2021-2022 Catalog

Published on June 1, 2021

This catalog is not an agreement or contract between the student and Suffolk University or any other party or parties and should not be regarded as such. The offerings and requirements contained herein are those in effect at the time of publication. The University reserves the right to change, discontinue, or add academic requirements, courses or programs of study at any time. Such changes may be made without notice, although every effort will be made to provide timely notice to students.

All students are expected to abide by all policies included in the Suffolk University Academic Catalog.

Suffolk University assumes no liability for the delay or failure in providing educational or other services or facilities due to causes beyond its reasonable control. Causes include, but are not limited to power failure, fire, strikes by University employees or others, damage by natural elements, public health crises, and acts of public authorities. The University will, however, exert reasonable efforts, when it judges them to be appropriate, to provide comparable services, facilities, or performance; but its inability or failure to do so shall not subject the University to liability.

Veterans Benefits and Transition Act

Suffolk University is compliant with the Veterans Benefits and Transition Act of 2018, section 3679 of title 38.

NOTE: A Covered Individual is any individual who is entitled to educational assistance under chapter 31, Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment, or chapter 33, Post-9/11 GI Bill® benefits.

Suffolk University must permit any covered individual to attend or participate in the course of education during the period beginning on the date on which the individual provides to Suffolk University a certificate of eligibility for entitlement to educational assistance under chapter 31 or 33 (or a VAF 28-1905 form for chapter 31 authorization purposes) and ending on the earlier of the following dates:

1. The date on which payment from VA is made to the institution.
2. 90 days after the date the institution certified tuition and fees following the receipt of the certificate of eligibility.

Suffolk University will not impose any penalty, including the assessment of late fees, the denial of access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities, or the requirement that a covered individual borrow additional funds, on any covered individual because of the individual’s inability to meet his or her financial obligations to the institution due to the delayed disbursement funding from VA under chapter 31 or 33.

Suffolk University requires the following of their Ch. 31 or 33 students wishing to utilize their educational benefits:

- Submit a COE or Statement of Benefits by the first day of classes
- Submit a written request to be certified
- Provide any additional information needed for certification

Please note: Suffolk University will hold a student responsible for any portion of tuition and other fees not covered by the VA (ex: room & board charges).
Academic Policies

Undergraduate Academic Policies

Academic Honors

Dean's List

A student shall be eligible for the Dean's List in any semester in which his or her grade point average is 3.50 or above, and provided he or she receives no grade of "D," "F," or "I," and has earned a minimum of 12 semester-hour credits.

Graduation Honors

Latin Honors

To be eligible to graduate with Latin Honors, an undergraduate student must have completed at least 60 semester hours of work at Suffolk University. (Courses for which a student receives credit through CLEP examinations may not be counted toward this minimum of 60 semester hours.)

- Summa Cum Laude: You must have a cumulative GPA of 3.85, and have no grades of F or I
- Magna Cum Laude: You must have a cumulative GPA of 3.7, and have no grades of F or I.
- Cum Laude: You must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.3, and have no more than one grade of F or I.

Major Honors and Awards

In the spring of each year, both the College of Arts & Sciences and the Sawyer Business School present students awards of achievement in their major. Each award is defined and determined by the individual academic departments upon review of their junior and senior majors each spring semester.

Academic Standing

At the conclusion of each semester, students failing to make satisfactory progress are reviewed by the Academic Standing Committee of their respective school. Suffolk University expects students to maintain an overall grade point average of 2.0 and a grade point average of 2.0 in the major field of study, as well as a 2.0 grade point average in the minor. Failure to maintain these degree requirements may result in academic probation or dismissal. Students are notified in writing of any actions taken by the Academic Standing Committees. Actions may include the following:

Warning, Major Probation, and Removal from the Major

Students will receive a warning when their overall GPA is above 2.0, but fail to achieve a semester GPA of 2.0; or when they fail to make satisfactory progress towards degree completion.

Students who earn a GPA below 2.0 in their major, even if only one course has been completed, are alerted to minimum GPA requirements and referred to their major for advising. Students with at least two courses in their major and a GPA in their major under 2.0, will be placed on probation for not making progress in their major. If students do not meet the probationary conditions the following semester they may be removed from their major.

Students who earn excess grades of "I" and/or "W" are sent a warning and may have their records frozen for advising.

Students are sent a warning if any single grade of “F” is earned.

Academic Probation

Students who fail to make satisfactory progress towards degree completion, or fail to achieve a cumulative GPA of 2.0 are placed on probation and informed of conditions (to be met in the next semester enrolled) for continued matriculation.

In the semester following the first probationary period:

- If conditions are met and the cumulative GPA is at least 2.0, then the student is removed from probationary status.
- If conditions are met and the cumulative GPA is less than 2.0, then the student is placed on a probation extension.
- If conditions are not met, the student may be dismissed from the University.

Typically, students placed on probation are put on a reduced course load and are instructed to improve their grade point average by the next committee review.

Students who are demonstrating academic improvement may have their probation extended until they return to good academic standing. Those failing to demonstrate improvement are in imminent danger of dismissal.

Extracurricular: No student on academic probation shall be eligible to participate in athletics, hold elected or appointed office, or represent the University in extracurricular or intercollegiate activities. However, a student on academic probation may continue membership in extracurricular activities such as clubs or fraternities, and may write for, but not be a member of, the staff of campus publications. In the event a student’s average does not improve, the Academic Standing Committee may require further curtailment of extracurricular activities as a condition of continued academic probation at Suffolk University.

Financial Aid: Academic standing review is an academic process independent of federal guidelines managing access to student aid. It is possible to be allowed to continue at the University academically but be denied financial aid eligibility. ALL students who have financial aid and find themselves in academic difficulty should meet with their financial aid advisor to understand their personal situation.

Academic Dismissal

Continued failure to make satisfactory progress toward a degree will inevitably result in dismissal from the University. Low grade point average, unexplained semester absences, refusal to complete prescribed remedial coursework, unwillingness to honor the recommendations of the Academic Standing Committee and/or other specific conditions are but a few of the situations that can undermine satisfactory progress and constitute legitimate grounds for dismissal.

Once dismissed for scholastic failure, a student is ineligible to enroll in further courses at the University until s/he is readmitted by the Academic Standing Committee. Dismissal does not suspend a student’s responsibility to meet prior course commitments. Consequently, all Incomplete “I” grades will convert to “F” grades unless attended to within one academic year.

Returning from Academic Dismissal

Students who have been academically dismissed may apply for readmission after two semesters (summer counts as one semester) by providing the appropriate committee with a written letter of petition. The filing deadline for petitioning is August 1 for fall re-admission and December 1 for spring re-admission. Please address the letter to: "The Academic Standing Committee."

This letter should contain three main sections:

1. Address the difficulties you had while you were enrolled at Suffolk University.
2. Describe what steps you have taken while away from Suffolk University to improve your personal situation (such as academic performance, personal issues, medical conditions, financial hardship). Be sure to attach any supporting documentation (such as transcripts from other institutions, letters from a doctor or current faculty member).
3. Create an action plan for your return (if reinstated) and describe what you would do to succeed in the future.

Letters should include your personal contact information for mail, email and phone.

If dismissed from the College of Arts & Sciences, send letters to:
Sharon Lenzie, Assistant Dean
College of Arts & Sciences
73 Tremont Street
Boston, MA 02108-2770

Undergraduate Pathways

CAS Undergraduate Academic Standards for Pathway Students

1. Students are accepted into their program with the strict understanding that progression through the program and successful completion of the program are conditional upon satisfactory attendance and successful attainment of specified progression grades and other requirements. During the program orientation, all students will be made aware of the criteria for successful completion of the courses in their program. The assessment of student performance is the responsibility of the course instructor.

2. Students who do not meet the criteria for successful completion of their pathway will not be allowed to proceed with their original study plan. Students may be offered advice on suitable alternative study options which may include retaking, substituting, or adding courses and/or changing their program. An alternative study plan may involve additional time and expenditure with regard to tuition and accommodation fees.

3. Many students find it difficult to complete all requirements for an undergraduate degree in just four (4) years of study (attending only 2 semesters per year). They may need to enroll in one (1) or more additional semesters.

Academic Standing for Undergraduate CAS students

1. Students in IYO (International Year One) or other undergraduate-level academic programs must maintain a 2.0 GPA to continue in their programs. A student who receives less than the 2.0 GPA are subject to Suffolk University’s academic standing policies as set forth in the undergraduate catalog (p. 8). Suffolk University expects students to maintain an overall grade point average of 2.0 and a grade point average of 2.0 in the major field of study, as well as a 2.0 grade point average in the minor. Failure to maintain these degree requirements may result in a warning, academic probation or dismissal.

2. Decisions regarding undergraduate student progression will be made by the CAS Undergraduate Academic Standing Committees. Before making a decision, the Academic Standing Committee will consult with the INTO Suffolk Academic Director. Students must maintain a minimum GPA of 2.0 at the end of the pathway to progress. Any students on Academic Warning or Academic Probation will work closely with an INTO Suffolk advisor to devise a plan by which to return to good standing.

Academic Standing for Undergraduate SBS students

1. Students in IYO (International Year One) or other undergraduate-level academic programs must maintain a 2.0 GPA to continue in their programs. A student who receives less than the 2.0 GPA are subject to Suffolk University’s academic standing policies as set forth in the undergraduate catalog (p. 8). Suffolk University expects students to maintain an overall grade point average of 2.0 and a grade point average of 2.0 in the major field of study, as well as a 2.0 grade point average in the minor. Failure to maintain these degree requirements may result in a warning, academic probation or dismissal.

2. Decisions regarding undergraduate student progression will be made by the SBS Undergraduate Academic Standing Committees. Before making a decision, the Academic Standing Committee will consult with the INTO Suffolk Academic Director. Students must maintain a minimum GPA of 2.0 at the end of the pathway to progress. Any students on Academic Warning or Academic Probation will work closely with an INTO Suffolk advisor to devise a plan by which to return to good standing.

Fresh Start

A student dismissed for academic reasons, who is seeking readmission after an absence of five or more years from the University, may petition the Academic Standing Committee to grant him/her grade amnesty for all grades below C under the Fresh Start Program.

If approved, all Suffolk work completed prior to readmission will be reevaluated for relevance and currency, as all students readmitted under this policy are subject to the academic requirements for graduation at the time of readmission. Only coursework with a C or better earned prior to reinstatement and coursework attempted after reinstatement is calculated into the GPA and applied to the degree.

Normally, a student readmitted through the Fresh Start Program is not eligible for scholastic honors. All prior grades are used to compute the student’s academic progress for financial aid evaluation.

Returning after Being Administratively Withdrawn for Non-Attendance

Students who have been administratively withdrawn for non-attendance or are attempting to return after an unauthorized absence may apply for reentry to Suffolk through the Office of Undergraduate Admission. If approved, all students readmitted under this policy are subject to the academic requirements for graduation at the time of readmission.

Applicable courses taken eight or more years prior to readmission, whether taken at Suffolk or elsewhere, will be reviewed by the Dean’s Office for relevance and currency. If a course is deemed ineligible, students may be required to complete the current course designed to satisfy that particular academic requirement.

Satisfactory Progress

Federal regulations require students to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress (SAP) in their educational program in order to maintain eligibility for financial aid. SAP is established and reviewed by the Office of Student Financial Services for the College of Arts & Sciences and Sawyer Business School. While it is possible to continue at the University but be denied financial aid eligibility, all students who seek financial aid and find themselves in academic difficulty should meet with their financial aid advisor to understand their personal situation.

College of Arts and Sciences

Please reference the archived catalogs for degree requirements for students matriculating prior to fall, 2021.

Each academic department specifies whether students majoring in that department may earn the BA, the BS, or have a choice of the BA or BS. All degree programs provide a broad liberal arts background and specialization within a single major field or divisional concentration.

A minimum of 126 semester hours is required for the bachelor’s degree (124-hour requirement for the BFA) and 64 for the associate’s degree.

Bachelor of Arts only programs:

- Art History (p. 142)
- English (p. 178)
- Global Cultural Studies (p. 196)
- International Relations (p. 214)
- Spanish (p. 266)
- Studio Art (p. 268)

Bachelor of Science only programs:

- Environmental Science (p. 181)
- Physics (p. 240)
- Radiation Science (p. 257)
- Radiation Therapy (p. 259)

See all majors and minors (p. 92) offered by the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS)

Degree Requirements

Within the semester-hour requirements for bachelors' and associates' degrees, certain courses and options must be taken as requisites to the degrees. Core Requirements provide the basic knowledge and skills necessary for successful academic work at higher levels, and the breadth of knowledge in many fields that is fundamental to liberal education. Courses that fulfill the Creativity and Innovation, Social and Intellectual History, Modern Language, Studies in Literature, Quantitative Analysis, Seminar for Freshmen, Human Behavior and Societies, or VPATH requirements may double count to fulfill the Social, Cultural, and Global Perspectives (SCGP) requirement. Courses that fulfill the Modern Language Requirement at the level of 202 or above may double count to fulfill one (1) additional core requirement. Within the core, triple counting of requirements is not permitted.

To complete any major in CAS, students are required to take a minimum of 12 semester hours of courses in the major department at Suffolk University. Students must achieve a minimum 2.0 grade point average in their major. Courses that are taken as part of a student’s Major or Complementary Major Requirements, which are also listed under the College Requirements, can be used to satisfy both Major and Core Requirements.

Any course may count only once toward the 126-hour requirement for bachelors' degrees (124-hour requirement for the BFA) and the 64-hour requirement for associates' degrees. Individual exemptions from Core Requirements, based on examination and recommendation of the appropriate departments, may be granted by the dean of the College of Arts & Sciences. Semester-hour credit is not granted for such exemptions.

Students should have finished WRI-101 and WRI-102 or authorized equivalents by the time they have reached 64 credits. Delaying the first-year writing requirement may impair performance in upper-division courses and make it difficult to graduate on schedule. Upper-division students who have not completed all writing requirements should do so before they achieve senior status.

Declaring a Major

An academic major program enables a student to concentrate a portion of his or her studies in a specific subject area. Although many students come to the University with a specific major in mind, many other students decide to postpone the declaration of a major until they find out more about certain fields and concentrations of study. These latter students leave open their choice of a major, and are thus referred to as “open” majors. In general, students do not have to select their major until the second semester of their sophomore year.

Students wishing to declare or change a major need to obtain a Change of Major Form at either the Office of the Registrar or the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center. This form should be brought to the new major department for advisor assignment. The form is then submitted either by the new department or by the student to the Office of the Registrar.

Double Majors

Double majors are permitted in most content areas. To qualify for a double major, a student must complete all requirements for each major. No more than four courses meeting the requirements for the first major may be used to meet the requirements for the second major. The following double major pairs are not permitted because of significant content overlap:

- Advertising and Public Relations
- Biology and Biochemistry
- Chemistry and Biochemistry
- Environmental Science and Environmental Studies
- Media & Film and Global & Cultural Communication
- Media & Film and Journalism
- Political Science and International Relations

Advisors for each of the two proposed major departments advise the candidate concerning the proposed double major and help the candidate to plan, coordinate, and implement a program that interrelates (where possible) the two proposed major disciplines. At some point after the first year, but not later than the end of the junior year, the student should declare the double major. A student declaring a double major must have a GPA of 2.0 or higher and must maintain a minimum 2.0 GPA in both majors.

In the College of Arts and Sciences, a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of each major.

Dual Degrees

A student may earn two different undergraduate degrees (e.g., BFA/BA) when the requirements of both degrees, plus a minimum of an additional 30 credit hours of academic work, have been completed. A student seeking a dual degree must have a GPA of 2.0 or higher and must maintain a minimum 2.0 GPA in both majors and degrees. The dual degree approval form, signed by both advisors, must be submitted to the CAS Dean’s Office for approval.

Minor Programs

A student completing a minor may use no more than two courses from a major or double major combination to fulfill the requirements for the minor. No more than one course from one minor may count toward the fulfillment of a second minor. Students may not minor in a subject in which they are also completing a major.

The majors offered by the departments of Art and Design; Mathematics and Computer Science; Sociology and Criminal Justice; and History, Language, and Global Culture should each be considered as separate subjects when considering major/minor combinations. In addition, the following major and minor combinations are permitted:

- Journalism and Global & Cultural Communications
- Political Science and Law
- International Relations and Law
- International Relations and Political Science

A minor program is optional for any student and is not required for graduation. A student should consult as early as possible with their advisor, and with a member of the department in which he or she intends to minor, regarding minor requirements. Students must achieve a minimum GPA of 2.0 in their minor.

In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a minor.

Second Baccalaureate Degree

Students with an earned baccalaureate degree from an accredited four-year institution may apply for admission to an accelerated second bachelor’s degree program in the College of Arts & Sciences. By transferring prior coursework to satisfy the Core Requirements and by completing all departmental requirements for the new major, a student could earn a second baccalaureate in as little as one academic year.

All applications must be initiated in the Office of Undergraduate Admission. A candidate will be referred to the appropriate department chair for advising. The Office of Undergraduate Admission will then accept and evaluate all outstanding college requirements.

If accepted, a candidate would be required to successfully complete a minimum of 45 credit hours of new coursework and satisfy any outstanding general Core Requirements. Candidates deemed under-prepared to begin a second baccalaureate degree by the department chair could be required to complete prerequisite studies as a condition of admission to the program.

Associate Degrees

An associate degree is designed as a two-year program. Credits earned toward the associate degree may be transferred to a four-year program at another institution; may be used to allow the student to re-enter college after an absence; or may be converted to a four-year degree program at Suffolk University if the student’s educational objectives change. The College of Arts & Sciences offers an Associate of Arts (AA) degree, an Associate of Science (AS) degree, and an Associate of Science in Paralegal Studies (ASPS) degree.

Credits

Credit Hour Definition

Suffolk University follows the Federal Government’s Definition of a Credit Hour:

“...as an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutional established equivalence that reasonably approximates not less than -

1. One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or

2. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.”

Class Hours

Classes typically meet during several standard course times: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday for 50 minutes, twice a week Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday for 75 minutes, and for 2 hours, 40 minutes once a week. The period between 12:05PM and 01:15PM on Tuesday and Thursday is reserved for student activities, faculty meetings, guest lectures, and cultural events. No undergraduate classes are held during this time period.

CLEP

CLEP examinations provide undergraduate students the opportunity to gain college credit in specific areas of study. The Suffolk University Center for Learning and Academic Success administers the CLEP program.

Class Standing

The classification of students is determined by the number of credit hours completed. Freshman standing is assigned to students with 1 through 23 completed credit hours; sophomore standing, to those with 24 through 53 completed credit hours; junior standing, to those with 54 through 83 completed credit hours; senior standing, to those with 84 completed credit hours or more.

Course Loads

Federal financial aid regulations stipulate a student must be enrolled in at least 12 credits per semester to be considered full-time, between 9-11 credits per semester to be considered three-quarter time, and at least 6 credits per semester to be considered half-time. During the summer semester, which is subdivided into modules, full-time, three-quarter time, and half-time status is determined based on the number of credits enrolled throughout the entirety of the term. Graduating students in their last semester are considered full-time (except for financial aid purposes) if they are registered for all remaining degree requirements, even if they are registered for less than full-time status.

All international students are required to complete at least 12 credits each fall and spring semester.

Enrollment statuses for fall, spring, and summer terms are listed in the table below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Full Time</th>
<th>Three-Quarter Time&gt;</th>
<th>Half-Time</th>
<th>Less than Half-Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>12-17 credits</td>
<td>9-11 credits</td>
<td>6-8 credits</td>
<td>&lt;6 credits</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Restrictions: Academic English students can only take 0 credit courses.

Courses at Other Institutions

Once matriculated into a degree program at Suffolk, students are expected to complete all of their coursework at the University. Exceptions are made for international study or where academic hardship merits consideration. A student must be in good academic standing (2.0 GPA or better with no Incomplete grades) and have transferred fewer than 63 outside credit hours into Suffolk. If approved for a course at another institution, a student must attain a grade of "C" or higher in order to receive transfer credit. It is expected that students will complete their final 30 credit hours at Suffolk University. New students in their first semester without final grades may not be approved for outside courses. Courses taken at other institutions may affect student eligibility for graduation honors.

Students who feel their situation warrants an exception must apply through the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center.

Excess Courses

Twelve to 17 credits constitutes a normal full-time schedule. Students who meet the following criteria can register for 18 credits (fall and spring term):

- Student has been in attendance at Suffolk University for two full semesters excluding summer sessions
- Student has a minimum GPA of 3.0 or higher

Students who do not meet the above criteria or who wish to enroll in more than 18 credits in either the fall or spring term or more than 8 credits per summer module must petition the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center.

Students registered for more than 17 credits will be charged an excess credit rate during the fall and spring terms. Students are charged per credit hour during the summer sessions. Students should NOT assume financial aid will cover excess course charges.

Independent Study

The purpose of an independent study is to provide students with unique study opportunities with an individual faculty member. The guidelines with respect to independent studies are as follows:

- Students must gain authorization prior to registration by developing a robust and rigorous proposal. A description of the independent study project must be approved by the individual faculty member, by the department chair, and the dean’s office of the respective school.

CAS: Independent Study Form [PDF]

SBS: Independent Study Form [PDF]

- Adjunct faculty are not eligible to supervise an independent study.
- Independent studies may be taken for variable credit; a single independent study cannot be taken for more than 4 credits in CAS and 3 credits in SBS.

Additional guidelines for BSBA students:
• Only juniors and seniors with a GPA of 3.0 or higher are eligible.

• Independent Studies cannot replace a required course or duplicate an existing course. They allow students to research and study an area of interest not covered by Suffolk courses.

• The deadline to turn in a proposal to the Dean’s Office is the first three days of the semester in which you plan to complete an Independent Study. If the proposal is denied, this leaves sufficient time for students to revise and resubmit to the faculty, department chair, and Dean’s Office.

Internships

Students can only receive credit for an internship during the semester in which registered for the internship course. You cannot receive credit for an internship completed in a previous or future semester. In order to receive credit, you must be registered for the appropriate course prior to the add/drop date for that semester.

Transfer Credit

Transfer applicants are considered for admission based on work completed at a regionally accredited two- or four-year college or at international institutions approved by the Ministry of Education in the country where the institution resides. In some cases, transfer applicants with less than one year of college completion are also considered based on the results of the high school transcript and test scores. Credit is generally transferable provided that such coursework is successfully completed and equivalent to that offered at Suffolk University.

In the Sawyer Business School, transfer credit is awarded only for courses equivalent to freshman/sophomore years. Courses not required at Suffolk University until the junior/senior years may qualify for validation credit. Students admitted to the Sawyer Business School are required to complete at least 50 percent of business credit hours at Suffolk University.

A minimum of 45 hours in any bachelor degree program must be earned at Suffolk University, including all major and general education requirements. Requirements for specific degrees are listed by major in the undergraduate degree section. In all cases, students must complete all major and University requirements to qualify for a bachelor degree. This may necessitate completing more than the required hours for graduation. In addition, the final 30 credits of any degree must be completed at Suffolk University.

Part-time degree applicants are expected to meet the same requirements as full-time degree students.

In the College of Arts & Sciences, a two-course residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

In the Sawyer Business School not more than two courses may be transferred in toward any major and no more than one course may be transferred in toward any minor. Capstone requirements may never be transferred into the Business School. All upper level business courses being considered for transfer must be approved by the Sawyer Business School Dean’s Office.

Transcripts

A transcript is an academic document or electronic image maintained by the Office of the Registrar reflecting the unabridged student academic history at Suffolk University. Transcripts include course work from other institutions whose credits are awarded at the time of entrance or approved transfer credit after the student enrolls at the University.

The University reserves the right to refuse to issue a transcript of any student who has not fulfilled all financial obligations due to the University. A financial hold will be placed on a student record if the student is either delinquent or has defaulted on loans and/or has not completed required financial exit interviews or counseling.

Transcript requests must be submitted online or in writing to the Office of the Registrar.

Validation Credit: Sawyer Business School

Selected business courses taken elsewhere at the freshman or sophomore level, but offered by Suffolk University at the junior or senior level, require validation in order to be eligible for transfer of credit. In order to validate a course, students must have:

• Earned a grade of “C” or better in the course to be validated; and

• Successfully completed, with a grade of “C” or better at Suffolk University, an advanced course in the subject field for which the transfer course is a foundation.

Upon completion of the advanced course, a student must complete a Validation of Transfer Credit Form in the Registrar’s Office. The course(s) which may be validated will be listed on the student’s Suffolk University transcript and Credit Evaluation. The Credit Evaluation is the student’s original document of transfer credit provided by the Undergraduate Admission Office when the student was first admitted to the University. If a student has taken a junior/senior level course that is not required at Suffolk University, it cannot be validated.

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

When validating, no more than two transfer courses may be applied toward your major requirements.

Questions regarding transfer credit and validation procedures should be referred to the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center, 617-573-8345.

Visiting or Non-Degree Students (CAPS)

1. CAPS students may take courses in all College of Arts & Sciences and the Sawyer Business School if they have completed all necessary prerequisites.

2. CAPS students may only take up to 30 credits at the non-degree level. Those wishing to take more than 30 credits must apply as a degree-seeking student.

Grading

Grading System

The following grading system applies to all undergraduate students.
an assigned instructor.

"F*" indicates that the student has not completed all the course requirements in a satisfactory manner in a course where they originally received an Incomplete grade. Incomplete grades expire to an "F*" grade one year after the Incomplete grade was assigned. An "F*" grade operates in the same manner as an "F" grade.

"IP" (In Progress) can be issued where by nature of the course content the course may not be complete by the end of the term. IP grades automatically convert to an "F*" after one academic year.

"W" signifies official withdrawal from a course. A "W" is assigned administratively if a student:

1. Drops a course, following proper university procedure, between the end of the drop/add period and the withdrawal deadline of the semester, or

2. Drops a course or withdraws from school after the deadline of the semester with the written approval of the Students Affairs office. Permission is given only for valid cause such as debilitating illness, relocation, serious family crisis or other circumstances beyond the student’s control.

"AU" (Audit): In an audited course, a student will not receive credit or honor points; however, a student must pay the same tuition as if taking the course for credit. Under no circumstances may a student change from the evaluative letter grade system to audit or vice versa after the first two weeks of classes.

A student who audits a course is responsible for attending classes and completing required coursework.

"P" (Pass): A Pass-Fail option is available to students in lieu of a traditional letter grade subject to the following limitations and regulations:

Eligibility is restricted to students in good academic standing who have completed a minimum of 15 semester hours of coursework at Suffolk University. This option is limited to 12 credits per student. The pass/fail option is only applicable to electives and cannot be used for courses that fulfill specific degree, core, major or minor requirements. Students who are unsure as to whether a course is an elective for their specific program should check with the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center.

Students will designate courses as Pass-Fail after registration, but before the end of the course withdrawal period, by completing a Pass/Fail Declaration Request form. No changes from the designation of Pass-Fail to the letter grade system or vice versa are permitted after the course withdrawal period has elapsed. A Pass may be applied toward fulfilling degree credits, but may not be applied toward the quality point average.

Students planning to attend law school or other graduate schools should be aware that many professional and graduate schools prefer students to submit traditional letter grades.

"PC" (Pass/Credit) is awarded in courses successfully completed with a grade of "C" or better at an affiliated study abroad program or approved course work at a consortium institution after matriculation at Suffolk University. "PC" grades may be applied toward fulfilling degree credits, but they may not be applied toward the quality point average.

"NP" (No Pass) is awarded in courses unsuccessfully completed at an affiliated study abroad program or approved course work at a consortium institution after matriculation at Suffolk University. "NP" grades do not earn academic credit and are not applied toward the quality grade point average.

Courses officially dropped during the add/drop period will not appear on the student’s record.

Grievances - Academic

Academic Complaints

A student who has a complaint about a grade on a single assignment or exam or concerning the faculty member teaching a course should first speak with or email the faculty member. If the complaint is not resolved, then the student should bring the matter to the attention of the department chair or program director. If the complaint remains unresolved, then the matter should be brought to the attention of the academic dean’s office of the school in which the course is offered.

Grade Grievances

There is a formal process for grieving a final course grade.

Within two weeks of the grade being assigned, the student should speak with or email the faculty member.

If, after communicating with the faculty member, the student believes that the grade had no basis in fact or was arbitrary, the student may then petition the department chair or program director in writing (or by email).

Students should keep copies of correspondence for their own records.

If the grievance is not addressed or resolved equitably after meeting with the department chair or program director, the student has 10 business days to file a formal grievance with the academic dean (or dean’s designee) of the school in which the course is offered.

The academic dean (or dean’s designee) will inform the student of a decision within 15 business days of receiving the formal grievance. The student may appeal this decision to the provost (or provost’s designee), whose decision shall be final. It is the responsibility of the provost (or provost’s designee) to come to a resolution of the grade dispute within 15 business days of receiving the formal grievance from the student.

A graduating student must initiate the grade grievance process no later than three days prior to commencement by emailing the faculty member and copying the department chair or program director.

Graduating students should be mindful that the grade grievance process may impact the awarding of Latin honors and may delay the date of degree conferral.

Grievances Related to Academic Accommodations for Students Registered with Disability Services

Students with disabilities who believe they have received inappropriate treatment or inadequate service from the University pertaining to their granted accommodations have the right to file a grievance with Director of Disability Services. The grievance must be submitted in writing to The Office of Disability Services and should include a detailed description of the inappropriate or inadequate service and supporting documentation (when appropriate). Students with disabilities must indicate the resolution they are seeking.

Academic Misconduct

Suffolk University expects all students to be responsible individuals with high standards of conduct. Students are expected to practice ethical behavior in all learning environments and scenarios, including classrooms and laboratories, internships and practica, and study groups and academic teams. Cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, use of unauthorized electronic devices, self-plagiarism, fabrication or falsification of data, and other types of academic misconduct are treated as serious offenses that initiate a formal process of inquiry, one that may lead to disciplinary sanctions.

Resolving Incidents of Academic Misconduct

A faculty member suspecting academic misconduct will contact the student using the Suffolk email address to schedule a meeting and will make all effort to do so within five business days of detecting the incident. During the meeting, the faculty member will present the documentation that led to suspected academic misconduct. If the faculty member reaches the conclusion that academic misconduct has occurred, he or she may impose limited sanctions that are meant to acknowledge the behavior in the context of providing remediation and addressing skill development. These sanctions involve grade reductions to student work that constitutes up to 25% of the course grade (e.g., homework; short papers; quizzes) and frequently include some form of remediation.

When the suspected academic misconduct involves student work that constitutes more than 25% of the course grade, or if an F grade (0 credit) on the assignment is recommended as a sanction, the faculty member will consult with the department chair (or program director) prior to imposing the sanction. If the faculty member and chair agree on a determination of academic misconduct, the sanction may be imposed.

If a determination of academic misconduct is made and a sanction is imposed, the faculty member must complete the Academic Misconduct Incident Form (available online) and submit it electronically to the AMC coordinator who will document the incident, along with the written documentation of misconduct, in the AMC internal record. A student may appeal the determination of academic misconduct, but not the sanction, by requesting a hearing before the full AMC. Appeals should be filed with the AMC coordinator within ten business days of receiving the sanction.

If the suspected academic misconduct involves actions that the faculty member and chair believe warrant an F grade in the course, or if there is disagreement between the faculty member and chair on the appropriate sanction, then the incident must be forwarded directly to the AMC for committee review. Examples include, but are not limited to, the following: cheating on exams; group cheating; submitting purchased term papers or term papers with extensive copying or use of external sources without citation; and fabrication or falsification of research data. If the faculty member and chair suspect an incident of this type, they must file an incident report form with the AMC coordinator to initiate a full committee review. The AMC coordinator will schedule a hearing at the next standing meeting of the AMC, generally within ten business days of receipt of the incident form. The faculty member will submit all documentation to the AMC coordinator who will email the student (using Suffolk email) a notice to appear for a hearing. At the hearing, a determination is made by the committee, regardless of whether or not the student is in attendance; imposition of sanctions is made by committee vote. A determination letter is then sent to the student, the faculty member, and the chair.

A full review by the AMC, as described above, will also occur if multiple incident reports for a single student are detected in the AMC internal record.

AMC hearings are not open to the public. Therefore, members of the Suffolk University community who are not directly involved in the allegation and friends, parents, partners, siblings, legal counsel, and others are not permitted in the room where the AMC hearing takes place but may wait nearby for support purposes. Formal rules of process, procedure, or evidence such as those applied in civil or criminal courts are not used in the AMC. Members of the AMC will recuse themselves from a case when appropriate. Student conduct that warrants sanctions may result in forfeiture of all Suffolk scholarships, financial aid, or monies paid.

Sanctions imposed by the AMC may include but are not limited to a reprimand; a remediation plan; a grade of F in a course; probation; and/or dismissal. A sanction grade of F in a course will be factored into the overall grade point average regardless of whether or not the course is successfully repeated. A student found responsible for academic misconduct and sanctioned by the AMC may file one appeal to the provost (or designee) by sending a written letter of appeal within ten business days. (A graduating student must initiate the appeal process no later than three days prior to commencement.) Appeals are considered only if there is additional information not available at the time of the hearing or a procedural error that calls into question the determination of academic misconduct. Students must include a statement of why the additional information should be considered and why it was not presented at the time of the original hearing. The decision of the provost is final.

Grading Students under Review for Academic Misconduct

Faculty, department chairs, program directors, and the AMC will work diligently to ensure timely review and closure of cases of academic misconduct. In some cases, however, it may not be possible to reach a determination or impose a sanction prior to the deadline for submitting course grades. In this case, the faculty member will not submit a grade for the student, but will leave the grade field blank. Once a determination has been made, the faculty member will complete a change of grade form, with an explanation of the grade change that includes a brief statement of how the sanction impacted the final course grade.

Membership of the Academic Misconduct Committee

The AMC hears cases of alleged academic misconduct involving students in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) and the Sawyer Business School (SBS). The committee consists of two CAS faculty members, appointed by the CAS dean; two SBS faculty members, appointed by the SBS dean; the CAS and SBS assistant deans who convene the Academic Standing Committees in their respective schools; and a non-voting dean from Student Affairs. At the start of the academic year, AMC members elect a committee chair; the chair casts the deciding vote in the case of a tie.

All full-time CAS and SBS faculty are eligible to serve on the committee with the exception of non-tenured, tenure-track faculty. Associate deans from the two schools may be asked to attend as ex officio members when particular background or expertise is requested by the committee.

Early Alert

The Early Alert process identifies students who may be academically at risk, before week five of the semester. The Faculty alert students who are at risk of failing a course if they are struggling with course content, not completing assignments, not attending classes regularly, or if they have second language issues or deficiencies. University staff outreach to all alerted students and connect them with the appropriate support services to help them achieve success.

Final Examinations

Final exam dates are posted in the academic calendar. Individual course final exams display in the online course search.
Grades

Grades are available on Self Service soon after the conclusion of each semester. Students are solely responsible for their academic progress and should confer immediately with their academic advisor in the event their performance becomes substandard. Failure to maintain satisfactory progress can lead to loss of financial aid, academic probation, or dismissal, or other equally serious consequences.

Honor Points

Scholastic averages are computed by multiplying the credit hours by the honor point equivalent. For example, a 4 credit course evaluated as "A" will be counted as 16 honor points (4 credits multiplied by 4.0 = 16). Grades of "I," "P," "IP," "AU," "NC," and "PC" are not computed in determining Honor Points, and have no impact on a student’s scholastic average.

A cumulative average of 2.0 (C) and an average of 2.0 (C) or better in one’s major, minor, and/or certificate program are required for graduation. Students are required to monitor their average in their major and minor. If students are at risk of falling below the required average, the Academic Standing Committee will notify the academic department of their major.

Repeating a Course

Students may retake any course for credit by paying the appropriate tuition. When a student repeats a course, all grades will appear on a student’s transcript; however, only the best evaluative course grade will be used to compute the cumulative grade point average. Grades of "P," "I," "W," "NC," and "PC" issued in repeat courses are excluded in calculating the new GPA. When repeating courses, only one course may be used for credit to fulfill degree requirements. In the event a student who fails a course also fails the retake course, one F grade is calculated into the GPA. Students receiving federal financial aid should refer to Satisfactory Academic Progress regulations for financial aid eligibility when repeating a course.

Graduation

Eligibility for Degree

In order to be eligible to receive a bachelor’s degree from the University, a student must:

- Earn at least 126 semester hours in the College of Arts & Sciences; 124 semester hours in the Sawyer Business School; or 124 semester hours in the New England School of Art and Design

- Achieve not less than a 2.0 cumulative grade point average and earn a minimum 2.0 grade point average or higher in the major

- Achieve a minimum 2.0 grade point average or higher in the minor, if applicable

- Meet all the academic requirements for his/her particular degree (eight years is the normal limit for completion of a part-time or an interrupted degree program)

- Complete a minimum of 45 semester hours at Suffolk

- Complete major residency requirement

- Complete minor residency requirement, if applicable

- Complete the final 30 semester hours at Suffolk

- Complete at least 30 semester hours of business coursework at Suffolk (Sawyer Business School students only)

- Complete at least 60 semester hours of coursework at Suffolk in order to be considered for scholastic honors

Application for Degree

Students are required to submit an application for degree to the Registrar’s Office by the published deadline. It is expected that all obligations to the University, both academic and financial, will be completed at the close of that semester. Failure to comply with this requirement will delay graduation and participation in commencement to some future time.

Commencement Exercise Eligibility

In addition to those students who have completed in quality and quantity the requirements for their respective degrees, students may participate in commencement if they have officially applied as a September candidate, are enrolled in their remaining requirements in the subsequent summer sessions, have satisfied all other degree requirements, and have fulfilled all financial obligations to the University.

September degree candidates petitioning to participate in the May commencement ceremony must apply and be enrolled in all outstanding requirements in the subsequent summer sessions by the dates established by the Office of the Registrar. Approval of the petition is contingent upon satisfying the conditions listed above.

Substitutions and Waivers

Major & Minor:

Students may file a petition for a major or minor requirement substitution with their academic advisor and major department chair. The academic department chair and appropriate Dean's Office must approve major and minor requirement substitutions.

Core & Degree Requirement:

Students may file a petition for core and/or Degree requirement substitutions and waivers only with the appropriate Dean's Office for their degree.

Diplomas

Suffolk University diplomas include the degree and appropriate graduation honors awarded. A diploma does not include student major, minor or concentration. Suffolk University transcripts include information related to the student's identity and academic history at the university including major, minor and concentration.

Registration and Attendance

Registration

Registration materials (program evaluations, transcripts, course schedules, etc.) are available to all students online prior to faculty advising at the beginning of each term’s pre-registration.

Newly accepted and re-entry students will receive information regarding orientation and/or registration from the Office of Undergraduate Admission.

Late Registration

Registration is closed after the first full week of classes in any semester.

Add/Drop or Change of Course

Students may add, drop, or change courses online based upon availability and eligibility during the first week of the term. Refer to the academic calendar for add and drop dates.

Auditing a Course

In an audited course, a student will not receive credit or honor points; however, a student must pay the same tuition as if taking the course for credit. Under no circumstances may a student change from the evaluative letter grade system to audit or vice versa after the first two weeks of classes.

A student who audits a course is responsible for attending classes and completing required coursework.

Attendance

Federal regulations require universities receiving federal funding to implement a policy monitoring student attendance in class.

Instructors are responsible for establishing the requirements for attendance and participation in each of their classes and for informing students of these requirements at the beginning of each course.

The Office of Health & Wellness Services does not excuse student absences. The student, when absent from class, has the responsibility of obtaining knowledge of materials covered in classes missed, including information about announced tests, papers, or other assignments.

Leave of Absence and Withdrawal from the University

See Withdrawing from All Courses, Leaves of Absence & Withdrawing from the University for students in the College of Arts and Sciences and Sawyer Business School in the Student Handbook.

This policy pertains to students in the College of Arts and Sciences and Sawyer Business School.

Administrative Withdrawal

Students who are not on an official leave of absence and have been away for more than two semesters will be administratively withdrawn from the University. Students who have been administratively withdrawn must complete the re-entry application with admissions to re-enroll at the University.

Graduate Academic Policies

All students are expected to abide by all policies included in the Suffolk University Academic Catalog.

University Policies are presented in the context where they are considered to be most applicable. In addition to the policies contained in this Academic Catalog, policies and procedures are located in:

- The Student Handbook, which contains policies and procedures that govern student conduct and other aspects of campus life at Suffolk University
- Policies and Procedures, a partial summary with links to selected policies
- Academic departments.

Academic Standing and Re-Entry Policies

Satisfactory Progress Policy

Federal regulations require students to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress (SAP) in order to qualify for any form of financial assistance (grants, scholarships, loans, or employment). Satisfactory progress is evaluated at the end of each academic term by Student Financial Services independently of the Academic Standing Committee of each school. Please refer to the Graduate SAP policy for academic progress requirements.

Graduate students are required to maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0.

Sawyer Business School

Graduate students (degree or certificate) in the Sawyer Business School are expected to earn at least a “B” (3.0) in all courses attempted. Failure to maintain this average can lead to academic dismissal. Students must have a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 at the completion of each semester as well as to graduate. "A," "A-," "B+," and "B" represent satisfactory work. "B-", "C+", and "C", represent passing but unsatisfactory work. There is no grade below a “C” that is a passing grade in graduate school. It is the student's responsibility to monitor his/her academic progress. Formal guidelines for academic performance and consequent actions are as follows:

Warning

1. Issued when a student's semester GPA falls below 3.0 for the second consecutive semester with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
2. Issued when a student receives an “F” grade in an elective course with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
3. Issued when a student receives a 2nd Incomplete grade (I)

Probation

1. Issued when a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.0
2. Issued when a student receives an “F” grade in a required course with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
3. Issued when a student receives a second “F” grade in an elective course with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
4. Issued when a student has three (3) or more “I” grades; student will be blocked from registration for the next semester and continuously until achieves two or less “I” grades within the timeframe of the agreed upon “I” grade deadline; grades must be passing grades in each course to progress in program

Extended Probation

Issued on a case by case basis for serious extenuating circumstances for a student who demonstrates strong progress toward regaining good academic standing.

Steps for Granting Extended Probation

1. Student must meet with the program director and provide documentation outlining extenuating circumstances.
2. Program director must forward the student’s documentation and provide a letter of support as well as an agreed upon plan of action to the dean of graduate programs.

Dismissal

- May be issued when a student receives a 2nd “F” grade in a required course
- May be issued when a student receives a second “F” grade in an elective course with a cumulative GPA below 3.0
- May be issued when a student does not meet the conditions of his/her probation in the semester following the probationary term

Once a student is dismissed from Suffolk University, s/he is no longer considered a Suffolk University student. A student dismissed from any dual degree program is dismissed from all programs that constitute the dual degree. Dismissals are recorded on the student transcript. A student seeking re-admission to a single Sawyer Business School program must complete a new application for admission and provide supporting documentation required for admission consideration. Students will be evaluated on a case by case basis.

Applying to Return to the University

A student may appeal for readmission to the program from which they were dismissed by taking the following steps:

1. Student must petition the Program Director, in writing, requesting readmission within 14 days of receiving the dismissal letter. The petition letter should include personal contact information, including the former Suffolk University ID. The letter should address any difficulties or extenuating circumstances they experienced while enrolled in their degree program that resulted in the academic performance leading to their dismissal.

2. Student must meet with the Program Director and provide documentation outlining any such extenuating circumstances, e.g., transcripts from other institutions, letters from a current faculty member, etc.

3. Program Director must forward the student’s documentation and provide a letter of support as well as an agreed upon action plan to the Dean of Graduate Programs:

Michael Behnam, Ph.D.
Dean of Graduate Programs
Sawyer Business School
120 Tremont Street
Boston, MA 02108-2770

The student will be notified of the decision in writing by the SBS Dean of Graduate Programs.

- If readmission is denied, the student is dismissed without any opportunity to appeal for readmission to the Program.

- If readmission is granted, the student's progress will be closely monitored by the Program Director. If satisfactory progress is not achieved as defined in the agreed-upon action plan, the student will be dismissed with no opportunity for readmission to the Program.

Students who are dismissed for academic dishonesty will not be allowed to apply for readmission.

For more information, please call the Sawyer Business School Graduate Programs Dean’s Office at 617-573-8088.

Attention International Students: If your appeal is successful and you are readmitted, bring a copy of your readmission letter to the International Student Services Office located on the 9th Floor of 73 Tremont Street, 617-573-8154, if you are on a visa or I-20. This re-admittance is academic and does not ensure that the university will be able to reinstate you through immigration.

Policy for students seeking re-entry since their last enrollment

A student previously enrolled in a Sawyer Business School graduate degree program who has not been officially enrolled for two or more semesters (fall/spring) or who did not comply with the terms of an applied leave of absence must apply for readmission and meet the following criteria to be considered for re-entry:

1. A student seeking re-entry 5 or less years since their last enrollment:
   a. Submit a Re-Entry Form and resume to the Office of Graduate Admission.
   b. If the student is in good academic standing, with no outstanding payment issues, the Office of Graduate Admission will issue official Re-Entry Admission letter.
   c. If a student is not in good academic standing, the graduate program director, in consultation with the Dean of SBS Graduate Programs, will make an admit decision. If a student is readmitted, the Office of Graduate Admission will issue an official Re-Entry admission letter.
   d. If readmitted, students will be subject to the academic requirements for the degree at the time of readmission and readmitted under the current catalog year.
   e. All review of prior coursework and academic performance will be handled on a case by case basis for relevance and current following current waiver and transfer policies.

2. A student seeking re-entry with more than 5 years and less than 7 years since their last enrollment:
   a. Submit a Re-Entry Form and resume to the Office of Graduate Admission.
   b. The graduate program director will make admit decision based on the following

i. Why the student left the program
ii. Earned Suffolk grades in the graduate program to date
iii. Resume – what student has done since leaving the program
iii. GMAT or GRE score taken when admitted to the program (if testing was required)

D. Re-entry due to Military Service

Suffolk University will make the necessary accommodations to work with service members or reservists due to service requirements. Students are encouraged to view the University's information regarding military service for more information.

College of Arts and Sciences

At the conclusion of each semester, the Graduate Academic Standing Committee reviews the records of graduate students failing to make satisfactory academic progress. The Committee may choose to take one of the following actions, or may take other actions specific to the noted deficiency in the student file. Written notification of all actions taken by the Committee is communicated to the student in a timely fashion.

Academic Warning:

• Two or more grades of I or W in a given semester, or • Any grade below B, with a cumulative GPA above 3.0

Probation:

• A semester GPA below 3.0, or
• A cumulative GPA below 3.0 for the first time

Note: Students are placed on probation with specific conditions to be met in the subsequent semester.

Dismissal:

• A cumulative GPA below 3.0 for any two semesters, or
• Violation of professional or ethical standards, or
• Failure to make satisfactory progress toward completion of the degree, or
• Failure to meet the conditions of probation

A student dismissed from any dual degree program is dismissed from all programs that constitute the dual degree. Dismissals are recorded on the student transcript.

A student may appeal any decision in writing to the dean of the college within 30 days of receipt of the notice of action taken by the committee. The dean or designee will then make a final determination at the conclusion of a full investigation. (Please consult the published statements of individual graduate programs for any additional academic guidelines and policies regarding specific program requirements.)

Re-Admission to Suffolk University

Degree requirements for doctoral programs must be completed within eight consecutive years from the matriculation into the doctoral program. Degree requirements for all master's programs are normally completed within five years after the start of graduate work.

A student previously enrolled in a College of Arts & Sciences graduate degree program who has not been officially enrolled for two or more semesters (fall/spring) or who did not comply with the terms of an applied leave of absence must apply for readmission and meet the following criteria to be considered for re-entry:

A student seeking re-entry 5 or less years since their last enrollment:

• Submit a Re-Entry Form and resume to the Office of Graduate Admission.

• If the student is in good academic standing, with no outstanding payment issues, the Office of Graduate Admission will issue official Re-Entry Admission letter.

• Students will be subject to the academic requirements for the degree at the time of readmission and readmitted under the current catalog year.

• All review of prior coursework and academic performance will be handled on a case-by-case basis for relevance and currency following current waiver and transfer policies.

A student seeking re-entry with more than 5 years and less than 7 years since their last enrollment:

• Submit a Re-Entry Form and resume to the Office of Graduate Admission

• The graduate program director will make admit decision based on consideration of the earned Suffolk grades in the graduate program to date and a letter explaining why the student left the program and detailing professional activity that supports readmission.

• If readmitted, students will be subject to the academic requirements for the degree at the time of readmission and readmitted under the current catalog year.

• All review of prior coursework and academic performance will be handled on a case-by-case basis for relevance and currency following current waiver and transfer policies.

Pass (“P”) / Fail (“F”) Option

Practica, internships, theses, and designated field experiences are typically taken on a pass/fail basis. Exceptions to this policy are only at the discretion of the respective program directors.

A Pass (“P”) grade may be applied toward fulfilling degree credits, but will not be applied toward the cumulative grade point average.

Academic Misconduct Policy

Academic Misconduct

Suffolk University expects all students to be responsible individuals with high standards of conduct. Students are expected to practice ethical behavior in all learning environments and scenarios, including classrooms and laboratories, internships and practica, and study groups and academic teams. Cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, use of unauthorized electronic devices, self-plagiarism, fabrication or falsification of data, and other types of academic misconduct are treated as serious offenses that initiate a formal process of inquiry, one that may lead to disciplinary sanctions. Some cases of academic misconduct may be reviewed and resolved at the academic departmental level; other more egregious forms of academic misconduct necessitate a full review by the Academic Misconduct Committee (AMC).

Resolving Incidents of Academic Misconduct

A faculty member suspecting academic misconduct will contact the student using the Suffolk email address to schedule a meeting and will make all effort to do so within five business days of detecting the incident. During the meeting, the faculty member will present the documentation that led to suspected academic misconduct. If the faculty member reaches the conclusion that academic misconduct has occurred, he or she may impose limited sanctions that are meant to acknowledge the behavior in the context of providing remediation and addressing skill development. These sanctions involve grade reductions to student work that constitutes up to 25% of the course grade (e.g., homework; short papers; quizzes) and frequently include some form of remediation.

When the suspected academic misconduct involves student work that constitutes more than 25% of the course grade, or if an F grade (0 credit) on the assignment is recommended as a sanction, the faculty member will consult with the department chair (or program director) prior to imposing the sanction. If the faculty member and chair agree on a determination of academic misconduct, the sanction may be imposed.

If a determination of academic misconduct is made and a sanction is imposed, the faculty member must complete the Academic Misconduct Incident Form (available online) and submit it electronically to the AMC coordinator who will document the incident, along with the written documentation of misconduct, in the AMC internal record. A student may appeal the determination of academic misconduct, but not the sanction, by requesting a hearing before the full AMC. Appeals should be filed with the AMC coordinator within ten business days of receiving the sanction.

If the suspected academic misconduct involves actions that the faculty member and chair believe warrant an F grade in the course, or if there is disagreement between the faculty member and chair on the appropriate sanction, then the incident must be forwarded directly to the AMC for committee review. Examples include, but are not limited to, the following: cheating on exams; group cheating; submitting purchased term papers or term papers with extensive copying or use of external sources without citation; and fabrication or falsification of research data. If the faculty member and chair suspect an incident of this type, they must file an incident report form with the AMC coordinator to initiate a full committee review. The AMC coordinator will schedule a hearing at the next standing meeting of the AMC, generally within ten business days of receipt of the incident form. The faculty member will submit all documentation to the AMC coordinator who will email the student (using Suffolk email) a notice to appear for a hearing. At the hearing, a determination is made by the committee, regardless of whether or not the student is in attendance; imposition of sanctions is made by committee vote. A determination letter is then sent to the student, the faculty member, and the chair.

A full review by the AMC, as described above, will also occur if multiple incident reports for a single student are detected in the AMC internal record.

AMC hearings are not open to the public. Therefore, members of the Suffolk University community who are not directly involved in the allegation and friends, parents, partners, siblings, legal counsel, and others are not permitted in the room where the AMC hearing takes place but may wait nearby for support purposes. Formal rules of process, procedure, or evidence such as those applied in civil or criminal courts are not used in the AMC. Members of the AMC will recuse themselves from a case when appropriate. Student conduct that warrants sanctions may result in forfeiture of all Suffolk scholarships, financial aid, or monies paid.

Sanctions imposed by the AMC may include but are not limited to a reprimand; a remediation plan; a grade of F in a course; probation; and/or dismissal. A sanction grade of F in a course will be factored into the overall grade point average regardless of whether or not the course is successfully repeated. A student found responsible for academic misconduct and sanctioned by the AMC may file one appeal to the provost (or designee) by sending a written letter of appeal within ten business days. (A graduating student must initiate the appeal process no later than three days prior to commencement.) Appeals are considered only if there is additional information not available at the time of the hearing or a procedural error that calls into question the determination of academic misconduct. Students must include a statement of why the additional information should be considered and why it was not presented at the time of the original hearing. The decision of the provost is final.

Grading Students under Review for Academic Misconduct

Faculty, department chairs, program directors, and the AMC will work diligently to ensure timely review and closure of cases of academic misconduct. In some cases, however, it may not be possible to reach a determination or impose a sanction prior to the deadline for submitting course grades. In this case, the faculty member will not submit a grade for the student, but will leave the grade field blank. Once a determination has been made, the faculty member will complete a change of grade form, with an explanation of the grade change that includes a brief statement of how the sanction impacted the final course grade.

Membership of the Academic Misconduct Committee

The AMC hears cases of alleged academic misconduct involving students in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) and the Sawyer Business School (SBS). The committee consists of two CAS faculty members, appointed by the CAS dean; two SBS faculty members, appointed by the SBS dean; the CAS and SBS assistant deans who convene the Academic Standing Committees in their respective schools; and a non-voting dean from Student Affairs. At the start of the academic year, AMC members elect a committee chair; the chair casts the deciding vote in the case of a tie.

All full-time CAS and SBS faculty are eligible to serve on the committee with the exception of non-tenured, tenure-track faculty. Associate deans from the two schools may be asked to attend as ex officio members when particular background or expertise is requested by the committee.

Graduate Pathways

College of Arts and Sciences Pathways

The College of Arts and Sciences offers pathway programs for selected degrees for qualified international graduate students. The pathway is a one semester program which requires one Academic English course and three required CAS graduate courses. The pathway program is only offered in the fall or spring semester.

CAS graduate course credits, earned in the CAS pathway, will apply to the corresponding graduate degree program once progression requirements are met. CAS graduate pathway students must follow all academic policies and complete all requirements to remain within their CAS graduate pathway and subsequent CAS graduate program.

CAS Academic Standing for Graduate Pathway Students

Students in a CAS graduate pathway must maintain a 3.0 GPA to continue in their programs. A student who receives less than the 3.0 GPA are subject to Suffolk University’s academic standing policies as set forth in the graduate catalog (p. 24).

At the conclusion of each semester, the CAS Academic Standing Committee reviews the records of graduate students failing to make satisfactory progress. The Committee may choose to take one of the following actions, or may take other actions specific to the noted deficiency in the student file. Written notification of all actions taken by the Committee is communicated to the student in a timely fashion. Actions include Academic Warning, Probation, or Dismissal as outlined here (p. 24).

Decisions regarding progression will be made by the CAS Graduate Academic Standing Committee. Before making a decision, the Academic Standing Committee will consult with the INTO-Suffolk Academic Director. Students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0 at the end of the pathway to progress. Any students on Academic Warning or Academic Probation will work closely with an INTO Suffolk advisor to devise a plan by which to return to good standing.

SBS Graduate Academic Standards for Pathway Students

At the conclusion of each semester, the SBS Graduate Academic Standing Committee reviews the records of graduate students failing to make satisfactory progress. Graduate students in the Sawyer Business School are expected to earn at least a B (3.0) in all courses attempted. Students must have a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 at the completion of each semester as well as to graduate. Failure to maintain this average can lead to academic dismissal. Consequent actions include probation, and dismissal.

Decisions regarding progression will be made by the SBS Graduate Academic Standing Committee. Before making a decision, the Academic Standing Committee will consult with the INTO-Suffolk Academic Director. Students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0 at the end of the pathway to progress. Any students on Academic Warning or Academic Probation will work closely with an INTO Suffolk advisor to devise a plan by which to return to good standing. In some cases, a pathway student may be eligible for a pathway extension. A pathway extension is defined as the additional semester beyond the original student study plan of a 1 or 2 semester Graduate Pathway Program. Formal guidelines for academic performance and consequent actions are as follows:
• While in the Accelerated or Standard Pathway program (1 or 2 semester), students are required to achieve a grade of “B” or better in each course to progress, no “I” or “W” grades. If a student receives a grade less than a “B”, they will be reviewed under the SBS Graduate Programs academic standing policy.

• If a student receives a grade less than a “B” (SBS and/or AE), they will be required to retake that course(s) in the next semester.

• Any retaken course(s) must receive a grade of “B” or better or the student is dismissed.

• If a student receives an “F” grade in a course, they will be required to retake that course in the next semester.

• If a student receives more than one “F” grade, they will be dismissed.

• Students falling below a cumulative GPA of 3.0 will be reviewed following SBS Graduate Programs academic standing policies.

• Students must attain a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better to graduate.

A student is allowed only one extension semester. A student may not have more than two courses with grade of <B to be considered for an extension semester. In the extension semester, a student will be required to take 9-12 credits. The student must agree to the extension in writing by completing the appropriate forms. There may be additional cost to the student, in addition to a delay of progression into degree program, when adding an extension semester.

Credits and Grading

Part-time and Full-time Status

Most graduate programs are offered on a part-time and full-time basis. Part-time and full-time are dependent on the number of registered credits within a given semester. Once admitted to a graduate program, a student may move from full-time to part-time or part-time to full-time by simply changing the number of credits for which they are registered. However, a student is initially admitted with a full-time or part-time status. There are tuition and financial aid ramifications associated with full-time and part-time status.

SBS Students

Full-time status for SBS graduate programs is defined as 12 to 15 credits. A student must be registered for at least 12 credits to be considered full-time. A maximum of 15 credits is allowed.

Part-time status for SBS graduate programs is defined as 1 to 11 credits. A student must be registered for at least 1 credit to be considered part-time. A maximum of 11 credits is allowed. For fully online SBS graduate program students, part-time status is defined as 1-3 credits per term.

Campus-based students must complete and have approved an Excess Course Petition Form [PDF] to exceed full-time course load credits. The only exception to this policy is the semester in which a campus-based student registers for the following combination of 1-credit courses, SBS-700 and/or FIN-601 or SBS-700 and/or MBA-701.

Fall and Spring Sessions: Campus-based graduate students who meet the following criteria will be considered for enrolling in more than 15 credits:

1. The student has a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and is in good academic standing.

2. Evaluation of a student's excess course request(s) will be done on a case-by-case and course-by-course basis to ensure a student's success within their program. Petition must be approved by program director and assistant dean of graduate programs.

3. Must demonstrate extenuating circumstances for the request.

4. Has consulted with the program director/advisor who will review the excess course petition, in addition to, the degree completion options for the student.

Summer Sessions: Six credits per summer session constitute a full-time schedule (maximum of 12 credits across all summer sessions). Campus-based graduate students must seek permission to register for any excess credits in a session and demonstrate extenuating circumstances for the request. The above criteria for fall and spring sessions will be used when evaluating the petition.

SBS Online Graduate Program Students

SBS online graduate programs are part-time only programs. Three credits per term constitute a normal online course load. The only exception to this policy is the term in which a student registers for an additional 1 credit or 1.5 credit course (e.g., SBS-700, MBA-701, MBA-625, MBA-615, MBA-745, or FIN-601). Students who seek to enroll in more than 3 credits in any term must complete an Excess Course Petition Form for Online Programs [PDF], demonstrate extenuating circumstances, and meet the following criteria:

1. The student has a minimum GPA of at least 3.30 and is in good academic standing after completing a minimum of one full semester.

2. All prerequisites must be taken before the excess course. Prerequisites cannot be taken concurrently with the excess course.

3. Evaluation of a student’s excess course request will be done on a case-by-case and course-by-course basis to ensure a student’s success within their program.

4. The student has consulted with the student success advisor / program director, who will review the excess course petition in addition to the degree completion options for the student.

5. Petition must be signed by the program director and assistant dean of online graduate programs.

CAS Students

Full-time status is defined as 12 credits for CAS graduate programs except for the PhD in Economics, which is defined as 9 credits. Students must submit an Excess Course Petition form to the CAS Dean’s Office if they plan to register for more than 12 credits (9 in Ph.D Economics program).

Tuition Implications

Full-time: The University sets a full-time tuition rate charged fall and spring semesters. If a student enrolls in excess credits, the additional credits are charged at a pro-rated per-credit fee.

Part-time: The University sets a part-time per-credit tuition rate.

Summer: All students registered for credits in a summer term are charged at the per-credit tuition rate.

For current full-time, part-time, and excess tuition rates visit the Bursar's Office.

Visit Student Financial Services for information regarding full-time or part-time status and eligibility for financial aid.

Grading System

The following grading system applies to all graduate students.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Letter Grade</th>
<th>Honor Point Equivalent per Credit</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>3.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>3.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>3.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>2.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>2.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>2.0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

"A," "A-," "B+," and "B" represent satisfactory work.

"B-," "C+", and "C", represent passing but unsatisfactory work.

"F" is a failing grade. It indicates that the student has not completed all course requirements in a satisfactory manner. Students who stop attending a course without having complied with the official withdrawal procedure can anticipate receiving a grade of "F." The "F" grade becomes a permanent part of a student’s record and cannot be expunged even if the course is successfully retaken.

"I" (Incomplete) indicates a student has done passing work in a course but has not yet submitted all the outstanding work required for a formal evaluation. The "I" is awarded at the instructor’s discretion, only if the student has completed at least half of the course requirements satisfactorily at the end of the semester, and there is a reasonable expectation that all course requirements can be completed in one academic year. An "I" must be formally re-evaluated by the instructor within one academic year, resulting in an evaluation grade or an extension of the "I," or it automatically converts to an "F*."]

Students must complete coursework with the original instructor. The change in the "I" grade must be made by the original instructor, or in his or her absence, by the department chair. If this is not possible, arrangements must be made through the department chair in concurrence with an assigned instructor.

F* indicates that the student has not completed all the course requirements in a satisfactory manner in a course where they originally received an Incomplete grade. Incomplete grades expire to a F* grade one year after the Incomplete grade was assigned. An F* grade operates in the same manner as an F grade.
"IP" (In Progress) can be issued where by nature of the course content the course may not be complete by the end of the term. IP grades automatically convert to an "F*" after one academic year.

"W" signifies official withdrawal from a course. A "W" is assigned administratively if a student:

1. Drops a course, following proper University procedure, between the end of the drop/add period and the withdrawal deadline of the semester, or

2. Drops a course or withdraws from school after the deadline of the semester with the written approval of the Students Affairs Office. Permission is given only for valid cause such as debilitating illness, relocation, serious family crisis, or other circumstances beyond the student’s control.

"AU" (Audit): In an audited course, a student will not receive credit or honor points; however, a student must pay the same tuition as if taking the course for credit. It is the student’s responsibility to inform the instructor that he/she is auditing the course during the first two weeks of classes. Under no circumstances may a student change from the evaluative letter grade system to audit or vice versa after the first two weeks of classes.

A student who audits a course is responsible for attending classes and completing required coursework.

"P" or "F" (Pass/Fail): Selected graduate thesis, internship, and practicum courses may be graded on a pass/fail basis. A Pass ("P") grade may be applied toward fulfilling degree credits, but it will not be applied toward the cumulative GPA.

Courses officially dropped during the add/drop period will not appear on the student’s record.

Grievances: Academic

Academic Complaints

A student who has a complaint about a grade on a single assignment or exam or concerning the faculty member teaching a course should first speak with or email the faculty member. If the complaint is not resolved, then the student should bring the matter to the attention of the department chair or program director. If the complaint remains unresolved, then the matter should be brought to the attention of the academic dean’s office of the school in which the course is offered.

Grade Grievances

There is a formal process for grieving a final course grade. Within two weeks of the grade being assigned, the student should speak with or email the faculty member.

If, after communicating with the faculty member, the student believes that the grade had no basis in fact or was arbitrary, the student may then petition the department chair or program director in writing (or by email).

Students should keep copies of correspondence for their own records.

If the grievance is not addressed or resolved equitably after meeting with the department chair or program director, the student has 10 business days to file a formal grievance with the academic dean (or dean’s designee) of the school in which the course is offered.

The academic dean (or dean’s designee) will inform the student of a decision within 15 business days of receiving the formal grievance. The student may appeal this decision to the provost (or provost’s designee), who’s decision shall be final. It is the responsibility of the provost (or provost’s designee) to come to a resolution of the grade dispute within 15 business days of receiving the formal grievance from the student.

A graduating student must initiate the grade grievance process no later than three days prior to commencement by emailing the faculty member and copying the department chair or program director.

Graduating students should be mindful that the grade grievance process may impact the awarding of Latin honors and may delay the date of degree conferral.

Grievances Related to Academic Accommodations for Students Registered with Disability Services

Students with disabilities who believe they have received inappropriate treatment or inadequate service from the University pertaining to their granted accommodations have the right to file a grievance with Director of Disability Services. The grievance must be submitted in writing to The Office of Disability Services and should include a detailed description of the inappropriate or inadequate service and supporting documentation (when appropriate). Students with disabilities must indicate the resolution they are seeking.

Students with disabilities who are unsatisfied with the response from the Director of Disability Services may submit an appeal within 5 business days to the ADA Coordinator, Dr. Ann Coyne, Vice President for Student Grievances Related to Students Enrolled in an Online Program

Suffolk University operates under the approval of “NC-SARA”, National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements. Consistent with 610 CMR 12.00 [PDF], students must attempt to resolve complaints at the institutional level. If the matter is not resolved at the institutional level students may submit a SARA complaint. Massachusetts residents may submit a complaint via the Massachusetts Department of Higher Education’s (DHE) consumer complaint form. Non-Massachusetts residents that are located in SARA member states may seek to file a formal complaint with the DHE using the SARA Complaint Procedure Process form. Students located in nonmember states may utilize the DHE’s consumer complaint form in lieu of the SARA complaint form.

Credit Hour Definition

Suffolk University follows the Federal Government’s Definition of a Credit Hour:

“...as an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutional established equivalence that reasonably approximates not less than -

1. One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or

2. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.”

Internships

Students can only receive credit for an internship during the semester in which registered for the internship course. You cannot receive credit for an internship completed in a previous or future semester. In order to receive credit, you must be registered for the appropriate course prior to the add/drop date for that semester.

Retaking a Course

College of Arts and Sciences Policy

A student may retake only one graduate course in his/her graduate program where an “F” grade has been received. The new course grade will be included in his/her GPA. The original “F” will remain on the transcript but will not be included in the GPA unless the "F" grade was a result of academic misconduct, in which case both grades will be included in the GPA.

Sawyer Business School Policy

A student may retake only one graduate course in his/her graduate program where an “F” grade has been received. The new grade will be included in his/her GPA. The original “F” will remain on the transcript but will not be included in the GPA. The repeated course must be completed within one academic year.

If a second “F” is received, the grade will remain on the transcript and be included in the GPA.

A passing grade must be earned in all required courses.

Students can appeal to the Sawyer Business School dean of graduate programs for readmission.

Transcripts

A transcript is an academic document or electronic image maintained by the Office of the Registrar that reflects the unabridged student academic history at Suffolk University. Transcripts include course work from other institutions whose credits are awarded at the time of entrance or approved transfer credit after the student enrolls at the University.

The University reserves the right to refuse to issue a transcript of any student who has not fulfilled all financial obligations due to the University. A financial hold will be placed on a student record if the student is either delinquent or has defaulted on loans.

Transcript requests must be submitted online or in writing to the Office of the Registrar.

Transfer Policies

In all cases, students should consult individual departments for the requirements of a particular program. Unless otherwise stated, the general rule is that a maximum of 6 graduate credits in the field of specialization from an accredited institution will be transferable toward a master's degree at Suffolk University. Courses offered for transfer credit must have a minimum grade of “B,” must not have been part of another earned degree, and must be declared at the time of matriculation.

Students requesting transfer credit should see their respective program director and file such requests within the first semester of a graduate program at Suffolk University.

Registration and Attendance

Registration

Registration materials (transcripts, course schedules, etc.) are available to all students in MySuffolk (login required) prior to faculty advising at the beginning of each term’s pre-registration.

Late Registration

Registration is closed after the first full week of classes in any semester.

Auditing a Class

In an audited course, a student will not receive credit or honor points; however, a student must pay the same tuition as if taking the course for credit. Under no circumstances may a student change from the evaluative letter grade system to audit or vice versa after the first two weeks of classes.

A student who audits a course is responsible for attending classes and completing required coursework.

Pass/Fail

Selected graduate thesis, internship, and practicum courses may be graded on a pass/fail basis. A Pass (“P”) grade may be applied toward fulfilling degree credits, but it will not be applied toward the cumulative GPA. A student who takes a course as Pass/Fail is responsible for attending classes and completing required coursework.

Add/Drop or Change of Course

Students may add, drop, or change courses online based upon availability and eligibility during the first week of the term. Any course addition after the first week must have written permission of the faculty member. Refer to the academic calendar (p. 41) for add and drop dates.

Withdrawal

See Withdrawal

Withdrawing from the University

If it becomes necessary for a student to withdraw from the University, the student is expected to complete an official withdrawal form available from the Division of Student Affairs. It is the student’s responsibility to notify the University if they plan to withdraw. If you have questions, please call the Division of Student Affairs.

Tuition liability will be based on the date in which the withdrawal form is received by the Division of Student Affairs. Non-attendance does not constitute official withdrawal or dropping of a course.

New/Incoming Students Wishing to Withdraw from All Courses Prior to the First Day of Classes or After Classes Have Started

Any new graduate student who wishes to withdraw from all courses before the start of the term, must contact Graduate Admissions: 617-573-8302.

Graduate Admissions may defer the student's enrollment for another semester.

New/incoming students who wish to withdraw from all courses after the start of classes will be placed on a leave of absence. (See "Withdrawing from Classes Once the Fall or Spring Terms Have Begun" in the student handbook.

Students on leave will be required to meet the degree requirements under which they were admitted. A leave of absence may not be used for the purpose of taking academic courses at another institution with the intent of transferring the credits to Suffolk University. A leave of absence is granted through the Division of Student Affairs. A leave of absence is granted through the Division of Student Affairs. Courses taken at other institutions while a student is on a leave of absence may not be transferred back to Suffolk University for credit. A matriculated student who does not return for reregistering at the specified semester will be classified as an official withdrawal and must apply for readmission through Graduate Admissions.

Leave of Absence

See Leave of Absence

Current/Returning Students Wishing to Take a Leave of Absence

A leave of absence may be granted for two consecutive or two non-consecutive semesters (excluding summers). A student applying for a leave of absence must provide an expected date for return. Students on leave will be required to meet the degree requirements under which they were admitted. A leave of absence may not be used for the purpose of taking academic courses at another institution with the intent of transferring the credits to Suffolk University. A leave of absence is granted through the Division of Student Affairs. Courses taken at other institutions while a student is on a leave of absence may not be transferred back to Suffolk University for credit. A matriculated student who does not return for reregistering at the specified semester will be classified as an official withdrawal and must apply for readmission through the Office of Graduate Admission.

When the student is ready to return from a leave of absence, the student is encouraged to contact their graduate program director.

 Attendance

Federal regulations require universities receiving federal funding to implement a policy monitoring student attendance in class.

Instructors are responsible for establishing the requirements for attendance and participation in each of their classes and for informing students of these requirements at the beginning of each course.

The Office of Health & Wellness Services does not excuse student absences. The student, when absent from class, has the responsibility of obtaining knowledge of materials covered in classes missed, including information about announced tests, papers, or other assignments.

 Graduation

 Time to Completion

Degree requirements for doctoral programs must be completed within eight consecutive years from the matriculation into the doctoral program. Degree requirements for all master's programs are normally completed within five years after the start of graduate work.

 Application for Degree

Students are required to submit an application for degree, available through WebAdvisor, to the Registrar’s Office by the published deadline. It is expected that all obligations to the University, both academic and financial, will be completed at the close of that semester. Failure to comply with this requirement will delay graduation and participation in commencement

 Eligibility to Participate in Commencement Exercise

In addition to those students who have completed in quality and quantity the requirements for their respective degrees, students meeting the following conditions may also participate in commencement exercises, if they:

1. Are within three courses of fulfilling their requirements.
2. Have met all other requirements for graduation (see specific programs for degree requirements).
3. In the event that a student has not completed all the required courses for graduation, he/she must arrange to complete the work outstanding in the Suffolk summer sessions immediately following graduation.
4. File the appropriate petitions in the Registrar’s office. Completed petitions will be reviewed by the Registrar and the respective dean for approval.
5. It is critical that students have the required 3.0 GPA (p. 22) (see specific programs for degree requirements) at the time of commencement in order to participate in the ceremony.

Diplomas

Suffolk University diplomas include the degree awarded. A diploma does not include concentrations. Suffolk University transcripts include information related to the student's identity and academic history at the university including any concentrations.

Refunds

Student Account Credit Refunds

Any student with an actual credit balance/overpayment on their student account is eligible to request a refund. First, check your current account balance on SU Pay. If you are showing a credit balance on your student account, you may then choose "Request a Refund" under My Finances in MySuffolk.

• If you have an eRefund account set up in SU Pay, your refund will be deposited directly into your account.
• If your refund is a paper check, it will be available for pick-up only at the Ram Registration and Financial Services Center. You will be notified via email about its availability.

- Refund requests received by mid night of Sunday will be available the following Friday. All requests received after the Sunday cutoff will be processed on the second Friday.

- Suffolk University cannot accept international wires that over pay a student account. Wires received in excess of the term balance will not be refunded to the student. Instead the wire will be rejected and returned to the original source. If you drop a course that was paid for with a wire transfer and you have a credit on your student account, that credit will be returned to the source of the wire.

- If the credit on your account is due to a Parent Plus loan, we need permission from the borrower of the loan to refund the credit to you.

- Students who have pending aid that is eligible to post to the account but have to wait till it disburses in order to request a refund, may request an advance of their aid up to $2000, providing they have this amount available to them.

- Federal Title IV Aid Recipients: Any Title IV refund that is required to be made to you will be directed to the bank account submitted with your request. If you do not have direct deposit set up, a check will be issued for pick up at the Ram Registration and Financial Services Center.

Please note: Students have the ability to request refunds without the consent of the primary bill payer.

Student Record

Change of Address/Name

Students are required to notify the Registrar of any change of home or local address within 48 hours of the effective change date or any change of legal name. Suffolk University requires that a student's legal name be used on academic records and other official University documents.

All Suffolk University students are required to provide current emergency contact information each semester and when such information changes.

Academic Record Status

Student academic records are sealed at the time the degree is conferred. After this date, changes cannot be made to majors, concentrations, incompletes, grades, or other aspects of the academic record.

Federal Title IV Refunds to Students

If you have a credit balance from the disbursement of Title IV funds to your student account at any time during the school year, Suffolk University is required by law to obtain your permission to apply the credit balance to prior year or future term charges. Learn more about the Title IV authorization and using Title IV funds toward books and supplies.

Refunds will not be available until the start of the semester for which the credit applies. To learn when your refund or advance will be available, please contact the Ram Registration and Financial Services Center.
Tuition and Fees

Some or all instruction for all or part of Academic Year may be delivered remotely. Tuition and mandatory fees have been set regardless of the method of instruction and will not be refunded in the event instruction occurs remotely for any part of the Academic Year.

Detailed Syllabus Information

Credit Hour Requirements
Suffolk University has established processes to comply with the U.S. Department of Education’s credit hour definition, according to which a credit hour “reasonably approximates no less than:

1. One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter-hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or

2. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.”

In order to support faculty and students, Suffolk has developed a University syllabus template, and we encourage all faculty to use it for their courses. Download the Syllabus Template [DOC].

NECHE Credit Hour Policy
In accordance with the U.S. Department of Education credit hour definition, the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE) publishes a Policy on Credits and Degrees [PDF].

Academic Grievances
There is a formal process CAS and SBS students must follow for grieving a grade. Faculty teaching CAS and SBS courses need to provide students with a link to the Academic Grievance Policy. Faculty teaching Law School courses should note Law School Rule III. B., which includes information on the Law School grading system.

Faculty and Staff Academic Resources
See Faculty and Staff Academic Resources

Academic Calendar
Please view the academic calendar for important dates to remember.

Center for Learning and Academic Success (CLAS)
The Center for Learning & Academic Success (CLAS) offers academic coaching and tutoring in math, writing, and English, and many other CAS and SBS courses. Students may join study groups; participate in drop-in services; or make appointments with tutors and academic coaches to reinforce course content, develop writing, and strengthen effective study habits. For a complete review of free services, workshops, and online resources, go to the CLAS webpage, call 617-573-8034, or email CLAS.

Disability Services
Statement on Accommodations for Students with Disabilities
Students who anticipate issues with the format or requirements of a course should meet with the professor to discuss ways to ensure full participation in the classroom. If a student determines they need formal, disability-related accommodations, it is very important that the student register with the Office of Disability Services, and notify the professor of their eligibility for reasonable accommodations. The professor and student can then plan how best to implement these accommodations. Students may call 617-573-8034, or email the Office of Disability Services.

International Student Services Office
International Student Services Office (ISSO), a part of the Center for International Programs and Services, provides comprehensive support to international students regarding immigration status and DHS regulatory responsibilities. International students in F-1 or J-1 status are responsible for maintaining full-time enrollment (minimum of 12 units) every semester, they are allowed to take only one (1) online class per semester, which can be count towards their full enrollment. If they don’t maintain the full time enrollment their immigration status is at risk. For more information, go to the ISSO webpage, call 617-573-8034, or email ISSO.
Moakley Archive and Institute

The Moakley Archive and Institute’s research collections explore a variety of topics and time periods including: U.S. Congressman Joe Moakley’s career, women in the French Resistance, human rights, the early history of radio, El Salvador’s civil war, and the history of Suffolk University. Located in 73 Tremont (3rd floor), the Archive provides the following services to the Suffolk Community: online access to digital collections, reference and research assistance, classroom instruction, course development grants, and other outreach services. Visit the Moakley Archive’s website or contact the Archive for more information.

Sawyer Library

The Mildred F. Sawyer Library serves the College of Arts and Sciences and the Sawyer Business School, and occupies three levels of the 73 Tremont Street (Rosalie K. Stahl Center) building. The collection includes more than 128,000 books, more than 100,000 ebooks, over 24,000 electronic journal titles, and a variety of print and computerized resources. Visit the library’s website or email the library for more info on hours, services, and links to online resources.

Technology Services

Suffolk University provides a variety of resources to support course technology:

- University Help Desk (Mon-Fri, 8:30a.m. – 8p.m.): by phone at 617-557-2000 or by email.
- For Blackboard and Collaborate assistance, please contact the 24-hour support line at 866-886-4861.
- Step-by-step Blackboard tutorials are accessible within every Blackboard course via the Bb Tutorials menu.
- On Demand Knowledge Base provides information on all other technologies that are used in courses, including teaching, learning, research and productivity tools.

Student Support Services

Counseling, Health, and Wellness

A range of issues can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, health issues, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating, lack of motivation or feeling ill. These concerns or other stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or may reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. University Counseling, Health & Wellness resources are available to help students address these and other concerns. Students can learn more about Suffolk’s broad range of confidential counseling and medical services on our webpage.

Dean of Students

The Student Affairs Office is open Monday - Friday from 8:45a.m. - 4:45p.m. Students may schedule a convenient appointment by calling the office at 617-573-8239. Or, deans are available to meet with students during open office hours: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday: 11a.m.-1p.m.; Wednesday: 11:30a.m.-1p.m. The Student Affairs Office is located at 73 Tremont Street, 12th floor.

Interfaith/Religious Life

The Interfaith Center unites the Suffolk community via: the University Chaplain; seasonal celebrations and ongoing programs and events; interfaith room where individuals and student groups of any religious tradition may gather; and two ablution areas. Contact the Interfaith Center or visit the 8th floor of Sawyer for more information.

Student Diversity and Inclusion

Center for Student Diversity & Inclusion is committed to serving students who hold historically marginalized identities and their allies. We provide an array of programs and educational opportunities to celebrate diversity and social justice. Contact the Center, visit 8th floor of Sawyer, Room 828, or visit our webpage for more information.

Resource Wallet Cards

Support resources are available for students to promote personal and academic success. Student Affairs has developed wallet cards with information for students on how to access the Counseling, Health and Wellness. The easy-to-carry cards also contain information about how to speak with a counselor 24 hours a day/7 days a week if students are in distress. Counseling, Health, and Wellness wallet cards are available at the Student Affairs Office for you to distribute in your classes. Stop by the office located on the 12th floor of 73 Tremont Street or send an email to Student Affairs.
Suffolk Cares

Staff in the Student Affairs Office are available to consult with faculty, staff, and students who may be concerned about a student for any reason. Student difficulties may appear in a variety of ways, including sporadic class or work-study attendance; distressed writings in homework assignments, or changes in behavior, appearance or personal habits. Information about the Suffolk Cares Program and an online reporting form at our webpage. Student Outreach & Support is located in the Student Affairs Office located on the 12th floor of 73 Tremont Street. They can be reached at 617.573.8239 or by email.

Chosen Name Policy

Policies Related to Courses

Attendance and Absences

A faculty member establishes the requirements for attendance and class participation for the course(s) and is responsible for informing students of the attendance policies at the beginning of each course. Please review the policy on Attendance and Absences. Students’ medical information is private. Faculty members should not request medical information such as doctors’ notes from students. Students should provide medical documentation (such as doctors’ notes) to the Student Affairs Office when absolutely necessary. The Student Affairs Office is located at 73 Tremont Street, 12th floor, and can be contacted by email or by phone at 617-573-8230. Student Affairs does not provide “excused absence” notes for students; but may, upon request, inform faculty members of absences when students have been absent for a week or longer or are experiencing a serious personal emergency.

Missed Classes/Exams for Religious Reasons

Please note that some class days fall on religious holidays. State law requires the University to permit students who miss classes, exams or assignments for religious reasons to make up the work without penalty. Please view this policy for more information.

Academic Misconduct

Academic honesty is a fundamental value of teaching, learning, and scholarship. University policy expects faculty members who suspect academic dishonesty to strictly follow the Academic Misconduct Policy for adjudication. This policy contains more information and tips on preventing academic dishonesty. Academic Honesty Policy brochures are available at the Student Affairs Office, located on the 12th floor of 73 Tremont Street, or by emailing the Student Affairs office.

Academic Complaint Policy and Grade Grievance Policy

There is a formal process students must follow for grieving a grade; please review the Academic Grievance Policy in the student handbook.

Bias Incidents and Hate Crimes

Any time students in the Suffolk University community feel belittled, disrespected, marginalized, threatened, or unsafe because of who they are, the entire University community is diminished. Suffolk University has adopted a Policy Against Bias Incidents and Hate Crimes which articulates the University's position: bias incidents and hate crimes have no place at Suffolk University and will not be tolerated. If you become aware of a bias incident or hate crime on campus, please contact SUPD immediately at 617.573.8111 or the Student Affairs Office at 617-573-8239. More information, including an online reporting form, is available online.

Early Alert

The Early Alert Program runs from week 5 through week 7. During this time, faculty will make recommendations for support services within the Center for Learning and Academic Success (CLAS) if a student is identified as struggling and needing academic support. If a student receives an Early Alert recommendation, the student should follow through on the recommended action and meet with the faculty member to discuss strategies for how to be successful in the class.

Sexual Misconduct

Suffolk University supports the rights of all employees and students to work, live, and study in an environment free from sexual coercion and violence. Sexual contact with another person without his/her consent or with the use and/or threat of force violates the standards of civility, decency, and respect expected of all members of the University community. Suffolk University prohibits nonconsensual sexual activity (including, but not limited to, sexual assault and rape) and sexual misconduct including sexually exploitative behavior, as well as sexual harassment in all forms of dating violence (including but not limited to, stalking and domestic abuse). Faculty and staff are required to report sexual misconduct, relationship violence, and stalking incidents to the University’s Title IX officer, Sheila Calkins, by email or by phone at 617-573-8027 within 24 hours of receiving information about alleged or possible sexual misconduct. For more information please go to Title IX at Suffolk.

Academic Advising

See Academic Advising

E-Checkin

Please be aware that in order for the University to have accurate student information in the unlikely case of a student or Suffolk emergency, all Suffolk students are required to complete the E-Checkin process in WebAdvisor. Students must update or confirm their local addresses and emergency contact information and acknowledge their acceptance of the policies and regulations set forth in the Suffolk University Student Handbook. For students who have not yet completed E-Checkin or are having difficulty accessing MySuffolk or Blackboard, please contact the Help Desk by email or at 617-557-2000.

Registrar

The University Registrar’s Office provides support and service to students, faculty, alumni/ae, and administrators of Suffolk University in the areas of records, registration, data reporting, transcripts, grades, graduation, as well as classroom management and scheduling. To contact the Office of the Registrar call 617-573-8430, email, or visit the 6th floor of 73 Tremont.

Undergraduate Academic Advising Center

The Undergraduate Academic Advising Center has academic advisors who support and assist students by helping them balance their personal interests with their curriculum and graduation requirements. Students may call 617-573-8034, email, or visit the 9th floor of 73 Tremont.

Suffolk Cares

Staff in the Student Affairs Office are available to consult with faculty, staff, and students who may be concerned about a student for any reason. Student difficulties may appear in a variety of ways, including sporadic class or work-study attendance; distressed writings in homework assignments, or changes in behavior, appearance or personal habits. Information about the Suffolk Cares Program and an online reporting form are available at our webpage. The number of required courses is determined by the following areas of study: Accounting, Big Data and Business Analytics, Business Economics, Corporate Accounting & Finance, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Financial Wealth Management, Global Business (requires second major), Information Systems, Management, and Marketing.

Free Electives
The number of free electives a student can take varies by major, number of transfer credits, and other factors. BSBA students must complete a minimum total of 124 credits to graduate. Students may use their free electives to minor in a business or liberal arts, take honors challenge courses, earn a second major or take courses in areas of personal interest. Many transfer students bring in credits that are applied as free electives when there is no program equivalent. Students should refer to their program evaluation for credit counts, and discuss free elective options with advisors.

Internship/Practicum Requirement
All Accounting, Big Data and Business Analytics, Corporate Accounting and Finance, Finance, Financial Wealth Management and Information Systems majors complete a required non-credit practicum. Business Economics, Entrepreneurship, Management, Marketing and Global Business majors have no required internship, however, we encourage these students to take advantage of the major elective option if they wish to receive academic credit for an internship experience. Refer to your specific major's web pages or catalog page for details. Students who wish to receive credit for a subsequent internship should ask an advisor for details.

