The Joint Council
On Student Affairs

For the first time as an important avenue of cross-communication between student, faculty, and administrative representatives, a body, recommended by last year's Student Government President, Nathan Murray, has held its first three meetings in the President's conference room.

Shawn of students, Bradley Sullivan, is chairman of the Council. Other administrative representatives are Dean Godfrey, Dean Grzywinski, Mr. Cahill, Director of Development, Huntington Peart, and Dr. F. G. M. Price. Other representatives are: Mr. Price's assistant, Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Titus, and Mr. Tufts. In the student body include the President of Student Government, Mel Spence, the president of a representative from each class, four student representatives, John Timo (junior), Bill Lewis (senior), and Pat Griffin. Professorship; and the editor of the do ,'. ., ,. I

STUDENT-FACULTY COMMUNICATION EXPANDED

The Journal 12

NEW FACULTY

by Linda Frawley

Changes are always apparent on return to school for the fall semester. Whether human, physical, or environmental, the alterations have been made with the students of Suffolk in mind.

A total of 19 Instructors, professors and lecturers were appointed to various positions within the college. Through exclusive JOURNAL interviews last week, we spoke to the new full-time

A PLAY CONTEST

by David Hooper

To empower the students with the newly completed campus theatre, a competition is being held to encourage student participation. The competition will enable the students to participate in the creative process and to develop their talents in areas related to the theatre arts. It is

STUDENT-FACULTY COMMUNICATION EXPANDED

The Journal 12

NEW FACULTY

by Linda Frawley

Changes are always apparent on return to school for the fall semester. Whether human, physical, or environmental, the alterations have been made with the students of Suffolk in mind.

A total of 19 Instructors, professors and lecturers were appointed to various positions within the college. Through exclusive JOURNAL interviews last week, we spoke to the new full-time

A PLAY CONTEST

by David Hooper

To empower the students with the newly completed campus theatre, a competition is being held to encourage student participation. The competition will enable the students to participate in the creative process and to develop their talents in areas related to the theatre arts. It is

STUDENT-FACULTY COMMUNICATION EXPANDED

The Journal 12

NEW FACULTY

by Linda Frawley

Changes are always apparent on return to school for the fall semester. Whether human, physical, or environmental, the alterations have been made with the students of Suffolk in mind.

A total of 19 Instructors, professors and lecturers were appointed to various positions within the college. Through exclusive JOURNAL interviews last week, we spoke to the new full-time

A PLAY CONTEST

by David Hooper

To empower the students with the newly completed campus theatre, a competition is being held to encourage student participation. The competition will enable the students to participate in the creative process and to develop their talents in areas related to the theatre arts. It is
An Answer

The pessimist says there are too many problems in the world, and the optimist says there are too few solutions.

The story isn't an attack on Suffolk registration and paperwork, but an attempt to change it.

The problem that has been identified, responsibility would have to be named that we present an editorial commenting on critical issues in a balanced way. It is important to note that the editorials do not necessarily reflect the views of the entire campus.

The editors have heard and we believe the concerns of the students. We hope that this editorial will bring some light to the problem of registration and how it affects the students.

Decisions made by the administration are not always easy, but we believe that they are made in the best interest of the students. We appreciate the efforts of the administration in trying to improve the registration process.

Let me know what you think.

Robert Drobowski

How To Get Through School

1. Join the College Republicans or the College Democrats. You'll get free donuts every Monday.
2. Participate in the College Community Service Program. You'll get to do unpaid community service.
3. Join a fraternity or sorority. You'll never have to worry about finding a date for the dance.
4. Get involved in campus activities. You'll never have to pay for entertainment again.

The Journal Invites

"Guest Editorials" to help us improve our coverage of campus events and activities. Please submit your stories to the Editor-in-Chief, sujour@york.suffolk.edu.

The Journal Urges

ANY STUDENT TO USE THE STUDENT UNION FOR SOCIAL EVENTS AND ACTIVITIES.

The Suffolk Forum: A student opinion page

Loved, games, advice, and "Today's Question" are all included in our student opinion page. Let us know what you think.

The Suffolk Forum

Dick Jones
HOW TO GET THROUGH SCHOOL

TAKING A GOOD PAPER AND A GOOD ORGANIZATION OF WORK IS THE BEST WAY TO GET THROUGH SCHOOL.

WORLD-WIDE PLACEMENT

James G. Walsh, Director of the Placement Bureau, announced that Suffolk University is participating in a new, world-wide placement service established by A.A.C.O., the Association for Colleges and Universities of New York State. The Service is a part of an educational placement for the academic year of 1968-69. Working with the Placement Bureau are the educational departments of General Electric and their Computer Time-sharing services. NO-FILE will establish a national manpower bank of educators available to school and college officials in need of educational personnel.

