The ancient Roman use of music was not unknown to his contemporaries, but it is not known to what extent they used it in their leisure hours. The ancient Greeks were famous for their musical talent, and the ancient Romans were also fond of music. However, it is not known to what extent they used it in their leisure hours.

Dr. Howard Will Speak Here 16th

Dr. Theodore Roosevelt, Boston, Howard, hero leader of the struggle against Margaret Wood-ward, president of the National Medical Association, and the 1896 First Dimes Scholarship Award of the American Medical Association Committee will be in the Greater Boston area for three days, beginning Tuesday, February 13.

Thursday, February 16, at 3 p.m., Dr. Howard will speak in New Year's Hall, Kirkland and Oxford St., Cambridge, at a rally sponsored by the Harvard Society for Minority Rights, student NAACP chapter.

During a recent exchange of letters between J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Howard, it has been reported that the FBI has not yet found out why the South was involved in the race riot on January 22, 1956, in which a Negro was killed.

Mr. Roosevelt said, "You seem to have convinced me that the whole question of civil rights is primarily an economic problem." The letter was also addressed to Mr. Roosevelt, who is considered a Negro leader.

A motion for the return of the Negroes' rights was unanimously adopted by the NAACP, and by an ardent public opinion.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Move Against Segregation

NEW YORK — One of the most significant events in American history is the fact that the women's movement is making progress. The marriage of John Marshall and Elizabeth Clay, both college students, demonstrates that the women's movement is making progress. JEWISH CONGRESS

Backs DeLaine

New York: The American Jewish Congress, which is the national organization of Jewish Americans, has endorsed the candidacy of Senator Henry M. DeLaine. The endorsement is based on DeLaine's record of support for Jewish causes, particularly his efforts to improve relations between Jews and non-Jews. The endorsement is seen as an important step in the fight for Jewish civil rights.

Bennett college is again Moving Against Segregation

NEW YORK—One of the newest signals in American Jewish social science is the fact that the world is slowly coming to realize that there is a definite need for a Jewish college that is not only a place of learning, but is also a place where Jews can come together and share their experiences. This is the hope of Bennett College, founded by Rabbi Leo B. Tishman, President of the Jewish Congress in America.

The college, which opened its doors last fall, has already attracted a number of students from different parts of the United States and Canada. Students come from all walks of life, and they come to learn about Judaism, to develop their own understanding of their faith, and to contribute to the larger community.

The college's curriculum is designed to be both challenging and accessible, with courses that range from traditional Jewish studies to modern languages and social sciences. The college also offers opportunities for extracurricular activities, such as clubs and organizations that allow students to explore their interests and develop their skills.

In addition to its academic offerings, Bennett College is committed to creating a supportive and inclusive environment for its students. The college provides on-campus housing and dining facilities, as well as access to a variety of community resources.

Bennett College is located in the heart of New York City, and its proximity to cultural and educational institutions makes it an ideal place for students to pursue their studies.

The college's founders believe that Jewish education is essential to the survival and prosperity of the Jewish community. Bennett College is dedicated to providing a high-quality education that will prepare its students for success in any field they choose to pursue.

President Tishman is looking forward to seeing the college grow and develop over the years, and he invites interested students to apply for admission.

For the first time in many years, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Arrowood, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Arrowood, Jr., were celebrated last week by the Arrowood and Argabright families in a magnificent dinner at the Biltmore Country Club. The festivities were held in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of the Arrowood and Argabright families. The event was attended by many distinguished guests, including the Governor of the State of New York, who delivered a speech in praise of the Arrowood and Argabright families. The evening was filled with joy and celebration, as the families gathered together to commemorate this special occasion. The festivities included speeches, toasts, and a sumptuous dinner, as well as live music and dancing throughout the evening. The guests were treated to a delightful evening, filled with laughter and joy, as they celebrated the Arrowood and Argabright families' milestone anniversary. The event was a testament to the strength and durability of these families, and a celebration of their many years of love and commitment to each other.

This week's installation of "The Man Who Knows Men" is a special one. "The Man Who Knows Men" is a column written by Frank C. Royster, who has been a regular contributor to many newspapers and magazines over the years. Royster is known for his expertise in the field of men's clothing and fashion. He has written extensively on the subject and has been a consultant for several major department stores.

Royster's column this week focuses on the topic of"Bermuda Calling," a term that refers to the practice of wearing Bermuda shorts and other summer attire in the winter months. Royster discusses the history of the term and its origins, as well as the current popularity of the trend.

Royster also provides tips on how to wear Bermuda shorts and other summer attire in the winter months, including suggestions on what to wear with them and how to style them to look both comfortable and fashionable.

Overall, Royster's column provides a comprehensive guide to the topic of Bermuda calling, including both historical context and practical advice for those interested in the trend. It is a must-read for anyone interested in men's fashion and clothing trends.

The Facts About Your Social Security

The government's modern computer system can process your Social Security number and verify your identity. This system is known as the Social Security Number System (SSN). It is a government program that provides benefits to retired workers, their spouses, and dependent children. The SSN is a unique number assigned to each individual, and it is issued by the Social Security Administration (SSA). The SSN is used to determine eligibility for Social Security benefits, as well as for other purposes such as tax filing and employment record keeping. If you are interested in learning more about Social Security, you can visit the SSA website or call their toll-free number for more information. Social Security benefits are determined by your earnings history and the age at which you begin collecting benefits. Benefits can be received in the form of monthly checks or direct deposit. The SSA also offers a variety of online services, including the ability to check your benefit status and apply for benefits online. If you have questions about Social Security, you can contact your local SSA office or call their toll-free number for assistance. There are also many resources available online, including the SSA's official website and a number of reputable non-profit organizations that provide information and assistance to Social Security beneficiaries.