Global Engagement Experience
The Global Engagement Experience is designed to provide students with a meaningful learning experiential interaction with community members on a global scale, who may have diverse perspectives on a particular situation or need. This requirement can be fulfilled anytime and students have two options to fulfill this requirement:

Option 1: Register for SBS-180 - Global Engagement
This zero credit course is designed for students who will fulfill their Global Engagement requirement through a variety of options. Students may choose to complete a volunteer or service project with a not-for-profit organization, an internship with a not-for-profit organization, a course that is designated as "GLOBL", or another global experiential that meets the learning goals of Global Engagement. Not all experiences will count, so students should review the learning goals related to this requirement. This noncredit course carries no academic credit, does not require any tuition, and is graded as pass/fail.

Option 2: Register for a course designated as "GLOBL"
Courses for credit that have already been approved to satisfy the Global Engagement requirement can be located by using the course search system. Enter the course type "GLOBL" and then review the course details and prerequisites as well as the location of the course (Boston or Madrid campus). Some courses involve travel, fees, off-campus activities, or other requirements. Global Travel Seminars are available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in the Sawyer Business School and require a course fee, separate from airfare. These seminars can also be located using the search above or by looking for SIB 550 courses
Credit-Bearing Options

Courses for credit that have already been approved for the Global Engagement can be located by using the course search system. Enter course type "GLOBL" and then review the course details and prerequisites as well as the location of the course (Boston or Madrid campus). Some courses involve travel and fee, off-campus activities, or other requirements.

Global Travel Seminars are available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in SBS and require a course fee, separate from airfare. These can also be located using the search above or by looking for SIB 550 courses directly.

Alternative Winter Break: Coordinated by the Center for Community Engagement. More information can be found on the Alternative Winter Break Webpage. Usually linked to a credit bearing course.

Exceptions: The following courses may NOT count towards the Global Engagement requirement: SIB-101: Globalization, MKT-220: Business Research Methods, and MGT-360: Leadership Practicum. Some courses that meet the Creativity & Innovation requirement or the Diverse Perspectives requirement, as well as courses in some majors, may double count for Global Engagement. These will be found by following the search procedure outlined above.

Local Engagement Experience

The Local Engagement Experience is designed to provide students with a learning experience in the Boston area that provides students with a meaningful interaction with community members, who may have diverse perspectives on a particular situation or need. This requirement can be fulfilled anytime and students have two options to complete this requirement:

Option 1: Register for SBS-130 Local Engagement

This zero credit course is designed for students who will fulfill their Local Engagement requirement through a variety of options. Students may choose to complete a volunteer or service project with a not-for-profit organization, an internship with a not-for-profit organization, or a course that is not designed as "LOCAL", but still meets the learning goals of Local Engagement. Not all experiences will count, so students should review the learning goals related to this requirement. This noncredit course carries no academic credit, does not require any tuition, and is graded pass/fail.

Option 2: Courses designated as "LOCAL"

Courses for credit that have already been approved for the Local Engagement requirement can be located by using the course search system. Enter the course type "LOCAL" and then review the course details and prerequisites as well as the location of the course (Boston or Madrid campus). Some courses involve off-campus activities or other requirements.

Some courses that meet the Creativity and Innovation requirement or the Diverse Perspectives requirement may double count for Local Engagement. These will be found by following the search procedure outlined above.

Non-Credit Course Options

Alternative Spring Break: Coordinated by the Center for Community Engagement. More information can be found on the Alternative Winter Break Webpage.

Exceptions: The following courses may NOT count towards the Local Engagement requirement: MGT-360: Leadership Practicum, MGT-419: Capstone Project, nor any courses required for the BSBA business core. Some courses that meet the Creativity & Innovation requirement or the Diverse Perspectives requirement may double count for Local Engagement. These will be found by following the search procedure outlined above.

Accounting

Mission

The mission of the Sawyer Business School's Accounting Department is to provide a quality accounting and tax education in contemporary subject matters, to prepare students to face challenges of a global business environment, and to appreciate the value of ethical behavior and reputation. It is our mission to earn an excellent reputation for the quality of our graduates, our teaching, and our research, as well as advance relationships within the professional communities.

Vision

The Accounting Department at Suffolk University will offer high-quality, cutting-edge, rigorous programs of instruction for undergraduate and graduate students of diverse backgrounds and interests. We will ensure our graduates are versatile and well-prepared for dynamic careers in accounting and taxation. We will support scholarly inquiry that values scholarship in all its forms including the generation of knowledge, the integration and dissemination of knowledge, creative activity, and scholarly reflection. We will inspire investment in an inclusive department that is built on ethical, forward-looking leadership, teamwork, and cooperation.

Professional Requirements

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts mandates a minimum of 120 semester hours, with specific course requirements, to sit for the Uniform CPA Exam. To apply for a CPA license, 150 semester hours are required, earned as part of a bachelor’s degree, master’s degree, or both. The Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's Degree (4+1 Program) enables students to satisfy the Massachusetts licensure educational requirements and prepares students for the successful completion of the CPA Exam and careers in accounting. Students who plan to qualify as CPAs in states other than Massachusetts should ascertain from the respective states or jurisdictions the specific requirements with which they must comply.

Suffolk’s Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's Degree prepares you for a professional career as an accountant. Our elective options are designed to prepare you for rewarding careers in various fields in addition to public accounting such as corporate accounting, international accounting, fraud investigation, tax advising, financial planning, not-for-profit accounting, and governmental accounting.

Accounting course offerings are designed to allow completion of the accounting major through part-time or full-time study, in day and evening courses.

Accounting, BSBA

Overview

The BSBA in Accounting requires completion of 24 credit hours in accounting beyond the completion of ACCT-201 Accounting for Decision Making I, and ACCT-202 Accounting for Decision Making II. A cumulative grade point average of at least 2.0 in the Accounting Major and a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 overall must be maintained to graduate.

Accounting majors must complete 160 hours of pre-professional or professional accounting experience prior to graduating.

Accounting majors are assigned a faculty advisor from the Accounting Department to assist them in planning their program of studies and advise them on academic and career matters.

Degree Requirements

Students can earn a bachelor of science in business administration with this major. See the requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree (p. 45).

Required Courses (7 courses, 21 credits)

Students are required to complete all seven (7) courses from the following list:

- ACCT-320 Federal Taxation 3
- ACCT-321 Intermediate Accounting I 3
- ACCT-322 Intermediate Accounting II 3
- ACCT-331 Cost Accounting 3
- ACCT-430 Accounting Information Systems 3
- ACCT-431 Auditing and Assurance Services 3
- ACCT-450 Accounting Theory and Practice 3

Elective Courses (1 course, 3 credits)

Select one from the following:

- ACCT-310 International Business Accounting 3
- ACCT-414 Entity Taxation 3
- ACCT-415 Not-For-Profit Accounting and Control 3
- ACCT-520 Accounting Internship 3

Required Experiential Component (Non-Credit)

All accounting majors must obtain at least 160 hours of pre-professional accounting experience prior to graduation. These hours may be accumulated through one or more of the following accounting or tax experiences: (a) internship; (b) part- or full-time employment; (c) cooperative education position; and/or (d) enrollment in Suffolk's VITA Clinic (each semester of participation will earn students 55 hours towards the 160 hour total).

To satisfy this requirement for graduation, students may register for and complete ACCT-520 (3 credit Accounting elective – see separate course description), may participate in Suffolk’s VITA Clinic (SBS-555, SBS-556, and SBS-557 – see separate course descriptions), and/or may satisfy this requirement with ACCT-560 (carries no academic credit, requires no tuition, and will be graded pass/fail. The Accounting department will register students for ACCT-560 after the 160 hours have been completed and all other requirements have been met.)

All experiences require pre-approval from either the instructor (ACCT-520 or SBS-555, SBS-556, or SBS-557) or the Accounting department. All international students must also obtain additional approval from CPT.

For any additional questions related to this requirement, please email us or see your Accounting faculty advisor.

Big Data and Business Analytics Practicum

Practical data analytics experience prepares students for real-world challenges in the workplace. All BDBA majors must complete 150 hours of approved professional information systems and big data business analytics experience before graduation. The 150 hours of work experience may be obtained in one or more positions as an intern, part- or full-time employee or volunteer. Prior approval of your position by the IS Practical Experience Coordinator is required. This is accomplished by completing the IS Practicum Approval Form.

Most students satisfy this graduation requirement by completing ISOM 560: IS Practicum, a non-credit, tuition-free, pass/fail course. Student should enroll in ISOM 560 the semester when they expect to complete their 150 hours or the subsequent semester. Students may also satisfy this practicum requirement by enrolling in ISOM 520: IS Internship (1 to 3 credits based on the number of hours worked). ISOM 520 requires junior standing and is a graded course that can only be used as a free elective (cannot be used as a major elective).

- ISOM-520 Internship in Information Systems Or, Business Analytics 0-3
- ISOM-560 Information Systems Practicum 0

Financial Planning (5 Courses, 15 Credits)

Financial Planning (FP) offers a valuable opportunity for students to pursue a career in financial planning. Financial planners analyze and provide advice on all areas of a person’s financial life: investment management, retirement planning, estate planning, income tax management and insurance. In most cases, financial planners’ analyses and recommendations are provided to clients in a written financial plan. The planner may then coordinate the implementation of the plan and periodically review it to account for changes in the client’s life and current economic conditions.

Finance majors who choose to specialize in Financial Planning complete all five (5) of the following requirements:
ACCT-320 Federal Taxation 3
FIN-313 General Insurance 3
FIN-401 Practical Financial Planning 3
FIN-424 Retirement & Estate Planning 3
FIN-475 Case Studies in Financial Planning 3

This program was approved by the Certified Financial Planner (CFP) Board. Upon completion of the program, students are entitled to take the CFP exam administered by the CFP Board, which is an integral part of the prestigious CFP certification process.

More information about the CFP exam is available.

Financial Planning, Certificate

Overview

These seven (7) FPP courses (21 credits) cover the foundation topics required by the Certified Financial Planner (CFP) Board. Students may apply for admission in fall, spring, or summer sessions. Upon completion of this certificate program, students are eligible to take the CFP Exam administered by the CFP Board, which is an integral part of the prestigious CFP certification process. More information about the CFP Exam is available at https://www.cfp.net/.

Admission to the Certificate Program in Financial Planning requires a Bachelor’s degree from an accredited institution. Students applying for admission should contact the Undergraduate Admission Office at 617-573-8460, for more information. Those who have already taken any of the required courses for this certificate from an accredited institution may waive a maximum of three (3) courses.

Certificate Requirements (21-32 Credits)

This non-degree program is offered as a flexible and affordable program for working professionals whose responsibilities are currently or expected to be related to financial planning. This certificate program requires the completion of seven (7) courses (provided that the students demonstrate proficiency in prerequisites) with a “Pass” grade.

Required Courses (7 courses, 21 credits)

It should be noted that FPP-200 Business Finance is an introduction to finance. It has three (3) prerequisites: 1) MATH-128 or higher; 2) ACCT-201; and 3) STATS-240 or STATS-250 (either STATS course is acceptable, and the STATS requirement is a co-requisite that may be taken concurrently with FPP-200).

Students may waive the FPP-200 prerequisites, or any of the required courses, provided they have completed applicable undergraduate coursework within the eligible timeframe and/or have applicable industry experience. Students may waive up to a maximum of three (3) courses within the certificate requirements.

Global Business

Global Business, BSBA

Overview

The BSBA in Global Business requires the completion of 15-18 credits of Global Business courses, plus 18-24 credits of the functional major. Global Business majors are assigned a faculty advisor to assist them in planning their program of study and advise them on academic and career matters. All changes to the Global Business Program of Study must be approved by the Director of the Global Business Program. Please note that Global Business freshman and sophomore, courses as part of the General Education requirements in this program, differ from the other Business majors.

Degree Requirements

Students can earn a bachelor of science in business administration with this major. See the requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree (p. 45).

Functional Major Courses (6-8 courses, 18-24 credits)

Students are required to specialize in one discipline (Accounting, Business Economics, Big Data and Business Analytics, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Information Systems, Management, Marketing, or Wealth Management). Students will take the major required and major elective courses as specified by the academic department concerned, which may include experiential components.

At least one (1) of the Global Business elective courses listed above may be double counted toward the Global Business major and the functional major, as long as it was also available as a course for the functional major.

Language Requirement

Students must demonstrate competence equivalent to completing the second semester level of college instruction in French, Spanish, Portuguese, German, Mandarin Chinese, Russian, Japanese, Korean, Italian or Arabic. Besides taking two beginning semesters, 101 and 102, of a language, students can also demonstrate language competence by completing one (1) of the following:

- Passing an Advanced Placement (AP) test and at a level Suffolk recognizes as credit for a second semester language
- Passing one semester of a language (not literature) course at the 102 or higher level
- By demonstrating proficiency through conversation with a professor in the Business School who is a native speaker of that language (students must arrange this by contacting the Director of the Global Business Program. Students choosing this do not get academic credit for waiving the language requirement but can take Free Electives instead of the language courses if the student will not have the total number of credits required to graduate. See below for a list of Recommended Free Electives).

Travel Requirement SIB-560 (Non-Credit)

(No credits can be specifically assigned. It is a pre-professional experience.)

All Global Business majors are required to participate in overseas work or study as part of their major. This requirement may be satisfied by completing a minimum of one travel seminar, a semester study abroad, or, with prior permission from the Director of the Global Business Program, a Global Business Internship abroad. Students must register for the zero-credit course SIB-560 Global Travel Requirement in the semester in which they plan to complete their travel.

- A minimum 2.5 GPA is required for travel seminars and study abroad experience
- Only one travel seminar may be used as a Global Business major elective while also fulfilling the SIB-560 requirement. Additional travel seminars will not count towards GB major electives but may be used as free elective credit. Both SIB-550 and SIB-400 count as a travel seminar

- Study abroad involves enrollment in semester-long or summer session courses at either Suffolk’s Madrid campus or at one of the programs open to Suffolk students at other institutions. All study abroad must be pre-approved by the Undergraduate Academic Advising Center. If a student plans to substitute a course taken at another university for a Suffolk requirement, it must be approved by the Program Director or Department Chair for the required course. Students may participate in more than one study abroad opportunity. Students interested in study abroad should plan to do so during their sophomore year, or the fall of their junior year.

- With prior permission from the Director of the Global Business Program, students may also fulfill the travel requirement through a Global Business Internship. Two options are available: the three-credit course SIB-520 Global Business Internship, and an internship without academic credit, by registering for SIB-560. The internship must take place outside the student’s primary country of residence—so students who are not primary residents of the U.S. (who have an F or J student visa) can pursue their internships in the U.S. Students are responsible for identifying and securing acceptance to the internship, which must be a minimum of 100 hours. For both SIB-560 and SIB-520 internships, a student must submit to the Global Business Director all of the following:
  - A Sponsor Agreement form signed by a representative of the internship organization prior to starting the internship
  - A letter describing the student's activities and responsibilities from the organization sponsoring the internship
  - The student's internship must be a business function such as marketing, finance, or accounting. Teaching, updating websites, or sales are examples which do not qualify as business major activities for satisfying this requirement
  - Only one SIB-520 internship course may also be used as a Global Business major elective
  - The work time required for a Global Business internship cannot also be used to fulfill the requirement for an internship course in another department, as FIN-560 or ISOM-560. In other words, hours worked cannot be double counted.

Students can work at the same organization for both the Global Business internship and the internship in another department, e.g. FIN-560. However, the number of hours worked at this organization must be equal to or greater than the addition of both the 100 hours required for the Global Business Internship and the number of hours required for the other department. Students who register for SIB-520 to fulfill the travel requirement should simultaneously register for SIB-560.

Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Objectives
Upon completion of the program, each student should be able to...
- Articulate and demonstrate understanding of global business strategies.
- Demonstrate understanding of global competitive environments and global competitive dynamics.
- Articulate and differentiate the means of entry into, and exit from, foreign marketplaces, including acquisition and divestiture, strategic alliances, and greenfield investment.
- Understand how to manage an international business.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the management of cultural differences in a global business setting.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the means of trade, trade theories, policies and the WTO's role in fair trade.
- Understand what FDI is, and how it differs from trade.
- Demonstrate an ability to use exchange rates, and understand what determines them.
- Understand how different country laws, economic policies, and politics affect doing business across borders.

Innovation Strategy Minor
Overview
Innovation Strategy minor offers a unique perspective to view technological innovation from conception, adoption, and diffusion. Students will learn how to develop innovation strategy that firms can use to generate superior return from researching, developing and capitalizing on innovation. This minor complements product-focused courses and dives deeper into the process of technological innovation. This minor adds value to students aspiring for a career in technology companies or building a technology start-up.

Additional Major Information

Some major courses are offered only once during an academic year. It is the student's responsibility to work with their Academic Advisor to develop a program of study that ensures courses are taken in the proper sequence and all prerequisites are satisfied. The IS major consists of four (4) required and three (3) elective courses. Six (6) of the seven (7) major courses must be ISOM department courses. Students may transfer a maximum of two (2) courses towards their IS major of which no more than one is a major required course. Prior approval is required for using a non-ISOM course as a major elective.

Information Systems Practicum

Practical information systems experience prepares students for real-world challenges in the workplace. All IS majors must complete 150 hours of approved professional information systems experience before graduation. The 150 hours of work experience may be obtained in one or more positions as an intern, part- or full-time employee or volunteer. Prior approval of your position by the IS Practical Experience Coordinator is required. This is accomplished by completing the IS Practicum Approval Form.

Most students satisfy this graduation requirement by completing ISOM-560: IS Practicum, a non-credit, tuition-free, pass/fail course. Students should enroll in ISOM-560 the semester when they expect to complete their 150 hours or the subsequent semester. Students may also satisfy this practicum requirement by enrolling in ISOM-520: IS Internship (1 to 3 credits based on the number of hours worked). ISOM-520 requires junior standing and is a graded course that can only be used as a free elective.

Learning Goals and Objectives
Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will...

- Understand the methods of collecting, processing and analyzing marketing information to make informed marketing decisions.

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of the program, each student should be able to...

- Identify the marketing research steps in the correct order.
  Step 1: Define research problem
  Step 2: Determine research design (approaches)
  Step 3: Develop data collection instruments (e.g. measurement scales and questionnaire)
  Step 4: Determine sampling methods
  Step 5: Analyze data
  Step 6: Describe research results
- Demonstrate ability to choose appropriate research design for given marketing research study parameters.
  For example: Exploratory Research, Descriptive Research, and Causal Research.
- Demonstrate ability to apply appropriate statistical analysis method.
- Identify Relevant Marketing Environment Factor Analysis.
- Identify associated trends for each relevant factor.
- Understand implications of the environmental scan for marketing strategy, in terms of segmentation, targeting, and positioning (STP).
- Implement the strategy in the form of the 4Ps (Product, Price, Place, Promotion).

First-Year Writing: 1-3 courses, 4-12 credits

A student may be assigned to a first Writing course other than WRI-101. Qualified students are invited to take WRI-H103. Students not eligible for direct entry into WRI-101 must complete WRI-100+ prior to enrolling in WRI-101. Through directed self-placement, a student may also opt to complete the developmental writing course WRI-100 before enrolling in WRI-101.

Students must complete one of the following tracks:

Track 1: 2 courses, 8 credits
- WRI-101     First-Year Writing I                  4
- WRI-102     First-Year Writing II                 4

Track 4: 1 course, 4 credits
- WRI-H103    Advanced First-Year Writing          4

Note: WRI-H103 is by invitation only.
Creativity and Innovation: 1 course, 3 credits

In this course students will be introduced to the practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to problem solving requiring research, persistence and grit. Students will work collaboratively to effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and skill sets in original ways. They will embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

Note: Students with 30+ transfer credits are exempt from this requirement.

Modern Language: 0-2 courses, 0-8 credits

A student may fulfill the modern language requirement in one of the following ways:

1. Complete a language course at the level of 102. It may be necessary to complete 101 before taking 102.

2. Complete an advanced language course at the level of 201 or above, including a course offered through a study abroad program or in a format that ‘meets together’ with an English-language version of a course.
3. Earn a sufficient score on an AP examination. Information on test scores is available through Admissions.

4. Earn a sufficient score on the SAT Subject Test.

5. Earn a score of 1+ on the ACTFL Writing Proficiency Test in any language other than English to waive the requirement. Waiving the requirement does not earn credits.

6. Provide a transcript from a high school in which most classes were conducted in a language other than English to waive the requirement. Waiving the requirement does not earn credits.

Note: WRI-H103 is by invitation only.

Creativity and Innovation: 1 course, 3 credits

In this course, students will be introduced to the practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to problem solving requiring research, persistence and grit. Students will work collaboratively to effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and skill sets in original ways. They will embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

Note: Students with 30+ transfer credits are exempt from this requirement.

Courses that fulfill the Creativity and Innovation, First-Year Seminar, Humanities/History, Language, Literature, Quantitative Reasoning, Social Science, or VPATH requirements may double count to fulfill the Social, Cultural, and Global Perspectives (SCGP) requirement.

Science, Technology, and Engineering (STE): 2 courses, at least one with a laboratory, 8 credits

Choose two STE (Science, Technology, and Engineering) courses, at least one with a corresponding laboratory, from those listed below. Courses do not need to be in a sequence. In the case of a course that is a lecture plus a lab, the student must complete both components to earn credit for the STE requirement.

Biology:
- BIO-104 Environmental Biology 3
- BIO-L104 Environmental Bio Lab 1
- BIO-105 Humans and the Evolutionary Perspective 4
- BIO-111 Introduction to the Cell 3

First-Year Writing: 1-3 courses, 4-12 credits

A student may be assigned to a first Writing course other than WRI-101. Qualified students are invited to take WRI-H103. Students not eligible for direct entry into WRI-101 must complete WRI-100+ prior to enrolling in WRI-101. Through directed self-placement, a student may also opt to complete the developmental writing course WRI-100 before enrolling in WRI-101.

Students must complete one of the following tracks:

Creativity and Innovation: 1 course, 3 credits

In this course students will be introduced to the practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to problem solving requiring research, persistence and grit. Students will work collaboratively to effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and skill sets in original ways. They will embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

Note: Students with 30+ transfer credits are exempt from this requirement.

First-Year Writing: 1-3 courses, 4-12 credits

A student may be assigned to a first Writing course other than WRI-101. Qualified students are invited to take WRI-H103. Students not eligible for direct entry into WRI-101 must complete WRI-100+ prior to enrolling in WRI-101. Through directed self-placement, a student may also opt to complete the developmental writing course WRI-100 before enrolling in WRI-101.

Students must complete one of the following tracks:

Modern Language: 0-2 courses, 0-8 credits
A student may fulfill the modern language requirement in one of the following ways:

1. Complete a language course at the level of 102. It may be necessary to complete 101 before taking 102.

2. Complete an advanced language course at the level of 201 or above, including a course offered through a study abroad program or in a format that ‘meets together’ with an English-language version of a course.

3. Earn a sufficient score on an AP examination. Information on test scores is available through Admissions.

4. Earn a sufficient score on the SAT Subject Test.

5. Earn a score of 1+ on the ACTFL Writing Proficiency Test in any language other than English to waive the requirement. Waiving the requirement does not earn credits.

6. Provide a transcript from a high school in which most classes were conducted in a language other than English to waive the requirement. Waiving the requirement does not earn credits.

Bachelor of Fine Arts, BFA
All BFA degree programs require the successful completion of the following:

- Core Requirements: 13-15 courses, 49-58 credits
- Minimum Total Credits Required for Degree Conferral: 124 credits

First-Year Experience: 2 courses, 6 credit
Please note that not all courses are offered each semester. Students should contact their advisor to learn about current course offerings.

- WRI-102 First-Year Writing II 4

Track 4: 1 course, 4 credits
- WRI-H103 Advanced First-Year Writing 4

Note: WRI-H103 is by invitation only.

Creativity and Innovation: 1 course, 3 credits

In this course, students will be introduced to the practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to problem solving requiring research, persistence and grit. Students will work collaboratively to effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and skill sets in original ways. They will embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

The Creativity and Innovation requirement is satisfied by the completion of the BFA Foundation Studies requirement of ADF-S171 or ADF-S172:
- ADF-S171 CI: Integrated Studio I 3
- ADF-S172 CI: Integrated Studio II 3

Bachelor of General Studies, BGS

Overview

The Bachelor of General Studies (BGS) degree is an alternative to the traditional department-centered baccalaureate program. A student follows the core requirements of the Bachelor of Science degree (p. 131) and then takes 44 hours within one of the five interdepartmental clusters -- Humanities, Social Sciences, Life Sciences, Physical Sciences, or Visual Arts -- in place of a single departmental concentration.

The degree is designed principally to meet the needs of transfer students and adult learners returning to college.
after an absence of several years. The degree allows the student with an eclectic set of transfer credits to earn a bachelor’s degree. The BGS is not appropriate for most students planning to go on to graduate or professional study. A student seeking a BGS should consult with the Office of Undergraduate Admission and a department chair in the proposed Interdepartmental Cluster prior to enrolling in this degree program.

Composition of the Interdepartmental Clusters:

Humanities:
- Communication, Journalism & Media
- Theatre
- English
- History, Language & Global Culture
- Philosophy
- Women’s & Gender Studies (courses with a humanities focus)

Social Sciences:
- Advertising, Public Relations & Social Media
- Economics
- Education Studies
- Environmental Studies
- History
- Political Science
- Psychology
- Sociology & Criminal Justice
- Women’s & Gender Studies (courses with a social science focus)

Life Sciences:
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Radiation Science

Physical Sciences:
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Environmental Science
- Mathematics
- Physics

Visual Arts:
- Art Foundation Studies
- Art History
- Graphic Design
- Interior Design
- Studio Art

Bachelor of Science, BS

All BS degree programs require the successful completion of the following:
- Core Requirements: 14-16 courses, 50-60 credits
- Major Requirements Minimum: 8 courses, 32 credits
- Complementary Major Requirements, Minor Requirements, and Free Electives: credit varies
- Minimum Total Credits Required for Degree Conferral: 126 credits

Note: Core Requirements may also count toward major if taken at appropriate level

First-Year Experience: 1 course, 1 credit

Students with 15+ transfer credits of college or university work are exempt.

Choose one of the following to be completed during the first semester of matriculation:
- CAS-101 Strategies of Success 1
- ADPR-102 Professional Development 1

First-Year Seminar: 1 course, 4 credits

Students with 15+ transfer credits of college or university work are exempt. Please note that not all courses are offered each semester. Students should contact their advisor to learn about current course offerings.

Creativity and Innovation: 1 course, 3 credits

In this course students will be introduced to the practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to problem solving requiring research, persistence and grit. Students will work collaboratively to effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and skill sets in original ways. They will embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

Note: Students with 30+ transfer credits are exempt from this requirement.

Courses that fulfill the Creativity and Innovation, First-Year Seminar, Humanities/History, Language, Literature, Quantitative Reasoning, Social Science, or VPATH requirements may double count to fulfill the Social, Cultural, and Global Perspectives (SCGP) requirement.

Science, Technology, and Engineering (STE): 2 courses, at least one with a laboratory, 8 credits

Choose two STE (Science, Technology, and Engineering) courses, at least one with a corresponding laboratory, from those listed below. Courses do not need to be in a sequence. In the case of a course that is a lecture plus a lab, the student must complete both components to earn credit for the STE requirement.

Biology:
- BIO-104 Environmental Biology 3
- BIO-L104 Environmental Bio Lab 1
- BIO-105 Humans and the Evolutionary Perspective 4
- BIO-111 Introduction to the Cell 3
- BIO-L111 Introduction to the Cell Laboratory 1

Advertising Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational... outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

Students will...

Be prepared for careers in advertising, marketing communication, and related fields, as well as for graduate study.

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Identify and use key terms and concepts in advertising
- Develop an understanding of the process and practice of advertising
- Investigate the impact of target markets and market segmentation on advertising
- Analyze the social, economic and cultural impact of advertising
- Develop a media plan for an advertising campaign
- Create, develop, research, present and justify an advertising campaign
- Develop advertising messages that are persuasive and ethical
- Use social media as part of an advertising campaign
- Construct and deliver a presentation

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.3 or higher
3. Complete ADPR-H457 or ADPR-H506 with a minimum grade of B+
4. Pass an oral presentation of their work
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.3 or higher
3. Have completed a minimum of 7 ADPR courses
4. Receive an invitation to take ADPR-H457 or ADPR-H506 from the honors coordinator before advising

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's in Communication

Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet all the requirements of an undergraduate major offered by the department of Advertising, Public Relations, & Social Media or the department of Communication, Journalism, & Media.
2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master’s degree in Communication.
3. Students will take two Communication graduate courses during their senior year; one during the fall semester and one during the spring semester. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.
4. The graduate courses taken during the senior year will be determined by the Communication graduate program director.
5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree... requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Degree Requirements - 126 credits

Students can earn a Bachelor of Arts degree (p. 115) with this major

Art History Major Requirements: 11 courses, 39-40
Credits

Core Requirements (3 courses, 9 credits)
ARH-101 Art History I 4
ARH-102 Art History II 4
CAS-201 College to Career: Explore Your Options, and Find Your Path 1

Studio Art Requirement (1 course, 3 credits)
Choose one of the following:

• Any Foundation studio course (ADF-S)
• Any Fine Arts studio course (ADFA-S)

Art History Electives (7 courses, 27-28 credits)
Choose seven electives, one of which must be an ARH 400-level seminar or ARH-H555, Art History Honors Thesis. Electives must include at least one course in groups A, B, and C

A) Ancient Through 18th Century Art
ARH-205 Gender, Class and Alterity in Ancient, and Medieval Art 4
ARH-303 Art of the Early Renaissance in Italy 4
ARH-304 Art in the Age of Michelangelo: The High and Late Renaissance in Italy 4
ARH-308 Art of the Baroque & Rococo 4
ARH-312 Art of the Northern Renaissance 4
ARH-404 Seminar in Art History: Caravaggio 4
ARH-406 Seminar in Art History: Bernini 4

B) 19th Century Through Contemporary Art
ARH-309 Art of the 19th Century 4
ARH-310 Modernism in Art 4
ARH-311 American Art 4
ARH-316 Contemporary Art 4
ARH-318 Art and Museums Today 4
ARH-321 Women, Art and Society 4
ARH-411 Seminar in Art History: Impressionism 4

C) Non-Western Art
ARH-203 Arts of Asia 4
ARH-206 Global Cross-Cultural Perspectives in, Art

Notes:
- One elective course may be in related areas of visual culture such as the philosophy of art, photojournalism, advertising, and cinema. A relevant First-Year Seminar with a strong concentration in art history or visual culture may also count as an elective at the discretion of the program director:
  - ADPR-257 Advertising I: Foundations 4
  - ARH-290 Internship in Art History 1-4
  - CIN-152 Visual Aesthetics 4
  - CIN-L218 Photojournalism 4
  - FR-220 French & Francophone Cinema 4
  - PHIL-219 Philosophy of Art 4

- Upper-level Art History courses taken at other institutions or through study abroad must be approved by the program director and must not overlap significantly with any other upper-level Art History course(s) counted toward the major.
- AP credit cannot be applied toward the major.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Art History Major Learning Goals and Objectives
Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will know/understand...

- The important roles that the visual arts have played in society

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Demonstrate awareness of the multiple purposes visual arts have played in different cultures and periods

- GENRE: know the traditional aims and conventions of the major types or genres of work produced in the historical and regional contexts covered by the course (e.g. Renaissance status portraits, Gothic cathedrals); and articulate how a given work or monument sustains, transforms, or breaks those conventions in the pursuit of its particular aims

- FORM/STYLE: thoroughly and accurately perceive the media, techniques, and formal elements of a given work (composition, texture, scale, etc.); use appropriate technical vocabulary for describing them (contrapposto, nave, painterly brushwork); and relate them to the contextual meaning/purpose and expressive content of the work

- CONTEXT: relate works to the ideas and practices of their original contexts (social, cultural, political, religious, etc.); and account for how a given work sought to affect or influence the ideas and practices of its original context

- Analyze works of art seen in person at local museums and galleries using course-acquired knowledge and skills

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.7 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete ARH-H555 with a grade of A- or above
4. Complete an 18-page minimum guided research paper in ARH-H555
5. Make a formal oral presentation to the Art History faculty and other invited members of the Suffolk community
6. CAS Honors Program students only: Present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.7 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Have completed a minimum of 27 credits in the major
4. Apply to the honors coordinator by March 1st of junior year

Know the Fundamentals of Chemistry and Biochemistry
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of inorganic chemistry (electronic structure, physical and chemical properties, bonding, inorganic chemical reactions and analyses, stoichiometric relations between reactants)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of organic chemistry (structure and bonding in organic molecules; acid/base properties of molecules and how they affect reactivity; organic mechanisms, predict outcomes/routes; spectral analysis (IR, NMR, MS); green chemistry)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of analytical chemistry (collect and analyze data from analytical instrumentation including spectrometric instruments (UV-vis, NMR, infrared ATR-FTIR, fluorometer); chromatographic instruments (GC); and electroanalytical instrumentation (potentiometry))
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of physical chemistry (quantum chemistry; molecular spectroscopy; statistical thermodynamics; laws of thermodynamics; spontaneity; chemical and physical equilibria; chemical kinetics; advanced theories of reaction rates)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of biochemistry (structure/function of amino acids, proteins, enzymes, carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids; protein folding, regulation; enzyme kinetics, inhibition, thermodynamics; bioinformatics)
Know advanced biochemistry concepts
- Demonstrate mastery of the concepts of metabolism, including its regulation, integration, and compartmentalization
- Demonstrate mastery of cellular bioenergetics including cellular respiration, electron transport, chemical and proton gradients, and energy coupling

Honors
To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete CHEM-H429
4. Complete a final project involving original independent laboratory or field research and/or in-depth analysis that is approved by the major department and research advisor
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Apply to the departmental honors committee and an advisor(s) by submitting an independent project proposal for pre-approval by October of senior year

Organismic Structure and Function Requirement (1 course, 4 credits)
Choose one of the following and its corresponding laboratory where applicable from the Organismic Structure and Function division:
- BIO-203 Anatomy and Physiology I
- BIO-L203 Anatomy & Physiology Lab I
- BIO-204 Anatomy and Physiology II
- BIO-L204 Anatomy & Physiology Lab II
- BIO-225 Plant Biology
- BIO-L225 Plant Biology Laboratory
- BIO-233 Human Nutrition
- BIO-304 Comparative Animal Physiology
- BIO-L304 Comp Animal Physiology Lab

Electives (3 courses, 10-12 credits)
Choose three Biology course electives and their corresponding laboratories where applicable. Any of the courses listed above may be taken as an elective if another course is taken to fulfill the division requirement. If a student chooses one of the concentrations, the concentration requirements will fulfill these elective courses.

Additional elective options are:
- BIO-273 Biostatistics
- BIO-503 Biology Internship
- BIO-H503 Biology Internship
- BIO-510 Independent Study
- BIO-H510 Honors Biology Independent Study
- CHEM-331 Biochemistry I
- CHEM-L331 Biochemical Techniques Lab
- UES-410 Marine Biogeochemistry

Notes:
- BIO-503, BIO-H503, BIO-510, and BIO-H510 must be taken for a minimum of 3 credits to count as a major elective
- Transfer students wishing to major in Biology must meet the residency requirement plus complete senior seminar in Biology at Suffolk University with a minimum grade point average of 2.0.
Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Understand how genetic information is transmitted and regulated

- Describe how information is transferred from DNA to RNA, and from RNA to protein
- Explain some of the exceptions to the ‘central dogma’ described above
- Describe how information in DNA is transmitted during cell division
- Describe how cells maintain the integrity of their genetic information
- Explain how information is passed from parent to offspring, by both Mendelian and non-Mendelian mechanisms
- Explain how phenotypes and genotypes are related, including how this relationship is influenced by environmental factors
- Identify the levels at which gene expression can be regulated
- Explain how transcription of genes is regulated
- Explain how protein activity is regulated by intracellular and extra-cellular signaling molecules
- Identify the chemical structures and physical characteristics of the molecules of life, including carbohydrates, lipids, nucleic acids and amino acids.
- Explain how the structure of DNA is important for its information storage and transmission functions.
- Explain how protein structure is influenced by the chemical characteristics of amino acids and the cellular environment.
- Explain how protein function is related to structure, and how function can be regulated through reversible alterations of structure e.g. phosphorylation.
- Explain how membrane structure allows for compartmentalization in both prokaryotes and eukaryotes, and how this compartmentalization contributes to cellular functions.
- Explain how the structure of a cell – its shape, and polarity – relates to its function.
Understand that energy can be changed from one form to another, and that chemical energy can be used by cells to drive energetically demanding activities necessary for life.

- Compare and contrast biologically relevant forms of energy (e.g., kinetic energy vs. potential energy, energy stored in bonds vs. potential energy of concentration gradients).
- Identify biomolecules that are commonly used to store and transfer energy in cells.
- Explain how enzymes alter the energetics of biochemical reactions.
- Differentiate between catabolic pathways that break down molecules in cells, and anabolic pathways that form biological molecules.
- Describe the basic mechanisms of cellular metabolic function, including cellular respiration and photosynthesis.

Understand the process of, and evidence for, evolution.

- Distinguish between the mechanisms of evolutionary change.
- Evaluate how mechanisms of evolution lead to speciation and the diversity of life.
- Examine how the classification of organisms reflects their evolutionary history.
- Assess how stochastic events and abiotic factors have influenced the history of life on Earth.
- Explain the connection between genetic inheritance and evolution.
Understand the basic principles of ecology
- Evaluate the importance of species interactions and trophic relationships for shaping population growth and community structure
- Identify and assess through field exercises several measures that describe an ecosystem (e.g., biodiversity, productivity, trophic dynamics)
- Explain how plant and animal communities change through time (e.g., succession) following natural environmental disturbances
- Assess how human activities affect the distribution and abundance of species and how ecosystems function

Understand organismal structure and function
- Assess the environmental challenges faced by organisms and the adaptations they have to address them
- Evaluate the structural, physiological, and/or biochemical adaptations of organisms
- Appraise how the structure of an adaption and/or molecule reflects its function

Understand how to pursue a career in the biological sciences
- Appraise their technical and interpersonal skills and qualities
- Effectively search for and locate pertinent internships and jobs
- Assess their qualifications in relation to an internship and/or job description
- Prepare job application materials including a resume and cover letter
- Conduct a mock interview

Honors
To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Complete BIO-H555
3. Complete an independent project in BIO-H503 or BIO-H510 or an equivalent summer research experience that has been pre-approved by the departmental honors committee. Students must submit an application to the committee and their faculty research advisor or BIO-H503 faculty supervisor for pre-approval
4. Students have the option to write a thesis in BIO-H555 that is approved by the thesis advisor and the departmental honors committee and give an oral presentation on completed research in BIO-H555. Thesis work is required to involve original research or an in-depth analysis based on work completed in BIO-H503 or BIO-H510
5. Thesis students will present research at the Eastern New England Biology Conference, the Chemistry Talks, or as a guest speaker in an upper level course focused on the area of their research
6. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Apply to the honors coordinator by submitting an application form no later than May 15th of junior year. Notification of tentative acceptance will be sent to students on May 31st
4. Submit a detailed outline (August 25th for summer research or December 10th for fall research) in order to receive acceptance into the program by January 10th

Biology Minor

Biology Minor Requirements: 6 courses, 22-24 credits

Core Requirements (2 courses with corresponding laboratories, 8 credits)
- BIO-111 Introduction to the Cell 3
- BIO-L111 Introduction to the Cell Laboratory 1
- BIO-114 Organismal Biology 3
- BIO-L114 Organismal Biology Laboratory 1

Electives (4 courses with corresponding laboratories where applicable, 14-16 credits)
The following courses will NOT count toward a minor in Biology because they are non-major's courses. Choose any Biology course except:
- BIO-104 Environmental Biology 3
- BIO-L104 Environmental Bio Lab 1
- BIO-105 Humans and the Evolutionary Perspective 4
- BIO-H105 Honors Humans and the Evolutionary, Perspective 4
- BIO-H107 The Curiosity of Cats, the Devotion of, Dogs 4
- BIO-201 Biology's Big Questions 4

Note: BIO-503, BIO-H503, BIO-510, BIO-H510 must be taken for a minimum of 3 credits to count as a major elective

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Minor Programs Policy: A student declaring a minor may use no more than two courses from a major or double major combination to fulfill the requirements for the minor. No more than one course from one minor may count toward the fulfillment of a second minor. Students may not minor in a subject in which they are also completing a major. For more information, see the Minor Programs section of the CAS Degree Requirements page.

Honor Society

Beta Beta Beta Biological Honor Society

Beta Beta Beta is an honor and professional society primarily for students of the biological sciences. Its goals include promoting student research, publication, and exposure to current biological scholarship and career possibilities. Regular membership is offered to majors in the biological sciences who have completed at least one term of the sophomore year (including three Biology courses) with a 3.0 average in Biology and an overall average of 2.75. Associate membership is open to any interested undergraduate.

Black Studies

Black Studies Minor

Black Studies Minor Requirements: 5 courses, 20 credits

Core Requirements (2 courses, 8 credits)
- BLKST-100 Introduction to Black Studies I: Survey, of the Discipline 4
- BLKST-101 Introduction to Black Studies II, Research and Writing 4

Electives (3 courses, 12 credits)
Choose three of the following. No more than two may be taken from any one department outside of Black Studies:
- BLKST-225 West African History: Through Film and, Literature 4
- BLKST-226 The African American Experience in, Literature and Film 4
- ENG-357 African-American Literature 4
- HST-271 African-American History 4
- HST-272 African-American History from 1860 4
Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Minor Programs Policy: A student declaring a minor may use no more than two courses from a major or double major combination to fulfill the requirements for the minor. No more than one course from one minor may count toward the fulfillment of a second minor. Students may not minor in a subject in which they are also completing a major. CAS Honors Scholars
CAS Honors Scholars Program

Requirements
To achieve graduation as a CAS Honors Scholar, a student must maintain a 3.5 GPA and must complete the following requirements:

1. Complete a minimum of 26 credits at the honors level, including CAS-H101 (1 credit).

2. Students may substitute alternative experiences toward honors requirements as follows:
   - Study away for a maximum of one semester: equivalent of 4 honors credits
   - Study away for one to three weeks for a maximum of two times: equivalent of 1 honors credit
   - Service to honors program as an Honors Council E-Board member (equivalent of 1 honors credit per term served for up to 4 terms) or Honors Ambassador (equivalent of 1 honors credit per 25 hours served for up to 100 hours)

3. In the final two years of study, make an individual presentation at the Honors Symposium.

Maintaining Eligibility in the Honors Program
To remain in good standing as an Honors Scholar, a student must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.5 GPA and must have no grades of D, F, or I. Students must also demonstrate progress to completion of honors requirements. Finally honors students must be in good standing with Suffolk University and have no disciplinary actions with the Dean of Students’ Office. To maintain good standing, students must also be in compliance with the Academic Misconduct Policy.

CAS Self-Designed Major
CAS Self-Designed Major, BA, BS

Degree Requirements - 126 credits

Students can earn a Bachelor of Arts degree (p. 115) or a Bachelor of Science degree (p. 131) with this major

A CAS Self-Designed Major must satisfy the following criteria:

1. The major must meet the requirements of a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree

2. The major must be at least 40 credits

3. The major must draw upon courses from at least two departments or distinct programs (as defined by the double major policy)

4. The major must be sufficiently unique at Suffolk: it should not duplicate or approximate an experience that may be created through a double major and/or addition of one or more minors

5. The major must demonstrate sufficient coursework at the foundational level

6. The major must demonstrate sufficient coursework at the advanced level

7. The major must include coursework that imparts methodological and theoretical underpinning appropriate to the major

8. The major may include up to 4 credits of an internship course

9. The major may include up to 8 credits of independent study

10. The major must include completion of an interdisciplinary senior capstone project

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Chemistry, BA, BS

Degree Requirements - 126 credits

Students can earn a Bachelor of Arts degree (p. 115) or a Bachelor of Science degree (p. 131) with this major
Elective (1 lecture course and 1 lab, 4 credits)
Students are required to take one course of in-depth study, with an additional credit of laboratory. These courses are not offered every year, and careful consultation with an academic advisor is recommended.

Choose one of the following applicable lecture courses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

| Know problem-solving and critical thinking | - Define a problem clearly and develop a testable hypothesis
- Analyze data and perform calculations
- Draw conclusions |
| Know scientific information literacy | - Retrieve information from library and journal search engines (e.g. SciFinder, PubMed, Google Scholar)
- Critically analyze and/or discuss literature |
| Know laboratory skills | - Synthesize, separate, and characterize compounds
- Carry out an experiment precisely and accurately using the appropriate instrumentation
- Record results in a laboratory notebook
- Work safely in the laboratory |
| Know effective written and oral communication skills | - Prepare and present a scientific poster
- Prepare and present formal oral scientific presentation
- Write a paper in the style of a professional scientific journal |
| Understand scientific ethics | - Avoid plagiarism (including self-plagiarism)
- Cite scientific literature appropriately
- Follow ethical guidelines when keeping a laboratory notebook |
Know the Fundamentals of Chemistry and Biochemistry

- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of inorganic chemistry (electronic structure, physical and chemical properties, bonding, inorganic chemical reactions and analyses, stoichiometric relations between reactants)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of organic chemistry (structure and bonding in organic molecules; acid/base properties of molecules and how they affect reactivity; organic mechanisms, predict outcomes/routes; spectral analysis (IR, NMR, MS); green chemistry)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of analytical chemistry (collect and analyze data from analytical instrumentation including spectrometric instruments (UV-vis, NMR, infrared ATR-FTIR, fluorometer); chromatographic instruments (GC); and electroanalytical instrumentation (potentiometry))
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of physical chemistry (quantum chemistry; molecular spectroscopy; statistical thermodynamics; laws of thermodynamics; spontaneity; chemical and physical equilibria; chemical kinetics; advanced theories of reaction rates)
- Demonstrate mastery of the fundamentals of biochemistry (structure/function of amino acids, proteins, enzymes, carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids; protein folding, regulation; enzyme kinetics, inhibition, thermodynamics; bioinformatics)

Know advanced chemistry concepts

- Apply advanced theories of bonding to the structural geometry and reactivity of coordination complexes

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete CHEM-H429
4. Complete a final project involving original independent laboratory or field research and/or in-depth analysis that is approved by the major department and research advisor
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Apply to the departmental honors committee and an advisor(s) by submitting an independent project proposal for pre-approval by October of senior year

Computer Science Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will have...

A mastery of fundamental computer system principles, demonstrate proficiency in theoretical and practical aspects on various computer science fields, and have built solid foundations to pursue advanced degrees

A deep understanding of designing and developing computing systems and applications, and have strong programming skills and software engineering knowledge. Graduates will be capable of problem analysis, identification and definition, and able to apply mathematical foundations in the modeling and designing of its solutions

Critical thinking skills and be able to design, implement and evaluate computer applications independently and/or with the teams. Graduates will have strong communication skills and function effectively on multidisciplinary teams to achieve the goal

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Write correct working programs in a variety of programming languages
- Recognize and be able to use in programs graphs, trees, and other advanced data structures
- Identify system components, their functions, interactions, and performance aspects

- Be able to analyze, design, and implement computer solutions
- Be able to interpret algorithm complexity

- Determine and use appropriate methods to solve application problems
- Successfully complete design and implementation assignments in small teams
The requisite foundation for lifelong learning and will possess the skills to adapt and thrive in the rapidly changing field of Computer Science.

- Be able to use modern software development techniques, such as object-oriented programming and design patterns.
- Be able to read certain technical articles and participate in related discussions.

An understanding and appreciation for the professional, social, legal, security, and ethical implications of computing.

- Be competent in the appreciation for alternate points of view and broader perspectives as related to social, security, legal, and ethical concerns arising in the context of computing technology.

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Apply to the supervising faculty member by meeting and agreeing upon the topic of study and the scope of the project.

CAS Honors Program students only:

CAS Honors Program students are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor(s) during junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above.

All other students:

Apply to the department by contacting an advisor. All students should consult with a major advisor(s) to schedule classes as described above.

The role of research in criminology and criminal justice and the various methodologies used to answer research questions in these disciplines

- Explain and compare a variety of qualitative and quantitative research methods for the study of crime and social problems
- Critique the methods and interpretation of results of scholarly research articles
- Locate, gather, and analyze data from popular and/or representative data sources
- Design and propose a research project to answer a scientifically and socially important research question

The disparate contact, influence, and outcomes of the criminal justice system according to race, class, gender, other social locations and their intersections, both in the United States and international contexts

- Critically assess how power and privilege impact criminalization and victimization, law making, and law enforcement
- Develop strategies to improve criminal justice practices and policies with the goal of promoting social justice

Criminal justice career options and worker experiences in a variety of core and supportive roles

- Distinguish between criminal justice professionals in a variety of careers, including the roles they play in sustaining the contemporary criminal justice system
- Identify the common challenges faced by professionals in the field of criminal justice and develop a working knowledge of possible courses of action

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete CJU-H555 Senior Honors Project OR complete a designated CJU course using the honors contract system

4. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event.

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must either:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher

CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the above GPA requirement are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor during their junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's Degree in Crime and Justice Studies

Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet 1) all the requirements of an undergraduate Sociology major, including completion of at least two CJU electives, or 2) all the requirements of an undergraduate Criminal Justice major.

2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master of Science in Crime & Justice Studies.

3. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. Before enrolling in any Master's level courses, students must obtain approval for classes through the MSCJS graduate program director.
5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Honor Society

Alpha Phi Sigma

An affiliate organization of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, Alpha Phi Sigma is the National Honor Society for students majoring in fields related to criminal justice sciences. To qualify for membership students must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.2; a 3.2 average in criminal justice courses; completion of at least three full-time semesters or the equivalent; and successful completion of at least four courses in the crime and justice field at Suffolk. The Suffolk University Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma is Gamma Psi.

Drone Operations Certificate Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

Learning Goals | Learning Objectives
--- | ---
Students will understand the scientific principles that are evident in drone flight | - Students will be able to recognize physical, chemical processes that can affect drone flight
Students will understand the FAA requirements under which they will fly. | - Students will be able to take the FAA Remote Pilot Certificate exam and obtain a passing score
Students will master drone flight techniques | - Students will be able to prepare to fly a drone within prescribed checklists, fly the drone safely, fly within all applicable laws and regulations and will be able to assess, adapt to and/or avoid emergency situations

Option A – Environmental Mapping

Students will understand professional aerial data gathering techniques | - Students will be able to plan a drone mission with flight planning software in order to collect useful and accurate environmental data
- Students will be able to take aerial data and create orthomosaic maps and 3D models that accurately represent reality

Option B – Aerial Videography

Students will understand professional aerial videography techniques | - Students will be able to plan and execute a successful videography flight mission which safely gathers video footage
- Students will be able to take video footage gathered on a mission and create a fully edited video using professional editing software

English Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will...

Demonstrate effective writing
- Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence
- Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research
- Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach

Develop and display critical thinking
- Understand, effectively analyze, and evaluate literary, critical, and theoretical source materials
- Use proper citation and research methods, including following MLA formatting

Cultivate cultural literacy
- Demonstrate broad familiarity with British and American literary traditions through study of major English and American writers and the literary history of England and America
- Gain exposure to diverse perspectives through study of literature with focuses on gender, race, ethnicity, immigrant experiences, or literary influences

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Demonstrate effective writing

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher

2. Complete a Senior Capstone Seminar, preferably in the fall of senior year

3. Complete ENG-H555 (1 credit in the Fall, 3 credits in the Spring)

Note: These 4 credits are in addition to the English major requirements

4. Complete a thesis/project in ENG-H555 that is approved by the major department

5. Publicly present work at an English Department event in April

6. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher

2. Attend an English honors orientation session in the spring of junior year

3. Complete an honors contract and a declaration of topic/advisor form for the thesis, which must be signed by a faculty member who has agreed to supervise the project

CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the GPA requirement declare intent to the honors coordinator in the spring of junior year

All other students: Apply to the honors coordinator by submitting an application in the spring of junior year. An application includes a letter of interest, the names of two faculty references, and a copy of the student's program evaluation

Honor Society

Sigma Tau Delta International Honor Society

Sigma Tau Delta, a member of the Association of College Honor Societies (ACHS), established its Eta Upsilon Chapter at Suffolk University in January 1986. Active membership is open to both English majors and English minors who have completed a minimum of three ENG courses at Suffolk with an average of 3.5, plus a general cumulative average of 3.0. Associate membership is open to students who have the requisite academic background (as stipulated above for active membership) but who are not majoring or minoring in English. In addition to conferring distinction for high achievement in English language and literature and exhibiting high standards of academic excellence through its chapters, Sigma Tau Delta promotes and emphasizes the discipline of English in all its aspects, including creative and critical writing, by inviting both active and associate members to contribute to its national publication, The Rectangle. All inducted members remain permanently on the roster of the Eta Upsilon Chapter.

| Science as a process for understanding environmental phenomena and issues | - Conduct an experiment following standard protocols
- Recognize the importance of safety protocols
- Collect data via quantitative and qualitative observations and measurements
- Interpret the results of an experiment
- Apply basic statistics and interpret data for significance |
| How science is communicated | - Evaluate primary literature
- Interpret visual representations of data
- Summarize the discoveries of scientific research |
| How to communicate scientific findings | - Orally present findings to others in formal and informal settings
- Construct a written document in a scientific style, including proper citation of sources
- Prepare visual representations of data
- Access and utilize scientific databases |
| How to work collaboratively | - Conduct an experiment or gather data as part of a group
- Participate in group discussions
- Record protocols and observations
- Provide constructive feedback to group members
- Accept feedback from group members |
| How decisions about the environment are made | - Describe the historical context of environmental decisions
- Describe the societal and cultural context of environmental decisions
- Describe the political context of environmental decisions
- Describe the ethical context of decisions about the environment
- Demonstrate an understanding of the process of establishing environmental regulations in the US and globally
- Analyze how poverty, social injustice, and inequity impact environmental decision making |

| The physical and chemical characteristics of the natural environment | - Identify the chemical structures and physical characteristics of the molecules of biotic and abiotic components of the environment
- Write and use material balances
- Apply a systems approach to the analysis of urban, suburban, and rural areas
- Identify the major environmental impacts of human activity
- Understand and describe technical solutions to environmental problems |
That energy can be changed from one form to another, and the need for, and impacts of, human energy use

- Compare and contrast relevant forms of energy (e.g. kinetic energy vs. potential energy, energy stored in bonds vs. potential energy of concentration gradients)
- Write and use an energy balance
- Identify solar and non-solar energy sources and their environmental impacts
- Identify social justice issues in provision of energy to global population

How to apply systems thinking to environmental problems

- Use GIS mapping software to analyze an environmental issue or problem
- Evaluate an environmental problem from multiple disciplines
- Identify the global environmental systems, including the sources and sinks for environmentally important elements and compounds
- Distinguish between natural and human-generated environmental phenomenon and understand their interactions
- Provide the societal, cultural, and regulatory context for an environmental issue or problem
- Identify multiple stakeholders in an environmental issue and how they impact policy and reform
How to pursue a career in the environmentally related fields

- Effectively search for and locate pertinent internships and jobs
- Assess personal qualifications in relation to an internship and/or job description
- Prepare job application materials including a resume and cover letter

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Minor Programs Policy: A student declaring a minor may use no more than two courses from a major or double major combination to fulfill the requirements for the minor. No more than one course from one minor may count toward the fulfillment of a second minor. Students may not minor in a subject in which they are also completing a major. For more information, see the Minor Programs section of the CAS Degree Requirements page.

Environmental Studies

Environmental Studies, BA, BS

Degree Requirements - 126 credits

Students can earn a Bachelor of Arts degree (p. 115) or a Bachelor of Science degree (p. 131) with this major

Environmental Studies Major Requirements: 13 courses and corresponding laboratories where applicable, 48-49 credits

CUES Shared Core Requirements (6 courses and corresponding laboratories where applicable, 21 credits)

UES-101  Environmental Studies  4
UES-111  Environmental Science  3
UES-L111  Environmental Science Lab  1
UES-225  Geographical Information Science  3
UES-L225  Geographic Information Science Lab  1
UES-401  Environmental Senior Project  4
UES-511  Professional Development Module  1

Choose one of the following courses:
BIO-273  Biostatistics  4
STATS-250  Applied Statistics  4

Environmental Studies Core Requirements (4 courses and corresponding laboratories where applicable, 16 credits)
UES-211  Environmental Science II  3
UES-L211  Environmental Science II Lab  1

Choose one of the following:

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.
Learning Goals

Students will...

Understand the role of communication in a culture and across various cultures

Understand how the symbolic production of meaning shapes our world as well as the world of others (and that what we perceive as the same world, can be very different)

Understand the role of culture in different forms of communication to become an informed global citizen

Understand how to communicate more effectively, appropriately, and ethically within and across cultures

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Discuss the role of communication in constructing the nature of interpersonal and organizational relationships
- Discuss the role of communication in shaping, maintaining, and resisting social inequities
- Articulate the role that personal identity has on the creation of cultural identity

- Examine language as the primary human symbolic system
- Examine images and other forms of representation

- Explain how forms of communication change from one culture to another
- Demonstrate social justice awareness
- Communicate with awareness of cultural differences

- Identify and apply different tools to become more ethical, effective, and appropriate communicators across differences
- Identify ways in which they can use their knowledge and resources as positive forces for change in their communities
- Produce a cultural artifact by using one or a combination of methods

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.4 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of a 3.0 or higher
3. Complete CJN-H506 or CJN-H555 with a grade of B+ or higher
4. Publicly present their work in front of CJN faculty and students during finals week
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.4
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.0
3. Have completed a minimum of 20 credits of CJN coursework

CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the GPA requirement and minimum credits of CJN coursework are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor(s) during junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above

All other students: Declare intent to an advisor at an advising appointment

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's in Communication Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet all the requirements of an undergraduate major offered by the department of Advertising, Public Relations, & Social Media or the department of Communication, Journalism, & Media.
2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master’s degree in Communication offered by the department of Advertising, Public Relations, & Social Media.

3. Students will take two Communication graduate courses during their senior year; one during the fall semester and one during the spring semester. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. The graduate courses taken during the senior year will be determined by the Communication graduate program director.

5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Honor Society

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta, the National History Honor Society, has had a presence at Suffolk since 1962 in the form of its Theta Lambda Chapter. It is composed of both faculty and student members. Student membership is determined by the completion of at least 20 semester hours of History courses with an average of 3.6, plus a general cumulative average of 3.5. Transferred credits cannot be counted in the requirements. Invitations to membership are extended in the spring, and induction will take place at the annual reception for graduating History majors and minors at the end of April.

History and Literature Honors, BA, BS

Overview

Students in the History and Literature Honors major read literary, cultural, and historical texts and analyze their usefulness in making sense of the past. Through this interdisciplinary lens, History and Literature Honors majors recognize how history works as an imaginative project, not just an accumulation of facts, and explore the degree to which writers can serve as agents of historical change. Students must complete a major in either History or English and a minor in the other field. They may also double major in History and English. Students are admitted to the History and Literature Honors major by application only, typically in the sophomore year or first semester of their junior year. To complete the major, students must write an Honors thesis in their senior year that integrates their studies of History and Literature.

Degree Requirements - 126 credits

Students can earn a Bachelor of Arts degree (p. 115) or a Bachelor of Science degree (p. 131) with this major

History and Literature Honors Major Requirements: 14-15 courses, 56-60 credits

To be considered for honors in History and Literature, a student must satisfy the following criteria:

1. Prospective majors must seek the approval of the coordinators of the program to undertake this major. Qualifying students must have a 3.5 GPA in the major subject.

2. Students must complete two classes on methodology. These courses also fulfill a major requirement in each department and may fulfill a minor requirement:

   - HST-200
   - ENG-301

3. The student must complete one honors seminar in English or History. The honors seminar may fulfill a major or minor requirement.

4. The student must complete an interdisciplinary honors thesis under the joint direction of one professor in History and one professor in English. To write a thesis, the student should register for HSTLT-H555 - Senior Honors Thesis. Normally, the student should undertake one credit of HSTLT-H555 in the fall semester of the senior year and three credits of HSTLT H555 in the spring semester of the senior year. HSTLT H555 may fulfill an elective in the major. Any student who completes HSTLT-H555 will receive credit for the course; however, projects completed in HSTLT-H555 must also be approved by the History and English departments to satisfy the requirement for honors.

5. The student must provide an oral defense of the honors thesis, to be evaluated and approved by faculty from both departments.

6. Honors students must finish their coursework in the major and minor with a GPA of 3.5.

7. In special circumstances (such as the case of transfer students), particular exceptions to the requirements above will be considered.

Interdisciplinary Advising in History and Literature
To facilitate this process, and to help the student select appropriate courses in both departments, the student should seek advising as follows:

1. The student should see the coordinators of the program during advising periods to ensure that departmental requirements and honors requirements for the major and minor are being met. The coordinators will also help the student to identify potential thesis advisors and to coordinate interdepartmental aspects of the program such as the oral defense. Finally, the coordinators will guide the student in selecting courses in the department that are particularly interdisciplinary in approach or that are appropriate to the student's focus. For example, a student may be directed to courses in both departments on American history and literature of the 19th century or on women in history and literature.

2. In writing the History and Literature thesis the student must work with two thesis advisors, one from History and one from English. These advisors will help the student identify a thesis topic and guide him or her through the writing process. They may also help the student to select courses appropriate to his or her research interests.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Notes:

- Courses numbered 200 and above have as a prerequisite the completion of ADI-S110 and the Foundation Studies program (or its equivalent). Other exceptions may be made only with the permission of the instructor and the Interior Design program director.

- The letter "S" preceding a course number indicates a studio course, for which a studio fee is assessed.

Internship

With the assistance of the faculty advisor, each student will identify an appropriate internship site with a local interior design firm. All interns are required to complete 120 hours of work/study within the semester, working under the direction of a qualified design professional. Interns are expected to contribute to the host firm at a high level of design interaction. Although the internship experience is non-credit bearing, students will prepare documentation and share learning experiences as part of the course ADI-390.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Law Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

Learning Goals

- Understand legal concepts
- Understand ethical behavior in the workplace
- Understand legal analysis and research
- Understand legal procedure and the role of the paralegal in the American legal system

Learning Objectives

- Communicate effectively orally and in writing
- Use critical thinking skills
- Be effective legal researchers
- Make ethical decisions in the workplace
- Appreciate importance of professional ethics and demonstrate understanding of code of ethics which apply to attorneys as well as paralegals
- Effectively use legal research tools, including technology
- Master new resources, including secondary authority, legislative histories, and administrative materials
- Understand legal analytic method
- Analyze rules of precedent in substantive legal areas
- Apply legal principles to real life cases

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.25 or higher
3. Complete a major written assignment for a designated LAWU course using the honors contract system or an individually designed paper, supervised by a full-time
Law program faculty member through independent study. Must receive a grade of A- or better on the paper.

4. Present the research paper orally either:
   a. In the honorized course with the assent and discussion of the professor
   b. At the annual spring Political Science & Legal Studies Department Student Research Conference (typically held in April)

5. CAS Honors Program students only: All CAS Honors Program students must comply with all requirements of the CAS Honors Program in order to receive honors in Law, including the requirement to present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the above criteria are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor(s) during junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above

All other students:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.25 or higher
3. Have completed a minimum of 12 credits of LAWU coursework
4. Apply to the honors coordinator before senior year

| Strengthen their problem-solving skills and further develop their mathematical maturity | - Make use of reasoning along with suitable theorems, ideas, or methods of proof to solve problems and prove mathematical facts
- Correctly implement suitable algorithms and perform multi-step computations
- Interpret and evaluate the practical merits of computed answers |
| Understand, evaluate, and interpret quantitative information given in a variety of formats | - Make estimates and apply data given in graphical, tabular, or algebraic formats, and translate data between various formats
- Sketch graphs of given formulaic relationships with input from calculus, and identify and interpret graphical representations |
| Understand the need for proof and what comprises mathematical proof | - Correctly apply techniques of logic and abstract reasoning in formulating and proving statements
- Read, write and understand proofs, and evaluate the correctness of a given proof
- Use various proof techniques successfully |
| Have a working knowledge of foundational technical material | - Understand and express the statements of key theorems, and identify the main ideas in the proofs of certain of these theorems
- Analyze various mathematical situations and codify them in suitable mathematical language
- Understand and express conceptual motivations for computations |
Know how to frame appropriate real-world problems in mathematical language:
- Use data in various forms to set up an abstract mathematical version of a problem
- Translate between information in practical real-world scenarios and the mathematical context, and back
- Recognize real-world manifestations of concepts from calculus and other mathematical disciplines, and problems to which these subjects can be applied

Skillfully communicate (both orally and in writing) mathematical ideas and applications:
- Explain mathematical processes and computations to others (both mathematicians and a general audience), orally or in writing
- Collaborate with others in the formulation, solution, and presentation of a [calculus, etc.] problem
- Use professional and domain-specific terminology correctly

Demonstrate competency in probability and financial mathematics:
- Show solid understanding and apply common distributions (binomial, Poisson, Normal, exponential)
- Work with joint distributions, and identify linear relations between two random variables
- Demonstrate solid understanding of central limit theorem and apply it
- Show solid understanding and apply the theory of interest

Media and Film Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

Learning Goals

Students will...

Understand media literacy and the media's potential contribution to democratic societies and to the development of informed citizens

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Apply appropriate concepts to evaluate media content critically
- Assess how mediated communication provides or fails to provide the information necessary for understanding significant social and political issues
- Examine how producers of mediated communication can engage in manipulative practices that help establish and sustain non-democratic practices

Understand the steps of media production for various distribution outlets and audiences, primarily for non-fiction productions

- Execute all three steps of video production (pre-production, production, post production) to produce a completed project
- Operate camera, audio and lighting equipment to shoot video content
- Edit videos with professional editing and other post production software, such as Avid Media Composer and Adobe Suite
- Evaluate existing video productions (such as films and TV shows) on their effectiveness in communicating with its target audience and on the product’s overall production quality

Know the theories and skills to become effective and ethical visual communicators, primarily in non-fiction video production

- Write intellectually grounded essays and research papers on the media’s role in contemporary society
- Employ appropriate forms of research

Honors
To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.4 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher
3. Complete CJN-H506 or CJN-H555 with a grade of B+ or higher
4. Present work in front of CJN faculty and students during finals week
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.4 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of a 3.0 or higher
3. Have completed a minimum of 20 credits of CJN coursework

CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the GPA requirement and minimum credits of CJN coursework are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor(s) during junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above

All other students: Declare intent to their advisor at an advising appointment

Paralegal Studies Certificate

Paralegal Studies Certificate Requirements: 6 courses, 24 credits

Students should note that only the classes listed below may count toward the Certificate because of American Bar Association "legal specialty" requirements. Certificate students must achieve a GPA of at least 2.0 in their LAWU classes in order to receive a certificate.

Undergraduate Suffolk University students must apply to receive a Paralegal Certificate. Applications for the Paralegal Certificate must be completed during the first semester of the Senior year. The application may be completed online through Undergraduate Admissions. Suffolk University students may take courses toward the certificate prior to entry into the program. Please note that students who are enrolled in the Bachelor's Degree in Applied Legal Studies or Bachelor's Degree in Law programs are not eligible to receive the Paralegal Certificate.

It is strongly advised that students interested in the Paralegal Certificate see a Law program advisor as early as possible to plan accordingly.

Physics Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will...

Acquire knowledge of physical principles
- Demonstrate mastery of core areas of physics (classical mechanics, statistical mechanics, thermodynamics, electrodynamics, special relativity, quantum mechanics, and optics)
- Understand instrumentation and its importance in classical and modern experiments in physics
- Understand how to use computers and advanced analytical techniques in solving fundamental equations in physics, data acquisition and processing, and how to use software as a tool in data analysis

Acquire scientific and professional skills
- Understand and explain physics problems, and be able to solve them by applying correct techniques; be able to test correctness and interpret results; write these solutions in a professional manner using appropriate software
- Understand the objectives of physics laboratory experiments; use modern instrumentation and classical techniques to carry out experiments and correctly record and analyze results; follow proper procedures and regulations for safely working in a laboratory
- Design, construct and complete a science-based independent project
- Use modern library search tools to locate and retrieve scientific information

Effectively pursue career objectives
- Successfully pursue scientific careers in graduate or professional school, government or industry, or teaching physics at a high school
- Demonstrate critical thinking of scientific problems and understand the role of science in society and professional ethics

Psychology Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.
Learning Goals

Students will...

Increase knowledge base in psychology

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Describe key concepts, principles and overarching themes in psychology
- Demonstrate a working knowledge of psychology's major content domains (social or cultural bases, neurological and biological bases, developmental bases)
- Describe how the mind and body interact to influence psychological and physical health
- Articulate how psychological principles can be used to explain social issues, address pressing societal needs, and inform public policy
Increase skill in scientific inquiry and critical thinking

- Read and summarize complex ideas accurately, including future directions, from psychological sources and research
- Describe the characteristics and relative value of different information sources (e.g., primary vs. secondary, peer reviewed vs. nonreviewed, empirical vs. non-empirical)
- Locate relevant scholarship (e.g., databases, credible journals) to address psychological questions
- Interpret, design and conduct basic psychological research
- Apply knowledge of research skills necessary to be an informed consumer of research or critic regarding unsupported claims about behavior
- Engage in innovative and integrative thinking and problem solving
- Recognize the systemic influences of sociocultural, theoretical, and personal biases on the research enterprise and evaluate the effectiveness with which researchers address those influences in psychological research

Increase knowledge and understanding of ethical and social responsibility in a diverse world

- Apply ethical standards to evaluate psychological science and practice
- Identify dimensions of cultural identity
- Recognize potential for discrimination and prejudice in self and others and consider psychology-based strategies for diminishing discriminatory practices
- Exhibit sensitivity to issues of power, privilege and discrimination
Refine communication skills
- Employ APA writing style and demonstrate effective scientific, persuasive, descriptive, and argumentative writing
- Exhibit effective scientific, persuasive, descriptive and argumentative presentation skills
- Tailor length and development of ideas in formats that fit the purpose
- Interact sensitively and respectfully with people of diverse abilities, backgrounds, and cultural perspectives

Develop professional knowledge and skills
- Describe career options available to psychology majors and understand steps needed to pursue a range of careers
- Evaluate personal strengths and characteristics of potential work settings or graduate school programs to optimize career direction and satisfaction
- Engage in ongoing reflective practice
- Demonstrate self-efficacy and self-regulation in professional settings (i.e., internship or community psychology service)
- Pursue and respond appropriately to feedback from educators, mentors, supervisors, and experts to improve performance
- Actively develop alternative strategies, including conflict management, to contend with potential problems
- Plan, implement, and manage projects

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's in Mental Health Counseling Degree
Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet all the requirements of the undergraduate Psychology degree program.

2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master’s degree in Mental Health Counseling.

3. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. Before enrolling in a particular graduate course during the senior year, a student must obtain permission from the MHC graduate program director.

5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree (BA/BS and Master’s) will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Notes:
- Clinical training is not included as part of the Radiation Science degree.
- If planning to apply to the Medical Dosimetry graduate program during senior year or after graduation, students must take MATH-165.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Radiation Science Major Learning Goals and Objectives

Learning goals and objectives reflect the educational outcomes achieved by students through the completion of this program. These transferable skills prepare Suffolk students for success in the workplace, in graduate school, and in their local and global communities.

Learning Goals

Students will...

- Demonstrate knowledge of the functions of the human body
- Obtain knowledge of radiation physics, radioactivity, and its effects on the body
- Obtain skills to prepare them for gaining employment or pursuing interest in general science or healthcare

Learning Objectives

Students will be able to...

- Demonstrate understanding of the functions of the human body and organ systems
- Understand concepts such as radiation exposure and absorbed dose of radiation
- Demonstrate understanding of cell survival curves and radiation exposure syndromes
- Identify career or further education options
- Demonstrate ability to apply and interview for a job
- Demonstrate professionalism in an area of interest during an internship

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete RAD-H503
   Note: a student must meet with the program director in advance to receive pre-approval for a research project
4. Complete a research project and paper in RAD-H503
5. CAS Honors Program students only: Present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must:
1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Apply to the program directly by email no later than May 15th of junior year

Notes:

- Students must apply to this selective program in their sophomore year.
- If planning to apply to the Medical Dosimetry graduate program during senior year or after graduation, students must take MATH-165.

Required Clinical Hours

- 14 hours per week; Junior Year
- 24 hours per week; Senior Year

Note: The department reserves the right to refer students to the Academic Standing Committee with the possible outcome of withdrawal of a student from the Radiation Therapy major if, in its estimation, the probability of the student’s success is doubtful. Factors such as academic performance, interest, effort, professionalism, compliance, attendance, and suitability for the field will be considered. Issues or concerns correlated with any one of these factors could result in withdrawal of the student from the program.
Students who defer entry into the program, for any reason, will forfeit their space in the program and will be required to reapply for the following year. A student may be dismissed from the Radiation Therapy major if they fail to maintain the minimum GPA of 3.0 or if they achieve a final grade lower than "B" in any of the Radiation Therapy (RAD) major courses listed above.

If admitted into the Radiation Therapy major, part-time and full-time students must complete clinical requirements within three years of being admitted. Radiation Therapy graduates may seek employment immediately following graduation and will also be eligible to apply for the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT) Radiation Therapy Certification Exam.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Honors

To complete requirements for honors in the major, a candidate must:

1. Graduate with a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Graduate with an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
3. Complete SOC-H555 Senior Honors Project OR complete a SOC course using the honors contract system
4. CAS Honors Program students only: Also present work from the senior honors experience at the Honors Symposium or Pecha Kucha event.

To become a candidate for honors in the major, a student must either:

1. Have a major GPA of 3.5 or higher
2. Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher
CAS Honors Program students only: CAS Honors Program students who fulfill the above GPA requirement are assumed to be candidates for departmental honors and should consult with a major advisor during their junior year about registering for major honors requirements as described above.

All other students: Apply to the honors coordinator.

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's Degree in Crime and Justice Studies

Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet 1) all the requirements of an undergraduate Sociology major, including completion of at least two CJU electives, or 2) all the requirements of an undergraduate Criminal Justice major.

2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master of Science in Crime & Justice Studies.

3. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. Before enrolling in any Master's level courses, students must obtain approval for classes through the MSCJS graduate program director.

5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Residency Requirement Policy: In the College of Arts and Sciences, a two-course (8 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for completion of a minor and a four-course (16 credit) residency requirement must be satisfied for the completion of a major.

Minor Programs Policy: A student declaring a minor may use no more than two courses from a major or double major combination to fulfill the requirements for the minor. No more than one course from one minor may count toward the fulfillment of a second minor. Students may not minor in a subject in which they are also completing a major. For more information, see the Minor Programs section of the CAS Degree Requirements page.

Concentrations

The MSA program requires three (3) electives as part of the degree program. Students may declare a concentration in Corporate Finance & Accounting, Business Intelligence, Forensic Accounting, or Governmental & Not-for-Profit Accounting. If a concentration is declared, three electives must be in one concentration area. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy

Management Preparation and MSA Preparation Courses may be waived. MSA Core Courses may need to be substituted with approved electives. To waive a Management Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a "B" or better. To waive an MSA Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a "B" or better. Exception: ACCT 800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university. To substitute an approved elective for an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a "B" or better. Exception ACIB 872 and TAX 801 will only be substituted if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translation, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSA Program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam for a fee, to gain a waiver for management preparation courses. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus.

All MSA students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits (10 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited MBA, MSA, MSF, or MST program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of with a "B" or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSA program. However, at the discretion of the program director, MSA Core Courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits of Elective or MSA Core Courses may be considered for transfer.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public

Management’s Certificate Programs

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent, the student must have earned a grade B or better, and the student must have successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS Graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSA close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MSA online on a part-time basis.

Waiver Policy

Management Preparation Courses may be waived. MSA Preparation Courses may be waived. MSA Core Courses may need to be substituted with approved electives. To waive a Management Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a “B” or better. To waive an MSA Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a “B” or better. Exception: ACCT 800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university. To substitute an approved elective for an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a “B” or better. Exception: ACIB 872 and TAX 801 will only be substituted if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.
Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSA Program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for management preparation courses. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSA students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits (10 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited MBA, MSA, MSF, or MST program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of a "B" or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSA program. However, at the discretion of the program director, MSA Core Courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits of Elective or MSA Core Courses may be considered for transfer.

Waiver Policy
Core courses may be waived. Required MBA Courses
(SBS-700, MBA-701, MBA-721, MBA 730, MBA 740, MBA 745, MBA 750, MBA 760 and MBA 770) cannot be waived.

To waive all other core courses, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA Program and are waived during the student’s first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus only, with prior arrangements. All MBA students must complete a minimum of 36 credits graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Six (6) credits of elective courses, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB accredited graduate program in business, may be transferred if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree. Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA Programs. Transfer credits apply only to electives.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MBA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MBA on a part-time basis online.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management’s Certificate Program

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMS, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers varies by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent, the student must have earned a grade of B or better, and the student must have successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Concentrations

Boston campus concentrations include:

- Accounting Business Intelligence (p. 307)
- Corporate Accounting and Finance (p. 307)
- Forensic Accounting (p. 308)
- Government and Not-for-Profit Accounting (p. 309)
- Business Intelligence (p. 307)

- Managing Talent (p. 310)
- Global Marketing (p. 309)
- Global Strategy (p. 309)
- Supply Chain Management (p. 311)

The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

MBA/JD students can declare a concentration only if they are approved to substitute at least three (3) electives due to MBA core course waivers.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.
The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy
Core courses may be waived. Required MBA Courses (SBS 700, MBA 701, MBA 721, MBA 730, MBA 740, MBA 745, MBA 750, MBA 760 and MBA 770) cannot be waived.

To waive a core course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA matriculation, “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA Program and are waived during the student’s first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus only, with prior arrangements. All MBA students must complete a minimum of 36 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy
Six (6) credits of elective courses, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, may be transferred if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree. Transfer credits must have an earned grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA programs. Transfer credits apply only to electives.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Programs
Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMS, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers varies by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, the following criteria must be met: must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent; received a grade of "B" or better, and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS graduate degree program to which they are applying.

MBA Online Concentrations
Online MBA concentrations include: Accounting Principles, Business Intelligence, General Finance or Health Sector Management. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered varies by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

MBA-770 Leading and Implementing Change 3

Waiver Policy
Core courses may be waived. Required MBA courses (SBS 700, MBA 701, MBA 721, MBA 730, MBA 740, MBA 745, MBA 750, MBA 760 and MBA 770) cannot be waived.

To waive MBA 605, a student must have a minimum of one year post graduate relevant business experience. To waive all other core courses, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA/Nonprofit matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MBA/Nonprofit program and are waived during the student's first semester. A student receives credit for each course waived, thereby reducing the total number of courses for the MBA/Nonprofit degree. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus. All MBA/Nonprofit students must complete a minimum of 45 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy
Six (6) credits of MBA elective courses, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, may be transferred if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree. Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA/Nonprofit programs. Transfer credits apply only to electives. Official transcripts must be provided (with English translations, if applicable).

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete
Occasionally, Suffolk MBA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MBA. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete their Suffolk MBA on a part-time basis online. Nonprofit courses are only offered on the Boston campus.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Programs to the MBA
Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMS, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers varies by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must meet the following criteria: must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent; received a grade of "B" or better; and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Waiver Policy

MBA Core courses (MBA-605, MBA-625, MBA-635, MBA-640, MBA-650 and MBA-660) may be waived.

Required MBA Courses (SBS-700, MBA-701, MBA-710, MBA-721, MBA-730, MBA-740, MBA-745, MBA-750, MBA-760 and MBA-770) cannot be waived.

To waive MBA 605, a student must have a minimum of one year post graduate relevant business experience. To waive all other core courses, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA/Health matriculation. To waive a healthcare specialized course, a student must successfully complete equivalent courses at the undergraduate/graduate level in the three (3) years prior to MBA/Health matriculation.

Courses for consideration must be a grade of "B" or better.
and official transcripts provided (with English Translation, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA/Health Program and are waived during the student’s first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus. All MBA/Health students must complete a minimum of 45 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy

Courses may be considered for transfer to the Healthcare specialized courses at the graduate level in the three (3) years prior to MBA/Health matriculation. Courses for consideration must be a grade of "B" or better and official transcripts provided (with English translation, if applicable).

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MBA/Health students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Sawyer Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MBA/Health. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

A student who leaves the area may also be able to complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MBA/Health degree on a part-time basis online.

Business Intelligence

Overview

An MBA with a concentration in Business Intelligence is a graduate degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24-month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). Please be advised that DHS is the ultimate and deciding authority on all OPT applications and STEM extensions. For more detailed information, please visit the ISSO webpage.

This concentration provides fundamental concepts and practical tools on data management, analysis and presentation, which can help companies make complex business decisions related to operations, sales, marketing, and research and development.

Apply ethical principles to business analytics decision making. (Ethics)

1. Identify conflicts of interests and pressures that could lead to unethical conduct
2. Understand what kinds of questions are helpful to ask oneself when confronting an ethical dilemma
3. Demonstrate the ability to identify and take into account the interests of different stakeholders
4. Understand how business strategies that facilitate "doing good" can be made consistent with profitability
5. Understand that what is legal may not always be ethical and that what is ethical may sometimes not be legal
6. Appreciate that ethical norms vary across different countries and cultures

Demonstrate effective oral communication about the entire business analytics cycle (Oral Communication)

1. Organize the presentation effectively
2. Deliver the presentation with attention to volume, clarity, grammatical correctness and precision
3. Develop the topic
4. Communicate with the audience
5. Use communication aids effectively
6. Summarize the presentation
Demonstrate effective written communication about the entire business analytics cycle (Written Communication)

1. Develop a topic with supporting details
2. Organize written communication effectively and logically
3. Use correct word choice and effective sentence structure
4. Employ normal conventions of spelling and grammar
5. Provide examples and supporting evidence
6. Communicate accurate quantitative results

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute an approved elective for a core course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA matriculation, “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA Program.

All MSBA students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School (10 courses and SBS-700)

Transfer Policy

Review of any coursework taken previously from an AACSB-accredited MSBA program will be completed on a case-by-case basis. The credits cannot apply to a previously completed degree and must be substituted with an approved elective. Only courses for which an earned grade of "B" or better and taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the MSBA program will be considered.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSBA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSBA close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MSBA on a part-time basis online.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Program

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent, the student must have earned a grade of B or better, and the student must have successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Required Electives (9 credits)

Students must complete three (3) courses, nine (9) credits of electives, 800-level or higher (exception 600- and 700-level MBA courses and 700-level HLTH and ISOM courses), within the Sawyer Business School and from the approved MSBA electives lists. Online elective course availability varies from semester to semester.

If a concentration is declared, three electives must be in one concentration area. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester. Concentrations include: accounting, finance, and healthcare management.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form.

Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute a data analytics course with an approved elective, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to data analytics matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). A maximum of 3 credits of coursework can be substituted.

Degree Progression Policy

All graduate certificate students must complete a minimum of 9 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Candidates who apply within one year of completing their graduate certificate will have applicable courses applied to a Sawyer Business School (SBS) graduate degree program in the same discipline as the certificate as long as a grade of "B" or better was earned in that course.

Candidates who apply beyond one year or from a certificate program outside their discipline, will have coursework evaluated on a case by case basis for relevancy, current degree requirements, and current Sawyer Business School waiver and transfer policies.

Concentration and Applicable Elective Courses (12 credits)

Choose four (4) elective courses from the approved MSF electives list. Courses must be taken on campus, within Sawyer Business School, 800-level or above (exception MBA-740), unless permission to take online is granted by the Academic Director.

Students may declare a concentration in Corporate Finance, Financial Services and Banking, FinTech, Investments or Risk Management. If a concentration in Corporate Finance, Investments or Risk Management is declared, three electives must be in one concentration area.

If a concentration in Financial Services and Banking is declared students must complete FIN-816 and three approved Financial Services and Banking electives. If a concentration in FinTech is declared students must complete ISOM-730, FIN-830, one approved FIN elective and one approved ISOM elective. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Approved Finance Electives

Note: Students wishing to take SBS-920 for an elective in the MSF Program must consult with the MSF Advisor for guidance on how to be considered for this option.

London Financial Services Travel Seminar is the only seminar approved as an MSF elective. Any other travel seminar requires MSF Academic Program Director approval.

Waiver Policy

To waive an MSF prerequisite course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To substitute an approved elective for an MSF Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF matriculation, with a “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MSF program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for prerequisite coursework. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSF students must complete a minimum of 32 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have earned a grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSF program. However, at the discretion of the MSF program director, MSF required core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSF students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSF Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of “B” or better.

Students may declare a concentration in Corporate Finance, Financial Services and Banking, FinTech, Investments or Risk Management. If a concentration in Corporate Finance, Investments or Risk Management is declared, three electives must be in one concentration area.

If a concentration in Financial Services and Banking is declared students must complete FIN-816 and three approved Financial Services and Banking electives. If a concentration in FinTech is declared students must complete ISOM-730, FIN-830, one approved FIN elective and one approved ISOM elective. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy

To waive an MSF prerequisite course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To substitute an approved elective for an MSF Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF matriculation, with a “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MSF program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for prerequisite coursework. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSF students must complete a minimum of 32 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have earned a grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSF program. However, at the discretion of the MSF program director, MSF required core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSF students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSF Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Waiver Policy

The academic advisor of the Healthcare Administration Department evaluates each request for a course waiver and transfer credits. Such a request must be made in writing following an individual’s acceptance into, and decision to attend, the MHA Program and before the start of the student’s first semester of courses. Waivers are limited to a total of 6 credits.

Any required course in the MHA Program is eligible to be waived and substituted for an approved elective, except for HLTH-705, HLTH-720, HLTH-840, HLTH-892, and HLTH-885 (for students who are required to do an internship).

To be eligible for a course waiver, a course must have been completed in a recognized undergraduate or graduate program in healthcare administration in an accredited U.S. college or university; been completed within the three years prior to the student being enrolled in Suffolk’s MHA Program; and be assessed as equivalent to the Suffolk course for which the waiver is sought, based on a review of the syllabus by the chairperson of the Healthcare Administration Department. The grade for a completed course must be a "B" or better. In addition, the credits for a course for which a transfer is sought must not have been applied toward a previously completed degree.