This service is free of charge to educators. The only requirements are that educators be members of the educational community.

GUEST EDITORIAL

MEETINGS?

By Elaine Elton

Meetings are an important part of any university life. They can be a source of entertainment, learning, or simply socializing. However, attending meetings can be a daunting task. The following tips may help make attending meetings more enjoyable.

1. Be prepared: Research the topic beforehand and read any material provided in advance.
2. Dress appropriately: Make sure your outfit is suitable for the meeting's setting.
3. Arrive on time: Make sure you arrive early to find your seat and avoid being late.
4. Take notes: Writing down important points and ideas can help you remember the information.
5. Ask questions: If you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask. It shows your active participation.

DELTA SIGMA PI WINS CHAPTER EFFICIENCY CONTEST

Delta Sigma Pi won first place in the Chapter Efficiency Contest for the 1967-1968 academic year. The contest is held to encourage chapters to improve their operations and increase their efficiency. Suffolk Delta Sigma Pi won first place for their efforts in organizing and maintaining an efficient chapter.

Sam Enters Competition

On February 1, 1967, the Suffolk University Track Team competed in the Suffolk University Track Meet. The meet took place at the University's own track and field facilities. The team performed well, with several members setting personal bests and impressing the judges. Overall, the meet was a great success for the University's track team.
NEW FACULTY...
National Teacher Exams
To Be Held

NEWMAIN CLUB
FOLK MASS
ALL-SAINTS DAY
Nov. 1, 1987
12 NOON
Room 30 A
ALL WELCOME

DRAMA CLUB
MOVIE PARTY
"CAMELOL"
Friday Evening
December 1
Discount On Tickets
Limited Reservations
Available
Contact Dick Rubin
Room 22

HAPPENING ON THE SUFFOLK CAMPUS

(Lie. Scalen Common)

Photos by Phil Bally
Dr. Murphy Tours Mongolia

THE STUDENT NEWS, school for Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, is proud to announce Dr. Murphy, Professor of English, to write something about his recent trip to inner Mongolia. He was kind enough to give us the following account.

I arrived in Mongolia by plane, journeying from a city to the capital. The capital, Ulaanbaatar, is a bustling city of about 1.5 million people. The streets are filled with life, and the air is thick with the sounds of commerce. The city is a blend of modernity and tradition, with traditional yurts and ger camps blending seamlessly with high-rise buildings and bustling markets.

I spent several days exploring the city, visiting museums and historical sites. The national museum is a must-see, with exhibits showcasing the rich cultural heritage of Mongolia. The city is also home to several universities, including the University of Ulaanbaatar, where I had the opportunity to meet with students and faculty members.

On the second leg of my journey, I traveled to the countryside, where I was able to observe the traditional lifestyle of the Mongolian people. The countryside is dotted with small villages and nomad camps, and the landscape is beautiful, with vast grasslands stretching as far as the eye can see.

The people I met were friendly and welcoming, and I was struck by their deep reverence for nature and their way of life. They shared their homes and stories with me, and I was able to experience their culture firsthand. I was especially moved by the hospitality and generosity of the people I met, who welcomed me into their homes and shared their food and stories with me.

In conclusion, my trip to Mongolia was a fascinating experience, and I was able to gain a deeper understanding of this unique and diverse country. I hope to return someday, to continue exploring the beauty and richness of Mongolia's culture and history.
Comments of a Poor Sport

By P. David Michigan College of Liberal Arts, College of Education

Through the medium of sports, man has learned a great deal about himself. It is through this medium that he has learned how to cope with stress, how to work as part of a team, and how to deal with failure. The experience of sports has been an integral part of the American way of life. It is through sports that many individuals have been able to achieve their goals.

The term "poor sport" is often used to describe someone who does not respond well to sports situations. This can be due to a variety of factors, such as physical limitations or emotional distress. In some cases, the term can be used to describe someone who is not good at sports, but this is not always the case. Sometimes, the term is used to describe someone who is not willing to participate in sports, even though they may have the ability to do so.

Sports can be a valuable tool for personal growth and development. They can help individuals learn how to work with others, how to handle stress, and how to deal with failure. However, it is important to remember that sports are not the only way to achieve these goals. There are many other ways to learn these skills, and it is important to choose the methods that work best for each individual.

While the term "poor sport" can be used to describe someone who does not respond well to sports situations, it is important to remember that sports are not the only way to achieve personal growth and development. There are many other ways to learn these skills, and it is important to choose the methods that work best for each individual.

