Women In Bowling

By Gerald Bennett

The Thundering Tomcats Bowling League is in full swing and the women who make up the team are a sight to behold. There are those who are known for their bowling skills, and then there are those who are just starting out. One woman in particular, Mrs. Bennett, is a natural talent on the lanes. She has been bowling for over ten years and has never failed to win a game. Her technique is impeccable and her scores are consistently high. She is always looking for a challenge and never backs down from a tough opponent.

During that first year, one of the women on the team retired from bowling. Mrs. Bennett took her place and has been bowling ever since. She has won several awards and has been named the Most Valuable Player several times. Her secret to success is simple: she practices every day.

Two and a half years ago, Mrs. Bennett joined the league and has been improving ever since. She has won many games and has become one of the top bowlers in the league. Her talent is evident in her ability to control the ball and make accurate shots. She has even won a national championship.

A true asset to the team, Mrs. Bennett's presence on the lanes is a joy to watch. Her passion for the sport is contagious and her skills inspire the other members of the team. She is a true role model for any aspiring bowler.

Women In Bowling

For the Spring Edition of the World's Fair, bowling is being highlighted as a popular sport. Women, in particular, are taking an active role in this growing activity.

During that first year, some women were invited to participate in the games, but there was so little interest that the women's division was dropped. However, women now participate in all phases of bowling, including the United States Women's Bowling Congress, which was founded in 1926.

The Congress, which is the national organization for women bowlers, has many members across the country. It sponsors tournaments and events that are designed to promote the sport among women.

THE FACTS...

The continuing increase in the cost of living and the lack of rent control may well be the turning local public opinion against the 1956 salary increase. Some families have reported not one but several substantial rent increases since July, and some have been hit twice because of the steep rise in the price of utilities. In Boston, as a result of the work stoppage now in progress, some families have lost their income because of layoffs, while others have also lost their jobs. Meanwhile, many families are in the process of finding new homes, and others are in the process of finding new homes because of the high cost of living.

THE TRUDN MARVEL

In the fall of Trinidad, British West Indies, there occurred a record breaking event

THREE SIDES OF THE STORY

By Michael Allen

The continuing trend in the cost of living and the need for rent control may well be the leading local topic of discussion. In the past two years the Massachusetts families have reported not one but several substantial rent increases. Even when rent controls are lifted, the increase has risen here like the mercury in a mid-August day.

Many families are in the process of finding out exactly just how much a rent increase could mean. This was a time when many families thought that they could at least control the cost of living by lowering their housing expenses. But now, with the rent control laws lifted, they are finding that the cost of their homes is going to increase very drastically.

A. Frank Porter will be the first to admit that there are many things about the new housing laws which he has not learned. He is a good friend of the tenants and he is quick to point out that they need to learn more about the new laws.

As long as large numbers of families are not aware of their rights and the devastating effects of rent control, the struggle for better-justified housing will continue. A better understanding of these laws will mean better homes for the tenants.

Some of you may recall the days of the Massachusetts housing laws. How many of you remember the days when tenants were not allowed to purchase their homes? This practice is now abolished. The housing laws of Massachusetts about rent control have been great, but they have not been perfect. We still have a long way to go before we reach the goal of good housing for all.

The new housing laws have been put into effect and the tenants are now legally entitled to purchase their homes. This is a great step forward in the struggle for fair housing. We should all work together in the best interest of the tenants and the landlords.

It is important for everyone to know their rights under the new housing laws. If you have any questions, you may contact your local housing authority or the Friendly Furniture Store.

The Friendly Furniture Store is located at 2260 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass. Tel. 6-1774.
