HISTORY OF SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY

“History has demonstrated that the great leaders of every age were, almost without exception, born in poverty, denied educational advantages in boyhood, and obliged to educate themselves at odd moments while doing a man’s work in the world. The same immutable principle is in operation today—the earnest souls who now toil in the evening schools to fit themselves for life will be found in the front ranks of our civilization of tomorrow.”

—Gleason L. Archer (1923)

Suffolk University grew from humble beginnings in the Roxbury parlor of Gleason L. Archer, a young lawyer who had worked his way through high school and college. A chance meeting brought Archer together with a benefactor who loaned him money to pursue the study of law, asking only that Archer pass along the favor.

In 1906, Archer opened the Suffolk School of Law, a night school established to “serve ambitious young men who are obliged to work for a living while studying law.” He believed that the growing waves of immigrants who came to America’s shores should be given the same opportunities that had been the privilege of the wealthy few.

Archer soon moved the school into his downtown law offices. In 1908, machinist and Archer student Roland E. Brown passed the bar. News of Brown’s achievement led to a boost in registration, so Archer gave up his law practice to devote himself full-time to the Suffolk School of Law. By 1930, Archer had built Suffolk into one of the largest law schools in the country.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences—later renamed the College of Arts & Sciences—was founded in 1934 in response to the recommended standard that law students possess a college degree, and because Archer wanted to create “a great evening university” that working people could afford.

Three years later, in 1937, the College of Business Administration (now the Sawyer Business School) was established. The three academic units were incorporated as Suffolk University that same year. Over the years, the University expanded from its night-school format to incorporate a range of full- and part-time undergraduate and graduate programs.

THE UNIVERSITY TODAY

The College of Arts & Sciences consists of 17 academic departments, including the New England School of Art & Design. The College offers more than 50 programs of specialized study at the baccalaureate, master, and doctoral levels.

The Sawyer Business School's undergraduate and graduate programs emphasize global business practice. Nine undergraduate majors are offered, and graduate programs lead to more than a dozen advanced degrees, including joint-degree programs with the Law School and the College of Arts & Sciences. The Business School also offers an online MBA program.

The Law School offers Juris Doctor and Master of Laws degrees. Its expansive curriculum combines a strong academic foundation with expertise in an array of specialty areas. Nationally renowned faculty and a range of practical experiences provide superior preparation for law practice in the 21st century.

Suffolk students today hail from across the nation and around the world. Once a commuter school, the University now has four residence halls, allowing resident students to fully realize the academic and cultural promise of their surroundings. Suffolk's classrooms, libraries, and offices are housed in 17 buildings in downtown Boston.

In 1995, the University opened its first international campus in Madrid, Spain.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The academic attire worn during Commencement has its origins in the Middle Ages. At that time, the dress of the scholar was similar to the dress of a cleric, since academics were a province of the Church. With few exceptions, medieval scholars took some minor orders and vows of the cleric. The long gowns worn by the scholar may have also been necessary for warmth and to conceal food and sometimes wine to be consumed during lecture recesses. The square cap, the shape of which resembles a book, usually has a black tassel indicating a bachelor's or master's degree, or a gold tassel indicating a doctoral degree. The hood was used as a cowl or cape to protect the wearer's wig from the elements.

In modern times, the wearing of academic attire was codified by the American Council on Education. Contemporary guidelines specify that the standard color for caps and gowns is black, that the material be cotton poplin, and that there be no trimming on the gowns worn by recipients of baccalaureate or master's degrees.

The doctoral gown may be faced with black velvet trim with three bars of black velvet across the sleeves. The trim of the doctoral hood is of velvet and signifies the academic area of the degree. The hood lining reflects the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

The hood trimming color white designates bachelor of arts; yellow: bachelor and master of science; magenta: bachelor of science in journalism; drab olive: bachelor and master of business administration; peacock blue: bachelor and master of public administration; blue: master of education and certificate of advanced graduate study in education; and purple: juris doctor (law) degree.

Colored cords are worn by our Law School graduates and College of Arts & Sciences and Sawyer Business School undergraduates and graduates who have been awarded graduation honors. Gold cords signify summa cum laude honors, silver signifies magna cum laude honors, and bronze indicates cum laude honors. The College of Arts & Sciences and the Sawyer Business School also recognize honor distinctions for transfer graduates—blue and gold cords for Highest Distinction, blue and silver cords for High Distinction, and blue and bronze for Distinction. Business students inducted into the Beta Gamma Sigma International Honor Society wear a royal blue satin honor stole outlined in gold with the Beta Gamma Sigma key logo.

L A T I O N S !

This information is intended to help you fully enjoy this wonderful occasion. This booklet has been prepared in an effort to anticipate as many questions as possible; however, we welcome any inquiries or concerns you may have.

Preparing for Commencement

Tickets and invitations

Each graduating student may receive up to three (3) tickets, along with invitations as mementos. If you were awarded extra tickets, you will receive them when you pick up your Commencement packet. Please understand that invitations are provided as commemorative items and cannot be used for entry. One ticket will be required for each guest age three and over for admission to the Bank of America Pavilion. Due to seating capacity, lost tickets cannot be replaced.

