing” at a Financial Management Association parley in Orlando, Fla. and Hassan Ehsani of Finance made a presentation at the same program...Lisa Modecker of the Dean of Students Office has completed a training program at the American Arbitration Association on the Mass. New Car Lemon Law. She’s a second-year law student...Dicta, under new editor Jim Yarin, has set its sights high this year with a staff of more than 25 students and has been encouraging participation from all of the Suffolk community...Health Services has some new faces - Karen Maney, director, Peggy Black, nurse practitioner, and Laura Daley, insurance coordinator...Pat Walsh, editor of the Suffolk University Magazine, and co-founder of CARAVANS, a subgroup for the Boston Area Returned Peace Corp volunteers, was pleased to learn that the group won second prize for a public education program offered at the Brighton Library...

His many friends at Suffolk were delighted to see Judge John E. Fenton Jr. named chief justice of the Mass. Land Court. The long-time adjunct faculty and former associate law dean follows in the same path of his Dad, the late Suffolk President Judge John E. Fenton Sr., who headed the same court a couple of decades back...Fran Burke of Public Management memos us that Dan Eramian, new top aide to Atty. Gen. Dick Thornburgh, is an MPA grad...The Law School's Tom Lambert will emcee a gala banquet marking the career of the nation's foremost consumer advocate Ralph Nader at the Omni Parker House, Nov. 2. On hand will be trial lawyers and scores of civic and consumer groups from throughout the New England area. Nader is no stranger to Suffolk, having spoken here on a few occasions...

Hope you enjoyed the foliage. See you at the curling rinks...

Suffolk Staffers

“Born to Run”

Congratulations to the Suffolk University co-ed teams for the Manufacturers Hanover Corporate Challenge road race on July 26, placing 58th and 90th out of 209 other teams. A very respectable result.

The 3.5 mile race was run by some 9000 competitors representing area corporations and institutions. Derek Coward led the Suffolk team with a finishing time of 24:00 minutes followed closely by Fabian DePeiza and Allison Clapp, both finishing in under 25:00 minutes.

Smoking Areas

(continued from page 6)

SAYWETER - Front stairwell and 4th floor lounge.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES CENTER - (28 Derne St.) - No Smoking

56 TEMPLE - No Smoking

There will be no smoking in private offices.

In addition, Health Services has scheduled smoking cessation classes to be held starting the third week of November and coinciding with the Great American Smokeout. Deadline for enrollment is Oct. 26. The fee is $10 per person.

Smoking Policy and Education Committee meetings will be held, Dec. 5, Feb. 6 and April 3 in the Vice President's Conference Room, 25th floor, One Beacon St., from 3 to 4 p.m.