All MHA students must complete 42 graduate credits (or 45 credits if an internship is required) in the Sawyer Business School. The number of credits approved for transfer is limited to a maximum of 6 credits.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, a Suffolk MHA student must leave the Boston area before completing their degree. The Sawyer Business School has several options available to enable completion of the Suffolk MHA Program. A student may be able to transfer in six credits of elective courses from a recognized graduate program in healthcare administration in an accredited U.S. college or university close to the new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by the chairperson of the Sawyer Business School Healthcare Administration Department and have a grade of “B” or better.

A student who leaves the area may also be able to complete their Suffolk MHA degree on a part-time basis online.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management’s Certificate Program

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMS, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers for the MHA Program must be reviewed by the chairperson of the Healthcare Administration Department.

In order for a course to be considered, the following criteria must be met: must have an MHA Program course equivalent, and the student must have received a grade of "B" or better and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the MHA Program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the MHA Program.

All MHA students must complete 42 graduate credits (or 45 credits if an internship is required) in the Sawyer Business School. The number of credits approved for waiver are limited to a maximum of 6 credits.

Transfer Policy

A student can transfer courses in lieu of elective courses, thereby reducing the number of credits required to earn an MHA degree. The MHA Program limits the number of transferred courses to two 3-credit courses (6 credits).

To be eligible for transfer credits, a course must have been completed at the graduate level in a recognized graduate program in healthcare administration in an accredited U.S. college or university; been completed within the three years prior to the student being enrolled in Suffolk’s MHA Program; and be assessed as equivalent to the Suffolk course for which the transfer credits are sought, based on a review of the syllabus by the chairperson of the Healthcare Administration Department. </tr>
</table>

Competency 2: Strategic Orientation
Knowledge and skills for internal and external assessment and for developing short- and long-range strategies and actions to guide organizations and respond to, and shape, the healthcare environment.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Learning Goal</th>
<th>Learning Objective</th>
</tr>
</thead>

Develop and demonstrate understanding of and the ability to conduct internal and external assessments, identify key strategic and operational issues in a healthcare organization, and understand and develop strategies and actions to address the issues. More specifically:

- Diagnosis: What is happening in a given situation – internally and/or externally – and why (in other words, what are the causal factors)? What are the strengths and weaknesses of our organization and those with whom we compete? What is the environment in which we operate? What are the key strategic and operational issues that we face? What is the basis for those issues, such as the organization’s attributes and/or specific conditions in the external environment? What do we think will happen in the environment in the future?

- Assessment of Options: What are the alternative strategies and actions that might be available to address the key issues, now and in the future? What might be the consequences of a chosen strategy and actions? What are the relative advantages and disadvantages of each alternative?

- Prescription: What strategies and actions should we select to address the issues?

1. Understand and apply the Trends, Assumptions, and Implications (TAI) methodology to the healthcare field.
2. Understand how to assess and present key attributes of a healthcare organization’s internal and external environments – specifically, strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats/challenges.
3. Understand how to identify and present key strategic and operational issues facing a healthcare organization and how to develop, evaluate, and select strategies (goals, objectives, and implementation steps) to address those issues.
chosen strategies and actions?

- Organizational Adaptation and Capacity Development: What capabilities are needed in the organization to effectively and efficiently implement the strategies and actions?

- Evaluation: How do we assess the effectiveness and outcomes of the strategies and actions?

Competency 3: Leadership
Knowledge and skills to help individuals, teams and organizations to more effectively and ethically achieve their missions. This includes leadership-related self-awareness and self-development, critical and strategic thinking, change leadership, building and sustaining group and organizational culture, constructive engagement with organizational politics, conflict management and negotiation, and stewardship of resources.

Learning Goal
Develop and demonstrate understanding of the principles, theories, and practice of business leadership in healthcare administration.

Learning Objective
1. Understand the principles and theories of business leadership and various leadership styles.
2. Apply business leadership principles and styles to personal experiences and specific healthcare contexts and leadership challenges.
3. Assess one’s own leadership competencies and style, engage in reflective practice related to this, and incorporate this self-assessment and reflection into one’s own leadership development.
4. Prepare and begin implementing a personal leadership development plan for professional growth, including the integration of ethics into practice.
Competency 4: Management
Knowledge and skills for managing people, projects, situations, systems and organizations. With a focus on patients, this includes strategic and operational planning, analytical and critical thinking, problem solving and decision making, project management, and management of human and material resources. These apply across the major operational functions of healthcare organizations, including human resources, finance, service delivery, performance improvement and patient safety, marketing, and information collection and dissemination.

Learning Goal
Develop and demonstrate broad-based understanding of the operations and dynamics of healthcare organizations, along with the skills to be effective managers.

Learning Objective
1. Understand the core business areas of healthcare organizations, including care delivery, organizational behavior, planning, accounting and finance, legal, quality and patient safety, information systems, human resources, marketing, data analytics and project management.
2. Understand key aspects of organizational design and function, including organizational structure, climate and culture, communication, and teamwork.
3. Identify, and suggest useful approaches to address leadership opportunities and challenges in healthcare organizations.

Competency 5: Communication and Relationship Management
Knowledge and skills to effectively communicate and engage with people inside and outside of healthcare organizations – one-on-one and in teams – in writing, verbally and in presentations.

Learning Goal

Learning Objective
Written Communication:
Demonstrate the ability to communicate effectively in various forms of writing, including short memos and longer thematic papers.

1. Develop a topic with appropriate supporting information.
2. Organize written communication logically and effectively.
3. Use correct word choice and effective sentence structure.
4. Employ normal conventions of spelling, grammar and punctuation.
5. Provide examples and supporting evidence.
6. Communicate accurate quantitative information.
7. Provide clear summary and conclusions.

Verbal Communication:
Demonstrate the ability to communicate effectively one on one, in small groups and in large groups, including delivering effective presentations.

1. Be able to use both inquiry and advocacy in conversations.
2. Develop a presentation with an appealing storyline and appropriate examples and supporting information.
3. Organize a presentation effectively, with a clearly defined beginning, middle and ending.
4. Deliver a presentation with attention to volume, clarity, grammatical correctness and eye contact with the audience.
5. Use communication aids effectively, such as slides and videos.
6. Summarize the presentation.

Competency 6: Professionalism
Knowledge and skills to behave professionally and ethically, to develop and advance one’s career, and to be active participants and contributors in the healthcare and general communities.

Demonstrate the ability to identify the range of professional behaviors and behave in a professional manner in all situations, including one-on-one interactions and in small and large groups, as well as demonstrate the ability to identify career goals and pursue suitable professional development activities, including networking, to achieve the goals.

1. Exhibit professionalism in appearance, demeanor, reliability, competence, accountability and ethics.

- Appearance: Maintain a professional appearance by selecting the appropriate attire for a given situation.
- Demeanor: Exude confidence, but not arrogance. Be polite and well spoken, whether interacting with customers, co-workers or superiors. Maintain composure in all situations.
- Reliability: As a professional, find a way to get every job done. Respond to people promptly and follow through on promises in a timely manner.
- Competence: Strive to be an expert in your chosen field by gaining the requisite knowledge and skills by taking educational courses, attending seminars, participating in professional organizations, and working with mentors.
- Accountability: Always be accountable for your actions. If you make a mistake, take responsibility and work to resolve the issue. Don't try to place the blame on someone else.
- Ethics: Always behave in an ethical manner, such as:
  a. Identify conflicts of interests and pressures that could lead to unethical conduct.
b. Understand what kinds of questions are helpful to ask oneself when confronting an ethical dilemma.
c. Demonstrate the ability to identify and take into account the interests of different stakeholders.
d. Understand how business strategies that facilitate “doing good” can be made consistent with profitability.
e. Understand that what is legal may not always be ethical and that what is ethical may sometimes not be legal.
f. Appreciate that ethical norms vary across different countries and cultures.

2. Develop regularly updated plans for career goals and development that include both knowledge and skills enhancement as well as professional networking.

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute for a healthcare certificate course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate or graduate level, with a grade of "B" or better, in an accredited U.S. college or university in the three years prior to matriculation and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). A student may substitute only one course, for 3 credits.

Degree Progression Requirements

All graduate certificate students must complete a minimum of 9 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Candidates who apply to the MHA Program, MBA/Health Program, or MSBA/MHA Dual Degree Program within one year of completing their graduate certificate will have their courses applied to the graduate program, as long as a grade of "B" or better was earned in each course.

Candidates, who apply beyond one year or from a certificate program outside their discipline, will have coursework evaluated on a case-by-case basis for relevancy, current degree requirements and current Sawyer Business School waiver and transfer policies.

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute an approved elective for an MMOL required course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the 7 years prior to MMOL matriculation; grade of “B” or better; and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). MGT 610 can be substituted with an approved MMOL elective only if prior equivalent graduate coursework had been completed and also meets the above criteria.

All course substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MMOL program. All MMOL students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Review of any coursework taken previously from an AACSB-accredited graduate program will be completed on a case-by-case basis. The credits cannot apply to a previously completed degree and must be substituted with an approved elective. Only courses for which an earned grade of "B" or better and taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the MMOL program will be considered.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management’s Certificate Programs

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent, the student must have earned a grade of B or better, and the student must have successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS Graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Waiver Policy

MBA-660 and MKT-920 may be waived. If waived, MKT-810 needs to be substituted with an approved MSM elective. All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSM Program and are waived during the student's first semester.

To waive a course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSM matriculation, and earned a grade of "B" or better. To substitute an approved elective for MKT-810, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) year prior to MSM matriculation, and earned a grade of "B" or better. Official transcripts must be provided (with English translation, if applicable).

All MSM students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits (10 courses and SBS-700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACB accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have earned a grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSM program. However, at the discretion of the MSM program director, MSM required core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits of prerequisite, marketing core courses, electives may be considered for transfer.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Programs

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered, it must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent, the student must have earned a grade of B or better, and the student must have successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.
Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS Graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Students Who Leave Boston Before their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSM students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSM close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Public Administration

Master of Public Administration, MPA

Overview

The MPA Degree, offered by the Institute for Public Service, provides a pragmatic approach to education in public service management. The program consists of eight (8) required courses and six (6) electives. It emphasizes the development of knowledge and expertise, enabling students to perform managerial and administrative work at all levels of government, nonprofit and public service institutions.

Accreditation

Established in 1974, the Suffolk MPA is one of only five MPA programs in New England to be fully accredited by the NASPAA Commission on Peer Review and Accreditation. For more information, visit NASPAA’s website.

Concentrations

MPA students have the option to concentrate in four (4) public service areas: State and Local Government; Healthcare; Nonprofit Management; or Performance Management. Working with faculty advisors, students can tailor their elective choices to focus in areas of career choice.

Curriculum

10-14 Courses

MPA Electives (18 credits)

Choose 6 PAD electives. Students are allowed to take 2 electives outside of the MPA program after consultation with an MPA Faculty Advisor.

PAD core courses are 700-level courses and electives are 800- or 900-level courses. Some electives are only offered every 1.5 - 2 years.

Students who have fewer than 3 years of professional public service management experience are required to take PAD-859-Internship. This 3-credit course will count as one of your 6 electives. Students who are employed full-time in a related field, but who have not yet met the three year mark, may request a waiver from this requirement.

Healthcare concentration students must complete healthcare prerequisites prior to registering for healthcare courses. MPA students may not enroll in HLTH-890. More information is available via email.

Waiver Policy

To waive a course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MPA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MPA program.

All MPA students must complete a minimum of 30 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an accredited graduate program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have earned a grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MPA program. However, at the discretion of the MPA program director, MPA courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of twelve (12) credits may be considered for transfer.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Program

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MPA, MBA, MMS, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Program Office.

In order for a course to be considered, the following criteria must be met: must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent; received a grade of "B" or better; and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Course Substitutions

Course substitutions may be made at the discretion of the MPA Program Director based on student needs and current skill sets.

Non-Degree

Management Advancement Professional (MAPS) Studies

Overview

If you have at least one year of full-time work experience and a 2.8 or higher GPA, you may be eligible to enroll in up to two approved courses for the Suffolk MBA, Master in Management and Organizational Leadership, Master of Science in Accounting, Master of Science in Business Analytics, Master of Science in Finance, Master of Science in Marketing, or Master of Science in Taxation before formally applying.

Courses taken in MAPS may subsequently apply toward the Suffolk MBA, MMOL, MSA, MSBA, MSF, MSM, or MST degree if, after formal application, you meet standard admission criteria.

MAPS is available at our Boston campus. Students enrolled in our Boston campus may also take approved courses online on a space available basis.

CPA Educational Requirements

If you only need one or two more courses to sit for the CPA exam in Massachusetts, you can apply for the Management Advancement Professional Studies (MAPS) CPA Educational Requirements option. You can take up to two classes of accounting, taxation, or business law courses at our Boston campus.

Eligible applicants must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and at least one year of work experience or a master's degree. You also need to undergo Pre-Evaluation Eligibility Determination notification from NASBA, outlining the classes you need to sit for the CPA exam.

Courses taken in the CPA MAPS program could subsequently apply toward the Suffolk MSA or MST degree if, after formal application, you meet standard admission criteria.

You may register as early as one month before classes begin, but students enrolled in degree programs are granted priority registration. Contact msa@suffolk.edu for advising.

Create an account and apply online.

Continuing and Professional Studies (CAPS) Program

If you are pursuing a graduate MPA or MHA degree, you may be eligible to enroll in up to two graduate courses before formally applying, as part of our CAPS program. Courses must be selected with the advisor's consent and will be offered on a space available basis.

Create an account and apply online.

Visiting Students

If you're a graduate business student in good academic standing at another AACSB-accredited institution, you can take a course in the Sawyer Business School and transfer the credit to your university.

If the Suffolk course you select indicates a prerequisite, you must demonstrate via transcripts that you meet the prerequisite. You can take courses at our main campus in Boston. To determine if your current university or school is AACSB-accredited, please visit the Global Listing page on the AACSB website.

Visiting students must provide the following:

- A letter (on official university letterhead) from your business school Dean indicating:
  - That you’re in good academic standing
  - The specific Suffolk Business School course(s) you will enroll in

- That the indicated course(s) will transfer to your home program

- Copies of your graduate transcripts. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable, but official transcripts are highly recommended.

Visiting student's instructions:

- You should create an account and apply online.

- When prompted, please mark “YES” next to Visiting Student at the start of your application process in order to access the Visiting Student Application.

- Fill out the online application and upload your transcripts and the letter from your Dean.

- Once your application has been approved, you will be contacted by a member of the Office of Graduate Admission, and issued a student identification number.

- After the identification number has been issued, you will be instructed to contact the Office of the Bursar at 617-573-8430 to make a payment. Payment is required in full at the time of registration.

- Once payment has been submitted, please contact the Office of the Registrar to complete the course registration process at 617-573-8430, or by email.

- Contact the Office of Graduate Admission at 617-573-8302 with questions about graduate programs or admission policies, the Registrar's Office at 617-573-8430 with questions about registration procedures or course availability, and the Office of the Bursar at 617-573-8407 with questions about tuition fees and payment policies.

If you have any questions or concerns please email businessgrad@suffolk.edu.

Waiver Policy

Accounting Preparation Courses may be waived.

To waive an accounting preparation course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level at a U.S. university in the seven (7) years prior to MST matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MST Program.

All MST students must complete a minimum of 31 graduate credits (10 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited MBA, MSA, MSF, or MST program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of “B” or better and be taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MST program. However, at the discretion of the program director, taxation core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. Elective or taxation core courses may be considered for transfer.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management’s Certificate Programs

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Programs Office.

In order for a course to be considered it must meet the following criteria: must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent; received a grade of "B" or better; and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS Graduate degree program to which they are applying.

To waive an accounting preparation course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level at a U.S. university in the seven (7) years prior to MST matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All Accelerated MST for Attorneys students must complete a minimum of 28 graduate credits (9 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited MBA, MSA, MSF, or MST program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of “B” or better and be taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk Accelerated MST for Attorneys program. However, at the discretion of the program director, MST Core Courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. Elective or MST Core Courses may be considered for transfer.

Program Requirements

The program in Applied Developmental Psychology consists of a minimum of four years of full-time study. Please consult the Program Manual for more detailed information on all of these points. The requirements are as follows:

1. Completion of 72 Credits of Coursework

There are 24 (3-credit) courses that must be successfully completed within the first three years of the program for full-time students. To successfully complete a class, a minimum grade of B- or a pass for a pass/fail course is required. A full-time course load is 12 credits, and students must maintain an overall GPA of 3.0 (B) to remain in good standing.

2. Completion of Applied Internship

One year of internship is required of our doctoral students in their second academic year. Students receive weekly supervision by professionals at their internship site and attend a weekly internship seminar at Suffolk where they are able to integrate their practical experiences and educational training within the program.

3. Completion of Teaching Apprenticeships

The curriculum requires all students to participate as Teaching Apprentices (TAPS) for the first two semesters of their graduate study. TAPS are paired with advanced graduate student lecturers and professors to receive mentorship and experience in a broad-range of teaching-related skills. Students are not paid to serve as TAPS; the responsibilities associated with the position are designed to prepare students for potential careers as instructors/professors or other forms of scholarship. In addition, there are orientation and teacher training seminars offered during the first semester of graduate studies which all TAPS must attend. The seminars are designed to provide instrumental and interpersonal support for students as they build teaching, public speaking, and presentation skills.

4. Early Research Project

This project provides students with an opportunity to apply the knowledge gained in their research and statistics courses by pursuing research under the supervision of a faculty member who serves as the research mentor; on the recommendation of this mentor, students will deliver an oral presentation to the department and submit a written manuscript on their research project. The Master’s degree is conferred when students successfully complete 48 credits of required coursework and the oral and written portions of the Early Research Project.

5. Completion of the Comprehensive Theoretical Paper and Qualifying Portfolio

The theoretical paper is designed to demonstrate the student’s general theoretical knowledge and ability to apply this knowledge to the research process. It should review the important theories (historical and current) and ideas in the field of developmental psychology that are relevant to the student’s research interests, as well as demonstrate the student’s ability to use theory in the service of their program objectives. Students also must submit and present a Qualifying Portfolio that will allow faculty to evaluate their progress toward the dissertation and appropriateness for moving forward. The Qualifying Portfolio should include:

   a. An updated curriculum vita
   b. A transcript of completed course work
   c. Evidence of having met teaching goals
   d. Evidence of a successfully completed internship (e.g., a copy of the learning goals for the internship and how they were met)
   e. Any publications, presentations, sample term papers or reports that demonstrate research competency
   f. A plan for completion of the Ph.D. that should include:
   g. A timeline for further plans to complete coursework, develop competencies, and write a dissertation proposal
   h. A dissertation proposal outline and timeline for completion of the dissertation
   i. If students have had research experiences outside of Suffolk, they are encouraged to submit letters of recommendation from their collaborators
6. Doctoral Dissertation

The dissertation is the capstone research-training milestone and its successful completion demonstrates that the student has the substantially independent ability to formulate research or other scholarly activities (e.g., critical literature reviews, dissertation, efficacy studies, clinical case studies, theoretical papers, program evaluation projects, program development projects) that are of sufficient quality and rigor to have the potential to contribute to the scientific, psychological, or professional knowledge base, to conduct research or other scholarly activities, and to critically evaluate and disseminate research or other scholarly activity via professional publication and presentation at the local, regional, or national level.

Dissertation committees, which consist of at least three members evaluate students’ oral and written presentation of a dissertation proposal and the oral and written defense.

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's in Applied Politics Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet all the requirements of the undergraduate Political Science (BA or BS) or International Relations (BA only) major offered by the department of Political Science & Legal Studies.

2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master’s degree in Applied Politics (MAAP) or Global Public Policy (MAGPP).

3. Students will take two Political Science graduate courses during their senior year; one during the fall semester and one during the spring semester. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. The graduate courses taken during the senior year will be determined by the Political Science graduate program director.

5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

2. Teaching Apprenticeship

Students are required to serve as Teaching Apprentices (TAPS) for the first 2 semesters of their graduate study. TAPS are paired with advanced graduate student lecturers and professors to receive mentorship and experience in a broad-range of teaching-related skills. Students are not paid to serve as TAPS; the responsibilities associated with the position are designed to prepare students for potential careers as instructors/professors or other forms of scholarship. In addition, there are orientation and teacher training seminars offered during the first semester of graduate studies which all TAPS must attend.

3. Research Training Experiences

1. Supervised Research Laboratory Experience: Students are admitted into the clinical psychology program to work with an identified research mentor who supervises engagement in program-required research (the Early Research Project and Dissertation) and additional optional research activities and helps the student cultivate profession-wide research-related competencies.

2. Early Research Project: This project provides students with an opportunity to apply the knowledge gained in their research and statistics courses by pursuing research under the supervision of a faculty member who serves as the research mentor; on the recommendation of this mentor, students will deliver an oral presentation to the department and submit a written manuscript on their research project. The Master’s degree is conferred when students successfully complete 48 credits of required coursework and the oral and written portions of the Early Research Project.

3. Dissertation: The dissertation is the capstone research-training milestone and its successful completion demonstrates that the student has the substantially independent ability to formulate research or other scholarly activities (e.g., critical literature reviews, dissertation, efficacy studies, clinical case studies, theoretical papers, program evaluation projects, program development projects) that are of sufficient quality and rigor to have the potential to contribute to the scientific, psychological, or professional knowledge base, to conduct research or other scholarly activities, and to critically evaluate and disseminate research or other scholarly activity via professional publication and presentation at the local, regional, or national level. Dissertation committees, which consist of at least three members evaluate students’ oral and written presentation of a dissertation proposal and the oral and written defense.

4. Clinical Training Experiences

1. Practica: Two years of practicum experience are required

Electives (4 courses, 12 credits)

Electives may include any graduate course offered by the Political Science & Legal Studies Department. Other Suffolk University graduate courses may be taken as electives with the approval of the program director.

Language Requirement

In addition to their coursework, all students concentrating in Global Public Policy must demonstrate written proficiency in a language other than English. Students may enroll in language courses for the purpose of mastering the chosen language, but credits in those courses will not be applied toward the degree. Language proficiency should be demonstrated either prior to admission or by the end of the first year in the program.

Students can satisfy this requirement in one of the following ways:

1. Two years of study in a particular language at the undergraduate level, as demonstrated on an official or unofficial undergraduate transcript submitted to the graduate program director.

2. Native speakers of a language other than English, as demonstrated by at least two years of attendance at an undergraduate institution in which instruction was taught in a non-English language.

3. Completing/Passing ACTFL’s Reading Test for Professionals (RPT) at least a “novice-high” level. If you choose this option, please contact ACTFL to schedule an exam.

Graphic Design

Master of Arts in Graphic Design, MAGD

Degree Requirements: 12-15 courses, 36-46 credits maximum

Candidates for the master’s degree must complete a course of study consisting of 36-46 credits. Applicants possessing a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design can typically complete their master's degree with 36 credits of graduate study (700-level or higher).

Graphic Design Leveling Courses (3 courses, 10 credits)

Candidates who have not completed an undergraduate program of study substantially equivalent to the BFA in Graphic Design are required to complete leveling courses. The graduate program director evaluates the unique background of each student at the time of acceptance into the graduate program to determine the number and type of leveling courses that are required. Students may be required to complete up to 10 credits of leveling courses; most applicants will be able to waive some number of these based on professional background and prior academic experience. An additional 36 credits of graduate-level coursework is then required to earn the MAGD degree. Graduate students completing the leveling courses must maintain a 3.0 GPA in order to remain in good standing in the program.

Students complete or waive the following courses:

- ADG-S219 Computer Applications in Design 3
- ADG-224 History of Graphic Design 4
- ADG-S496 Masters Prep 3

Graphic Design Core Requirements (8 courses, 24 credits)

- ADG-S820 Graphic Design Graduate Studio I 3
- ADG-S822 Graphic Design Graduate Studio II 3
- ADG-S839 Masters Foundation I 3
- ADG-S840 Thesis Research 3
- ADG-S842 Graphic Design Thesis Studio 3
- ADG-S844 Graphic Design Thesis Documentation, Studio 3
- ADG-S849 Masters Foundation II 3

Choose one of the following:

- ADG-S740 Online Mobile Design 3
ADG-S773  UX/UI Design  3

Graphic Design Electives (4 courses, 12 credits)

Choose four courses from those listed below or, with approval from the MAGD Program Director, select graduate electives in other disciplines:

- ADG-700  Graphic Design Graduate Internship  3
- ADG-S705  Conceptual Typography  3
- ADG-S734  Publication Design  3
- ADG-S807  Experimental Design Studio  3
- ADG-810  Graphic Design Graduate Seminar  3
- ADG-850  Visual Communication Design Seminar  3
- ADG-910  Graphic Design Independent Study  3

Note: The letter "S" preceding a course number indicates a studio course, for which studio fee is assessed.

Thesis

The MAGD program culminates in a thesis, the development of a design solution(s) to an independent inquiry based on an original idea associated with a student’s chosen area of concentration. The thesis requires the successful completion of the following three-course sequence: Graphic Design Thesis Research (ADG-S840), Thesis Studio (ADG-S842), and Thesis Documentation (ADG-S844).

End-of-Semester Reviews and Thesis Exhibition

End-of-Semester Reviews are required for all master’s and pre-master’s students, as is participation in the Graduate Thesis Exhibition.

- Demonstrate professional practices such as team collaboration, idea and concept iteration, research and presentation skills, and the discipline to bring ideas to life
Interior Architecture

Master of Arts in Interior Architecture, MAIA

Degree Requirements: 11-21 courses, 30-61 credits maximum

The Master’s in Interior Architecture is a CIDA-accredited first professional degree program. Candidates for the Master's degree must complete a course of study consisting of a maximum of 61 credits; up to 31 credits may be waived based on professional background and prior academic experience.

Interior Design Leveling Courses (10 courses, 31 credits maximum)

Candidates who have not completed an undergraduate program of study substantially equivalent to a BFA in Interior Design are required to complete leveling courses. The graduate program director evaluates the unique background of each student at the time of acceptance into the graduate program to determine the number and type of leveling courses that are required. Some students may be required to complete up to 31 credits of leveling courses; others will be able to waive some number of these leveling courses based on prior undergraduate experience and professional background. An additional 30 credits of graduate-level coursework is then required to earn the MAIA degree.

Thesis

The Master’s program culminates with the completion of the master’s thesis, an original interior architecture project that focuses on selected aspects of design theory and aesthetics. Thesis Research (ADI-840), Thesis Design (ADI-S842), and Thesis Documentation (ADI-844) are intended as the final three courses in the Master’s program curriculum sequence. Successful completion of Thesis Research is a prerequisite for enrollment in Thesis Design, and successful completion of this course is a prerequisite for Thesis Documentation.

Portfolio Review and Thesis Exhibition

Master's candidates who need to complete leveling coursework will be subject to the same policies regarding regularly scheduled portfolio reviews as undergraduate students. Master's students are required to complete an exit portfolio review and participate in the Graduate Student Exhibition.

Internship

With the assistance of the faculty advisor, each student will identify an appropriate internship site with a local interior design firm. All interns are required to complete 150 hours of work/study within the semester, working under the direction of a qualified design professional. Interns are expected to contribute to the host firm at a high level of design interaction. Although the internship experience is non-credit bearing; students will prepare documentation and share learning experiences as part of the course ADI-849.

Medical Dosimetry

Master of Science in Medical Dosimetry

Degree Requirements: 14-18 courses with corresponding laboratories, 39-55 credits

Candidates for the master’s degree must complete a course of study consisting of 39-55 credits. Applicants possessing a Bachelor of Science in Radiation Therapy can typically complete their master's degree with 39 credits of graduate study.

Medical Dosimetry Leveling Courses (4 courses with corresponding laboratories, 16 credits)

Candidates who have not completed an undergraduate program of study in Radiation Therapy are required to complete up to 16 credits of leveling courses. The graduate program director evaluates the unique background of each student at the time of acceptance into the graduate program to determine the number and type of leveling courses that are required. An additional 39 credits of graduate-level coursework are then required to earn the MSMD degree.

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's in Mental Health Counseling Degree

Degree Requirements

1. Students admitted to this dual degree program must meet all the requirements of the undergraduate Psychology degree program.

2. Students must also meet all requirements for the Master’s degree in Mental Health Counseling.

3. The two graduate courses taken during the senior year will count toward BOTH the undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Credit hours will be awarded based on the graduate course description.

4. Before enrolling in a particular graduate course during the senior year, a student must obtain permission from the MHC graduate program director.

5. Students are subject to the usual standards for academic standing, i.e., undergraduate standards for undergraduate courses and graduate standards for graduate courses.

Upon successful completion of all of the degree requirements, a student will receive a dual Bachelor’s and Master’s degree. The exact degree (BA/BS and Master’s) will be awarded based on the specific undergraduate program the student completes. A student may permanently exit the dual degree program and opt to graduate with a Bachelor’s degree if all the requirements for a Bachelor’s degree have been met. In this case, the graduate courses taken in the senior year will be counted as 4-credit courses applied toward the undergraduate degree requirements.

Dual Degree Graduate Programs

Law School Dual Degree Programs

Juris Doctor and Master of Science in Criminal Justice Studies

Overview

The JD/MSCJS degree will be granted upon completion of 104 credits earned. Of this number, 80 credits must be completed in the Law School and 24 credits in the College of Arts & Sciences MSCJS curriculum. Specific course selections are arranged through the Associate Dean’s office in the Law School and the MSCJS program director.

All summer credits applied to the final semester of the dual degree program have been determined based on the semester credits of each individual program so as not to permit students to enroll in fewer than two credits in the final semester.

All dual degree candidates are subject to Section II (G) of the Rules and Regulations limiting credit for ungraded activities to two credits per semester. Any student who is not in good academic standing is disqualified from the dual degree programs. Law School Regulation VII (E) states that a dual degree candidate, who is academically deficient (as defined in the Law School regulations) within the Law School curriculum, shall be disqualified from the dual degree.

Application to the dual degree program may be made before entering Suffolk University, during the first year of full-time study in the MSCJS program, or during the first or second year of study in the Law School. The following tracks correspond to the three possible points of entry: first year MSCJS; first year Law School; second year Law School.

Degree Requirements - 104 credits

- 80 Law School credits
- 24 College of Arts & Sciences credits

Track I

This track is for students in full-time MSCJS study.

Third Year

• 2140 AD Professional Responsibility
This course may be taken at any time during the second or third year of Law School.

After the first year of Law School, students must complete a Professional Responsibility course, as specified by the Law School.

Fourth Year

Fall Semester
Electives in Law
Students are encouraged to pursue specific areas relevant to their interest in crime and justice by selecting classes and clinics/internships from available offerings. Evening students who have not completed their MSCJS requirements may elect to enroll in the Internship in Crime and Justice Studies course (CJ-783) to obtain direct experience in the field.

Spring Semester
Electives in Law

Track II

Track II of the JD/MSCJS program is substantially the same as Track I except that the first- and second-year curricula are reversed. This track is for first-year law students entering the dual degree program.

Track III

This track is for second-year law students entering the dual degree program. During years three and four, these students will take both law and MSCJS courses.

The Law School Curriculum and Requirements are available within the Law School catalog.

Concentrations

MBA/JD students that waive MBA core courses must substitute with graduate elective from within the Sawyer Business School. If at least nine (9) credits of core courses are waived, students may declare a concentration with three (3) electives from the same functional area. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester. Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy

If core courses (MBA-615, MBA-625, MBA-635, MBA-640, MBA-650, and MBA 660) are waived, student must substitute with an MBA elective.

If a 1.5 credit core course is waived, student may complete an independent study for 1.5 credits.

MBA/JD students must complete a minimum of 37 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School to be awarded the MBA portion of their dual degree.

Juris Doctor and Master of Public Administration

Overview

The MPA/JD is designed for students interested in integrating professional education in law with public administration. Students have a choice of two (2) curriculum tracks to follow and should contact The Institute for Public Service, for assistance selecting the right track to fit their schedule. Full-time students may register for a maximum of fifteen (15) combined credits per semester.

Students applying to this program must meet the admission requirements for both the MPA and the JD programs.

The requirements for the MPA/JD program are determined by the respective schools. The MPA/JD degree will be granted upon completion of 110-credit semester hours of work: 80-credit hours are completed in the Law School (see the Law School Academic Catalog for specific requirements) and a minimum of 30-graduate credit hours are completed in the Sawyer Business School’s MPA curriculum. Degrees will be awarded when all degree requirements for both programs are fulfilled.

All summer credits applied to the final semester of the dual degree program have been determined based on the semester credits of each individual program so as to require students to enroll in a minimum of two (2) credits in the final semester.

All dual degree candidates are subject to II (G) of the Rules and Regulations limiting credit for ungraded activities to two credits per semester. Any student who is not in good academic standing is disqualified from the dual degree programs. Law School Regulation VII (E) states that a dual degree candidate, who is academically deficient (as defined in the Law School regulations) within the Law School curriculum, shall be disqualified from the dual degree program.

MPA Curriculum (For Full-Time Students)

Students may follow one of two academic tracks, either completing their MPA requirements or their JD requirements first. Below are the MPA requirements for this program. Please contact the Suffolk Law School for more information on the required Law courses.

STEM Designation

The MSF is a graduate degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). For more detailed information, please visit the ISSO webpage.

If a concentration in Corporate Finance, Investments or Risk Management is declared, three electives must be in one concentration area.

If a concentration in Financial Services and Banking is declared students must complete FIN 816 and three approved Financial Services and Banking electives. If a concentration in FinTech is declared students must complete ISOM 730, FIN 830, one approved FIN elective and one approved ISOM elective. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy

To waive an MSF prerequisite course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF/JD matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To substitute an approved elective for an MSF Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSF/JD matriculation, with a “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver and substitution requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MSF/JD program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for prerequisite coursework. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSF/JD students must complete a minimum of 32 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for elective course transfer only and if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have earned a grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSF/JD program. However, at the discretion of the MSF program director, MSF required core courses or elective courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Waiver Policy

MBA Core and MSA Preparation Courses may be waived. MSA Core Courses may need to be substituted with an elective.

To waive an MBA Core Course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). To waive an MSA Preparation Course a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to the MBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). Exception: ACCT-800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

To substitute an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). Exception: ACIB-872 and TAX-801 will only be substituted if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA/MSA Program and are waived during the student's first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MBA/MSA students must complete a minimum of 48 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

For any candidate seeking transfer credits, courses taken at the graduate level from an AACSB accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA/MSA program. However, at the discretion of the MSA program director, accounting core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MBA/MSA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to ensure completion of the Suffolk MBA/MSA. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA or MSA Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MBA/MSA on a part-time basis online.

To waive an MSA Preparation Course a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to the MBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). Exception: ACCT-800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

To substitute an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). Exception: ACIB-872 and TAX-801 will only be substituted if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA/MSA Program and are waived during the student's first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MBA/MSA students must complete a minimum of 48 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

For any candidate seeking transfer credits, courses taken at the graduate level from an AACSB accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA/MSA program. However, at the discretion of the MSA program director, accounting core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MBA/MSA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to ensure completion of the Suffolk MBA/MSA. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA or MSA Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete all or a portion of their Suffolk MBA/MSA on a part-time basis online.

Master of Business Administration and Master of Science in Finance

STEM Designation

The MBA/MSF is a dual degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). For more detailed information, please visit the ISSO webpage.

Waiver Policy

MBA core courses may be waived. Among MSM courses, MKT-810 and MKT-920 may be waived. If waived, MKT-810 must be substituted with an MKT/MKIB elective.

To waive MBA 605, a student must have a minimum of one year post graduate relevant business experience. To waive all other MBA core courses, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA/MSM matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To waive MKT-810 a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to the MBA/MSM matriculation, earning a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). To waive MKT-920, a student must have prior relevant work experience.

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student’s acceptance into the MBA/MSM Program and are waived during the student’s first semester. A student may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for an MBA core course. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus with prior arrangements.

All MBA/MSM students must complete a minimum of 51 credits in the Sawyer Business School.
Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA/MSM program. However, at the discretion of the MSM program director, marketing core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. Waiver Policy

MBA Core Courses and Accounting Preparation Courses may be waived.

To waive an MBA Core Course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MBA/MST matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better. To waive an Accounting Preparation Course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level based on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) in the seven (7) years prior to MST matriculation, with a grade of “B” or better.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translation, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MBA/MST Program. Student may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MBA/MST student must complete a minimum of 48 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

For the MBA portion of the dual degree transfer credits must have an earned grade of “B” or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MBA/MST program.

However, at the discretion of the MST program director, tax required courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MBA/MST students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MBA/MST. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MBA or MST Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of B or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MBA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MBA/MST on a part-time basis online. The MST degree is not available online.

Concentrations

Students that waive a combined 3 courses under the Marketing Internship, Required Prerequisite, or Marketing Core courses may be able to use substituted courses towards a concentration in Global Marketing, Product Management, or Market Research and Customer Insights. Students may declare a concentration with three (3) electives from the same functional area. The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered varies by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form.
Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Global Marketing Concentration

Learn how to assess foreign market attractiveness, formulate marketing plans for global market entry and expansion, and devise marketing strategies in multiple areas of the world. Experience global marketing first-hand through an international travel course to cap off your MSM

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute an approved elective for an ISOM course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA/MSM matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To substitute an approved MSM elective for MBA-660 and MKT-920, or approved MKT/MKIB elective for MKT-810, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to the MSBA/MSM matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and students must provide official transcripts (with English translation, if applicable).

All substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA/MSM program.

All MSBA/MSM students must complete a minimum of 46 graduate credits (15 courses and SBS-700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree and must be substituted with an approved elective.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSBA/MSM program.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSBA/MSM students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to ensure completion of the Suffolk MSBA/MSM. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of “B” or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MSBA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MSBA/MSM on a part-time basis online. The MSM degree is not available online.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree and must be substituted with an approved elective.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MPA/MMOL program. However, at the discretion of the program director, required core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Course Substitution Policy

To substitute an approved elective for an MMOL required course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the 7 years prior to MMOL matriculation; grade of “B” or better; and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). MGT 610 can be substituted with an approved MMOL elective only if prior equivalent graduate coursework had been completed and also meets the above criteria.

MPA required course substitutions may be made at the discretion of the MPA Program Director based on student needs and current skill sets.

All course substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MPA/MMOL Program. All MPA/MMOL students must complete a minimum of 55 credits (18 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MPA/MMOL students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Program

Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MPA, MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers vary by program and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the respective SBS Graduate Program Office.

In order for a course to be considered, the following criteria must be met: must have an SBS graduate program course equivalent; received a grade of "B" or better; and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the SBS graduate degree program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the SBS graduate degree program to which they are applying.

Master of Science in Accounting and Master of Science in Finance

Concentrations

Students may declare a concentration in Business Intelligence, Corporate Finance & Accounting, Forensic Accounting, or Governmental & Not-for-Profit Accounting if they received enough MSA Core Course waivers for substitution.

Students may also declare a concentration in Corporate Finance, Financial Services and Banking, FinTech, Investments or Risk Management. If a concentration in Corporate Finance, Investments or Risk Management is declared, three or four electives must be in one concentration area.

If a concentration in Financial Services and Banking is declared students must complete FIN 816 and three approved Financial Services and Banking electives. If a concentration in FinTech is declared students must complete ISOM 730, FIN 830, one approved FIN elective and one approved ISOM elective.

Students should consult with their advisor if interested. Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form.

The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered vary by semester.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy

To waive a management preparation course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSA/MSF matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better.

To waive an MSA preparation course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better. Exception: ACCT-800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

To substitute an approved elective for an MSF Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSA/MSF matriculation, with a “B” or better.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSA/MSF Program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for management preparation courses. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSA/MSF students must complete a minimum of 56 credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy

For any candidate seeking transfer credits, courses taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

MSA specific transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSA/MSF program. MSF specific transfer credits must have earned a grade of “B” or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSA/MSF program. However, at the discretion of the program director, MSA Core Courses or MSF Core Courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits of Elective, MSA Core, or MSF Core Courses may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSA/MSF students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSF Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MSA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MSA/MSF on a part time basis online. The MSF portion of the degree is not available online.

Concentrations

Students may declare a concentration in Corporate Taxation if they received enough MSA Core Course waivers for substitution. Students may declare this concentration with five (5) electives from the same functional area.

Students may declare a concentration in Business Intelligence, Corporate Finance & Accounting, Forensic Accounting, or Governmental & Not-for-Profit Accounting if they received enough MSA Core Course waivers for substitution. Students may declare one of these concentrations with three (3) electives from the same functional area.

The schedule of when courses within a concentration are offered varies by semester.

Students who declare a concentration must submit an SBS Graduate Program Concentration Request Form. Students are encouraged to meet with their advisor before they declare a concentration.

The concentration appears on the transcript, not the diploma.

Waiver Policy
Management Preparation Courses may be waived. MSA Preparation Courses may be waived or may need to be substituted with an elective. MSA Core Courses may need to be substituted with an elective.

To waive a Management Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSA/MST matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better.

To waive or substitute an MSA Preparation Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA/MST matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better. Exception: ACCT 800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

To substitute an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA/MST matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better. Exception: ACIB 872 and TAX 801 will only be substituted if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSA/MST Program. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for management preparation courses. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSA/MST students must complete a minimum of 46 graduate credits (15 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Credit Policy
Any candidate seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate business program, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSA/MST program. However, at the discretion of the program director, MSA Core Courses or MST Core Courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete
Occasionally, Suffolk MSA/MST students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to ensure completion of the Suffolk MSA/MST. You may be able to transfer in six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited MSA or MST Program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's assistant dean of graduate programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MSA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MSA/MST on a part-time basis online. The MST degree is not available online.

Master of Science in Business Analytics and Master in Management and Organizational Leadership

STEM Designation
The MSBA/MMOL is a dual degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics)
Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). Course Substitution Policy

To substitute an approved elective for an MSBA core course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA matriculation, “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

To substitute an approved elective for an MMOL required course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the 7 years prior to MMOL matriculation; grade of “B” or better; and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). MGT 610 can be substituted with an approved MMOL elective only if prior equivalent graduate coursework had been completed and also meets the above criteria.

All course substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA/MMOL Program. All MSBA/MMOL students must complete a minimum of 52 credits (17 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidate seeking transfer credits taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree and must be substituted with an approved elective.

Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and be taken within seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSBA/MMOL program. However, at the discretion of the program director, required core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSBA/MMOL students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MSBA/MMOL. You may be able to transfer six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MSBA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MSBA/MMOL on a part-time basis online. The MMOL portion of the degree is not available online.

Course Substitution and Waiver Policy

To substitute an approved elective for a business analytics core course, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA matriculation, “B” or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All substitutions are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA/MHA Program.

The academic advisor of the Healthcare Administration Department evaluates each request for a course waiver and transfer credits. Such a request must be made in writing following an individual’s acceptance into, and decision to attend, the MHA Program and before the start of the student's first semester of courses. Waivers are limited to a total of 6 credits.

Any required course in the MHA Program is eligible to be waived, except for HLTH-705, HLTH-720, HLTH-840, HLTH-892, and HLTH-885 (for students who are required to do an internship).

To be eligible for a course waiver, a course must have been completed in a recognized undergraduate or graduate
Students who have completed a certificate program through the Suffolk University Moakley Center for Public Management may have an opportunity to reduce credit requirements to an SBS graduate degree program (MBA, MMOL, MSA, MST, MHA, MSBA, or MSM). All course waivers and/or transfers for the MSBA/MHA Program must be reviewed by Healthcare Administration Department.

In order for a course to be considered, the following criteria must be met: must have an MHA Program course equivalent; the student must have received a grade of "B" or better and successfully completed the certificate prior to enrolling in the MHA Program.

Applicants must also meet the admission standards for the MSBA/MHA Program.

Master of Science in Business Analytics and Master of Healthcare Administration Online

STEM Designation

The MSBA/MHA is a dual degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). For more detailed information, please visit the ISSO webpage.

To be eligible for a course waiver, a course must have been completed in a recognized undergraduate or graduate program in healthcare administration in an accredited U.S. college or university; been completed within the three years prior to the student being enrolled in Suffolk’s MHA Program; and be assessed as equivalent to the Suffolk course for which the waiver is sought, based on a review of the syllabus by the chairperson of the Healthcare Administration Department. The grade for a completed course must be a "B" or better.

All MSBA/MHA students must complete a minimum of 61 graduate credits (20 courses and SBS 700) in the Sawyer Business School. The number of credits approved for waiver are limited to a maximum of 6 credits.

Transfer Policy

To be eligible for transfer credits, a course must have been completed at the graduate level in a recognized graduate program in healthcare administration in an accredited U.S. college or university; been completed within the three years prior to the student being enrolled in Suffolk’s MSBA/MHA Program; and be assessed as equivalent to the Suffolk course for which the transfer credits are sought, based on a review of the syllabus by the chairperson of the Healthcare Administration Department. The grade for a completed course must be a "B" or better. In addition, the credits for a course for which a transfer is sought must not have been applied toward a previously completed degree.

All MSBA/MHA students must complete 61 graduate credits (or 64 credits if an internship is required) in the Sawyer Business School. The number of credits approved for transfer are limited to a maximum of 6 credits.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, a Suffolk MSBA/MHA student must leave the Boston area before completing their degree. The Sawyer Business School has several options available to enable completion of the Suffolk MSBA/MHA Program. A student may be able to transfer in six credits of elective courses from a recognized AACSB-accredited MSBA/MHA Program close to the new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk’s Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of “B” or better.

A student who leaves the area may also be able to complete their MSBA/MHA degree on a part-time basis online.

Transfer Credits from the Moakley Center for Public Management's Certificate Program

Course Substitution and Waiver Policy

To waive a management preparation course, a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA/MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better.

To waive an MSA preparation course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSA matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better. Exception: ACCT-800 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university.

To substitute an approved elective for an MSA Core Course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the five (5) years prior to MSBA/MSA matriculation, with a "B" or better. Exception: ACIB-872 and TAX-801 will only be waived if a student has completed prior coursework at a U.S. university. To substitute an approved elective for MSBA core course, a student must have successfully completed equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to MSBA/MSA matriculation, with a "B" or better.

Students must provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable). All waiver and course substitution requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA/MSA Program and are waived during the student's first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver of a management preparation course. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston Campus.

All MSBA/MSA students must complete a minimum of 46 graduate credits (15 courses and SBS-700) in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

For any candidate seeking transfer credits, courses taken at the graduate level from an AACSB accredited graduate program in business will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree.

MSA specific Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within five (5) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSBA/MSA program. However, at the discretion of the MSA program director, accounting core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. MSBA transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within the seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSBA/MSA program. If a course is approved it must be substituted with an ISOM elective. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSBA/MSA students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MSBA/MSA. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students may also be able to complete all or a portion of the MSBA/MSA degree on a part-time basis online.

Master of Science in Business Analytics and Master of Science in Finance

STEM Designation

The MSBA/MSF is a dual degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). For more detailed information, please visit the ISSO webpage.

Waiver Policy

To waive an MSF prerequisite course a student must successfully complete equivalent coursework at the undergraduate/graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to the MSBA/MSF matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

For FIN and ISOM core courses to be considered for substitution, a student must successfully complete equivalent academic coursework at the graduate level in the seven (7) years prior to the MSBA/MSF matriculation, with a grade of "B" or better, and provide official transcripts (with English translations, if applicable).

All waiver requests are evaluated upon a student's acceptance into the MSBA/MSF Program and are waived during the student's first semester. Students may also elect to take a proficiency exam, for a fee, to gain a waiver for the prerequisite courses. Proficiency exams must be taken in the first semester and are administered on the Boston campus.

All MSBA/MSF students must complete a minimum of 53 graduate credits in the Sawyer Business School.

Transfer Policy

Any candidates seeking transfer credits, taken at the graduate level from an AACSB-accredited graduate program in business, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. These credits may be considered for transfer if the credits do not apply to a previously completed degree. Transfer credits must have an earned grade of "B" or better and have been taken within the seven (7) years prior to entering the Suffolk MSBA/MSF program. However, at the discretion of the MSF program director, finance core courses may not be transferred if the subject material has changed significantly since completion. A maximum of six (6) credits may be considered for a transfer.

Students Who Leave Boston Before Their Degree is Complete

Occasionally, Suffolk MSBA/MSF students must leave the Boston area having not yet completed their degree. The Business School has several options available to insure completion of the Suffolk MSBA/MSF. You may be able to transfer six (6) credits of elective courses from an AACSB-accredited program close to your new place of residence. Courses must be pre-approved by Suffolk's Assistant Dean of Graduate Programs and have a grade of "B" or better.

Students who leave the area may also be able to complete the MSBA (all or a portion) of their Suffolk MSBA/MSF on a part time basis online. The MSF portion of the degree is not available online.

Master of Science in Business Analytics and Master of Science in Marketing

STEM Designation

The MSBA/MSM is a dual degree program with a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) designation. Due to the demand of graduates with expertise in STEM fields, the Department of Homeland Security permits international students graduating from STEM programs to apply for a 24 month extension of their initial year of Optional Practical Training (OPT). It is during the Counseling Skills Lab (COUNS-737) and the Mental Health Counseling Practica (COUNS-738 and COUNS-739) that a student demonstrates the ability to translate training into professional judgments and techniques. Students are required to apply formally for the Counseling Internship and to consult with their faculty advisors regarding their field placements. The Counseling Skills Laboratory and the Practicum must be completed with a grade of “B” (3.0) or higher. After two failed attempts to satisfactorily complete the clinical practicum and/or internship, students will be subject to dismissal from the program at the discretion of faculty. Student engagement in unethical behavior as defined by the American Counseling Association (ACA) will be subject to discipline, including potential dismissal from the program, at the time the indiscretion occurs.

Prerequisite: ADF-S101 or Instructor approval; Non-majors interesting in, taking art and design, courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the, ART course listings. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADF S152 - 3-Dimensional Design (3)
An understanding of form is critical to the, development of the professional artist or, designer. This course focuses on the use of line,, plane, and volume in space. The role of scale,, proportion, structure, surface, light, and display, are addressed as students create and document, objects that activate and convey a sense of space, and engage the viewer. The course proceeds from, work with simple forms and techniques to more, challenging and comprehensive problems that employ, a variety of media and approaches. Prerequisite: ADF S166 (2D/Color).

Prerequisite: ADF-S166; Non-majors interesting in taking art and design, courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the, ART course listings. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADF S156 - Imaging (3)
Digital visual image generation and modification,, especially when combined with traditional hand, techniques, are essential skills for artists and, designers of the 21st century. This course, introduces techniques of image capture,, manipulation and output. Weekly and longer-length, assignments will address creative and innovative, idea generation using these approaches.

Prerequisite: ADF-S166; Non-majors interesting in taking art and design, courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the, ART course listings. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADF S166 - 2D/Color (3)
The study of color and design is supportive of, every studio discipline and is vital to the, understanding of all visual media. This course, emphasizes the basic concepts and practices of, two-dimensional design and color theory. Students, employ an intensive, hands-on approach as they, explore and master the elements of design, (including line, shape, and value) and the three, fundamental properties of color (hue, value, and, strength). These skills are used in the construction of formally cohesive compositions, the development of arresting images, and the communication of visual ideas.

Prerequisite: Non-majors interesting in taking art and design courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the ART course, listings.

ADF S171 - CI: Integrated Studio I (3)

This cross-disciplinary course will integrate the ideas and practices of two-dimensional design, color and drawing. Emphasis will be placed on understanding the creative process, exploring, concepts and developing research skills. Students will undertake individual and, collaborative projects in three spaces; the, studio classroom, the digital world and the city, at large.

Prerequisite: Non-majors interesting in taking art and design courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the ART course, listings.

ADF S172 - CI: Integrated Studio II (3)

This course builds on the Integrated Studio I, experience: synthesizing fundamental visual, ideas. IS II investigates the construction, documentation, and transformation of volumetric, form, environmental space, and time. Projects, will explore narrative strategies and the, creation of immersive experiences. Students will, develop critical and analytical skills while, employing a range of traditional and digital, media as they explore the creative boundaries, of the classroom studio, the city of Boston, and, virtual space.

Prerequisite: ADF-S101; Non-majors interested in taking art and design courses for elective credit should refer to offerings under the, ART course listings.

ADG-Graphic Design

ADG 224 - History of Graphic Design (4)

The first part of the course will focus on the, history of graphic design from prehistoric times, to the Industrial Revolution, including the, origins of graphic communications in the ancient, world, the development of the alphabet and early, printing and typography. The second portion will, concentrate on the period from the late 19th, century to the present, and will include the Arts, and Crafts Movement, the various, isms and their, influence on modern art, the Bauhaus and, International Style, and contemporary visual, systems and image making.

Offered: Fall.

ADG S201 - Typography I (3)

This course will introduce students to the, creative use of typography in the design process, and will provide them with the skills, knowledge, terminology necessary to design with type.

Prerequisite: ADF-S166. Offered: Fall.

ADG S202 - Typography II (3)

This advanced course focuses on the translation, of the historical knowledge and hand skills, learned in Typography I into a digital format., Students will learn how to produce quality, typography, as well as experiment with and, explore letterform design and manipulation.

Prerequisite: Take ADG-S201 and ADG-S219 or ADPR-247. Offered: Spring.

ADG S204 - Design Beyond Design (3)

This course focuses on the multi-disciplinary, nature of the graphic design profession and the, designer as a visual communicator, critical, thinker and problem solver. Students will be, exposed to a series of outside topics to which, they will apply design solutions, mirroring the, range of fields in which designers today are, employed.

ADG S206 - Graphic Design I (3)

Emphasizing the creative process from thumbnail, to comprehensive, the course will also introduce, the student to the language, tools, and, techniques of the professional graphic designer., Attention will be paid to conceptualization,, production and presentation in solving design, problems. This course will expose students to a, series of assignments designed to show, step-by-step problem solving from observation and, research, to the incorporation of these findings, into the design of communication vehicles.

Prerequisite: ADF-S166. Offered: Fall.

ADG S207 - Graphic Design II (3)

A continuation of the skills learned in Graphic, Design I, involving projects that are broader in, scope, more in-depth, and address societal issues.

Prerequisite: Take ADG-206 and ADG-S219 or take ADPR-247. Offered: Spring.

ADG S213 - Design for Digital Communication (3)

This course will introduce basic digital, communication design skills to students in order, to prepare them for more advanced study. The, class will use a variety of industry standard, software to structure digital content and, understand how to communicate digitally., Information architecture, wire frames, interface, design, user experience and web page layouts will, be explored. The history, societal context and, future of emerging media will be discussed.

Prerequisite: ADG-S219, or Instructor Permission.

ADG S214 - Illustration for Designers (3)

This course introduces the skills necessary for, meeting client's illustration needs in a variety of media appropriate to their context. Emphasis, will be placed on developing the ability to draw, real objects and real people while advancing a, personal style., Students will be challenged to engage in visual, research, thumbnailing and rendering, in order to, present their ideas and concepts for their, illustrations.

Prerequisite: ADF-S102. Offered: Spring.

ADG S219 - Computer Applications in Design (3)

In this course students will learn the, industry-standard software applications used by, graphic designers. Through a series of technical, and design problems, students will learn how and, when to use specific software to produce their, solutions and prepare portfolio-quality design.

Offered: Fall.

ADG 337 - Professional Practice (3)

This senior-year course is designed to provide, final preparation for employment in the field of, graphic design. In addition to helping each, student develop a professional digital portfolio,, the course will provide students with practical, knowledge of the business aspects of graphic, design, interviewing skills, resume preparation,, personal branding and help students target, internship opportunities for the following, semester.

Prerequisite: Senior BFA status. Offered: Fall.

ADG HS334 - Honors Publication Design (3)

This course will focus on the skills necessary to, create text-heavy designs. The goals of this, course are, three-fold: to further enhance the understanding, of typography, to provide the skills and, knowledge necessary to design publications for, either a digital or print environment, and to, integrate the students' own art and/or, photography in their work.

Prerequisite: ADG-S202 and ADG-S207 and ADG-S219 or Instructor's Consent. CAS, Honors students only.

Offered: Fall.

ADG HS344 - Honors Graphic Design III (3)

This continuation of Graphic Design I and II (ADG, S206, 207) will concentrate on increasing, sophistication in creative problem-solving, abilities. Students will also develop an, understanding of prepress terms and operations and, the impact of technology on those operations. It, will also provide the knowledge and skills, necessary to enable students to make appropriate, prepress decisions regarding more complex, projects. Senior status preferred.

Prerequisite: ADG-S202, ADG-S207, and ADG-S219. Honors students only. Offered: Fall.

ADG HS345 - Graphic Design IV (3)

A continuation of the concepts and skills, developed in Graphic Design III and their, application to more complex, multi-pieced,, in-depth projects including a final capstone, project.

Prerequisite: Take ADG-S344. Honors students only.

ADG S311 - Integrated Advertising (3)

Integrated Advertising will provide instruction, towards creatively translating marketing needs, into innovative and effective advertising, solutions through a series of challenging, projects. Students will learn skills applicable, to the advertising industry by focusing on, creative executions across multiple-media, applications including print, direct mail,, collateral, outdoor, online and social media., There will be emphases on idea generation and, campaign development with the goal of message, communication through the balance of various, elements including page design, copywriting,, typography, illustration, photography and visual, effects. The history of advertising from the, early 20th century to the ever-changing, complexity of today's digital landscape will be, studied.

Prerequisite: ADG-S206 and ADG-S219, or Instructor Permission. Offered: Occasionally.

ADG S312 - Packaging Design (3)

In this course, students will study the evolution and history of packaging design, discuss philosophies, learn industry terminology and examine contemporary designs. Using case studies, students will analyze the package design process from concept to production and over the course of the semester, develop a line of packaging and supporting marketing materials for one brand.
Guest lectures and field trips will supplement readings and in-class discussions, which will address brand extension and consistency, packaging templates, professional procedures, product photography and printing.

Prerequisite: ADG-S201, ADG-S206 and ADG-S219.

ADG S330 - Motion Graphics (3)

Enter the world of motion graphics and learn how to make movies that incorporate image, type and video. This class will focus on learning to create moving graphics that are geared toward being broadcast on television, web, film, etc. Students will create time-based works such as title sequences, ads, and videos that they art, direct. In the very near future, motion design will be a necessary skill for designers to compete in the marketplace. Motion design can be applied to many areas of graphic design from on-screen presentation to environmental design to augmented and virtual reality AR/VR. During the class, students will build their motion design portfolio.

Prerequisite: ADG-S219, or Instructor Permission. Offered: Spring.

ADG S334 - Publication Design (3)

This course will focus on the skills necessary to create text-heavy designs. The goals of this course are three-fold: to further enhance the understanding of typography, to provide the skills and knowledge necessary to design publications for, either a digital or print environment, and to integrate the students’ own art and/or photography in their work.

Prerequisite: ADG-S202 and ADG-S207 and ADG-S219, or Instructor Permission. Offered: Fall.

ADG S340 - Online Mobile Design (3)

This course will cover the basics of web design, and development technologies including the most, up-to-date standards in coding and best practices. The objective is the development of advanced conceptual skills such as wireframing, prototyping, usability testing, interactive, philosophy, accessibility, project and content management. Students will learn industry-standard tools/frameworks and design practices for both, online and mobile technologies. In addition, students will end the course with enough knowledge to build a site, upload it and connect it to a domain of their choosing.

Prerequisite: ADG-S213, or Instructor Permission.

ADG S344 - Graphic Design III (3)

This continuation of Graphic Design I and II (ADG, S206, 207) will concentrate on increasing sophistication in creative problem-solving, abilities. Students will also develop an understanding of prepress terms and operations, and the impact of technology on those operations. It will also provide the knowledge and skills necessary to enable students to make appropriate, prepress decisions regarding more complex, projects. Senior status preferred.

Prerequisite: ADG-S202, ADG-S207, and ADG-S219. Offered: Fall.

ADG S345 - Graphic Design IV (3)

A continuation of the concepts and skills, developed in Graphic Design III and their application to more complex, multi-pieced, in-depth projects including a final capstone project.

Prerequisite: ADG-S344. Offered: Spring.

ADG S354 - Advanced Computer Applications (3)

In this course, students meet community needs by engaging in service-learning outside the classroom. This course is designed to further explore software applications for specific and experimental effects. It aims to provide students, with the knowledge and skills necessary to choose, the appropriate software application and to execute the desired design, focusing on the design itself rather than on the limitations of computer programs. The course also focuses on solving the technical and production problems, when preparing artwork electronically for printing. Students will use industry-standard software.

Prerequisite: ADG-S201, ADG-S206, and ADG-S219. Offered: Spring.

ADG S360 - Branding & Identity Design (3)

This course explores the issues of customer, experience and contemporary branding used to identify, establish and promote the business, community. Specific emphasis will be placed on the analysis and development of corporate identity systems including the development of logotypes, signage systems, environmental, graphics, websites, advertising and appropriate, collateral materials.

Prerequisite: ADG-S202 and ADG-S207. Offered: Occasionally.
ADG S373 - UX/UI Design (3)

UX, User Experience explores the process of, enhanced customer satisfaction and loyalty, through user-centered interactive design. Data, research, prototyping, testing and project, implementation are covered. Design-field best, practices are employed including typography,, composition, and color theory to prepare students, for their professional futures.

Prerequisite: ADG-S213 or Instructor Permission. Laptop with software Adobe Xd, &/or Sketch installed required.

ADG 400 - Graphic Design Internship (3-4)

Seniors are required to pursue an internship with, a local graphic design firm, whose work is, directly related to that student's intended area, of professional concentration. Interns will, observe and participate in all office procedures, permitted by their place of internship and will, be required to maintain a notebook of their, observations. Required classroom seminars will, reinforce new skills, share learning experiences, and answer questions or concerns.

Prerequisite: Senior BFA status. Offered: Spring.

ADG S496 - Masters Prep (3)

Masters Prep is designed to develop a student's, comprehensive knowledge of graphic design through, a concentration on fundamentals, theory, and the, application of design principles. In this course, students will complete a series of assignments, dedicated, but not limited to: color,, composition, and typography. The goal of Masters Prep is to develop and ingrain these core, foundational skills of design craft, enabling, students to apply them to projects throughout, their graduate coursework.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required. Students will need a laptop.

ADG 510 - Graphic Design Undergraduate Independent, Study (1-3)

An Independent Study provides the student with, the opportunity to examine an issue of interest, that falls outside the parameters of the existing, curricula. The student will work on a one-on-one, basis with a full-time faculty member to realize a particular and well-defined goal. All proposals, for Independent Study must be approved by the, Deans Office in advance of the semester during, which the work will be completed.

Prerequisite: Independent Study Forms must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office, the Art and Design Department Chair, and the Graphic, Design Program Director for approval.

ADG H510 - Honors Graphic Design Independent, Study (1-3)

In an Honors Independent Studio/Study, the student, works in an independent fashion, pursuing an area, of study that is outside the scope of existing, curricula. The student will work on a one-on-one, basis with a full-time faculty member to realize a, particular and well-defined goal. All proposals, for Independent Study must be approved by the, Deans Office in advance of the semester during, which the work will be completed.

Prerequisite: Independent Study Forms must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office, the Art and Design Department Chair, and the Graphic, Design Program Director for approval.

ADG HS510 - Honors Graphic Design Independent Study (1)

In an Independent Studio/Study, the student works in an independent fashion, pursuing an area of study that is outside the scope of existing curricula. Independent Study Forms must be submitted to the CAS Dean's Office for approval in addition to the Department Chair for approval.

ADG 700 - Graphic Design Graduate Internship (3)

The purpose of this course is to provide students, with an opportunity to explore areas within the, graphic design field that they have not, previously, experienced. Interns will observe and, participate, in all office procedures permitted by their place, of internship and will be required to maintain a, journal of their observations and submit sample, work. Required classroom seminars will reinforce, new skills, share learning experiences, and, answer, questions or concerns. Students with prior, extensive and documented work experience in the, field may be exempt from the internship, requirement, with the approval of the Masters in, Graphic Design Program Director; however, such, students will be required to substitute a, 3-credit studio elective for the internship.

Prerequisite: Consent of Program Director required. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG S705 - Conceptual Typography (3)

This course is designed to build on core, typography knowledge and further students’, understanding of the conceptual possibilities of, using type in design. Advanced typographic, problems requiring the implementation of both, traditional and alternative methods will, facilitate a deeper exploration of modern, communication issues including layered, hierarchies, type in motion, typographic voice, and, illustration.

Prerequisite: instructor's consent required.

ADG S730 - Motion Graphics (3)

This class will focus on learning and using, specific software to create moving graphics that, are geared toward being broadcast on television,, web or film. Students will create time-based, works, such as title sequences, ads, and videos that, they, art direct. In the very near future, motion, design, will be a necessary skill for designers to, compete, in the marketplace. Motion design can be applied, to many areas of graphic design from on-screen, presentation to environmental design. During the, class, students will build their motion design, portfolio that will give them an edge above, conventional print and web designers.

Offered: Spring.

ADG S734 - Publication Design (3)

This course focuses on the development of the, skills necessary for editorial design (books,, magazines, annual reports, etc.). Course goals, include an enriched understanding of typography, and typographic systems, advanced concentration on, grid/layout, and the development of long and short, form editorial design solutions for the print and, digital environment.

Prerequisite: ADG S601, ADG S607, and ADG S619.

ADG S740 - Online Mobile Design (3)

The objective of this course is the development of, advanced conceptual skills and best practices, related to designing for online and mobile, technologies. Assignments will focus on the core, principles of prototyping, usability testing,, interactive philosophy, accessibility, project and, content management. Students will develop, professional level multimedia skills by working, with HTML, XHTML and CSS and other relevant, industry-standard tools. Current technologies,, standards, software, and techniques for, distributions on mobile devices will be explored.

Prerequisite: ADG-S213 or ADG-S613 or Instructor permission. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG S743 - Advanced Topics in Interactive Design (3)

This course is designed to follow Web II (ADG, S340/ADG S740) and will prepare you for the, real-world experiences designers often encounter, in the field of interactive media. You will, continue your exploration of interactive design, and choose a final project direction that furthers, your understanding of interactive media. These, topics include designing for and implementing, Content Management Systems, designing and, production for mobile computing platform uses,, cross platform compatibility and concepts of, information architecture, and designing with an, emphasis on market needs for multimedia., , Prerequisite: ADG-S740. Offered: Occasionally.

ADG S773 - UX/UI Design (3)

UX, User Experience explores the process of, enhanced customer satisfaction and loyalty, through user-centered interactive design. Data, research, prototyping, testing and project, implementation are covered. Design-field best, practices are employed including typography,, composition, and color theory to prepare students, for their professional futures.

Prerequisite: Restricted to MA-Graphic Design students; Instructor consent, required.

ADG 810 - Graphic Design Graduate Seminar (3)

Everyone has a voice - in addition to audible, voices, each designer has their own visual voice., In this class we find and fine-tune students', visual voices through exercises designed to, discover the viewable threads that form and, define what embodies a visual voice. The journey, will take students through creating and analyzing, their own work and the work of designers and, artists in various fields of communication. The, class will culminate in a personally designed and, crafted book recording the experience.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG 850 - Visual Communication Design Seminar (3)

This seminar is designed to focus on, problem-solving from the point of view of strategy, development. The course will provide students with, the practical knowledge and tools necessary to, resolve design problems holistically. Assignments, will focus on the research of historical and, contemporary case studies, analysis and, development of design problematics and resulting, visual solutions.
Offered: Spring.

ADG S807 - Experimental Design Studio (3)

This course provides students the opportunity to, push past the exclusive generation of pixel, perfect vectors; exploring making methodologies, that are simultaneously linked to historic, practices as well as the modern avant-garde of, graphic design. Assignments will focus on the, generation of compositions and visual systems, through the use of both unconventional and digital, means. Student will be exposed to alternative, perspectives and techniques; enriching their, graphic design worldview.

Prerequisite: Program Director Consent Required.

ADG S808 - Experimental Design Studio II (3)

Building upon the core competencies of ADG-S807:, Experimental Design Studio II provides students, the opportunity to broaden the development of, their problem-solving capabilities, while, enriching their professional development., Assignments will focus on iterative problem, solving, process and prototyping, designer as, author and content creator. The course will have a, strong emphasis on individual and peer, critique/assessment as well as mentoring.

Prerequisite: Take ADG-S807 previously or concurrently. Program Director, Consent Required.

ADG S820 - Graphic Design Graduate Studio I (3)

In this graduate studio, students will explore, complex graphic design problems, particularly, those requiring a multi-disciplinary approach., The goal of the course is to extend the student's, viewpoint beyond simple one-dimensional solutions, and to encourage thoughtful and inventive design,, and innovative problem-solving.

Offered: Fall.

ADG S822 - Graphic Design Graduate Studio II (3)

In this advanced-level studio, students will, continue their exploration of the more complex, graphic design projects begun in Graphic Design, Graduate Studio I (ADG S820), with the emphasis, on design problems requiring a multi-disciplinary, approach. Students will be exposed to projects, that encompass a broad variety of design, circumstances, and they will be encouraged to, guide clients to more inventive and unique, solutions. Each project assigned has a, student-generated component in its selected topic, and scope. The formation of project details, requires students to engage in considerable, research prior to starting the application of, design.

Prerequisite: ADG S820. Offered: Spring.

ADG S839 - Masters Foundation I (3)

Developing and building an advanced comprehensive, knowledge of fundamental skills in graphic design, craft, enables students to apply them throughout, their graduation coursework. Students will, experience a series of rapid-fire exercises,, including but not limited to, composition, color,, understanding typography, and the application of, the conceptual thought processes.

ADG S840 - Thesis Research (3)

The Master's program in Graphic Design culminates, in a thesis, an independent project based on an, original idea designed and developed by the, student in concert with a team of advisers. Thesis, Research Studio requires the definition of a, graphic design problem, research of case studies, and visual works relevant to the thesis topic, and, the creation of an outline for the thesis studio, project. The class will culminate in the, preparation of printed documentation, as well as, an oral/visual presentation. All students are, required to attend meetings outside of the, scheduled class time for one on one instruction, with their professor/adviser.

Prerequisite: For Master Graphic Design students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG S842 - Graphic Design Thesis Studio (3)

The Graphic Design Thesis is a focused independent, project on a single, original topic, developed by the student, working, in conjunction with a team, of advisors. During this studio course students, will test various formats, for visualizing their thesis and will execute the, design work necessary to, realize their project. Emphasis will be placed on, creative inquiry and the, development of unique solutions that are, conceptually strong and content, rich. The final thesis will be comprised of the, design project along with, extensive written documentation. Students must, demonstrate independence in, relation to their own design process and the, ability to realize a complex, graphic design solution,, , ,

Prerequisite: ADG-S840. For Master Graphic Design students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG S844 - Graphic Design Thesis Documentation, Studio (3)

This course represents the final module of the, MAGD thesis sequence. Having defined the design, problem, completed the necessary research, and, developed the design solution(s); students will, document their thesis in written and visual form., Thesis documentation consists of the visual, presentation of the developed design solution(s), as well the production of a final thesis document, in a form/format appropriate to the thesis work, product. All students are required to attend, meetings outside of the scheduled class time for, one-on-one instruction with their professor/thesis, adviser(s).

Prerequisite: ADG-S842. For Master Graphic Design students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADG S849 - Masters Foundation II (3)

Discover connections where one least expects, them. Through a series of exercises and, assignments students will take on themes such as, aesthetics, structure, context, deconstruction,, and critical thinking while turning them into, their own methodologies. Students will walk away, knowing how to depend on their own thinking as a, practical routine to tackle complex creative, problems without the fear of being wrong.

ADG 910 - Graphic Design Independent Study (3)

An Independent Study provides the student with, the opportunity to examine an issue of interest, that falls outside the parameters of the existing, curricula. Students work one-on-one with a, full-time faculty member to realize a particular, and well-defined goal. Proposals for Independent, Studies must be approved by the College of Arts , Sciences Dean's Office in advance of the semester, during which the work will be completed.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required.

ADI-Interior Design

ADI 1 - Introduction to Interior Design & Decoration (2)

Through both lectures, discussion and studio work,, students will be shewnemploy basic drafting and, graphic communication techniques used in, presentation of visual ideas, as well as,, Participants will learn various elements of, interior composition, such as space planning,, color, furniture, finish and material selection,, Manual and Digital tools will be used. The course, is elective course allows students to employ, iterative, process based thinking and consider its, relevance to their own disciplines. The course is, also designed to aid studentsfor those in, determining whether to interested in pursuing a, career in interior design and decorating. design,. Each project may be The final project will be, suitable for inclusion in an application , portfolio

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S106 - Interior Design Communications (3)

Interior Design Communications teaches students, how drawing media, observational drawing,, perspective theory, color and design graphics can, be integrated into the designer's process.. In addition to exploring contrast, accent,, reflection, shade and shadow, the course, underscores the importance of freehand sketching, as a tool to foster intellectual inquiry and, convey design concepts to a wider audience. The, course introduces students to manual and digital, methods for composing work for conceptual, expression, technical drawing presentation and, portfolio purposes. , Design comprises of a series of iterative steps, where ideas, of increasing complexity, are, conveyed with an increasing variety of visual, tools. This course therefore introduces students, to the techniques that designers employ in the, process of creating interior spaces,, , Rather than merely illustrative devices, the, course reveals how designers use drawings as, tools. Like any tool, design communication, requires practice and frequent application. The, goal therefore, is to introduce a series of, techniques that may be exercised in subsequent, courses in order to convey ideas in studio and in, design presentations.

Prerequisite: ADI-S101 and ADI-S110. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S107 - Spatial Graphics (3)

Students will employ a range of computer programs, used in the design industry. Exercises will, introduce students to Building Information, Modeling, vector graphics and raster file, formats. , 2D and 3D compositional and graphic principles, will also be explored in order that students, better understand the importance of file, hierarchies and the efficient organization of, digital workflow,. Import and Export functions will to enable, students to work between applications in order to, integrate images, drawings and vector graphics, into their design presentations. Vector graphics, will also be employed to generate 3D artifacts, using digital fabrication tools,. , Prior drafting, Raster and Vector graphic, experience recommended.

ADI S110 - Digital Orthographics (3)

This course will provide students with an, understanding of orthographic principles and, their importance to spatial thinking and design, communication. Students will produce manual, drawings in order to manipulate scale. Students, will employ Computer Aided Drafting (CAD), software to create measured architectural plans,, elevations and sections. The course will, introduce students to file management skills and, develop proficiency in using cloud based, resources. Students will employ virtual, workspaces to conduct work in, and out of class., Vector graphic software will also be used to, compose work, manipulate technical drawings and, illustrate plans and sections for portfolio use.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 223 - History of Furniture & Architecture (4)

This course provides students with the skills to, critically analyze historic styles and examine, the impact they have had on design. Emphasis will, be placed on chronological periods, from, antiquity to the 21st century. By examining, visual characteristics of each time period, the, course reveals how geography, culture and, societal values have shaped furniture and, architecture for centuries. The course also, introduces terminology germane to a study of, contemporary furniture and architecture styles., Using the city of Boston as a reference point,, students will explore issues of preservation,, restoration, rehabilitation, and adaptive re-use, in order to identify how the region's design, landscape is adapting to environmental and social, demands.

ADI 234 - History & Theory of Interior, Architecture (3)

This course introduces students to the important, individuals, ideas and issues that have shaped, the direction of contemporary interior design, practice in the twentieth century, building upon, the historical foundation established by the, Ideas of Art History and History of Furniture and, Architecture classes. Intermixing lectures and, readings with visits to important local, buildings, it discusses the influences of, culture, technology, fashion and media upon the, work and thinking of the first generation of, modern designers, as well as emerging social,, moral and environmental imperatives that will, form, the basis of future practice; cultural identity,, interdisciplinary collaboration, sustainability, and universal design.

Prerequisite: ADI-S201 (Concurrently). Offered: Fall.

ADI 242 - Interior Codes & Construction (3)

This course examines various interior construction, assemblies of non-load-bearing walls, load-bearing, walls, floors, stairs, elevators, fireplaces,, ceilings, doors,, interior windows, frames,, millwork and fire-related construction. Emphasis, will be placed on building codes including state., BOCA, Underwriters Laboratory, ASTM, state and, federal accessibility codes and construction, materials. Students will also be introduced to, basic structural concepts and characteristics of, structural materials.

Prerequisite: ADI-S110. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 244 - Interior Materials & Finishes (3)

Students will study the visual qualities,, technical characteristics and applications, of the common materials and finishes used in, interior installations. These materials include, floor coverings, wall coverings, textiles,, ceiling and sustainable materials. Related fire,, health and safety codes, as well as maintenance, and life cycle costs, will be discussed. Class, material will be presented in the form of, lectures, guest speakers and a tour of the Boston, Design Center. Students will learn to, analyze, select and specify materials and, finishes for the appropriate applications,, write specifications, and prepare a resource, notebook.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 254 - Lighting (3)

This course introduces students to the art and, technology of lighting. This studio course, explores the use of lighting as a design element, in the interior environment. Participants will be, presented as a series of acquire knowledge through, lectures, readings and demonstrations. They, Students will apply this information in design, projects employing manual and digital simulations, of lighting design. Students will learn to analyze, interior lighting installations, calculate, lighting levels for interiors, select appropriate, light fixtures and prepare design a lighting plan, schemes for different typologies.

Prerequisite: ADI-S110. Prior drafting or CAD experience recommended. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S201 - Interior Design Studio I (3)

This studio introduces students to basic design, principles, design theory and concept development., Emphasis will be placed on design process, problem, solving, spatial organization, anthropometrics,, universal design awareness, and presentation, techniques. Students will be given, a series of projects of increasing, complexity, utilizing and building, upon the skills developed in the Foundation, courses. Students will be expected to produce, process diagrams, plans, elevations, models, and, finish boards.

Prerequisite: ADF-S152, ADI-S110 and ADI-S106. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S202 - Residential Design Studio (3)

This course addresses residential interior, environments on a large scale. Students will, develop client contact and programming skills. Emphasis will be placed on residential precedents, design process, human factors, accessibility, building codes, diagramming, spatial organization, detailing, presentation techniques, furnishings, finishes and lighting.

Prerequisite: ADI-S201 and ADF-S102. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S215 - Human Factors & Inclusive Design (3)

In this course, students will explore how, physiological and psychological factors inform, the design of space. Students participate in a series of design challenges that explore topics, such as anthropometrics, ergonomics, and, proxemics. The seven principles of universal design will be examined through a sequence of "charrette" exercises. Students will solicit input, from User-Experts and employ a more inclusive, design process to develop equitable design, solutions. In doing so, culture, gender, age, and physical ability will be identified as, catalysts for creativity and innovation.

ADI S264 - Advanced Interior Design Communication (3)

As a continuation of the Interior Design, Communication course, students will develop, proficiency in communicating aspects of the design process. These "process" skills include, digital wireframe modeling and manual drawings, enhanced by digital tools. Students will employ, three-dimensional rendering software to enhance, perspectives and create walk-through, visualizations of their digital models. Movie, editing software will be used to create, multimedia presentations and students will learn, to employ a variety of media formats for, presenting their work.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S106 and ADI-S110 (Required), Take ADF-S101 (Recommended). Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 306 - Portfolio (3)

This course employs manual and digital skills to, develop a professional portfolio. Students will, investigate key components of portfolio content, and consider how existing graphic skills can be, employed to demonstrate ideas creatively and, substantively. Through hands-on mock up and, layout techniques students compare and contrast, different presentation formats in advance of, digital composition. Students will also explore, methods for documenting and archiving their own, work. In addition to presenting final work, students will also explore ways to present, research, schematic analysis and precedent, investigations.

Prerequisite: Senior Status. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 352 - Environmental Systems (3)

This course studies mechanical, electrical, and, plumbing technology and systems commonly, employed in residential and commercial interiors. It will introduce students to the vocabulary, concepts and basic components of these fields, of engineering. This will enable students, to integrate these building systems in their, design work and communicate ideas effectively, with project engineers and contractors. The course, will include commonly used heating, ventilating, air conditioning, plumbing, piping and fixtures, fire sprinklers, electrical, supply and distribution, smoke detection and, fire alarm systems. Related mechanical, electrical and plumbing codes will also be, discussed.

Prerequisite: ADI-242. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 390 - Marketing, Contracts, & Internship (4)

This course covers the business aspects of, interior design, including firm management, client, and contractor relationships, project, management, proposal writing, and market, resourcing. In addition, students will be exposed, to career planning practices, such as portfolio, development, resume preparation and interviewing, techniques. Tours of architectural and interior, design firms will also be included. Students may, complete the required internship hours during or, prior to taking this course. In the final stage, of the class each participant will systematically, analyze their experience of practice. They will, compare and contrast the business models within, which they have worked and present these to their, peers.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S201.

ADI 398 - Senior Programming & Pre-Design (3)

This course is designed to be the first part of, the BFA Senior Studio in Interior Design. The, senior ID project is intended as the culmination, of the interior design studio sequence. It is an, individual effort, supported by the studio, faculty, that is inclusive of the entire design, process from the programming phase through final, design and documentation. The objective of part, one, Senior Programming Pre-Design, is for, individual students to research, develop, and, draft a program document which will guide their, design work in part two, Senior Studio. Students, will explore the possible project types and, precedents, select and develop a client profile, and program, and research and analyze an, architectural site. Written and graphic analysis, tools will be employed. The preliminary, conceptual (pre-design) phase of work is also introduced.

Prerequisite: ADI-S201, ADI-S202, ADI-S303, ADI-S304, and ADI-S372. Offered: Spring.

ADI S303 - Contract Design Studio I Workplace (3)

This commercial design studio focuses on the design of work environments. Students will develop programming and space planning skills, unique to these environments through a series of small- to medium-sized projects. Emphasis will be placed on commercial precedents, programming, design process, human factors, building codes, ADA, spatial organization, detailing, presentation techniques, office furniture, systems, equipment, finishes, and lighting.

Prerequisite: ADI-S202 and ADI-S264. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S304 - Furniture and Detailing Studio (3)

This course introduces students to the design process as it applies to furniture, addressing furniture ergonomics, materials, construction techniques, manufacturing, and design. Students will research selected topics, and design seating, work/service pieces and cabinetry. Emphasis will be placed on furniture precedents, research, design process, human factors, accessibility, detailing, documentation and presentation techniques.

Prerequisite: ADI-S201 and ADI-S264. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S305 - Contract Design Studio II Urban Ecology (3)

This studio focuses on adaptive re-use and renovation of commercial interiors with attention, given to historical buildings in the Boston area. Emphasis is on creative problem-solving methods, and a philosophical approach to medium- and, large-scale hospitality and retail design. Students will be required to incorporate the skills and knowledge gained throughout their studies to create a comprehensive project, including presentation drawings, models, material, and furniture boards, and a set of construction, documents and specifications.

Prerequisite: ADI-S372, ADI-S303 and ADI-223. Offered: Fall.

ADI S372 - Construction Documents (3)

Building on the curriculum of Orthogonal Drawing, this course will explore in more detail the features of CAD and BIM software. Programs will be used as tools to draft, organize, and produce a, set of construction documents. Students will, complete a full set of contract documents.

Prerequisite: ADI-S110 and ADI-S201. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI S398 - Senior Programming & Pre-Design (3)

This course is designed to be the first part of the BFA Senior Studio in Interior Design. The senior ID project is intended as the culmination of the interior design studio sequence. It is an, individual effort, supported by the studio faculty, that is inclusive of the entire design process from the programming phase through final design and documentation. The objective of part one, Senior Programming Pre-Design, is for individual students to research, develop, and draft a program document which will guide, their, design work in part two, Senior Studio. Students, will explore the possible project types and precedents, select and develop a client profile, and program, and research and analyze an architectural site. Written and graphic analysis, tools will be employed. The preliminary conceptual, (pre-design) phase of work is also introduced.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S201, ADI-S202, ADI-S303, ADI-S304, ADI-S372. Senior, Interior Design majors only.

ADI HS401 - Senior Studio (3)

This studio course completes the undergraduate, studio sequence in Interior Design. This final, design studio emphasizes individual competence, with respect to the total design process. Students, will utilize the research and programming document, produced in ADI 398, Senior Programming, Pre-Design, to develop a comprehensive design, solution for their individual studio problem, through schematics, design development, presentation drawings and specifications.

Prerequisite: ADI-S201, ADI-S202, ADI-S303, ADI-S304, ADI-S305, ADI-S372, and ADI-398. CAS Honors students only.

ADI S401 - Senior Studio (3)

This studio course completes the undergraduate, studio sequence in Interior Design. This final, design studio emphasizes individual competence, with respect to the total design process. Students, will utilize the research and programming document, produced in ADI 398, Senior Programming, Pre-Design, to develop a comprehensive design, solution for their individual studio problem, through schematics, design development, presentation drawings and specifications.
ADI 510 - Undergraduate Independent Study (4)

An Independent Study provides the student with the opportunity to examine an issue of interest that falls outside the parameters of the existing curricula. The student will work on a one-on-one basis with a full time faculty member to realize a particular and well-defined goal. All proposals for Independent Study must be approved by the Dean's Office in advance of the beginning of the semester during which the work will be completed.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's Office.

ADI H510 - Honors Undergraduate Independent Study (3)

An Independent Study provides the student with the opportunity to examine an issue of interest that falls outside the parameters of the existing curricula. The student will work on a one-on-one basis with a full time faculty member to realize a particular and well-defined goal. All proposals for Independent Study must be approved by the Dean's Office in advance of the beginning of the semester during which the work will be completed.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's Office.

ADI 706 - Graduate Portfolio (3)

This course provides students with the opportunity to compose a professional folio as well as prepare their Thesis process studies for the final exit portfolio review. Students will address key elements of portfolio content, through in-class demonstrations and hands-on exercises, students explore mock up, layout and compositional techniques. In addition to composing their final Thesis studies, students will employ more advanced concepts pertinent to the composition and printing of multi-page documents.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 808 - 3-Dimensional Color Theory (1)

The lecture component of this course will explore color's influence on the physiological and psychological disposition of human beings. In-class discussions and short exercises will provide students with hands-on exploration of these concepts in relation to their Thesis Studio project. In doing so elements of color theory will be made relevant to each participants own, work.

Terminologies pertinent to color theory, will be explored in context to their use in the built environment.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S847 concurrently (Required), Take ADI-S202 (Recommended).

