Big Brothers Need Volunteers--Parsons

There's a definite need for colored men in Big Brothers, said Carlisle Parsons, member of the Big Brother. "The group he said is not connected with television's Big Brother Bob Emery, as so many persons have been led to believe. It is a voluntary social (women's) agency whose primary function is to provide an adult male relationship for those boys, known to them, who have no other adult male in the home.

"And the eighteen boys I mention were all colored," he stated. "When asked if colored men were assigned to colored boys or vice versa, Parsons answered with an emphatic "no." "In most in- stances, 15 years, boys themselves have expressed desire for a member of their race. They feel a colored Big Brother would better understand and help them.

Net Set Plan

In explaining how the program is carried on, Parsons related that new members are net set officers of the program. In providing this male relationship needed, the volunteer meets with an individual boy at least once a week, doing things with him which will interest both to him and the boy. "The time to meet, the length of time spent at each meeting or the activities undertaken," Parsons said, "are all decided by the boy and his Big Brother.

Miss Dolores

Miss Dolores V. Allely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Regional H. Allely of 64 Crawford St., Roxbury, was winner of the fifth prize at the Cotton Ball and was crowned queen. It was Miss Allely's first time attending at the Cotton Ball and she was the guest of Mrs. W. J. Williams.

Miss Allely is a graduate of the Jeremiah E. Butler high school in Dorchester, a graduate registered nurse of Boston City Hospital, and now expects her degree this August from Boston University School of Nursing. This charming young lady is also a talented dancer. Her baton guess: Judo, the art of self-defense.

The volunteer Washington peace group has an inspired new program to encourage the formation of local committees. The program will attempt to bring the Peace Movement to the forefront of public attention and help the peace movement grow in a way that will be visible and meaningful to everyone involved.

A new wing of the party has already been established, which will focus on organizing volunteers for the peace movement in their local communities. The goal is to create a network of committed volunteers who can work together and have some sense of unity and purpose. The new wing will be called the Peace Movement Community Wing, and it is expected to have a major impact on the overall strategy of the party.

At harvest time, the volunteers will be divided into local groups. These groups will then be assigned to specific areas of work, such as organizing events, writing letters to the editor, and outreach to local organizations. The goal is to create a network of committed volunteers who can work together and have some sense of unity and purpose. The new wing will be called the Peace Movement Community Wing, and it is expected to have a major impact on the overall strategy of the party.

Our Pacman Washington supporter has informed us that the Pacman Senate of the state of Pennsylvania, with 18 years of service and 2 terms of office, needs our support in the June election. We are writing to urge all PACMAN supporters to vote for him in the upcoming election. His career in public service has been marked by dedication and a strong commitment to the needs of his constituents. We believe that he is the best candidate for the position of Senator for the state of Pennsylvania. We urge you to join us in supporting him and sending him back to Congress.

BABY TIGER'S SHORT HUNTS

By Vic Hayes

With the arrival of the new baby tiger, Sheila, at the Franklin Park Zoo, there has been a great deal of interest in her early life and activities. Sheila was born on April 1, 1956, and has been an instant hit with visitors to the zoo. She is a small, playful cub, and her antics have been a source of joy and amusement for everyone who visits her enclosure. Sheila is still very young, and her parents, Blackie and Whitey, are closely monitoring her progress. They are confident that Sheila will grow up to be a beautiful and well-trained animal. The zoo staff is also well-equipped to handle any situations that may arise, and they are dedicated to ensuring that Sheila's needs are met. Overall, it is a very exciting time at the Franklin Park Zoo, and we can't wait to see what Sheila will do next.

SIDE CANTES

On The Scene

Two distinct forms of baby hold and baby rides will be offered at the Franklin Park Zoo this week. The first is a traditional baby carrier, which allows parents to carry their children with ease and comfort. The second is a more modern baby stroller, which is designed to accommodate the needs of both parents and children. The zoo staff has been training staff members to provide excellent service to guests who wish to use these facilities. In addition, the zoo has added new signs and information displays to help visitors navigate the facilities and enjoy their visit.

The Horse Whisperer

By John M. Fiske

At Wonderland

A unique new attraction has opened at Wonderland, a popular amusement park in the Boston area. The attraction, called the "Horse Whisperer," is designed to provide visitors with a unique and engaging experience. The attraction features a variety of horse-themed activities, including horseback riding and horse games. Visitors will be able to interact with trained horses, learn about their behaviors and characteristics, and enjoy a fun and educational experience.

POETRY NOOK

Sierra and a Savannah

By Mary Considine

A quiet corner of the Franklin Park Zoo is dedicated to the poetry and art of the month of June. The Poetry Nook features a selection of works by contemporary poets, including Sierra and Savannah, whose latest book, "The Horse Whisperer," has been released. The Nook is a tranquil space where visitors can relax, read, and appreciate the beauty of the natural world. The Poetry Nook is open daily from 9 AM to 5 PM, and admission is free.