"Catherine" was the title of a documentary film that was released in 1970. The film was directed by Gordon Parks and was based on the true story of a young girl who was = victim of sexual abuse. The film was a powerful exploration of the effects of abuse on a young girl's life, and it was widely praised for its sensitivity and its ability to bring attention to an important issue.

Through the medium of sports, man has learned a great deal about himself. It is through this medium that he has learned how to cope with stress, how to work as part of a team, and how to deal with failure. The experience of sports has been an integral part of the American way of life. It is through sports that many individuals have been able to achieve their goals.

The term "poor sport" is often used to describe someone who does not respond well to sports situations. This can be due to a variety of factors, such as physical limitations or emotional distress. In some cases, the term can be used to describe someone who is not good at sports, but this is not always the case. Sometimes, the term is used to describe someone who is not willing to participate in sports, even though they may have the ability to do so.

Sports can be a valuable tool for personal growth and development. They can help individuals learn how to work with others, how to handle stress, and how to deal with failure. However, it is important to remember that sports are not the only way to achieve these goals. There are many other ways to learn these skills, and it is important to choose the methods that work best for each individual.

While the term "poor sport" can be used to describe someone who does not respond well to sports situations, it is important to remember that sports are not the only way to achieve personal growth and development. There are many other ways to learn these skills, and it is important to choose the methods that work best for each individual.

"Catherine" was the title of a documentary film that was released in 1970. The film was directed by Gordon Parks and was based on the true story of a young girl who was = victim of sexual abuse. The film was a powerful exploration of the effects of abuse on a young girl's life, and it was widely praised for its sensitivity and its ability to bring attention to an important issue.
SUFFOLK SPORTS

By Jack Burke and Ed Kallin

On October 10th, Suffolk University will begin its basketball practice at the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. This year's team is coached by Mr. Robert J. O'Brien.

James Nolan, Mr. Law's baton has graduated from Boston College where he played basketball and gained recognition before coming to Suffolk as an assistant varsity coach.

The team is captained by Steve Pippin, a senior, All scholastic forward from Waltham High, who is the team's top scorer, and Senior John Sullivan, an All American in the Boston College Invitational Tournament. For more than a year, Steve and Artie have been the backbone of the team's success. Their leadership has been recognized in the Boston College Conference as one of the top ten teams for several years. The team includes many players from the New England area.

All star player of the year, 1966, and this year he should have the satisfaction of knowing he is carrying on the tradition of excellence in basketball.

Steve Pippin and Artie are leading the team in scoring and rebounding. Ken Hooper of Great Falls, Ky., will also see a lot of action again this season. Last year Coach Law used Ken in a very loose role, but he has made great strides in his career this year. Ken has become a more serious player and has shown a great deal of improvement.

The forward line is topped by Steve Pippin, Artie, and forward Mike Rogers of Nashua. Mike can make the ball look great and do so many things with it. He is a tall, quick player who can dribble, shoot, and pass, and what is most important, he makes the team work.

The team will be added to by some boys this year—namely, such as Rick Caron, Rick a guard from Boston English, who is a college freshman; Ed O'Brien, in his senior year; and Artie, in his junior year. The team will remain one of the biggest in the conference, with a total of 10 players.

The team is expected to be a top contender in the conference.

eventual place are now being made for the Staten Island University Basketball team. Directing the team is Coach Jack Law, a former assistant at Babson.

The team is expected to be a top contender in the conference. The team includes many players from the New England area, including Senior John Sullivan, an All American in the Boston College Invitational Tournament. For more than a year, Steve and Artie have been the backbone of the team's success. Their leadership has been recognized in the Boston College Conference as one of the top ten teams for several years. The team includes many players from the New England area.

All star player of the year, 1966, and this year he should have the satisfaction of knowing he is carrying on the tradition of excellence in basketball.

Steve Pippin and Artie are leading the team in scoring and rebounding. Ken Hooper of Great Falls, Ky., will also see a lot of action again this season. Last year Coach Law used Ken in a very loose role, but he has made great strides in his career this year. Ken has become a more serious player and has shown a great deal of improvement.

The forward line is topped by Steve Pippin, Artie, and forward Mike Rogers of Nashua. Mike can make the ball look great and do so many things with it. He is a tall, quick player who can dribble, shoot, and pass, and what is most important, he makes the team work.

The team will be added to by some boys this year—namely, such as Rick Caron, Rick a guard from Boston English, who is a college freshman; Ed O'Brien, in his senior year; and Artie, in his junior year. The team will remain one of the biggest in the conference, with a total of 10 players.

The team is expected to be a top contender in the conference.