ADI 840 - Thesis Research (3)

Students are expected to identify a thesis topic, conduct research, interpret it abstractly, identify an appropriate design vehicle that will prove the thesis, then program the project, select a site, and begin pre-schematic design. The course is conducted in seminar format and is dedicated to self-directed independent research. Students learn research techniques, fact finding, scholarly writing conventions, and information organization, and are exposed to philosophical arguments that attempt to establish rules of language regarding design and art. Aesthetic, theory, research, abstraction and programming are addressed as the basis of design. During class discussions, close attention is given to the construction of a thesis, preparation of its argument and justification.

Graduate candidates must earn a grade of B- or better in ADI 840 inclusive of any continuation courses, in order to proceed to ADI S842.

Prerequisite: ADI-S372 OR ADI-S772; Open to graduate students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 844 - Thesis Documentation (3)

This course represents the final phase of the thesis process and constitutes the conclusion of the Master's program sequence. Having defined the design problem, and completed the research and design portions, the student will then document the project in written and visual form. The components will include construction documents and specifications as well as a book in which the thesis proposal and results are composed in both text and images. The MAID thesis document serves as an exposition of the process and nature of the thesis program and ultimately serves as a resource of interior design research for the greater design community. Open to graduate students only.

Prerequisite: ADI S842, Open to graduate students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADI 849 - Entrepreneurship With Internship (3)

This course will cover the business aspects of interior design, including firm management, client and contractor relationships, project, management, proposal writing, and market, resourcing. In addition, students will explore career planning practices and consider the importance of independent entrepreneurship. Strategies for creating physical and online, portfolios will be covered along with resume, composition. Participants will gain exposure to a, variety of professional design and advocacy, groups. Students will also participate in network, and interviewing sessions with design, professionals. Although students may complete the, required internship hours prior to taking this, course, every participant will systematically, analyze their experiences of practice., characterizing the business models within which, they have worked.

ADI 851 - Style, Culture, & Theory

Students will learn how style culture and theory, influence, or inform, the adaptation of, buildings. Students evaluate two sites and, establish criteria for determining the capacity, of each to accommodate a new program of use., Students identify existing documentation for, these buildings and create a weighting system to, compare and contrast the two. Lectures, readings, and research exercises enable students to assess, geographic, environmental and technological, conditions of each site and depict these, conditions in a variety of maps and diagrams.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S853 concurrently (Required), Take ADI-S202 (Recommended).

ADI S842 - Interior Design Thesis Studio (3)

Comprised an independent project executed by each, student working with a team of advisors., Realization of the thesis project includes, schematic design, design development and a final, thesis presentation. Students must demonstrate an, understanding of the historical, technological, and aesthetic parameters of interior architecture, and design. Students must demonstrate, independence in relationship to their own design, process and ability to realize an interior design, project. Students unable to successfully complete, the design development review will be required to, enroll in the subsequent Thesis Studio, Continuation., Open to graduate students only.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-851 concurrently.

ADI S852 - Urban Ecology Studio: The Workplace (3)

This studio focuses on the design of work, environments. The course will explore the history, of the workplace and the social, economic and, cultural factors that will shape our relationship, to work in the future. Students will develop, research, programming and planning skills unique, to these environments. In doing so students will, consider how workplaces integrate human factors,, building codes, accessibility and regulatory, requirements through spatial organization,, detailing, furnishing systems, equipment,, finishes, and lighting.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S202 (Recommended).

ADI S853 - Graduate Lighting Studies

This course enables students to apply advanced, technical information, and creative approaches,, to lighting design. Students will study natural, and artificial lighting techniques and consider, the ways in which both impact the human, experience of space. Color, lamp source,, measurement methods, and lighting control systems, will be addressed. Students will apply these, topics to a studio exercise in order to better, understand how site and planning constraints, inform the designers lighting strategy.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-851 concurrently.

ADI S854 - Design Documentation (3)

Building on the curriculum of Digital, Orthographics, students will gain a more in-depth, knowledge of computer aided design and building, information modeling software. Students will, employ new and familiar computer programs to, draft, organize and compile a set of construction, drawings. The course requires students to manage, more complex layers of information and develop, strategies for managing their work virtually.

ADI S855 - Urban Ecology Studio: Living Systems (3)

This studio focuses on the design of environments, for health and wellness. The course will conduct, research into existing precedents in order to, understand the social, economic and cultural, factors that shape the way we design for human, wellbeing. Students will develop research,, programming and planning for a multi-faceted, facility. In doing so students will consider how, health and wellness integrate human factors,, building codes, accessibility and regulatory, requirements through spatial organization,, detailing, furnishing systems, equipment, finishes, and lighting. Students will explore, the physiology of the human being and consider, how complex systems can be addressed at a human, and architectural scale. Using the city of Boston, as a platform for inquiry students will engage, with a variety of stakeholders to better, understand this evolving field of inquiry.

Prerequisite: Take ADI-S852.

ADI S857 - Graduate Lighting Studies (3)

This studio course explores the design of natural, and artificial lighting for interior environments., Knowledge will be acquired through lectures,, readings and demonstrations. Students will apply, this knowledge to design exercises, employing, manual and digital simulations of light to, communicate their ideas. Students will learn to, measure, analyze and calculate lighting levels., They will learn to select appropriate light, fixtures and integrate these into design, documentation drawings. In doing so participants, will learn how site and planning constraints, inform lighting strategies and consider how, lighting design impacts the human experience of, space.

Prerequisite: MAIA students only. Do not take if ADI-851 and ADI-S853 have been, taken previously.

ADPR-Advertising Public Relations and Social Media

ADPR 101 - Introduction to Advertising, Public, Relations, and Social Media (4)

An introduction to the discipline addressing, social science, humanities and practical, approaches to the study of Advertising, Public, Relations Social Media. Students investigate, the broad themes and foundational concepts which, unify these diverse fields.

ADPR 102 - Professional Development (1)

In this hands-on experiential course, students, examine potential career paths in Advertising,, Public Relations, and Social Media, become, oriented to the university and the surrounding, Boston area, and identify professional resources, in Boston that foster career development.

ADPR 103 - Presentations Skills (4)

The development and delivery of oral, presentations. Students acquire skills in oral, and physical delivery, organization, persuasion,, critical thinking, and use of support media.

ADPR 110 - Introduction to Debate (3)

The basic principles, techniques and processes of, argumentation and debate research are examined., The ability to create, analyze, research, and, produce complex arguments is the central focus of, the course. Students will learn to examine, argumentation as a tool for both inquiry and, advocacy. Students will develop an experiential, focus upon critical examination of issues and, ideas and the use of argumentation to support and, defend a position. Open to Boston Debate League, students only.

Prerequisite: Boston Debate League students only.

ADPR 177 - Professional Communication (4)

An introduction to the processes of professional, communication, with emphasis on oral, presentations, report writing, effective, listening, and interpersonal communication in the, business environment.

Offered: Occasionally.

ADPR 210 - Communication Research Statistics (4)

The course develops an understanding of how, statistics are used in the presentation of, information and arguments in Advertising, Public, Relations Social Media. Emphasizing a, conceptual approach to learning statistics, the, course focuses on data collection and, summarization, correlation, regression, sampling,, estimation, and tests of significance. Students, perform basic statistical calculations using SPSS, software.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADPR 217 - Gay and Lesbian Studies (4)

Examines the portrayal of homosexuality in, political, social, and cultural discourse., Analyzes the role of media and symbolic, construction in the shaping of public values,, opinions, and social movements.

Offered: Alternates Fall and Spring.

ADPR 219 - Rhetoric of Protest and Reform (4)

Examines the persuasive strategies of social, reform movements with special emphasis on the, civil rights', women's rights, and gay rights, movements in the United States.

Students learn to use social media for community formation, social presence, identity building, and social activism. The roles of advertising, public relations, and branding are examined.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADPR 297 - Web Design (4)

Students learn HTML, CSS and Widgets for the construction, design and posting of web sites. In addition, we examine the use of websites, mobile sites for advertising, public relations, search, engine optimization, and marketing.

Offered: Fall, Spring.
ADPR 299 - Blogs and Blogging (2)
Introduces students to the elements of, professional blogs and blogging, including blog, structures, use of images, creation of podcasts, and appropriate writing. Examines the social, influence of blogs and the ethical, responsibilities of bloggers. Students create, their own blogs as part of the course.

ADPR 2277 - Public Relations I: Foundations (4)
Effective public relations involve an understanding of the history, theory, and, practice of public relations including public relations concepts, the role of the practitioner, and the foundations of public relations. This, course seeks to provide that foundation as an introduction to the field of public relations. Issues surrounding the history, legality, process, and principles of public relations are explored.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ADPR 309 - Grassroots Digital Advocacy (2)
Examines advocacy campaigns that use digital, strategies and techniques. Students explore the, use of social media to raise awareness for, causes, issues, and fundraising, and consider the, impact of technology on grassroots advocacy.

ADPR 317 - Principles of Branding and Visual, Identity (4)
Examines the success and failure of the visual, identities of brands as well developing a new, visual identity and launching a campaign for an, existing brand. Includes an analysis of the, strategically planned and purposeful presentation, of a brand's visual identity as well as a brand's, name, logo, tagline (slogan), color palette and, other sensory elements that make a brand unique.

Prerequisite: ADPR-257.

ADPR 325 - Persuasion
An overview of the theory, strategies, tactics, and ethics of Persuasion. Emphasis is placed upon the development of pragmatic and ethical persuasive messaging in a variety of contexts, with a focus on Advertising and Public Relations. Includes an examination of persuasion and influence in traditional and social media.

ADPR 335 - Negotiation (4)

AHE 634 - Student Development: Theory and Practice (3)

This course will explore theories, rationales,, and methods of student development in higher, education, as well as the organization and, administration of student personnel services., Students will explore the history of student, affairs and develop an understanding of the, various functional areas and competencies, associated with student affairs work. In, addition, students will become familiar with a, variety of theorists who have shaped the, profession and incorporate relevant theories into, program planning and assessment.

AHE 635 - The American College/University Student (3)

The course is an in-depth examination of, post-secondary students at all levels utilizing, available statistics and other resources to, describe various campus cultures and explore, student attitudes toward society in general, and the post-secondary experience in particular., Focus is given to exploring trends and changes in, the enrollment characteristics of college, students and addressing the attitudes and values, of campus sub groups and cultures. Consideration, is given to methods of locating resources on, students and to measuring the effect of, post-secondary education.

AHE 642 - College and University Culture (3)

The purpose of this course is to provide students, with an overview of college and university, cultures in American higher education. Students, will gain an understanding of the properties of, campus culture, including norms of behavior,, values, stories, physical artifacts, sagas,, myths, symbols, and architecture, all of which, guide and shape institutional behavior. In, addition, students will examine the cultural, norms of behavior of various institutional, stakeholders - faculty, staff, students, and, administrators -, and develop an understanding of how campus, culture affects each of these groups. In order to, become more familiar with the ethos of, institutional functioning and behavior, students, will conduct a small-scale independent research, project, employing qualitative research, techniques, to investigate and analyze a, particular campus subculture.

AHE 643 - Leadership in Higher Education (3)

The purpose of this course is to introduce, students to leadership characteristics and, theories in higher education. The course examines, various leadership styles endemic to the college, and university environment, focusing on those, relevant to the president, vice presidents,, department chairs, deans, faculty, and students., Trait-factor, group, transformational,, situational, and other theories of leadership are, explored in the context of team-building,, participatory decision-making, staff development,, resource allocation, and future planning.
AHE 645 - Practicum in Administration (3)

The practicum experience provides for the practical application of administrative skills in an appropriate field placement under the guidance of a site supervisor at an institution of higher, education. The experience helps students gain exposure to various fields of work, and it provides an opportunity for students to observe, experience, and understand employer/employee relationships within the higher education environment. Students will apply theories, learned in the classroom to a wide array of professional projects. Students enrolled in the course will meet as a class to discuss, practicum-related issues.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

AHE 647 - Critical Issues in Higher Education (3)

In-depth research into and discussion of a range of pressing issues and problems such as, affirmative action, executive compensation, international higher education and globalization, online/distance learning, for-profit higher, education, and Internet issues. The goal of this course is to help students gain a general knowledge of some of the most salient higher, education issues in the United States and develop skills to analyze and manage emerging issues they may encounter as professionals in the field.

AHE 648 - Research in Higher Education (3)

This course provides the knowledge and skills necessary for locating sources of information and, doing effective descriptive research in higher, education. Students will design and execute field research on structures and problems of specific, post-secondary institutions.

AHE 649 - History of Higher Education (3)

This course examines the development of institutions and practices of higher education, from their medieval origins to the present, concentrating on the American experience and, identifying key trends in theory, organizations, curriculum, and sociology. Not offered on a regular basis.

AMST-American Studies

AMST 101 - American History and Culture (4)

This course offers a basic introduction to American culture and society through the study of American History. The city of Boston and its extraordinary history and institutions will be at the heart of the class and students will, frequently visit sites close to the campus. Topics will focus on areas such as the way people, from different cultures have understood and, misunderstood each other; the evolution of, American politics and political institutions; the American Revolution and the founding documents, and institutions of the United States; the, distinct forms of American religion, American literature and the American economy; slavery and, race in American society; the rise of America to, world power; the changing role of women; the New Deal and the rise of the modern welfare state; immigration; the development of, popular culture; and the meaning of Donald Trump. This course, fulfills te core requirement for the American Studies Minor. Enrollees in the Minor program may, not register for AMST-111 Defining America and, Americans.

ARAB-Arabic

ARAB 101 - Elementary Modern Standard Arabic

Masters Arabic alphabet, learn elementary formal, grammar and develop reading, speaking, and, writing skills.

ARH-Art History

ARH 101 - Art History I (4)

Surveys the art of Western civilization from, prehistoric caves to medieval cathedrals. Considers works from the Ancient Near East, Ancient Egypt, Ancient Greece and Rome, the, Byzantine Era, the Romanesque Period, and the, Gothic Period in their historical contexts, introduces students to formal analysis, iconography, and critical thinking.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ARH 102 - Art History II (4)

Surveys the art of Europe and America from the, Renaissance to the present. Considers works of, painting and sculpture, from periods and movements, such as the Renaissance, the Baroque, the Rococo,, Neoclassicism, Romanticism,, Impressionism, Abstract Expressionism, and, Feminism in their historical contexts. Introduces students to formal analysis, iconography, and critical thinking.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ARH 203 - Arts of Asia (4)

Surveys painting, sculpture, and architecture in, Asia from prehistoric times to the modern era, including the Middle East, India, China, Korea, and Japan. Emphasizes the connection between, visual arts, belief systems, and historical, contexts with a focus on Hinduism, Buddhism, and, Islam as well as secular literature.

ARH 205 - Gender, Class and Alterity in Ancient, and Medieval Art (4)

Explores issues of sexuality, gender, race, and, social class in the ancient and medieval worlds. Examines key artworks from ancient Greece, the Roman Empire and medieval Europe within, historical, social and cultural contexts.

ARH 206 - Global Cross-Cultural Perspectives in, Art (4)

Explores themes of power, privilege, and cultural, difference by comparing and contrasting works of, Western and Non-Western visual culture in relation, to different cultural value systems.

ARH 290 - Internship in Art History (1-4)

Designed to accompany an internship at a local, museum, gallery, archive, or other art, institution, this independent study course will, carry variable credit depending on the number of, hours devoted to the internship and the related, academic work done by the student. Interested, students should consult the instructor as they, are applying for internships.

Prerequisite: ARH-101 and ARH-102 and Instructor consent.

ARH 303 - Art of the Early Renaissance in Italy (4)

This course explores important works of art from, Early Renaissance Italy (including architecture, painting, fresco, sculpture, and decorative, objects) from c. 1300 through c. 1500. Artists, covered include Giotto, Masaccio, Brunelleschi, Donatello, Botticelli, and Leonardo da Vinci.

ARH 304 - Art in the Age of Michelangelo:, The High and Late Renaissance in Italy (4)

The aim of this four-credit course is to survey, important artistic monuments of High and Late, Renaissance Italy (including architecture, painting, fresco, sculpture, and decorative, objects) from the late 1400s through the late, 1500s.

ARH 308 - Art of the Baroque & Rococo (4)

Explores painting,sculpture and architecture in, Italy, Spain and Northern Europe during the 17th, and 18th century. Works by Rembrandt, Rubens,, Caravaggio, Bernini, Poussin, Velasquez, Watteau,, Boucher, Fragonard, Chardin, Hogarth and others, considered within their historical contexts.

Offered: Occasionally.

ARH 309 - Art of the 19th Century (4)

Examines Neoclassicism, Romanticism, Realism and, Impressionism in European painting. Considers, works by artists such as David, Ingres,, Friedrich, Constable, Delacroix, Goya, Courbet,, Millet, Daumier, Manet, Monet, Renoir, Degas, and, Cassatt within their historical contexts.

Offered: Occasionally.

ARH 310 - Modernism in Art (4)

Examines European painting and sculpture from, around 1880 to 1940, including Symbolism,, Post-Impressionism, Fauvism, Expressionism,, Cubism, Futurism, The Bauhaus, Dada, and, Surrealism. Considers works by artists such as, Gauguin, Cezanne, Van Gogh, Matisse, Kandinsky,, Picasso, Braque, Mondrian, Duchamp, Magritte,, Dali, and Ernst within their historical contexts.

ARH 311 - American Art (4)

Surveys American painting, sculpture,, photography and architecture from the colonial, period through WWII. Considers works by artists, such as Smibert, Copley, West, Stuart, Whistler,, Sargent, Eakins, Homer, Ryder, Bierstadt, Cole,, Inness, Sloan, Sullivan, Wright, Hopper, O'Keeffe,, Dove, Hartley, Bellows, Stieglitz, Weston, and, Steichen.

Offered: Occasionally.

ARH 312 - Art of the Northern Renaissance (4)

Examines painting, sculpture, and architecture of, the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries in Northern, Europe, within their historical context. Topics, include the rise of oil painting, the development, of woodcut and engraving, the effect of the, Reformation on art. Artists include van, Eyck, Bosch, Durer, Holbein and Brueghel.

Offered: Occasionally.

ARH 316 - Contemporary Art (4)

Explores European and American art since WWII,, including Abstract Expressionism, Colorfield, Painting, Pop Art, Minimalism, Neo-Dada,, Performance Art, Feminism, Neo-Expressionism and, Post-Modernism. Artists include Bacon,, Giacometti, Pollock, De Kooning, Frankenthaler,, Rothko, Stella, Judd, Calder, David Smith, Serra,, Johns, Rauschenberg, Warhol, Lichtenstein,, Smithson, Christo, Nevelson, Kosuth, Kruger,, Sherman, Basquiat, Kiefer, and Haring.

Offered: Occasionally.

ARH 318 - Art and Museums Today (4)

Examines the art world of the past few decades, with special attention to the roles, and exhibition practices of contemporary art, museums and galleries. Considers the major, artists and trends in today's art world, the, history of museums, and the effect of museums on, art produced today. Students will visit local, museums, including the Institute of Contemporary, Art (ICA) individually and in groups.

Offered: Fall.

ARH 321 - Women, Art and Society (4)

Surveys women artists from the sixteenth century, to the present and examines new direction in, art-historical scholarship developed by feminist, art historians during recent decades.

Offered: Spring.

ARH 404 - Seminar in Art History: Caravaggio (4)

Explores the art of Caravaggio within the, historical context of the Early Baroque period in, Italy. The course emphasizes research skills and, the methodology of art history. Designed as a, foundation for students intending to pursue a career in the world of art and/or museums.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor required.

ARH 406 - Seminar in Art History: Bernini (4)

Explores the art of Gian Lorenzo Bernini,, arguably, the most important and influential figure in the, world of 17th-century art. Designed for art, history majors & minors, the seminar explores, Bernini's career within the context of the, religious, political, and artistic upheavals of, his time; it also helps students develop research, skills and provides a foundation that will be, valuable for anyone pursuing a career in the, world of art and museums.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required.

ARH 411 - Seminar in Art History: Impressionism (4)

Explores the Impressionist movement of the late, nineteenth-century, including Monet, Renoir, and, Pissaro, within its historical context. The, course emphasizes research skills and the, methodology of art history. Designed as a, foundation for students intending to pursue a career in the world of art and/or museums.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor required.

ARH 510 - Independent Study (1-4)

Students meet with a departmental faculty member, to pursue advanced studies in areas of particular, interest to them.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office. Offered: Occasionally.

ARH H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Students meet with a departmental faculty member, to pursue advanced studies in areas of particular, interest to them.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office. Offered: Occasionally.

ARH H555 - Art History Honors Thesis (4)

A major research project completed under the, supervision of a regular faculty member.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students with minimum of 3.3 GPA or higher. Instructor, consent required.

ART-Art

ART 02 - Pre-College

Intended for high school students and recent high, school graduates., Normally offered summer semester.

ART 10 - Portfolio Development Workshop

In this workshop, participants will get a flavor, for the types of tools, techniques and, assignments utilized in studio-based instruction.. Students will have an opportunity to practice, traditional hand skills, gain exposure to digital, tools and learn how material and lighting, selection influences design solutions. Through a, variety of spatial and analytical investigations, as well as guest lectures, students will better, understand the many design considerations and, decisions involved in creating spaces.

ART S209 - Introduction to Drawing and Mixed Media (3)

This course is an introduction to the fundamental, principles of drawing using both traditional and, experimental techniques. Media includes pencil,, charcoal, white chalk, ink and collage. Subject, matter includes still-lives,, landscapes/cityscapes, portraiture and live, clothed models. This course is appropriate for, beginners as well as more advanced students., Individual attention is given to students at various levels of ability, allowing students to progress at their own pace.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ART S211 - Introduction to Painting (3)

This introductory course is designed to encourage students with little or no knowledge of the use of various painting processes. The basic elements of painting are introduced in exercises enhanced by demonstrations. Students work with acrylic, paint and various painting mediums. Creative work is encouraged in a relaxed atmosphere where individual attention is given to students at various levels of ability.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

AS-Asian Studies

AS 100 - Introduction to Asian Studies: Culture, People, Ideas (4)

An interdisciplinary introduction to Asian Studies will touch upon the history, politics, economics, philosophy, geography, arts, and cultures of Asia. Sample topics include political, economy, religious and cultural exchanges, international relations, Asian experience in America, and the role of Asia in the twenty-first century. Students will develop conceptual frameworks for exploring the subjects covered by the Asian Studies curriculum.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

AS 281 - Asian Popular Culture (4)

Students critically analyze Asian popular culture, since the 1980s using a cultural ethnographic approach. Students apply the lenses of gender, identity, globalization, and business strategies, to examine pop phenomena such as Korean Wave, Cool Japan, and Cantonese popular music.

Offered: Spring.

AS 500 - Asian Studies Internship (4)

Engages in an internship in a business or non-profit organization that deals with Asia or an Asian American community. Students may complete the internship either in Asia or in the U.S. Students will complete appropriate exercises, and reports to document their learning. (1 course, 4-12 credits; can be taken multiple times, in different semesters)

Offered: Fall, Spring.

AS 510 - Independent Study (1)

Works directly with a faculty member on an agreed topic related to Asia or an Asian language. Past topics include: intermediate Chinese and Japanese, Asian popular culture.

Offered: Fall and Spring.

AS 511 - Professional Development for Asian Studies (1)

Students will reflect on their college career and develop a personal strategy for attaining professional goals. They will understand ethical guidelines and professional conventions by examining the differences between American work, culture and Asian work culture; by applying this understanding to a transnational/diverse professional world. Students will understand what the job market and graduate school opportunities are like for Asian Studies graduates.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

AS H555 - Senior Honors Thesis (1-8)

Students will work with an Asian Studies advisor to undertake a research project that will produce a 25-page paper that is suitable for an undergraduate academic conference in Asian Studies or relevant disciplines. Students must be in the CAS Honors Program, have a 3.5 overall grade point average and a 3.7 grade point average in the major. Registration must be approved by the Asian Studies Director. May be taken in the fall and/or spring in the senior year.

Prerequisite: Students must be in the CAS Honors Program, have a 3.5 overall grade point average, and a 3.7 grade point average in the major., Registration must be approved by the Asian Studies Director.

ASL-American Sign Language

ASL 101 - Elementary American Sign Language I (4)

Introductory course for nonnative signers, Emphasis on receptive skills, vocabulary, and grammar. Introduction to issues important to the Deaf community. One language laboratory session, per week.

Offered: Fall.

ASL 102 - Elementary American Sign Language II (4)

Continues to develop receptive skills, vocabulary, and grammar. Explores patterns of lexical and grammatical structure. Fosters awareness of, issues important to the Deaf community.
BIO-Biology

BIO 104 - Environmental Biology (3)

An introduction to basic evolutionary, behavioral, and ecological principles. Readings and, discussions emphasize the ways that humans are, affected by ecological processes and principles as, well as how humans and their technology affect, ecosystems. May not be taken by Biology majors or, minors. This course will not fulfill requirements, for a major or a minor in Biology. It is intended, for non-biology majors as a follow-up to Biology, 101. 3 hours lecture. Days Only. Madrid Campus, only.

Prerequisite: BIO-L104 must be taken concurrently.

BIO 105 - Humans and the Evolutionary Perspective (4)

Major topics include the scientific basis of, evolution, the fossil history of vertebrates,, evidence of evolution in the human body, and, applying an evolutionary perspective to the, social interactions and possible futures of, humanity. Meets one of the non laboratory science, requirements for the non-science major. This, reading and writing intensive course is a, non-laboratory science option for non-science, majors. This course will not fulfill requirement, for a major or a minor in Biology.

Prerequisite: Non Science Majors Only. Offered: Occasionally.

BIO 107 - The Curiosity of Cats, the Devotion of Dogs (4)

This course explores the evolution, ecology,, behavior, genetics, and adaptations of cats (Felis silvestris catus) and dogs (Canis lupus familiaris). We will discuss what is known about these species, current research, and what is, still unknown. The course will focus on comparing and contrasting the biology of cats and dogs and how biological differences have led to the way they are perceived as companion animals. We will also discuss how these species can be used as model organisms for exploring patterns of human heredity and disease transmission.

Prerequisite: Non Science Majors Only.

BIO 111 - Introduction to the Cell (3)

Explanation of key biological structures and, reactions of the cell. This is an introductory, course required of all biology majors and minors,, and some non-biology science majors. This course, is not recommended for, the, non-science student.

Prerequisite: BIO-L111 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO 114 - Organismal Biology (3)

Rigorous introduction to organismal biology, emphasizing evolution, phylogenetics, form, and, function. This is an introductory course required, of all biology majors and minors, and some, non-biology science majors. This course is not, recommended for the non-science student.

Prerequisite: BIO-L114 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO H105 - Honors Humans and the Evolutionary, Perspective (4)

Major topics include the scientific basis of, evolution, the fossil history of vertebrates,, evidence of evolution in the human body, and, applying an evolutionary perspective to the, social interactions and possible futures of, humanity. Meets one of the non laboratory science, requirements for the non-science major. This, reading and writing intensive course is a, non-laboratory science option for non-science, majors. This course will not fulfill requirement, for a major or a minor in Biology.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only. Offered: Occasionally.

BIO H107 - The Curiosity of Cats, the Devotion of, Dogs (4)

This course explores the evolution, ecology,, behavior, genetics, and adaptations of cats (Felis silvestris catus) and dogs (Canis lupus familiaris). We will discuss what is known about these species, current research, and what is, still unknown. The course will focus on comparing, and contrasting the biology of cats and dogs and, how biological differences have led to the way, they are perceived as companion animals. We will, also discuss how these species can be used as, model organisms for exploring patterns of human, heredity and disease transmission.

Prerequisite: CAS and SBS Honors Students Only or 3.3 GPA. Non science majors, only.

BIO H111 - Honors Introduction to the Cell (3)

Explanation of key biological structures and, reactions of the cell. This is an introductory, course required of all biology majors and minors,, and some non-biology science majors. This course is not recommended for the non-science student.

Prerequisite: BIO-L111 concurrently. Restricted to Honors Biology, Majors. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO L104 - Environmental Bio Lab (1)

Exercises and field trips designed to complement, and demonstrate the ecological principles, developed in the lecture section. The lab, emphasizes the scientific method and employs long, term group projects. Madrid Campus only.

Prerequisite: BIO-104 must be taken concurrently.

BIO L111 - Introduction to the Cell Laboratory (1)

Sessions are designed to familiarize the student, with biological molecules, and the techniques, used in their study. The techniques covered, include basic solution preparation, separation, and quantification of molecules, enzyme, catalysis, and cell isolation.

Prerequisite: BIO-111 (concurrently). Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO L114 - Organismal Biology Laboratory (1)

A series of laboratory experiences in evolution, diversity, anatomy and physiology.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO LH111 - Honors Introduction to the Cell, Laboratory (1)

Sessions are designed to familiarize the student, with biological molecules, and the techniques, used in their study. The techniques covered, include basic solution preparation, separation, and quantification of molecules, enzyme, catalysis, and cell isolation.

Prerequisite: Honor student status or GPA of 3.3 required. Must take, concurrently with BIO-111. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO LH114 - Honors Organismal Biology Laboratory (1)

A series of laboratory experiences in evolution, diversity, anatomy and physiology.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 (concurrently) and Honor student status or GPA of 3.3. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO LV111 - Introduction to the Cell Laboratory, Online (1)

Online lab sessions designed to familiarize the, student with biological molecules, their, importance and the techniques used in their study, through online lab simulations and virtual, illustrations of scientific experiments. The, techniques covered include solution preparation, separation and quantification of molecules, enzyme, kinetics, cell isolation and data analysis.

Prerequisite: BIO-111 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO LV114 - Organismal Biology Laboratory, Online (1)

A series of online, interactive laboratory, experiences in evolution, diversity, anatomy and, physiology which complement the lecture.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO 201 - Biology's Big Questions (4)

This course seeks to answer five current, questions from all levels of biology, from the, subcellular to the ecosystem level. Topics will, be discussed in the context of genetics, evolution, and ecology. We will focus on the, process of doing science, including how, scientists evaluate ideas and communicate their, findings. Emphasis will be placed on topics in, biology that impact daily life.

Prerequisite: Non Science Majors Only.

BIO 203 - Anatomy and Physiology I (3)

First part of a systematic survey of the, structural and functional interrelations of the, organ systems of the human body. This course, emphasizes histology and physiology in the, understanding of the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, and nervous systems. Medical, terminology will be used.

Prerequisite: BIO-L203 (concurrently), BIO-111 and BIO-L11. Offered: Fall.

BIO 204 - Anatomy and Physiology II (3)

Conclusion of a systematic survey of the, structural and functional interrelations of the, organ systems of the human body. This course, investigates the endocrine, circulatory, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive, systems as well as the physiology of immune, responses, nutrition, and acid-base balance., Medical terminology will be used.

Prerequisite: BIO-L204 (concurrently), BIO-203, and BIO-
BIO 216 - Coastal & Ocean Policy and Management (3)

This course will examine major trends, issues, and, policy that are impacting the world's coastal and, ocean resources. Scientific, economic, social and, political aspects of each issue will be discussed, and case studies will be used to illustrate the, challenge of linking good scientific data with, regulatory and management decisions. Topics, include (but are not limited to) relevant coastal, and ocean processes, international and national, governance, coastal and marine spatial planning,, marine protected areas, fishery management zones,, coastal development, climate change, and marine, mammals.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 218 - Water Resources Planning & Management (3)

This seminar course is designed to stimulate, students' interests in the field of water, resources from an environmentally sustainable, perspective. Five water resource areas will be, highlighted: (1) rivers and watersheds, (2), groundwater and aquifers, (3) estuaries, (4), coastal floodplains, and (5) marine resources. , The focus will be on the resources themselves and, their functions, values, and impacts from human, uses as well as policy issues and management, techniques.

Prerequisite: BIO-111 and BIO-L111 or UES-111 and UES-L111.

BIO 225 - Plant Biology (3)

Course introduces students to the anatomy,, physiology, systematics, ecology, and economic, uses of all major groups of plants. Aspects of, the biology of nonvascular, non-seed, gymnosperm,, and angiosperm plants are explored. An overview, of Kingdom Fungi is also covered. Each student, is, required to do a 10-15 minute presentation to, the, class highlighting the economic use of a group of, plants assigned by the instructor. Normally, offered Spring semester.

Prerequisite: BIO-L225 (concurrently) and BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, and BIO-L114. Offered: Spring.

BIO 233 - Human Nutrition (4)

This interactive introduction to nutrition, explores the science of human nutrition and, further reviews concepts of how nutrition can, promote health and well being. The course will, review specific nutrient needs and functions,, nutrient digestion, and the role of diet in well, being and in the presence of chronic disease., Weekly course work encourages scientific literacy, and fosters critical evaluation of nutrition in, the news and in social media.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, and BIO-L114.

BIO 240 - Introduction to Marine Mammals (4)

This course explores the biology and natural, history of marine mammals, including cetaceans,, pinnipeds, and sirenians, with a particular focus, on species endemic to the North Atlantic. Topics, include evolution, anatomy, physiology, behavior., ecology, field identification, the history of, whaling and sealing, and contemporary management, and conservation issues. Hands-on activities may, include the dissection of a small marine mammal, and a whale watch in Massachusetts Bay.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 254 - Marine Biology (3)

Introduction to the marine environment, its, organisms and their specific adaptations., Emphasis on marine and estuarine ecology,, intertidal habits, trophic relations, and, physiology. Human impacts on the sea: fisheries,, mariculture, pollution, introduced species., climate change and seawater acidification, and, law of the sea. Taught yearly each fall.

Prerequisite: BIO-254 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L111 or BIO-114 and, BIO-L114 or Instructor's consent. Offered: Fall.

BIO 262 - Principles of Cell Culture (4)

The course is designed as an application base, educational experience that will allow students, to, learn the standard techniques associated with, successful cell culture. As such, students are, responsible for the maintenance, propagation,, isolation, and preservation of their cells., A number of cell types and experimental, manipulations of the cultures are investigated, throughout the semester.

Prerequisite: BIO 111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, BIO-L114, CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111. Offered: Spring.

BIO 273 - Biostatistics (4)

Introduction to the statistical methods used to, evaluate biological problems. Sampling,, probability, confidence intervals, hypothesis, tests, experimental design, analysis of variance,, regression, and correlation are some of the, topics offered. Software for data handling,, graphics, and analysis will be used.
BIO 274 - Genetics (3)

An examination of the basic principles of genetics in eukaryotes and prokaryotes at the level of molecules, cells, and multicellular organisms, including humans. Topics include Mendelian and non-Mendelian inheritance, structure and function, of chromosomes and genomes, biological variation, resulting from recombination, mutation, and, selection, and population genetics.

Prerequisite: BIO-L274 (concurrently), BIO-111, BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Offered: Fall.

BIO 285 - Microbiology (3)

Viruses and bacteria are surveyed in terms of their ecology, biochemistry, taxonomy, molecular biology and control.

Prerequisite: BIO-L285 (concurrently), BIO-111 and BIO-L111. Offered: Spring.

BIO H201 - Honors Biology's Big Questions (4)

This Honors course seeks to answer five current, questions from all levels of biology, from the, subcellular to the ecosystem level. Topics will, be discussed in the context of genetics, evolution, and ecology. We will focus on the, process of doing science, including how, scientists evaluate ideas and communicate their, findings. Emphasis will be placed on topics in, biology that impact daily life.

Prerequisite: Honors students or students with 3.3 GPA or higher.

BIO H204 - Honors Anatomy and Physiology II (3)

Conclusion of a systematic survey of the, structural and functional interrelations of the, organ systems of the human body. This course, investigates the endocrine, circulatory,, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive, systems as well as the physiology of immune, responses, nutrition, and acid-base balance., Medical terminology will be used.

Prerequisite: BIO-203 and BIO-L203. BIO-L204 must be taken concurrently., Restricted to CAS Honors students only. Offered: Spring.

BIO H273 - Biostatistics (4)

Introduction to the statistical methods used to, evaluate biological problems. Sampling,, probability, confidence intervals, hypothesis, tests, experimental design, analysis of variance,, regression, and correlation are some of the, topics offered. Software for data handling,, graphics, and analysis will be used.

Prerequisite: BIO-111 and BIO-L111 and BIO-114 and BIO-L114. BIO-L274, concurrently. CAS Honors students only. Offered: Fall Only.

BIO L203 - Anatomy & Physiology Lab I (1)

A study of the human skeletal system and a, comparative look at other organ systems involving, observation of anatomical models and dissection, of mammalian specimens. Also includes microscopy, and computer simulations of physiological, processes.

Prerequisite: BIO-203 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L111. Offered: Fall.

BIO L204 - Anatomy & Physiology Lab II (1)

A study of the human viscera using anatomical, models and dissection of mammalian specimens. Also includes microscopy of tissues and, physiological experiments.

Prerequisite: BIO-204 (concurrently) and BIO-203 and BIO-L203. Offered: Spring.

BIO L225 - Plant Biology Laboratory (1)

Lab exercises focus on plant anatomy, physiology,, and systematics. Instruction in the, identification of major plant families and fungal, types is covered. Trips to a Boston area, herbarium and botanical garden are required.

Prerequisite: BIO-225 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L111 and BIO-114 and, BIO-L114. Offered: Spring.

BIO L254 - Marine Biology Lab (1)

Field trips to local marine environments,, museums, and aquaria; field and laboratory study, and observations of live, preserved, and models, of marine organisms.

Prerequisite: BIO-254 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-114 or BIO-L114 or Instructor's consent. Offered: Fall.

BIO L274 - Genetics Lab (1)

Experiments designed to demonstrate principles, presented in lecture, using a range of genetic, model organisms that include E. coli, B. subtilis, S. cerevisiae, D. melanogaster, S. fimicola, and C. elegans.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, and BIO-L114. Must be taken, concurrently with BIO 274. Offered: Fall.

BIO L285 - Microbiology Laboratory (1)

Introduction to microbiological techniques and, their applications to health, research and, industry.

Prerequisite: BIO-285 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L111. Offered: Fall.

BIO LV203 - Anatomy & Physiology Lab I- Online (1)

A study of the human integumentary, skeletal,, muscular, and nervous systems using observation of, gross anatomical simulation software. Includes, videos of interpretation of histological samples, and computer simulations of physiological, processes.

Prerequisite: BIO-203 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L203. Offered: Spring.

BIO LV204 - Anatomy & Physiology Lab II Online (1)

A study of the human viscera using virtual 3D, anatomical models and dissection. Also includes, online microscopy of tissues and computer, simulations of physiological processes.

Prerequisite: BIO-204 (concurrently) and BIO-203 and BIO-L203. Offered: Spring.

BIO LV254 - Marine Biology Laboratory- Online (1)

Guided virtual field trips to marine habitats, including saltmarshes, clam flats, rocky, intertidal, and shallow subtidal; and, study/discussions based on video of marine, organisms and digital lab exercises involving, virtual dissections, observations, data collection, and reporting. There is no final exam for this lab, course.

Prerequisite: BIO-254 (concurrently) and BIO-111 and BIO-L111 or BIO-114 and, BIO-L114 or Instructor's consent. Offered: Fall.

BIO LV274 - Genetics Lab Online (1)

Online laboratory course that reinforces concepts, presented in lecture and teaches basic principles, associated with genetics research. Students will, learn about lab practices and techniques using, simulations, videos, and group activities. There, will also be a focus on learning how to extract, meaningful information from scientific papers and, becoming proficient in scientific writing.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, and BIO-L114. Must be taken, concurrently with BIO-274. Offered: Fall.

BIO LV285 - Microbiology Laboratory Online (1)

This lab provides an introduction to, microbiological techniques and their applications, to health research and industry. Scientific, methodology and experimental design are discussed, and augmented by lab simulations and analysis of, relevant primary scientific literature.

BIO 302 - Writing for Research (4)

Development of skills for writing clearly,, concisely, and creatively in the style of, scientific journals. This course emphasizes the, formulation of a research project of the, student's choice and leads to a formal manuscript on the, topic. Instruction includes literature search, methods and, software for the graphical, presentation of data. Professional development,, including the preparation of job application, materials and in-person interview skills, is also, an integral part of this course. Required of all, biology and radiation science majors. Junior, standing required.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111 and WRI-101, WRI-102, or, WRI-H103. BIO and Radiation Therapy majors with junior standing, only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO 304 - Comparative Animal Physiology (3)

Mechanisms of physiological adaptations to, environmental challenges are studied. Examples, of, gas exchange, osmoregulation, fluid transport,, temperature regulation, nervous control, and, movement are examined in various animal forms, through class lecture and discussion, required, readings, and external lectures., Spring semester.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Must take BIO-L304 concurrently. Offered: Spring.

BIO 321 - Earth and Life Through Time (4)

Introduces geological processes leading to, fossilization and sedimentary analysis of past, environments. Emphasis is placed on the evolution, of extinct lifeforms and their interaction with, the environment starting with the formation of the, planet through the present day.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114 or UES-111.

BIO 333 - Ecology (3)

Areas of study include but are not limited to, basic principles of population biology, community, ecology, trophic dynamics, ecosystem structure, and function and evolutionary theory.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114 and BIO-L333 (concurrently). Offered: Fall.

BIO 337 - Evolution (4)

A survey of evolutionary theory, exploring, processes such as the genetic sources of, variation, natural and sexual selection, and, evolutionary developmental biology. Using, phylogenetic systematics and other tools, we will, demonstrate how these mechanisms result in the, visible patterns of evolution. This is a, reading-and-writing intensive course centered on, close, reading of Origin of the Species and discussion, of recent peer-reviewed literature about, evolution.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, and BIO-L114. BIO-274 (recommended). Offered: Summer.

BIO 343 - Biodiversity & Conservation Biology (4)

This course focuses on the core principles of, conservation and biodiversity preservation rooted, in both ecology and policy. We examine a wide, range of topics including the history and, underlying ideals of conservation, the meaning and, value of biodiversity, ecosystem services, the, Endangered Species Act, and population ecology., The course also addresses major conservation, challenges and threats to biodiversity including, the impacts of agriculture, commercial fishing,, freshwater degradation, and climate change., Students must complete a project on the recovery, of an endangered species or the control of an, invasive species.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 345 - The Biology of Vector Borne Diseases (3)

A survey of the occurrence, life history and, pathogenicity of the most important, arthropod-borne, human diseases both, internationally (malaria, dengue, plague,, trypanosomiasis, yellow fever, etc.) and within, the United States (Lyme disease, EEE, West Nile, Virus, and others). Demographic and, environmental factors leading to the re-emergence, and spread of these diseases will be considered.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 355 - Coastal Marine Science (4)

With an emphasis on coastal environments and the, strong physical-biological connection that exists, there, this lecture course highlights the, critical terrestrial-marine interface and, fundamental physical and biological processes in, the coastal zone.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 357 - Biology of Fishes (3)

The evolution, systematics, anatomy, physiology, and behavior of freshwater, marine and, anadromous fishes from temperate to tropical, environments. The interactions of fish in their, environments, including predator-prey, relationships, host-symbiont interactions, and, fish as herbivores. Taken with permission from, the Marine Science Consortium Coordinator. [This, is a Marine Science Consortium Course and, enrollment is limited] Evenings only: off campus

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Offered: Spring.

BIO 359 - Biology of Whales (4)

This course provides a comprehensive review of the, biology, ecology, and management of cetaceans. A, thorough grounding in cetacean mammalogy and, population biology will prepare students to, understand conservation problems presented as case, histories. Students will also complete an, independent research paper on a topic related to, cetacean biology. Hands-on activities may include, a whale watch in Massachusetts Bay.

Prerequisite: Take BIO-114 and BIO-L114.

BIO 360 - Cancer Biology (4)

An examination of molecular and cellular, mechanisms that lead to the development of, cancer. Factors contributing to tumorgenesis,, angiogenesis, and metastasis will be discussed.; these factors, oncogenes, tumor suppressor genes,, and signal transduction networks. In addition, an, investigation of current strategies for cancer, prevention and treatment will be considered.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, BIO-114, BIO-L114, BIO-274, and BIO-L274.

BIO 377 - Immunology (4)

The concept of immunity, response to infection,, structure of the immune system, biochemistry of, immunoglobins, antigen-antibody interactions, allergy, immunological injury, lymphocyte, subpopulations and cellular immunity, tolerance, suppression and enhancement. Taught, alternate/even, years.

Prerequisite: BIO-274. Offered: Spring.

BIO 385 - Advanced Microbiology (4)
The molecular mechanisms of host-microbe interactions and the epidemiology and public health aspects of microorganisms are stressed. Also covered are current topics in microbiology including antimicrobial therapy and resistance, emerging pathogens and novel applications of microbiology. Experimental design and troubleshooting skills are developed, using contemporary microbiology and molecular biology laboratory techniques. Taught alternate/odd years.

Prerequisite: BIO-274 and BIO-L274 or BIO-285 and BIO-L285.

BIO H333 - Honors Ecology (3)
Areas of study include but are not limited to, basic principles of population biology, community, ecology, trophic dynamics, ecosystem structure, and function and evolutionary theory.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114 and BIO-L333 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

BIO H343 - Honors Biodiversity & Conservation Biology (4)
This honors course focuses on the core principles of conservation and biodiversity preservation rooted in both ecology and policy. We examine a wide range of topics including the history and underlying ideals of conservation, the meaning and value of biodiversity, ecosystem services, the Endangered Species Act, and population ecology. The course also addresses major conservation challenges and threats to biodiversity including the impacts of agriculture, commercial fishing, freshwater degradation, and climate change. Students must complete two semester-long group projects; one on the recovery of an endangered species or the control of an invasive species and the other on implementing a biodiversity-preserving plan for farming or fishing. As an honors course, students can expect to explore topics in greater depth and to take increased ownership of the research and design of the group projects.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Honors students only.

BIO L304 - Comp Animal Physiology Lab (1)
Selected physiological processes and mechanisms, or adaptation in invertebrate and vertebrate animals are examined by observation and controlled experiments.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Must take BIO-304 concurrently.

BIO L333 - Ecology Lab (1)
Field and laboratory experiences in techniques, and concepts relevant to ecological theory, data collection, statistical analysis, visual, representation and report preparation.

Prerequisite: BIO-114, BIO-L114, and BIO-333 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

BIO LV304 - Comp Animal Physiology Lab Online (1)
Selected physiological processes and mechanisms of adaptation in invertebrate and vertebrate animals, are examined by use of virtual labs and library research.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Must take BIO-304 concurrently.

BIO LV333 - Ecology Laboratory- Online (1)
A virtual exploration of field methods and laboratory techniques relevant to ecological theory, data collection, statistical analysis, visual representation, synthesis, and science, writing.

Prerequisite: BIO-114, BIO-L114, and BIO-333 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

BIO 403 - Cell Biology (3)
The study of cells, approached through, examinations of biochemical mechanisms, the relation between the structure and function of, biological molecules and organelles, and the, regulation of normal and diseased cells.

Prerequisite: BIO-111, BIO-L111, CHEM-211, CHEM-L211 and BIO-L403, (concurrently). Offered: Fall.

BIO 409 - Biology Senior Seminar (1)
The purpose of this class is to provide senior, biology majors with the skills to land a job in, the biological sciences, including locating open, positions, preparing an application, and, performing well in an interview. Students will be, guided through the preparation of application, materials, participate in mock interviews, and, develop skills to navigate a professional, workplace environment.
Students will also participate in a mandatory senior assessment exam, to assist departmental curricular development.

Prerequisite: Senior standing. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO 474 - Molecular Genetics (3)

An examination of concepts and techniques of, modern molecular biology. Topics include the, structure and function of DNA, RNA, and proteins., the regulation of gene expression in prokaryotes, and eukaryotes at transcriptional and, post-transcriptional levels, genetic modification, of organisms, and genome analysis. This course, will incorporate readings and discussions of, primary scientific literature. Spring semester.

Prerequisite: CHEM-311 or BIO-274 and BIO-L274 and BIO-L474, (concurrently). Offered: Occasionally.

BIO 475 - Developmental Biology (4)

This course focuses on embryonic development in, vertebrates. The conceptual focus on, evolutionary developmental biology includes, comparative developmental mechanisms and, Epigenetic processes.

Prerequisite: BIO-114 and BIO-L114. Offered: Fall.

BIO H409 - Honors Biology Senior Seminar (1)

The purpose of this class is to provide senior, biology majors with the skills to land a job in, the biological sciences, including locating open, positions, preparing an application, and, performing well in an interview. Students will be, guided through the preparation of application, materials, participate in mock interviews, and, develop skills to navigate a professional, workplace environment. Students will also, participate in a mandatory senior assessment exam, to assist departmental curricular development.

Prerequisite: Senior standing. CAS Honors students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO L403 - Cell Biology Lab (1)

Examination of biological molecules and their role, in cell function. Techniques used in these, examinations will, include enzymatic analyses, gel, electrophoresis, immunologic identification,, chromatography, and spectroscopy. Students are, expected to develop their proficiency in the, laboratory techniques used, to analyze their, results in a quantitative manner, and to present, their findings.

Prerequisite: BIO-111 and BIO-L11 and CHEM-211 and CHEM-L211. Must take, BIO-403 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

BIO L474 - Molecular Genetics Lab (1)

This upper level laboratory course will consist, of, a semester-long project in the form of a series, of, consecutive experiments involving the generation, of a genetically modified organism and its, subsequent molecular analysis. Techniques, employed, will include genetic screens, DNA isolation., restriction endonuclease analysis,, transformation, of bacteria,gel electrophoresis, gene reported, assays, RNA isolation, reverse, transcription, and quantitative PCR.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-331 or BIO-274 and, BIO-L274. BIO-474 must be taken concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

BIO 500 - Experiential Learning in Biology (0)

This course requires students to complete a, minimum of 15 engagement hours per semester., Students gain exposure to a variety of activities, related to biology course preparation and/or, research in a laboratory or field setting with, faculty oversight. Permission of instructor, required. May be taken more than once.

BIO 501 - Biology Non-Credit Internship (0)

This course requires that students complete at, least 40 engagement hours a semester at an off, campus internship. The internship must involve, participation in research and/or patient care., Students will receive a Pass/Fail grade for the, course. Permission of instructor required. May be, taken more than once.

BIO 503 - Biology Internship (1-4)

Biology Internship: This course provides students, with credit for an unpaid internship completed, during the semester when credit is earned., Students must secure an approved internship and, provide documentation from the internship's, overseer to a full time faculty member sponsor in, order to register for the course. The internship, must involve participation in research and, or patient care. Students or their overseers will, be required to submit monthly records of, internship hours and provide the faculty sponsor, with a written summary of internship experiences, and accomplishments by the last week of classes., Only one internship may be used as a biology, elective. This course is available for variable, credit. This course is offered Pass/Fail. Prerequisites: An Internship for Credit form must, be submitted to the department chair, ., Credits: 1-4

Prerequisite: BIO-111 and BIO-L111, BIO-114 and BIO-L114, and BIO-274 and, BIO-L274 (may be taken concurrently).

BIO 510 - Independent Study (1-5)

Student projects may be initiated by a student or, faculty member with the approval of the, Chairperson. A paper and oral, report are required. Only ONE independent study, may be used toward biology electives.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BIO H503 - Biology Internship (4)

Biology Internship: This course provides students, with credit for an unpaid internship completed, during the semester when credit is earned,. Students must secure an approved internship and, provide documentation from the internship's, overseer to a full time faculty member sponsor in, order to register for the course. The internship, must involve participation in research and /, or patient care. Students or their overseers will, be required to submit monthly records of, internship hours and provide the faculty sponsor, with a written summary of internship experiences, and accomplishments by the last week of classes,. Only one internship may be used as a biology, elective. This course is available for variable, credit. This course is offered Pass/Fail. .,Prerequisites: An Internship for Credit form must be submitted to the department chair, ., Credits: 1-4

Prerequisite: BIO-111 and BIO-L111, and BIO-114 and BIO-L114, and BIO-274 and, BIO-L274 (may be taken concurrently).

BIO H510 - Honors Biology Independent Study (1-4)

Student projects may be initiated by a student or, faculty member with the approval of the, Chairperson. A paper and oral report are, required. Thesis work is required to involve, original research or an in-depth analysis.

BIO H555 - Honors in Biology Capstone (1)

Students will complete a senior capstone project,. This project may include an honors thesis based on, their own discovery research or experience at an, internship or a poster based upon a previously, completed literature review. A public presentation, is required.

Prerequisite: Biology Majors Only; GPA 3.5 or Higher; Instructor Permission, Required.

BLE-Business Law and Ethics

BLE 214 - Principles of Business Law (3)

Introduces the field of business law. Provides an, overview of the organization and operation of the, American legal system, court system and legal, procedure. Examines selected business law topics, such as contracts, torts, criminal law,agency,, and business organizations. Attention is given to, the ways in which business law manifests, important social and ethical precepts.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

BLE 215 - Business Ethics and Law (3)

Business Ethics is applied ethics. Explores the, roles and responsibilities of business in a, global society. Teaches models of ethical, decision-making that incorporate multiple points, of view, including diverse cultural worldviews, and, legal perspectives. Addresses factors that, contribute to and constrain ethical behavior in, and by organizations. Students apply concepts to, current business problems, such as anti-trust,, accounting fraud, deceptive advertising, and, environmental dumping.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

BLE H214 - Honors Principles of Business Law (3)

Introduces the field of business law. Provides an, overview of the organization and operation of the, American legal system, court system and legal, procedure. Examines selected business law topics, such as contracts, torts, criminal law,agency,, and business organizations. Attention is given to, the ways in which business law manifests, important social and ethical precepts.

Prerequisite: GPA of 3.3 or above required. Offered: Spring.

BLE H215 - Honors Business Ethics and Law (3)

Business ethics is applied ethics. Explores the, roles and responsibilities of business in a, global society. Teaches models of ethical, decision-making that incorporate multiple points, of view, including diverse cultural worldviews, and, legal perspectives. Addresses factors that, contribute to and constrain ethical behavior in, and by organizations. Students apply concepts to, current business problems, such as anti-trust,, accounting fraud, deceptive advertising, and, environmental dumping.

Prerequisite: GPA of 3.3 or above required. Offered: Fall.
BLE 310 - I Want to Buy a Home (1)
Teaches students all they have to know, about purchasing a residence, starting with, finding a home to financing, inspections, documents, and final ownership conveyance.
Prerequisite: Junior standing or above needed. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BLE 315 - Legal Lessons for Business Startups, Organizations (3)
Examines the formation, strategic use, and, financial implications of alternative forms of, business organization, namely partnerships, corporations, trusts, subchapter corporations, and, the new limited liability hybrids.
Prerequisite: BLE-214.

BLE 316 - How Not to Get Sued (3)
One of the greatest threats to business is the, potential for litigation. Lawsuits can seriously, hurt profits and even lead to bankruptcy. Even, when businesses win in court, they still lose,, what with the cost of the legal defense and the, possibility of adverse publicity and decreased, consumer confidence. Managers need to know how, to avoid the potential for litigation and be, aware of the areas of their business that provide, the greatest risks to their enterprise. This, course covers common ways in which businesses can, protect themselves from common lawsuits ranging, from product defects to environmental and worker, safety to employee discrimination and harassment,. Students will learn how to establish systems, that will put their companies ahead legally.
Prerequisite: BLE-214. Offered: Fall.

BLE 317 - Managing in the Global Legal Environment (3)
Surveys the global legal environment, of business. Emphasizes case analysis of, topics such as: sovereignty, extraterritoriality,, treaties, international contracts, arbitration,, and the European Union. Explores the managerial, and economic significance of these topics.
Prerequisite: BLE-214. Offered: Fall, Spring.

BLE 318 - Intro to Real Estate Principles (3)
Introduces students to the concepts and, principles of real estate. Enables students to, understand the key components of each major real, estate asset class including: residential,, retail,commercial, industrial, hospitality,and, properties. Students learn the range of, professional players in the industry and what, roles they play. Teaches basic elements of a, Development Pro-forma Budget;Operating Pro-forma, Budget;Sources and Uses Statement; and financial, schedules. Utilizes textbook, case work, web based, data sources, selected readings and field trips., Emphasizes practical application of the concepts, taught, the use of current examples from the, industry, and today's marketplace.
Prerequisite: BLE-214.

BLE 319 - Real Estate Development and Public, Policy (3)
This class builds on BLE-318 and explores the, process of responding to the public procurement, process, large shopping malls, the hospitality, industry and office and retail mixed use, projects. We also explore the phases of the real, estate development process by investigating,, Zoning and Variances, Project Review Committees,, Community Benefit Packages, Historic Preservation, issues and Environmental issues. Students will, understand the complete development process and, the role of all the stakeholders from this class., , , No changes to 318 summary.
Prerequisite: BLE-214. Offered: Spring.

BLE 321 - Corporate Crime and Financial Fraud (3)
Presents an in-depth study of corporate crime and, financial fraud. Examines accounting devices and, schemes employed to defraud stakeholders, failure, of industry watchdogs, and the regulatory and, legislative environment. Topics include:, corporate, governance, corporate finance, corporate, compliance programs, ethical misconduct by, outside legal, accounting,investment and banking, professionals, Sarbanes Oxley Act, Foreign, Corrupt Practices Act,Organizational Sentencing, guidelines, mail fraud, wire fraud, money, laundering,conspiracy, securities violations, qui, tam litigation(whistleblowers)and financial, accounting crimes.

BLE 322 - Getting Government to Say 'yes' to, Business (3)
Government can be a vital ally to business, as, much as it can be a roadblock. Government sets, the minimum standards for how society expects, companies to deal with customers and each other,. Businesses that do not recognize why government, needs to be an integral part of their, decision-making as opposed to an afterthought--, are doomed to fail. This course teaches students, how to get government on their side.
Prerequisite: BLE-214.
BLE 323 - Protecting Your Innovations Through IP, Law, Patents, Trademarks, and Copyrights (3)

As a growing number of firms choose to produce, goods abroad, piracy, counterfeiting, and other, acts that dilute their brands are becoming, increasingly common. This course focuses on the, legal and practical tools that entrepreneurs, start-ups, and existing business can use to protect their intellectual property (IP). It, offers best practices on the strategic use of, copyright, patent, trademark, and trade secrets, to enhance corporate value in different, industries and regions. The course provides a, legal foundation in IP and demonstrates how to, apply that knowledge to business through case, analysis.

Prerequisite: BLE-214.

BLE 325 - Global Business Ethics (3)

Surveys business ethics as they transcend the, diverse perspectives of global business. , Explores current global ethics standards and, values, ethical challenges, controversies,, convergence and trends. Students explore famous, global business cases through films, websites and, independent research. Emphasizes identification, and resolution of global business ethical issues, within the context of ethical decision-making and, sustainability. Analyzes corporate social, responsibility ; hence, transforming global, business ethics through business.

Prerequisite: BLE-215, PHIL-119, PHIL-120, PHIL-123 or PHIL-127.

BLE 510 - Independent Study in Business (3)

Involves a student initiated written proposal to, a willing and appropriate full-time faculty, member for a directed study project. Normally, this is for three credits and completed during, one semester. Prior to registration, the faculty, member and student must concur on a written, proposal, which includes a reading list and, description of requirements for grading of the, final project.

Prerequisite: Approval of Dept Chair or Dean.

BLE 910 - Independent Study (1-3)

Provides student with a self-initiated directed , study project. Student and faculty advisor must, concur on a written proposal and final report , Project must be approved by the dean of graduate, programs prior to registration.

Prerequisite: Instructor's approval required.

BLKST-Black Studies

BLKST 100 - Introduction to Black Studies I: Survey, of the Discipline (4)

Introduces students to the basic concepts, literature and interdisciplinary nature of Black, Studies. Provides a conceptual framework for the, investigation and analysis of black history and, culture as well.

Offered: Occasionally.

BLKST 101 - Introduction to Black Studies II, Research and Writing (4)

Introduces students to basic research techniques, and methods in Black Studies including library, use, identifying resources, project development,, documenting sources, and writing research papers.

Offered: Occasionally.

BLKST 225 - West African History Through Film and, Literature (4)

Examines the history and culture of West Africa, through its portrayal in literature and film. The, specific countries that will be focused on are, Senegal, Mali, Burkina Faso, Ghana and Nigeria., This class will also recognize the fact that, borders are a modern, man-made element of the, West African landscape serving to both separate, people who have historically and traditionally, seen themselves as connected, and to bring, together people into a nation who have, historically and traditionally seen themselves as, distinct from one another.

BLKST 226 - The African American Experience in, Literature and Film (4)

Using literature and film to present aspects of, the African American experience in the United, States. By using film and literature it is, possible to present the broad range of cultural, styles, regional variations, class differences,, gender issues, family structures and multiple, viewpoints that make up the African American, experience. Through lectures and in-class, presentations a historical context will be, provided for each of the films or texts that are, used during the semester.

BLKST 250 - Haiti, Guadeloupe and Martinique (4)

This course explores the rich intellectual, tradition of Haiti, Guadeloupe, and Martinique by, considering historical moments linked to, colonialism, the abolition of slavery, the, representation of gender, departmentalization,, and decolonization through essays, films, poems,, novels, and short stories by critics and writers, from the 19th-21st centuries.

Introduces students to the Reconstruction era in American history, and uses Reconstruction as a bridge to look at enslavement, which preceded the era, and the issue of freedom during, and after the era. In the first half of the class students read from texts that will provide them with an understanding of slavery, emancipation and reconstruction. The second half of the class will utilize online collections of the Freedman's Bureau Papers to allow students to use documents to deepen their understanding of the Reconstruction era. The class will also provide a comparative approach by considering questions of citizenship in the 19th century for people of African descent in the United States, Latin America and the Caribbean. This course is identical to HST 469.

Offered: Occasionally.

BLLS-Business Law Legal and Social

BLLS 800 - Business Law (3)

Examines the philosophy and practice of substantive law affecting the formation, operation and discharge of commercial, transactions, contracts, and business associations. Topics include: agency, partnership, corporation and trust forms of association. Considers aspects of property law, and international dimensions.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

BLLS 830 - Managing in the International Legal, Environment (3)

Examines the complex interactions among, legal, political, economic and cultural forces. Students discuss contemporary international, conflicts in the areas of trade, expropriation, political risk analysis, foreign direct investment, anti-dumping and countervailing, duty laws, export control, laws, extraterritoriality and taxation of income.

Prerequisite: MBA-680 or MBA-730. Offered: Fall and Spring.

BLLS 871 - Corporate Crime and Financial Fraud (3)

Presents an in-depth study of corporate crime and, financial fraud. Examines accounting devices and, schemes employed to defraud stakeholders, failure, of industry watchdogs, and the regulatory and, legislative environment. Topics include: corporate, governance, corporate finance, corporate, compliance programs, ethical misconduct by, outside legal, accounting, investment and banking, professionals, Sarbanes Oxley Act, Foreign, Corrupt Practices Act, Organizational Sentencing, guidelines, mail fraud, wire fraud, money laundering, conspiracy, securities violations, qui, tam litigation (whistleblowers) and financial, accounting crimes.

Offered: Spring.

CAS-College of Arts and Sciences

CAS 101 - Strategies of Success (1)

CAS 101 is a one-credit course that meets once a week and is designed to help you have a, successful transition to Suffolk University and, our unique urban community. It is also designed, to introduce you to the principles and concepts of Oral Communication and Presentation Skills. Through interactive exercises and engaging assignments, you will explore the campus, environment and learn about strategies for success as a student. You will present speeches, about your research and activities to improve, your abilities as a speaker.

Prerequisite: CAS students only. SBS students by special permission.

CAS 109 - Life Skills (1)

CAS-109, Life Skills, is a one-credit course that meets once a week and is designed to help you learn some of the top skills every young adult, needs to know for college and post-college life. Designed to introduce you to the principles and, concepts of communication and personal growth, interactive exercises and engaging assignments, will help you learn about yourself and life skills, which can play a crucial role in nurturing your, sense of well-being and readying you for the, future. When completed, you'll enter the, world-at-large brimming with new passions and, equipped with valuable skills. You will present, your findings and improve your abilities as a, speaker while demonstrating your new-found skills.

CAS 110 - Introduction to Photoshop (1)

In this hands-on introductory course, students, will learn the basic features and tools of Adobe, Photoshop, image editing, and manipulation, and, typography. With a focus on using professional, techniques (image isolation, image retouching, combining images, filters, etc.) students will, learn by creating real-world projects.
CAS 111 - Travel Photography for Pleasure and Publication

A popular branch of Photojournalism is the, exciting and growing field of travel photography. Whether with a professional style camera or a new, high quality smart phone camera, with some good, training in picture making, the traveler can, create stories and artful images from around the world to inform and educate the public or for, personal knowledge and satisfaction. In this class, students will learn some of the, history, literature, and technical basics of photography. In addition, they will learn what it takes to photograph not only at a destination, but, while traveling. It can lead to an interesting, lifestyle and concentration that can become an, occupation of value and even an instrument of good, will to the world.

CAS 119 - Surviving the Zombie (or Other), Apocalypse: Essential Skills (1)

This course is designed to look at what skills, people need in order to cope with an apocalyptic, event (like the COVID-19 crisis) which might leave, civilization in a case of disarray. Every student needs to develop one new skill while, taking the course: everything from urban, archeology and geocaching to creating a sourdough, starter to making paper or soap to growing herbs, in a hydroponics set-up. Students will research the skill and related information (history,, development, science behind the skill,, improvements, etc.) in order to create an, informative presentation and related materials, that will teach people about this skill and its, importance. Students will then record videos, demonstrating their skills, showing a sample, project, and discussing how to get more, information. Then we build the "Surviving the, Zombie Apocalypse" web site where we post the, videos, links to information about the various, skills, blogs, and link to a Twitter or Instagram, feed. Class domain: LegionsofDarkness.com

CAS H101 - Honors Strategies of Success (1)

CAS H101 is a one-credit course with no, prerequisites that meets once a week and is, designed to help you have a successful transition, to Suffolk University and our unique urban, community. This course will also give you, opportunities to connect with the honors, community, both on and off-campus. CAS H101 is, also designed to introduce you to the principles, and concepts of Oral Communication and, Presentation Skills. Through interactive, exercises and engaging assignments, you will, explore the campus environment and learn about, strategies for success as an honors student. You, will improve your self-presentation and oral, communications skills by presenting speeches and, experiencing poster presentations.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only. SBS students by special permission.

CAS 201 - College to Career: Explore Your Options, and Find Your Path (1)

This course engages students in the early stages, of career planning. Students will explore their, interests, skills, values, and strengths, which, will allow them to begin setting appropriate, goals for professional development. Once students, understand themselves in relation to the world of work, they will learn how to research careers and, employment paths that fit with their goals.

Prerequisite: CAS-101. CAS students only. SBS students by special permission., Restricted to the following majors: Art History, Asian Studies,, Biology, Criminal Justice, Economics, English, French, Global, Cultural Studies, History, Humanities, International Economics,, Music History, Philosophy, Physics, Radiation Science, Sociology,, Spanish, and Undeclared. Instructor consent required for all, other majors.

CAS 202 - Professional Development on Social Media (1)

Students will learn how to use social media for, career networking and job search. In this, hands-on course, students will develop personal, content for professional platforms and network, through job search engines.

CAS 203 - Building a Website in Wix

Students will learn how to build a basic website through the online platform Wix.com. In this course, students will use the software to organize, create, publish, and manage a web site. Course content includes web design terminology and layout theory, as well as practical skills (inserting text and images or other multimedia, adding forms and other apps available within the Wix platform, creation of menus, and preparing the site for use on mobile devices).

CAS 211 - Career Foundations

This class is designed to help transfer and, continuing students have a successful transition, to Suffolk University and engage in the early, stages of career planning., Students will explore their interests, skills,, values, and strengths, which will allow them to, begin setting appropriate goals for professional, development. Once students understand themselves, in relation to the world of work they will learn, how to research careers and employment paths that, fit with their goals. Through interactive, exercises and engaging assignments, this class, will also explore the unique Suffolk campus, environment, oral communication and presentation, skills.

Prerequisite: For students with 16 or more transfer credits and enrolled in, summer courses.

CAS 233 - The Future of Black Leadership:, Celebrate the Past & Present (1)

Drawing on the text, On Conversations in Black on, Power, Politics, and Leadership by Ed Gordon, this, course will focus on the contributions of Black, Americans and the rich history of Civil Rights, Activists, Artists, Musicians, Writers, Entrepreneurs, and other Unsung Heroes. Students, will learn the signature traits of inclusive, leadership, engage in Rx Racial Healing Circles,, and explore the importance of representation,, identity, and diversity.

CAS 235 - Co-Conspirators: Anti-Racism and Brave Conservations

While walking in the footsteps of trailblazing poet Maya Angelou and activist Jane Elliot, this class will learn how to confront racism, breakdown barriers and create stronger communities. From the writings of contemporary authors, poets, rappers, actors, and other leaders, we will discover the signature traits of being an anti-racist, explore our identities, engage in Racial Healing Circles, and develop a wider network of accomplices in the arts.

CAS 242 - The Happiness Factor: One Key to, Successful Adulting

Transitioning to adulthood with success should be, done carefully with a focus on happiness and, enjoyment. This course will help students, understand the science of happiness, positive, psychology, and strategies for journeying through, the college experience. Concepts covered in the, course include: Happiness, Mindfulness, Adulting,, Emotional Intelligence, Health, Financial, Wellness, Professional Development and Leadership., We will focus on integrating happiness in life in, order for participants to happily adult in, college, career, and beyond.

CAS 244 - Food, Culture, and Communication (1)

The study of food has become increasingly popular, in the last decade. The relationship between food, and human experiences has been well documented. It helps us establish our identities, negotiate, our environments, and define our cultures. As, Greene and Cramer state in their text Food as, Communication; Communication as Food: "Food is no, longer viewed merely as a means of survival; Food, is a nonverbal way we create, share, and transform, meaning with others." This course will examine the, relationship between food and communication in, several contexts: media, culture, and, interpersonal relationships.

CAS 261 - Watercolour (1)

This is a class designed for students who want to, learn the art of Watercolor Painting. Basic, artistic concepts pertaining to the medium will, be covered. A fundamental, hands-on working, knowledge of the medium and equipment will be, addressed. Emphasis will be on-hands on, problem-solving, skill building, and helping, students develop a personal style. Specific, techniques will be addressed to help students, make decisions and work through and complete, paintings. Projects will include painting from, the still life, the environment and images,, Paint, watercolor paper, water and a brush -, that's all you need to start painting with, watercolor. The materials list will be supplied, by the instructor and materials may be purchased, at a discount price from a preferred art store.

CAS 263 - Cell Phone Art (1)

Cell phone cameras have developed to the point, where we have the opportunity to capture candid, or unexpected moments with great definition in, still or motion form. While having fun, experimenting with hand held devises students, will use their cell phones as just one tool in a, box of many. The projects in this course will use, photo captured images as a kick off point to, understand characteristics of strong design., Students will learn to develop dynamic approaches, to effective visual communication, and to, organize and activate the two-dimensional surface, with emphasis on essential visual elements such, as line, shape, value, texture and word to image, relationship. The goal of this course is to be, creative, develop proficiency in the logic and, structure of two-dimensional organization and, visual communication by combining divergent, elements into a unified whole. There are, supplies/costs connected to this course. The, instructor will email you a list before the class, begins.

CAS 273 - Diversity, Acceptance, and Wellness (1)

Diversity, Acceptance and Wellness have been in, the forefront of the news in 2020. This class will, focus on learning about diversity, including race,, ethnicity, class, culture and gender to create, more awareness on these issues. Students will, learn what impedes acceptance and what can help, with wellness for the individual, community and, nation.

CAS 282 - Politics Is Not a Dirty Word: Rules of, Engagement 101 (1)

This class is your passport to political, participation. In this hands-on class you will get, the tools you need to navigate and get information, from and about local, state, and national, governments. You will learn how to engage elected, officials and government agencies, join groups, doing work on issues you care about, and learn how, to effectively consume news coverage. Designed to, be fun, interactive, and useful, this class will, teach the skills of effective democratic, participation and citizenship.

CAS 291 - Symmetry Group Strategies for Solving, Rubik's Cube (1)

Group theory provides a powerful way to, understand symmetry in the world around us. This, course presents methods of group theory which can, be used to devise an algorithm for solving, Rubik's cube. After successfully completing this, course, students will understand symmetry in new, ways and will be able to solve Rubik's cube using, the Human Thistlethwaite Algorithm.

CAS 292 - Craft Beer Concepts (1)

Craft Beer Concepts will examine topics involved, with the growing industry of Craft Beer. Topics, will include the history of beer, the 4 main, ingredients of beer (water, hops, yeast and, grains), the science of brewing (fermentation,, temperature, flocculation, etc.), all the various, styles of beer around the world, how to brew in, small, medium and large scales, and the business, of craft beer production. This course will be, taught in an online and hybrid format. Lectures, will be asynchronous. Depending on the format and, time taught, the course will include tours of, medium and large scale breweries in the Boston, area. Focus will be on the art and science of, brewing and the commercial aspects of beer, production. No alcohol will be consumed as part, of this course.

CAS H201 - Honors College to Career: Explore Your, Options and Find Your Path (1)

This course engages students in the early stages, of career planning. Students will explore their, interests, skills, values, and strengths, which, will allow them to begin setting appropriate, goals for professional development. Once students, understand themselves in relation to the world of, work, they will learn how to research careers and, employment paths that fit with their goals.

Prerequisite: CAS-101. CAS students with Honors or 3.3 GPA. SBS students by, special permission.

CAS HC235 - Honors Co-Conspirators: Anti-Racism and, Brave Conservations

While walking in the footsteps of trailblazing, poet Maya Angelou and activist Jane Elliot, this, class will learn how to confront racism, breakdown, barriers and create stronger communities. From the, writings of contemporary authors, poets, rappers,, actors, and other leaders, we will discover the, signature traits of being an anti-racist, explore, our identities, engage in Racial Healing Circles,, and develop a wider network of accomplices in the, arts.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

CAS HC295 - Internship Launch

This course is designed for students seeking an, internship in the following semester. Students, will research potential internship sites and, develop their own plan for finding an internship,. Students will also prepare a professional-style, resume and cover letter targeted toward a specific, position or industry, learn proper interviewing, techniques, and practice networking strategies,. Students will develop goals and learning, objectives for their internship and will learn, professional conduct for the workplace to make the, most of their internship experience.

Prerequisite: Restricted to CAS honors students with 30 completed credits or, more.

CAS HC297 - Crime Investigation (1)

People are fascinated by crime. The popularity of, crime television shows, movies, and books, illustrates public interest. In this class,, students will explore some of these cases. The, cases selected will be based on interest. Students, will learn what went on in famous case studies. , Discussions will include forensic techniques as, well as courtroom testimony.

Prerequisite: Restricted to CAS honors students.

CAS L262 - Introduction to Woodcraft (1)

Acclimates students to the Art Design Woodshop, to provide knowledge of the safe and confident, operation of the tools and equipment within, similar makers' spaces. Through planning,, designing and executing projects, this class will, build student's understanding of tools,, materials, and three-dimensional thinking.

CAS L281 - The World of Wine (1)

This is a survey course of wines globally,, designed to introduce the student to multiple, aspects of wine. The student will be able to, learn about the safe consumption and responsible, service of wine, the history of wine making and, commerce, its cultural and social importance,, processes of grape cultivation (viticulture) and, wine making (vinification or enology), the, international wine economy, the variety of wine, styles, and, wine degustation (tasting) and, pairing with food.

Prerequisite: Students must be at least 21 years old by the start of the course.

CAS 301 - Peer Mentoring 101 (1)

Mentoring adds value to our lives. In this class, you get an opportunity to learn more about what it means to be a mentor. The purpose of the class is to help you identify the roles and responsibilities connected with peer mentoring, establish effective ways to communicate with mentees, and develop an understanding of expectations in the mentoring relationship. In this hands-on class, you will continue to build connections with the students you've met in your role as a TA, OL or RA. You will also be expected to participate in outside classroom activities with your mentees. Experience as a TA, OL, or RA preferred for enrollment.

CAS 302 - Socially Responsible Leadership (1)

The purpose of this socially responsible, leadership course is to provide the theory, method and tools you will need to serve as a Service-Learning Assistant Mentor (SLAM). You will learn about best practices for leadership, team-building and service-learning. Your service will include working with a faculty member to support undergraduate students who are taking a service-learning focused course. This course will provide focused leadership, team-building and service-learning mentoring training for students, serving as SLAMs. Your leadership and SLAM responsibilities will be three-fold: 1) mentor undergraduate in their service-learning experience; 2) serve as a liaison between the faculty member and the undergraduate students; and 3) serve as a coordinator and liaison between the community partner and the service-learning course.

CAS 401 - Resume & Cover Letter Writing (1)

A hands-on experience for seniors (and particularly keen juniors) to learn how to write a resume and cover letter for the job market. Students will begin by summarizing their college experiences; writing five-year career goals; fine-tuning resumes for different kinds of jobs; researching three types of organization, structure, work culture and career paths; understanding job advertisements; and writing, three sample cover letters.

Prerequisite: Junior standing or higher.

CAS 403 - Designing Your Portfolio (1)

In this course, students will develop skills and strategies to design and produce an online portfolio for their work. These will be useful tools for students to brand themselves and, showcase their abilities to potential graduate, schools and employers, and otherwise provide an initial platform from which to begin building a career and a professional identity. We will design live websites to present each type of work, and develop a professional persona to represent this early stage of each student's career. We will consider the individual student, their particular projects and the conventions associated with them, their multiple potential audiences, and the goals they could set for their professional online presence. Then students will use web software in creative ways to present, themselves and their work to those audiences. This class will mostly be conducted online, with two Saturday workshops in person on Suffolk's campus in downtown Boston, MA.

Prerequisite: Restricted to students with at least 54 credits.

CAS HC403 - Designing Your Portfolio (1)

In this course, students will develop skills and strategies to design and produce an online portfolio for the work they have already produced, regardless of discipline or genre. These will be useful tools for students to brand themselves and, showcase their abilities to potential graduate, schools and employers. It can also provide an initial platform from which to begin building a career and a professional identity. We will consider the individual students, their particular, projects, the conventions associated with them, their multiple potential audiences, and the goals, students could set for their professional online presence. We will then design live websites to present each type of work, to develop a professional persona, and to do so in ways that appeal to specific audiences.

Prerequisite: Restricted to CAS honors students with at least 54 credits.

CAS 510 - CSDM Independent Study (1-4)

By special arrangement, a student who has declared the CAS Self-Designed Major may pursue an independent course of study and/or a research or creative project under the supervision of a faculty member. Credits completed in CAS 510, count toward the total of 8 independent study credits permitted for the CAS Self-Designed Major. Consent of major advisor and instructor required. Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

CAS 513 - CSDM Internship (1-4)

Individualized guidance in a professional, development experience that relates to the student’s self-designed major. Applications to participate must be approved by the instructor, and major advisor. It is the responsibility of, students to arrange internship placements in, advance of the start of the course. Consent of, major advisor and instructor required. Offered, every semester.

Prerequisite: Instructor approval required.

CAS 555 - CSDM Interdisciplinary Capstone (1-4)

This course explores topics that require students, to synthesize and analyze their accumulated, interdisciplinary learning in the CAS, Self-Designed Major. The course is designed as an, individualized program of study under the, supervision of a faculty member and culminates in, a capstone interdisciplinary project. May be, taken in the fall and/or spring of the senior, year for a total of no more than 8 credits., Credits completed in CAS 555 count toward the, total of 8 independent study credits permitted, for the CAS Self-Designed Major.

Prerequisite: Department approval required.

CAS H510 - Honors CSDM Independent Study (1-4)

By special arrangement, a student who has, declared the CAS Self-Designed Major may pursue, an independent course of study and/or research under the supervision of a, faculty member. The course should adhere to the, guidelines for honors courses established by the, honors program. Credits completed in CAS 510, count toward the total of 8 independent study credits permitted for the CAS Self-Designed, Major., Consent of major advisor and instructor required., Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only; instructor approval required.

CAS H525 - Honors Start Up Institute (12)

Immerse yourself in an intensive educational, experience at the Start Up Institute, a Suffolk, University educational partner in downtown, Boston. Students in their final year of, undergraduate study enhance their professional, development and networking strategies as well as, acquire skills and knowledge in one of four, programs: coding, web design, digital marketing,, or sales. Application must be made to the CAS, Honors Program.

Prerequisite: Application must be made to the CAS Honors Program.

CAS H555 - Honors CSDM Interdisciplinary Capstone (1-4)

The senior honors experience in the CAS, Self-Designed Major is an individual program of, interdisciplinary research and/or creative work, on an approved topic, under the supervision of a, faculty member. Required elements of the capstone, include development of a final project, report,, or thesis, as well as public presentation to the, Suffolk community at an honors event. The plan, for the honors capstone must be approved by the, honors program in advance of the semester in, which the work will be completed. Must be taken, for at least 3 credits and may be taken in the, fall and/or spring of the senior year for a total, of no more than 8 credits. Credits completed in, CAS H555 count toward the total of 8 independent, study credits permitted for the CAS Self-Designed, Major.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only; department approval required.

CAS 700 - Introduction to Graduate Studies (3)

This course is designed to foster the development, of a range of skills necessary for success in, graduate school and professional practice. The, course provides students the opportunity to, master graduate-level competencies in areas such, as information literacy; professional ethics;, time management and project completion; critical, thinking and analysis; and scholarly writing., Students will focus on enhancement of, presentation skills and the development of voice, and perspective in their written work.

Prerequisite: Graduate Pathway Students Only.

CHEM-Chemistry

CHEM 105 - Chemical New Product Development (4)

This course addresses the crucial intersection, between chemistry and business, and the impact of, these fields on society. It provides an, introduction to important chemistry concepts and, practices of business management. Primary focus, is on understanding the chemistry principles, behind some of the consumer products in our, everyday lives, and using this knowledge to create, and evaluate ideas for new products. The course, also introduces the business aspects involved in, the development and marketing of new products. An, important component of the course is in making, effective presentations; this component concludes, the course, culminating in team presentations of a, new chemical product to panel of executives and, peers. This course satisfies the Sawyer Business, School Science requirement.

CHEM 111 - General Chemistry I (3)

Fundamental principles of chemistry are, discussed. Introduces atomic structure,, the periodic table, the nature of chemical bonds,, chemical reactions, and stoichiometry. This, course is recommended for science majors or those, considering careers in the health sciences.

Prerequisite: Placement at MATH-104 or better. Students who do not place at, MATH-104 must take MATH-104 concurrently. Must be taken, concurrently with CHEM-L111. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM 112 - General Chemistry II (3)

This course is a continuation of General, Chemistry I. Fundamental principles of chemistry, are discussed. Introduces , thermochemistry, gases, solution chemistry,, chemical kinetics, chemical equilibrium,, acid-base systems, and thermodynamics.

Prerequisite: CHEM-L112 (concurrently), CHEM-111, CHEM-L111 and MATH-104 or, higher. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM H106 - Biotechnology & Its Applications in, Medicine, Agriculture, Law (4)

Introduces the latest discoveries and, applications of biotechnology. Topics include, genetically modified food, stem cells, genetic, testing, cloning, and forensics. A combination of, lectures, discussions, short documentaries, mock, congressional hearings, and hands-on activities, will provide insight into the numerous medical,, social, legal, and ethical issues surrounding, this technology.

Prerequisite: GPA 3.3 or higher, or Honors student.

CHEM H111 - Honors General Chemistry I (3)

Fundamental principles of chemistry are, discussed. Introduces atomic structure,, the periodic table, the nature of chemical bonds,, chemical reactions, and stoichiometry. This, course is recommended for science majors or those, considering careers in the health sciences.

Prerequisite: Placement at MATH-104 or better. Students who do not place at, MATH-104 must take MATH-104 concurrently. Must be taken, concurrently with CHEM-L111. CAS Honors students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM H112 - Honors General Chemistry II (3)

This course is a continuation of General Chemistry, I. Fundamental principles of chemistry are, discussed. Introduces thermochemistry, gases., solution chemistry,, chemical kinetics, chemical, equilibrium, acid-base systems, and, thermodynamics.

Prerequisite: CHEM-L112 (concurrently), CHEM-111, CHEM-L111 and MATH-104 or, higher. CAS Honors students only.

CHEM L111 - General Chemistry Laboratory I (1)

This course introduces the basic principles of, chemistry through hands-on laboratory experiments,. Students learn safe laboratory practices and, fundamental technical skills. These include the, determination of mass and volume., making, solutions, and synthesizing a product. Emphasis is, also placed on understanding and writing, scientific literature.

Prerequisite: Placement at MATH-104 or better. Students who do not place at, MATH-104 must take MATH-104 concurrently. Must be taken, concurrently with CHEM-111. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM L112 - General Chemistry Laboratory II (1)

This course is a continuation of General Chemistry, I Laboratory. Apply the basic principles of, chemistry through discovery laboratory experiments, with an emphasis on quantitative analysis. Apply, Beer's Law and acid-base titrations. This, laboratory is designed around the foundational, laboratory skills practiced by science students in, a wide variety of majors.

Prerequisite: CHEM-112 (concurrently) and CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111 and MATH-104, or higher. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM LV111 - General Chemistry Laboratory I Online (1)

This online laboratory course introduces the basic, principles of chemistry through the use of a, variety of virtual tools such as simulations and, videos. Students learn about safe laboratory, practices and fundamental technical skills. These, include the determination of mass and volume., making solutions, and conducting a chemical, reaction. Emphasis is also placed on understanding, and writing scientific literature.