Where and when students should arrive

The Law School's ceremony takes place directly before undergraduate Commencement. Please plan to be at the Bank of America Pavilion no earlier than 1pm and no later than 1:30pm on Sunday, May 20. Students should arrive with their regalia and name cards in order to be placed in the processional lineup. Both of these items will be distributed at the time of the packet pickup.

Once you enter through the student entrance, ushers will direct you to the Student Robing Area. You must stay in the Student Robing area until the ceremony. You must also be robed and in line when we give the signal to march at approximately 2:25pm.

When and where guests should arrive

Guests will enter the Bank of America Pavilion through the main entrance, which will open at approximately 1:30pm. Upon entering, guests will receive a Commencement program and be directed to the seating area. To the right of the turnstiles, there will be a booth for those who may have questions or need special accommodations.

Before Commencement

Line-up

You will receive a 3x5 index card bearing your name, degree, and appropriate honors when you pick up your Commencement packet. Do not forget this card as it will be used to place you in alphabetical/numerical order within your degree group. Also, you should not make any changes or additions to this card. If you have any concerns about your lineup card, voice them when you pick up your packet. The lineup card will be presented to Dean Stoll when you approach the stage to be recognized.

Please note:

Keep noise to a minimum in the robing area so you can hear and follow last-minute instructions.

Do not leave any personal items in the robing area. Personal effects must be given to family members or friends before you proceed to the robing area.

Photography at Commencement

Guests will be restricted from approaching the stage area to take pictures or to make congratulatory gestures. Security personnel will strictly enforce this restriction.

A professional photographer will take pictures as you receive your diploma. Information about purchasing these photos will be sent to your home address.

During Commencement

When your degree group is called

When the degree you are to receive is announced by Dean Greenberg of the College of Arts & Sciences or by Dean O'Neill of the Sawyer Business School, please stand up together. Under the direction of an usher, proceed to the stage one row at a time and keep a continuous flow to the foot of the stage.

Receiving your diploma

When the degrees are awarded, you will march up the front stairs from the left as you face the stage and hand the typed card with your name on it to Dean Stoll, who will announce your name and appropriate honors at the microphone. Be sure the student in front of you has adequate time to ascend onto the stage.

A scroll will be handed to Dean Greenberg or Dean O'Neill, who will hand it to you. Accept the scroll with your left hand and shake hands with the dean with your right hand. Your picture will be taken. You will then walk across the stage, walk down the second set of front stairs, and return to your seat.

After receiving your diploma

Return to your seat and be seated. The president will ask you to stand as a degree group to be recognized. You will then sit down as a group.

Recessional

The University marshal will raise the baton to signal the stage party and students to stand for the recessional. The stage party will process down the main aisle, and the graduates will move out in two lines, following the faculty. Go slowly and remain in line.

Receiving your official diploma

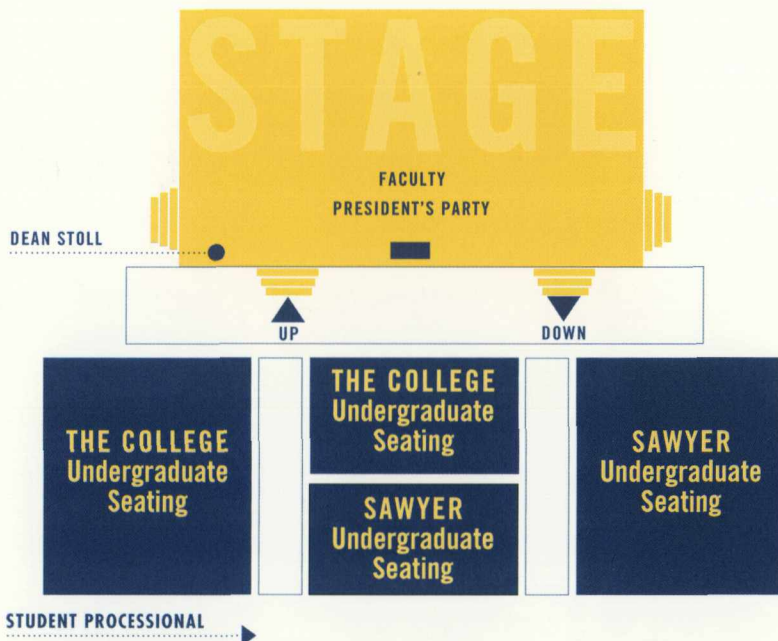

During Commencement, you will receive an alumni welcome scroll as you cross the stage. At the conclusion of the ceremony, May graduates will return to the robing area to receive a diploma. If you do not pick up your diploma at this time, you will need to do so the following week at the Office of the Registrar, D315. If you are a September graduate, you should receive your diploma in the mail in early October.

Bank of America Pavilion

The Bank of America Pavilion is an open-air, tented amphitheater located on Boston's waterfront.

Although most of the seating (approximately 5,000 seats) is underneath the tent, approximately 500 guests will be seated outside the covered area, regardless of the weather. All guests should check the forecast and be prepared for changeable weather. Large broadcast screens will facilitate viewing for those seated in the back of the pavilion.

An admission ticket is necessary for each guest, including children age three and older. Tickets are bar-coded and nonreplaceable. All seating is general admission. Snack concessions are available, and there are appropriate restroom facilities.
