NAACP Quizzes
Rep. McCormack

BY WILLIAM BOURNE

Wednesday afternoon, August 1, the Massachusetts Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held a public meeting to discuss the civil rights situation in the nation. The meeting was attended by several prominent leaders, including Rep. Edward H. McCormack Jr., a member of the Democratic Party.

The NAACP, founded in 1909, is a civil rights organization that advocates for the protection of civil and human rights, particularly for African Americans. The organization has been involved in numerous efforts to combat racial discrimination and inequality.

The meeting featured a panel discussion on the current status of civil rights legislation and its impact on communities. The panelists included Rep. McCormack, who spoke on the importance of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and its role in advancing the rights of African Americans.

The NAACP has been a key player in the civil rights movement, working to challenge laws and practices that discriminate against individuals based on race, ethnicity, or other factors.

The meeting ended with a question-and-answer session, where participants had the opportunity to voice their concerns and ask questions of the panelists. The event was well-attended, with a large audience present to hear the speakers.

Peace Pilgrim Makes Hub Visit

By Dr. Malcolm I. Kates

The Reverend Jesse Owens, of the First Unitarian Church in Cambridge, Massachusetts, made a visit to the Peace Pilgrim, a Cornell-educated Quaker from St. Louis, Missouri, who has walked from city to city on foot in an effort to promote peace. She has walked to almost every major city in the United States and has given talks and presentations in many churches and other venues. Dr. Kates describes her visit with Peace Pilgrim and the insights she gained from their conversation.

Rev. Jesse Owens Comes To Grant

The Right Reverend George O. Leake, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of the Pacific, visited the diocese of the Church of England and the Province of the Pacific. During his visit, he met with various church leaders and attended a number of events, including a service at the Church of the Epiphany in San Francisco. Bishop Leake discussed the challenges faced by the Church of England and the Province of the Pacific and how it can work towards a more inclusive and welcoming community.

Coffin Donations To Resthaven

The Coffin Donations Committee of Resthaven, a residential care facility for the elderly, has announced that it will begin accepting donations of used coffins. The committee is seeking to reduce the environmental impact of cremations by encouraging the reuse of coffins. Donations can be dropped off at the facility's location at 11 Main Street, Methuen, Massachusetts.

Lafayette College Acts Against Bias

The Lafayette College chapter of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity has been disciplined for violating the college's anti-bias policy. The fraternity was found to have discriminated against a prospective member based on his race and nationality. The college has taken steps to ensure that all students are treated equally and without discrimination.

University Night Is Great Event

At the Erwin Baptist Church, a night of music, prayer, and fellowship was held. The Rev. Dr. William W. Brown, pastor of the church, delivered a sermon on the theme of love and forgiveness. The night was a great event, with many attendees expressing their gratitude and appreciation for the opportunity to come together in a spirit of unity and love.

We were given a tour of the Durr Motors dealership, which is located at 17 Pine View Court. The sales staff was friendly and knowledgeable, and we were able to find a car that suited our needs. Overall, the experience was positive, and we would recommend Durr Motors to anyone looking for a reliable and trustworthy dealership.

Martha's Vineyard

One of the great joys of summer is a visit to Martha's Vineyard. This island off the coast of Massachusetts is a popular destination for tourists and locals alike. The picturesque beaches, scenic landscapes, and charming towns make it a must-visit destination.

The Boston Branch NAACP made a contribution of $1000 to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund on Wednesday afternoon. It was added to the $1000 already contributed by the City Branch of the League of Women Voters.

The money will be used to help pay the legal fees of the students who are challenging the racial segregation in the University of Alabama's law school, according to Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, chairwoman of the legal defense fund.

The students, who are members of the Congress of Racial Equality, are challenging the law school's policy of admitting only white students. They have been refused admission and are seeking a court order to force the school to admit them.

The contribution was made at a meeting of the Boston Branch of the NAACP at the Christian Science Church, 30 Beacon Street, on Wednesday afternoon.

The group, which has been active in the civil rights movement, has contributed more than $10,000 to the legal defense fund in recent years.

Rudsten Seeks Voters' Views On Convention Choice

State Senator Dan Rudsten, Democrat of Hyde Park and Deering, is seeking the advice of 15,000 women voters regarding their views on nominating a candidate for the presidential ticket in the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

Senator Rudsten would like to find out whether women voters will support the current nominees, New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Vice Presidential candidate Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, as well as the others considered to be potential candidates.

Women's organizations throughout the state are being approached for suggestions and resolutions can be wired to him at his address.

Registrars - Vote - Register

Your NAACP is very much concerned that in order to vote you must be registered. You ARE IN THE BOOK. And when you can't find your name in the Book of Registered Voters, this means that the National Political Action Committee of NAACP's has not been able to get sufficient numbers of Negroes to register. In short, this means that the Negro community of your city or town is losing a pro-Negro vote in the election.

The campaign began with a call to the churches of your community, of Negroes and Negro students. Several church groups have been formed. It is a call to all Negro women of Women for Community Service.

Several groups respondent and this past Monday evening a meeting was held in the street at a meeting in service. This group, along with other groups in various areas of the state, will continue this registration drive.

The result of the new registration will be most encouraging. Five thousand women Negroes will be put in the books and will be able to vote in the coming election.

Saxton To Test Allison In Hub

Welterweight champion John Saxton clashed with Spring's outstanding middleweight Barry Allison in a ten-round battle at Boston, Thursday August 7. The two principals wound up in the New Garden gym, after the bout was dropped because of an injury to Saxton and a possible stepping stone for Allison.

Saxton dropped the champion, possessive of the throne on two occasions via a knock out in the seventh round. Marc and Carmen Basinillo, will be seeking to reach his peak for another possible match with the bycicle ex-champion. Spectators, especially the hub crowd, doubt that saxton will emplace the arena with a knockout finish over the Springfield hopeful, but that he feels his experience will bring him out the victor.

Allison on the other hand is anxious to widely outpost his box, and a knockout triumph would be a welcome lift to his standings. Former world middleweight king, he has been regarded as the forgotten fighter, for so many of the fans were aware of his existence, prior to dropping the recent decision to Wisconsin's Don Dunham. Dunham chalked up a string of six straight wins.

The majority leader declared that he had already voted, as the record would show, in favor of a majority of the issues presented for example, anti-poll tax, anti-licensing laws, and anti-military conscription. He stated as long as the senator was the senior member with regard to the military committees, avowing that he would give what he had given to the question of military consideration. He asked, "What would you do in the place?"

The interview ended with the Republican's promise to bring the delegation's suggestions to the attention of the whole platform committee.

ticket. Lastly, Congressman Adam Pawle Powell, Jr., now a Demo- crat, is willing to go over to the Republicans at the first "empha- tic demonstration" that they will push civil rights faster than will his own party.

"In Detroit, nothing short of a Gallup poll, that is, let the Negro vote to the Democrats," Mr. Bouchard said. The Republican Party of Michigan is one of the most militant organizations in the nation, and is faced by a sin- gularly inept Republican organization in the state.

"If it is a split, it will be a split away from the Republican Party. Negro vote.