Prerequisite: Placement at MATH-104 or better. Students who do not place at, MATH-104 must take MATH-104 concurrently. Must be taken, concurrently with CHEM-111. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM LV112 - General Chemistry Laboratory II Online (1)

This course is a continuation of the General, Chemistry I Laboratory. Students apply the, principles of chemistry through virtual, experiments with an emphasis on quantitative, analysis. Analytical techniques such as, calorimetry and acid-base titrations are, introduced. This laboratory is designed around the, foundational laboratory skills practiced by, science students in a wide variety of majors.
Prerequisite: CHEM-111/L111; CHEM-112 must be taken concurrently. MATH-104, placement or higher. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM 211 - Organic Chemistry I (3)
Introduces basic theories of structure, bonding, and chemical reactivity as specifically applied, to modern organic chemistry. Includes functional groups, acid/base chemistry, nomenclature, resonance, spectroscopy, and stereochemistry.
Prerequisite: CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112. Must be taken concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM 212 - Organic Chemistry II (3)
Builds on the core competencies acquired in, Organic Chemistry I. Includes detailed mechanistic, discussions of substitution elimination and, addition reactions. Emphasizes organic synthesis, structure determination and spectroscopy.
Prerequisite: CHEM-211 and CHEM-L211. Must take CHEM-L212 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM L211 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I (1)
Introduces synthetic organic chemistry, techniques. Includes melting point determination, distillation, crystallization, extraction, chromatographic separations, and infrared, spectroscopy. Discusses experimental design, within the context of green organic chemistry.
Prerequisite: CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112. Must be taken concurrently with CHEM-211. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM L212 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory II (1)
This hybrid laboratory course builds on the core, competencies acquired in Organic Chemistry, Laboratory I and has two mandatory face to face, laboratory sessions to develop essential, laboratory skill. The remaining lab sessions use, a variety of virtual tools including simulations, videos, class discussions and data analysis. Emphasizes the characterization of organic, molecules via nuclear magnetic resonance, spectroscopy. Discusses experimental design within the context of green organic chemistry.
Prerequisite: CHEM-211 and CHEM-L211. Must be take CHEM-212 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM LV211 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I Online (1)
Online laboratory course that introduces organic, chemistry concepts and techniques through the use, of a variety of virtual tools including, simulations, videos, class discussion and data, analysis. Students will become familiar with a, variety of techniques such as melting point, determination, distillation, crystallization, extraction, chromatographic separations, and, characterization using infrared spectroscopy. Discusses experimental design within the context, of green organic chemistry principles.
Prerequisite: CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112. Must be taken concurrently with CHEM-211. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM LV212 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory II Online (1)
Online laboratory course that builds on the core, competencies acquired in Organic Chemistry, Laboratory I, using a variety of virtual tools, including simulations, videos, class discussions, and data analysis. Emphasizes the characterization, of organic molecules via nuclear magnetic, resonance spectroscopy. Discusses experimental, design within the context of green organic, chemistry principles.
Prerequisite: CHEM-212 (concurrently) and CHEM-211 and CHEM-L211. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CHEM 314 - Instrumental Analysis (3)
Explores the basic techniques of collecting and, analyzing data from different types of, instrumentation, including: ultraviolet, visible, fluorescence, atomic and, emission spectroscopy; chromatographic methods; electrochemical measurements. Students will apply, these techniques to problems in chemistry,, forensics, and environmental science.
Prerequisite: CHEM-211 and CHEM-L211. Offered: Fall.

CHEM 331 - Biochemistry I (3)
Explores the foundations of, biochemistry, including the structure,, organization and behavior of proteins,, carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids. Topics, include enzyme catalysis, kinetics, and, inhibition as well as protein regulation and, membrane structure. Introduces the use of, biochemical literature and bioinformatics, techniques.
Prerequisite: CHEM-L331 (concurrently) CHEM-212 and CHEM-L212 or permission of, instructor. Offered: Fall.
CHEM 332 - Biochemistry II (3)
Explores the principles of bioenergetics and, metabolism of biomolecules. Includes intermediary, metabolism of carbohydrates, lipids, amino acids, and oxidative phosphorylation. Additional topics, include signal transduction and the regulation, and integration of metabolism.
Prerequisite: CHEM-L332 (concurrently) and CHEM-331. Offered: Spring.

CHEM 355 - Environmental Chemistry (3)
A study of the chemical processes (including, biologically mediated ones) that affect the, cycling and ultimate fate of chemicals in the environment. Topics include air, water, and soil, chemistry as well as energy and climate change., The effects of pollutant loads on natural systems, and the remediation and treatment methods used to, minimize pollutant loads are investigated. 3 hour, lecture. Normally offered spring, odd numbered, years.
Prerequisite: CHEM-211 or permission of instructor. Offered: Alternates Fall and Spring.

CHEM 375 - Advanced Inorganic Chemistry (3)
, Topics in inorganic chemistry including bonding, theories, chemical structures, symmetry and group, theory, kinetics and mechanisms of reactions, and, spectroscopy. Advanced topics may include, bioinorganic chemistry, or organometallics.
Prerequisite: CHEM-314 and CHEM-L314. Offered: Every Other Year.

CHEM H332 - Honors Biochemistry II (3)
Explores the principles of bioenergetics and, metabolism of biomolecules. Includes intermediary, metabolism of carbohydrates, lipids, amino acids, and oxidative phosphorylation. Additional topics, include signal transduction and the regulation, and integration of metabolism.
Prerequisite: CHEM-L332 (concurrently) and CHEM-331. CAS Honors students only. Offered: Spring.

CHEM L314 - Instrumental Analysis Laboratory (1)
This hybrid laboratory will be offered with three mandatory face to face sessions to develop essential skills. The rest of the curriculum will be offered in an online format. Explores the basic techniques of collecting and analyzing data from different types of instrumentation, including: ultraviolet, visible, fluorescence, atomic and emission spectroscopy; chromatographic methods; electrochemical measurements. Students will apply these techniques to problems in chemistry, forensics, and environmental science.
Prerequisite: CHEM-314 (concurrently) and CHEM-L211. Offered: Fall.

CHEM L331 - Biochemical Techniques Lab (1)
Laboratory course introducing biochemical, techniques. Includes buffer preparation, PCR, , purification of DNA and, proteins, agarose and polyacrylamide gel, electrophoresis, protein quantitation and, detection, and enzyme kinetic assays.
Prerequisite: CHEM-331 (concurrently) and CHEM-212 and CHEM-L212 or permission, of instructor. Offered: Fall.

CHEM L332 - Advanced Biochemical Techniques and, Research Lab (1)
Hybrid biochemistry laboratory course where, students learn experimental design and critical, analysis of the scientific literature while, conducting novel research. Projects vary from year, to year but may include recombinant DNA, techniques, purification and quantitation of DNA, and proteins, enzyme kinetics, and bioinformatics., Includes at least three mandatory face-to-face, laboratory sessions to develop essential, biochemistry lab skills.
Prerequisite: CHEM-332 (concurrently) and CHEM-331 and CHEM-L331. Offered: Spring.

CHEM L355 - Environmental Chemistry Lab (1)
Laboratory exercises designed to illustrate, principles covered by topics in CHEM 355., Prerequisites: CHEM L211, concurrent enrollment in, CHEM 355 required. 4-hour laboratory. Normally, offered spring, odd numbered years.
Prerequisite: CHEM 355 must be taken concurrently. Take CHEM-L211; Offered: Alternates Fall and Spring.

CHEM L375 - Advanced Inorganic Laboratory (1)
Laboratory exercises designed to illustrate, principles covered by topics in CHEM 375. Prior, or, concurrent enrollment in CHEM 375 required.
Prerequisite: CHEM-375 concurrently. Offered: Every Other Year.
CHEM 411 - Physical Chemistry I (3)
Explores quantum chemistry through simple model, systems such as particle in a box, harmonic, oscillator, rigid rotor, and hydrogen atom. Applications to electronic, vibrational, and rotational spectroscopy and elements of atomic, and molecular structure.
Prerequisite: CHEM-112 and MATH-166. Offered: Fall.

CHEM 412 - Physical Chemistry II (3)
Explores the laws of thermodynamics and their, molecular basis through the kinetic theory of, gases and statistical mechanics. Includes, chemical kinetics and theories of reaction rates.
Prerequisite: CHEM-411. Offered: Spring.

CHEM 428 - Research & Seminar I (1-4)
First of a senior level, two-semester sequence of, independent study under the supervision of, faculty. Students may opt to conduct experimental, research or grant proposal development. Students, desiring departmental honors and/or an, ACS-accredited degree must conduct authentic, research; consult with the course instructor., Development of a research report and poster, presentation to the department are required, elements.
Prerequisite: CHEM 212; CHEM L212; Instructor's Consent required. Offered: Fall.

CHEM 429 - Research & Seminar II (1-4)
Second of a senior level, two-semester sequence, of independent study under the supervision of, faculty. Students may opt to conduct experimental, research or grant proposal development. Students, desiring departmental honors and/or an, ACS-accredited degree must conduct authentic, research; consult with the course instructor., Development of a final research report and oral, presentation to the department and the SU, community are required elements.
Prerequisite: CHEM-212 and CHEM-L212 and instructor's consent required., CAS Honors students only. Offered: Spring.

CHEM L411 - Physical Chemistry Laboratory I (1)
Experiments in molecular spectroscopy, quantum, chemistry, nanomaterials, and introduction to, computational chemistry. Emphasis will be placed, on experimental design and data analysis skills, in addition to technical writing skills as, demonstrated through reports prepared in the, professional style.
Prerequisite: CHEM-411 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

CHEM L412 - Physical Chemistry Laboratory II (1)
Experiments in thermodynamics, materials., chemical kinetics, and computational chemistry., Emphasis will be placed on experimental design, and data analysis skills in addition to technical, writing skills as demonstrated by laboratory, reports prepared in the professional style.

Prerequisite: CHEM-412 (concurrently) and CHEM-L411. Offered: Spring.

CHEM L453 - Introduction to Pharmacology and, Toxicology Lab (1)

Laboratory course where students learn to use, biochemistry, cheminformatics and bioinformatics, tools to predict the effect that various, xenobiotics will have on various receptors, transporters and enzymes in the human body. Lab, techniques may include: enzyme kinetics, binding, affinity, and ELISA.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-212 previously, CHEM-453 concurrently.

CHEM LV412 - Physical Chemistry Laboratory II Online (1)

This online laboratory course explores topics in, macromolecular materials, thermodynamics, chemical, kinetics, and computational chemistry. Students, will build upon foundations of computational, chemistry and computer-based experiments, introduced in prerequisite courses. Analysis of, experimental and simulated data and technical, writing skills are emphasized.

Prerequisite: CHEM-412 (concurrently) and CHEM-L411. Offered: Spring.

CHEM LV453 - Introduction to Pharmacology and, Toxicology Lab Online (1)

Online laboratory course where students learn to, use biochemistry, cheminformatics and, bioinformatics tools to understand xenobiotics and, predict their interaction with various, biomolecules. Experimental design is discussed in, detail and data are analyzed from previous or, published experiments.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-212 previously, CHEM-453 concurrently.

CHEM 500 - Experiential Learning in Chemistry (0)

This course requires students to complete a, minimum of 15 engagement hours per semester. Students gain exposure to a variety of activities, related to research in a laboratory or field, setting with faculty oversight. Permission of, instructor required. May be taken more than once.

CHEM 503 - Chemistry Or Biochemistry Internship (1)

This course provides students with credit for an unpaid off-campus chemistry or biochemistry internship completed during the semester when credit is earned. Students must secure an approved internship and provide documentation from the internship's overseer to a full time faculty member sponsor in the department in order to register for the course. The internship must involve participation in research and/or relevant professional training. Students or their overseers will be required to submit records of internship hours and provide the faculty sponsor with a written summary of internship experiences and accomplishments. Does not satisfy any requirements or electives of either the chemistry or biochemistry major, or of the chemistry minor. This course is available for variable credit. A CHEM 503 Internship for Credit form must be submitted to the department chair.

Prerequisite: CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111 and CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112. CAS students only. Instructor consent required.

CHEM 510 - Independent Study (1-4)

Advanced study of a special topic in chemistry, by arrangement with the chemistry faculty.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office.

CHEM H503 - Honors Chemistry or Biochemistry, Internship (1-4)

This course provides honors students with credit, for an unpaid off-campus chemistry or biochemistry, internship completed during the semester when, credit is earned. Students must secure an approved, internship and provide documentation from the, internship's overseer to a full time faculty, member sponsor in the department in order to, register for the course. The internship must, involve participation in research and/or relevant, professional training. Students or their overseers, will be required to submit records of internship, hours and provide the faculty sponsor with a, written summary of internship experiences and, accomplishments. Does not satisfy any requirements, or electives of either the chemistry or, biochemistry major, or of the chemistry minor,. This course is available for variable credit to, honors students only. A CHEM H503 Internship for, Credit form must be submitted to the department, chair.

Prerequisite: CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111 and CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112. Honors CAS, students, only. Instructor consent required.
CHEM H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Advanced study of a special topic in chemistry or, biochemistry, by arrangement with the faculty.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's Office. CAS Honors students only.

CHIN-Chinese

CHIN 101 - Elementary Chinese I (4)

Introduces Modern Standard Chinese (Mandarin), with an emphasis on developing conversational, skills by using authentic materials such as, video, audio, and various print media that teach, fundamental grammatical patterns and vocabulary, in functional contexts. Basic reading and, writing (in Simplified Characters) are also, taught.

Offered: Fall.

CHIN 102 - Elementary Chinese II (4)

Continues to develop proficiency in reading,, writing, and speaking Modern Standard Chinese, (Mandarin). Helps to develop listening, comprehension skills with the use of authentic, materials, such as print media, audio, and video, materials. Advanced beginning level of reading, and writing of Simplified Chinese characters is, taught.

Prerequisite: CHIN-101 or Instructor's consent. Offered: Spring.

CI-Creativity and Innovation

CI 102 - The End of Global Poverty (3)

This course is designed to demystify the creative, process by introducing students to creative, practice as a disciplined approach to, problem-solving and innovation. Students will be, encouraged to synthesize existing ideas, images,, concepts, and skill sets in original way, embrace, ambiguity and support divergent thinking and risk, taking, . , More than one-third of our global population, lives in poverty, earning less than two dollars a, day. Governments, businesses, social enterprises,, and charitable organizations have tried to solve, the global poverty issue with mixed results. What, is the solution? Is entrepreneurship the, solution, part of the solution, or has no impact, whatsoever? In this course, you will gain an, understanding of the power of entrepreneurship, (in the context of creativity and innovation),, the definition and depth of global poverty (in, the context of constraints, such as human,, financial and physical resources embedded in, local, regional, national and global cultures),, and successes and failures of past initiatives to, reduce poverty. This is not a course about, politics or business, but rather finding a, solution to a problem that has eluded mankind, since the beginning of time.

CI 103 - Sticking Your Neck Out- Inventing for, Non-Engineers (3)

This course examines cutting edge technologies,, the science behind them, and their practical, application and follow-up success or failure. It, also provides the students a chance to consider, the relevance of identified "needed" inventions, from the 1950s, and whether those projections, were correct. The history behind some remarkable, inventions will be presented. Finally, working in, small teams, students will brainstorm to identify, something useful to invent and determine several, approaches to implementing it.

CI 106 - Failing Successfully (3)

This course is designed to demystify the creative, process by introducing students to creative, practice as a disciplined approach to, problem-solving and innovation. Students will be, encouraged to synthesize existing ideas, images,, concepts, and skill sets in original way, embrace, ambiguity and support divergent thinking and risk, taking, . Did you know Netscape was the internet browser?, What about MySpace, arguably the Facebook of the, last decade? What led Apple from being innovative, pioneers of the 70's to the verge of extinction, in the 80's to the technological giant they are, today? Technologies come and go, but what leads, to organizations lasting more than 100 years such, as IBM, General Electric, etc.? What role does, failure play in successful innovation,, decision-making, and business viability? In this, course, you will learn about innovation that may, have been successful and well-executed. You will, also learn about innovation that was a viable, business opportunity, but poorly executed: one, phase of failure. In addition, you will learn, about innovation that had no real market, viability, but was launched anyway: another phase, of failure. Can failure lead to success? If so,, how?

CI 108 - Designing the Next Best Thing (3)

Introduces students to creative practice of, problem-solving, innovation, and the role of, technology in modern innovation. Students will be, encouraged to synthesize existing ideas, images, concepts, and skill sets in original way to, embrace ambiguity, support divergent thinking, and, risk taking.

CI 110 - The Entrepreneur's Cocktail (3)

How do you and your story drive business? This, course takes an innovative look at human, creativity and entrepreneurship. As an, entrepreneur needs perseverance and high, motivation, we will explore the importance of, values, risk taking, problem solving, and the, discovery of the market opportunities. In order, for you to be creative and essentially create, successful ventures, you will discover the, nuances between the three factors and explore, them, further through interactive discussion and debate, as well as collaborative group work. You will be, encouraged to think in non-conforming ways and, apply new concepts and develop your own personal, operating principles.

CI 112 - Creating Problems: a New Solution for, Sustainability (3)

As the majority of the world population now lives, in cities, for the first time in human history,, issues of urban sustainability have become more, complex and more important than ever before., Presented with case studies of urban efforts to, gain a sustainability foothold, students will, utilize ideation, critical thinking, and, strategic decision making to both identify root, problems and to present solutions. , , This course will lean heavily on ideation, processes, teamwork, and logical methods of, analysis to pursue actionable solutions for, significant problems. The methods of problem, identification and solution analysis learned in, this class will be readily adaptable to many, complex problems, helping the students to make, informed and decisive determinations in their, careers.

CI 113 - Revising Reality (3)

Reality and perception have been debated and, discussed for millennia. Humans see and, experience their world in different ways. How do, humans determine what is true and good and what, advancements are necessary? In this course,, students will creatively explore these big, questions and revisit knowledge using new and, sometimes divergent perspectives. Students will, participate in "dirty and courageous learning" by, crafting products, creating visual projects, and, coming into original thought via trial and error,. Students will also develop their analytical and, critical thinking skills, while learning to, communicate effectively and honestly.

CI 114 - Creating the Dream Team (3)

Every successful venture today is based on, effective teamwork. Unlike a typical lecture, format, Creating the Dream Team is a course that, utilizes experiential group learning to provide, students with pivotal team-building skills. These, essential skills are vital for everyone's, future success in the business world,. As team players, students are challenged to think, creatively. A collaborative problem-solving, process is used to analyze "real life", business situations. Teamwork involves research,, data collection and information analysis to, develop creative solutions to typical business, problems. Teams will utilize multi-media tools to, present their innovative ideas. Classmates will, provide peer feedback and review. Through, iterations, all students will assume roles as, project leaders, keynote speakers and, collaborators on a series of Team Challenges., , Upon successful completion of this course, all, students will have formed working "dream teams",. As reinforcement and final evaluation, Dream, Teams are required to create a multi-media, Capstone Event as a course performance measure,. This capstone presentation will, "showcase" all of their newly acquired, "dream" team-player skills.

CI 115 - Poetry Out Loud (3)

Students will develop a deep understanding of two, seminal books of 20th century poetry and other, key 20th century poems as they plan and execute, small-group, end of semester reading, performances. Students will write creative, response poems to increase their understanding of, the texts, and through cooperative decision, making strategize effective ways to present their, own poems and poems by Bishop or Frost. The, class format will foster direct spoken engagement, with matters of sound, rhythm, tone, and meaning., Final reading aloud performances will be recorded, and added to the Suffolk University Poetry Center, Archive.

CI 116 - Good to Great: Design YOUR Portal to, the World (3)

In this course students will be introduced to the, practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to, problem solving requiring research, persistence, and grit. Students will work collaboratively to, effectively synthesize existing ideas, images,, and skill sets in original ways. They will, embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In, the process, they will become more confident, life-long learners.

CI 120 - Process to Value: The Power of, Relationships (3)

In this course students will be introduced to the, practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to, problem solving requiring research, persistence, and grit. Students will work collaboratively to, effectively synthesize existing ideas, images,, and skill sets in original ways. They will, embrace risk and support divergent thinking. In, the process, they will become more confident, life-long learners.

CI 121 - Catastrophe Management: From 9/11 to the, Boston Marathon Bombings (3)

This course will introduce students to the, exciting world of emergency management from the, perspective of scientists who are often utilized, as experts during both small scale adverse events, and large scale catastrophes.

Students will, actively and creatively explore the, psychological, economic, and medical dimensions, of these events and participate in role play in, the classroom and site visits. By the end of the, course, students will have a keen appreciation of, emergency planning and management on the local, and national levels.

CI 122 - Financial Creativity: You Are the, Universe (3)

This course uses project-based learning and an, iterative process helping you build a solid, knowledge bank and financial foundation to teach, you: How to first navigate through all of the, following financial pitfalls and risks; economic, cycle, liquidity, interest rate fluctuation,, marketplace volatility, corporate continuity, concerns, default and credit issues. Then allows, you to partner with your classmates to detect,, design and deploy a novel and useful financial, asset risk/reward graph in your favor, thus taking, traditional models to task.

CI 129 - Art & Innovation Practices (3)

The intent of this course is for students to, examine and effectively express in writing their, ideas on creativity and to inspire undergraduate, students to exceed their current levels of, learning. Students will learn to meaningfully, integrate course content into long term-retained, useful skills through applied creative, collaborations. This course is based on the idea, that exposure and insight development will enable, students to better visualize themselves in their, desired fields and make informed choices within, the variety of options available to them. The, focus of the course will help students to assess, their personal interests and strengths as they, plan for their own educational and professional, futures.

CI 133 - Franklin and the American Experiment (3)

What made Benjamin Franklin such a creative force, in American history? We will explore the many, facets of Franklin's life (printer, writer,, scientist, statesman) and learn about Benjamin, Franklin's political and diplomatic ventures, and, will recreate some of his scientific experiments.
CI 135 - The Design of Everything (3)

This course will explore a selection of the, genius personalities and their creative work in 5, distinct areas of human creative endeavor; art, science, nature, technology and the built, environment. The course explores the underlying, similarities in the process of their discovery, invention and creativity across the disciplines. Studying such names as Newton, Warhol, Hawking, Jobs, Gaudi and Banksy, students will uncover the, process of design through research, analysis, synthesis, iteration and error. In class group, projects will allow a hands-on opportunity to create.

CI 141 - The Creative Approach to Learning (3)

This course is focusing on the creative process, by introducing students to creative practice as a disciplined approach to problem solving and, innovation requiring research, persistence and, grit. Students will be encouraged to synthesize, existing ideas, images, concepts, and skill sets, in original ways, embrace ambiguity and support, divergent thinking and risk taking. The course, will have an undertone based on science, but it, is suitable for non-science majors too

CI 143 - Dreams, Demons, and Dynamic Artists, Creative Nature (3)

What motivates your creative nature? This course, will explore converging themes in Art and Psychology in order to give students the tools, they need to unblock their creative potential. Collaborative small team activities, assigned, readings, large group discussions, and personal, reflection exercises will provide an avenue for, students to explore their own creative patterns, and how they are influenced by, and perceived, within, the world around them. Dreams, mental, illness and psychosocial theories of self will, also be widely discussed in order to give, students context for this inter/intrapersonal, exploration.

CI 147 - Seeing Double, Printmaking, the Art of, Discovery, Experimentation and Process (3)

Always wanted to explore a creative side but, never had the opportunity to take an art class?, Here's your chance Sync the power of icons, images with ideas and making. We will use, cellphone and printmaking technologies in a, workshop style environment. Rather then a lecture based class, this class we, will play, learn and build new Neurological, pathways towards creative thinking. Come to, every class excited to learn, make and discover. This course will give you the building blocks for, innovative thinking beyond the classroom. Power is in the image. As in the way a dream can, grip you, images carry incredible amount of, influence and creative potential, when they are, "seen." Glimpses of these images circulate in, media, movies, cell phones, and so on. Learn to, develop your own images and understand the broad, world of images of human culture.

CI 149 - SL-Creative Writing and Literacy (3)

In this course, students meet community needs by, engaging in service-learning outside the, classroom. This course will explore the value of, creativity and play in developing reading and, writing skills and the habits of lifelong, learning, both in our own lives and in the lives, of young people in Boston. In this course, we, will work closely with the non-profit literacy, organization 826 Boston, which works with, students ages 6-18 on reading and writing skills, through playful, creative workshops, as well as, tutoring and other kinds of support. Students, will learn about the work of 826 Boston by, volunteering with the organization, and by the, end of the semester you will conceive, plan, and, run creative writing workshops of your own at 826, Boston.

CI 151 - Finding Your Creative Voice (3)

Schools and workplaces are becoming increasingly, demanding and competitive, relying on unique, ideas to continue innovation. Where do fresh, ideas come from? This class will provide, students with the tools they need to find, creativity within themselves, and set them apart, in the competitive arena. Students will explore, who they really are at their core, identify their, innermost thoughts and feelings, and uncover, their creative identity while having fun They, will also learn to communicate, or "share their, creative voice" clearly and honestly.

CI 153 - Branding and Visual Identity (3)
A brand may be a product, service, an, organization, or a person, and at the core of, every brand is a visual identity. A brand's, visual identity is its strategically planned and, purposeful presentation of itself. It is manifest, in the brand's name, logo, tagline (slogan), color palette and other sensory elements (visual,, aural, olfactory and tactile) that identity that, brand and make it unique. This course will focus, on analyzing the success and failure of brand's, visual identities as a way of teaching students, how to brainstorm and develop a new visual, identity from concept through execution. The, focus in this course will be on applying creative, thinking to create a cohesive and meaningful, visual identity.

CI 157 - Mindful Journal (3)
To keep a journal is to make an investment, often, long before we understand the value. A journal is, a personal database of snapshots in time, good, ideas and bad, observational doodles and, unfiltered emotions. On any given page a journal, may appear inconsequential but within the rigor, of filling a whole notebook (and another, and, another) an individual viewpoint emerges. This class will facilitate a student's ability to draw, from his or her own lived experience and discover, unique springboards into universal issues by, making mindful connections. An entire lifetime of, images, stories and details resides within each, of our minds but the ability to explore that, richness requires dedication to documentation., Mindful Journal is a process class fostering, focus through mindfulness practices, content, generation and meaning making.

CI 159 - Building a Better T (3)
If any set of problems could use creative and, innovative thinking, it's the myriad of problems, facing the T. The Boston Globe is filled with, stories about financial and organizational, problems in the system, and you only have to, spend a few minutes on the green line to feel the, effects of those issues. Still, millions depend, on it every day - it is the circulatory system of, our city, and it is more than a way to get, around: the T increases accessibility and, functions as a democratizing force. That is, when, it's running. In this class we will study the, MBTA and other mass transit systems in order to, propose creative solutions to the T's most, pressing problems. We will read articles about, the T and other transit systems, we will look at, interactive maps that express different kinds of, data, and we will visit local stations. In, addition, we will study the process of creative, thinking, in order to apply those skills to the, issues at hand. You will be asked to create both, stand-alone short writing assignments and visual, representations of your ideas, accompanied by, short, written explanations, both alone and in, group projects.

CI 161 - Making History: Public Memory in the, Digital Age (3)
You live in Boston now. At least for a while., Perhaps you've noticed that it has its own ways, of remembering things. Consider The Boston, Literary District, The Freedom Trail, and all the, many events and festivals devoted to history,, culture, and identity. From guided tours and, colonial cosplay to images and written texts to, monuments, memorials, and museums, this city, tells stories about itself today in the ways it, tells stories about its past. In this class,, you're going to tell more stories about Boston., You're going to help it find other things to, remember, and other ways of remembering them., You'll likely need to focus on parts of the real, events that Boston doesn't prefer to include in, its stories, emphasizing issues of race,, socioeconomic class, nationality, colonialism,, gender, sexuality, and other stories of unequal, power and how that manifests in real people's, lives and in the culture of this city.

CI 163 - A Course on Skepticism and Rationality (3)
Magician James "The Amazing" Randi reminds us, that "No matter how smart or how well, educated you are, you can be deceived." In an age, fraught with deception and misinformation,, students need tactics and strategies in order to, separate truth from falsity. This course, encourages its participants to act as skeptics - not cynics, necessarily - by requiring evidence, and proof before believing or accepting claims. Students are urged to identify the most-likely-to-occur opportunities for deception in their major, fields and draw from the tenets of classical, rhetoric, logic, and the scientific method in, order to develop safeguards. Frequent, collaboration with classmates will allow for, dynamic solutions to small and large-scale, contemporary problems ranging from the personal, (e.g. used car prices and avoiding fraud) to the, universal(e.g. "fake news" and God).

CI 165 - Chemistry Is Everywhere: Zig-Zagging to, Success (3)
We will be discovering the process of becoming, more creative. The emphasis is on understanding, the creative process and applying effective, teamwork strategies towards a shared goal., Students will use scientific inquiry to explore, topics in chemistry that they find interesting., Each team of 3-4 students will choose a project, and develop it during the semester with the goal, of raising awareness about chemistry or designing, innovative and engaging ways of teaching, chemistry.

CI 167 - Public Health: A Need to Think Outside, The Box (3)
This course seeks to make you an innovative, public health thinker by examining past campaigns, and making the necessary frameshifts to help, promote, protect and preserve health of the, Suffolk community through the innovative thinking, process. Public health activists and designers, can have a positive impact on the lives of, citizens living in small communities. However., the agreed rules and regulations that make up, this policy landscape are created by paradigms, which can be constricting. The issues the course, addresses will include Suffolk's current plans, for reducing carbon emission, behavioral, determinants such as alcohol consumption among, college students, and improving eating habits on, campus. The final project will be peer reviewed, and presented to the class. Programs may then be, forwarded to university departments for possible, integration and implementation.

CI 169 - Riddles of Identity (3)
In this course, we will be exploring the often, puzzling question of personal identity from a, creative perspective, learning about creativity, by exploring questions of personal identity. What, exactly constitutes our identities? How much, control - if any - do we have in determining what, our identities are? By wrestling with these among, other important questions from a wide-range of, perspectives and with creative confidence - the, firm belief that each of us can and must explore, these questions creatively - we will arrive at a, better understanding of ourselves, our personal, identities, as well as acquire a greater, appreciation of the identities of others. Our, course is a genuinely collaborative one, given, the significant role others can play in providing, us with a perspective on our identities, unavailable to us as individuals.

CI 171 - What Is the Moral of This Story? (3)
In this course, the idea of embodiment refers to, the integration of the expressiveness of our, bodies as a vehicle for the art of speaking and, communicating. The meaning of embodiment employed, here is both a style and philosophy of engagement, and will be examined and practiced as an ongoing, pedagogy for connecting with stories at various, levels of discourse and apperception.

CI 173 - Imagining the Other (3)
In this course we will explore how to enter into, new ways of thinking and adopt new perspectives., by reading, discussing and imitating a range of, texts (from poems, hybrid-genre pieces, and song, lyrics, to photographs, dreams, and, ethnographies). Trying to transcend ordinary, modes of interpreting the world, trying to, imagine what it is like to be someone or, something else entirely, immersing ourselves and, describing/translating the new experiences, we, will then share the writing (and other texts) we, produce, workshopping them as a group, and, producing a final presentation and collective, portfolio.

CI 175 - Creating Social Change: From Theory to, Activism (3)

Social change doesn't just happen because, something is "in the air" or because of some kind, of mystical zeitgeist. Social change happens, because engaged citizens find creative and, innovative ways to frame social conversations and, push on the levers of power. In this course we, will examine some of the foundational figures and, texts called on by those hoping to enact social, change. We will study previous social movements, in order to understand how they constructed and, supported their arguments in favor of change, and, how activists used creativity to overcome, entrenched thinking and change the social, conversation. We will work in small groups to, collaboratively develop achievable but ambitious, plans to engage the public and enact change in, our own communities.

CI 177 - The Curious & Open-Hearted Historian (3)

Curiosity, open-heartedness, and creativity are, essential to historical thinking. Our curiosity, about the past motivates us to unearth it and, make it "knowable" to modern audiences. Likewise,, empathy and/or open-heartedness to the ideas and, actions of others enables us to put ourselves, in the shoes of earlier peoples and to understand, their lives from their perspective. Harnessing, our creativity (or ingenuity and playfulness), permits us to think imaginatively about our, research topic and question, analytical, framework, research methods, research findings,, and modes of communicating history. Each of these, attributes - curiosity, open-heartedness, and, creativity - are essential not just to, historical inquiry, but also to life-long, learning and problem solving.

CI 179 - Myths of Self-Making (3)

In this course, students examine and engage with, one of the major mythological figures of the, American imagination: the "self-made man." The, idea of the enterprising person who "pulls, himself (or herself) up by the bootstraps" is, distinctively American. But where and why does it, arise? How did it come to prominence in American, culture, politics, and economics? And, by gaining, understanding of both the limits and the, potential of this cultural ideal, what can we, draw from it in our own careers and lives?, Students will practice skills of close reading,, analysis, and argumentation in the first half of, the semester, prior to moving onto more complex, and interpersonal forms of scholarly creativity, and problem-solving in teams and in the, community,. Course content will follow a similar trajectory,. In the first half of the semester, we will focus, on how the myth of the self-made man originates, and develops, and consider some critiques of it, as an ideal. After spring break, we will apply, the concepts we have studied to a robust analysis, of issues in contemporary politics and, economics including financial speculation,, entitlement reform, technological disruption, and, the gig economy. This contemporary focus will, culminate in a Group Project Final Presentation, in which students aim for an innovative approach, to a current question in light of the works we, have studied.

CI 181 - Creating Change: Perspective Matters (3)

Reality and perception have been debated and, discussed for millennia. Humans see and, experience their world in different ways. How do, humans determine appropriate solutions for, challenging social and economic problems? Why do, most accept the current structures or status quo, in regards to challenging problems? How do we, gain a different perspective to find the vision, and resources to erect new structures and thus, challenge the status quo? Students will, creatively explore these big questions through, readings and presentations, studying examples of, individuals and movements that have led to new, and divergent perspectives. Students will, participate by crafting products, creating visual, projects, and coming into original thought via, trial and error. Students will also develop, their analytical and critical thinking skills,, while learning to communicate effectively and, honestly.

CI 183 - It Happened Like This... the Stories We, Tell (3)

Storytelling is inextricably woven into our, everyday lives. From fairytales, to song lyrics,, to images that capture our attention, to books, that transport us, we're surrounded by stories,. They inspire and challenge us, help us to create, meaning and to think more deeply. Their potential, is unlimited and that's what makes storytelling so, powerful. It isn't easy though. Storytelling, requires practice, compromise and the willingness, accept imperfection in a quest to find and develop, the stories that need to be told.

In this course you'll examine and experiment with a variety of storytelling models - written, visual, spoken - that will serve as a framework for your own storytelling. Through a series of exercises, individual and group work you'll develop your, narrative voice as you create and co-create, original stories in a variety of media. You'll, read, view and listen to stories that will, illustrate storytelling techniques and catalyze, your creativity. Through creative process, journals, peer circles, story labs and work, sessions you'll have opportunities to ideate, reflect, give and receive feedback and to, understand the role risk-taking and revision play, in the creative process.

CI 187 - Think Small: Change the World (3)

Nanoscience is becoming the dominant direction, for technology in this century and is opening new, perspectives on all scientific and technological, disciplines. This course is an attempt to, introduce the central tenets of nanoscience at an, early stage in the curriculum by involving, students in designing nanostructures (and, nanomachines) with innovative applications in, mind, using in-house computational and, experimental tools. The design elements, and, intuition, that is used by engineers and, architects for designing things at the, macro-scale does not apply to nanoscale, phenomena, necessitating creativity in design. This exercise in student creativity will be, guided by instruction of the rules of nanodesign, that the instructor has formulated through his, own experience in the field.

CI 189 - The Extended Photo Essay (3)

Photographer Edward Curtis sacrificed everything, including his prosperous portrait studio and, business, fame for being the celebrity, photographer of his time, and even his family,, his wife divorcing him, so that he could pursue a, life-long obsession to photograph what he, perceived to be the vanishing culture of the, remaining Native American tribes of North, America. And at the completion of his, masterwork, The American Indian, even his, ownership and copyright of the work had to be, given to the House of J.P. Morgan and he, received no compensation, only financial support, for the project. What he created though was a, visually stunning document and series of folios, of a vanishing way of life and the last days of, his subject's culture as well as a new way of, seeing the other., In addition to the study of the life, times and, creative struggles and successes of Edward Curtis, in his personal mission, students will learn of, other photographers who like Curtis sacrificed, all convention using their creativity and taking, personal and intellectual risks with using, innovation to bring their ideas to successful, completion. Students will learn to use cameras to make fine, individual pictures and then series of images to, tell important visually impactful stories, culminating with an extended photographic essay, of their own in portfolio book form. Their own, projects subjects will be discussed with and, approved by the instructor and a final Power, Point presentation will be given to the class for, critique., Resticted to students with less than 54 credits., Students with more than 54 credits needing to, fulfill their CI requirement should seek approval, from the Undergraduate Advising Office.

CI 191 - The Self in Society (3)

Let's play with how you interact with the world, around you. Let's explore how we create space,, away from external influences, to sit and, experiment within our own thoughts and social, interactions., Through a series of independent activities,, students will learn to challenge the interaction, of creativity and society. Guided small and large, group reflections will provide a space for, students to compare experiences and offer, feedback, analysis and support. Topics include, experiments with ethnographic research, random, acts of kindness, impression management,, mindfulness, flow state, creativity in groups, dynamics, counseling skills and embracing, vulnerability., Restricted to students with less than 54 credits., Students with more than 54 credits needing to, fulfill their CI requirement should seek approval, from the Undergraduate Advising Office.

CI 193 - Tackling Global Issues Creatively:, Sustainable Development (3)

In this course students will be introduced to the, practice of creativity as a rigorous approach to, problem solving requiring research, persistence, and grit. Students will work collaboratively to, effectively synthesize existing ideas, images, and, skill sets in original ways. They will embrace, risk and support divergent thinking. In the process, they will become more confident life-long learners.

CI 195 - Bilingualism at Play (3)

Language is one mode through which our creative potential as human beings is expressed. We will, consider the complex process of becoming bilingual, by exploring the experience of moving between, different cultures and languages. Students will, reflect on important notions about languages, through the practice of creative teamwork, focused, group projects and innovative storytelling, techniques. This course will actively encourage, students to contemplate the cognitive, cultural, emotional and social experiences of living in more, than one language, and inspire them to take a, chance on learning a new language.

CI 197 - Writing the Future: Poetry and Activism (3)

In modern history across the globe, poets and, poetry have had a strange habit of appearing at, the center of movements for social change. This, was the case during the Civil Rights movement, the, 1960's counter-cultural movement, and the 2nd and, 3rd Wave Feminist movements, to name a few, examples. It's also been the case more recently,, during Occupy Wall Street, Hong Kong's uprising,, and the ongoing Black Lives Matter movement. Many poets and educators have argued that poetry, necessitates divergent thinking- it provides a, form through which we can imagine new realities,, new possibilities. In this class, we will read, works by poets involved with collective movements, for social change. We will attempt to answer, questions like: What is it about poetry that is, necessary or helpful to groups pursuing cultural, change? Why do poets so often address issues of, oppression and liberty in their works? Can poetry, and art truly effect change, or do they simply, document it? Students will also investigate, connections between art and revolution through, their own writing in poetry and expository, nonfiction, responding to texts and discussions,. all the while experimenting with different forms, of thinking and writing. Students will explore, issues they care about and convey their ideas, through their own poems, some of which will be, workshopped in class. Virtually or in-person, (depending on the state of the pandemic) we will, visit local historical archives, small presses,, and magazines such as Black Ocean, The New England, Free Press, and the Poetry Center at Suffolk. Throughout the semester, students will work in, small groups to either 1) create a chapbook of, poetry and art that focuses on a central issue or, theme, or 2) organize a virtual poetry and arts, event for the Suffolk community or general public.

CI H102 - The End of Global Poverty (3)

This course is designed to demystify the creative, process by introducing students to creative, practice as a disciplined approach to, problem-solving and innovation. Students will be, encouraged to synthesize existing ideas, images,, concepts, and skill sets in original way, embrace, ambiguity and support divergent thinking and risk, taking. More than one-third of our global population, lives in poverty, earning less than two dollars a, day. Governments, businesses, social enterprises,, and charitable organizations have tried to solve, the global poverty issue with mixed results. What, is the solution? Is entrepreneurship the, solution, part of the solution, or has no impact, whatsoever? In this course, you will gain an, understanding of the power of entrepreneurship, (in the context of creativity and innovation), the definition and depth of global poverty (in, the context of constraints, such as human,, financial and physical resources embedded in, local, regional, national and global cultures),, and successes and failures of past initiatives to, reduce poverty. This is not a course about, politics or business, but rather finding a, solution to a problem that has eluded mankind, since the beginning of time.

CI H112 - Honors Creating Problems: a New Solution, For Sustainability (3)

As the majority of the world population now lives, in cities, for the first time in human history,, issues of urban sustainability have become more, complex and more important than ever before. Presented with case studies of urban efforts to, gain a sustainability foothold, students will, utilize ideation, critical thinking, and, strategic decision making to both identify root, problems and to present solutions. This course will lean heavily on ideation, processes, teamwork, and logical methods of, analysis to pursue actionable solutions for, significant problems. The methods of problem, identification and solution analysis learned in this class will be readily adaptable to many complex problems, helping the students to make, informed and decisive determinations in their careers.
Suffolk University 2021-2022 Catalog

CI H119 - SL-Honors Theatre at Work (3)

In this course, students meet community needs by engaging in service-learning outside the classroom. Theatre at Work is an introduction to creative practice using live performance as a problem solving tool in an educational environment. Specifically, students will create a performance piece in response to an issue they have uncovered in collaboration with select, groups of students in a host Boston Public School. There will be a special focus on normalizing risk-taking and the learning that comes from false starts and failed ideas. Students will be responsible for every aspect of their performance, testing its feasibility on a limited budget, ensuring that the content meets established criteria, and successfully implementing and evaluating their success both with their peers and their audience.

CI H133 - Honors Franklin and the American, Experiment (3)

What made Benjamin Franklin such a creative force in American history? We will explore the many facets of Franklin's life (printer, writer, scientist, statesman) and learn about Benjamin, Franklin's political and diplomatic ventures, and will recreate some of his scientific experiments.

CI H139 - Creating, Promoting, and Participating, in the Literary Arts (3)

Suffolk University sits within Boston's literary district, a hub of academic programs in creative, writing, publishing houses, libraries, and, independent bookstores. This course will immerse students in the world of literary culture and its many branches: writing, editing, reviewing, and, publicity. Students will practice creative writing, as a playful, yet rigorous discipline, and learn, how writers find publishers for their work and, reach audiences through readings, social media, book publicity, interviews, and reviews. Various, industry professionals will speak to the class, about trends in literary publishing and their own experiences bringing books and journals into the, world. Students will apply their knowledge and, interests to a variety of projects, including book, reviews, literary events, and creative writing, workshops. 06 Jan 2020 8:16 AM Amy Yeager, CAS, DEAN's Office. Admin Services Cord. for CAT.

CI H161 - Making History: Public Memory in the, Digital Age (3)

You live in Boston now. At least for a while, Perhaps you've noticed that it has its own ways of remembering things. Consider The Boston, Literary District, The Freedom Trail, and all the, many events and festivals devoted to history,, culture, and identity. From guided tours and, colonial cosplay to images and written texts to, monuments, memorials, and museums, this city, tells stories about itself today in the ways it, tells stories about its past. In this class,, you're going to tell more stories about Boston., You're going to help it find other things to remember, and other ways of remembering them., You'll likely need to focus on parts of the real, events that Boston doesn't prefer to include in, its stories, emphasizing issues of race,, socioeconomic class, nationality, colonialism,, gender, sexuality, and other stories of unequal, power and how that manifests in real people's, lives and in the culture of this city.

CI H165 - Honors Chemistry Is Everywhere: Zig- Zag (3)

We will be discovering the process of becoming, more creative. The emphasis is on understanding, the creative process and applying effective, teamwork strategies towards a shared goal., Students will use scientific inquiry to explore, topics in chemistry that they find interesting,. Each team of 3-4 students will choose a project, and develop it during the semester with the goal of raising awareness about chemistry or designing, innovative and engaging ways of teaching, chemistry.

Prerequisite: Restricted to CAS and SBS honors. Restricted to students with less than 54 credits. Students with more than 54 credits needing to fulfill their CI requirement should seek approval from the Undergraduate Advising Office.

CI H167 - Honors Public Health: a Need to Think, Outside The Box (3)

This course seeks to make you an innovative, public health thinker by examining past campaigns, and making the necessary frameshifts to help, promote, protect and preserve health of the, Suffolk community through the innovative thinking, process. Public health activists and designers, can have a positive impact on the lives of, citizens living in small communities. However, the agreed rules and regulations that make up, this policy landscape are created by paradigms, which can be constricting. The issues the course, addresses will include Suffolk's current plans, for reducing carbon emission, behavioral, determinants such as alcohol consumption among, college students, and improving eating habits on, campus. The final project will be peer reviewed, and presented to the class. Programs may then be, forwarded to university departments for possible, integration and implementation.

Prerequisite: Honors students only.

CI H175 - Honors Creating Social Change: From, Theory to Activism (3)

Social change doesn't just happen because, something is "in the air" or because of some kind, of mystical zeitgeist. Social change happens, because engaged citizens find creative and, innovative ways to frame social conversations and, push on the levers of power. In this course we, will examine some of the foundational figures and, texts called on by those hoping to enact social, change. We will study previous social movements, in order to understand how they constructed and, supported their arguments in favor of change, and, how activists used creativity to overcome, entrenched thinking and change the social, conversation. We will work in small groups to, collaboratively develop achievable but ambitious, plans to engage the public and enact change in, our own communities.

Prerequisite: Honors students only. Restricted to students with less than 54, credits. Students with, more than 54 credits needing to fulfill their CI requirement, should seek approval from the Undergraduate Advising Office.

CI H177 - Honors- the Curious & Open-Hearted, Historian (3)

Curiosity, open-heartedness, and creativity are, essential to historical thinking. Our curiosity, about the past motivates us to unearth it and, make it "knowable" to modern audiences. Likewise., empathy and/or open-heartedness to the ideas and, actions of others enables us to put ourselves, in the shoes of earlier peoples and to understand, their lives from their perspective. Harnessing, our creativity (or ingenuity and playfulness), permits us to think imaginatively about our, research topic and question, analytical, framework, research methods, research findings,, and modes of communicating history. Each of these, attributes - curiosity, open-heartedness, and, creativity - are essential not just to, historical inquiry, but also to life-long, learning and problem solving.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Honors students with less than 54 credits., Students with, more than 54 credits needing to fulfill their CI requirement, should seek approval from the Undergraduate Advising Office.

CI H185 - Honors City of Stories: Walking Tours of, Boston's Past (3)

Often referred to as "America's walking city," Boston is full of places to explore. How have, Bostonians throughout history understood their, city through the neighborhoods, streets, and, buildings around them? How can designing walking, tours teach us about innovative approaches to, telling Boston's diverse and varied history? Why, is the act of walking an inherently creative, endeavor? Through field trips, group projects,, personal reflections, and discussions, you'll, learn the techniques that historians use to bring, historical information and ideas to broader, audience's field known as "public history." We'll, put those techniques to use developing our own, walking tours of Boston. As we learn to, understand the city around us on foot, we'll also, incorporate sensory techniques (smell, taste,, touch, and sound) to accompany the content of our, tours. We'll focus our research on the unheard, stories of Boston's past and the underrepresented, perspectives, including the stories of different, races, cultures, classes, genders, sexualities,, and more that surround us every day.

CJ-Crime and Justice

CJ 681 - Crime and Communities (3)
Core required course for Master of Science in Crime and Justice Program. This course will examine the relationship among crime, criminal justice and the community as well as the impact of crime on local neighborhoods and community institutions. The role of the community in the criminal justice system and processes of social control are also examined. Topics covered include: local measurement of crime statistics; community policing; prevention and early intervention strategies; community corrections and intermediate sanctions. Strategies for empowering local communities to address the quality of life in the urban environment are also explored.

Prerequisite: This course is open to MSCJS students only. Other graduate students may enroll with the permission of the MSCJS Director. Offered: Spring.

CJ 685 - Seminar in Corrections (3)
This course will examine the major issues in the adult correctional system. Traditional incarceration as well as pretrial and post-conviction alternatives will be explored. Covered topics may include: prison and jail overcrowding; issues in classification; mental, health and incarceration; substance abuse, treatment within the prison setting; prison, security and disturbances; vocational and educational programming within prisons; ethics and corrections.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 686 - Seminar in Juvenile Justice (3)
This course examines the array of issues concerned with the administration and operation of the juvenile justice system. The historical, philosophical, and legal foundations of the juvenile justice system will be examined along with the legal and philosophical changes within the system in the contemporary period. Special attention will be given to Massachusetts' model of juvenile corrections and treatment.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 687 - Justice & the Community Courts (3)
This course examines the administration of justice in the community courts. Topics include, the role of the judge; relationships between, prosecutors, defense lawyers, and the courts; the relationship between the courts and the police; the pros and cons of plea bargaining, the goals of sentencing; and the clash between, victim's rights and defendant's rights. Difficult kinds of cases will be addressed, such as cases of domestic violence, child sexual abuse, and crime relating to substance abuse. Questions concerning judicial accountability and the role of judges in the community will also be raised.

CJ 688 - Restorative Justice (3)
Restorative justice is a philosophical framework which poses an alternative to our current way of thinking about crime and justice. Through restorative justice, all the stakeholders to crime - victims, offenders, families, the wider, community and the state - are active in response to crime. This course examines both the, theoretical foundation of restorative justice, rooted in a variety of legal and religious traditions; and the array of practices associated with restorative justice from around the world. Restorative justice philosophy and practice has impacted all areas of the criminal justice system, including policing, probation, courts and the correctional programming for juvenile and adult offenders. Students will be afforded a hands-on experience through role-playing, guest speakers, and field trips in the application of restorative values to contemporary justice system. Students, will examine the meaning of justice in their own experiences, and be challenged to envision a community-based restorative response to crime and violence.

Offered: Spring.

CJ 691 - Intimate Violence & Sexual Assault (3)
This seminar focuses on two interrelated types of violence, battering and sexual assault. Both of these crimes have been the subject of intense political organizing, cultural controversy; and criminal justice reform over the past 25 years. Together these issues currently account for a significant portion of the work of the police and courts. The research literature on these topics, has increased dramatically in recent years. There are now many studies of women victimized by batterers and rape, and of men who commit these crimes. There is a growing body of research on institutional responses to such violence, particularly criminal justice responses. There is new literature on the racial and class dimensions of this violence, on trauma and recovery, and on, battering in lesbian and gay relationships. This course examines these crimes from psychological, sociological, and criminal justice perspectives.

Offered: Fall.
CJ 692 - Criminal Justice Policy (3)

This course will focus on the policy, implications of various sociological, theories of crime and punishment. Focus will be on the analysis of various alternative, policies within the criminal justice system both within the U.S. and in Europe. Attention will be given to the politics of crime, control and to the role of the media, citizen groups and other interest groups, in shaping criminal justice policy.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 694 - Critical Victimology (3)

In recent years, public attention to victims of crime has grown enormously. The reasons for this, are complex. They include the effects of, political organizing by crime victims; increased, media attention to crime (often driven by crime, stories as entertainment and advertising, vehicles); the exploitation of crime victims by, politicians; and long-standing community, frustrations with the criminal legal system. This course will examine the rise of, public attention to crime, the variety of social, movements addressing victims of crime, the, response of the criminal justice system to, victims, and the problems and possibilities, regarding new developments concerning crime, victims.

The course takes the perspective of a, critical victimology in that the course materials, question official definitions of crime, popular, definitions of victims and offenders, and, traditional beliefs about justice. Rather than, seeing victims and offenders as entirely separate, categories, a number of the books address, individuals who are both victims and offenders. New developments in 'restorative justice' will be, presented as an emerging alternative to current, problems that victims have reported with the, criminal legal system.

Offered: Spring.

CJ 695 - Special Topics (3)

Fall 2021 - Intersectionality, Victimization, and Offending. This course focuses on issues of class, race, and, gender in the context of traumas that people who, are system involved have in their histories. In, addition to theoretical understandings, students, will gain knowledge of gender-responsive and, trauma-informed care and will meet with leaders in, a variety of organizations dedicated to working on, victimization.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

CJ 698 - Community-Based Responses to Violence, Against Women (3)

There are many different ways that communities, have responded to violence against women. Both, in the United States and around the world, the, most common methods have involved either, punishment for offenders, efforts to create, safety for victims, or attempts to reform, offenders. A new set of antiviolence approaches, are being developed that go beyond the goals of, punishment, safety, and reform. These new, approaches, which are loosely grouped together, as 'community-based responses,' seek to, mobilizing specific communities against violence; organize women across communities of color; and, challenge the theories, practices, and policies, of existing antiviolence efforts. These new, approaches are the focus of this course.

CJ 701 - Seminar in Crime & Justice (3)

Core required course for Master of Science in, Crime and Justice Studies. A sociological, investigation of the relationship, between crime and justice in contemporary, American society. The possibilities and limits, of traditional approaches to crime control are, examined in the context of our search for, harmony, justice and social change. Problems, in evaluating the techniques, goals,, and effectiveness of criminal justice, agencies and organizations are considered, as well as models for rethinking the scope and, nature of our responses to crime.

Prerequisite: This course is open to MSCJS students only. Other graduate, students may enroll with the permission of the MSCJS Director. Offered: Fall.

CJ 702 - Research Methods (3)

Core required course for Master of Science in, Crime and Justice Studies. This course provides, students with the fundamental tools for, evaluating, designing and implementing basic and, applied empirical research in criminal justice,. The association between theories and research, methods used in the study of criminal justice is, explored through a variety of related data, sources. Topics covered include: the principles, of research design; issues in measurement; modes, of observation; basic methods of data analysis; and, ethical concerns. Students will obtain, hands-on experience in project design through the, development of their own research proposal.

Prerequisite: This course is open to MSCJS students only. Other graduate, students may enroll with the permission of the MSCJS Director. Offered: Fall.
CJ 704 - Legal Issues in Criminal Justice System (3)

This course examines two subjects throughout the semester: substantive criminal law (e.g. what is, money laundering, the insanity defense, conspiracy?); and criminal procedure: 4th, Amendment (search and seizure), 5th Amendment (due, process, self-incrimination, double jeopardy, etc.), 6th Amendment (right to a lawyer, public, trial, etc.), 8th Amendment (cruel and unusual punishment), 14th Amendment (due process, equal protection of law), 1st Amendment (interaction of, criminal law with free expression and with, religious rights), and 2nd Amendment (firearms). Unlike other similar undergraduate and graduate, courses, this one emphasizes principles and case summaries, de-emphasizes actual cases and case names, and does not entail teaching how to brief, (summarize) cases.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 705 - Class, Race, Gender & Justice (3)

This course examines crime and justice in the, context of the social inequalities of race, class, and gender. Surprisingly, this is a, recent focus within criminology. And yet,, without attention to the intersections of race, class, and gender, it is difficult to make sense, of victimization, crime, or punishment in the, United States today. The course readings include, some of the most recent theoretical and empirical studies of these issues. The goals of the course are to develop an, understanding of what a race, class, and gender, analysis is, and why this is important for, individuals working in criminal justice, mental, health, and related fields.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 709 - Quantitative Analysis (3)

Core required course for Master of Science in, Crime and Justice Studies. This course introduces, students to the foundations of statistical, analysis. Topics include: measures of central, tendency; dispersion; probability; sampling, distributions; hypothesis testing; correlations; and regression. Using SPSS software, students, will be required to apply statistical concepts to, existing data resulting in a completed research, project.

Prerequisite: This course is open to MSCJS students only. Other graduate, students may enroll with the permission of the MSCJS Director. Offered: Spring.

CJ 730 - Women, Crime, and the Media (3)

This class explores the images of so-called "bad, girls" in the media. Drawing on depictions of, justice-involved girls in newspapers and, television news, films, television shows and other, mass media, we will critically examine the, labeling of girls as bad or deviant and society's, response to them. We will use an intersectional, perspective for this examination, considering how, gender as well as race, class, and other social, categories interact to shape girls' experiences, with "delinquency" and the juvenile justice, system. We will also consider girls' resistance, and activism movements around juvenile justice, reform.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 731 - Youth Programming (3)

This course provides an overview of the best, practices in positive youth development and, juvenile programming for delinquency prevention; intervention and treatment. This seminar will, explore the cutting edge of programming for youth, in a wide range of community-based and, institutional settings including schools, social, services, and juvenile corrections.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 734 - Youth Gangs (3)

This course provides an overview of youth gangs, and their sociological underpinnings, which are, rooted in poverty and racism. Theories of gang, formation and individual gang membership will be, examined closely. Study topics include the history, of gangs, gangs and criminal behavior,, socio-cultural importance of gangs, and strategies, to control gang behavior as well as community, responses more generally. The course will utilize, current gang issues in the US generally and in, Massachusetts in particular as a basis to better, understand the nuances of youth gangs.

Offered: Occasionally.

CJ 783 - Internship in Crime & Justice Studies (3)

The internship course allows students to integrate, academic knowledge gained from the classroom with, work experience in a career field of their choice., Students have the opportunity to explore, opportunities in their profession, develop, practical skills in a real-world context, and, build a formal network of professionals in their, field.

Prerequisite: Instructor permission required. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CJ 910 - Independent Study (3)

Students pursue an in-depth research project under, the direction of a qualified member of the, graduate faculty.

Prerequisite: SOC-113 or SOC-116 (with a grade of "C" or better) SOC-214, and, SOC-315 or SOC-333. Seniors only.

CJU 483 - Internship in Criminal Justice (4)

Students are provided with the opportunity, to apply academic learning in a supervised, internship consistent with their personal career, goals or academic interest. The course covers, such topics as career exploration and development,, resume and cover letter writing, job fairs, and, networking, and graduate school applications. In, addition to the course assignments, students are, required to complete a minimum full day internship, each per week during the entire semester.

Prerequisite: Students must be Criminal Justice majors with at least a 3.0 GPA., must at least be Sophomore status at the time of application;, students must spend at least 8 hours per week working at their, internship. Applications for the Internship in Criminal Justice, course must be approved by the Instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CJU H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Members of the department hold special meetings, with students and direct them in investigating, topics of interest in sociology. Arrangements, for independent study must be approved by the, supervising instructor and the Department, Chairperson.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only; Instructor approval required. Offered: Fall, Spring.

CJU H555 - Senior Honors Project (1-4)

Each honors student will engage in an independent, reading, research, and writing project that can, take the form of a traditional research paper of, 20-25 pages or an equivalent volunteer and, writing experience. The Honors Project must be, supervised by a full-time Sociology faculty, member. A poster presentation of the project must, be presented at the CAS Honors symposium in the, fall or the spring of the senior year as well as, at the Sociology Honors Award ceremony at the end, of the spring semester, for students graduating, in the spring or summer. This course is required, for all Sociology Honor Students.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

CLAS-Academic Success

CLAS AIM - Academic Improvement (0)

Suffolk University is introducing the Academic, Improvement Program (AIM), a new initiative to, assist students who have experienced academic, difficulty. Because your cumulative grade point, average has fallen below the University's standard, of 2.0 and as a condition of your probation status, at the University, you will be required to, participate in AIM,. AIM provides support, strategies, and resources to, help students take control of their academic life, and succeed. AIM participants meet individually, and in a small group format with trained, instructors to target common areas in which, students have difficulty. In addition, the, instructors work with students to identify what areas they need to improve and to develop an, individualized plan for success.

CMPSC-Computer Science

CMPSC F107 - Ants, Rumors and Gridlocks (4)

Do viruses and rumors spread like forest fires?, How do ants cooperate? Do spoken languages and, biological species evolve in a similar way?, "Ants, Rumors, and Gridlocks" exposes students to, introductory aspects of computational science by, addressing and answering these and many other, questions. Students use and modify virtual, experiments preprogrammed in the NetLogo, programming language to investigate these topics, and others in Social Sciences, Biology, and, Environmental Science. No prior knowledge of, computer programming or NetLogo is required.

Prerequisite: Math placement level of 2 or above or any MATH course at, the level 100 or above.

CMPSC F120 - Programming for the World Wide Web (4)

This is a hands-on course aimed at non-CS students, who want to learn how to build web pages. We do, not use any drag-and-drop software for this, purpose. Instead we cover the basics of HTML, CSS, and Javascript. Each student will have, for the, duration of the course, an account on a server, that permits individuals to have web pages that, are visible on the World Wide Web.

CMPSC F124 - Game Programming (4)

This course introduces students to computer game, development, including, but not limited to, game, programming. We use Game Maker, a framework for, personal computers that runs equally well on Mac, and PC. We learn about the foundational concepts, of two-dimensional (flat) games: graphics, sound,, objects, actions, rooms, scores, levels,, multiplayer support, artificial intelligence, and, more. Game Maker has an intuitive interface that, makes game development approachable for everyone,, including those who have never written a single, game or a single computer program. All games, created by Game Maker can be saved as standalone, applications and can be shared freely with, classmates, friends, and family. This is not a, course in graphics design, audio editing, or, scriptwriting. Students are encouraged to use, their creativity and imagination to design games, and the correctness of game implementation is, stressed throughout the course. Normally offered, in Fall.

CMPSC F131 - Computer Science I (4)

This is a rigorous introduction to computer, science in Python with an emphasis on problem, solving, structured programming, object-oriented, programming, and graphical user interfaces. Topics, include expressions, input/output, control, structures, intrinsic data types, classes and, methods, iteration, top-down programming, arrays,, graphical user interfaces, and elements of UML., Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: MATH placement 3 or higher, MATH-121, MATH-164, or MATH-165, (previous or, concurrent).

CMPSC F132 - Computer Science II (4)

Computer Science II (CSII) is the continuation of, Computer Science I. The purpose of CSII is to, expand students' understanding of Computer, Science and computer programming, assuming that, they have the basic knowledge of the Python, language. The course introduce another programming, language - Java - and also focuses on the pure, Object-Oriented features of Java, such as, inheritance, polymorphism, and exceptions, as well, as on simple data structures (lists, stacks, and, queues) and algorithms (searching and sorting). By the end of the semester students will be able, to develop sizable computer, programs in Java.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F131 with a minimum grade of C.

CMPSC HF107 - Honors Ants, Rumors & Gridlocks (4)

Do viruses and rumors spread like forest fires?, How do ants cooperate? Do spoken languages and, biological species evolve in a similar way?, "Ants, Rumors, and Gridlocks" exposes students to, introductory aspects of computational science by, addressing and answering these and many other, questions. Students use and modify virtual, experiments preprogrammed in the NetLogo, programming language to investigate these topics, and others in Social Sciences, Biology, and, Environmental Science. No prior knowledge of, computer programming or NetLogo is required.

Prerequisite: Math placement level of 2 or above, or any MATH course at, the level 100 or above; GPA of at least 3.3 or Honors student.

CMPSC 201 - Systems Programming (4)

Introduces students to the system programming in, C. It covers memory allocation, working with text, and binary files, interprocess communications,, multithreading, and networking. Students will, learn how to work with build tools, profilers, debuggers, and standard and custom libraries.

Prerequisite: Take CMPSC-F132.

CMPSC F265 - Data Structures & Algorithms (4)

Includes topics such as strings, stacks, queues, lists, trees, graphs, sorting, searching, hashing, dynamic storage allocation, and analysis of algorithms. Most programming will be done in the Java language. Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F132 with a minimum grade of C.

CMPSC 310 - Introduction to Data Science (4)

The field of data science is emerging at the intersection of the fields of social science and statistics, information and computer science and design. Data science involves using automated methods to analyze massive amounts of data and to extract knowledge from them. This course serves as a project-based introduction to data science, in Python language, covering data organization, and retrieval, statistical data processing and, data visualization.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F132 and 1 of the following: STATS-240, STATS-250, MATH-134, MATH-165, MATH-164 or MATH-255.

CMPSC 345 - Software Engineering (4)

This course is an overview of modern software, engineering techniques, tools, and practices. It covers the software life cycle, requirements, engineering, software architecture, software design, including OO design with UML, and testing. Students will work in teams on a medium-size project.

Prerequisite: Take CMPSC-F265.

CMPSC F331 - Object Oriented Programming (4)

Object-Oriented Programming in C++ is taught using Trolltech's multi-platform Qt library and other, open-source libraries and tools. Emphasis is placed on program design and code re-use. Topics include: encapsulation, inheritance and, polymorphism, UML, refactoring, parent-child relationships, properties, event-driven programming, test cases, regular expressions, constraints, XML, design patterns, and graphical user interfaces. We deal with some operating system and programming environment issues and also, with code packaging. C++ is a very large language, so we do not attempt to cover it all. Instead we, work with a carefully selected subset of language, elements that permits students to exploit the powerful Qt libraries and write robust, idiomatic, and interesting code. By the end of the course, the student should have a good command of C++, facility using and building libraries, an, understanding and appreciation of the design, patterns that we covered, and a well-established, discipline of refactoring and code reuse.

Prerequisite: CMPSC F265 (which may be taken concurrently), Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F265.

CMPSC F353 - Architecture of Computer Systems (4)

This course deals with the structure and, operation, of the major hardware components of a computer. Topics include basic logic design, basic datapath, construction, basic pipelining, I/O system, design, issues in memory hierarchy and network interface, design. Normally offered each fall semester.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F265.

CMPSC F355 - Operating Systems (4)

This course presents an overview of modern, operating systems, from the points of view of an application developer and of a system developer. It covers process management, scheduling, concurrency management, multi-threading, memory management, and file system organization. Intensive programming assignments in the C, language help students learn the POSIX application, programming interface (API) and the low-level organization of a general-purpose operating, system. Normally offered each spring.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F353 and CMPSC-F265 and Working knowledge of C++.

CMPSC F363 - Intro to Database Systems (4)

This is an introduction to the design and use of, database systems --- systems that manage very, large amounts of data. Topics covered include, Entity-Relationship (E/R) data model, Relational, data model, object-oriented model, and the, conversion of E/R and relational models. We shall, also learn some database languages, both concrete, and abstract, including Structured Query Language, (SQL), Object Query Language (OQL), relational, algebra, etc. We will introduce the, semistructured, data, such as the popular Extensible Markup, Language (XML), and their usage in database, systems as well. The course is intended for, computer science students who need to have an, in-depth understanding of modern database, systems.

Normally offered each fall semester.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-265 and MATH-285.
CMPSC F375 - Introduction to Computer Networks (4)

This course explores the fundamentals of computer, networks, protocols and layering, applications, and their implications to everyday networking, life. Normally offered in spring.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F331 and CMPSC-F353.

CMPSC 400 - Senior Project in Computer Science (4)

Students specify, design and implement a software system.

Prerequisite: Instructor permission required.

CMPSC 410 - Special Topics in Computer Science (1)

Students will be exposed to one or more topics in programming languages, software development, machine learning or other areas of computer science.

CMPSC 501 - Software Development Internship (2-4)

Student works in a qualified software development setting to gain practical experience in modern, industrial software development. Student will apply lessons learned in the classroom within a supervised, professional development while developing a greater understanding of the job, expectations and organizational culture. Internship may be taken for 2-4 academic credit, hours, at 4 hours of company work per week per, each credit. Additional academic reports will be required. Students may not take more than one internship. CPT internships follow the same policies.

Prerequisite: CMPSC-F131, CMPSC-F132, 1 CMPSC course at 200, 300 or 400, level, and a major GPA of 3.0 or above. Prior to registration, student must submit credit approval form and gain faculty approval.

CMPSC 510 - Computer Science Independent Study (1-4)

Guided study on a topic at an advanced level.

CMPSC 511 - Launching a Career in Computer Science (1)

This team-taught course is designed to explore, career opportunities in Computer Science in, depth. This course focuses on career search, the, application process, entry, transition and, networking for career success. Alternative, options such as graduate school will also be, explored. Students articulate and reflect on, academic work, and co-curricular experiences from, the perspective of professionals entering or, advancing their careers. The goal of this course, is to help students reach their fullest, professional potential following graduation.

Prerequisite: Junior or Senior standing.

CMPSC H510 - Honors Computer Science Independent, Study (1-4)

Guided study on a topic at an advanced level.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

CMPSC H555 - Honors Senior Project in Computer Science (4)

Students specify, design and implement a software system.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

COUNS-Counseling

COUNS 712 - Life Span Development (3)

This course examines the process of human, development across the lifespan. While it will, focus primarily on psychological processes, the, intersection with biological and social processes, will be explored as well. The major psychological, theories of cognitive, social and emotional, development will be covered as will the, foundations for individual differences. Special, emphasis will be placed on topics of interest to, people entering the counseling professions. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students.

COUNS 713 - Counseling: Theory & Practice (3)

Analysis of selected counseling theories, representative of the field of counseling, psychology. Theories will be selected from the, following areas: Psychoanalytic, Psychosocial,, Rational, Cognitive Behavioral/Learning Theory,, Person-Centered, and Existential Theory. Treatment, goals and techniques will be explored.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students.

COUNS 714 - Psychology of Career Development

A survey of various theories of vocational, choice and development, and strategies for the, implementation of vocational counseling in the, school, agency, or business/industrial setting. Concepts of work, vocational concerns of, women and minorities and other major issues, also investigated.
COUNS 715 - Methods of Research (3)

Principles, concepts and methods of research, design and statistics associated with, psychological and educational research. Practical, applications of research studies to a diverse, range of interests in education, psychology and, counseling., Offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 716 - Psychological Diagnosis (3)

The study of the nature of mental disorders:, central concepts and processes. Psychogenesis,, psychodynamics, role of anxiety, and clinical, assessment using the DSM-IV.

Prerequisite: Completion of COUNS-717. Restricted to Mental Health Counseling, students only. Program Director approval required for all other, students.

COUNS 717 - Introduction to Psychological Testing (3)

Evaluating, administering, scoring, interpreting,, and reporting results of standardized tests of, personality, academic performance, cognitive, functioning, aptitude, and achievement., Self-study, development and assessment of testing programs., Critical issues in testing., Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: COUNS-713(may be taken concurrently). Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 725 - Forensic Psychological Assessment (3)

The interface of psychology and the law will be, examined in the context of forensic evaluations, performed for courts, attorneys and related, agencies or facilities. Topics ranging from, Competency to Stand Trial and Criminal, Responsibility to termination of parental rights, and custody and visitation evaluations will be, explored. Practical applications of the skills and, knowledge domains needed to perform forensic, evaluations will be emphasized, as will the study, of relevant laws and regulations as applied to, forensic assessment. Discussion will include, specialized forensic topics such as the evaluation, of juvenile sexual offenders and the forensic use, of psychological testing.

Prerequisite: COUNS-717. Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only., Program Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 726 - Family Therapy (3)

Selected models of family therapy will be, explored. Special emphasis will be placed on, assessment and the acquisition of treatment, strategies proven to be effective, for counselors in helping families cope with, developmental stresses., Normally offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 727 - Substance Abuse & Treatment (3)

A study of the origin, contributing factors,, and implications of drug and alcohol misuse., Various stages and manifestations of abuse/, dependence will be considered and, current treatment modalities will be explored.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 728 - Professional Orientation: Ethical/ Legal, Issues (3)

An overview of the legal issues confronting, counselors, human services providers and, administrators. Study of regulatory and, licensing matters, standards of care,, confidentiality laws, mental health and disability, laws and family law, constitutional issues,, malpractice and legal/ethical, dilemmas in human services.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 729 - Human Sexuality Seminar (3)

The anatomy, physiology and psychology of, human sexual functioning are reviewed., Etiology, interpersonal dynamics,, and treatment of sexual dysfunctions are, reviewed.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 732 - Psychological Disorders of Childhood & Adolescence (3)

This course explores the major psychological, disorders of childhood and adolescence from, biological, psychological, and sociocultural, perspectives. Attention-deficit and Disruptive, Behavior Disorders, Feeding and Eating Disorders,, anxiety and depression are among the disorders, explored. Student interest determines other topics. Assessment, treatment, and outcome, studies are also discussed. Completion of EHS 701, or EHS 712 is recommended before taking this, course. Normally offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 733 - Counseling Diverse Populations (3)
A survey of problems and issues confronting, cultural diversity. The study of ethnicity, and sexual orientation as they influence, the development of identity. Implications for, counseling strategies., Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 735 - Group Counseling (3)
A study of the practical and theoretical aspects, of counseling small groups. There will be, provision for a laboratory experience in which, students participate in a group and study the, dynamics of behavior as this group develops., Group stages of development and leadership skills, will also be examined., Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 737 - Counseling Skills Lab (3)
An introduction to the fundamental techniques and, methods of interpersonal relationships,, self-examination, and field visits in, relation to the role of the professional, counselor. The course will involve skill building, through role playing, video and/or audio taping., Normally offered spring semester.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 738 - Mental Health Counseling Practicum I (3)
Application of skills in an assigned field, placement (school, agency or industry). Students, will spend fifteen hours per week in field work, and participate in weekly group sessions at the, University for the evaluation of progress. Open, only to degree candidates in Mental Health, Counseling. Offered fall semester.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all other students.

COUNS 739 - Mental Health Counseling Practicum II (3)
Continuation of COUNS 738 with an opportunity to, assume increased responsibility for clients under, supervision. Failure to successfully complete the, practicum field experience for any reason, following two attempts will result in termination, from the program. Offered spring semester.

Prerequisite: Completion of COUNS-738. Restricted to Mental Health Counseling, students only. Program Director approval required for all other, students.

COUNS 740 - Counseling Internship I (6)
Application of skills in an approved field, placement (school, clinic, hospital, agency,, industry) totaling 300 clock hours. The, opportunity to develop advanced skills and to, integrate professional knowledge appropriate to, the field experience. Failure to successfully, complete the practicum field experience for any reason, following two attempts will result in, termination from the program. Offered fall, semester.

Prerequisite: Completion of COUNS-738 and COUNS-739. Restricted to Mental, Health Counseling students only. Program Director approval, required for all other students.

COUNS 741 - Counseling Internship II (6)
Continuation of Counseling Internship I with, advanced responsibilities totaling 300 clock, hours. Exploration of an area of individual, specialization. Failure to successfully complete, the practicum field experience for any reason, following two attempts will result in, termination from the program. Offered spring, semester.

Prerequisite: Completion of COUNS-740. Restricted to Mental Health Counseling, students only. Program Director approval required for all other, students.

COUNS 910 - Independent Study (1-3)
Members of the Department will meet with, students to direct their research in areas, of special interest to them. Projects will be, authorized upon the recommendations of, the Department Chairperson and with the, approval of the Dean.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Mental Health Counseling students only. Program, Director approval required for all... other students.

CRJ-Restorative Justice

CRJ 6000 - Restorative Justice: The Core (0)

This two-week residential intensive focuses on the, deep engagement and understanding of the paradigm, shift underlying the contemporary movement in, Restorative Justice. It is designed to combine, group and individual exploration of the meaning of, restorative justice and its relationship to the, current practices, cultural understandings and, issues of equity and racial justice. Through group, work, practitioner-led workshops, guest lectures,, reflective reading and experiential practice,, students will explore the global practice,, implementation and theory of Restorative Justice, across an array of contexts and settings. Required, reading will be assigned prior to the start of the, two week intensive.

Prerequisite: Restorative Justice students only.

CRJ 6001 - Restorative Justice in Education (0)

This 14-week on-line course provides students with, an in-depth understanding of the relationship, between restorative justice and key educational, theories and practices relevant to K-12 education, and higher education. The course reviews the, current state of implementation of restorative, justice within educational settings and the, challenges and benefits of restorative justice, practice for educators from classroom teachers to, administrators to policy-makers. Students will, learn the science of implementation, principles of, organizational change, training/development of, school community and the art of leadership within, the educational context in order to advance the, development of restorative justice within, education. The online course combines synchronous, and asynchronous meetings.

Prerequisite: Restorative Justice students only.

CRJ 6002 - Restorative Justice in the Criminal-, Legal System (0)

This 14-week on-line course provides students with, an in-depth understanding of the possibilities and, challenges of developing and implementing, restorative justice within the criminal-legal, system. Students will learn the current scope and, development of restorative justice in legal, systems around the world and the relationship, between the restorative justice practice and the, current legal-theoretical framework within, different legal and organizational contexts. The, course focuses on the relevance, opportunities and, barriers to implementation within the, criminal-legal system through analysis of global, implementation in criminal legal systems. The, course will also explore the implications of, restorative justice practice for practitioner, roles within the criminal legal system and, strategies for leadership, advocacy and, implementation within the system. The online, course combines synchronous and asynchronous, meetings.

Prerequisite: Restorative Justice students only.

CRJ 6003 - Supervised Practicum in Restorative, Justice (0)

This 14 week on-line course will provide intensive, supervision by CRJ faculty for students as they, engage in implementation, advocacy and leadership, within an educational or criminal legal setting,. Students are required to develop a spring, placement site for implementation during the Core, and fall semester with assistance from CRJ, faculty. Through weekly meetings and required, reflection exercises, students will engage in, training, advocacy, implementation and, capacity-building within a particular, setting/context. The instructor and peers will, provide on-going support and guidance as each, student explores the use of strategies and, concepts within their setting. The online course, combines synchronous and asynchronous meetings.

Prerequisite: Restorative Justice students only.

CRJ 6004 - Leading and Sustaining Change (0)

This five-day residency completes the Professional, Certificate program and will focus on leadership, and sustainability. Participants will share and, reflect on the lessons learned from their, experience in implementation and will learn, strategies for embedding change within their, organizations. This course will also address the, art of leading and developing the capacity of, others to learn and practice restorative justice, through a focus on training, organizational, structure, ethics and assessment.

Prerequisite: Restorative Justice students only.

DCAS-Data Science Analytics Cert

DCAS 5000 - Data Science & Analytics Certificate, Bootcamp

In this accelerated course, you will learn the, fundamentals of data analysis and modeling from, industry-practitioner instructors, create your own, recommendations for national challenges using your, own complex technical data analyses, and build, your experience in a co-op style project at a, company while using in-demand technologies like R,, RStudio, Tableau, SQL, APIs, and more. No previous, experience in data science or analytics is, required, but students should have completed high, school algebra and basic statistics.

Prerequisite: Only available to candidates enrolled in Data Science Analytics, Certificate Bootcamp Program.

DSHE-Disability Services in Higher Education

DSHE 710 - Introduction to Disability Services in, Higher Education (3)

Provides a historical perspective and legal, foundation of disability services as a functional, area within the field of administration of higher, education. Examines the various organizational, structures, scope of programs and services,, ethical responsibilities of institutions and, administrators, roles and responsibilities of key, stakeholders, legal guidelines and compliance, concerns, and best practices associated with the, provision of equal access to all academic and, non-academic opportunities for diverselyabled, students.

DSHE 720 - Disability, Documentation, and, Reasonable Accommodations (3)

Explores disability profiles, documentation, standards, and accommodation protocol for, students with neurological, cognitive, physical,, sensory, mental health, and chronic health, related disabilities. Additional topics covered, include lifespan and identity development of, students with disabilities, social pragmatics , and case management skills, disability as, diversity, grievance procedures, and threat, assessment.

DSHE 730 - Assistive Tech, Emerging Tech, and Web, Access for Disability (3)

Covers the legal framework for providing, auxiliary aids and services as matters of access, and accommodation for students with disabilities,, as well as web accessibility standards, best, practices for accessibility testing, and the, administration of accessibility policy.

DSHE 740 - High School and Career Transition, Planning for Students With Disabilities (3)

Explores the laws, regulations, and accommodation, practices in K-12, higher education, and, employment settings with a focus on developing, transition plans and identifying resources for, students with disabilities.
Additional topics, covered include identity development for persons, with disabilities, strategies for individual, career development, transition to independent, living, engaging outside resources, collaborative, efforts with key stakeholders, and the, development of leadership skills centered on, community education.

DSHE 745 - Practicum in Disability Services, Administration (3)

The practicum experience provides for the, practical application of administrative skills in, the field of disability services under the, guidance of a site supervisor at an institution, of higher education. The experience helps, students gain exposure to various fields of work,, and it provides an opportunity for students to, observe, experience, and understand, employer/employee relationships within the, disability services in higher education, environment.

Prerequisite: Take DSHE-710; Instructor consent required.

EAP-English for Academic Progress

EAP 62 - Scholarly Writing (0)

This course has been designed for students, undertaking a Pre-Master's Program at Suffolk, University to develop students’ critical thinking, and analysis skills and knowledge for study at a, US University. These skills are developed through, cross-disciplinary academic related themes that, are tailored to students’ specific fields of, interest/study through the choice of text, types/materials, extension activities, and, assessment tasks.

Prerequisite: INTO Pathway Students Only.

EAP 101 - Foundations of Listening and Speaking I (4)

This course is designed to focus on the oral, communication skills needed to be a successful, student, as well as a successful professional. , Through lectures, text, and practical, applications, students will learn how to select a, topic, tailor a presentation to a specific, audience, and research, design, and structure an, oral presentation.
Students will also learn to, collaborate with a team of colleagues, utilize, visual aids, and critique professional/rhetorical, situations. In addition, students will expand, their listening skills to extract meaning from and, take notes on authentic academic conversations and, lectures. EAP 101 is linked thematically and, rhetorically to EAP 102. By taking both courses,, students will hone the practice of transferring, knowledge between courses, as well as between, school, personal experiences, and prior knowledge.

Prerequisite: INTO Pathway Students Only.
EAP 102 - Foundations of Reading and Writing I (4)

This course is designed to familiarize students, with the academic reading and writing skills, necessary to produce collegiate work. The class will work together to develop the analytical, skills required to produce well-organized and, well-written essays. The class will focus on the, significance of the writing process, including, prewriting, writing a strong thesis statement., revising, editing, and proofreading. Students will, review and practice the proper use and citation of, sources so as to avoid plagiarism.

Prerequisite: INTO Pathway Students Only.

EAP 103 - Foundations of Listening and Speaking II (4)

This class focuses on the oral communication, skills needed for success in academic and, professional life. Through lectures, text, and, practical applications, students will learn how to, select a topic, tailor a presentation to a, specific audience, and research, design, and, structure an oral presentation. Students will also, learn to collaborate with a team of colleagues,, use visual aids, and critique, professional/rhetorical situations. In addition,, students will expand their listening skills to, extract meaning from and take notes on academic, conversations and lectures. This course is, designed to link thematically and rhetorically to, EAP 104. By taking both courses, you will be, honing the practice of transferring knowledge, between courses, as well as between school and, your personal experiences and prior knowledge.

Prerequisite: INTO Pathway Students Only.

EAP 104 - Foundations of Reading and Writing II (4)

This course is designed to strengthen the academic, reading and writing skills necessary to produce, collegiate course work by using course materials, that will help students to understand cultural,, social, and global issues in the contemporary, world. Students will work together as they, continue to develop the analytical skills required, to produce well-organized and well-written essays., Students will learn to think critically about, social change and contemporary social problems., The course will focus on the significance of the, writing process, including prewriting, writing a, strong thesis statement, revising, editing, and, proofreading. In this course, students will, practice the proper use and citation of sources so, as to avoid plagiarism, and will conduct their own, research on topics relating to issues of cultural,, social, and global perspectives.

Prerequisite: INTO Pathway Students Only.

EC-Economics

EC 101 - Applied Microeconomics (3)

This course introduces students to foundational, principles of microeconomic theory, with an, emphasis on applications of concepts to, management decision-making in specific industry, and market settings. It describes and analyzes, the interaction of supply and demand and the, behavior of the prices of goods, services. It, explains the determinations of costs, output,, strategic pricing, and governance by firms under, conditions of perfect and imperfect competition, in a global economy. In addition, it describes, the supply demand for factors of production and, the impact of taxes and government regulation and, intervention on firms and consumers.

Prerequisite: Non CAS majors need to have completed at least 15 credits.

EC 102 - Global Macroeconomics (3)

This course examines the workings of the national, and the global economy. It measures, and describes, the determination of, Gross Domestic Product,, unemployment, inflation, and economic growth. It, analyzes the determination of the country's, exchange rate,, balance of payments, and, international borrowing and lending. A particular, focus is on understanding economic fluctuations, (booms, busts, and recessions) in the domestic, economy and their effects on other economies.

It, examines the role of the government and the, effects of government spending and taxation on the, economy. Furthermore, it describes and analyzes, the determination of the quantity of money and, interest rates in the economy and the role of, the country's central bank. It examines the basis and, pattern of international trade and the effects of, a country's trade policy on the economy.

Prerequisite: Non-CAS majors need to have completed at least 15 credits.

EC 131 - Environmental Economics (4)

Identifies the environmental effects of economic, activity, including polluted water and air, noise,, and radiation, and values their costs and, benefits. Analyzes mechanisms, including taxes, and permits, for achieving a socially preferable, level of pollution. Traces role played by, institutions, including common ownership, in, affecting environmental decay. Resource depletion, (of oil, forests, and fisheries) and appropriate, policy responses. Normally offered yearly.
EC 141 - Development Economics (4)

This course uses economic analysis to understand, contemporary issues in low-income countries. Examines why extreme poverty and hunger, high, child mortality, low levels of education, gender, inequality, environmental degradation, high, fertility, and child labor are pervasive in the, developing world. Seeks to explain how some, countries have grown rapidly while others have, not. Looks at domestic factors as well as the, international environment. For each topic, the, goal is to understand the factors and constraints, influencing decision-making in developing, countries, and to use this understanding to, discuss the role of markets, civil organizations,, government policy, and international institutions., Normally offered every other year.

EC 151 - Economic & Human Geography (4)

The study of how economic and human activity is, distributed across space, the reasons for these, spatial distributions, and the processes that, change the spatial organization of economic, activity over time. Topics include: maps, map, projections, and geographic information systems;, population geography; the, organization and, location of cities, towns and villages;, transportation and communication policy;, industrial location; the geography of world trade;, and geographic features of economic development., The course takes a global perspective, and draws, on cases and examples from all over the world., Cultural Diversity B. Normally offered every other year.

EC H101 - Honors Applied Microeconomics (3)

An honors version of Applied Microeconomics, this, course introduces students to foundational, principles of microeconomic theory, with an, emphasis on applications of concepts to management, decision-making in specific industry and market, settings. It describes and analyzes the, interaction of supply and demand, and the behavior, of the prices of goods and services. It explains, the determinations of costs, output, strategic, pricing, and governance by firms, under conditions, of perfect and imperfect competition, in a global, economy. In addition, it describes the supply and, demand for factors of production and the impact of, taxes and government regulation and intervention, on firms and consumers. Normally offered every semester.

Prerequisite: GPA of at least 3.3, or honors status, required.

EC H102 - Honors Global Macroeconomics (3)

An honors version of Global Macroeconomics, this, course examines the workings of the national and, the global economy. It measures, and describes the, determination of, Gross Domestic Product,, unemployment, inflation, and economic growth. It, analyzes the determination of the country's, exchange rate, balance of payments, and, international borrowing and lending. A particular, focus is on understanding economic fluctuations, (booms, busts, and recessions) in the domestic, economy and their effects on other economies. It, examines the role of the government and the, effects of government spending and taxation on the, economy. Furthermore, it describes and analyzes, the determination of the quantity of money and, interest rates in the economy and the role of the, country's central bank. It examines the basis and, pattern of international trade and the effects of, a country's trade policy on the economy. Normally, offered every semester.

Prerequisite: GPA of 3.3 or higher. Non-CAS majors need to have completed at, least 15 credits.

EC 261 - Behavioral Economics (4)

Behavioral Economics combines economics,, psychology and the cognitive sciences to study, human decision making. This course introduces, students to the standard economic model of human, behavior, and then uses real-world examples to see, where the standard model falls short. More, broadly, this class introduces students to, building models of human behavior. And since, behavioral economics relies on experiments to test, models, the class discusses the basics of, experimental design and causal inference. We apply, the lessons to a broad range of fields, including, finance, business, and public policy.

EC 311 - Intermediate Micro Theory (4)

Theory of consumer behavior and demand. Theory of production and costs of production. Theory of, the firm, and price and output decisions in, different market structures, i.e., under perfect, competition, monopoly, monopolistic competition, and oligopoly. Decisions relating to pricing and, employment of various inputs (labor and capital), under perfectly competitive, and less than, perfectly competitive, resource markets., Required of all majors in Economics. Normally, offered every semester.

Prerequisite: EC 101 and EC 102.

EC 312 - Intermediate Macro Theory (4)

This course covers the neoclassical and Keynesian, models of aggregate economic activity. Coverage, of the measurement of economic variables, such as, aggregate income, the inflation rate, and the, unemployment rate. Examines the behavior of the, economy under conditions of price flexibility in, the long run and price rigidity in the short run, under rational and adaptive expectations., Analysis of the effect of changes in taxes and, government expenditures, monetary policy and, deficits on the economy. Coverage of the sources, of economic growth. Required of all majors in, Economics. Normally offered every semester.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 402 - Mathematical Economics (4)

This course introduces the mathematical basis of, economic theory. Emphasis is placed on the, mathematical tools that have been developed for, various applications, with a focus on applied, microeconomic analysis. The techniques of, comparative-statics analysis are developed., Univariate and multivariate calculus are then, presented in the context of unconstrained and, constrained optimization. The course concludes, by introducing the foundations of discrete-time, and continuous-time dynamic optimization.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and MATH-134, MATH-164 or MATH-165.

EC 410 - Urban Economics: Asian Megacities in, Comparative Perspective (4)

More than half of the world population lives in, urban areas. This course sets out to explain the, existence, growth, geographic patterns, and, impact of cities, and the effects of public, policy on urban form, structure, and activity. It, addresses the urban issues of transportation,, congestion, housing, crime, poverty and, inequality, governance, and the environment, and, asks how planning and policy can tackle these., The context of these discussions is the, megacities of Asia: 24 of the world's 37, megacities (those with ten million or more, inhabitants) are in Asia, where they are home to, almost 500 million people. The choices made by, these cities will be considered in comparative, perspective, including with Boston, New York,, Paris, and London.

Prerequisite: Take EC-101.

EC 421 - Public Finance (4)

The theory of tax policy and tax structure. The, effects on economic behavior (including labor, supply, saving, risk-taking and investment,, charitable giving, and growth) of different taxes, (income, sales, value-added, inheritance, wealth, property). Tax equity, efficiency and incidence,, in the United States and in comparative, perspective.

Additional topics include modeling, state taxes; social security and pensions; and tax, compensation., Normally offered every other year.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 430 - International Trade Theory & Policy (4)

This course examines theories of international, trade. The policy implications of each theory are, explored and the effect of trade on the welfare of, the nation is examined. Also the development of, trade blocs and the the political economy of trade, are studied. Normally offered every year.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 432 - Managerial Economics (4)

Managerial economics applies microeconomic and, quantitative analysis to the formulation of, rational managerial decisions. These tools shape, decisions about output and pricing, about the, choice of product quality, the type of production, process used, the mix of inputs employed, the, suitability of mergers and acquisitions, the, management of risk, and the design of incentives, in a world of imperfect information. This course, explains the tools of managerial economics, puts, them into context using numerous case studies, and, applies them to significant real business, situations. Required of all majors in Business, Economics. Normally offered every semester.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 441 - Analysis of Global Economics and, Financial Data (4)

This course focuses on the use and interpretation, of real world economic and financial data., Emphasis is on hands-on experience of retrieving, data from various databases and applications of, statistical methods for analytical purposes. Main, topics include the behavior of developed and, emerging equity markets, the analysis of foreign, exchange rate movements, sovereign risk, foreign, capital flows, the characteristics of foreign, direct investment by multinational companies, and, international trade patterns. The course trains, students to further communication skills by, requiring presentations of the data analysis and, writing reports on various global economic and, financial topics., Excel is extensively used in data analysis., Students with limited Excel experience are, expected to complete Excel training modules at, the beginning of the course.

Prerequisite: Take EC-101 and EC-102, and take STATS-240 or STATS-250; Junior standing or higher.
EC 442 - International Monetary Economics (4)

The balance of payments and foreign exchange, markets and instruments, and the determination of, exchange rates. Balance-of-payments adjustments, under alternative exchange-rate systems, international liquidity, international economics, policy and open economy macroeconomics.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 445 - The Economics of the European Union (4)

An economic analysis of the European Union, the, history of European monetary and economic, integration, and the creation of the euro. A, survey of the development and evolution of key, European policies, such as those related to, competition, industry, agriculture, the, environment, and regional development. A, discussion of the economic implications of the, enlargement of the European Union, as well as its, trade relations with the U.S. and other countries, within the context of the World Trade, Organization.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 450 - Applied Econometrics (4)

This course begins with a brief review of, statistical methods, including probability theory, estimation, and hypothesis testing. This, background is used in the construction, estimation, and testing of econometric models. The, consequences of a misspecified model, where the, assumptions of a classical regression model are, violated, are studied and the appropriate remedial, measures are suggested. Other topics include dummy, variables, binary choice models, and, autoregressive models. Emphasis is on applied, aspects of econometric modeling. There is, extensive use of statistical software for data, analyses. Normally offered every semester.

Prerequisite: STATS-250 or STATS-240 or MATH-255 or permission of instructor.

EC 451 - Economic Forecasting (4)

This course introduces the student to forecasting, methods using time-series data, with economic and, financial data. Time-series models commonly used, in forecasting include the autoregressive moving, average (ARMA) model for stationary series and the, autoregressive integrated moving average (ARIMA), model for nonstationary series. These models will, be presented together with the estimation methods, then used in applications. Statistical methods, designed to evaluate, compare, and improve, forecasting performance by combining different, types of forecasts are also discussed and, illustrated using a widely-used program such as R.

Prerequisite: Take STATS-240 or STATS-250.

EC 460 - Game Theory (4)

This course introduces students to the foundations, of game theory using applications from economics, and everyday decision-making. The course examines, the common strategic elements of interactions, between consumers and producers, governments and, citizens, politicians and their constituencies, countries and their trading partners, and various, other participants in social relationships. The, course provides a theoretical framework for, modeling strategic interaction, beginning with the, development of the concept of a Nash equilibrium, reputation, signaling, collective-action problems,, and voting procedures and strategies. Normally, offered every year.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 480 - Financial Economics (4)

This course provides a solid foundation in, financial economics. The course begins by setting, out the nature of financial decision-making by, households and firms in a risk-free world, and, then introduces risk in the context of financial, markets. It considers portfolio management,, including mean-variance, utility-maximizing, and, behavioral approaches. Attention next turns to, asset valuation - of equities and fixed income, securities, as well as financial derivatives. The, final section evaluates the applicability of the, ideas of financial economics to the real world.

Prerequisite: EC-102; STATS-250 or equivalent; EC-311 or EC-432 (or EC-101, with a B grade or higher).

EC 483 - Money, Banking & Financial Markets (4)

This course examines the role of depository, institutions and the Federal Reserve system in, determining the supply of money. The course also, explains the financial environment and the role of, monetary policy decisions on changes in price,, interest rates, money, and economic activity. The, course provides the student with both theoretical, and applied analysis.

Prerequisite: EC-101 and EC-102.

EC 490 - Senior Seminar in Economics (4)

This is a required course for all students, majoring in Economics or Business Economics., Students develop an economic thesis project in, consultation with the professor for the course,, and present it to the class and Prerequisite: EC-450 or STATS-350 and Senior Standing; Or permission of, instructor.

EC H450 - Honors Applied Econometrics (4)

This course begins with a brief review of, statistical methods, including probability theory, estimation, and hypothesis testing. This, background is used in the construction, estimation, and testing of econometric models. The, consequences of a misspecified model, where the, assumptions of a classical regression model are, violated, are studied and the appropriate remedial, measures are suggested. Other topics include dummy, variables, binary choice models, and, autoregressive models. Emphasis is on applied, aspects of econometric modeling. There is, extensive use of statistical software for data, analyses. Prerequisites: GPA of at least 3.3 or, Honors status, STATS-250 or STATS-240 or MATH-255, or permission of instructor.

Prerequisite: STATS-250 or STATS-240 or MATH-255 or permission of instructor., GPA of at least 3.3, or honors status, required.

EC H490 - Honors Senior Seminar in Economics (4)

An honors version of the Senior Seminar, this is a, required course for all students majoring in, Economics, or Business Economics. Students develop, an economic thesis project in consultation with, the professor for the course, and present it to, the class and departmental faculty.

Prerequisite: EC-450, Senior standing required. Honors students only.

EC 503 - Internship in Economics (1-4)

This course is designed to complement work, experience, in a position where economics plays a, substantial role, with an opportunity for writing,, reflection, analysis, and skills and career, development. Individual learning goals and, objectives will be formulated for each student,, based on their placement, interest and career, goals, but students will normally be expected to, write regular reflective journals, and at least, one substantial paper or essay that is undertaken, either as part of the job, or links the job, experience with economic analysis, or equivalent., Internships must be a minimum of 30 hours in total, per credit.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required.

EC 510 - EC Independent Study (1-5)

Independent study in economics

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office.

EC 511 - Professional Development in Economics (1)

This one-credit course is designed to explore, career opportunities in economics in depth. Classroom discussions, writing assignments, and, site visits will help prepare students to, identify and secure internship and post-graduate, employment opportunities. Additional career, paths, such as pursuing graduate studies in, economics or related fields, and the application, process, will also be addressed. The goal of, this course is to help students reach their, fullest professional potential following, graduation.

Prerequisite: CAS-201 and at least 54 credits.

EC H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-5)

Independent study in Economics.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office.

EC 999 - Economics PhD Continuation (0)

Research towards completion of doctoral, dissertation. Permission of Graduate Program, Director required.

Prerequisite: Permission of Graduate Program Director required.

ECE-Electrical and Computer Engineering

ECE 288 - Measuring the World (4)

The world is addicted to quantifying the essence of everything, from personal IQ, to the speed of a baseball, to our healthiness, or our chances of winning the lottery. Behind most of these numeric values exists a science of measurement. Some of this is referenced to international standards, such as for length, time, weight, or temperature. Others are more arbitrary and subjective, such as ranking Olympic performance in gymnastics, beauty pageants, or popular responses as found in the game show "Family Feud." A third category includes controversial areas, such as measuring whether a person is lying when interrogated, or using hype rather than reality to market products. Sometimes statistics are used to predict sports outcomes, such as in the annual March Madness NCAA basketball brackets. Finally, in a world subject to fraud and deception, it can be essential to distinguish legitimate from counterfeit items, such as in money, art, collectibles, and historical documents. Don't get hoodwinked! This course examines all of these, starting with how measurements have been made throughout history, along with a full deck of entertaining terms used during the ages. This may help you sort out your weight, whether given in pounds, kilos, or stones. Often these terms will provide insights into how people lived in different eras. We will also look at some of the technologies currently available to provide these measurements, and unravel the complexities of various sensors that are used. As we consider the meaning of "accuracy" we may become less naive about how much confidence to ascribe to the results given us. Hovering around all of these measurements should be the question of validity - are they meaningful, useful, or misleading? And the impact they have on society - whether they steer behavior more powerfully than one might originally suspect. Each student will also be given an opportunity to become an "expert" in an area of measurement of personal interest. By the end of the course all students should have gained greater insight into how the world around them is quantified, and whether numbers can provide accurate predictors for our future. Algebra helpful. Basic science background helpful. Curiosity essential!

ECE 307 - Electric Power Systems - Analysis and Design (4)

This course is a first course in understanding the components that compose the high power grid. Generation of power; transmission line characteristics, load impacts. Real and reactive power along with compensation techniques. Transformers. Synchronous generators and motors. Power flow. Power quality. Transient and dynamic stability issues. Handling faults, overvoltage and surge protection. Electronic control by high power devices such as thyristors, relays, and circuit breakers. HVDC examined. Recent developments and opportunities in the Power field. A strong emphasis placed on problems solving and representative exercises.

Prerequisite: MATH-166 and ECE-205 and ECE-206 and ECE-403 helpful, but not required.

ECE 403 - Applied Electromagnetics (3)

Electrostatics and magnetostatics, including Coulomb's law, Gauss's law, Biot-Savart law and Ampere's law, vector operations in rectangular, cylindrical, and spherical coordinates, divergence theorem and Stokes theorem, electric fields in materials, Lorentz force, magnetic torque, Faraday's law, Maxwell's equation, wave propagation, transmission lines with Smith charts, rectangular waveguides, Hertzian dipole antenna; examples related to power when applicable.

Prerequisite: ECE-L403 (concurrently) and ECE-205 and MATH-265 with a minimum grade of C. Offered: Spring.

ECE 414 - Senior Project Proposal (1)

The aim of this course is for students to generate a thoughtful and well-written senior project proposal. This course will provide guidelines and critiquing for that purpose. By the end of the course, students will have narrowly identified their project, performed a review of current available related technology, and selected the approach they will pursue. They will also establish a parts list, timetable, set of milestones, and basis or procedure for determining an answer to the question "how good is it?" At the end of the course they will formally present their project and write a comprehensive project proposal document. Once accepted, they are permitted to take ENS 415 Senior Project. Note that this course is focused on the process of creating a viable proposal. Enough flexibility exists that students may either implement the project they documented in this course when they take ENS 415, or may pursue an alternative project if desired. Also note that this course replaces ECE 411 for the graduating class of 2016.

Prerequisite: Take ECE-101, ECE-206. Take MATH-164 or MATH-165.

ECE 415 - Senior Project (4)

For the senior project the student implements, documents, and presents their completed project of the proposal generated in ENS 414. Having defined their project, students gather the resources necessary and proceed to execute their designs. This period will include the construction, testing, troubleshooting, refinement, and evaluation of their project. A formal presentation of the project is made. A professional caliber documentation of the project is also required, and may go through numerous iterations of review. The final project report must consider most of the following: environmental impact, sustainability, manufacturability, ethics, health and safety issues, and political concerns. Time management, prioritization of process, formal communication, overcoming obstacles and meeting deadlines are monitored by the project advisor. Weekly reports and meetings are expected. The advisor also serves as a resource for the student. However, full responsibility for the success of the project rests on the student. Cross-disciplinary projects are encouraged. Note: Replaces ECE 412 for the graduating class of 2016.

Prerequisite: Take ECE-414;
ECE L403 - Applied Electromagnetics Lab (1)
The Applied Electromagnetics Lab is designed to supplement the Applied Electromagnetics course.
Prerequisite: ECE-403 concurrently. Offered: Spring.

ECE 500 - Experiential Learning in Engineering (0)
This course requires students to complete a minimum of 15 engagement hours per semester. Students gain exposure to a variety of hands-on application of engineering and math software applications with faculty oversight. Permission of instructor required. May be taken more than once.
Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

EDUC-Education

EDUC 110 - Introduction to Critical Issues in, Education (4)
Working with children and adolescents is a facet, of many professions. This course will introduce, students to the study of education occurring in, formal and informal settings. This course focuses, on the relationships among, and between,, teachers,, discourse, and community. Students will glean, insight into the relationship of school and, society as well as power and control in American, Education. Required of all education minors., Five hours of field work required.
Offered: Fall, Spring.

EDUC 202 - Educational Psychology (4)
Examines the nature and development of human, abilities and the teaching-learning process,. Considers the facts and generalizations of child, and adolescent growth and development, working, with diverse cultures, and special needs children, in school settings. Ten hours of field work.
Offered: Fall, Spring.

EDUC 205 - SL-Community Tutoring Project (4-8)
In this course students meet community needs by, engaging in service-learning outside the, classroom. Students complete 35 hours per, semester of educational tutoring in a local, school (K-5), in conjunction with a weekly, seminar on campus. Open to all majors. No, previous experience required.
Prerequisite: This class fulfills the Expanded Classroom Requirement. Offered: Full, Spring.

EDUC 208 - SL: College Access (4)
Students complete a minimum of 35 hours of, tutoring and coaching in an educational setting,, or a community organization in conjunction with a, weekly seminar on campus. Programs include, COACH,, Connections to College, and others. Open to all, majors. No previous experience required.
Offered: Fall, Spring.

EDUC 210 - Service Learning: Alternative Spring, Break (4)
Students complete all research, travel, and, reporting requirements in conjunction with, Suffolk, University's Alternative Spring Break. Open to, all majors. No previous experience required.
Prerequisite: Open to all majors,Instructor's signature required. Offered: Spring.

EDUC 214 - SL-Introduction to Teaching (4)
In this course students meet community needs by, engaging in service-learning outside the, classroom. This course introduces students to the, basic competencies of school teaching. Topics, include: lesson planning, classroom management,, grouping for instruction, effective pedagogical, practices, assessment methods, requirements for, licensure in Massachusetts, and discipline, specific curriculum development using the, curriculum frameworks/common core state, standards. Field observations (25 hours) required.

EDUC 215 - Service Learning Community, Literacies (4)
This course is designed for Jumpstart Corps, members to develop competencies in teaching, strategies for reading and writing. The course, introduces theoretical and instructional issues, in the development of literacy skills. Students, will be engaged in reflective, critical, consideration of students' diverse needs in the, acquisition of literacy.

EDUC 310 - Culturally Sustaining Practices (4)
The relationship between cultural diversity and, schooling is explored by examining impediments to, academic achievement and advancement by minority, students, nonnative English speaking students,, and other underrepresented groups. Topics, include: standardized testing, identification of, inequities, legal and ethical responsibilities of, teachers, and promoting equity. Ten pre-practicum, observation hours required for teacher
EDUC 315 - Strategies for Working With Emergent, English Learners (4)

This course examines the specific needs and challenges of the various language and cultural groups in schools. Topics include: theories of, 1st and 2nd language acquisition, strategies for, teaching academic content, modifying instruction, in the mainstream classroom, creating classroom cultures that invite all students into learning, the role of advocacy and professional collaboration in ESL, and analysis of policies, related to assessment and placement of English Language Learners.

EDUC 316 - TESOL Practice (4)

Students will have opportunities to put the, theories and techniques learned in EDUC 315-, Strategies for Working with English Learners into, practice. Students will be placed in various, Suffolk University sites or classrooms where they, will work to meet the specific needs and, challenges of educating various language and, cultural groups. Students will be required to, spend 30 hours working in their placements., Students will attend a weekly seminar where, connections between theory and practice are, explored, experiences are shared, and Teaching , Service Portfolios will be created.

Prerequisite: Take EDUC-315.

EDUC 317 - TESOL Experience (0)

Students will travel to Costa Rica for a unique, cultural and educational experience. Students will, spend an intensive week of teaching English in a, language program. This faculty-led trip will, provide students with opportunities to put the, theories and techniques learned in previous, Education courses into practice, while being, supported by Professor Robinson. Students will, work to meet the specific needs and challenges of, educating young Costa Ricans. Students will also, travel to different parts of the country and learn, about the natural and cultural wonders of Costa, Rica. This trip is open to all students but will, fulfill the required 30 practicum hours for those, students enrolled in or considering the TESOL, Certificate.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

EDUC 408 - Youth Programming (4)

This course focuses on the exploration and, understanding of issues, strategies and, frameworks related to developing and implementing, youth programs. Students will be exposed to, developmental theories, and various components of, effective youth programmatic planning.

Topics, include: conducting needs assessments, developing, goals and objectives, logistics planning,, recruitment and training, and program evaluation.

EDUC 414 - Urban Schooling (4)

This course is an in-depth investigation of, policies effecting urban schools; topics include:, demographic influence on education, influences of, national and state regulations on urban schools,, sociological factors unique to urban schools, and, in-depth analysis of equity and achievement.

Offered: Occasionally.

EDUC 424 - Global Issues and Trends in Education (4)

Examines major current issues of educational, policy against the background of demographic, trends, technological innovations, standardized, testing, and curricular shifts.

Offered: Occasionally.

EDUC H408 - Honors Youth Programming (4)

This course focuses on the exploration and, understanding of issues, strategies and, frameworks related to developing and implementing, youth programs. Students will be exposed to, developmental theories, and various components of, effective youth programmatic planning.

Topics, include: conducting needs assessments, developing, goals and objectives, logistics planning,, recruitment and training, and program evaluation.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office.

EMBA-Executive MBA Core

EMBA 600 - Self Aware Leader Seminar (1.5)

This two-day, off-campus seminar emphasizes how, personal leadership style and self-awareness, influences both team dynamics and performance, outcomes in the context of a business simulation,, during which students address strategic and operational issues.

Offered: Fall.

EMBA 610 - Organizational Behavior (3)

This course provides the foundation for skills that are a prerequisite for being a successful, manager and leader. Most people fail to advance, in an organization because they lack the management skills necessary to function effectively in an organizational setting. The general purpose of this course is to help you, acquire and practice the knowledge and skills to, manage people and organizations. This knowledge, is essential to those whose career goals include, achieving leadership positions in an organization.

Offered: Fall.

EMBA 622 - Operations & Data Analysis (3)

Introduces students to operations management in the services, manufacturing and distribution, industries while covering statistics and, quantitative analytic tools relevant to all, functional areas. Applications include: supply, chain management, total quality management, forecasting, inventory planning and control, project planning and management, risk analysis, process design, and human resources issues in a global economy. Analytic tools for these applications include descriptive statistics and, graphics, uncertainty assessment, inferences from samples, decision analysis and models, and, regression analysis.

Prerequisite: Take EMBA-610. Offered: Spring.

EMBA 630 - Economic Analysis for Managers (1.5)

This course develops the basic tools for microeconomic and macroeconomic analysis with, emphasis on business decision-making and the, impact of economic policy on organizational, performance and competitiveness with respect to, global business.

EMBA 640 - Corporate Financial Reporting and, Control (3)

This course develops skills in how to use, accounting information to analyze the performance, and financial condition of a company, and to, facilitate decision-making, planning and, budgeting, and performance appraisal in a managerial context. This course focuses on the, use of accounting information - such as the, financial reporting, analysis, interpretation and, decision-making and downplays the preparation, aspect involving accounting mechanics such as, detailed journal entries and ledger preparation.

Offered: Fall.

EMBA 645 - Introduction to Business Analytics, Principles and Technology (1.5)

This course is designed to expose you to, technologies and foundational concepts used in, business analytics in today's business world. Across virtually all industries and in all, business functions, business analytics represent, areas of exponential growth and opportunity. In this course, you will be introduced to some of, these technologies through exposure to a sequence, of hands-on experiences of analytics-driven, approaches to assist managerial decision making.

Offered: Fall.

EMBA 647 - Managing Information Technology for, Competitive Advantage (1.5)

This course helps students to understand the role, of information systems and technology in risk, management, and data privacy and security. Students will also learn the role of information, technology in enabling entrepreneurship and how, to manage enterprise information technology.

Prerequisite: EMBA students only.

EMBA 650 - Value Based Financial Management (3)

Introduces the basic principles of corporate, finance. The main focus of the course is on, fundamental principles such as time value of, money, asset valuation, and risk and return, trade-off. Topics covered also include cost of, capital, capital budgeting, and capital structure.

Prerequisite: Take EMBA-622, EMBA-630, and EMBA-640. Offered: Spring.

EMBA 660 - Marketing: Challenge of Managing Value (3)

Marketing is changing--constantly driven by, dramatic technology developments, globalization, and evolving consumption values, practices, and, lifestyles. This course covers marketing themes, theories, and trends that are critical for, superior business performance in the 21st century. In this course, we examine current, marketing theory as it is being shaped by, forward-thinking academics and new developments, in business practices. This course provides, students with a strong foundation in marketing, principles and practices.

Offered: Summer.
EMBA 670 - Information Management for Competitive, Advantage (3)

Focuses on using information systems (IS) and information technology (IT) for a competitive, advantage. Explores the impact of IS and IT on the internal and external environments of, organizations. Introduces students to the, opportunities and challenges of managing IS and, IT to meet the needs of business executives,, managers, users, and partners. Students discuss, readings and learn from technology presentations, to examine decisions pertaining to selection of, IS and IT intended to maximize benefits while, minimizing costs and risks of implementation.

Prerequisite: Take EMBA-622. Offered: Summer.

ENG 377 - Writing for Digital Media (4)

John Theibault, Director of the South Jersey, Center for Digital Humanities, defines this, burgeoning field as "an umbrella concept bringing, together all of the different ways in which the, computer, and especially the internet, have, transformed humanities work. It includes using, computer methods to mark and analyze analog, humanities products, adapting the distinctive, features of the World Wide Web for the production, and presentation of humanities research, and, bringing humanities methods to the evaluation of, the entirely new genres of expression made, possible by computers." Writing for Digital Media, will focus on the latter two of these priorities:, using digital tools for creative and, communicative purposes, and understanding the, rhetorical implications of writing in digital, formats and spaces. Certainly, we can observe how traditional, analog, forms of writing have been adapted for digital, spaces in the proliferation of online magazines,, newspapers, and literary journals, but digital, technologies have also invented new genres of, writing that English majors and other CAS, students will find worthwhile to study alongside, traditional fiction, creative nonfiction, and, poetry genres such as blogs, wikis, GIFS, text, visualizations, social media narratives,, crowdsourced documents, Twitter essays,, interactive maps and calendars, and many more., These new genres can satisfy creative urges to, use intermedia, organize information into, user-friendly presentations, such as, infographics, websites, and public-access, archives, and communicate information about a, company, nonprofit organization, product,, initiative, or event.

Provides a comprehensive introduction to mobile, app technology and design concepts. This is an introductory course and assumes no prior programming experience. Students learn how to, design, build, and optimize cross-platform mobile, app using HTML5 standards. Students will also, learn how to convert HTML5 apps into native apps, for various mobile platforms. Students use CSS3, JavaScript and several JavaScript frameworks and, techniques such as jQuery, jQuery Mobile, and, AJAX. In addition, students will use Web, services, such as Google Maps, and Web, Application Programming Interfaces (Web APIs) to, integrate content into their apps.

Offered: Fall.

ISOM 230 - Big Data, Business Intelligence and, Analytics (3)

Provides an understanding of the business, potential of big data; how to build and maintain, data warehouses, and how to analyze and use this, data as a source for business intelligence and, competitive advantage. Students study data mining, concepts and the use of analytics tools and, methods for producing business knowledge. Students, will develop an understanding of extraction, transformation and loading; decision support, systems; analytics , text, web and data mining, models as well as data presentation/visualization, including dashboards and scorecards. Students, build a data warehouse and practice the extraction, and filtering process used to produce high quality, data warehouses. Students will develop skills with, tools such as MS Excel, Tableau, SQL and SAP, Business Warehouse.

Prerequisite: STATS-240 or STATS-250 or Instructor Permission. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 231 - Automatic for the People: Turn Data Into, Insight/W R~python (3)

Introduces a detailed overview of statistical, learning for data mining, inference, and, prediction in order to tackle modern-day data, analysis problems. This course is appropriate, for students who wish to learn and apply, statistical learning tools to analyze data and, gain valuable hands-on experience with R. Statistical learning refers to a vast set of tools for modeling and understanding complex datasets. Exciting topics include: Regression, Logistic Regression, Linear Discriminant Analysis, Cross-Validation, Bootstrap, Linear/Non-Linear Model Selection and, Regularization, Support Vector Methodology, and, Unsupervised Learning via Principal Components, Analysis and Clustering Methods. Students learn how to implement each of the statistical learning methods using the popular statistical software, package R via hands-on lab sessions.

Prerequisite: STATS-240 or STATS-250. Offered: Fall.

ISOM 232 - Sports Analytics in Action (3)

Do you ever wonder if a player is really "red, hot"? Why don't those sports ranking polls ever agree? How can I pick a better fantasy football team? Come and discover how analytics are used in sports business and sports field operations. Students will develop their statistical knowledge, and techniques to assess performance data to provide support for decision making in sports management. Students will be able to use, mathematical modeling, statistical analysis, and, analytical techniques relevant to sports analytics.

Prerequisite: Take STATS-240 or STAT-250 and ISOM-130 or by Instructor's Permission.

ISOM 240 - Data Privacy and Compliance (3)

Students will analyze and evaluate Data privacy, risks and management challenges facing individuals, and organizational data both at the local and, global level and then design and evaluate, solutions to protect the data. The course starts, by introducing students to basic data privacy, principles and the deteriorating state of privacy, with frequent data breaches and identity theft, explosion across the globe. The course then, explores the disruption to privacy caused by, emerging technologies like mobile, cloud, big data, and social media across the globe and the, consequences with associated management, challenges. Different privacy solutions including, privacy enhancing technologies like Tors, Onions, and encryption will be introduced. The course then, delve into the different aspects of the European, new general data privacy regulation (GDPR) and its, impact to data privacy management in both Europe, and other parts of the world like USA. We explore, Various US Data privacy laws like HIPAA and then, compare them to GDPR. The course ends by, introducing different data privacy best practices, and the "Privacy by Design" paradigm.

ISOM 244 - Web Application Development (3)

Equips students with the principles, methodology and skills required to define, develop and deploy a fully functional dynamic web application. Students learn to customize the content, appearance, and delivery of their website using industry-standard web development tools. Class discussion will focus on web development issues for organizations as well as the role played by development tools such as HTML5, CSS3, and PHP scripting. Each class will include hands-on lab work. A term project is used to wrap the course content together.

ISOM H201 - Honors Data & Decisions Analysis (3)

Introduces fundamental quantitative methods of using data to make informed management decisions. Topics include: decision modeling, decision, analysis, regression, forecasting, optimization, and simulation, as it applies to the study and, analysis of business problems for decision, support in finance, marketing, service, and, manufacturing operations. Practical business, cases and examples drawn from finance, marketing, operations management, and other management areas, are used to provide students with a perspective, on how management science is used in practice. Excel spreadsheets are used extensively to implement decision models.

Prerequisite: MATH-128 or higher and STATS-240 or STATS-250 and at least a 3.3 GPA. Offered: Fall.

ISOM H210 - Honors Management Info System (3)

Examines the rise of information-enabled, enterprises and the role of information, technologies/information systems (IT/IS) and, e-commerce as key enablers of businesses and, social changes globally. Topics include: the, effective application of IT/IS to support, strategic planning, managerial control,, operations and business process integration in, the digital economy, IT/IS related issues of, ethics, and piracy and security in the, information society.

Prerequisite: WRI-101 or WRI-H103 and SBS-101 and at least a 3.3 GPA. Offered: Fall.

ISOM 313 - Business Systems Development (3)

Introduces students to the concepts, techniques, and tools used to design and develop business, information systems. Students will experience the, system development cycle, and practice modeling, and project management techniques. During the, course students will use Object Oriented analysis, and design techniques, and use the UML to design, systems. A term project is used to practice and, apply the techniques and methods learned in the course.

Prerequisite: ISOM-210. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 314 - Coding for Business (3)

Develops problem solving and basic programming, skills through a variety of business application, assignments. Introduces fundamental control and, data structures using the Python programming, language. Students experience the concepts of, modern business programming principles. The course, builds skills in the areas of programming logic,, data structures, control structures, and system, development. Testing and debugging techniques and, the writing of well-structured code are, emphasized.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 319 - Operations Management (3)

Introduces concepts and tools for managing, operations in service/ manufacturing, organizations where inputs such as raw material,, labor, or other resources into finished services, and/or goods. Strategic and tactical issues of, operations management (OM), including: operations, strategy, product and process design, capacity, planning, quality management, inventory, management, queueing theory and work force, management are addressed. Quantitative models,, analytical tools and case studies are used to, analyze operational problems that business, managers face in both local and, global settings.

Prerequisite: SBS-101 (formerly ENT-101) and ISOM-201. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 323 - Database Management (3)

Provides an understanding of the role of, information and databases in information systems, and their role as an organizational resource. Students learn to design databases using, normalization and entity-relationship diagrams,, develop data models and to build applications, with database management systems such as MS, Access and Microsoft SQL Server. Techniques are, examined and applied to realistic business, problems through hands-on exercises and projects.

Prerequisite: ISOM-210. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 330 - Applied Statistics and Predictive, Analytics (3)

In this course, students learn to turn data into, business insights to improve business decision, making. You will develop your capability in, applying statistical concepts and techniques and, predictive analytics for opportunity, identification and risk assessment within the, context of organizational decision-making. We will, begin with a review of statistical methods,, including descriptive statistics, estimation, and, hypothesis testing that will be used for, construction, estimation, and testing of, statistical models. Building on this foundation,, we will cover predictive analytics topics such as, nonlinear regression models, dummy variables,, binary choice models, data preparation, modeling,, analysis, and forecasting. Throughout the course,, you will learn to use the R programming language, to apply your predictive analytics skills to solve, various business cases following the prescriptive, analytics life cycle. You will also learn to use, various presentation and visualization tools to, communicate results.

Prerequisite: ISOM-130, ISOM-201, and ISOM-230, or permission of instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 340 - Cybersecurity Fundamentals (3)

Introduces Cybersecurity fundamental principles, from a risk management approach both at the, national and global levels. Common types of, computer attacks and counter-attacks are, addressed. Security technologies such as, biometrics, firewalls, intrusion detection systems, and cryptography systems will be analyzed and, several hands-one lab exercises on the same are, used to connect theory to practice and provide, experiential learning. Best practices for Risk, analysis and business continuity planning and, common frameworks like the CIA triangle and the, defence in depth solution are applied to different, scenarios.

Prerequisite: ISOM-210 and at least 54 credits. Offered: Fall.

ISOM 341 - Project Management for the Modern, Organizations (3)

Project Management is essential for modern, organizations success and a key skill for, managers. Projects provide businesses a, time-delimited tool for improving, expanding, and, innovating - the primary means for converting, strategy into action. The course focuses on, discussion and analysis of real-life business, situations that convey core project management, skills as well as on the challenge of managing, projects in today's complex, high-pressure work, environments. Throughout the semester, the, student will engage in an integrated project that, bring the components of project management, together. This includes risk and scope management,, budget creation and resource management. There is, an exercise that the team will use MS Project, software as well as explore implementation options, like Agile. The skills you gain from this class, will help you no matter what field of business, your career takes you. This course can be, credited toward PMI Project Management, Professional (PMP)(R) certification or Certified, Associate in Project Management. PMP(R) and, (PMBOK(R)Guide) are registered marks of the, Project Management Institute, Inc. Offered: Spring.

ISOM H319 - Honors Operations Management (3)

Introduces concepts and tools for managing, operations in service/ manufacturing, organizations where inputs such as raw material,, labor, or other resources into finished services, and/or goods. Strategic and tactical issues of, operations management (OM), including: operations, strategy, product and process design, capacity, planning, quality management, inventory, management, queueing theory and work force, management are addressed. Quantitative models,, analytical tools and case studies are used to, analyze operational problems that business, managers face in both local and global settings.

Prerequisite: SBS-101, ISOM-201, at least a 3.3 GPA, and at, least 54 credits. Offered: Spring.

ISOM 424 - IS Strategy, Management and Acquisition (3)

Explores the issues and approaches in managing, the information systems function in organizations, and how the IS function, integrates/supports/enables various types of, organizational capabilities. It takes a, management perspective in exploring the, acquisition, development, and implementation of, plans and policies to achieve efficient and, effective information systems. The course, addresses issues relating to defining the high, level IS infrastructure and the systems that, support the operational, administrative, and, strategic needs of the organization. The, remainder of the course is focused on developing, an intellectual framework that will allow leaders, of organizations to critically assess existing IS, infrastructures and emerging technologies as well, as how these enabling technologies might affect, organizational strategy. The ideas developed and, cultivated in this course are intended to provide, an enduring perspective that can help leaders, make sense of an increasingly globalized and, technology intensive business environment.

Prerequisite: ISOM-313, ISOM-314, and ISOM-323 and at least 84 credits. Offered: Spring.

ISOM 430 - Prescriptive Analytics and Data Mining (3)

This course gives a broad introduction to machine, learning concepts, techniques, and algorithms as, well as some topics and applications of, Optimizations, Simulations, and Data Mining,. Students will learn and obtain hands-on experience, on applying supervised and unsupervised learning, methods. Supervised learning topics include, K-Nearest Neighbors, Linear and Quadratic, Discriminant Analysis, Decision Trees, Support, Vector Machines, Neural Networks, text mining and, unsupervised learning topics include k-means, clustering and Principal Component Analysis. Students will learn to match the data with the, most appropriate and promising data mining, algorithms; implement the training, testing, and, validation phases of the modeling process; and, determine the optimal decision based on the, insights and predictions from the data. This, course is the BDBA program's Capstone.

Prerequisite: ISOM-330; this course is the Capstone course of the Big Data and, Business Analytics major. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 440 - ERP System & Process Reengineering (3)

"In today's multi-national, competitive world,, organizations are seeking creative solutions to, streamline and improve business operations. This, is achieved by optimizing business processes and, utilizing integrated software packages. Business, Process Management (BPM) and Enterprise Resource, Planning (ERP) systems aide organization in, meeting their strategic objectives. BPM focuses on, analyzing, measuring, optimizing, and automating, business processes. With a successful BPM, ERP, systems enable a wide variety of organizations to, manage integrated business process functionality, efficiently and effectively. . , This course provides students with an, understanding on how to analyze and manage, business processes by using BPM lifecycle and ERP, system. They will also learn how enterprise, systems are implemented and how to strategize for, maximize benefits. The students will gain hands-on, experience with a process modeling application to, learn how to model, analyze, and simulate typical, business processes. Lab exercises with SAP ERP, system can reinforce student's understanding of, important enterprise systems and integrated, business process concepts, and make real-life, decisions to optimize business process management. "

Prerequisite: ISOM-210 and at least 54 credits. Offered: Spring.

ISOM 510 - Independent Study in IS & OM (1-3)

Independent study allows students to expand their, classroom experience by completing research in an, area of interest not already covered by Suffolk, courses. The student designs a unique project and, finds a full-time faculty member with expertise in, that topic who agrees to sponsoring it and provide feedback as the proposal is refined. A well-designed and executed research project broadens and/or deepens learning in a major or minor area of study and may also enhance a student’s marketability to potential future employers. Students cannot register for an Independent Study, until a full proposal is approved by the faculty, sponsor, department chair, and academic dean. Many Independent study proposals require revisions before approval is granted; even with revisions, independent study approval is NOT guaranteed. Students are strongly encouraged to submit a proposal in enough time to register for a different course if the proposal is not accepted. For complete instructions, see the SBS, Independent/Directed Study Agreement and Proposal, form available online.

Prerequisite: ISOM-210 or ISOM-201 and Instructor Permission.

ISOM 520 - Internship in Information Systems Or, Business Analytics (0-3)

An internship may be used to satisfy the IS major, practical experience requirement of a minimum of, 150 hours of information systems/information technology experience. Most internships will, exceed 150 hours and may be paid or unpaid. Prior approval of your position by the IS, Practical Experience Coordinator is required. This is accomplished by completing the IS, Practicum Approval Form with an internship description. The internship description includes the job description, the number of hours of work, the number of credits, grading criteria and any, other requirements. Students should enroll in, ISOM 520 prior to starting their internship. This is a graded course and cannot be used as a major elective. Students may decide to register, for this free elective course as pass fail (see, http://www.suffolk.edu/business/departments/11704., php). Prerequisites: Practical Experience Coordinator’s, Approval Required and Junior Standing, minimum, ISOM GPA of 3.0, and minimum overall GPA of 2.5.

Prerequisite: ISOM-210, 1 required ISOM major course, a GPA of 3.0 or higher., and Instructor Permission.

ISOM 560 - Information Systems Practicum (0)

All Information Systems majors are required to, complete 150 hours of information, systems/information technology experience. The, 150 hours of work experience may be obtained in, one or more positions as an intern, part- or, full-time employee or volunteer. Prior approval, of your position by the IS Practical Experience, Coordinator is required. This is accomplished by, completing the IS Practicum Approval Form. Students should enroll in ISOM 560 no earlier, than the semester when they expect to complete, the 150 hours. Student should log their work, tasks and accomplishments. Prerequisites: Practical Experience Coordinator's Approval, Required

Prerequisite: ISOM-210, 1 required ISOM major course, at, least 54 credits, and Instructor Permission. Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 631 - Data Analytics with SAS Base (3)

This course introduces students to the concepts, and applications of data analytics on large data, sets for managerial decision-making. Students, will learn foundation skills needed to extract, valuable information out of data, including, various descriptive, predictive and prescriptive, analytics techniques using SAS Base as the, Analytic tool. Student develop knowledge of data, visualization and interpretation coupled with, conveying data, results and insights. Issues on, data acquisition, storage and management internal, and external of a SAS Base framework will be, discussed. This course will provide the, much-needed coding skills highly sought after by, many companies seeking to employ students from our, university.

ISOM 730 - Python for Business Analytics (3)

This course is introductory to use Python for, business analytics, intended for students with, little or no programming experience. Students, will learn how to program with Python and how to, use it in conjunction with scientific computing, modules and libraries to compute, analyze, and, visualize data to make analytics-driven decisions, in finance, operations, marketing, accounting,, and management. By the end of this course, students will have confidence and understanding, of how to program in Python, know how to create, and manipulate arrays using numpy library, know, how to use pandas library to create and analyze, data sets, know how to use matplotlib and seaborn, libraries to create beautiful data visualization,, and have an understanding of scikit-learn for, data analytics.

ISOM 801 - Solving Business Problems Using Advanced, Excel (3)

Analyzes various real world business problems and, explores the full scope of MS Excel's formulas,, functions and features to create data models and, present solutions. Students analyze data, design, custom charts, graphs, PivotTables and Pivot, charts, create three-dimensional workbooks, build, links between files and endow worksheets with, decision-making capabilities. Students conduct, What-If Analysis, utilizing Scenario Manager, Solver, Data Tables and Goal Seek. This course, provides the skills necessary to pass the, Microsoft Office Specialist Certification in, Excel.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

ISOM 821 - Data Management and Modeling (3)

Introduces the importance of information as an, organizational resource, role of big data in, organizations, and the application of tools to, provide high quality information. Students will, be able to select the most appropriate data, management tool (e.g., SQL vs. non-SQL databases), to business scenarios. Develops the skills, needed to succeed in today's big data environment, through the application of data management, techniques, cases and exercises. Students will, become proficient in designing databases using, entity relationship modeling and normalization,, in building and querying databases of various, sizes with Access and SQL (an industry standard),, preparing high quality data and applying data, visualizing techniques. Students will complete a, series of business-oriented hands-on exercises,, prepare cases, and complete projects on database, design and big data.

Offered: Fall.

ISOM 825 - Enterprise Data Management (3)

This course provides students with an, understanding of the nature of enterprise, integration, the role of enterprise resource, management (ERP) system in data management cycle,, and strategies for maximizing benefits. ERP, systems are used to support a wide range of, business functions for all companies across, industries. With ERP systems, business managers, are able to make decisions with accurate,, consistent, and current data. Case studies,, intensive lab projects on the SAP ERP System with, real life business scenarios, and simulation games, are utilized to reinforce understanding of data, management life cycle and data governance in, organizations.

Offered: Spring.

ISOM 827 - Data Warehouse and Business Intelligence (3)

This course teaches students how to build and, maintain data warehouses, and how to analyze and, use this data as a source for business, intelligence and competitive advantage. Students, study data mining concepts, Big Data environments, and analytics, and the use of analytics tools and, methods for producing business knowledge. Topics, include extraction, transformation and loading,, decision support systems; text, web and data, mining models as well as data, presentation/visualization including dashboards,, scorecards and various charts. Students build a, data warehouse and practice the extraction and, transformation process used to produce high, quality data warehouses. Students will also, experience Big Data storage and processing of Big, Data. Students will use tools such as MS Excel,, Tableau, Hadoop, Hive, Pig, Spark, and SAP, Business Warehouse.

ISOM 829 - Advanced Data Management Leveraging ETL, Tools (3)

To prepare the students for the real data world, workforce, this course will deliver more advance, tools for Data Management. Students, who already, have the SQL skills within a SQL Server database, platform, will become proficient in database, development using Stored Procedures, Data, Functions and Cursor processing. Next on the, curriculum, is a tool to Extract, Transform and, Load (ETL) the data from multiple sources and, store it in a target database. In this course, we, will use the ETL tool, SQL Server Integration, Services (SSIS). Finally, the student will get an, introduction into the design and development of, data cubes using SQL Server Analysis Services. , Students will complete a series of, business-oriented hands-on exercises and projects, on database development, data movement and data, cubes.

Prerequisite: ISOM-821.

ISOM 835 - Predictive Analytics (3)

Predictive analytics make predictions about, unknown future events. It is crucial for, companies to ask the right questions, perform, rigorous analysis, and take actions that will, result in the most desirable outcomes. This, course develops students' capability in applying, the core concepts and techniques of predictive, analytics to identify opportunity, recognize, patterns, predict outcomes, and recommend optimal, actions within the context of organizational, decision-making. Topics include: business, analytics life cycle, data pre- processing,, linear and nonlinear regression, tree-based, methods, model assessment and selection, and, resampling methods.

ISOM 837 - From Data Mining to Business Insights (3)

How do companies turn data into insights and use, data and analytics to create business value? We, will take a holistic approach to business, analytics, starting from identifying and defining, business questions, evaluating data quality,, wrangling data, to selecting models, interpreting, outcomes, and communicating analysis and results, to technical and management audiences. You will, learn a collection of data mining techniques,, including the k-nearest neighbor algorithm,, decision trees, neural networks, clustering, analysis, network analysis, association rule, mining, text mining, etc. We will also reinforce, the data ethics framework for your future ethical dilemmas. Throughout the course, you will be involved in hands-on analysis using large sets of real data from a variety of industries, including retail, financial service, healthcare management, education, etc. You will also complete an analytics consulting project with an industry client and a formal presentation of your analysis, and recommendations.

Prerequisite: ISOM-835.

ISOM 839 - Prescriptive Analytics: Modeling & Optimization

This course introduces you to prescriptive analytics that provides organizations with optimal decisions to achieve key business objectives such as customer satisfaction, profits, and cost, savings. You will learn to model a range of use cases spanning strategic planning, operational and tactical decisions in operations, supply chain, marketing, and finance. You will also learn how to use optimization technology to solve complex decisions with many decision variables, constraints, and tradeoffs in these use cases. We will cover linear optimization, non-linear optimization, integer optimization, network optimization, Markov chains, deep learning, and reinforcement learning. By the end of this course, you will have confidence and understanding of how to model and obtain solutions to complex decisions, in business analytics.

Prerequisite: ISOM-631.

ISOM 840 - Security and Privacy (3)

Introduces the fundamental principles of information and big data security. Security, vulnerabilities, threats and risks will be analyzed. Common types of computer attacks and counter-attacks will be identified. Security technologies such as biometrics, firewalls, intrusion detection systems and cryptography, systems will be applied in conjunction with human, based safeguards. Business continuity and disaster recovery planning will be covered. Students will then learn how to design and build a layered security defense combining several of, the above controls to address the different challenges to data security. The managerial, concerns of security and privacy of information, will be stressed including the legal and privacy issues. Best practices for planning and auditing, security and privacy will then be covered.

Offered: Fall.

ISOM 845 - Business Intelligence, Data, Visualization, and Storytelling (3)

Take this class to build your skills in analyzing data to communicate analytical findings and solve business problems. This course will provide you with a basic and advanced level of knowledge of report writing using one of the most highly demanded data visualization tools, Tableau, in the business marketplace. You will develop skills to analyze many disparate data sources including, flat, Excel files, structure SQL, and OLAP (Cube), databases. You will also learn to create powerful visualizations using dashboards and storytelling, to bring data to life through hands-on tutorials, and projects.

Offered: Spring.

ISOM 851 - Supply Chain Management: Strategy, Operations, and Analytics (3)

Introduces the fundamental principles and concepts for effective management of supply chains via performance drivers such as procurement, facilities, inventory, transportation, and pricing. No company can do better than its supply chain, a complex network of organizations that collaboratively manage transformation processes to deliver products/services to customers. Managing a supply chain is a tremendous challenge for most firms which, paradoxically, can also be a crucial, source of competitive advantage. This "how-to" course also offers hands-on familiarity with, analytical models, data analysis, and, interpretation from which supply chain managers, can gain deep insights.

Offered: Fall.

ISOM 861 - Project Management: Gaining Competitive Advantage (3)

Project Management is essential for modern, organizations success and a key skill for, managers. Projects provide businesses a, time-delimited tool for improving, expanding, and, innovating - the primary means for converting, strategy into action. The course focuses on discussion and analysis of real-life business, situations that convey core project management, skills as well as on the challenge of managing, projects in today's complex, high-pressure work, environments. Throughout the semester, the, student will engage in an integrated project that, bring the components of project management, together. This includes risk and scope management, budget creation and resource management. There is, an exercise that the team will use MS Project, software as well as explore implementation options, like Agile. The skills you gain from this class, will help you no matter what field of business, your career takes you. This course can be, credited toward PMI Project Management, Professional (PMP)(R) certification or Certified, Associate in Project Management. PMP(R) and, (PMBOK(R)Guide) are registered marks of the, Project Management Institute, Inc.

Offered: Spring.

ISOM 910 - Directed Individual Study (3)

This elective course option involves a student, initiated written proposal to a willing and, appropriate full-time faculty member for a, directed study project. The project should be, completed during one semester. The faculty, member and student must concur on a written, proposal, final project and grading criteria. , Approval by the Department Chair and the Dean is, necessary before registration.

Prerequisite: Instructor Permission.

ISOM 920 - ISOM Internship (0-3)

Provides a hands-on, practical learning, opportunity for a student-initiated experience at, a domestic or international organization., Students work closely with the department chair, and faculty advisor regarding career-related, learning outcomes. Over the course of a semester,, students collaborate with their corporate, internship supervisor and complete projects in, either information systems, operations, management, or business analytics. A final, written report and presentation are mandatory if, this course is taken for credit. Offered every, semester.

Prerequisite: Approval of the student's Program Director and ISOM Department, chair required.

ITAL-Italian

ITAL 101 - Elementary Italian I (4)

Practices and develops oral and written language, skills.
Explores the culture and language of, Italy through audio-visual and textual materials.

Offered: Fall.

ITAL 102 - Elementary Italian II (4)

Continues to practice oral and written language, skills.
Explores the culture and language of, Italy through audio-visual and textual materials.

Prerequisite: ITAL-101 or instructor's permission. Offered:
Spring.

JPN-Japanese

JPN 202 - Intermediate Japanese II

Continuation of skills developed from JPN 201. One, language laboratory session per week.

Prerequisite: JPN-201 or Instructor's consent.

LAWU-Law Undergraduate

LAWU 101 - Ethics and Legal Practice Skills (4)

Introduces the student to the responsibilities of, paralegals and to the culture of the legal, profession. Topics include the development of, paralegalism as a profession, the definition of, the practice of law, ethical considerations,, interviewing techniques, legal research, law, office management, and client relationships., Normally offered each semester.

LAWU 201 - Introduction to Law (4)

This course provides an introductory overview of, the American legal system, legal reasoning, and, the legal profession. Students will learn about, the structure of the federal government and the, relation between state and federal systems, with, a focus on the courts and the litigation process., Students will read primary legal materials such, as judicial opinions and statutes and will, complete assignments that provide opportunities, to engage in legal reasoning, analysis, argument,, and research. The course will also provide, theoretical perspectives on the role of law in, society, as well as a brief look at the legal, profession and the work that lawyers do. This, course is not a legal specialty course.

LAWU 211 - Litigation (4)

The Rules of Civil Procedure dictate the steps, taken in state and federal lawsuits. This course, will acquaint students with rules and the, practical requirements of the rules, from filing, a complaint to clarifying a judgment and to the, duties of paralegals in a litigation office., Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU 221 - Law of Contracts (4)

The existence and validity of a contract is, determined by specific rules. Students will learn, about formation through offer and acceptance,, contract enforceability, the necessity of, consideration, and breach of contract and will, draft contract provisions as a paralegal might in, a law office.
Normally offered each semester., Sophomore status required.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU 260 - Criminal Law (4)

This course examines criminal law in the United States from a broad perspective. It will present, the general principles and doctrines that affect, the whole criminal law, such as elements of, criminal offenses, defenses to crime, and, perspectives on crime and criminal law. In, addition, students will learn the elements of, specific crimes, such as homicide, criminal, sexual conduct, terrorism and related crimes., crimes against public morals, and crimes against property. Discussions of the direction of the, criminal law and constitutional limitations on, government will be presented as preparation for, future study. This course is not a legal, specialty course.

Prerequisite: Honors student status or 3.3 GPA required.

LAWU 270 - Technology and the Law (4)

The role of computers and software in the law, office as it affects the paralegal Lectures and, hands-on applications will focus on the changing, technology of computer hardware through fact, scenarios that students will use to track changes, from introduction to resolution in litigation., Focus on software applications involving word, processing, spreadsheets, billing, diary and, scheduling, research, and use of the Internet.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU 280 - Domestic Violence, Abuse and Neglect (4)

An opportunity to learn the history of domestic, violence including battering, child abuse and, child neglect, and the legal response to it., Focus will be on Massachusetts Law and its, response, especially the Abuse Prevention Act., its application and enforcement, and on laws, protecting children from abuse and neglect., Filings, law office issues and special issues in, dealing with battered women and abused and, neglected children will be included with the, psychological issues, cultural issues, and, advocacy possibilities. Normally offered yearly., Sophomore status required.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU H201 - Honors Introduction to Law (4)

This course provides an introductory overview of, the American legal system, legal reasoning, and, the legal profession. Students will learn about, the structure of the federal government and the, relation between state and federal systems, with a, focus on the courts and the litigation process., Students will read primary legal materials such as, judicial opinions and statutes and will complete, assignments that provide opportunities to engage, in legal reasoning, analysis, argument, and, research. The course will also provide theoretical, perspectives on the role of law in society, as, well as a brief look at the legal profession and, the work that lawyers do. This course is not a, legal specialty course.

Prerequisite: Honors student status or 3.3 GPA required.

LAWU H211 - Honors Litigation (4)

The Rules of Civil Procedure dictate the steps, taken in state and federal lawsuits. This course, will acquaint students with rules and the, practical requirements of the rules, from filing, a complaint to clarifying a judgment and to the, duties of paralegals in a litigation office., Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: Sophomore status required. CAS Honors students only.

LAWU H221 - Honors Law of Contracts (4)

The existence and validity of a contract is, determined by specific rules. Students will learn, about formation through offer and acceptance,, contract enforceability, the necessity of, consideration, and breach of contract and will, draft contract provisions as a paralegal might in, a law office. Normally offered each semester., Sophomore status required.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent. Honors, students only.

LAWU 301 - Legal Research and Writing I (4)

Examines how to locate and identify relevant, primary and secondary legal authority using, efficient research strategies. Enables students, to critically evaluate legal sources and use them, effectively. Students also learn how to draft, basic legal citations. Introduces foundational, principles of objective legal analysis. . , Pre-requisites: Certificate of Junior Status

Prerequisite: Junior Status or above, or paralegal certificate.

LAWU 310 - Gender, Sexuality, and the Law (4)

This course will provide undergraduate students, with an introduction to the many ways that gender, and sexuality are affected by, and affect, the, law in the United States.
Subjects explored will include the history and context of sex-based and orientation-based discrimination in American law, the primacy of gender as it affects and is affected by law, and special cases of transgender, and intersex ideation within American legal constructs. Particular emphasis will be placed on the law of sexuality and gender in the workplace, in education, in criminal law, and within social, relationships such as families. This course is not a legal specialty course.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101, LAWU-280, or LAWU-340.

LAWU 325 - Wills and Probate (4)

State laws affect the disposition of an individual's estate at death, and upon death, the estate must be probated in court. Focus on estate information gathering, drafting of wills, and the, probate of estates for those with and without wills. Emphasis on the role of the paralegal in a law office handling wills and probate.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 330 - Real Estate Law (4)

This course will provide the basic elements of real estate law, including the rights associated with real estate ownership, deeds, easements, transfers of title, and financial transactions. Students will become familiar with researching, documents at the Registry of Deeds and evaluating, their content. Classroom instruction will be, through detailed lectures while evaluating core, property law concepts and legal documentation. 4, credits. Normally offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 335 - Torts: Personal Injury Law (4)

Many civil suits arise when the negligence of an individual creates injury to another. Elements of negligence law and specific types of cases such as automobile accidents and medical malpractice will be studied, with an emphasis on practical aspects of drafting and research for the prospective paralegal.

Prerequisite: LAWU-101.

LAWU 340 - Family Law (4)

Family law includes marriage, divorce, support, custody, property division, and abuse prevention, petitions. Essentially an area of state law, it is often the backbone of general practice law, firms. The role of paralegals in a family law, office will be studied.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 345 - Education Law (4)

This course provides a basic overview of key, issues in contemporary education law and policy. Relevant local, state, and federal laws will be reviewed as well as education policy issues, including civil rights, student safety and discipline. This course covers the core, educational entitlements granted to all students, with disabilities in the public education system, and criminal cases. The course covers major federal legislation such, as the IDEA, ADA and Section 504, as well as, major, Supreme Court and other important cases.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 350 - Intellectual Property (4)

A survey of the law of the protection of ideas, trade secrets, inventions, artistic creations, and reputation. The course will briefly review, the bases for patent, trademark, copyright and, trade secret protection, the distinction among, the various forms of intellectual property, and, the statutory and common law methods of enforcing, rights.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 355 - Corporate Law (4)

Corporations, arguably the dominant institution, of our times, are unique business entities, designed to protect investors from personal, liability for the business's failures or, wrongdoing. Corporations also take on aspects of, personhood. This course examines the laws related, to the creation, maintenance, activities, and, proper regulation of corporations. Additionally, this course will look at other business entities, such as partnerships and sole proprietorships in, relation to corporations.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU 360 - Administrative Law and Worker's Compensation (4)

Federal and state administrative agencies such as, FTC, NLRB, and EEOC are extensive sources of law. Familiarity with these agencies is useful in many, areas where a paralegal might work. Additionally, Worker's Compensation law is uniquely suited to, assist the student in acquiring a practical, understanding of the administrative law area, and, its legal, administrative, economic, and social, foundations will be studied.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.
LAWU 365 - Employment and Labor Law (4)

The nature of the employment relationship and and, overview of constitutional and federal statutory, provisions which affect the employment, relationship will be studied. Particular emphasis, on the Civil Rights Act, the Age Discrimination, in Employment Act, and the Americans with, Disabilities Act. Statutory provisions regarding, benefits and employment-related entitlements will, also be studied.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 370 - Immigration Law (4)

Study of the immigration and nationality laws of, the United States focusing on the interplay of, the administrative agencies which administer, those laws: Justice Department, Labor Department,, and State Department. Topics include the, immigrant selection system; the issuance of, non-immigrant visas; grounds for excluding aliens, and waiver of excludability; grounds for removal:, change of status, and refugee and asylum status., Special emphasis on the paralegal's role in, representing and communicating sensitively with, aliens.

Prerequisite: Certificate or Sophomore status, or Instructor's consent.

LAWU 375 - International Law (4)

With the globalization of the world economy,, legal professional and business people require, knowledge of international law more than ever., This course offers students a survey of selected, materials in public international law. Covered, will be the practical and theoretical issues of, international law, from the Law of the Sea to, business implications to definitions of war and, international concepts of justice.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-101.

LAWU 401 - Legal Research and Writing II (4)

Advances students' skills in researching and, analyzing a legal problem. Students conduct legal, research, apply law to a client's problem, and, present their work in in a formal, objective legal, memorandum. Students learn advanced citation, skills. , , Pre-requisite: LAWU 301

Prerequisite: ALS-361 OR LAWU-301.

LAWU 410 - Advanced Litigation and Trial Practice (4)

Building on the skills introduced in LAW 211,., Litigation, this course will provide a thorough, study of the rules of evidence, the process of, discovery, and the preparation of a case for a, trial, as well as the roles of arbitration,, mediation, and negotiation in litigation and, other legal disputes. Theory will be combined, with practical applications for prospective, paralegals, such as deposition abstracting,, gathering and preserving evidence, and techniques, on how to prepare a case for ADR.

Prerequisite: LAWU-211 or permission of instructor.

LAWU 471 - Topics in Law (4)

In this course, students will have an opportunity, to examine the foundations of legal theory and, practice in a common law system in several, practice areas. Specifically, the course will, focus on the development of the American legal, system as a common law system, the importance of, case law, the distinctions between common law and, civil law systems, the role of precedent,, and the development of the law in specific areas, of practice as informed by modern and traditional, legal scholarship.

LAWU 510 - Independent Study (1-4)

Individual program of reading and research on an, approved topic under the supervision of a member, of the department. Only for qualified juniors or, seniors. Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required.

LAWU 521 - Paralegal Internship (4)

A one-semester internship in either a law office,, a governmental agency, insurance company, or a, for-profit or non-profit corporation, depending, on the positions available during each semester., Once a week seminars will discuss such topics as, ethical considerations in a law office,, experiences gained as a paralegal interns, and, seeking paralegal employment. Prerequisites:, Senior status and at least 15 hours of Paralegal, Studies or permission of instructor.

Prerequisite: Paralegal Certificate or Senior standing and at least 15 hours, of paralegal courses.

LAWU 530 - Working With Domestic Violence Survivors (4)

This course is intended not only, to instruct students about the law of domestic, violence but also as a practical, hands-on, experience in assisting clients in obtaining and, enforcing 209A restraining orders and/or, addressing these issues within Family Law, proceedings in cooperation with the FAC,, specifically Christine Butler and Maritza, Karmely. Guest speakers will provide further, insight from the perspectives of criminal proceedings involving domestic violence, batterers' intervention programs and shelters for, survivors and their children. In addition, students will be required to analyze the causes, and patterns of domestic violence and, multi-disciplinary responses to these as set forth in the opinions of various writers.

Prerequisite: Take LAWU-280 or LAWU-340; Junior standing or higher.

LAWU 531 - Human Rights & Tribal Government (4)

This course will provide undergraduate students, with an opportunity to learn about the foundational principles of federal Indian law, the history of federal (and state) policies, towards Indians and tribes, their impact on, tribal-federal and state engagement today, as well as international human rights law and, advocacy. The course will also provide, opportunities to apply this knowledge practically, in working with law students from the Suffolk University Law School's Indigenous Peoples Rights Clinic, who work with tribal governments in the region.

This course is intended not only to, instruct students about federal Indian law and, international human rights law, but also to, provide a practical, hands-on experience working, with tribal governments and indigenous, organizations. Undergraduate students will assist, Law Students by providing background research and, support, document preparation, and other, assistance as the Law Students draft laws and, policies for tribes, or research and drafts, submissions to human rights bodies. Students will, attend meetings with tribal government officials, and may also have an opportunity to work directly, with a tribal government department or official, (this would be dependent on needs of Tribe).

Prerequisite: LAWU-101 and LAWU-201; Junior Status or Higher; Instructor, Permission Required.

LAWU 534 - Experiential Learning in Law (1-12)

Internships and practicum in Law are available, prior to the start of each semester. Offered Fall, and Spring.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

LAWU H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Individual program of reading and research on an, approved topic under the supervision of a member, of the department. Only for qualified juniors or, seniors. Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Junior status or above and GPA of 3.5 required. Instructor's, consent required.

MATH-Mathematics

MATH 000 - Mathshop - Bridge to College Math (0)

A NON-CREDIT, full semester workshop designed for, students who need substantial review before, starting MATH 104, MATH 121, or MATH 128. Similar, to a course, MATHSHOP meets three hours per week, throughout the semester. Topics covered are, tailored to the needs of students and include, basic math material, basic algebra, use of, calculators, ways of dealing with math fears, and, study methods. Several sections normally offered, each semester.

MATH 104 - Precalculus for Management & Social, Sciences (4)

A selection of topics in algebra and elementary, analytic geometry including, (but not restricted, to): properties of real numbers, linear equations, and inequalities, absolute value equations and, inequalities, polynomials, rational expressions,, exponents and radicals, quadratic equations,, functions, linear, quadratic and polynomial, models, rational, exponential and logarithmic, functions.

Applications and graphs are stressed, throughout the course. Students may not use this, course alone to satisfy the C.A.S. math, requirement. Qualifying math placement exam score, required. Students who are not prepared for this, course should take MATHSHOP. Several sections, offered each semester. *This course cannot be, applied toward a departmental concentration in, Mathematics by Sawyer Business School students,. This course cannot be taken for credit by a, student who already has credit for a more advanced, course.

Prerequisite: MATH level 2 or MATH-000.

MATH 121 - Precalculus With Elements of Calculus (4)

A review of topics in algebra, trigonometry and, analytic geometry including (but not restricted, to): graphs and transformations of functions;, properties of polynomial, rational, radical,, exponential, and logarithmic functions; solving, quadratic, exponential, and logarithmic, equations; conic sections; the unit circle and, right angle trigonometry; graphs of trigonometric, functions; inverse trigonometric functions;. analytic trigonometry; trigonometric identities, and trigonometric equations.

Intended for, students needing one additional semester of, preparation before taking MATH 165. Students may, not use this course alone to satisfy the CAS math, requirement. , , Prerequisites: MATH 104 with B or higher or, qualifying placement exam score indicating solid, grounding in intermediate algebra., , 4 lecture hours plus 1 recitation session per, week. Normally offered every semester. *This course cannot be applied toward a, departmental concentration in Mathematics by, Sawyer Business School students. This course does, not satisfy the core math requirement for CAS or, SBS. This course cannot be taken for credit by a, student who already has credit for a more, advanced course.

Prerequisite: MATH-104 with a minimum grade of B or MATH level 4.

MATH 123 - Trigonometry for Calculus (1)

This course is intended to supplement the, precalculus knowledge required to successfully, complete MATH-165. It includes a thorough review, of trigonometry and should be taken by students, who are concurrently enrolled in MATH-165 but who, otherwise do not meet the prerequisites for, MATH-165.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-121 (with grade of D or above) or MATH-134. Must take, MATH-165 concurrently.

MATH 128 - Math for the Modern World (4)

From the ISBN on a book, to buying a car, from, the size of small chips in a cell phone, to the, size of the national debt, or just reading a, graph in the daily newspaper, mathematics plays, an important and vital role in countless areas of, life and your future career and courses included., Mathematics is both an art and a tool created by, humans. The common bond is a way of thinking and, a way of reasoning to describe and solve problems, of many types. , , This course uses the context of modern real life, problems to introduce math needed for literacy, and problem solving in contemporary life and, work. It uses a minimal amount of algebra and, focuses on math models, concepts and basic math, manipulations. It encourages students to move, from anxiety about math, to using formulas well,, to thinking critically in the math context to use, math to solve problems and pose new problems. , , Topics include scientific notation, basic, financial math, linear, exponential and, polynomial models and an introduction to, probability., , (Formerly Math 132)

Prerequisite: MATH level 2, or MATH-000, or, MATH-104.

MATH 130 - Topics in Finite Mathematics (4)

Linear Modeling (for example, using linear, functions to model supply/demand situations),, graphing, linear programming, financial functions, (compound interest, annuities, and amortization of, loans) sets, Venn diagrams, counting and, combinatorics, discrete probability, conditional, probability, Bernoulli experiments, Bayes theorem., Several sections offered each semester., *This course cannot be applied toward a, departmental concentration in Mathematics by, Sawyer Business School students.

Prerequisite: MATH-104, or MATH-121, or MATH level 3.

MATH 134 - Calculus for Management & Social, Sciences (4)

A one-semester introduction to differential and, integral calculus. Theory is presented informally, and topics and techniques are limited to, polynomials, rational functions, logarithmic and, exponential functions. Topics include a review of, precalculus, limits and continuity, derivatives,, differentiation rules, applications of, derivatives to graphing, minima/maxima,, applications of the derivative, marginal, analysis, differential equations of growth and, decay, anti-derivatives, the definite integral, the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus, and area, measurements. This course cannot be used to, satisfy core or complementary requirements by, students majoring in chemistry, computer science,, engineering, mathematics, or physics. Several, sections offered each semester.

Prerequisite: MATH-104, MATH-121 or MATH level 4.

MATH 165 - Calculus I (4)

Functions, limits and continuity, squeeze, theorem, limits at infinity; instantaneous rate, of change, tangent slopes, and the definition of, the derivative of a function; power, product, and, quotient rules, trig derivatives, chain rule,, implicit differentiation; higher order, derivatives; derivatives of other transcendental, functions (inverse trig functions, exponential, and log functions, hyperbolic trig functions);, applications of the derivative (implicit, differentiation, related rates, optimization,, differentials, curve sketching, L'Hopital's, rule); anti-derivatives; indefinite integrals;, Fundamental Theorem; applications (net change). 4, lecture hours plus 1 recitation session each, week. Normally offered each semester.

Prerequisite: MATH-121 with a minimum grade of C, MATH-075, or MATH level 5.

MATH 166 - Calculus II (4)

Riemann sums and definite integrals; Fundamental, Theorem; applications (areas); integration of, exponential functions, trig functions, and, inverse trig functions; techniques of integration, (substitution, by parts, trig integrals, trig, substitution, partial fractions); area, volume., and average value applications; differential, equations (separable, exponential growth,, linear); improper integrals; infinite sequences, and series; convergence tests; power series;, Taylor and Maclaurin series (computation,, convergence, error estimates, differentiation and, integration of Taylor series). 4 lecture hours, plus 1 recitation session each week. Normally, offered each semester.

Prerequisite: MATH-164 or MATH-165 with a minimum grade of C.

MATH 185 - Discrete Mathematics I (4)

Topics covered include: Logic, basic techniques of, proof, set theory, relations and functions., cardinality, elementary number theory,, mathematical induction, counting, and discrete, probability.,, Math/CS majors/minors should take this course in, their freshman year.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-121, MATH-165, or MATH-166.

MATH 255 - Probability and Statistics (4)

Topics include: random variable and distribution;, expectation and variance; special, discrete/continuous distributions (uniform,, binomial, negative binomial, geometric,, hypergeometric, Poisson, normal, and exponential, distributions); joint distribution, marginal, distribution and conditional distribution;, covariance; limit theorems (law of large numbers, and central limit theorem); and (when time, permits) introduction to confidence interval and, hypothesis testing; regression analysis., Offered in each fall.

Prerequisite: MATH-165 with a minimum grade of C.

MATH 265 - Calculus III (4)

Parametric equations and polar coordinates, (curves, areas, conic sections); vectors and the, geometry of space (the dot product, vector, arithmetic, lines and planes in 3-space, the cross, product, cylinders and quadratic surfaces); vector, functions (limits, derivatives and integrals,, motion in space); partial derivatives (functions, of several variables, limits and continuity,, tangent planes and differentials, chain rule,, directional derivatives, gradient, extrema,, Lagrange multipliers); multiple integrals (double, integrals, applications); vector calculus (vector, fields, line integrals, fundamental theorem for, line integrals, Green's Theorem, curl and, divergence, parametric, surfaces, surface integrals), 4 lecture hours plus 1 recitation session each, week., Normally offered each semester.,

Prerequisite: MATH-166 with grade of C or better.

MATH 275 - Introductory Applied Linear Algebra (4)

Geometry and algebra of vectors in Euclidean, spaces, systems of linear equations, Gaussian, elimination, Vector spaces, spanning sets, linear, independence, subspaces, basis and dimension;, matrices, algebra of matrices, the LU, factorization, linear transformations, invertible, matrices, determinants, eigenvectors and, eigenvalues, orthogonality, the Gram-Schmidt, process. Though basic theory of Linear Algebra, will be covered, an emphasis will be given to, techniques and applications of Linear Algebra to a, set of areas such as Allocation of Resources,, Linear Programming Problems, Markov Chains, Linear, Economic Models, Population Growth, Least Squares,, Data Fitting and Machine Learning.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-166.

MATH 285 - Discrete Mathematics II (4)

Topics covered include: Algorithms, growth of, functions (big O notation), computational, complexity of algorithms, divide-and-conquer, algorithms, graphs and their properties, (isomorphisms of graphs, Euler and Hamilton, paths, shortest path problem, graph coloring), trees (tree traversal, minimum spanning trees)., As time allows: matrices and linear, transformations.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-185 with a grade of C or better.

MATH 290 - Financial Mathematics I (4)

This course is mainly designed for students who, are interested in financial mathematics and/or, actuarial sciences, especially if they plan to, take the second actuarial exam, and/or if they, plan to study more in financial mathematics. The, materials covered include time value of money,, annuities, loans, bonds, cash flows and interest, rate sensitivity. If time permits, materials from, derivatives markets will be introduced such as, general derivatives, options, hedging, and investment strategies, forwards and futures,, and swaps. Offered in each spring.

Prerequisite: MATH-165 or MATH-166 with a minimum grade of C.

MATH 312 - Topics in Mathematics (4)

This course covers a special topic in mathematics, or applied mathematics at the upper intermediate, level.

Prerequisite: MATH-165 with a grade of C or above.

MATH 331 - Introduction to Advanced Mathematics (4)

This course covers a special topic in mathematics, or applied mathematics at the upper intermediate, level.

Prerequisite: MATH-165 with a grade of C or above.
analytical structure of the integers, the, rational numbers and the real numbers and how they, act as a building block to a variety of fields of, mathematics. Students are introduced to the, process of mathematical discovery and the language, of mathematics. Exercises and projects are, designed to illustrate the need for proof and to, further refine the student's ability to analyze, conjecture and write mathematical proofs. This, course is a prerequisite for most upper level, mathematics courses and, after completing it a, student will be in a position to determine, realistically if he or she ought to major or minor, in mathematics.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-185 with a grade of C or better.

MATH 357 - Math Statistical Analysis (4)

Calculus based introduction to statistical, analysis. Topics include sampling distribution, point estimation, interval estimation, hypothesis, testing, regression and correlation analysis.

Prerequisite: MATH-255 with a minimum C grade.

MATH 373 - Ordinary Differential Equations (4)

A first course in differential equations. Topics, generally include separable, homogeneous, exact, and linear first order differential equations; variations of parameters, differential operators, the Laplace transform, inverse transforms, systems of differential equations, power series, solutions, Fourier series, and applications.

Prerequisite: MATH-265 (may be taken concurrently).

MATH 431 - Linear Algebra (4)

System of linear equations, Gaussian elimination, matrices and their algebra, inverse of a matrix, determinants, cofactor expansion, Cramer's rule, vectors in and their algebra, abstract vector, spaces, subspaces, linear independence, basis and, dimension, linear transformations, isomorphism of, vector spaces, rank and nullity, matrix of a, linear transformation, inner product spaces, angle, and orthogonality, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, of, a linear transformation, characteristic equation, Cayley-Hamilton theorem, diagonalization.

Prerequisite: Math-331 with a grade C or higher.

MATH 432 - Abstract Algebra (4)

An introduction to elementary group theory, including properties of groups, subgroups, first isomorphism theorem for groups, normal, subgroups, finite group classification, elementary properties of rings, such as, homomorphisms of rings, ideals, fields, Euclidean, algorithm, rings of polynomials, factorization, theory, integral domains, associates, primes and, units in domains, and other topics in number, theory. Prerequisite: MATH 431 with a grade of C, or higher.

Prerequisite: MATH-431.

MATH 462 - Real Analysis (4)

A detailed treatment of the basic concepts, of analysis including the real numbers, completeness and its equivalence to other, properties of the reals such as monotone, convergence, Archimedean property, Bolzano-Weierstrass theorem; the topology, of Euclidean spaces, compactness and the, Heine-Borel theorem, connectedness, continuity, and uniform continuity and uniform continuity, pointwise and uniform convergence of functions, and an introduction to metric spaces.

Prerequisite: MATH-331 and MATH-265 with a minimum grade of C.

MATH 481 - Complex Analysis I (4)

Construction and properties of complex numbers, calculus in the complex plane, analytic functions, contour integrals and the basics of Cauchy theory, power series representations. Prerequisite: MATH 331 or instructor's consent.

Prerequisite: MATH-331.

MATH 503 - Internship in Mathematics (2-4)

Student works in a qualified mathematical, corporation, industrial or educational setting, gain practical experience in math related areas, such as actuarial sciences, finance, math, education. Student will apply lessons learned in, the classroom within a supervised, professional, development while developing a greater, understanding of the job expectations and, organizational culture. Internship may be taken, for 2-4 academic credit hours, at 4 hours of, company work per week per each credit. Additional, academic reports with be required. Students may, take more than one internship, but the total, number of credits applied toward graduation, cannot exceed 12.

Prerequisite: MATH 165 MATH 166 MATH 265 and at least one MATH courses 200 or, above. Student must submit credit approval form and gain faculty, approval.

MATH 510 - Independent Study (4)

Members of the department will hold conference, hours with students and will direct their, readings and study of topics in mathematics, which may be of interest to them. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor, 1 term - credits to be arranged.
MATH 511 - Launching a Career in Mathematics (1)

This team-taught course is designed to explore, career opportunities in Mathematics in depth. This course focuses on career search, the, application process, entry, transition and, networking for career success. Alternative, options such as graduate school will also be, explored. Students articulate and reflect on, academic work, and co-curricular experiences from, the perspective of professionals entering or, advancing their careers. The goal of this course, is to help students reach their fullest, professional potential following graduation.

Prerequisite: Junior or Senior standing.

MATH 512 - Special Topic in Advanced Math (1-4)

Students study a particular topic in advanced, mathematics.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

MATH H510 - Honors Independent Study (4)

Members of the department will hold conference, hours with students and will direct their, readings and study of topics in mathematics, which may be of interest to them., Prerequisite: Consent of instructor., 1 term - credits to be arranged.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

MATH H555 - Honors Senior Project in Mathematics (4)

Students study an advanced mathematics topic in, depth. Work typically results in a project of, significant depth and breadth.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

MBA-MBA Core

MBA 605 - Think Like a Leader (1.5)

Do you have the confidence and business acumen to, identify credible solutions and make persuasive, arguments to gain the support of business, stakeholders? What is your ability to see through, the chaos of business problems and utilize a, vision to identify real solutions to real, organizations? How do we address the role of, humans in a rapidly advancing technological, world? , , Students pull together resources, information and, ideas from a multitude of sources to create, outcomes that have impact. Creativity and, innovation skills are essential in this process, to face the new reality of a rapidly changing, world. By leveraging the creative mindset and, building business knowledge, you will develop the, tools necessary to utilize the creative mindset, into actionable business solutions. You will, identify, research and analyze problems more, clearly, apply techniques to brainstorm, uninhibited alternatives, and persuade audiences, on innovative, business solutions. In the, process, you will broaden your business, terminology, increase your confidence and, persuasiveness, and understand the value of, business in leading innovation in an era of, significant global change., , Cannot be used towards the entrepreneurship, concentration.

MBA 615 - Economics (1.5)

This course introduces the basic tools and, concepts of microeconomics (2 classes) for supply, and demand analysis; for consumer market, behavior; and for production, cost, and pricing, decisions in different market structures. Greater, emphasis (4 to 5 classes) in the course is on the, macroeconomic topics of national economic, performance, the economic role of government and, fiscal and monetary policy, and the banking and, financial system in the current economic, environment. The course is intended for MBA, students who have no recent academic background, in economics.

MBA 625 - Managerial Statistics (1.5)

This course emphasizes the importance of basic, concepts in probability and statistics for, managerial decision making with a strong emphasis, on practical application. Students will learn, basic data analysis, random variables and, probability distributions, sampling, distributions,, interval estimation, hypothesis testing and, regression. MS Excel will be used throughout, the course. Numerous examples are chosen from, quality control applications, finance, marketing, and Management to illustrate the managerial value, of applying sound statistical techniques to the, analysis of operational data.

MBA 635 - Operations Management: Design and, Analysis (3)

This course provides students with Operations, Management concepts, techniques, and tools to, design, analyze, and improve operational, capabilities in any organization. Students will, understand and analyze common OM decisions on, managing inputs (materials, information, finances,, and human resources) and processes to deliver, desirable outcomes to customers. Topics covered, include operations strategy, process analysis,, quality management and lean operations, capacity, analysis, inventory management, product, development, supply chain management, project, management, revenue management and pricing,, decision analysis, and forecasting. Software tools, used may include MS Excel, MS Visio, and MS, Project. This course will contain experiential, learning components related to Boston's, world-class industries, which may include guest, lectures, simulation exercises, and/or visits to, local organizations.

Prerequisite: MBA-625 or SBS-604 or ISOM-631 (may be taken concurrently).

MBA 640 - Corporate Financial Reporting and, Control (3)

This course deals with the structure and, information content of the three principal, financial statements of profit-directed, companies, namely the income statement, balance, sheet, and statement of cash flows. It develops, skill in using accounting information to analyze, the performance and financial condition of a, company, and to facilitate decision making,, planning and budgeting, and performance appraisal, in a managerial context. This course also, contains an experiential component by offering, guided inquiry and real company cases.

MBA 650 - Value Based Financial Management (3)

This course introduces the basic principles of, corporate finance. The main focus is on, fundamental principles such as time value of, money, asset valuation, and risk and return, tradeoff. Topics to be covered also include cost, of capital, capital budgeting, and capital, structure.

Prerequisite: 1 course from each of the following groups:, MBA-625, SBS-604, or ISOM-631;, MBA-640 or ACCT-800;, These courses may be taken prior to or concurrently with, MBA-650. Offered: Fall, Spring.

MBA 660 - Marketing: the Challenge of Managing, Value (3)

At its core, marketing is about providing, consumer value. The practice of doing this is, changing constantly-driven by rapid and, far-reaching changes in technology;, globalization; and the evolution of consumer, values, practices, and lifestyles. This course, will present themes, theories, and trends that, are critical for: 1. understanding the business, of creating, capturing and sustaining value; 2., introducing students to the global, consumer, and, technological realities of marketing in the 21st, Century; and 3. providing students with a sound, foundation to explore marketing in further depth, in upper-level elective courses. This course also, contains an experiential component.

MBA 701 - Values Based Decision Making (1)

This course teaches students ethical frameworks, to lead and manage organizations that go beyond, the standard legal compliance and risk management, approaches, and that embrace the more inclusive, principles of sustainability and corporate, responsibility. MDO-Medical Dosimetry

MDO 615 - Treatment Planning I (3)

Discusses the factors that influence treatment, planning and govern the clinical aspects of, patient treatment. Topics include SAD and SSD, dose calculation techniques, ICRU volume, definitions, application of multimodality fusion, in target definition, and 3D conformal treatment, planning for major anatomic sites. Incorporates, use of isodose curves, beam modifiers, volumetric, dose evaluation, and correlation of critical, organ dose limits to side effects. Introduces, principles of specialized techniques including, SRT, SRS, IMRT, VMAT, IGRT, and respiratory, gating.

Prerequisite: MDO-L615 concurrently. Medical Dosimetry students only.

MDO L615 - Treatment Planning I Lab (1)

Provides the student with the opportunity to, apply clinical dosimetry principles and theories, learned in the classroom to treatment planning, situations in a simulated setting. Students, perform manual dose calculations for SAD and SSD, setups and complete all steps to design 3D, conformal treatment plans for various anatomic, sites. Focuses on optimal design of beam geometry, to avoid critical organs while accounting for, patient setup considerations.

Prerequisite: MDO-615 to be taken concurrently.

MDO 710 - Medical Dosimetry Practicum I (3)

Introduces the student to the clinical practice, setting with a focus on workflows, policies, and, procedures. Under supervision of clinical, preceptors, students complete planning, competencies through design and implementation of, simple 3D plans for palliative and pelvic, patients. Surveys roles and responsibilities of, different personnel in the radiation oncology, department.

MDO 711 - Radiobiology for the Medical Dosimetrist (2)

Describes the effects of radiation at the, molecular, cellular, and organized tissue levels, and subsequent response and repair mechanisms., Reviews the effects of dose rate, radiation, quality, fractionation, radioprotectors and, radiosensitizers on the therapeutic ratio., Focuses on practical applications in radiotherapy, including time-dose relationships, alpha-beta, ratios, isoeffect curves, biologically equivalent, dose (BED), equivalent uniform dose (EUD) and 2Gy, dose equivalent.

MDO 712 - Computing & Networking (1)

Provides a general overview of computer systems, and networking in the field of radiation, oncology. Reviews the history of computers and, the intricate uses in the medical field today., Surveys the use of oncology information systems, such as MOSAIQ and ARIA, and radiation therapy, software used for imaging, contouring, treatment, planning, and patient charting applications., Discusses communication and interoperability, standards including HL7 and DICOM and, considerations for data and system.

MDO 713 - Protocols & Operational Issues (2)

Reviews clinical processes and protocols in, relation to standard of care and discusses in, detail the role of the medical dosimetrist in the, radiation therapy process. Surveys operational, concerns including AAMD scope of practice, practice standards, and code of ethics, accreditation standards (e.g. Joint Commission),, billing and coding, continuous quality improvement, (CQI), culture of safety, incident reporting, and, legal considerations. Reinforces strategies for, individual professional development and service.

MDO 714 - Medical Dosimetry Internship (3)

Under supervision of clinical preceptors,, students design and implement increasingly, complex 3D plans for various anatomic sites., Introduces treatment-planning principles for IMRT, and VMAT with a focus on prostate competencies., Surveys considerations for professionalism in the clinical practice setting and the role of chart, rounds for peer review.

MDO 720 - Medical Dosimetry Practicum II (3)

Under supervision of clinical preceptors,, students complete planning competencies for, increasingly complex 3D and IMRT plans for various anatomic sites. Introduces advanced, treatment planning techniques available at the clinical practice setting such as SBRT, SRS, and proton planning.

MDO 721 - Treatment Planning II (3)

A continuation of Treatment Planning I that, focuses on advanced treatment planning techniques, including intensity modulated radiation therapy, (IMRT), arc therapy, stereotactic treatment, planning, and proton therapy. Discusses the, advantages of each technique/modality over, conventional 3D-treatment planning and contrasts, against the challenges presented by each, technique such as need for better immobilization,, 4D CT scanning and daily IGRT.

MDO 722 - Medical Dosimetry Research Methods I (3)

Introduces the basic principles of research, methodology including terminology, the literature, review process, and ethical principles surrounding, human subject's research. Reviews statistical, methods of research with a focus on descriptive, statistics, inferential statistics for comparisons, between groups and methods of data presentation. . Students complete required training for research, compliance, select a research topic, develop a research plan, and start data collection.

MDO 723 - Brachytherapy for the Medical, Dosimetrist (3)

Surveys brachytherapy principles including, radioactive sources, calibration, instrumentation,, factors affecting dose calculations, and, definitions of LDR, MDR and HDR. Reviews treatment, planning and clinical dose calculation for various, anatomical sites, implantation techniques, implant, localization/verification, regulations, radiation, safety, storage and QA.

MDO 730 - Medical Dosimetry Practicum III (3)

Under supervision of clinical preceptors,, students complete all remaining planning, competencies for any technique including 3D,, IMRT, protons, and/or SBRT. Introduces the, student to the complex variables required for, treatment planning in the head and neck region.

MDO 731 - Quality Assurance in Radiation Oncology (3)

Reviews quality assurance requirements for, various radiotherapy equipment including linear, accelerators, CT scanners and treatment planning, systems. Discusses operation of specific, measurement devices and best practices for, frequency and tolerances according to task groups, of the American Association of Physicians in, Medicine (AAPM).

MDO 732 - Medical Dosimetry Research Methods II (3)

A continuation of MDO 722 that surveys best, practices for writing effectively in the style, and format of scientific journals. Students, complete data analysis from the preceding course, and prepare a manuscript for submission to the, writing competition of the American Association, of Medical Dosimetrists (AAMD). Research projects, culminate with an oral research presentation to, peers, faculty and clinical instructors from our, hospital affiliates.

MDO 733 - Medical Dosimetry Seminar (3)

A seminar style course that prepare students for, the MDCB certification board exam through, lectures, online teaching tools, weekly quizzes., mini mock-exams, and a full-length mock exam., Provides professional development through, assistance with resume preparation., mock-interviews and discussion of skills, necessary to make job interviews successful. PHIL 316 - Existentialism (4)

An overview of the existentialist tradition., Primary focus on issues and problems arising from, the existentialist reaction to classical, philosophy. Topics include:
paradoxes and, contradictions of human nature and human, condition; radical freedom, commitment, and, responsibility; existential anxiety,, meaninglessness and the rejection of God;, authenticity and self-deception; individuality and, community. Philosophers to be discussed will, include Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Sartre, Camus,, Dostoevsky, and Heidegger. Prerequisite: One, course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered every other year.

Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 318 - Philosophy of Law (4)

This class will focus on the general role that, law plays in public life. Instead of studying, what the current laws are, the class emphasizes, the challenges in analyzing, interpreting, and, constructing law. Among the most important, questions will be how we should evaluate or, reform existing legal systems. Readings may, include formative cases, recent legal studies,, and classic texts by figures such as Grotius,, Bentham, Holmes, Hart, and Dworkin,. Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent, of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally, offered every other year.

Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or Instructor's consent. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 319 - Topics in Applied Ethics (4)

This course will address in depth one or more, specific issues in applied ethics. Topics will, vary and may range from applied issues in, political thought, such as just war theory or, transitional justice, to specific questions in, professional ethics or social policy, such as, end-of-life care, economic justice, or the role of, technology in the human future. Prerequisite:, PHIL 119, or 123, or 127. 1 term - 4 credits., Normally offered every other year.

Prerequisite: PHIL-119, PHIL-123, PHIL-127 or PHIL-120. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 324 - Honors 20th Century Philosophy (4)

Examines one or more of the following major, philosophical movements of the 20th century:, Pragmatism, Phenomenology, Existentialism,, Logical, Positivism, Analytic (Linguistic) Philosophy,, Postmodernism and Critical Theory (Post-Analytic, Philosophy). Prerequisite: PHIL 211 or consent, of, instructor. 1 term -4 credits. Normally offered, alternate years.

PHIL 327 - African Philosophy and Religion (4)

This course explores indigenous African systems of, thought, modern academic African philosophy,, African social and political theory, and, contemporary debates centered on questions of, identity, modernity, essentialism, and historicity, within the African context. 1 term - 4 credits., Normally offered every third year. C b

Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. Offered: Occasionally.
Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL H316 - Honors Existentialism (4)

An overview of the existentialist tradition. Primary focus on issues and problems arising from the existentialist reaction to classical philosophy. Topics include: paradoxes and contradictions of human nature and human condition; radical freedom, commitment, and responsibility; existential anxiety, meaningfulness and the rejection of God; authenticity and self-deception; individuality and community. Philosophers to be discussed will include Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Sartre, Camus, Dostoevsky, and Heidegger. Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered every other year.

Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. Restricted to CAS Honors students. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL H318 - Honors Philosophy of Law (4)

This class will focus on the general role that law plays in public life. Instead of studying what the current laws are, the class emphasizes the challenges in analyzing, interpreting, and, constructing law. Among the most important, questions will be how we should evaluate or reform existing legal systems. Readings may include formative cases, recent legal studies, and classic texts by figures such as Grotius, Bentham, Holmes, Hart, and Dworkin. Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered every other year.

Prerequisite: One course in Philosophy or Instructor's consent. CAS Honors students only. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 403 - The Idea of Human Rights (4)

This seminar will analyze and explore the universal human rights concept -- the idea that, all human beings, by virtue of their humanity, alone, have human rights that should be recognized, by all nations. It will explore the concept's meaning, its theoretical underpinnings, critiques, and defenses, and the kinds of specific rights, suggested by the concept. The course will also provide an introduction to existing human rights, law. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits.

Prerequisite: Instructor's Consent. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 414 - Topics in Philosophy (4)

A detailed exposition and evaluation of a specific topic or of the views of one major, philosophical thinker or group of thinkers. Readings from both primary and secondary sources.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHIL 416 - Plato: Profiles in Philosophy (4)

A detailed study of Platonic texts and issues. Works studied will vary but will often include, dialogues such as the Apology, Euthyphro, Phaedo, Republic, and Symposium. Themes may include, among others: the nature of philosophy and its relation to society; the dialogue form and the character of, Socrates; the difference between truth and, opinion; the meaning of virtue; justice and the, ideal regime; the theory of forms and the nature, of reality; love, death, and transcendence. Prerequisite: PHIL 210 or consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered every third year.

Prerequisite: PHIL-210 or consent of instructor.

PHIL 423 - Advanced Formal Logic (4)

In this course, students will put to work the, logical theory developed in Formal Logic (Phil, 212). In particular, students will use First-Order Logic to investigate computability and computation, theory. Goedel's First and Second Incompleteness Theorems are a particular focus in the course. Prerequisite: PHIL 212 or consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered alternate, years.

Prerequisite: PHIL-212 or consent of instructor. Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL 424 - Philosophy and Literature: Feodor, Dostoevsky and the Great Philosophical Novel (4)

A study of the nineteenth-century Russian, novelist Feodor Dostoevsky and his contribution, to world philosophy and literature. Dostoevsky's stories, which weave together philosophical, reflections, unique personalities and gripping, plots, earned the author numerous superlative, titles. Dostoevsky has been praised as a literary, genius, a prophetic political thinker, a keen, psychologist, and an expert on human condition. His work inspired generations of intellectuals, among them prominent European thinkers; Nietzsche, Freud, Heidegger, Sartre, Camus, Hesse, and many others. In addition to a detailed study, of Dostoevsky's writings, the course explores the, socio-political, literary, and intellectual, contexts in which he developed as a thinker, introducing students to both his opponents and, admirers.
PHIL 440 - Stay the Hand: Philosophical and, Literary Readings on Law and Violence (4)

An interdisciplinary course examining the idea of, law and its function in human society, with a special focus on issues of violence, war, peace, and justice. The course will examine law as it is represented, enacted, and discussed in various, literary and philosophical writings from the, ancient world to the present, to include various, Biblical texts such as: Sophocles's Antigone,, Aeschylus's Oresteia, Plato's Apology,, Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice, Melville's, Billy Budd, Toni Morrison's Beloved, among many, others.

Offered: Occasionally.

PHIL H414 - Honors Topics in Philosophy (4)

A detailed exposition and evaluation of a, specific topic or of the views of one major, philosophical thinker or group of thinkers., Readings from both primary and secondary sources.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors student only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHIL 510 - Independent Study (1-4)

Students meet with a department member to pursue advanced studies in areas of particular interest to them.

Prerequisite: PHIL-210 and PHIL-211 and consent of instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHIL 513 - Internship in Applied Ethics (4)

Students in this course will serve as interns in, a, department-approved position with a service, provider, professional organization, government, agency, or non-governmental organization whose, work is relevant to issues in applied ethics. A, faculty mentor will meet with students regularly, to develop individually designed programs of, readings and to discuss this material and its, relation to the internship experience. In addition to the substantial time commitment to, the, internship, course requirements will usually, include a journal and a research project. PHIL, 119 or 123 or 127 and consent of instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered every year.

Prerequisite: PHIL-119, PHIL-123, PHIL-127 or PHIL-120 and consent of, instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHIL 514 - Advanced Topics in Philosophy (4)

Students with sufficient background in philosophy, and a special interest in areas of philosophy, which cannot be covered in regularly offered, courses, will be guided by senior members of the, Department. Students working on Honors in, Philosophy must take this course in the first, semester of their senior year to prepare a thesis, proposal. PHIL 210 or PHIL 211 and consent of, instructor. 1 term - 4 credits. Normally offered, every year.

Prerequisite: PHIL-210 or PHIL-211 and consent of instructor. Offered: Fall.

PHIL 515 - Senior Symposium (1)

This is a required course for all students in the, major, to be taken in the Spring Semester of their, senior year. Students will prepare a portfolio of, their previous coursework, collaborate with the, faculty symposium leader on a selection of texts, to read in common with other seniors, and prepare, one paper for delivery at the Senior Symposium,, usually held in late April. Students seeking, Honors in Philosophy must take this course to, complete the senior thesis. PHIL 210 and 211 and, consent of instructor. 1 term - 1 credit., Normally offered Spring Semester every year.

Prerequisite: PHIL-210 and PHIL-211 and consent of instructor. Offered: Spring.

PHIL H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Students meet with a department member to pursue, advanced studies in areas of particular interest, to them.

Prerequisite: PHIL-210 and PHIL-211 and consent of instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHIL H515 - Honors Senior Symposium (1)

This is a required course for all Honors Program, students in the major, to be taken in the Spring, Semester of their senior year. Students will, prepare a portfolio of their previous coursework,, collaborate with the faculty symposium leader on, a selection of texts to read in common with other seniors, and prepare one paper for delivery at, the Senior Symposium, usually held in late April., Students seeking Honors in Philosophy must take, this course to complete the senior thesis., Normally offered Spring Semester every year.

Prerequisite: Take PHIL-210 and PHIL-211; Instructor consent required; CAS, Honors.

PHIL 601 - 20th Century Philosophy (3)

A survey of the history of European and, Anglo-American philosophy of the 20th century., Students will be introduced to the key, intellectual movements, such as logical, positivism, pragmatism, ordinary language, philosophy, analytic philosophy, critical theory,. post-structuralism/post-modernism, and feminism. The course will address both the content of, philosophical ideas and their historical, social, and political contexts.

PHIL 614 - Topics in Philosophy (3)

A detailed exposition and evaluation of a specific, topic or of the views of one major philosophical, thinker or group of thinkers. Readings from, both primary and secondary sources. Normally, offered every year.

PHIL 618 - Philosophy of Law (3)

Readings may include a range of classical authors, such as Plato and Aquinas, as well as the works of, such 20th century legal philosophers as H.L.A., Hart, Dworkin and Rawls. Also included may be, leading jurists such as Oliver Wendell Holmes and, Learned Hand. Issues discussed may include the, nature of law, its relation to justice, and how, the legal system should operate to arrive at just, decisions. Normally offered every third year.,

PHIL 622 - Existentialism (3)

An overview of the existentialist tradition., Primary focus on issues and problems arising from, the existentialist reaction to classical, philosophy. Topics include: individuality and, freedom, humans in society, death, morality,, immortality, and the rejection of God., Philosophers to be discussed will include, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche,, Sartre and Heidegger. Normally offered every other, year.,

PHIL 662 - Environmental Ethics (3)

An examination of the moral issues involved, in the interaction of humans with their natural, environment. Topics include: the environmental, crises, human-centered vs. nature-centered ethics,, intrinsic value in nature, obligations to, future generations, the importance of preserving, endangered species and wilderness, radical, ecology, ecofeminism, and the role of social, justice in environmental issues. Normally offered, every year.

PHIL 663 - Bio and Medical Ethics (3)

An examination of the nature of life and the moral, problems facing researchers, health-care, practitioners and their patients, and others, involved with the practice of medicine in, today's society. Issues include euthanasia, the, ethics of medical experimentation, the use of, reproductive technologies, genetic counseling and, genetic engineering, truth-telling and, confidentiality in doctor-patient relationships,, the cost and availability of medical care, and the, possibilities for engineering life and a, trans-human nature. Normally offered every third, year.

PHIL 713 - Internship in Applied Ethics (3)

Students in this course will serve as interns in, a, department-approved position with a service, provider, professional organization, government, agency, or non-governmental organization whose, work is relevant to issues in applied ethics. A, faculty mentor will meet with students regularly, to develop individually designed programs of, readings and to discuss this material and its, relation to the internship experience. In, addition to the substantial time commitment to, the internship, course requirements will usually, include a journal and a research project., Normally offered every year.

PHIL 714 - Masters' Thesis Supervision (3)

This course is intended for graduate students in, the Ethics and Public Policy Masters' Program who, have elected to write a formal thesis (instead of, taking part in an internship)., Students will prepare a thesis proposal in, consultation with an assigned faculty advisor, before they register for this course. The proposal, will be approved by an ad-hoc faculty committee,. Students will use this course to write the thesis, in regular consultation with the faculty advisor,. and usually during the summer following their, first year of study,. The final draft must be approved at a, formal defense by, the ad hoc committee.,

PHYS-Physics

PHYS 111 - College Physics I (3)

Introduction to the fundamental principles of, physics. Study of kinematics, vectors, Newton's, laws, rotations, rigid body statics and dynamics,, energy and work, momentum,heat and, thermodynamics, kinetic theory.

Prerequisite: Take MATH-121 or MATH-134 or MATH-165 or permission of Physics, department chair; PHYS-L111 taken concurrently. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 112 - College Physics II (3)

Continuation of the fundamental principles of, physics. Study of simple harmonic motion, waves,, fluids, electric forces and fields, electric, potential, DC circuits, electromagnetic, induction, magnetic fields, AC circuits,, introduction to optics, introduction to atomic,, nuclear and particle physics.

Prerequisite: PHYS-111 and PHYS-L11. Must be taken concurrently with PHYS-L112. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 151 - University Physics I (3)

PHYS 151 is the first of three courses (PHYS 151,, 152,
PHYS 152 - University Physics II (3)

This calculus-based course continues the topics in physics covered in PHYS 151 and begins with temperature and heat, the thermal properties of matter, and the laws of thermodynamics. It then switches to electromagnetism and covers electric, charge, and field, Gauss' law, electrical potential and capacitance, electric currents and DC circuits. Next, magnetism, electromagnetic induction, Faraday's law, and AC circuits are discussed. This is followed by Maxwell's equations and electromagnetic waves.

Prerequisite: PHYS-151 and PHYS-L151. Must be taken concurrently with PHYS-L152. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHYS 153 - University Physics III (3)

This calculus-based course is the third in the series of introductory physics courses. It begins, with optics and includes the nature and propagation of light, geometric optics, interference, and diffraction. The focus then changes to modern physics and begins with special relativity, the Lorentz transformation, relativistic momentum and energy, addition of relativistic velocities, early, quantum, theory, blackbody radiation, photoelectric effect, the Compton Effect, photon interactions, pair production, and Bohr's theory of the atom. Schrodinger's equation is introduced with use of wave functions, solutions to a particle in a box, barrier penetration, quantum mechanical tunneling, the Pauli Exclusion principle, the development of the periodic table, and the X-ray spectra. The final, topics cover nuclear physics, radioactivity, half-life, nuclear fission and fusion, medical uses of radiation, and elementary particle physics.

Prerequisite: MATH-121, MATH-164, or MATH-165; PHYS-151; PHYS-L153 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

PHYS L111 - College Physics Lab I (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic concepts studied, in PHYS 111. Introduction to the fundamental principles of physics. Study of kinematics, vectors, Newton's laws, rotations, rigid body statics and dynamics, energy and work, momentum, heat and, thermodynamics, kinetic theory. Error propagation, use of Excel, laboratory notebooks, and formal reports required.

Prerequisite: PHYS-111 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

PHYS L112 - College Physics Lab II (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic concepts studied, in PHYS 112. Continuation of the fundamental principles of physics. Study of simple harmonic motion, waves, fluids, electric forces and fields, electric potential, DC circuits, electromagnetic induction, magnetic fields, AC circuits, introduction to optics, introduction to atomic, nuclear and particle physics. Error propagation, use of Excel, laboratory notebooks, and formal reports required.

Prerequisite: PHYS-112 concurrently and PHYS-111 and PHYS-L111. Offered: Spring.

PHYS L151 - University Physics Lab I (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic concepts studied in PHYS 151; measurements, propagation of errors, vectors, Newton's laws, work and energy, momentum, rotations, oscillations, simple, harmonic motion, fluid. Knowledge of algebra, trigonometry, differentiation and integration, required.

Prerequisite: Take PHYS-151 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHYS L152 - University Physics Lab II (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic concepts studied in PHYS 152; heat, gas laws, electric forces, field, and potential, DC and AC circuits, magnetic, field, electromagnetic induction, Faraday's law, optics. Calculus, algebra, trigonometry are required. Error propagation, use of Excel, laboratory notebooks, and formal reports, required.
Prerequisite: PHYS-152 (concurrently) and PHYS-151 and PHYS-L151. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHYS L153 - University Physics III Lab (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments to, and exercises to, illustrate the basic concepts studied in PHYS 153. Includes experiments and computations to, illustrate the basic concepts of special relativity, the Lorentz transformation, relativistic momentum and energy, addition of, relativistic velocities, early, quantum theory, blackbody radiation, photoelectric effect, the Compton Effect, photon, interactions, pair production, and the Bohr, theory of the atom.

Prerequisite: PHYS-153 concurrently.

PHYS LV111 - College Physics Lab I- Online (1)

This laboratory course consists of virtual, experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic, concepts studied in PHYS 111. Introduction to the, fundamental principles of physics which includes, Study of kinematics, vectors, Newton's laws., rotations, rigid body statics and dynamics, energy, and work, momentum, heat and thermodynamics, and, kinetic theory. Error propagation use of Excel and, formal reports required.

Prerequisite: PHYS-111 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

PHYS LV112 - College Physics Lab II Online (1)

This laboratory course consists of virtual, experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic, concepts studied in PHYS 112 and continuation of, the fundamental principles of physics. This, includes study of simple harmonic motion, waves., fluids, electric forces and fields, electric, potential, DC circuits, electromagnetic induction,, magnetic fields, AC circuits, introduction to, optics, introduction to atomic, nuclear and, particle physics. Error propagation use of Excel, and, formal reports required.

Prerequisite: PHYS-112(concurrently) and PHYS-111 and PHYS-L111. Offered: Spring.

PHYS LV151 - University Physics Lab I Online (1)

This laboratory course consists of virtual, experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic, concepts studied in PHYS 151: measurements., propagation of errors, vectors, Newton's laws., work and energy, momentum, rotations., oscillations, simple harmonic motion, and, fluids., Knowledge of algebra, trigonometry,. differentiation and integration required.

Prerequisite: MATH-121, MATH-165, MATH-166 or MATH-134(with a minimum grade of, C). PHYS-151 concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PHYS LV153 - University Physics III Lab Online (1)

This laboratory course consists of virtual, experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic, concepts studied in PHYS 153. This includes, virtual experiments and computations to illustrate, geometric and wave optics, the basic concepts of, special relativity, the Lorentz transformation,, relativistic momentum and energy. addition of, relativistic velocities, early quantum theory,, blackbody radiation, photoelectric effect, the, Compton Effect, photon interactions, pair, production, the Bohr theory of the atom, and, radioactivity.

Prerequisite: PHYS-153 concurrently.

PHYS 205 - Introduction to Astrophysics (4)

An introduction to the concepts and methods of, astrophysics, including observational techniques., blackbody radiation, and the Hertzsprung-Russell, diagram. Some elements of stellar physics are, covered: hydrostatic equilibrium and the Virial, theorem, mass continuity, energy transport,, equations of stellar structure, nuclear energy, production and nuclear reaction rates. The, features of stellar evolution are covered, including white dwarfs, supernovae, neutron stars,, pulsars, and black holes. Extrasolar planets,, habitable zones and the search for life beyond, Earth are discussed. The final topics are the, Milky Way and other galaxies, Hubble's law, and, the expansion of the universe.

Prerequisite: PHYS-151 and PHYS-152. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 213 - Introduction to Earth & Planetary, Interiors (4)

This course provides an overview of the chemical, and physical properties of the material, constituents of the Earth and other terrestrial, planets, including minerals, rocks, lavas, and, supercritical water. Topics include mineral, structure and composition, bonding, optical, properties, x-ray diffraction, phase, transformations, and, surface properties. The, physics and chemistry of energy materials,. synthetic nanomaterials will be included with, emphasis/focus on energy resources, environmental, impact, and geopolitical implications.

Prerequisite: CHEM-111 and CHEM-112 OR PHYS-111 and PHYS-112.

PHYS 215 - Nanomaterials and the Energy Problem (4)

This course is designed as an introduction to, nanotechnology and some of its important uses. It, is aimed at science majors who have taken basic courses in physics or chemistry. The course will cover the properties and uses of carbon-nanotubes, nanocomposites, and other nanomaterials that are being fabricated in labs and industries around the world. It will serve as an introduction to the important role of nanomaterials in solving modern-day energy problems.

Prerequisite: CHEM-111 and CHEM-112 or PHYS-111 and PHYS-112 or Permission of Instructor. Offered: Occasionally.

PHYS 253 - Introduction to Electronics (3)

Materials and device structures for applications in analog and digital electronics. Topics include characteristics and basic circuits for diodes, field-effect transistors, bipolar junction transistors, operational amplifiers and, programmable logic devices.

Prerequisite: Take PHYS-152 and PHYS-L152; Take PHYS-L253 concurrently.

PHYS L253 - Introduction to Electronics Laboratory (1)

This laboratory course consists of experiments and exercises to illustrate the basic concepts studied, in PHYS 253. Materials and device structures for applications in analog and digital electronics, Topics include characteristics and basic circuits for diodes, field-effect transistors, bipolar, junction transistors, operational amplifiers and, programmable logic devices.

Prerequisite: Take PHYS-152 and PHYS-L152; Take PHYS-253 concurrently.

PHYS 333 - Math Methods of Physics (4)

Applications of specific mathematical methods to problems in physics. Topics include complex analysis, integral transforms, eigenvalue, problems, partial differential equations and group, theory. This course is available in a hybrid/on-line format where all lectures are online, and meetings with the instructor are required once, per week. These meetings are for the purpose of helping students with homework problems, points in, the video lectures they did not understand, or, quizzes to test students' currency with the online, material. These meetings are typically scheduled, in a classroom but it is possible for a small, number of students abroad to make special, arrangements with the instructor so that the, weekly meetings are held using online technology, which supports voice and equation writing (such as, the virtual classroom in Blackboard, collaboration).

Prerequisite: MATH-265 and PHYS-153. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 363 - Classical Mechanics (4)

Newton's laws of motion, momentum, angular, momentum, energy, conservation laws, oscillations, Lagrange equations, central forces, orbits, mechanics in non-inertial frames, rotational motion of rigid bodies, coupled, oscillations, Hamiltonian mechanics.

Prerequisite: PHYS-152 and MATH-265 (may be taken concurrently).

PHYS 381 - Observational Astronomy (4)

Topics include theoretical foundations of observational astronomy, designs of telescopes, instrumentation for telescopes, data acquisition management, and analysis as well as celestial coordinates systems, spherical triangle, star charts and catalogue, concept of time including sidereal time, light, instruments such as telescopes, detectors, spectroscopes. Also discussed are atmospheric and interstellar medium effects on star light, astrometry, variable stars, stellar evolution, Hertz sprung-Russell Diagrams. Laboratory work is included with trips to local observatories and remote data taking at other observatories.

Prerequisite: PHYS-152 and PHYS-153.

PHYS 453 - Modern Physics (4)

This course covers a selection of the major topics in modern physics. It begins with special, relativity the Lorentz transformation, the, relativistic Doppler effect, relativistic momentum, and energy, the concept of four vectors and, relativistic invariants. Then quantization of light, Planck's development of black body, radiation, the photoelectric effect and Compton, scattering are discussed. Next the three, dimensional Schrodinger equation is discussed for, the H atom, addition of angular momenta, the, basics of quantum mechanics with operators and, expectation values, the quantum oscillator and, reflection and transmission of waves. The course, concludes with topics in nuclear physics and the, standard model of particle physics.

Prerequisite: PHYS-153; Offered: Fall.

PHYS 461 - Quantum Mechanics I (4)

This course is designed for non-relativistic, study of subatomic particle systems. Topics, included are Schrödinger equation, wave function, probability density, uncertainty relationship, Hilbert space, development of the concepts of, observables, state vectors, operators and matrix, representation. Tunneling, scattering, and, perturbation theory. Harmonic oscillator and, Hydrogen atom. Eigenvalues, principal, angular, momentum, magnetic and spin quantum numbers.

Prerequisite: Take PHYS-361 & PHYS-362, OR PHYS-363. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 463 - Stellar Astrophysics (4)

Topics include physics of stars, stellar atmospheres, stellar interiors, stellar evolution,, star formation, and interstellar medium. Also, includes a review of concepts of basic physics, including mechanics, statistical physics,, thermodynamics and nuclear physics.

Prerequisite: PHYS-152. Offered: Summer.

PHYS 464 - Statistical Physics (4)

Macroscopic objects are made up of huge numbers, of fundamental particles whose interactions are, well understood. Physical properties that emerge, from these interactions are, however, not simply, related to these fundamental interactions. In, this course we will develop the tools of, statistical physics, which will allow us to, predict emergent cooperative phenomena. We will, apply those tools to a wide variety of physical, questions, including the behavior of glasses,, polymers, heat engines, magnets, and electrons in, solids. Computer simulations will be extensively, used to aid visualization and provide concrete, realization of models in order to impart deeper, understanding of statistical physics.

Prerequisite: PHYS-153 and PHYS-L153 and PHYS-362 or PHYS-363.

PHYS 477 - Electricity and Magnetism (4)

Prerequisite: Take PHYS-152 and PHYS-L152. Offered: Fall.

PHYS L455 - Advanced Laboratory (2)

Classical and modern experiments in physics;. Experiments may include Frank Hertz experiment,, Hall effect, nuclear magnetic resonance, quantum, dots, detection of muons, x-ray spectroscopy,, ellipsometry, physics of timbre of musical, instruments, data acquisition.

Prerequisite: PHYS-153 and PHYS-L153. Offered: Fall.

PHYS 500 - Experiential Learning in Physics (0)

This course provides students with credit for an, off-campus physics internship completed during the, semester when credit is earned. The Career, Development Center maintains a list of potential, internship sites. Students must secure approval, internship and provide documentation from the, internship's overseer to a full time faculty, member sponsor in the department in order to, register for the course. The internship must, involve participation in research and/or relevant, professional training. Students or their overseers, will be required to submit records of internship, hours and provide the faculty sponsor with a, written summary of internship experiences and, accomplishments. This course is available for, variable credit. A PHYS 503 Internship for Credit, form must be submitted to the department chair.

Prerequisite: CAS students only. Instructor consent required.

PHYS 510 - Independent Study (1-4)

Directed reading, lectures, seminar and research, in selected areas of special interest.

Offered: Occasionally.

PHYS 555 - Undergraduate Research in Physics (4)

The senior project is the capstone research, experience of the undergraduate Physics Major., This one semester course requires students to work, one on one with faculty in an area of mutually, agreed upon research. In general, the effort will, involve the use of mathematical and programming, skills, laboratory techniques, and possibly field, work. The end result will be both a paper and a, formal presentation to both faculty and students.
PHYS H510 - Honors Independent Study (1-4)

Directed reading, lectures, seminar and research, in selected areas of special interest.

Prerequisite: Senior Standing required. Offered: Spring.

PHYS H533 - Honors Special Topics in Physics (2-4)

Special topics not covered in other 300/400-level, physics courses. Topics can range from general, relativity, quantum mechanics, wave propagation, nuclear physics and astrophysics to nanoscience, depending on student interest.

Prerequisite: CAS only, Honors students only. Offered: Occasionally.

PHYS H555 - Honors Undergraduate Research in Physics (4)

The senior project is the capstone research experience of the undergraduate Physics Major. This one semester course requires students to work, one on one with faculty in an area of mutually, agreed upon research. In general, the effort will, involve the use of mathematical and programming, skills, laboratory techniques, and possibly field, work. The end result will be both a paper and a, formal presentation to both faculty and students.

Prerequisite: Senior Standing required, CAS Honors students with 3.3 GPA or, above. Offered: Spring.

POL 510 - Introduction to American Politics (4)

An introduction to the American political system, and constitutional framework. Focus will be on, the interplay of various institutions (the, Presidency, Congress and the Judiciary) in, creating public policies., Contemporary public issues will be discussed,, as will the role of political theory in shaping, American democracy. Attention will be given to the, role of the news media, public opinion, political, ideology, political parties and interest groups, in the American system.

POL 115 - Evolution of the Global System (4)

Introduces the main actors, ideas, institutions,, and processes that shape the international, system. Analyzes key international developments,, including imperialism, nationalism, the causes of, wars and peace, and globalization. Integrates, international relations concepts with history to, explain the unprecedented levels of prosperity, and violence in Europe, particularly in light of, its dominant role in recent centuries. Emphasizes, contemporary developments taking place in other, regions such as Asia, Africa, and Latin America., Helps students understand the global arena as a, space of complex interconnections and sets the, foundations for other courses in international, relations and regional studies. Normally offered, every semester., This course sets the foundations for other, courses in International Relations and Regional, Studies

POL 120 - Research Methodology for Political Science (4)

Students learn to read, analyze, and conduct, political science research as well as learning, the steps to writing a research paper, including, developing a research question, writing a, literature review, selecting a research design,, and properly citing sources. Students will, develop an understanding of approaches to, researching and, measuring political phenomena.

POL 121 - Research Methodology for International Relations (4)

Students learn to read, analyze, and conduct, research in international relations based on, variety of methods applied in social sciences., Students will learn and practice the

PSYCH 705 - Assessment I (3)

The seminar aims to introduce you to the theory, and practice of evidence-based social, emotional, and behavioral assessment. To this end, specific, issues we will cover include psychometric theory., cognitive abilities/intelligence testing, some, classic assessment controversies, strengths and, weaknesses of various assessment approaches., ethical and cultural issues, and the, psychological assessment of children.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 706 - Assessment II (3)

The goal of this course is to serve as a, foundation for clinical practice and research, activity in the important area of clinical, neuropsychological assessment and psychological, assessment. It serves to introduce the student to, the techniques, methods and theories relevant to, the practice of neuropsychological and, psychological assessment. The course can roughly, be divided into two halves. In the first half, general technique, theory, and individual, statistics will be covered. This will start with, the procedures for the clinical, neuropsychological examination, including the, interview, preparation of the patient, and, selection of instruments. The nature and, structure of cognition, factor structure of the, neuropsychological battery, and a theory of, brain-behavior relationships will be covered., This will be followed by coverage of statistics, as applied to assessment, that is, the difference, between the inferential form of statistics, students are used to (group, statistics) and the probabilistic form, (individual) of statistics useful in assessment., Subsequent focus will be on clinical, decision-making, that is, the use of test data to, respond to the diagnostic and descriptive, questions that are the goals of the assessment, process. The first half of the class will finish, with a focus on individual differences, critical, to the interpretation psychological test data., The second half of the course will focus on, specific cognitive functions, assessment of, personality and psychopathology, and on civil and, forensic contexts relevant to assessment. , Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by, permission of program director and instructor.

PSYCH 707 - Introduction to the History & Systems, Of Psychology (0)

The primary goal of this self-directed online, course is to develop foundational knowledge of the, origins and evolution of major ideas within the, discipline of psychology. This course is intended, for students that have not already completed a, documented evaluative educational experience in, the history and systems of psychology prior to, matriculating at Suffolk University.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 708 - Cognition and Affect: an Integrated, Approach (3)

Surveys foundational theories of cognitive and, affective psychology, examines current research on, these topics, and explores their integration. The, core components of cognition will be examined, include memory, learning, information processing, theory, mediational processes, and executive, functioning. Additionally, the course will, consider affect, mood, and emotion, and explore, appraisal and constructionist theories of emotion., Finally, the course will consider how theory and, research on cognition and emotion, and their, integration, inform the practice of clinical, psychology.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 709 - The Development of Biases, Prejudice,, & Discrimination (3)

Examines biases, prejudice, and discrimination, from a developmental psychological perspective., Applies theoretical and empirical research to, examining causes, forms, consequences, and ways of, reducing prejudice and discrimination. Addresses, how systems of power and oppression impact the, construction of individual and group identities.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 710 - Socioemotional Development (3)

Explores socioemotional development from infancy, to adolescence with an emphasis on early childhood. Using a bio-psycho-social lens, different theories of development (e.g., attachment; temperament; moral; gender-role) and, current empirical research will be explored. Methodological techniques unique to this topic, also will be considered. Finally, we will apply, our knowledge of developmental research to, current issues concerning children.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 711 - Scientific Writing for the Psychological, Sciences (3)

Provides intensive training in the process of, psychology-orientated scientific writing. Topics, include identifying knowledge gaps in the extant, literature through a critical review of existing, research, developing a strong rationale for, future research, basic writing style and, structure, disciplined writing practices,, effective revision, and peer-review. Normally, offered yearly.

Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 712 - Multicultural Psychology (3)

Introduces students to multicultural issues, relevant to psychology. Covers a broad range of, cultural diversity (sex, age, race, ethnicity,, language, religion, sexual orientations, etc.), topics to highlight the role of culture in, understanding human behavior and health-related, issues. This course intends to strengthen, student's, multicultural knowledge, sensitivity,, and competence in research/professional practice, through their exposure to various, theoretical/empirical perspectives, media,, experiential exercises, etc. Students will, acquire in-depth awareness of self and others', worldviews and a better insight into, immigrants/minority groups, privilege/oppression,, health care access/disparity issues,, interpersonal relationship, community health and, well being domains.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 713 - Assessment III: Neuropsychological, Assessment (3)

This course serves as a foundation for clinical, practice and research activity in the important, area of clinical neuropsychological assessment. It, introduces the student to the techniques, methods, and theories relevant to the evidence-based, practice of clinical neuropsychological, assessment. Core topics (not an exhaustive list), include-an overview of the neuropsychological, evaluation-purpose, goals, models, consultant, role, and, interpretive logic; behavioral geography, of the brain and the relevant clinical disorders; the rationale of "deficit" measurement and the, interpretive process, and- specific neurocognitive, functions (memory, language, visuo-perceptual and, visuo-spatial, executive and motor function)., Applied/embedded learning experiences will, include- in-class observation/demonstration of, specific assessment techniques, a laboratory, component with practice administering key, assessment instruments from each domain, and class, exercises interpreting data and conceptualizing, cases.

Prerequisite: Take PSYCH-705 & PSYCH-706. Restricted to Clinical Doctoral, students only, except by permission of program director and, instructor.

PSYCH 714 - Dialectical Behavior Therapy (3)

In this psychotherapy seminar, students will, learn about dialectical behavior therapy (DBT),, an evidence-based treatment for borderline, personality disorder (BPD). Students will gain, knowledge and experience (via role-plays) in, behavioral assessment and in all modes of DBT,, including individual therapy, group skills, training, telephone coaching, and consultation, team. Students will explore the theoretical bases, of the treatment, as well as gain knowledge of; the empirical basis for DBT's use with various, patient populations, including BPD, opioid, dependent, chronically suicidal/self-harming, and, other populations (inpatients, bipolar disorder,, friends and family of seriously mentally ill,, etc.). Normally offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Take PSYCH-721. Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only,, except by permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 716 - Adult Psychopathology (3)

This graduate seminar requires students to, examine and respond to current thinking and, controversies in the conceptualization and, categorization of mental disorders generally, and, adult disorders in particular. Students will, acquire foundational knowledge about the, diagnostic characterization, etiology, and, epidemiology of the major classes of adult, behavior disorders; investigate mental disorders, and our current diagnostic system from a variety, of different perspectives (clinical, research,, biological, sociocultural, etc.); gain, significant practice critically evaluating, scientific research and in articulating, thoughtful responses to social and behavioral, research on mental disorders. Normally offered, yearly.
Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 717 - History & Theories of Human Development

The purpose of this course is to trace the origin, and evolution of psychology as a field of study, from its philosophical and scientific roots to, present day theories of human development. The, emphasis will be on critically examining the, various theories of psychology, especially as they, are translated into contemporary concepts in, applied developmental psychology, and their, development in relation to sciences, societies,, and social justice. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only.

PSYCH 718 - Research Methods and Ethics (3)

Provides students with foundational skills needed, to be both a consumer and producer of, psychological research. Topics covered include, hypothesis and proposal generation, experimental,, correlational and qualitative designs, strategies, to minimize bias, measurement issues, participant, selection and recruitment, data management,, grantsmanship and the dissemination of findings,. Ethical issues in the conduct of research are, emphasized. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 719 - History & Systems of Psychology (3)

The purpose of this course is to trace the origin, and development of psychology from its, philosophical and scientific roots to, present day theories. The emphasis will be on, critically examining the various systems of, psychology, especially within science, practice,, and society.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 721 - Evidence-Based Practice in Psychology (3)

Introduces students to the concept of empirically, informed clinical practice. Topics covered, include the history of the evidence-based, movement in psychology, an overview of the, methods used in scientifically-informed clinical, practice (e.g., case conceptualization, treatment, planning, ongoing assessment of progress), and an, introduction to specific evidence-based, principles that can be used in psychotherapy, (e.g., exposure therapy, behavioral activation,, etc.). Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by, permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 722 - Graduate Statistics in Psychology I (3)

Introduces basic statistical tests such as t, tests, ANOVA, correlation, regression, Chi, Square, and power analysis. Students are also, required to demonstrate proficiency in computer, data analysis using SPSS. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 723 - Graduate Statistics in Psychology II (3)

Focuses on multivariate statistics and the, interaction of research design and statistical, analysis. Emphasis on MANOVA, multiple, regression, principle components analysis/factor, analysis, and logistic regression. Issues, involving experimental and statistical control,, multicollinearity, specification error, and, nesting will be covered. Students learn basic, principles of multivariate analysis, read journal, articles using multivariate techniques, analyze, data using each main type of analysis covered in, the course, and write results and tables using, APA style. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: PSYCH-722. Restricted to Doctoral students only, except, by permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 724 - Developmental Research Methods (3)

Methodology related to developmental systems will, include longitudinal research, program evaluation, and outcome research, panel study designs, and, mixed-methods designs.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 727 - Qualitative Research Methods (3)

With an eye toward incorporating mixed, qualitative-qualitative methodologies, this, course will provide students with a hands-on, learning experience in qualitative study designs, and coding approaches. A variety of coding, techniques will be explored, along with popular, computer-based coding systems.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 729 - Social Justice in Psychology (3)

Investigates race and ethnicity as ideological, categories that both inform group identity and, reproduce social inequalities. The course begins, with an overview of the social and historical, forces that developed these categories, with a, focus on some of the major ethnic groups in the, United States. Explores historical and, contemporary roles played by psychologists around, these issues. Students learn how to individually, and collectively avoid perpetuating injustices in, the science and practice of psychology. Course, topics exemplify how race and ethnicity are, inextricably linked to other identity categories,, especially gender, class, and sexual identity., Normally offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 732 - Social Bases of Behavior and Experience (3)

Introduces students to the social bases of, behavior and experience through examination of, some traditional topics from the field of social, psychology. These include: social cognition;, self-knowledge; self-presentation; attitude, formation and change; attraction and close, relations; altruism; aggression; prejudice and, stereotypes; and group dynamics. In addition, the, course may include discussion of cross-cultural, approaches to healing and the relationship, between culture and mental health. Normally, offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 738 - Clinical Practicum & Ethics IA (3)

Doctoral students complete an academic year of, placement service (9-10 months) at one of the, selected practica sites during their third year, of academic training. Students complete, approximately 20 hours per week of placement, service to include assessment, intervention, and, consultation with diverse populations. Students, receive on-site supervision by licensed, psychologists and other approved professionals., All students will concurrently participate in, practicum seminars taught by Suffolk University, faculty. The didactic supplement provides a, foundation in developing students' knowledge in, the areas of consultation and supervision along, with continued training in cultural and, individual diversity. Normally offered every fall, semester.

Prerequisite: PSYCH-738, PSYCH-739; Instructor Consent Required. Restricted to, Clinical Doctoral students only. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 740 - Clinical Practicum IIA (3)

Doctoral students complete an academic year of, placement service (9 to 10 months) at one of the, selected practica sites during their third year, of academic training. Students complete, approximately 20 hours per week of placement, service to include assessment, intervention, and, consultation with diverse populations. Students, receive on-site supervision by licensed, psychologists and other approved professionals., All students will concurrently participate in, practicum seminars taught by Suffolk University, faculty. The didactic supplement provides a, foundation in developing students' knowledge in, the areas of consultation and supervision along, with continued training in cultural and, individual diversity. Normally offered every fall, semester.

Prerequisite: PSYCH-738, PSYCH-739, PSYCH-740. Restricted to Clinical Doctoral, students only, except by permission of program director and, instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 741 - Clinical Practicum IIB (3)

Continuation of Practicum 2A. Normally offered, every spring semester.

Prerequisite: PSYCH-738, PSYCH-739, PSYCH-740.

PSYCH 742 - Advanced Statistics (3)

Advanced statistical platforms including SEM and HLM will be used and explored, particularly using large data sets with longitudinal and complex developmental designs. This is a hands-on course; students will leave with basic knowledge of statistical programs used for advanced statistical analyses in the developmental sciences.

Prerequisite: ADP and Clinical Psychology Doctoral PSYCH 743 - Clinical Supervision and Consultation in Psychology (3)

Examines theoretical foundations, empirical, research, approaches, and ethics of clinical, supervision and consultation in professional, psychology. Emphasis will also be placed on the, integration of theory and empirical findings into, the application of skills necessary to work as, effective clinical supervisors and psychological, consultants. Offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by, permission of program director and instructor.

PSYCH 748 - Developmental Psychopathology (3)

Examines child and adolescent psychopathology, from an empirically-based developmental, perspective. Reviews major developmental theories, to elucidate the role of development in, understanding the etiology and diagnosis of, DSM-IV-TR disorders. Also focuses on theoretical, and empirical literature in developmental, psychopathology. Changes in the incidence rates, of internalizing (e.g., depression, anxiety) and, externalizing disorders (e.g., conduct disorder,, attention deficit/ hyperactivity disorder) are, addressed. Disorders affecting both behavioral, and mental functioning (e.g., autism) are, included. Family, peer, and, contextual/environmental influences are also, covered. Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: . Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 749 - Lifespan Development (3)

Examines development across the lifespan,, including biological, cognitive, social, and, emotional development, with attention to the role, of culture and context. Reviews major theories of, development and how such theories provide, conceptual frameworks for understanding the, development adaptive and maladaptive behaviors, and trajectories. Also addresses implications for, treatment and prevention., Normally offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 751 - Psychopharmacology (3)

Presents students with an introduction to the, field of psychopharmacology. Topics covered will, include: the art of prescribing medication; the, psychopharmacology of anxiety and psychotic, mental disorders (including pediatric and, geriatric psychopharmacology); pharmacotherapy, and psychotherapy; biopsychosocial factors in, drug abuse and addiction. Normally offered, alternate years.

Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 755 - Etiology, Assessment, & Treatment of Addictive Disorders (3)

This course focuses on etiological theories of, addictive behaviors as well as evidence-based,, transdiagnostic assessment and intervention, approaches for the treatment of addictive, disorders, including substance use and, non-substance-related disorders (e.g., compulsive, gambling). Emphasis is placed on development of, case conceptualization, treatment planning, and, decision-making skills, including consideration of, readiness to change, patient - treatment matching,, relapse prevention, issues related to individual, and cultural diversity, and cultural adaptation of, treatment techniques.

Prerequisite: Take PSYCH-716 and PSYCH-721. Restricted to Clinical Doctoral, students only, except by permission of program director and, instructor.

PSYCH 764 - Cognitive and Experimental Approaches to, Emotion (3)

Investigates theories regarding the function and, experience of emotion. This course will survey, the historical concepts of emotion in psychology, and current theories of emotion, including, motivational, cognitive and physiological, aspects. The course will also describe research, methods used in the study of emotion, including, psychophysiology and neuroimaging, as well as, clinical implications. Normally offered alternate, years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 771 - Writing Seminar I (3)

Part 1 in a year-long sequence of student writing, development, including grant-writing,, professional psychological journal writing, and, writing for lay/online/journalism print, audiences. Students will complete the year with a, draft of a grant proposal and at least 1 other, writing product in-hand.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 772 - The Teaching of Psychology (3)

Examines current theory and research on effective, teaching of psychology. Surveys a variety of, teaching techniques, tools, and methods for, leading discussions, lecturing, assessment, and, grading. Additional topics include: learning, styles in the classroom, student diversity, development of critical thinking, and ethics in, college teaching. Normally offered alternate, years.
Courses | 723

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 773 - Writing Seminar II (3)

Part 2 in a year-long sequence of student writing, development, including grant-writing, professional psychological journal writing, and, writing for lay/online/journalism print, audiences. Students will complete the year with a, draft of a grant proposal and at least 1 other, writing product in-hand.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 774 - Child Therapy (3)

Examines the principles and practice of, psychotherapy with children and adolescents,. Delineates the similarities and differences, between evidence based intervention approaches, with youth as well as the various theoretical, perspectives to which they are related. Normally, offered alternate years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by permission of program director and instructor.

PSYCH 777 - Advanced Clinical Practicum (1)

Consent of DCT is required to enroll. Concurrent, enrollment in other content courses or Psych 000, is permitted. This course is graded P/F.

Prerequisite: PSYCH 741 and approval from Director of Clinical training,. PhD Clinical students only,. . Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 778 - Dissertation Proposal Preparation II (3)

Intended for students who are preparing for their, dissertation proposal and have completed PSYCH-782, Dissertation Proposal Preparation I. This course, is graded P/F. Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: PSYCH-782. Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by, permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 779 - Acceptance-Based Behavioral, Psychotherapies (3)

Examines the contemporary movement integrating, acceptance (willingness to experience thoughts,, emotions, physiological sensations and images), and mindfulness (intentional and non-judgmental, awareness of the present moment) into traditional, cognitive and behavioral approaches to case, formulation and treatment. Topics include, analysis and discussion of the theoretical, underpinnings of this movement, examination of, specific emerging therapies, and exploration of, the application of these therapies to a variety, of clinical problems. Normally offered alternate, years.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Clinical Doctoral students only, except by, permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 780 - Early Research Project Preparation (3-9)

Intended for students who are working on their, Early Research Project. This course is graded, P/F. Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 781 - Comprehensive Exam Preparation (3)

Intended for students who are preparing for, comprehensive exams. This course is graded P/F., Offered every semester.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 782 - Dissertation Proposal Preparation I (3)

Intended for students who are preparing for their, dissertation proposal. This course is graded P/F., Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 783 - Dissertation Research (3-6)

Intended for students who are actively conducting, their dissertation research, or students who are, preparing for their dissertation defense. This, course is graded P/F.

Offered every semester.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall, Spring.
PSYCH 784 - The Development of Infants & Children, In Poverty (3)

Introduces students to the special issues that, children growing up in poverty face. Theory and, empirical research will be explored as well as, specific contexts common to disadvantaged, children (e.g., homelessness and abuse). In, addition, we will examine individual resilience, and the impact of environmental support in, mitigating deleterious effects.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 785 - Migration, Acculturation and Development (3)

This seminar explores the complex, multi-level ecological systems involved in migration and human adaptation to new cultural contexts. With a particular emphasis on children, adolescents, and families, we explore recent developmental topics related to immigration, documentation status(es), discrimination, as well as national integration policies and refugee experiences. Both risk and resilience frameworks will be emphasized.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of program director and instructor. Offered: Every Other Year.

PSYCH 786 - Youth Resisting Oppression (3)

This seminar addresses youth development in, contexts of structural oppression through the lens, of resistance. The goals of this seminar are to, honor the individual agency and collective action, of systematically marginalized communities in, creating historical changes throughout society,. Students will focus on the use of applied, developmental psychology to describe, explain, and, promote social justice activism in solidarity with, youth targeted by intersecting systems of, oppression such as heteropatriarchy and white, supremacy.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 787 - Human Sexuality and Gender Development (3)

Human sexuality and gender operate at multiple, layers of the developmental system: from, historical political systems down to the most, intimate aspects of biology and behavior. In this, seminar, students will examine how applied, developmental psychology has been used to frame, questions and create knowledge about sex, gender,, gender identity, sexual orientation, sexuality,, and romantic relationships. The course will take, a trans-affirming queer feminist approach rooted, in the inherent dignity of all people, as we, grapple with how the process of scientific, knowledge production can help and/or harm the, struggle for human rights and freedom from, oppression.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 788 - Advanced Topics in Applied Developmental, Psychology (3)

This seminar presents a series of pressing, topics, readings, and reflective writing, activities focused on studying under-served and, marginalized youth, and how systems of oppression, continue to impact youth development.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 789 - Public Policy, Systems and Developmental, Psychology (3)

Systems at the local, regional, and national, level- and the guiding policies that shape, resources and access to services- will be, explored. Students will learn to write policy, briefs, and understand their potential role as, experts in advocacy for social policy change.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor.

PSYCH 792 - Introduction to Neuropsychology and the, Clinical Neurosciences (3)

Neuropsychology is the study of the affective,, behavioral and cognitive consequences of brain, injury, and clinical neuropsychology is the, professional discipline that deals with the, methods and techniques of assessing the, consequences of brain insult. Clinical, neuroscience is a branch of neuroscience that, focuses on the scientific study of fundamental, mechanisms that underlie diseases and disorders, of the brain and central nervous system. It seeks, to develop new ways of diagnosing such disorders, and ultimately of developing novel treatments,. This course will take the assumption that a good, way to become a biologically informed, practitioner of clinical psychology, is to, participate in systematic instruction and, learning in neuropsychology and the clinical, neurosciences. In psychology graduate school, you, are also becoming the culturally informed, clinician, the developmentally informed, clinician, and so forth. Toward that goal the, reading and lecture materials for Psychology 792, will bring together the fields of neuroanatomy, and functional neuroanatomy, neurobehavioral, syndromes, cellular mechanisms of the central, nervous system, behavior genetics including, epigenetics, and psychopharmacology.

Prerequisite: Restricted to Doctoral students only, except by permission of, program director and instructor. Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 795 - Human Neuropsychology I (3)

Researchers from the Boston Veterans, Administration Hospital lecture on various topics, including: neuropsychological assessment;, plasticity in development; aphasia; apraxia;, attention deficit disorder; aging; memory;, dementia; bilingualism; epilepsy; and pain. Held, at the Boston Veterans Administration Hospital in, Jamaica Plain. Normally offered yearly.

Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 796 - Human Neuropsychology II (3)

Continuation of PSYCH 795 at the Boston Veterans, Administration Hospital in Jamaica Plain., Normally offered yearly.

Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 797 - Functional Neuroanatomy (3)

Provides students with a comprehensive overview, of functional neuroanatomy, as well as an, introduction to neuropathology,, neuroepidemiology, and the neurobehavioral, consequences of congenital and acquired, neurological diseases and disorders. Teaching, strategies will include lectures, human brain, lab, directed readings, and neurosciences, software programs. Held at Boston University, School of Medicine. Normally offered yearly.

Offered: Fall.

PSYCH 798 - Applied Developmental Psychology, Internship and Professional Development, I (3)

Semester 1 of a year-long internship in an, applied developmental psychology setting,. Students will engage in a variety of tasks, related to community-based research, and receive, weekly supervision and engage in scholarship on, the processes and ethics of community-based, participatory research. Readings will emphasize, understanding the role of diversity in creating, inclusive spacescontexts to promote optimal, youth development.

Prerequisite: Restricted to ADP Doctoral students only.

PSYCH 799 - Applied Developmental Psychology, Internship and Professional Development, II (3)

Semester 2 in a year-long internship in an, applied developmental psychology setting,. Students continue engaging in community-based, work, culminating in a written community report. Weekly supervision and scholarly discussion, focuses on policy and systems in applied, settings, and their implications for youth, development. Readings continue to emphasize, understanding the role of diversity in creating, inclusive spacescontexts to promote optimal, youth development.

Prerequisite: Restricted to ADP Doctoral students only.

PSYCH L718 - Clinical Psychology Lab I (0)

Provides students enrolled in the Ph.D. program, in Clinical Psychology an extended introduction, and orientation to the program and to the field, of clinical psychology. Enrollment by invitation, of the DCT only. The lab will be graded P/F. Offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Clinical PhD students only. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH L720 - Clinical Psychology Lab II (0)

Continues the orientation and early skill, development of students enrolled in the Ph.D., program in Clinical Psychology. Provides a lab, experience within which to explore and develop, initial skills preparatory for practicum, experience in year 2. Enrollment by invitation of, the DCT only. This lab will be graded P/F. Offered yearly.

Prerequisite: Clinical PhD students only. Offered: Spring.

PSYCH 801 - Internship (1)

Provides full-time enrollment status for students, who are on pre-doctoral internships. This course, is graded P/F.

Prerequisite: Instructor Consent Required. Restricted to Clinical PhD students. Offered: Fall, Spring.

PSYCH 900 - Advanced Respecialization Practicum (1)

Provides full-time enrollment status for, Respecialization students who have completed all, content courses and who are pursuing additional, practicum training prior to predoctoral, internship. Consent of DCT is required to enroll.. Concurrent enrollment in other courses is not, permitted. This course is graded P/F.

Offered: Fall and Spring.

PSYCH 910 - Independent Study (3-6)

Consists of the intensive study of one aspect of, clinical psychology and/or human development in, consultation with a faculty member.
Offered: Fall, Spring.

RAD-Radiation Science

RAD 206 - Introduction to Radiation Oncology (4)

Offers an introduction to the role of the radiation therapist and medical dosimetrist in a Radiation Oncology department. Through a combination of detailed lectures, discussions, role-playing, case studies, and hands-on laboratory exercises, students will be introduced to the professional and clinical aspects of their respective professions. Additional topics include radiation safety, patients' rights, infection, control, communication for the clinic, patient assessment, and psychosocial aspects of cancer including death and dying.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy (Major or Certificate) or Medical Dosimetry, Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 301 - Clinical Radiation I (4)

Studying through a systems-based approach, this course reviews anatomy and physiology while teaching medical terminology. Topics will include, discussing the major cancers associated with each, anatomical system and introducing the student to radiation therapy treatment techniques and procedures.

Prerequisite: RAD-206 and Radiation Therapy & Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 302 - Clinical Radiation II (3)

A continuation of RAD 301. Through the same, didactic approach, students will learn all of the, anatomical systems and their related medical, terminology not taught in RAD 301.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy (Major or Certificate) or Medical Dosimetry, Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 315 - Radiation Physics I (3)

Content is designed to establish a thorough, knowledge of the radiation physics used in radiation therapy treatments. Topics to be covered in this course include a review of basic physics (energy, mass, matter, SI units), structure of matter, types of radiations, nuclear transformations, radioactive decay, the fundamentals of x-ray generators and x-ray, production, interactions of x and gamma rays with, matter, absorbed dose, measurements of dose, principles of and practical use of ionization, chambers and electrometers, Geiger counters and, other survey meters, principles and practical use, of TLDs, film, calorimetry, scintillation, detectors, radiation protection and quality assurance.

Prerequisite: RAD-L315 concurrently; Radiation Biology, Radiation Science,, Radiation Therapy (Major or Certificate), or Medical Dosimetry, Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 317 - Radiation Physics II (4)

Expands on the concepts and theories presented in Radiation Physics I. It will provide a detailed, analysis of the treatment units used in external, beam radiation therapy, their beam geometry, basic dose calculations and dose distributions, Students will also learn the principles, theories, and uses of brachytherapy.

Prerequisite: RAD-315 and Radiation Science and Radiation Therapy students only. Offered: Spring.

RAD 318 - Radiation Physics II

Expands on the concepts and theories presented in Radiation Physics I. It will provide a detailed, analysis of the treatment units used in external, beam radiation therapy. Students will also learn, the principles, theories, and uses of, brachytherapy.

Prerequisite: RAD-315. Radiation Science and Radiation Therapy , students only.

RAD 321 - Clinical Radiation I (4)

Studying through a systems-based approach, this, course reviews anatomy and physiology while, teaching medical terminology. Topics will include, discussing the major cancers associated with half, of the anatomical system and introducing the, student to radiation therapy treatment techniques, and procedures for the corresponding anatomical, sites.

Prerequisite: RAD-206. Radiation Therapy students only.

RAD 323 - Clinical Radiation II (4)

Continuing from RAD 321, through the same, systems-based approach, this course reviews, anatomy and physiology while teaching medical, terminology. Topics will include discussing the, major cancers associated with half, of the anatomical system and introducing the, student to radiation therapy treatment techniques, and procedures for the corresponding anatomical, sites not taught in RAD 321.

Prerequisite: RAD-L322, RAD-321, RAD-317, RAD-415, RAD-L415. Radiation Therapy, (Major or Certificate) students only.
RAD 333 - Radiation Therapy Clinical Experience, Essentials (3)

Provides elements of the clinical experience, essential to become a radiation therapist. Outside of the clinical environment, through the instruction of a licensed radiation therapist, students will acquire knowledge about the manipulation of treatment equipment, gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, learn how to deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and develop skills relevant to workflow and all aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-206. Radiation Therapy majors only.

RAD 341 - Radiation Therapy Rotation I

Introduces essential concepts and training to prepare students for entering the radiation oncology clinic. Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All clinical rotations are held at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-206 concurrently. Radiation Therapy major or certificate, students only.

RAD 342 - Radiation Therapy Rotation II

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All clinical rotations are held at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-341. Radiation Therapy major or certificate, students only.

RAD 343 - Radiation Therapy Rotation III

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All clinical rotations are held at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-342. Radiation Therapy major or certificate, students only.

RAD 344 - Radiation Therapy Rotation IV

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All clinical rotations are held at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care. By the end of the course, students will be prepared with skillsets of an entry-level radiation therapist.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-343. Radiation Therapy major or certificate, students only.

RAD L301 - Radiation Therapy Rotation I (3)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD L302 - Radiation Therapy Rotation II (1)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD L303 - Radiation Therapy Rotation III (3)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation, treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: RAD-L302 and Radiation Therapy Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD L304 - Radiation Therapy Practicum (1)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: RAD-301 and RAD-L301. Offered: Summer.

RAD L311 - Medical Dosimetry Rotation I (1)

Under the supervision of a Certified Medical Dosimetrist, students will gain hands on, treatment planning experience in a clinical, setting.

Prerequisite: Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD L312 - Medical Dosimetry Rotation II (1)

Under the supervision of a certified medical dosimetrist, students will gain hands on, treatment planning experience in a clinical, setting.

Prerequisite: Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD L313 - Medical Dosimetry Rotation III (1)

Under the supervision of a Certified Medical Dosimetrist, students will gain hands on, treatment planning experience in a clinical, setting.

Prerequisite: RAD-L312 and Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD L314 - Medical Dosimetry Practicum (1)

Under the supervision of a Certified Medical Dosimetrist, students will gain hands on, treatment planning experience in a clinical, setting.

Prerequisite: RAD-L301 and RAD-L311. Offered: Summer.

RAD L315 - Radiation Physics I Lab (1)

Explores topics including quality assurance, measurements for radiation therapy, calibration, of radiation teletherapy unit using ionization chambers, measurements of dose distribution via film, measurements of dose in a phantom via TLDs, radiation protection survey of therapy, installation and brachytherapy sources, and radiation biology.

Prerequisite: RAD-L315 concurrently; Radiation Science, Radiation Therapy, (Major or Certificate), or Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD L321 - Radiation Therapy Rotation I (3)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation, treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: RAD-206.

RAD L322 - Radiation Therapy Practicum (1)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist through immersive and expanded rotations. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation, treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: RAD-321. Radiation Therapy students only.

RAD L323 - Radiation Therapy Rotation II (3)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to become a radiation therapist. All labs are conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the students will become increasingly proficient in the manipulation of treatment equipment, will gain a thorough understanding of radiation, treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed radiation dose to cancer patients, and will acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of patient care.

Prerequisite: RAD-322. Radiation Therapy (Major or
Courses | 729

Certificate), Students Only.

RAD L324 - Radiation Therapy Rotation III (3)

Provides the necessary clinical experience to, become a radiation therapist. All labs are, conducted at our clinical affiliates. Under the, supervision of licensed radiation therapists, the, students will become increasingly proficient in, the manipulation of treatment equipment, will, gain a thorough understanding of radiation, treatment plans, will deliver a prescribed, radiation dose to cancer patients, and will, acquire knowledge of all relevant aspects of, patient care.

Prerequisite: Take RAD-L322. Radiation Therapy (major or, certificate) students only.

RAD 415 - Dosimetry I (3)

Discusses the factors that influence treatment, planning and govern the clinical aspects of, patient treatment. Topics to be covered include, treatment planning with 3-D CT and MRI beams,., isodose plan descriptions, clinical applications, of treatment beams and advanced dosimetric, calculations. Students will also contrast new, emerging technologies with conventional radiation, therapy techniques (SRT, SRS, IMRT, Image Guided, Therapy, Respiratory Gating).

Prerequisite: RAD-315 and RAD-L415 concurrently; Radiation Therapy students, only. Offered: Spring.

RAD 416 - Radiation Biology (4)

Topics covered include: physio-chemical aspects of, energy absorption, the sequence of events after, irradiation occurring on the molecular, cellular, and organized tissue levels, radiation response, and repair of eukaryotic cells, effects of, radiation quality, dose rate, environmental, conditions, cell cycle kinetics, tumor and normal, cell population dynamics, radiation-induced, carcinogenesis and mutagenesis, tumor, pathophysiology and radiobiology, and recent, advances in experimental radiation oncology.

Prerequisite: RAD-315; Radiation Science, Radiation Therapy and Medical, Dosimetry Students only (including Radiation Science minors). Offered: Spring.

RAD 417 - Dosimetry II (4)

A continuation of Dosimetry I that focuses on, advanced treatment planning techniques including, intensity modulated radiation therapy (IMRT), arc, therapy, stereotactic treatment planning, and, proton therapy. The advantages of each, technique/modality over conventional 3D-treatment, planning will be discussed. This will also be, contrasted against the specific challenges, presented by each technique such as the need for, better immobilization, need for 4D CT scanning, and daily IGRT (kV matching and/or CBCT).

Prerequisite: Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 420 - Radiation Oncology & Pathology (4)

Students will review cancer epidemiology,, etiology, detection, diagnosis and prevention,, lymphatic drainage, and treatment. The, pathology(s) of each cancer will be presented in, detail including the rationale for each preferred, modality of treatment.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy (Major or Certificate) or Medical Dosimetry, Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 422 - Radiology (4)

This course will begin with an introduction to, radiology, a review of x-ray production and a, discussion of basic radiation physics, image, formation (Kv, mA) and distortion (blur,, magnification), conventional processing and, digital imaging. The above-mentioned, radiographic imaging concepts will be presented, with conventional lectures as well as with, several imaging laboratories. In addition, the, basic principles of each imaging modality,, including mammography, CT, MRI, Nuc Med, and, Ultra Sound, will be presented. With the use of, departmental tours and guest lecturers, the use,, benefits and limitations of each will be, discussed. Building upon the information, previously presented, radiographic anatomy will, also be covered with an emphasis on cross, sectional anatomy. Students will review basic, anatomy viewed in sectional planes, (axial/transverse) of the body. Using CT and MRI, images, the topographic relationship between, internal organs and surface anatomy will be, interpreted and discussed.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy (Major or Certificate) or Medical Dosimetry, Students Only. Offered: Fall.

RAD 428 - Pathophysiology

Introduces concepts of disease processes and, emphasizes etiological considerations, neoplasia,, and associated diseases in the radiation therapy, patient. The pathology(s) of each cancer will be, explored, including the rationale for each, preferred modality of treatment.

Prerequisite: Radiation Therapy major or certificate student, or Medical, Dosimetry student.
RAD 435 - Brachytherapy (4)

Topics will include, radioactive sources, calibration, instrumentation, factors affecting, dose calculations, definitions of LDR, MDR and, HDR, treatment planning and clinical dose, calculation, implantation techniques, implant, localization/verification, regulations, radiation, safety, storage and QA. Detailed coverage of, prostate brachytherapy including LDR and HDR will, be emphasized.

Prerequisite: Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD 450 - Dosimetry Systems and Networking and, Quality Assurance (4)

Includes a general overview of computer systems, and networking in the field of radiation, oncology. A historical view of computers will be, covered as well as the intricate uses in the, medical field today. Oncology information record, and verification systems, as well as radiation, therapy software used for imaging, contouring,, treatment planning, and patient charting, applications will be covered. Data and system, security will also be addressed.

Prerequisite: Senior Status; Medical Dosimetry Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD 470 - Radiation Science Internship (1)

Enables opportunity for students to participate in career-related experiential internship. Assists students in preparing for Radiation Science-related career and provides exposure to potential career option. Promotes development of necessary professional skills.

Prerequisite: Radiation Science and Radiation Therapy majors only.

RAD 471 - Senior Seminar for Radiation Science (2)

Promotes expansion of professional development, skills for Radiation Science majors. Assists, students with job search, networking, and, professional cover letter and resume preparation, as well as discusses techniques necessary to make, job interviews successful.

Prerequisite: Radiation Science and Radiation Therapy students only. Senior, status required.

RAD 475 - Senior Seminar for Radiation Therapy (4)

Available to senior students enrolled in the, Radiation Therapy program. A seminar style course, that serves many purposes; one of which will be, preparing our graduating students for board, certification (ARRT). Exam preparation will, include the use of lectures, online teaching, tools, mini mock exams, and a full-length mock, exam. The seminar will also assist students with, the preparation of their professional resumes, including discussions regarding the skills, necessary to make job interviews successful.

Prerequisite: Senior status, Radiation Therapy Students Only.

RAD 476 - Senior Seminar for Medical Dosimetry (4)

This course will be available to second year, clinical students enrolled in the Medical, Dosimetry program. This seminar style course will, serve a number of purposes; one will be to, prepare our graduating students for board, certification in MDCB for Medical Dosimetry. Exam, preparation will include the use of lectures,, online teaching tools, mini mock exams, and a, full-length mock exam. The seminar will also, assist students with the preparation of their, professional resumes including discussions, regarding the skills necessary to make job, interviews successful.

Prerequisite: Senior Status and Medical Dosimetry Students Only.

RAD L415 - Dosimetry I Lab (1)

Provides the student with the opportunity to, apply clinical dosimetry principles and theories, learned in the classroom to actual treatment, planning situations within the clinic. Through, hands-on lab exercises the student will, demonstrate the use of the treatment planning, instruments and interpret information they, compute.

Prerequisite: RAD-415 concurrently and Radiation Therapy Students Only. Offered: Spring.

RAD 501 - Community Responsible Cancer Care, Non-Credit Internship (0)

Provides opportunity to build off of prior, knowledge and experience to meet community needs, by engaging in 45-150 hours of service-learning, with our community partner over the semester (3-10, hours per week).

RAD 502 - Community Responsible Cancer Care, Internship (1-4)

Provides opportunity to build off of prior, knowledge and experience to meet community needs, by engaging in 45-150 hours of service-learning, with our community partner over the semester (3-10, hours per week).

RAD 503 - Radiation Science Internship (1-4)

Enables opportunity for students to participate in, career-related experiential internship. Assists, students in preparing for Radiation, Science-related career and provides exposure to, potential career option. Promotes development of, necessary professional skills.

Prerequisite: Radiation Science and Radiation Therapy majors only., Instructor consent required.

RAD 510 - Radiation Science Independent Study (1-4)

Student projects may be initiated by a student or, faculty member with the approval of the Radiation, Science Therapy Program Director, followed by, Chairperson. A paper and oral report are required.

Prerequisite: An independent study form must be submitted to the CAS Dean's, Office. Consent required. Offered: Spring.

RS-Religious Studies

RS 111 - Introduction to World Religions: Western, Traditions (4)

This course will explore the comparative history, and structure of Western religious traditions, broadly understood, and their impact on other, world religions, while attempting to recognize, the, similarities and the differences among them., Traditions to be studied include Greek and Roman, religion, the monotheistic faiths (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, as well as, Zoroastrianism, Sikhism and Bahaiism). Attention will be given to the reading, of original texts when available.

Requiring, students to observe religious ceremonies will, enhance practical understanding of many of the, above traditions., 1 term - 4 credits., Normally offered every year.

RS 112 - Introduction to World Religions: Eastern, Traditions (4)

This course will examine a variety of Eastern, religions, including Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism., Confucianism, Taoism, and Shintoism. Possible, connections to be explored will be the impact of, these traditions on others, such as Pacific, Islands and African religion, as well as the, growing place of Eastern religion in the West., This course will explore the history and, structure, of each tradition, while attempting to recognize, the similarities and the differences among them., Attention will be given to the reading of, original, texts when available.

Requiring students to, observe religious ceremonies will enhance, practical understanding of many of the above, traditions., Normally offered every year., Cultural Diversity B

RS 301 - Reason and Revelation (4)

Traces the evolution of Judaism, Christianity and, Islam to the High Middle Ages to explore the role, of Neo-Platonism and Aristotelianism in, clarifying, and explaining dogma. Particular attention will, be, paid to ideas about the ways of knowing and, rational proofs of God's existence in Philo of, Alexandria, Augustine, Anselm, Ibn Rushd, (Averroes), Aquinas and Maimonides., 1 term - 4 credits., Normally offered in alternate years.

SBS-Sawyer Business School

SBS 1 - Online Course Prep Workshop

The Online Course Prep Workshop (required), familiarizes undergraduate students with the, specific tools used in Suffolk online courses. Most importantly, it verifies that students have, adequate connection and working audio equipment, to participate in an online course and that they, understand the synchronous classroom setup. This, is 0-credit and 0 fee course. It will be held the, week prior to the start of the semester online. Students take this prior to their first online, course at Suffolk; it will not need to be, repeated before subsequent online courses unless, Suffolk changes its online platform.

SBS 100 - careerSTART (1)

SBS 100 engages students in a series of, activities, discussions, and programs on campus, to explore their interests and strengths and, learn how courses and co-curricular experiences, together help them achieve their goals. Students, also develop innovation, team, and presentation, skills, get involved on campus, and learn about, campus resources and services that aid in a, successful college experience. This is the first, in a four-year sequence of career courses.

Prerequisite: SBS-101 (previously ENT-101) to be taken concurrently for linked, sections. Unlinked sections require SBS-101 to be taken, previously. SBS students with 30 credits or less only.

SBS 101 - Business Foundations (3)

This course introduces students to foundational, concepts in business, including functional areas,, the life cycle, competition, stakeholders and, ethical considerations. Students develop critical, thinking by learning and using a problem solving, process through a business situation analysis, model to analyze various situations that confront, managers and founders of small, medium, and large, organizations. Students will also develop tools, for analysis, allowing them to critically view, business in a new and thoughtful way. The class, culminates with student- teams presenting a, detailed analysis and recommendations to a panel, of executives and persuading them that the, recommended strategy is not only feasible, but, also practical for the stakeholders involved.

Prerequisite: Take concurrently with SBS-100. Transfer sections do not require, the co-requisite. Offered: Fall, Spring.

SBS 120 - Local Engagement: Center for Community, Engagement (0)

This zero credit course is for students, concurrently volunteering in programs coordinated, by the Center for Community Engagement (CCE). It, requires several reflective writing assignments, related to the volunteer experiences. Minimum, expectations for the volunteer work are 20 hours, in one semester. Volunteer hours will be, documented by Center for Community Engagement,. Students must maintain professional and/or, appropriate behavior in all interactions with the, community organization in order for this, experience to count toward the Local Engagement, Requirement.

SBS 130 - Local Engagement: General (0)

This zero credit course is for students who are, petitioning to count an experience, project,, internship or other experience toward the Local, Engagement requirement, one which is not covered, by the other advertised options for this, requirement. For most situations, this course, will need to be completed at the same time as the, experience. This course requires several, reflective writing assignments or a significant, writing assignment related to the experience as, well as signed documentation from the site, supervisor and proof of involvement. Additional, documentation may be required to provide details, on the experience. To inquire about whether a, certain experience might count or to submit a, petition, visit the Sawyer Business School, Undergraduate Programs Office (Stahl Building,, 12th floor).

SBS 150 - Global Engagement: Our Diverse Boston (0)

Domestic students who are not planning to travel, internationally may meet their Global Engagement, Experience by participating in a community, service program in one of Boston's ethnic or, cultural communities. This will be organized by, the Center for Community Engagement and, opportunities may vary each semester. As part of, this experience, students complete several, reflective writing assignments.

SBS 160 - Global Engagement: Studying Abroad (0)

This zero credit course is for students, concurrently studying abroad. It requires several, reflective writing assignments related to the, travel and study experience. Satisfactory, completion of this co-requisite allows the study, abroad experience to count toward the Global, Engagement Requirement.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required.

SBS 162 - Global Engagement: Home Away From Home (0)

International students studying here at our, Boston campus are paired with another Suffolk, student who helps them make the transition to, studying in Boston. This is coordinated by the, International Student Services Office.
Students, complete several writing assignments reflecting, on their learning and experiences. Limited, enrollment.

SBS 170 - Global Engagement: Work Abroad (0)

This zero credit course is restricted to students, who will complete an internship, volunteer job, teaching or other short-term position working, abroad in a country other than their own. It, requires several reflective writing assignments, related to the global work experience.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

SBS 180 - Global Engagement: General (0)

This zero credit course is restricted to students, whose proposal for an alternate global engagement, experience has been approved by the SBS, Undergraduate Programs Office. These might range, from primary research or other academic projects, to volunteer or service projects that have, students interacting with people whose are from a, country different from their home country. Not, all experiences will count, so students should, review the BSBA webpage for the learning goals, related to this requirement and discuss it with, an advisor or the SBS Undergraduate Programs, Office. Most opportunities will require several, reflective writing assignments related to the, global experiences.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

SBS H100 - Honors careerSTART (1)

SBS H100 engages first year SBS Honors students, in a series of activities, discussions, and, programs to explore their interests and, strengths, and learn how courses and, co-curricular experiences help them to achieve, their goals. This honors section is designed to, assist in facilitating the building of the honors, community. SBS HC120 - Customer Analytics: Data Tools and Techniques

This course introduces students to the science of customer analytics while casting a keen eye toward the artful use of numbers to generate customer insights. The goal is to provide students with the foundation needed to apply analytical techniques to real-world market driven problems organizations confront daily. Students will learn descriptive analytics, predictive analytics, prescriptive analytics, and their application to real-world business practices. This course provides introductory level information/knowledge of the field of analytics that inform business decisions. Students will gain skills to identify the ideal analytical tool for problem driven specific needs; understand valid and reliable ways to analyze and visualize data; and utilize data in business decision making. Course will use R/Python for statistical computing.

Prerequisite: SBS Honors or 3.2 GPA required. MATH-128 or higher required.

SBS HC160 - Happiness: How to Get It, Retain It, and, Benefit From It (3)

In an informal survey it has been found that, most of the people want to be happy(ier) than, what they are. The business world is also, realizing that happier people make better, choices. Coca-Cola's new slogan is "Open, Happiness" while Walgreen say "Meet at the, intersection of Happy and Healthy." Happier, people are more successful, make more money, get, more promotions, are inspiring and are sought, after by others (i.e. are more popular). This, course will cover the following: 1. Techniques, (including MOM*) to find happiness and retain it., 2. How to be happy under all circumstances. 3., How to use happiness to improve focus, be more, productive, increase output and succeed in all, spheres of life. Reap happiness benefits by, being healthy - physically, mentally, emotionally, and intellectually. "MOM - Managing of Mind

Prerequisite: CAS or SBS Honors.

SBS 200 - careerEXPLORE (1)

SBS 200 fosters active exploration of career, interests, jobs and fields. Students build, introductory career management, information, seeking, and self-presentation skills. Students, refine oral and written communication through, class presentations, networking, research, and, writing a resume and cover letter. This is the, second in a four-year sequence of career courses.

Prerequisite: SBS-100 or SBS-H100 and MKT-210 (concurrently or previously).

SBS 220 - Business Writing (3)

The world is constantly changing and businesses, as well as individual employees must adapt. In, order to effectively leverage future, communication technologies and media, you must be, a critical reader and have strong foundational, writing and editing skills. You will learn to write, effectively for business by focusing on your, audience, purpose, tone, and the design of, various business documents and by revising and, refining your writing.

Prerequisite: MKT-210 or MKT-H210. WRI-102 or WRI-H103. STATS-240 or STATS-250., Honors student or 3.2 GPA or higher. SBS-300 (concurrently or, previously).

SBS H220 - Honors Business Writing (3)

The world is constantly changing, and businesses, as well as individual employees must adapt. In, order to effectively leverage future, communication technologies and media, you must be, a critical reader and have strong foundational, writing and editing skills. In this course,, current business news will be read for its, content and to understand the interplay of, language and purpose. You will learn to write, effectively for business by focusing on your, audience, purpose, tone, and the design of, various business documents and by revising and, refining your writing.

Prerequisite: Restricted to SBS honors students. Must have taken less than 54, credits.

SBS HC206 - Community Engagement- Big Brother/Big, Sister (1)

This is the first in a series of three, consecutive challenge courses (Fall, Spring,, Fall) will provide qualified honors students with, an opportunity to satisfy their entire minimum, challenge course requirement (3 credits; one, credit per semester), as well as the local, engagement and potentially the global engagement, requirement too. Honors students (Bigs) will be, matched with one child (Little) to serve as their, companion and friend. The 'Littles' are students, who are currently enrolled at the McKay, Elementary School in East Boston., During their time together, Bigs and Littles, talk, play games, and simply spend time together., Professionally trained staff will provide, ongoing support to each "match" through telephone, contact and meeting with the Bigs and Littles as, well as a designated McKay school official. This school based mentoring program will provide, honors students with the opportunity to create, one-to-one friendships with students during the, school year on school (McKay) grounds. 'Bigs', will spend 45 minutes to one hour per week with, their 'Little'. The Big and Little are matched, for a minimum of three semesters. This allows, Bigs to provide the level of consistency, necessary to create the statistically proven, impact for their Little., This impact is significant. A 1999 national, study showed that children in Big Brother and Big, Sisters School Based Mentoring program were, comparatively: . 64% more likely to develop positive attitudes, towards school, . 58% more likely to achieve higher grades in, social studies, languages and math, . 60% more likely to improve relationship with, adults and 56% more likely to improve, relationship with peers.

Prerequisite: GPA 3.3 or higher.

SBS HC207 - Big Brother, Big Sister - a Future of, Boston (1)

As the Boston Foundation's Boston Indicator, Project states "Children mirror a community's, values, progress, and challenges. If a, community's children are thriving, it is likely, that the whole community is doing well." This, course will examine many of the social issues, impacting the life of youth in the City of, Boston. The course will explore topics ranging, from healthcare, education, poverty, housing,, crime and many more. As part of this, service-learning course, students enrolled will, be continuing their hours of service with Big, Brother, Big Sister of MA Bay, and reflect on how, their work is benefiting the community through, the lens of social justice and the topics, described above. This course will satisfy the, Local Engagement requirement.

Prerequisite: SBS Honors or 3.3 GPA, SBS-HC206, or permission of instructor.

SBS HC208 - Independent Study (1)

Independent Study

Prerequisite: Take SBS-HC206 and SBS-HC207; SBS Honors students only.

SBS HC209 - Community Engagement: A Personal and, Professional Journey (2)

This service-learning course examines the role of, civic and community engagement in enhancing your, personal and professional development. Students, will assess their personal values around a chosen, area of social justice and conduct 20 hours of, community service at a local Boston non-profit, organization. In addition, students will examine, how businesses can create social change. How can, we shift the thinking and look to businesses to, solve social problems? Students will learn, through this course how various non profits and, for profits enhance the local communities in, which they exist, and explore the responsibility, that, as individuals and professionals, educated, citizens have to contribute to the community in a, personal and professional manner. This course, will satisfy the Local Engagement Requirement.

Prerequisite: SBS Honors required.

SBS HC211 - Peer Mentoring (2)

Study in this area will give students a deeper understanding of using empathy as a tool for communication, relationship building, navigating difficult conversations, and identifying and cultivating passion for their work.
Prerequisite: SBS Honors, Sophomore status or higher.

SBS HC280 - Sports Data Analysis (1)
Do you ever wonder if a player is really "red hot"? Why don't those sports ranking polls ever agree? How can I pick a better fantasy football team? This challenge course covers the mathematical and statistical concepts and techniques used to assess performance data to provide support for decision making. Topics include mathematical, statistical data analysis, and modeling.
Prerequisite: Take STATS-240 or STATS-250; SBS Honors or 3.3 GPA required.

SBS HC285 - Sports Ethics (1)
An in-depth study and analysis of the early, history and recent developments of ethical dilemmas found within the Sports Industry. The student will enrich their understanding of the "business culture" with both the individual and the organization with discussion on "checks and balances" to avoid future problems and create a, business plan with healthy alignments. Finally, this course will challenge students to learn a path of self-development and be encouraged to clarify and define their values, understanding how the work environment challenges values, and, practice ways to defend and give voice to their, ethical opinion in different scenarios. Upon, completion/certification of the course, students, will be uniquely equipped to present themselves to, current and prospective employers with an advanced, and sound platform for improving and adding, stability to ethically motivated companies.

Prerequisite: SBS Honors students with a minimum of 30 earned credits.

SBS HC290 - Leadership in Finance (2)

Most of us are familiar with the names Warren Buffett, Michael Bloomberg, Abigail Johnson, Masayoshi Son and Paul Volcker. Other than, leading their respective financial establishments, through difficult challenges, might their exist, other commonalities among those and other, successful leaders in finance? In this course, we, will examine the shared, but not so common, attributes of effective leadership in finance, and, seek to develop a framework for financial, leadership. In light of the current state of the, economy, particular attention will also be paid to, leading through crisis. Analysis of issues and, events, as well as general findings will be based, on exhaustive research (i.e. a blend of reliable, and scholarly sources), analytical reasoning and, basic principles of finance.

Prerequisite: SBS Hoors student with 3.2 minimum GPA required. Take FIN-200.

SBS 300 - careerBUILD (1)

SBS 300 deepens students' career information and, skills with a focus on professionalism. Students, refine career documents based on personal, branding with a focus on articulating the, experiences, learning, and skills gained in, previous internships, volunteer and work, experiences, courses, and club or performance, roles. Students use technology, personal, networks and professional organizations to, develop job search skills. This is the third in, a four-year sequence of career courses.

Prerequisite: SBS-200. Prerequisite will, be waived with, 45 or more transfer, credits from another institution. SBS students only. CAS, students by special permission. 3.3 GPA or honors student.

SBS HC310 - Understanding the Amazing Boston Economy, A Roadmap (2)

SBS 510 - Independent Study in Business (1-3)

Students seeking to expand on their classroom experiences may propose a robust research project, in the field of business, with a primary focus on, solving a problem or problems through extensive research. Proposals must follow the instructions on the application form, including a detailed statement of work that provides evidence sufficient to support the number of credits being requested. A full-time faculty member must agree to supervise the independent study and submit the approved proposal to the Dean's Office to be reviewed. Maximum of 3 credits allowed; to be completed in one semester.

SBS 521 - Business Internship (1)

This 1 credit course is for students who are concurrently working in an approved internship or co-op position. Career focused assignments, include on-the-job networking, information seeking skills, understanding the organizational environment, and developing career goals. Students complete a minimum of 70 hours of internship work and must have completed supervisor employment paperwork and performance evaluation(s). This course does not count toward a major or minor. International students must register for CPT approval with the International Student Services Office PRIOR to beginning an internship.

Prerequisite: 2.5 GPA, 30 credits completed and instructor consent required.

SBS 522 - Internship (2)

This course offers students an opportunity to apply marketing and business knowledge while also, providing them valuable work experience. More specifically, the course has three major components: to use academic knowledge of marketing, concepts in practical applications, to understand workplace dynamics and how marketing practice differs from theory, and to learn about career, paths in marketing and business.

Prerequisite: Take MKT-210, GPA of 2.6 or higher required. Instructor consent, required.

SBS 555 - Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic I (1)

SBS 555 is a one-credit course for undergraduate, students volunteering with the Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic, a tax preparation program, that assists community members to complete their tax returns. Students will complete the required, training and certification exams during class, time before engaging in tax preparation service, during the semester, including at least two Saturdays. To count this experience toward the Local Engagement Requirement, several reflective, writing assignments are required and students, must maintain professional and appropriate behavior in all interactions with the community, members served. Students who are required to complete ACCT 560 can instead complete SBS 555, 556, and 557.

Prerequisite: Sophomore status or higher.

SBS 556 - Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic II (1)

SBS 556 is a one-credit course for undergraduate, students volunteering with the Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic for the second time, a tax, preparation program that assists community, members to complete their tax returns. Students, will complete the required training and certification exams during class time before, engaging in tax preparation service and mentoring, of fellow volunteers during the semester, including at least three Saturdays. Students who, are required to complete ACCT 560 can instead, complete SBS 555, 556, and 557.

Prerequisite: SBS-555.

SBS 557 - Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic III (1)

SBS 557 is a one-credit course for undergraduate, students volunteering with the Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic for the third time, a tax, preparation program that assists community, members to complete their tax returns. Students, will complete the required training and, certification exams during class time before, engaging in tax preparation service, mentoring, fellow volunteers during the semester, and, assisting with site coordination, including four Saturdays. Students who are required to complete ACCT 560 can instead complete SBS 555, 556, and 557.

Prerequisite: SBS-555, SBS-556.

SBS HC510 - Honors Undergraduate Research Project (1-2)

This independent study is required for students, who are interested in presenting a research project at the National Collegiate Honors Council, Annual Conference scheduled to be held in Boston, November 2018. Students must identify a research topic, develop a proposal based on NCHC Proposal Guidelines, submit the proposal by the due date, and initiate the research. There will be periodic meetings with the instructor to review and discuss the status of the research.

Prerequisite: Instructor Consent required.

SBS HC520 - Honors Internship (3)

This course provides SBS Honors students and opportunity to apply discipline specific and, business knowledge for problem solving in an, organizational workplace setting. Students obtain, and organize their own internship position and, particular project with assistance from, instructor, as needed. Project will vary in scope, and content depending upon discipline and, internship focus. Students are expected to be on, the job for approximately 8 hours per week during, the course of the semester.

Prerequisite: Junior status or higher, GPA 3.5 or higher, and Instructor, Consent required.

SBS 603 - Managerial Economics (3)

This course is required for MSA and MSF students, and it is also a recommended elective for MBA, students with a finance concentration. This, course develops an understanding of the concepts, tools, and applications of economics at both the, micro and macro level. The focus is on how, economic analysis influences decision-making in, the public and private sectors and how economic, tools can enhance managerial effectiveness and, organizational efficiency. The economic role of, government and its impact on the business, environment in a market economy, the factors that, influence firm performance and competitiveness, and the role of financial institutions in the, current economic environment are discussed, throughout the course.

SBS 604 - Data Analytics (3)

This course introduces students to the concepts, and applications of data analytics on large data, sets for managerial decision making. Students, will learn foundation skills needed to extract, valuable information out of data, including, various descriptive and predictive analytics, techniques. Students develop knowledge of data, visualization and interpretation coupled with, conveying data, results and insights. Issues on, data acquisition, storage and management will be, discussed.

SBS 700 - Unlocking Your Professional Potential (1)

SBS-700 is the first required course in Suffolk's, graduate programs. The course is based on the, precepts of experiential learning. Based on the, idea that people learn best by participating in, meaningful activities this course provides you, with the opportunity to identify your strengths,, interests, values, vision, and capabilities, and, identify next steps to leverage your program and, realize your professional goals.

SBS 888 - Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic (0)

SBS 888 is a zero-credit course for graduate students volunteering with the Suffolk Free Tax Preparation Clinic, a tax preparation program that assists community members to complete their tax returns. Students will complete the required training and certification exams during class time before engaging in tax preparation service and, for more experienced volunteers, mentoring of fellow volunteers during the semester, and assisting with site coordination, including at least two Saturdays.

SBS 910 - Directed Independent Study (1-3)

Enables a student-initiated directed study, project. The student and faculty advisor must, concur on a written proposal and final report. The, project must be approved by the dean of academic, affairs prior to registration.

Prerequisite: Approval of SBS Dean of Academic Affairs required. For graduate, students in online programs only.

SBS 920 - Graduate Internship (0)

This internship course is for students who are, working in an approved graduate level internship, in a company, non-profit organization, or public, agency. The internship is described in a written, proposal agreed upon by the company sponsor and, intern. The internship must be approved by the, International Student Services Office, (international students only), Program, Director/Course Coordinator and SBS Dean of, Graduate Programs. The internship is intended for, international students who wish to participate in, a practical, degree related experience. This, course does not count toward a degree. , International students must receive Curricular, Practical Training (CPT) approval with the, International Student Services Office PRIOR to, beginning an internship.

Prerequisite: SBS-700. International students must complete 2 academic, semesters before approved. Approval of Program Director/Course, Coordinator and SBS Dean of Graduate Programs required.
SCI - Science

SCI 100 - STEM Start

For aspiring STEM majors who want a head start on essential skills. This course provides customized preparation in specific areas of STEM. Emphasis on scientific problem-solving, with weekly problems in STEM subjects including Biology, Chemistry, Computer Science, Environmental Science, Math, and Physics. A multi-week collaborative project will integrate multiple STEM disciplines. This course does NOT fulfill the core STE requirement.

SCI 101 - Introduction to Forensic Biology (3)

Application of the principles of forensic biology, in evaluating physical evidence, with emphasis on, its role in a criminal investigation with a focus, on serology, DNA, and impression evidence.

Prerequisite: SCI-L101 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

SCI 102 - Introduction to Forensic Chemistry

Application of the principles of forensic, chemistry in evaluating physical evidence, with, emphasis on its role in a criminal investigation., Class experiences may include guest lectures.

Prerequisite: SCI-L102 concurrently.

SCI 103 - Environmental Science (3)

Case study approach to the fundamentals of, science, applied to environmental degradation, ecosystems,, geological processes, population dynamics,, deforestation and biodiversity, climate change,, ozone depletion, air soil, and water resource, management, pollution and risks to health,, economics and the environment, politics and the, environment, and ethics and the environment.

Prerequisite: SCI-L103 must be taken concurrently. Non-CUES majors only. Offered: Fall.

SCI 106 - Biotechnology & Its Application in Medicine, Agriculture, Law (4)

Introduces the latest discoveries and applications of biotechnology. Topics include genetically modified food, stem cells, genetic testing, cloning, and forensics. A combination of lectures, discussions, short documentaries, mock congressional hearings, and hands-on activities will provide insight into the numerous medical, social, legal, and ethical issues surrounding this technology.

SCI 108 - Introduction to Cancer Care (4)

Introduces the top ten U.S. adult cancers, as, well as the most common pediatric cancers. Topics, to be covered include cancer causes, detection,, and prevention. Psychosocial aspects of being, diagnosed with cancer and the role nutrition, plays for cancer patients will be integrated. , The course will also discuss the major treatment, modalities for each cancer including radiation, therapy, surgery, chemotherapy, and bone marrow, transplants.

Offered: Fall.

SCI 109 - SL-Introduction to Community Cancer Care (4)

Students meet community needs by engaging in 30, hours of service-learning outside the classroom, with our community partner. This course introduces, the top ten U.S. adult cancers, as well as the, most common pediatric cancers. Topics to be, covered include cancer causes, detection, and, prevention. Psychosocial aspects of being, diagnosed with cancer and the roles nutrition and, physical activity play for cancer patients will be, involved. The course will also discuss the major, treatment modalities for each cancer including, radiation therapy, surgery, chemotherapy, and bone, marrow transplants. Service-learning is a pedagogy, integrating academically relevant service, activities that address human and community needs, into a course. Students connect knowledge and, theory to practice by combining service with, reflection in a structured learning environment., Students will engage in service-learning with an, underserved community partner in regards to cancer, by working directly with cancer patients or by, assisting on a project that supports cancer, patients. Service-learning is incorporated, throughout the entire course.

SCI 111 - Introduction to Astronomy (3)

History of astronomy from the ancients to Newton;, light; telescopes, detectors; the sun, earth,, moon, planets, comets, asteroids, meteors; space, programs, science and technology in society., Accompanying lab course includes a field trip to, an observatory in the greater Boston area, where, students will be able to make firsthand, observations. Designed for non-science majors.

Prerequisite: MATH-128 or higher and SCI-L111 or SCI-LV111 must be taken concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

SCI 112 - Structure of the Universe (3)

Astronomy of the cosmos; sun, stars, interstellar, materials, galaxies, pulsars, quasars, black, holes; nature of time relativity, cosmology. Course culminates with a visit an observatory, where students will be able to make firsthand, observations. For non-science majors.

Prerequisite: MATH-128 or higher and SCI-L112 concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

SCI 113 - A Habitable Earth Within the Solar, System (4)

Introduces non-science majors to, concepts that are central to making our, planet habitable. It presents the Earth in context, of, the solar system with a broad view of global, climate change and energy resources in a quest to, better understand the workings of our planet. Students will gain a flavor of how researchers, think, investigate and develop conclusions that, directly affect our political and economic, future. Topics include, the solar system, the search for other, habitable Earth-like planets, the search for, extraterrestrial life, and evolution of life on, Earth. This course makes, heavy use of audio-visual materials often, including computer animations and simulations,, in-class experiment demonstration, and intensive, use of internet-based resources.

SCI 120 - Introduction to Chemistry (4)

Students will use scientific inquiry to explore, topics in chemistry that impact our daily lives,, such as pH, solution concentrations, acids , bases, household chemicals, etc. The project-based, learning environment enables students to explore, chemistry while working in teams on an engaging, project about their chosen topic of chemistry., Students reflect on the teamworking process and, engage their classmates in lively discussions, about their topic during the end-of-semester, presentations.

Offered: Fall.

SCI 165 - Inner Workings of the Physical Universe (4)

About 15 billion years ago, (data indicate) the, big bang occurred and the universe was born. With, it came physical laws and a spectacular array of, consequences that lead to the universe as we know, it. This non-lab, 4 credit course explores the, inner workings of the physical universe in terms, of the scientific inquiry which lead to Newton's, laws, an understanding of energy, waves, light,, electricity, atomic structure, chemical, reactions, nuclear physics, particle physics,, relativity, and the big bang theory. During the, course, students will learn to make use of modern, resources to access scientific and technical, literature to research a scientific topic. They, will learn to distinguish between science and, technology (e.g. quantum mechanics and, nanotechnology, the discovery of the Higgs boson, and the large hadron collider that made it, possible, etc.) and to understand how the, science, technology, and engineering disciplines, play a crucial role in recognizing and solving, problems of society and the world that we share.

SCI 171 - The Built World: How Humans Engineer, Environments (4)

The most basic needs of humans have not changed -, water, food, and shelter - but the means of, meeting these needs has. In this course, we will, examine how technology-driven societies operate by, studying how cities are built and how they, function. Topics will include water supply and, distribution systems; transportation systems, (including road and bridge design and, construction); building design, construction, and, operation (including skyscraper and sustainable, building design), and waste removal systems, (municipal and industrial wastewater removal and, treatment, solid waste removal and treatment). This is not a course about little gadgets and, widgets; this is a course about big engineering, marvels; and it emphasizes applications of science, - how things work - rather than scientific theory.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

Geographic Information Science (GIS) link, information (number of fire hydrants on a block), to features on a map (e.g., a point representing, street address) that has a designated geographic, location (as designated by global coordinates),. Unlike paper maps, GIS software allows the, production of interactive maps that allows the, user to layer data, to indicate spatial patterns,, to analyze trends, and to combine different, features of the mapped area in novel ways. For, example, a business person may wish to use GIS to, determine the optimum location of retail outlet, (based on the mapped demographics of a, neighborhood), while an environmental engineer may, use GIS to describe the location of outfalls to, see how they correlate to areas of stream, pollution. In this course, students will be, introduced to maps, map vocabulary and attributes,, and GIS mapping through a series of mapping, exercises. A knowledge of Windows-type, applications is presumed.

Prerequisite: SCI-L173 must be taken concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

SCI 181 - Science and Life in the 21st Century (4)

No longer offered on Boston campus , This is a four credit, non-lab, science course, that examines the central scientific problems, confronting the 21st century. The course studies, particular topics and teaches the necessary, science around these topics to provide a good, understanding of the issues. The topics currently, are: Energy, Science and Economic Decisions,, Sustainability of Life on Earth, Health and, Science.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

SCI 184 - Contemporary Science and Innovation (4)

This is a 4 credit, project based science course, that examines the central scientific problems, confronting the 21st century. The course consists, of lectures, class discussions, field trips, and, in-class hands-on activities designed to, familiarize the student with different concepts of, the lectures. The current focus is on sustainable, energy production. A final team project related, to the course topics will be given. This is the, version of SCI 183 without a separate lab, component. Students who have taken SCI 183, L183, are not allowed to take this course.

Offered: Fall, Spring.

SCI H106 - Honors Biotechnology & Its Application, In Medicine, Agriculture, Law (4)

Introduces the latest discoveries and applications, of biotechnology. Topics include genetically, modified food, stem cells, genetic testing,, cloning, and forensics. A combination of lectures,, discussions, short documentaries, mock, congressional hearings, and hands-on activities, will provide insight into the numerous medical,, social, legal, and ethical issues surrounding this, technology.

Prerequisite: Honor student stats or GPA of 3.3 required.

SCI H108 - Honors Introduction to Cancer Care (4)

Introduces the top ten U.S. adult cancers, as, well as the most common pediatric cancers. Topics, to be covered include cancer causes, detection, and, prevention. Psychosocial aspects of being, diagnosed with cancer and the roles nutrition and, physical activity play for cancer patients will be, involved. The course will also discuss the major, treatment modalities for each cancer including, radiation therapy, surgery, chemotherapy, and bone, marrow transplants. Service-learning is a pedagogy, integrating academically relevant service, activities that address human and community needs, into a course. Students connect knowledge and, theory to practice by combining service with, reflection in a structured learning environment,. Students will engage in service-learning with an, underserved community partner in regards to cancer, by working directly with cancer patients or by, assisting on a project that supports cancer, patients. Service-learning is incorporated, throughout the entire course.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

SCI H171 - The Built World: How Humans Engineer, Environments- Honors (4)

The most basic needs of humans have not changed -, water, food, and shelter - but the means of, meeting these needs has. Prerequisite: Honors students only. Offered: Fall, Spring.

SCI L101 - Introduction to Forensic Biology Lab (1)

Laboratory experiences related to the collection, and analysis of physical evidence as performed by, forensic science professionals, with the primary, focus relating to areas of forensic biology,. Experiments may include bloodstain pattern, analysis, footwear, fingerprint impressions,, forensic serology, and forensic DNA. Three hour, laboratory.

Prerequisite: SCI-101 concurrently. Offered: Fall.

SCI L102 - Introduction to Forensic Chemistry Lab

Laboratory experiences related to the collection and analysis of physical evidence as performed by forensic science professionals, with the primary focus relating to areas of forensic biology. Experiments may include bloodstain pattern analysis, footwear fingerprint impressions, forensic serology, and forensic DNA. Three hour laboratory.

Prerequisite: SCI-102 concurrently.

SCI L103 - Environmental Science Lab (1)

Laboratory exercises to illustrate the topics, covered in Science 103. Field-testing and, analysis of environmental samples. Field trip, required.

Prerequisite: Must take SCI-103 concurrently. Non-CUES majors only. Offered: Fall.

SCI L111 - Introduction to Astronomy Lab (1)

Laboratory experiments and exercises to illustrate, the principles discussed in SCI-111. Observational exercises using computer, simulations, astrophotography, and stellar spectroscopy. Includes a field trip to an, observatory in the greater Boston area, where, students will be able to make firsthand observations. Designed for non-science majors.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-111 concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

SCI L112 - Structure of the Universe Lab (1)

Laboratory experiments and exercises to illustrate, the principles discussed in SCI-112. Observational, exercises using the computer simulations, astrophotography, and stellar spectroscopy., Includes a field trip to an observatory in the, greater Boston area, where students will be able, to make firsthand observations. Designed for, non-science majors.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-112 concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

SCI L173 - Mapping Our World Lab (1)

This laboratory illustrates concepts and methods, taught in SCI 173. In this lab students will be, introduced to maps, map vocabulary and attributes,, and GIS mapping through a series of mapping, exercises. A knowledge of Windows-type, applications is presumed.

Prerequisite: SCI-173 must be taken concurrently. Offered: Fall, Spring.

SCI LV111 - Introduction to Astronomy Lab, Online (1)

Virtual Laboratory experiments and exercises to, illustrate the principles discussed in Astronomy I, (SCI-111). Observational exercises using the, through the micro observatory or other internet, based telescopes.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-111 concurrently. Offered: Occasionally.

SCI 201 - Physics for Future Presidents (4)

This course presents a topical introduction to, the key principles and concepts of physics in the, context of the world events and natural phenomena, that confront world leaders and that require, informed decisions and responses. Energy, health,, counter-terrorism, remote sensing, space, programs, nuclear proliferation, and a host of, other modern challenges have technological and, scientific dimensions, the understanding of which, is essential to avoiding disastrous policy, decisions. This course considers the application, of physics to these societal challenges. The, material is covered at a level and pace that a, future world leader should be able to handle; the, emphasis is on the development of physical, reasoning skills, and not on detailed,, mathematical problem solving.

SCI 210 - Earth and Planetary Crystals (3)

This course will provide undergraduate students, of various disciplines with an introduction to, gems and crystals using interactive,, evidence-based teaching approaches. Crystalline, forms of matter are critical to our existence. Using innovative teaching strategies of in-class, hands-on demonstration, supplemented with visuals, of crystal details, the course provides students, insights into the formation, alteration and, unique properties that make crystals invaluable. Topics range from the study of proteins and, nucleic acids to the interior of planets. The, in-class lectures will provide a basic guide that, will serve as a platform for individually catered, in-depth study. Therefore, the course is open to, advanced students as well, who can pick up higher, level of information for discussion and class, projects.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-L210 concurrently.

SCI 251 - Intro to Coastal Geology (4)

Coastal environments will be analyzed with an, emphasis on the important environmental, characteristics of these areas. Management and, environmental problems within the coastal and, offshore areas such as beach erosion, beach, access, and oil spills will be considered. One, required field trip.

Prerequisite: 1 MATH course. Offered: Spring.
SCI 288 - Measuring the World (4)

The world is addicted to quantifying the essence, of everything from personal IQ, to the speed of a, baseball, to our health, or our chances of winning, the lottery. Behind most of these numeric values, exists a science of measurement. Some of this is, referenced to international standards, such as, length, time, weight, or temperature. Others are, more arbitrary and subjective, such as ranking, Olympic performance in gymnastics, beauty, pageants, or popular responses as found in the, game show "Family Feud." A third category includes, controversial areas, such as measuring whether a, person is lying when interrogated or using hype, rather than reality to market products. Sometimes, statistics are used to predict sports outcomes,, such as in the annual March Madness NCAA, basketball brackets. Finally, in a world subject, to fraud and deception, it can be essential to, distinguish legitimate from counterfeit items,, such as in money, art, collectibles, and, historical documents. Don't get hoodwinked This, course examines all of these, starting with how, measurements have been made throughout history, along with a full deck of entertaining terms used, during the ages. This may help you sort out your, weight, whether given in pounds, kilos, or stones,. Often these terms will provide insights into how, people lived in different eras. We will also look, at some of the technologies currently available to, provide these measurements and unravel the, complexities of various sensors that are used. As, we consider the meaning of "accuracy" we may, become less naive about how much confidence to, ascribe to the results given us. Hovering around, all of these measurements should be the question, of validity- are they meaningful, useful, or, misleading? And the impact they have on society-, whether they steer behavior more powerfully than, one might originally suspect. Each student will, also be given an opportunity to become an "expert", in an area of measurement of personal interest. By, the end of the course all students should have, gained greater insight into how, the world around, them is quantified, and whether numbers can, provide accurate predictors for our future,. Algebra helpful. Basic science background helpful., Curiosity essential

SCI L210 - Earth and Planetary Crystals Laboratory (1)

This course introduces concepts that are central, to understanding crystals, gemstones and other, natural materials abundant throughout the solar, system. It includes an introduction to, carbon-based crystals (diamonds, proteins,, viruses and ices) in context with origins of, life, geopolitical significance and their, applications This laboratory-based course is an, introduction to modern tools and techniques for, crystal analysis with a historical context of, some of the greatest discoveries in science (DNA,, and other nanomaterials). It presents crystals, and gems from their visually appealing point of, view to their sometimes-dramatic physical, characteristics, with a broad view of their, formation, occurrence, physics, chemistry and, resources perspective.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-210 concurrently.

SCI 360 - Planetary Science and Astrobiology (3)

This course introduces concepts that are central, to understanding of life on Earth, feasibility, and the search for life in the universe. The, approach of this course is multidisciplinary, focus on the life's origins, habitability, and, the possibility of life elsewhere through space, exploration of possible habitable (Earth-like), environments in our solar system and beyond. The, main theme of the course is to understand the, habitability of Earth in context with alien, environments. We will explore the scientific, understanding of life in extreme environments and, detection of life itself. With Mt. Teide volcano, (Tenerife) as our laboratory, we will explore the, evolution and emergence of life in new, environments in context with astrophysical, observations and biochemical principles that, sustain life processes. The core theme of this, Interdisciplinary Science focused course is, suitable for students who may have taken their, last science and math course several years ago,, or are just curious about knowing facts on Life, on Earth and the science behind the search for, life in other planetary bodies. Together with a, reading component, this course aims to give, students a flavor of how researchers think, work, in the field, make observations and build, hypothesis. Topics covered in this course range, from origins to life, life in extreme, environments, search for habitable exoplanets and, defining the habitable zone in the universe.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-L360 concurrently.

SCI L360 - Planetary Science and Astrobiology Lab (1)

This is the laboratory component of the course on, Planetary Science and Astrobiology. We, develop the scientific understanding of life in, extreme environments and detection of life, itself. With Mt. Teide volcano (Tenerife) as our, laboratory, we will explore the evolution and, emergence of life in new environments in context, with astrophysical observations and biochemical, principles that sustain life processes.

Prerequisite: Take SCI-360 concurrently.
SF-First-Year Seminar

SF 101 - Fixing the World- Energy and Water: The Science of Solutions (4)

Two of the most daunting challenges the world faces is how to provide both, its growing energy needs and potable drinking water. Regular news events include climate change, droughts, flooding, and petroleum struggles. Human nature often requires a severe crisis before it responds. This course will investigate the historical science driving the use of energy, since, the Industrial Revolution to convert energy resources into work, including the steam engine, the electric motor, and the internal combustion engine. It will also consider alternative energy options to fossil fuels, such as solar, wind, geothermal, and ocean power. Along the way we will consider the evidence for Global Warming and Climate Change. We will look into human nature, simple life styles, conspiracy theories, and the influence of those in power to shape human opinion. We will also consider how our water supply is provided and where it goes after being used. What options do developing countries or, drought-racked areas have to remedy their water needs? Although the course pursues a scientific understanding of these issues, the mathematics used will be gentle, and a larger emphasis will be placed on the intuitive appreciation of these concerns.

SF 116 - Enlightened Insanity (4)

Rain or shine, the great 18th century, Enlightenment philosophers would meet at the famous cafes of Paris to discuss their ideas, and to observe and criticize society. From these, informal debates emerged ideas that are at the core of our modern understanding of the nature of society, marginality, human nature, civil rights, the essence of creativity and genius. Come join us in the quest to understand, define, observe, and analyze the key ideas and concepts of these great thinkers, such as Rousseau, Diderot, and Voltaire, still so relevant in our time. We will read key works of these creative thinkers and philosophers. We will enrich our experience and understanding through the use of film, theatre, performances, museum visits, as well as the occasional cafe debate.

SF 1178 - Jazz to Jay-Z: Black Music & Literature

Jazz and blues music of the early 20th century has been hailed as a potent expression of African American life and as a major contribution to American culture. Albert Murray writes, "the blues idiom is a synthesis of African and European elements, the product of an Afro-American sensibility in an American mainland situation." Since its birth in the early 20th century and movement from New Orleans throughout the rest of the country following "The Great Migration," the form expanded, diversified, and explored its artistic potential throughout the 20th century and into the twenty-first, giving way to jazz, rock and roll, electric blues, soul, disco, funk, R&B, and rap. African American literature evolved simultaneously and in parallel ways. There is such a strong connection between black music and literature that it makes sense to study them together. In this seminar, we will explore the history and form of black music and black literature from the Harlem Renaissance of the 1920s through contemporary rap. We will study work that spans a hundred years of African American cultural production, analyzing trends and developments through a careful interpretation of musical and literary texts and their adjuncts (such as music video and film).

SF 1188 - Attention in the Age of Distraction (4)

Attention is a finite resource. The relative scarcity of your attention means, among other things, that it is incredibly valuable to others. The competition is startling in its intensity; there are as many claims to your attention as there are people in your life. Family and friends, who love you want to maintain a relationship with, you, while professors and spiritual leaders want to help shape you into a better version of yourself. Others, like upstanding politicians, need to explain your role in a wider community of citizens, and still others, like disreputable politicians, need to motivate you enough to grant them power and prestige. Then there are the, multinational corporations and media conglomerates, who collectively spend billions of dollars on advertising to hold your attention long enough, that you might be inspired to hand over your credits in exchange for a product that will further distract your attention from the meaningful stuff of life on this planet. This course endeavors to explore this fight for your attention. We will seek to better understand, the psychological, philosophical, political, and cultural value of attention. In exploring the topic of attention, we will also ask about the role and function of distraction and boredom. We, will work from the premise that how you choose to focus your attention has a profound impact on your life: it reaches every corner of your existence, from your leisure time and education to your, professional and political life. That which, captures and holds your attention, in part, dictates your very sense of self.

SF 132 - The Beatles: Here, There & Everywhere (4)

This seminar will investigate the impact and, legacy of the Beatles. The Fab Four deserve our, scholarly attention as musical innovators and as, cultural avatars of the 1960s, an era that still, exerts influence today. We will examine the many, ways in which the Beatles rocked the establishment, and became defining figures in post-war youth, culture. We will also discuss other media (the, visual arts, film, fashion, style) and fields of, study (mass media, marketing, recording, technology, copyright law, English history) using, the Beatles as our guides.

SF 143 - Between Myth & Reality: Representations, Of Spain (4)

Using excerpted readings from travel texts,, histories, and essays from the nineteenth and, twentieth centuries, this course will explore the, varying descriptions and interpretations of Spain, as seen by those traveling through and/or living, within its boundaries. From Richard Wright's, thought-provoking insights into Franco's Spain's, racial issues to Giles Tremlett's straightforward, depictions of contemporary Spain, the readings, will provide differing filters through which to, consider the many contradictions that make up, "the Spanish experience".

SF 151 - Getting Over It: Dealing With the, Aftermath of Group Conflict/Mass, Atrocity (4)

Once violent conflict between two groups has, ended, what is the best way to transition back to, normality coming to terms with the past or simply, moving on? To answer these questions we will, examine the debates surrounding war crime, tribunals, truth commissions, lustration policies,, and reparations in the second half of the 20th, century. Case studies will include post-apartheid, South Africa, post-WWII Germany, and the, Israeli/Palestinian conflict. We will discuss the, philosophical problems raised by each of these, instruments, as well as on the political, legal,, and practical difficulties their implementation, present,, Cultural Diversity B

SF 174 - Tragedy and Literature (4)

This course will focus on classic works of ancient, and modern literature that examine the human, condition from a tragic perspective. We will, concentrate on close readings from the following, texts: Homer's Iliad, Sophocles' Antigone, The, Bhagavad-Gita, Shakespeare's Othello, Chekhov's, short stories, and Joyce's Dubliners.

SF 175 - War and Apocalypse in Science Fiction (4)

From some of the earliest examples of what we, call science fiction to today's cutting edge, writers, artists, and videographers, the, devastation of war and other disasters and their, aftermath have loomed large in how the future, (and alternative versions of the present) plays, out. This course will look at some of the more, important issues of future war and, post-apocalyptic literature, with a dash of, television and film and a souvenir of art.

SF 178 - Sacred Hoops & Sneaker Pimps:, Understanding the American Hoop Dream (4)

This course is about the basketball hoop dream, played out at the high school and college levels., We will study a wide variety of materials -, novels, films, websites, reference works - to, understand both the construction, and destruction,, of the hoop dream in such diverse places as New, York City, Seattle, rural Indiana, suburban, Georgia, and the Wind River Reservation in, Wyoming. Issues of race and culture will serve as, guiding themes as we develop critical theory, explaining why the hoop dream has persisted, and, adapted, over time, to fit the needs of its, believers and supporters.

SF 182 - Heroes, Antiheroes and Outsiders:, Reading the Graphic Novel (4)

How is it that "comics", a genre often viewed as, entertainment for children and adolescents, has, become one of the most exciting forms of narrative, and visual art? To answer this question, this, seminar will examine a range of graphic novels,, from those that celebrate their origins in, superhero comics, such as Alan Moore's Watchmen,, to those that treat subjects not usually, considered proper to the comics genre, such as Art, Spiegelman's Maus, about the Holocaust, and Alison, Bechdel's Fun Home, about the complexities of, sexual identity. As we read these works, we will, look at how the combination of words and still, images makes the graphic novel a unique, storytelling form, as well as how artists and, writers push the envelope to create new styles and, challenge our expectations. In addition to class, discussions and writing assignments, we will take, a field trip to the Museum of Fine Arts and create, a collaborative group graphic novel step-by-step, over the course of the semester (all abilities, welcome).

SF 183 - Politics, Power and the Media (4)

Is there a relationship between accumulated, political power and mass media representations?, Is news content impacted by existing political, power relations? It is the object of this course, to critically analyze the role of the mass media, within the framework of existing political power, relations in the United States. In particular, the, course will focus on the role the mass media plays, in promoting and reinforcing dominant political, practices and ideologies. The course will begin by, exploring various theories of the press, notably, its function in a democratic society, as well as, the concepts of power and propaganda. We will, continue with a series of case studies, complemented by secondary sources that highlight, how media representations affect the contemporary, distribution of political power in the US. Topics, of discussion will include the current US war on, terrorism, the ongoing health care debate, the, public disavowal of "big government", and the, concept of a liberal media.

SF 189 - American Gothic: Edgar Allan Poe, Flannery O'Connor and Annie, Proulx (4)

This literature seminar will study and compare the, short stories of Edgar Allan Poe, Flannery, O'Connor, and Annie Proulx. Beginning with Poe as, the father of the short story genre in America and, exploring his critical theory of the "grotesque, and arabesque", the class will examine the, emergence of the gothic literary idiom as a, classic American genre. Critical essays on the, gothic aesthetic will be analyzed and film, adaptations and documentaries will be viewed.

SF 190 - Asia in America, Fiction and Fact (4)

With a focus on some selected ethnic groups from, Asia, "Asia in America" studies the history and, current status of Asian Americans in Boston and, other parts of the country. We will examine the, major reasons why these immigrants chose to leave, their home country as well as their expectations, and experiences here in America. We will also, discuss the issues Asian immigrants have faced in, this adopted "home" as well as the connections, and conflicts among different ethnic groups or, even within the same ethnic group due to, political and socio-economic reasons. The course, will include some level of community engagement, through Chinatown tour and service, which may, enable us to have a direct contact with the Asian, American population and reflect on what is being, discussed in class. Through this course, we hope, to gain a better understanding of the racial and, cultural history of the country and arrive at a, deep appreciation of the dynamics of cultural, interactions in the twenty-first century. The, course fulfills the SCGP requirement.

SF 191 - Film Adaptation (4)

"Why did they change the ending of the book? The, novel is so much better" We will explore the, concept and industry of film adaptation. Students, will read novels and watch respective film, adaptations to explore how the written word is, adapted to the screen; both fiction and, non-fiction works will be considered. Also, field, trips to past film locations in Boston will be, taken to explore why specific settings were, chosen for respective situations. Additionally, students will create their own written, adaptations of source materials, putting into, practice the concepts studied in class.

SF 194 - The Rebirth of Tragedy: Rock Music, 1968-1972 (4)

Writhing, screaming, howling, moaning, androgynous, chemically-altered youths cavorting, to pulsating music. Does this describe the, Woodstock concert or an ancient Dionysian, festival? Friedrich Nietzsche's book The Birth of, Tragedy will provide a key for interpreting Bob, Dylan, Mick Jagger, Janis Joplin, Jimi Hendrix, and Jim Morrison (and many others) in this, intellectual analysis of the music of rock's, golden age and the culture surrounding it.

SF 197 - Sustainability, Energy, and Technology, At Suffolk University (4)

In this project and team-based course, students, study a sustainability problem at Suffolk, University and spend the semester developing, proposals to address the problem. At the end of, the course students will present their proposals, to Suffolk University's sustainability committee, and will exhibit their websites and visual aids, in, the Donahue lobby to educate the Suffolk, community, about sustainability. If their proposals are, well-researched and well-communicated, students, can see their ideas actualized while they are, still undergraduates.

SF 198 - Music and the Brain (4)

What accounts for the power of music to move us, so profoundly? This course explores how our, brains, and music evolved together: "What music can teach, us about the brain, what the brain can teach, us about music, and what both can teach us about, ourselves."

SF 199 - Unfolding the European Union (4)

The EU is a powerful political, economic and, cultural block that is meant to play a major, role, together with the USA and China, in the creation, of a new post-crisis world order. The seminar is, intended to cover, at a basic but reachable, level,, the history, the politics, the culture and the, functions of the EU in the beginning of the, Twentieth Century. An extraordinary experiment of, sociopolitical engineering, comparable to that of, the United States of America, the EU has been, changing the life of an increasing number of, Europeans for over 50 years. No American student, could afford to ignore the inner structure as, well, as the particular peculiarities of such inclusive, supranational organization in today's world., Issues as institutional functioning, problems, derived from individual state sovereignty,, economic coordination to face common challenges,, cultural integration, future enlargement, etc., are, all indispensable to understand the way in which, Europe is changing. But also much more day-to-day, issues, such as travel mobility, education, exchange programs, citizen's participation, supranational networks of people in the arts or, in business, unified labor market, gender, participation, human rights, consumer's protection, etc. are all in the process of developing a more robust and functional European Citizenship.

SF H191 - Honors Writing Your Future: Genes and Gene Editing (4)

An introduction to the field of personalized genetics and gene editing and how these technologies impact the modern world. We will discuss how sequencing your genome could affect decisions about your health and other areas of your life. Now that editing your genome is possible, what are the ethical, legal and social issues raised by this technology. These questions are explored through readings, writing assignments and field trips. There are no science prerequisites for this course and all majors are welcome.
Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

SF 1134 - The Meaning of Life (4)

What do we live for? Which beliefs, values, and experiences sustain meaningful, fulfilling, existence? Are we authors of our destinies or, powerless pawns in an unfathomable cosmic game?, Does death render all our efforts superfluous?, This award-winning course offers a, cross-cultural, interdisciplinary exploration of, these questions through philosophical and, religious texts, art, fiction, autobiography, and, psychological studies. The course opens with the, Old Testament's book of Ecclesiastes, followed by, three units: 1) A Life Worth Living: Humanity's, Ideals focuses on the ancient and modern visions, of human flourishing; 2) Threats to Meaning;, Humanity's Discontents, discusses the, disillusionments leading to the loss of meaning; and 3) Recovery of Meaning: Crises and Hopes,, explores the post-crisis possibilities of, self-discovery and growth. Please visit, http://meaningoflife.cherkasova.org/

SF 1138 - Malevolent Or Misunderstood?: Monsters, of Mythology (4)

This course will critically engage with folk and, pop-cultural representations of "monsters." , Students will read from diverse areas relating to, the topic, including psychology, anthropology,, history, and cultural studies. This course will, explore the changes in monster figures from early, history to the internet age. The main purpose of, this course is to teach students to write, academically and to think critically. This course, aims to give students the tools to engage in, academic inquiry, to think beyond what they, believe they already know and to question. This, course will give students the freedom to develop, their own ideas about the subjects discussed.

SF 1141 - Classical Civilizations: Pathways to, Wisdom (4)

How is it that the knowledge, intelligence,, wisdom and values of the Greeks and Romans still, educate and edify the world by providing venues, towards leading fulfilling and dignified lives?, The guiding principles of their respective, civilizations rested upon eight pillars:, - Humanism: It was recognized that humans have, the potential to master their world and live life, to the fullest, - The Pursuit of Excellence: To imagine the, highest good and strive to attain it, -Self Knowledge: It is imperative to know, oneself before seeking to know the world, - Rationalism: Always question, reason and, discern truth from falsehood and never consider, any matter superficially, -Restless Curiosity: Often the resolution of, one issue leads to the revelations of others, mysteries and pursuits which compels further, investigation. The wise individual makes this a, lifelong endeavor, -Love of Freedom: As long as one brings no harm, to others, one must be free to live and discover, as much as possible, - Individualism: All are unique and, therefore, must recognize individual strengths and identity, -The Practice of Moderation: The prudence of, avoiding extremes in personal and social conduct, , In this course, students will read two, (brief) texts on the Greek and Roman, contributions to the world and then will proceed, with specific readings which illuminate the eight, principles above for achieving the good life.

SF 1145 - Emergence of Southeast Asia (4)

Explores the eleven countries and 600 million, people of Southeast Asia starting with, foundations- geography and environment- and then, looking at the human imprint, in the form of the, history, religions, and cultures of the region,, An examination of contemporary issues related to, demography, politics, and (especially) economics.

SF 1148 - Brave New Worlds (4)

Explores themes of adventure, self-discovery,, exile, and culture shock in classic and, contemporary travel writing (including fiction,, poetry, and non-fiction) as well as film,, Students will experiment with creative writing of, their own, develop theories of cosmopolitan world, citizenship, travel through the city of Boston on, field trips, and team up to learn about different, countries in Suffolk's global network of study, abroad programs.

SF 1161 - The Playwright and the Stage (4)

This writing and script analysis intensive course, will explore plays across a range of styles. We, will study the scripts of several new or recent, plays and will experience performances of those, works or readings by playwrights and actors via, Zoom, in the classroom, or at professional, theatres (usually on Wednesday evenings). We may, also engage in conversations with theatre, professionals, such as producers, directors,, actors, designers, playwrights and critics in, order to lift the script off the page and provide, a living experience of theatre.

SF 1162 - Space Missions: From Moon to Mars and, Beyond (4)

It is hard to believe that only 60 years ago,, our only close-up view of a planetary body was, that of Earth. We are truly living in the Golden, Age of Space Exploration, when a new mission, every few years brings us spectacular images from, either a neighbor in the solar system or galaxies, at the edge of the universe. This course will, describe the dozen space missions that changed, our view of the universe, ranging from our solar, system to the most distant galaxies.

SF 1164 - Reinventing Europe: Beyond Brexit and, Secular Stagnation (4)

While newspaper headlines focus on the multiple, problems Europe is facing today, the evolving, adaptation of European nation states and the, integration process receive less attention., Brexit and economic crises seem to be synonymous, of Europe today, but facts such as the European, Union accepting five new members in the coming, five years or Europe being the most advance, environmental actor or the main international, provider of official aid are often ignored by, public opinion. This Seminar for Freshman, examines the dynamic evolution of the integration, process in Europe in the context of, globalization. Three sections articulate the main, debates and tensions in the interplay between, national and supranational institutions and, policies. The first part analyzes how eight, European countries have forged their national, preferences to delineate their level of immersion, in the integration process; it later proceeds, with the examination of the main historical, events in the history of the integration process,. The second part explores the functioning of the, EU institutions in order to grasp the essence of, the complex policy-making in the Europe of 28, members. The third and final section presents the, analysis of the main areas of the EU policy, making such as agriculture, monetary and economic, issues, among others, and observes the main, developments in the area of EU external, relations.

SF 1156 - History of Boston (4)

This semester we will explore Boston's history,. We will read books, visit historical sites, and, you will learn how to do historical research on, your own. This course meets the requirement of, Humanities and History.

Readers lining up at midnight for the newest, Harry Potter book, hundreds of thousands of, viewers crashing HBO's website in their eagerness, to watch Game of Thrones: examples of fantasy's, recent popularity are everywhere. This course, explores the genre of contemporary fantasy, through a historical and critical lens, from the, work of J.R.R. Tolkien to the 2015 Nebula Award, Winner, Uprooted. We will begin by reading, selections from medieval literary texts,, including Arthurian legend and Anglo-Saxon epic,, to understand the roots of the fantasy genre and, consider how these early works have inspired and, informed the world-building efforts of later, authors. We will also explore fantasy's newest, manifestations across different kinds of media,, from big-budget film adaptations to internet fan, fictions. Critical questions will include: How do, works of fantasy deal with the ethical questions, surrounding the categories of "good" and "evil",, "monstrosity" and "otherness" How do common, fantasy plots such as coming-of-age or quest, narratives work to aid in fictional character, development and build suspense? How are, contemporary anxieties about issues such as, gender, race and class explored through the genre, of fantasy?

SF 1168 - The Real Thing: the Pursuit and Problems, Of Authenticity

This course will focus on the concept of, authenticity in American culture, from its, origins in the early 19th century to the present,. When the advertising gurus of Coca-Cola branded, it as "The Real Thing," they were exploiting, something powerful: the idea of something real,, stripped of any falsity or illusion. Humans have, always desired to know the world and others "as, they really are," but this desire is particularly, strong in the modern world: witness the eagerness, to discover one's "true self," cut through the, B.S., obtain the genuine article, and "live, authentically." In this course we will, interrogate this pursuit of the Real Thing. In, various ways, the texts we study both embrace, authenticity as an ideal and also question its, goodness, usefulness, or even its very, possibility. We will thus confront a number of, interrelated questions: Where does this desire, for authenticity come from? What counts as, "authenticity," in "life and in art? Is, authenticity really a virtue to live by? How does, it shape artistic and literary expression? Is, there even such a thing as "the real you"? This course will be divided into three units. In, the first unit, "Counterfeiters and Self-Made, Men," we will study how a commitment to, authenticity arises in antebellum American, literature and culture during a time of rapid, national expansion and invention. Readings will, include texts by Henry David Thoreau, Ralph Waldo, Emerson, Herman Melville, and P.T. Barnum. In the, second unit, "Authenticity and Contamination," we will consider two major ways in which, authenticity becomes idealized around the turn of, the 20th century: as artistic ideal set against, fears of mass cultural production, and as a, cultural ideal set against fears of racial and, cultural mixing. Readings will include texts by, Ernest Hemingway, Nella Larsen, Jean Toomer, and, William Carlos Williams. In Unit Three, "Buying, and Selling Authenticity," we will examine how, authenticity becomes commodified (associated with, products and "lifestyles") in post-WWII American, culture. Texts will include works by Andy Warhol, David Foster Wallace, George Saunders, Banksy, and the TV series Mad Men. Final projects will, ask students to consider authenticity today: how, is the pursuit of the Real Thing affected by, technologies of reproduction, by commodification, and by the increasingly virtual world of the 21st, century?

SF 1169 - Immortality: Real and Imagined (4)

Most of the world's religious traditions have as, a part of their doctrines some notion of, immortality, rendered both in scriptures as well, as iconographically. What precisely is entailed, by immortality and why does it constitute such a, significant element of so many religious, traditions? What can we learn about immortality, by investigating various conceptions of the, afterlife? Is immortality truly a desirable, thing? These questions among others will be, examined from the perspectives of philosophy,, religion, psychology, anthropology, and biology. Besides being cross-disciplinary, the course will, be multi-media in nature. In addition to reading, philosophical and religious texts concerning the, nature of immortality, students will study, various accounts of immortality and the, afterlife, examine how the afterlife has been, dealt with in (visual) art, literature, and film., and investigate current research into life, prolongation (biomedical gerontology).

SF 1170 - From Philia to Facebook: the Meaning of, Friendship (4)

The thematic focus of this seminar will be, friendship. Friendship is one of the most, important of human relationships; one that every, student in this seminar has already participated, in for many years. It shapes who we are and, helps determine who we may become. And while it, is a universal phenomenon, it has been practiced, quite differently at various times and places in, human history. And while we all have an, intimate, personal and practical knowledge of, friendship through our own experiences, sometimes, things that are so close and so obvious to us can, be hard to see., Over the course of the semester we will inquire, into friendship from many different angles,, trying to gain both a broader and a deeper, understanding than our own individual experience, allows. We will look at friendship first through, the lens of philosophy, particularly through the, foundational text of Aristotle, The Nicomachean, Ethics. We will look at other views of, friendship from the ancient world, starting in, the past to help us see that friendship has not, always been thought of, the way we think of it, now., After this initial foundation is laid, we will, examine other writers and thinkers and take up, additional topics like friendship in different, cultures, friendship and gender, friendship in, and through the arts and include an examination, of friendship through the lenses of many, different academic disciplines to see how other, systematic thinkers conceive of friendship., All along we will be comparing and contrasting, with our own personal experiences and considering, what modern technology, such as social networking, sites, has done to influence friendship, in the, way we practice it and the way we conceive it., It is the aim of this class that students not, just study different academic points of view, but, that that they take up the questions and, challenges that these thinkers present to them, and fully engage with them on a meaningful, personal level.

SF 1171 - Living on and Beyond the Hyphen/Latino, Writers in the USA (4)

Hyphenated-Americans of Latino origin come from, many places and backgrounds. Often perceived as, a divide, an either/or that separates and, distinguishes one ethnic group from another, the, hyphen can also be viewed as a link that, connects, integrates and facilitates the, formation of "new" cultural spaces. Through, films and written narratives by and about U.S.A., Latino(a)(x)-Americans, students will examine how, individuals who live on the threshold between two, languages and cultures embrace the challenge of, preserving their own identity and moving beyond, stereotypes. , , Each of the Latino/a/x authors that we will read, in this course will describe his/her own, experiences living in the U.S.A. By examining, their views through our own filtered lens we, shall try to answer questions like the following:, , 1. What role does language have in our, definition/understanding of cultural identity?, , 2. How do individuals move beyond the hyphen and, stop seeing themselves as hybrids? , , 3. How can an individual who does not belong to a, marginalized group (i.e. one considered less, powerful and secondary) understand and empathize, with those who do?, , 4. How does globalization affect the dichotomies, that arise in bi-cultural and multi-cultural, communities?

SF 1172 - The United States Mexican Border (4)

One hundred and sixty nine years have passed, since the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo was signed., It is only fitting to analyze the profound, changes that the gain/loss of these territories, caused for the citizens of both sides of the border. This course will explore the literature,, culture, and history of the United States-Mexican, Border and the most pressing problems pertaining, to the region. Emphasis will be on contemporary, border theater and film. The works of Salcedo,, Galindo, Lopez and others will be studied as well, as contemporary films and documentaries such as, Alambrista, Senorita Extraviada, The Gatekeeper,, Sin Nombre, Wetback: the Undocumented, Documentary, Victoria para Chino, Which Way Home,, and much more. There are no prerequisites for, this course. Though the course in conducted in English, parallel readings in Spanish will be, made available to those who wish to read and/or, compare the original texts.

SF 1173 - Understanding the Vast Sweep of Chinese, Culture (4)

This course is an introduction to both ancient, and modern Chinese civilization with a focus on, its literature, arts, and 4000 year cultural, history. We will see China at its earliest stages, through its archaeology and progress to the, heights of literary splendor in the Tang and Song, Dynasties. Study of select early plays from the, Mongol Yuan period will clearly tie into the, development of Ming and Qing period fiction. With, the fall of imperial China in 1911, the focus of, literature changed drastically and we will study, how many modern authors were able to draw from a, massive wealth of literary resources to help, create a new Chinese literature and culture. We, will watch several films that will provide a rich, visual portrait of the culture. We will read, quite a few representative literary and, historical works in English translation that will, give a great deal of insight into modern China, and how we can both relate to and interact with, this complex and amazing country. This course is, a good introduction to further study of Chinese, history and culture and, in particular, provides, a valuable context for students in all majors, that wish to gain a deeper understanding of Asian, culture.

SF 1176 - What Is a Fact? (4)

What makes a fact a fact? What makes a fact true?, At one time, these questions were only asked by, epistemologists and postmodernists, but with the, rise of fake news and the discourses surrounding, it, these questions are relevant to everyone., Understanding facts is also essential to college, students, who must learn to use reliable sources, in order to create credible work. In this class,, we will examine works of literature, art,, science, history and philosophy that interrogate, how facts are created and how we determine their, truth value. Texts will include podcasts, novels, and articles. We will also utilize the resources, of Boston and Suffolk University; we will visit a, news agency and a local museum, and have a guest, lecture from a Suffolk faculty member. By, analyzing these texts, participating in these, experiences, and completing a series of, assignments that ask students to think critically, and creatively, this class seeks to understand, how we create facts, and why we need them.

SF 1177 - Revolutions in Thought (4)

The course will consider major changes in thought, that revolutionized the cultures and societies in, which they were embedded. Topics include the rise, of monotheistic religions; the American, Revolution; the recognition of slavery as a moral, evil; the idea of women's equality; Freudianism;, Darwinism; Marxism; as well as Einstein and the, Theory of Relativity. We will enrich the readings, and classroom conversations with visits to, museums, churches, historic sites and other, locations that reflect some aspect of the, revolutionary changes that are our focus.

SF 1179 - Writing Stories of Self in Society (4)

Every story of an individual is also the story of, the place, the group, the larger intersection of, identities somehow connected to that person. In, this class, we'll examine ways in which, nonfictional stories use individuals to represent, the larger social categories to which they, belong; how we use part of something to stand in, for the bigger thing. We'll consider the, difference between telling one's own story, and, having another tell it about you, including, efforts at divisive propaganda in writing, image,, and multimodal texts. We'll consider, single-author texts as well as more collaborative, efforts, like hashtag campaigns on social media., After we've studied the rhetoric others use., students will write their own first-person, stories, situating their individual selves within, some larger social context. As part of this., students will each design and launch their own, hashtag campaign to crowsource other stories and, images to put them in conversation with their, own.

SF 1180 - American Women Writers and the Struggle For Equality (4)

Until the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment in 1920, women in the United States were denied the right to vote. The struggle for equal rights for women began, we might say, in 1868 when Susan B. Anthony launched the first woman's suffrage newspaper in the U.S.'s The Revolution with the slogan "Women, Their Rights, and Nothing Less." In the face of their disenfranchisement, women have turned to literature and print culture as a forum for public expression, democratic participation, and political debate. This course examines how American women writers were literary activists; that is, they used their short stories, novels, poems, essays, and conversion narratives to support and fight for women's suffrage and engage questions of justice and human rights. With their writing, these women exposed injustices affecting not only their gender, but other marginalized groups as well, including African Americans and Indigenous people. The course will move between early suffragist writings by Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Sojourner Truth, late-nineteenth-century novels by Louisa May Alcott, Kate Chopin, and Charlotte Perkins Gilman, and contemporary feminism by authors like Chimamanda Adichie, bell hooks, Jessica Valenti, Rebecca Solnit, and Kristen Sollee. Extracurricular activities will enhance classroom readings and discussions.

SF 1181 - Mad Criminals (4)

The figure of the criminal, particularly one, driven by madness, has captivated our collective, imaginations since Robert Louis Stevenson's The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, carrying, over into film noir and horror, and leading up to, our contemporary fascination with serial killers., true crime stories, and extending even to a, superhero film like Venom. Through a range of, fictional and non-fictional examples from, literature and film, this course will explore how the "mad criminal" has been depicted with, sympathy, revulsion, admiration, and moral, condemnation. On the flipside, this course will, also examine how the mad criminal opens up, opportunities for examining and even questioning, the legal and moral frameworks that define crime, and criminality. Some of the recurring questions that will be, explored in this seminar are: How do we "authors, filmmakers, journalists, readers/audiences" define "madness" and its, relationship to criminality?, Where does the figure of the, mad criminal come, from, and how has it changed over time?, How do we as audiences feel competing and even, contradictory emotions toward the mad criminal., ranging from fascination to fear?, -How does the mad criminal force us to question, our moral and legal systems, and what the idea of, a "civil society" in general is supposed to mean?

SF 1182 - Curators, Collections and Exhibits (4)

We visit museums to be inspired. Museums have, exhibits that face outward for the public, but, inside curators and exhibit designers work to, preserve collections and bring them to different, communities. We will go behind the scenes at art,, history, and science/natural history museums in, Boston as well as other institutional collections, to see how curators preserve artifacts of the, natural world and the creations of people. We, will also study how patrons experience their, exhibits to understand the most compelling ways, to present a coherent experience for the public., Each student will curate a collection of their, own and present them in an online exhibit.

SF 1183 - Revenge (4)

It has been said that revenge is a type of "wild, justice" whether it is violent, quick, or subtle., stories of revenge provide us with a fascinating, glimpse into the recesses of the human soul. At, their, core, they seek to uncover the carnal side of, human nature and shine light on the dark impulses, that, can lie buried deep. In this course, we will, explore whether revenge truly is a dish best, served cold,, or whether at the end of the day, the, consequences of revenge outweigh sweet, sweet, justice. Our, investigation will center around several, questions: Why does revenge as a trope continue, to enthrall, storytellers? What is the psychology of revenge?, And how do these stories invite us to reflect on, ethics and morality within our own world?, We will examine famous revenge narratives from a, wide range of genres (from literature, graphic, novels, art, film, and music). Our journey will, begin with the quintessential, revenge story:, Shakespeare's Hamlet. We will then move to other, texts such as Edgar Allan Poe's "Cask of, Amontillado," Nathaniel Hawthorne's Scarlet, Letter, Alan Moore's V for Vendetta, and the, popular, film The Princess Bride. This course will also, include field trips to the MFA Boston during our, week, on art history, and a trip to Salem during our, exploration of Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter., Through, reading, lively discussion, and multi-draft, essays, our goal will be to develop and refine, personal, writing styles while also cultivating critical,
SF 1184 - Magic in the Modern World (4)

Christopher Priest, author of The Prestige, notes, that "the magician takes the ordinary something, and makes it do something extraordinary." So, what is magic and what does it have to do with you? A card trick? Belief in a deity? Your weekly, yoga class? Locking eyes with someone on the, green line? Sending a Tesla Roadster into outer, space? The purpose of this course is to examine, magic's relevance in our academic and private, lives. Together, we will clarify terminologies, cement definitions, and try to understand, magic's role in the shaping of contemporary, intellectual discourse.

SF 1185 - Socially-Conscious Storytellers in a, Political World (4)

This section of the Seminar for Freshmen will, consider the role that writing plays in examining, social justice issues through the storytelling, venue of fiction. How does the writing and, reading of fiction make us more, socially-conscious people? Through an examination, of selected readings from historical novels such as, Colson Whitehead's The Underground Railroad, and "The Shawl" by Cynthia Ozick (both the short, story and novella companion), along with various, short stories by E.L. Doctorow, James Baldwin, Toni Morrison and others, students will analyze, how such literature represents complex social, issues through the conventions and techniques of, fiction. In addition, students will also produce, historical fiction pieces of their own as a means, of further understanding how fiction can be used, as a tool for social change. Topics will include, recent concerns related to immigration, racism, war, African-American slavery, the Holocaust, and, intergenerational trauma in America. Students, will consider how the storytelling techniques of, fiction allow readers to consider these topics, both from a historical and contemporary, perspective. In addition to course readings, presentations and classroom conversations, the, class will also visit museums such as Museum of, African American History and the local nonprofits, like MIRA that that connect specifically to these, topics and discuss those factors that shape the, resulting dialogue and stories around them. From, these visits, students will be asked to write, historical fiction specifically engaged in social, justice issues as a way to showcase their, understanding of how fiction can be used as a, tool for social justice, spreading awareness and, greater critical thinking of some of today's most, pressing and controversial topics.

SF 1186 - The Art of Persuasion (4)

We've all heard the cliche that the pen is, mightier than the sword. Simple words, in all, their mundane glory, can stoke the fires of, revolution, topple regimes, and bring sweeping, change to society. Words and rhetoric (or the art, of persuasion) is thus located at the very center, of politics, culture, religion, and literary, production. Indeed, the ability to speak and write, persuasively is arguably one of the most-valued, skills in our world today. In this course, we will, investigate the connection between language, persuasion, power, and revolution. Our primary, questions will be: How exactly is language a, powerful force? How do we wield the power of, language? Are there limits to language within our, world? And how is rhetoric revolutionary? To fully examine this topic, we will read a range, of genres from Ancient Greece to the modern day: op-eds, essays, polemics, poetry, satire, advertisements, music, and memes. This course will, also include field trips to the Institute of, Contemporary Art in Boston during our week on, visual aesthetics, a trip around central Boston in, search for powerful advertisements, and a visit to, the Ford Hall Forum, the oldest free public, lecture series in America.

SF 1187 - The Psychology of Nutrition (4)

This course is a brief study of one critical area, with which young students interested in psychology, must deeply engage. Nutrition and the, psychological aspects of what we ingest for our, nourishment, physically and mentally, is the key, to our future and our humanity. We will cover, three areas including food and our psychological, interaction with food as a historical prelude to, our Western cultural development. Next we will, examine nutrients and how these help us to, understand food as medicine for physical and, psychological health and development. Finally, we, will consider the psychological impact of, chemicals we ingest, on the one hand because we, are deceived by producers of food who seek to gain, market share by manipulating what we eat, and on, the other hand, because we are drawn to trying, psychedelic chemicals past and present.

SF 1189 - Urban and Contemporary Art (4)

Unravel the mystery of contemporary art, the power, of images and the messages they convey. Learn, about the context in which art is created. As the, French Urban Artist, JR asks, "Can Art Change the, World?" In this course we will look at the purpose, of art, who is it made for and why? We will look, at the intent of the artists, the materials they, choose and places art is installed. Get an inside, look into contemporary art as we visit artist, ecocritical framework such as present, life, human, nature, thing, and thought, and multiple scales, scales that disorient, normative concepts. Ecological awareness forces us to think and feel, at present and in the future. Now that editing your genome is possible, what are the ethical, legal and social issues raised by this technology. These questions are explored through readings, writing assignments and field trips. There are no science prerequisites for this course and all majors are welcome.

SF 1191 - Writing Your Future: Genes and Gene Editing (4)

An introduction to the field of personalized genetics and gene editing and how these technologies impact the modern world. We will discuss how sequencing your genome could affect decisions about your health and other areas of your life. Now that editing your genome is possible, what are the ethical, legal and social issues raised by this technology. These questions are explored through readings, writing assignments and field trips. There are no science prerequisites for this course and all majors are welcome.

SF 1192 - Dark Ecologies (4)

Ecological awareness forces us to think and feel, at multiple scales, scales that disorient, normative concepts such as present, life, human, nature, thing, thought, and logic. In this course, we will use the ecocritical framework of "Dark, Ecology" to interpret literary texts, our everyday reality, and to mediate our understanding of, current environmental debates. A holistic issue, we'll investigate throughout the course is the role that the arts can play in heightening our awareness of the ecological challenges we face, today and in promoting environmental advocacy. Some of the questions we'll address include the, root causes of our environmental crisis, whether, anthropocentric and/or humanist subjectivity is, adequate (or increasingly problematic) in the face, of contemporary ecological problems, the extent to, which identity politics (including concepts of, race, class, gender, sexual orientation and, species) can inform our understanding of, environmental debates, and the issue of, technology's impact on how we think about "nature", today.

SF 1193 - Documenting the Immigrant Experience (4)

This course explores documentary film, photo, essays, art, and podcasts as well as their, potential to connect students with the immigrant, communities of Boston through hands-on production, experiences. Students in groups will connect with, local immigrant communities for a series of, story-sharing sessions. The story-sharing will not, take the form of interviews, but rather a, reciprocal exchange of personal narratives. Through the process of filming or recording these, encounters, we will generate the raw material for, a final documentary, art-project, photo essay or a, podcast. The class will culminate in an art, festival featuring student work and ending with a, discussion. The festival aims to raise awareness, among students and members of the community about, the potential of cultural spaces for social, transformation. At the same time, the class will, experience and discuss the aesthetic power of, documentary film, art, photo essays and podcasts. The class aims to discover and celebrate the, shared humanity of the project participants. A premise of the class is that immigrants that, rarely have ownership over decisions about how, their stories are represented in their own, municipality, and that by elevating their stories, they will become more engaged in the community and, less vulnerable. In the words of professor Theater, Gates, we will "bring in the idea of beauty as a, basic service to the community." The connections, with the Boston community members will be, established, through connections with Boston, Family School, Boston High School, and Boston, Community Television, among others. The first, meeting between the students and community member, will take place in-class. During this meeting, students and community members will get to know, each other through story circles, reciprocal, interviews, etc. After this initial meeting, the, students are expected to be self-motivated in, maintaining contact with the Boston resident and, arranging a schedule for interviews and filming. All equipment that we will use during the semester, will be from the university, students don't need, their own equipment or any prior training. Key concepts and issues that will be focused on in, the class include: raising visibility through art, of groups of people (local immigrant communities), whose cultures are often not so visible; the, revolutionary power of both listening to and, remembering each other's stories; facing the, "Other" how stories can aid in the reconstruction, of the self, the creation of identity, and how, they can lead toward reconciliation. Through the, art projects, we hope to explore people's, connections to their roots, their families and, spirits; open ourselves to the possibility of, imagining a different life; and link people's, journeys toward better lives with their deepest, spiritual impulses.

SF H1134 - The Meaning of Life (4)

What do we live for? Which beliefs, values, and, experiences sustain meaningful, fulfilling, existence? Are we authors of our destinies or, powerless pawns in an unfathomable cosmic game?, Does death render all our efforts superfluous?, This award-winning course offers a, cross-cultural, interdisciplinary exploration of, these questions through philosophical and, religious texts, art, fiction, autobiography, and, psychological studies. The course opens with the, Old Testament's book of Ecclesiastes, followed by, three units: 1) A Life Worth Living: Humanity's, Ideals focuses on the ancient and modern visions, of human flourishing; 2) Threats to Meaning:, Humanity's Discontents, discusses the, disillusionments leading to the loss of meaning;, and 3)
Recovery of Meaning: Crises and Hopes,, explores the, post-crisis possibilities of, self-discovery and growth.

SF H1141 - Honors Classical Civilizations: Pathways, To Wisdom (4)

How is it that the knowledge, intelligence., wisdom and values of the Greeks and Romans still, educate and edify the world by providing venues, towards leading fulfilling and dignified lives? , The guiding principles of their respective, civilizations rested upon eight pillars;, , - Humanism: It was recognized that humans have, the potential to master their world and live life, to the fullest., -
The Pursuit of Excellence: To imagine the, highest good and strive to attain it., -Self Knowledge: It is imperative to know, oneself before seeking to know the world., - Rationalism: Always question, reason and, discern truth from falsehood and never consider, any matter superficially., -Restless Curiosity: Often the resolution of, one issue leads to the revelations of others, mysteries and pursuits which compels further, investigation. The wise individual makes this a, lifelong endeavor., -Love of Freedom: As long as one brings no harm, to others, one must be free to live and discover, as much as possible., - Individualism: All are unique and, therefore,, must recognize individual strengths and identity., -The Practice of Moderation: The prudence of, avoiding extremes in personal and social conduct, , . In this course, students will read two, (brief) texts on the Greek and Roman, contributions to the world and then will proceed, with specific readings which illuminate the eight, principles above for achieving the good life.

SF H1163 - Spellbound Witches, Wizards and Spirits,
In American Literature (4)

Since the beginning of time and across cultures,, people have been interested in the supernatural,, the paranormal, and the otherworldly. Often,, these phenomena have appeared in the form of, witches, wizards, and spirits, whether good or, bad, wicked or wonderful. Women who have not, fulfilled traditional gender roles have, historically been cast as witches or, to use, Shakespeare's phrase, as "weird sisters", or, in Donald Trump'S recent election parlance,, as "nasty women." Men in turn appear as, wizards, usually more positively than female, witches.
Men and women alike also can take the, form of spirits or ghosts; even houses can be, possessed. What lies beneath the great, fascination with the supernatural and the, paranormal, with the haunted, the possessed, and, the spellbinding? What accounts for the different, manifestations of spirits? This course takes, students on a tour of witches, wizards, and, otherworldly spirits throughout American literary, history. Tropes of the witch and the wizard have, appeared in literature from the time of, Shakespeare (see Macbeth) to the contemporary, best-selling Harry Potter series, and hits every, century in between, such as in Anne, Hutchinson's Puritan accounts form the 1600s,, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Edgar Allan
Poe's in, the 1800s, The Wizard of Oz in 1900, and John,
Updike's The Witches of Eastwick in the 20th, century.
The course offers readings across genre, lines-poetry, fiction, non-fiction, young adult, fantasy, and drama-and includes excerpts from, film and television shows based upon wizards and, witches (such as Bewitched, Buffy the Vampire, Slayer, and The Vampire Diaries). The course may, include a field trip to Salem, MA, as well as, possibly the opportunity to see Wicked at the, Boston Opera House
(if it is renewed through the, fall season, 2017).

SF H1167 - Honors Fantasy Fiction: Imaginary Worlds (4)

Readers lining up at midnight for the newest, Harry Potter book, hundreds of thousands of viewers crashing HBO's website in their eagerness, to watch Game of Thrones: examples of fantasy's, recent popularity are everywhere. This course, explores the genre of contemporary fantasy, through a historical and critical lens, from the, work of J.R.R. Tolkien to the 2015 Nebula Award, Winner, Uprooted. We will begin by reading, selections from medieval literary texts, including Arthurian legend and Anglo-Saxon epic, to understand the roots of the fantasy genre and, consider how these early works have inspired and, informed the world-building efforts of later, authors. We will also explore fantasy's newest, manifestations across different kinds of media, from big-budget film adaptations to internet fan, fictions. Critical questions will include: How do, works of fantasy deal with the ethical questions, surrounding the categories of "good" and "evil", "monstrosity" and "otherness" How do common, fantasy plots such as coming-of-age or quest, narratives work to aid in fictional character, development and build suspense? How are, contemporary anxieties about issues such as, gender, race and class explored through the genre, of fantasy?

We will also utilize the resources of, Boston and Suffolk University; we will visit the, WBUR NPR newsroom, a local museum, and learn, about the legal definition of "truth" from a, representative of the law school. By analyzing, these texts, participating in these experiences, and completing a series of assignments that ask, students to think critically and creatively, this, class seeks to understand how we create facts,, and why we need them.

Prerequisite: CAS honors students only.

SF H1178 - Honors Jazz to Jay-Z: Black Music and, Literature (4)

Jazz and blues music of the early twentieth, century has been hailed as a potent expression of, African American life and as a major contribution, to American culture. Albert Murray writes, "the blues idiom' is a synthesis of African, and European elements, the product of an, Afro-American sensibility in an American mainland, situation." Since its birth in the early, twentieth century and movement from New Orleans, throughout the rest of the country following "The, Great Migration," the form expanded, diversified, and explored its artistic potential throughout, the twentieth century and into the twenty-first,, giving way to bop, rock and roll, electric blues, soul, disco, funk, R B, and rap. African, American literature evolved simultaneously and in, parallel ways. There is such a strong connection, between black music and literature that it makes, sense to study them together. In this seminar,, we will explore the history and form of black, music and black literature from the Harlem, Renaissance of the 1920s through contemporary, rap. We will study work that spans a hundred, years of African American cultural production,, analyzing trends and developments through a, careful interpretation of musical and literary, texts and their adjuncts (such as music video and, film).

Prerequisite: CAS Honors Only.

SF H1180 - Honors American Women Writers and the, Struggle For Equality (4)

Until the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment in, 1920, women in the United States were denied the, right to vote. The struggle for equal rights for, women began, we might say, in 1868 when Susan B., Anthony launched the first woman's suffrage, newspaper in the U.S.'s The Revolution with the, slogan "Women, Their Rights, and Nothing Less."In, the face of their disenfranchisement, women have, turned to literature and print culture as a forum, for public and private expression, democratic, participation, and political debate. This course, examines how American women writers were literary, activists; that is, they used their short, stories, novels, poems, essays, and conversion, narratives to support and fight for women's, suffrage and engage questions of justice and, human rights. With their writing, these women, exposed injustices affecting not only their, gender, but other marginalized groups as well,, including African Americans and Indigenous, people. The course will move between early, suffragist writings by Susan B. Anthony,, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Sojourner Truth,, late-nineteenth-century novels by Louisa May, Alcott, Kate Chopin, and Charlotte Perkins, Gilman, and contemporary feminism by authors like, Chimamanda Adichie, bell hooks, Jessica Valenti, Rebecca Solnit, and Kristen Sollee. Extracurricular activities will enhance classroom, readings and discussions.

Prerequisite: CAS honors students only.

SF H1182 - Honors Curators, Collections and, Exhibits (4)

We visit museums to be inspired. Museums have, exhibits that face outward for the public, but, inside curators and exhibit designers work to, preserve collections and bring them to different, communities. We will go behind the scenes at art,, history, and science/natural history museums in, Boston as well as other institutional collections, to see how curators preserve artifacts of the, natural world and the creations of people. We, will also study how patrons experience their, exhibits to understand the most compelling ways, to present a coherent experience for the public., Each student will curate a collection of their, own and present them in an online exhibit.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

SF H1185 - Honors Socially-Conscious Storytellers, in a Political World

This section of the Seminar for Freshmen will, consider the role that writing plays in examining, social justice issues through the storytelling, venue of fiction. How does the writing and, reading of fiction make us more, socially-conscious people? Through an examination, of selected readings from historical novels such, as Colson Whitehead's The Underground Railroad, and "The Shawl" by Cynthia Ozick (both the short, story and novella companion), along with various, short stories by E.L. Doctorow, James Baldwin,, Toni Morrison and others, students will analyze, how such literature represents complex social, issues through the conventions and techniques of, fiction. In addition, students will also produce, historical fiction pieces of their own as a means, of further understanding how fiction can be used, as a tool for social change. Topics will include, recent concerns related to immigration, racism,, war, African-American slavery, the Holocaust, and, intergenerational trauma in America. Students, will consider how the storytelling techniques of, fiction allow readers to consider these topics, both from a historical and contemporary, perspective. In addition to course readings,, presentations and classroom conversations, the, class will also visit museums such as Museum of, African American History and the local nonprofits, like MIRA that that connect specifically to these, topics and discuss those factors that shape the, resulting dialogue and stories around them.

From these visits, students will be asked to write, historical fiction specifically engaged in social, justice issues as a way to showcase their, understanding of how fiction can be used as a, tool for social justice, spreading awareness and, greater critical thinking of some of today's most, pressing and controversial topics.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

SF H1188 - Honors Attention in the Age of, Distraction (4)

Attention is a finite resource. The relative, scarcity of your attention means, among other, things, that it is incredibly valuable to others., The competition is startling in its intensity:, there are as many claims to your attention as, there are people in your life. Family and friends, who love you want to maintain a relationship with, you, while professors and spiritual leaders want, to help shape you into a better version of, yourself. Others, like upstanding politicians,, need to explain your role in a wider community of, citizens, and still others, like disreputable, politicians, need to motivate you enough to grant, them power and prestige. Then there are the, multinational corporations and media conglomerates, who collectively spend billions of dollars on, advertising to hold your attention long enough, that you might be inspired to hand over your, credit card in exchange for a product that will, further distract your attention from the, meaningful stuff of life on this planet., , This course endeavors to explore this fight for, your attention. We will seek to better understand, the psychological, philosophical, political, and, cultural value of attention. In exploring the, topic of attention, we will also ask about the, role and function of distraction and boredom. We, will work from the premise that how you choose to, focus your attention has a profound impact on your, life: it reaches every corner of your existence, from your leisure time and education to your, professional and political life. That which, captures and holds your attention, in part,, dictates your very sense of self.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors students only.

SF H1190 - Honors Black Lives Matter: Past,, Present, Future

the meaning, action, objective, and philosophical, and historical contexts with the professor. Written assignments focus on various methods of, play analysis. The goal is to get closer to the, original intentions of the author and see the, plays as active dramatic experiences. The course, is intended for Junior and Senior theatre majors.

Offered: Fall.

THETR 475 - Directing II (4)

Directing II focuses on the development of an, individual directorial point of view and explores, a variety of theoretical and applied approaches to, cultivating interpretive skills. The course also, examines how the director reconciles traditional, theatrical conventions and techniques with the, ability to create fresh, innovative and personal, results. Students will stage weekly theatrical, responses to class readings in addition to, creating a fully-realized final directing project.

Prerequisite: THETR-375 or instructor's consent. Offered: Spring.

THETR 477 - Playwriting II (4)

Playwriting II is a continuation, deepening and, thickening of the principles learned in, Playwriting I. A course designed for dedicated, writers, students are expected to explore a wide, variety of playwriting challenges, skills and, techniques. This class focuses on the inherent, creative tension between theatricality and, believability. In addition to a rigorous writing, regimen, students will also be assigned plays by, recognized playwrights to discuss and analyze in, class.

Prerequisite: THETR-377 or instructor's consent. Offered: Occasionally.

THETR 481 - Arts Administration II (4)

In this course, we will see how the, administrative functions discussed in Arts, Administration I work in different kinds of arts, organizations. Using actual cases from the world, of performing and visual arts, we will explore, the operations for profit and non-profit arts, producers and presenters, art service, organizations, and many kinds of funding, institutions. We will put this knowledge to use, by building each student's dream project, culminating in a presentation at the end of the, term.

Prerequisite: THETR-281.

THETR 488 - Professional Internships (0-4)

This course provides students with the, opportunity, to receive credit for their work on an approved, internship assignment in the professional, performing and visual art world. At the, successful, completion of the internship, students will be, required to submit a written analysis of their, experience as well as a journal documenting, the daily events of their project. Professional, internships are difficult to secure. Interested, students are advised to contact members of the, Theatre Department faculty at least one semester, in advance to facilitate this opportunity.

Prerequisite: instructor's consent and internship availability required. Offered: Fall, Spring.

THETR 489 - Performance Studies (4)

This course provides an overview of the modern, concept of performance and performativity and how, these concepts have fundamentally altered the ways, we perceive and understand our world. Encompassing the areas of dance, music, theatre,, installation work, 'happenings' and spectacles,, as well as sporting events, political campaigns,, social/religions rituals, advertising and social, media, students will explore the ways performance, and "performativity" are understood by, ethnographers, anthropologists, linguists,, cultural theorists, social scientists, and, artists. Using the theoretical base covered during, the semester, students will conceive, develop, and, present a final performance piece appropriate to, their chosen discipline.

Offered: Occasionally.

THETR 503 - Developing Screenplays: the Hoberman, Workshop (1)

This 1-credit seminar is a "master class," in, which accepted students work intensively revising, a one-act screenplay into a full-length feature, length film script with feedback and guidance, provided by acclaimed Hollywood producer David, Hoberman. Mr. Hoberman will join students on, campus for a two-day residency to kick off the, course. Students will submit their completed, full-length scripts in early April for review by, members of Mr. Hoberman's production team at, Mandeville Films. Mr. Hoberman will also supply a, script in development at Mandeville Films for, students to read, analyze, and discuss during the, residency. Students will be encouraged to work, with an assigned Suffolk faculty mentor, throughout the residency.

Prerequisite: Instructor consent required.

THETR 508 - Capstone Experience (0)

The capstone experience demonstrates a student's, high level of practical and/or academic facility, and prepares them for their transition into the world of professional theatre and graduate school. Upper Level production activities within the theatre department that may fulfill this requirement are directing, designing, stage managing, acting a major role, playwriting, or some special approved project. Students may also fulfill this requirement by completing a Senior, Honors Thesis.

THETR 510 - Independent Study (1-8)

Variable credits for approved projects outside the classroom. Since all independent studies must be approved by the Dean's Office, all interested students must be able to persuasively articulate their proposal in writing and include both an annotated reading list and a schedule of meetings, with faculty supervisors.

Prerequisite: Instructor's consent required. Offered: Fall, Spring.

THETR H507 - Senior Honor's Project (4)

Theatre majors who meet the GPA criteria for Honors in the Theatre Major have the opportunity to work with a faculty advisor during their senior year to focus intensively on a specific area of interest for a Senior Honors Project. Regular meetings with the advisor will be scheduled to guide the student through the project. Options for the Senior Honors Project include: a production, a research project, a professional internship, an experiential service learning project, a senior honors portfolio, or a self-defined independent project. Successful completion of this course is required for awarding departmental honors to graduating Theatre majors. Theatre majors who are CAS Honors students may also receive Honors in the Major and may use their Theatre Senior Honors Project to fulfill their CAS Honors requirement.

Prerequisite: Instructor's permission and Senior standing required.

THETR H555 - Senior Honor's Project (0)

Theatre majors who have demonstrated academic excellence and involvement in department productions may propose to work with a faculty advisor during their senior year to focus intensively on a specific area of interest to prepare for graduate school and the professional world. Options include: a production, a research, project, a professional internship, an, experiential service learning project, a senior, honors portfolio, or a self-defined independent, project. Successful completion of this course, confers departmental honors to graduating Theatre, majors.

Prerequisite: Senior Status, CAS Honor's with 3.3 GPA required.

UES-Urban Ecology and Sustainability

UES 101 - Environmental Studies (4)

Focuses on the natural environment through the lens of social science and humanities. Students, will study texts from those disciplines to acquire a deeper understanding of the values and, beliefs that underlie environmental issues., Students will investigate the policy-making, processes and institutions through which those, issues are decided, and the social inequalities, in the distribution of environmental problems., Texts to be studied will range from literature,, philosophy, and film to policy statements, impact, reports, community advocacy materials, and, investigative journalism.

Offered: Fall.

UES 107 - Introduction to Drones (3)

This course presents concepts and practical, methods of using Unmanned Autonomous Systems (UAS), or drones in a professional context, particularly, for environmental projects. The course covers, mission planning, operations, field data, collection, data processing, legal implications,, data analysis and data deliverables. The course, and laboratory will include learning flying, micro-drones and preparing to pass the Federal, Aviation Administration's Unmanned Aerial Vehicle, Airmen (Part 107) exam. The course will have an, associated Laboratory component in which students, will learn how to properly plan effective flight, missions, fly safely and legally, develop risk, management strategies, analyze the data captured, and convert it into a useful data deliverable.

Prerequisite: UES-L107 must be taken concurrently.
UES 109 - Urban Sustainability Bootcamp (1)
Intensive study of topics in urban sustainability, and climate adaptation in the 21st century. Focuses on concepts in sustainable design and urban planning using the STEM disciplines. Technical reading and writing emphasized.
Prerequisite: SU Upward Bound program participant.

UES 111 - Environmental Science (3)
Applies the fundamentals of science to environmental issues. Topics include population, dynamics and resources, environmental degradation, ecosystems, geologic processes, deforestation, biodiversity, climate change, air, soil, and water resource management, and, pollution and risks to health.
Prerequisite: Take UES-L111 concurrently. Offered: Spring.

UES 115 - Organic Chemistry Bootcamp (1)
Summarizes and reviews the main organic, functional groups of importance in the environment, their reactivity, and their basic, mechanisms (ionic or radical) in environmental systems.
Prerequisite: Take CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112 previously or concurrently, or, permission of instructor. Environmental Science majors only.

UES 121 - Science, Art, and the Environment (3)
Examines art and cultural objects through the lens of the biological, chemical, and physical, principles of the materials and processes we use, to make them. Includes consideration of factors, important in art conservation. Provides an environmental context for the manufacture and use, of art materials and the preservation of cultural, objects.
Prerequisite: Take UES-L121 concurrently.

UES L107 - Introduction to Drones Lab (1)
The laboratory component of UES 107 in which, students will learn how to properly plan effective, flight missions, fly safely and legally, develop, risk management strategies, analyze the data, captured and convert it into a useful data, deliverable.
Prerequisite: UES-107 must be taken concurrently.

UES L108 - Drone Flight Course (1)
Allows students to learn the hands-on skills, necessary to safely and effectively operate a drone. This is a skill only learned by focused, practice and flying drones on a regular basis. Techniques, tips, and best practices will be, examined and practiced repeatedly. Successful, completion of this course will require passing a, practical examination which will consist of flying, a micro drone and demonstrating all the various, skills that drone pilots need to employ in order, to fly safely.
Prerequisite: Take UES-107 and UES-L107, or permission of instructor.

UES L111 - Environmental Science Lab (1)
Laboratory exercises are used to illustrate, topics covered in UES 111. Field testing and, analysis of environmental samples. Field trips, may be required.
Prerequisite: Take UES-111 concurrently. Offered: Spring.

UES L121 - Science, Art, and the Environment Lab (1)
Provides hands-on work with pigments, dyes, and, other art materials using the basic principles of, science and technology. Students will conduct, laboratory experiments that produce art objects, and other consumer products. Instruction in safe, laboratory practices and basic techniques such as, determining mass and volume, representing data in, the form of tables, graphs, and graphics., Practice in synthesizing compounds like paints, and finishes and in evaluating methods of art, conservation.
Prerequisite: Take UES-121 concurrently.

UES LV111 - Environmental Science Lab-, Online (1)
Applies the fundamentals of science to, environmental issues. Topics include population, dynamics and resources; environmental degradation; ecosystems; geologic processes; deforestation; biodiversity; climate change; air, soil, and water, resource management; and pollution and risks to, human health. All materials for this laboratory, inclusive of lectures, exercises, and modules will, be provided in a virtual format. Students will, need internet access only.
Prerequisite: Take UES-111 concurrently. Offered: Spring.

UES 211 - Environmental Science II (3)
Focuses on how environmental conditions affect, human, animal and ecological health. Areas may, include control of environmental contaminants; public health and infectious disease control; sanitation systems; antibiotic resistance; health, issues associated with food production; the, effects of industrialization on the environment; and the impact of disasters on environmental, health.

Prerequisite: UES-L211 must be taken concurrently.
Offered: Fall.

UES 225 - Geographical Information Science (3)

Provides the fundamentals of geographic, information science (GIS) including the history, of automated mapping. A review of the necessary, hardware and software elements used in GIS is, presented. Hands-on exercises with computerized, mapping software are required.

Prerequisite: Take UES-L225 concurrently.

UES 226 - Drones Applications for Environmental, Analysis (3)

Provides project-based, drone-assisted mapping, from the perspective of an environmental scientist, or planner. Students will identify a need for, geographic data on an environmental project, plan, a drone mission, analyze the data, and present the, visualization through a GIS map.

Prerequisite: Take UES-L226 concurrently. UES-107, UES-L107, and UES-L108 must, be taken previously.

UES 255 - Chemistry and the Environment (3)

Investigates the chemical processes (including, biologically mediated ones) that affect the, cycling and ultimate fate of chemicals in the, environment (air, water, and soil). Remediation, and treatment methods used to minimize pollutant, loads and mitigate their impacts are considered.

Prerequisite: CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112, or permission of instructor. UES-L255, must be taken concurrently.

UES 270 - SL-Understanding Wetlands Through, Citizen Science (4)

In this course students meet community needs by, engaging in service-learning outside the, classroom. Develops students' awareness and, understanding of wetlands including inland and, salt marshes, mangroves, and swamps. The beginning, of the semester is devoted to understanding of how, these vital ecosystems function with topics, including wetland hydrology, biogeochemistry,, management, and restoration. The latter portion of, the semester is focused on developing a testable citizen, science project (e.g. a sampling protocol) for a, local salt marsh in conjunction with a local, community partner where students will be going, into the field three times over the course of the, semester via pre-arranged private transportation.

Prerequisite: CAS Honors student or at least 3.3 GPA.

UES H270 - Honors SL Understanding Wetlands, Through Citizen Science (4)

In this course students meet community needs by, engaging in service-learning outside the, classroom. Students' awareness and understanding, of wetlands including inland and salt marshes, mangroves, and swamps will be developed through, exploration of these vital ecosystems (topics, include wetland biology, management, and, restoration). The latter portion of the semester, is focused on developing a testable citizen, science project (e.g. a sampling protocol) for a, local salt marsh in conjunction with a local, community partner where students will be going, into the field three times over the course of the, semester via pre-arranged private transportation.

Prerequisite: UES-211 must be taken concurrently.
Offered: Fall.

UES 225 - Geographic Information Science Lab (1)

Required companion computer laboratory course to be taken, concurrently with UES 225. Illustrates topics, covered UES 211 through laboratory exercises., Exercises may include analysis of environmental, samples (soil, water, and air). Field trips may be, required.

Prerequisite: Take UES-225 concurrently.

UES 226 - Drones Applications for Environmental, Analysis Lab (1)

Required companion laboratory course to be taken, concurrently with UES-226. Provides for hands-on, work in gathering data via drone flight missions, and taking collected data to create a map, product. Work will follow Project Management, protocols.

Prerequisite: Take UES-107, UES-L107, and UES-L108. UES-226 must be taken, concurrently.

UES 255 - Chemistry and the Environment Laboratory (1)

Illustrates chemical processes in the environment, and the methods of analysis of contaminants via, laboratory exercises.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-112 and CHEM-L112, or permission of instructor. UES-255, must be taken concurrently.

UES 301 - Issues in Environmental Justice (4)

Investigates the environmental justice movement, its basis in law, and its leaders. Students will study key topics pertaining to environmental and health disparities and learn about community organizing and advocacy and their application to shape decision-making. Sustainable practices and their integration into daily life to create healthy communities and equity will be considered.

Prerequisite: UES-101, or permission of instructor.

UES 310 - SL-The Civilian Conservation Corps and, the American Landscape (4)

Students meet community needs by engaging in service-learning projects outside of the classroom. Focuses on the history and lasting effect of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) on the physical and political landscape of the United States from 1933 to 1942. Looks at the role the CCC played in redefining conservation and creating a mainstream environmental movement. Connected with a required Spring Break trip, this experiential education offering will allow students to experience and complete similar work to that completed by CCC members.

Prerequisite: Class will meet for 75 minutes per week and travel over spring break. Instructor's consent required. Offered: Spring.

UES 315 - Foundations of Environmental Education (4)

Provides an overview of Environmental Education (EE) by investigating how EE has been defined, how the field has changed over time, and how our own connections with the environment can inform our understanding and practice of this work. Students will consider the goals of EE and the variety of approaches utilized in the field to reach those goals. Age-appropriate environmental education, place-based education, and urban environmental education will also be studied.

Prerequisite: UES-101, or permission of instructor. Offered: Fall.

UES 320 - Advanced Wetlands Exploration (4)

Students' awareness and understanding of wetlands, including inland and salt marshes, mangroves, and swamps will be developed through exploration of these vital ecosystems (topics include wetland, biology, management, and restoration) in the primary literature.

Students will spend spring break in Costa Rica exploring these vital systems, through hands-on field-based activities and lectures from local specialists in Costa Rica.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111, or BIO-111 and BIO-L111, or BIO-114, and BIO-L114, or UES-111 and UES-L111.

UES 321 - Introduction to Permaculture (4)

Permaculture is the design of food systems and social structures to provide for human needs while restoring ecosystem health. Examining the interconnections between environmental, social and economic components, Permaculture is informed by the disciplines of systems ecology, ecological design and ethno-ecology.

Offered: Spring.

UES 322 - Wetlands in the Literature (2)

Develops students' awareness and understanding of wetlands including inland and salt marshes, mangroves, and swamps. Topics include wetland biology, management, and restoration, focused on through discussion of primary literature.

Prerequisite: UES-111 and UES-L111, or permission of instructor.

UES 323 - Advanced New England Wetlands, Exploration (4)

Develops students' awareness and understanding of wetlands including inland and salt marshes, mangroves, and swamps. Topics include wetland biology, management, and restoration, focused on through discussion of primary literature. Exploration continues over spring break through hands-on field-based activities and lectures from local specialists.

Prerequisite: Take CHEM-111 and CHEM-L111, or BIO-111 and BIO-L111, or BIO-114, and BIO-L114, or UES-111 and UES-L111.

UES 325 - Environmental History of the U.S. (4)

Explores how Americans have understood the environment and their relationship to it through analysis of classic environmental texts, historical contexts, and societal perspectives. Analyzes how the environment has changed from pre-colonial times to the present and how these changes have been described through the lens of environmental history. Themes include differing viewpoints of European and indigenous peoples toward the natural environment, the impacts of the Western expansion on native species and landscapes, the rise of industrialism and its impacts on natural resources and ecosystems, and, the rise of 20th century environmentalism.

Offered: Fall.

UES 330 - Research Methods (4)

How environmental professionals decide what to study, how they select a research design, sample, and collect data, analyze results, interpret, and findings, and write up reports. Students are introduced to the techniques most frequently used, by environmental professionals and undertake, their own small research project. Required for, all environmental studies majors.

Prerequisite: UES-111, UES-L111, UES-211, and UES-L211. Offered: Fall.

UES 350 - Community Food Systems (4)

Explores local and bioregional food systems, through the lens of holistic design and of, building a resilient food culture through the, ethics of sustainability. Students will examine, environmental, social and economic factors of, building successful community food systems from, seed to table.
