Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN), vol. 23, no. 1, 1994

Suffolk University Office of Public Affairs

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun

Recommended Citation
https://dc.suffolk.edu/sun/190

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Suffolk University Publications at Digital Collections @ Suffolk. It has been accepted for inclusion in Suffolk University Newsletter (SUN) by an authorized administrator of Digital Collections @ Suffolk. For more information, please contact dct@suffolk.edu.
John E. Fenton Jr. Assumes Law School Deanship
Deliso, Corbett Appointed Associate Deans

Judge John E. Fenton Jr. assumed the deanship of Suffolk University Law School on Sept. 1., climaxing a distinguished 37-year association with the school.

Fenton, son of the late Judge John E. Fenton, became the eighth dean in the law school's history, stepping down from his position as chief justice for administration and management of the Massachusetts Trial Court, a role he had held since 1992. Before that he had served 18 years on the Massachusetts Land Court, a position his father held before being named Suffolk University's 5th president in 1965.

Fenton, who succeeds Paul R. Sugarman as dean, expressed delight at being appointed by the Board of Trustees July 29, and has already pledged that "every waking moment and all the energy I have will be directed to helping students." Fenton, who addressed new students at an opening reception and was warmly greeted by faculty at their first meeting, called the institution "one with a solid reputation for excellence." He observed, "As a professor of law there for the past 37 years and as a former associate dean, I have deeply rooted ties to Suffolk University Law School. Although it was difficult to leave the judiciary after serving for 20 years, I look forward to my new challenge and am proud to serve among a notable group of scholars such as President David J. Sargent, the Board of Trustees and the superb law school faculty."

President Sargent, a long-time colleague of Fenton's, said, "In the selection of John E. Fenton Jr. as dean, Suffolk University has chosen a man who is ideally suited to lead the law school into the next century. As a lawyer, judge, administrator and educator, John's outstanding career has encompassed the best ideals of both the academic and practical aspects of the law."

Board Chairman James F. Linnahan concurred, noting, "Suffolk University is fortunate to have a man of John Fenton's caliber to lead the law school into a new era. His credentials and reputation speak for themselves."

Fenton won plaudits for his work as administrative court chief justice implementing much-needed courtroom reform in the state's court system.

(continues on pg. 4)

Architect Named For New Law School

The University took another step towards the construction of its new eight-story law school on Tremont Street with the selection of an architect and a construction manager for the project on July 27.

Tsoi/Kobus and Associates was named architect for the new edifice on Boston's historic Freedom Trail. At the same time, Walsh Brothers of Cambridge was selected as construction manager and will oversee pre-construction management for the project.

Suffolk President David J. Sargent, in signing the agreement with Ed Tsoi, founding partner of Tsoi/Kobus, noted that "Ed Tsoi and his staff possess the reputation, talent and sensitivity that is essential for the successful completion
19 Honored At Deans’ Reception For Long-Time Service, 3 For 30 Years

On October 1, the University honored 19 of its faculty and staff for long-time service, three for 30 years. The presentations were made at the annual Deans’ Reception held at the World Trade Center.

Thirty-year employee Francis X. Flannery, vice president and treasurer, was awarded a Suffolk bench. English Professors Ann Hughes and Ruth Lottridge received clocks for their dedicated service.

The following 20 year employees also received Suffolk chairs: Law Professors John Sherman, Thomas McMahon, and Karen Blum, Chemistry Prof. George Pellegrino at Sawyer 521 and a Nov. 16 Sargent and Law School Dean John E. Fenton Jr., of the Sawyer library and Marie Haste, senior administrative assistant in the Vice-President/Treasurer’s Office.

Some 325 members of the University community and guests attended the traditional reception that is the official social kick-off for the academic year. The guests were greeted by Deans Michael R. Ronayne of CLAS, John F. Brennan of SOM, and newly appointed Law Dean John E. Fenton Jr.

Ann Hughes

Suffolk Named One Of Top 10 Private Commuter Colleges

Money Magazine has named Suffolk University one of the nation’s top 10 private commuter colleges.

This high honor appears in the magazine’s 1995 Money Guide edition entitled “Your Best College Buys Now.” Suffolk is the only New England school included in the special issue.

President David J. Sargent warmly welcomed the news.

“We’re very gratified to receive this national recognition,” he said. “It has long been the University’s mission to provide a quality education at reasonable tuition rates. This selection recognizes Suffolk University as among the best in America in carrying out that mission.”

This was another recognition of the University’s educational efforts. Earlier in the year, Suffolk was one of only 300 schools in the nation named in “Barron’s Best Buys in College Education.”

Activities Office Sponsoring Workshop For Students

The Suffolk University Student Activities Office has launched a new series of leadership workshops for students aimed at developing and enhancing leadership skills and abilities.

The series, “Leadership for Life,” will be conducted throughout the Fall semester according to Lou Pellegrino, assistant director of student activities.

“The workshops will be open to all students and will be especially beneficial to those involved in campus clubs and organizations, athletic teams, community groups and supervisory positions at work,” explained Pellegrino.

Presenters in the series include members of our own campus. It kicked off September 20 with a session on general leadership. Upcoming programs include “Effective Advertising for your Organization” Oct. 20 at 1 p.m. in Sawyer 521 and a Nov. 16 program at 3 p.m. on “Stress and the Suffolk Student” also in Sawyer 521.

For additional information Contact Pellegrino at X8320.

Judge McLaughlin Portrait Unveiled

Margaret Weitz, professor of humanities and modern languages, Communications Prof. Deborah Geisler, Law School Prof. Kate Day, Financial Aid Coordinator Patricia Rogers, Law School Prof. Timothy Wilton, Kathleen Maio, of the Sawyer library and Marie Haste, senior administrative assistant in the Vice-President/Treasurer’s Office.

Following the completion of the annual Walter H. McLaughlin Moot Court Competition September 9, a portrait of the late Superior Court Chief Justice and Suffolk trustee was unveiled in the moot courtroom. The portrait is a duplicate of the original one hanging in Suffolk Superior Court. Pictured with Mrs. Alice McLaughlin, the judge’s widow, are President Dave Sargent and Law School Dean John E. Fenton Jr. A reception was held in the Pallot Library following the unveiling and included remarks by Atty. Walter H. McLaughlin Jr., the jurist’s son.
New Faces On Campus

Law School

Jenny Rivera, assistant professor of law, teaching property and administrative law. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Princeton University in 1982, a juris doctor degree from New York University School of Law in 1985 and a master of laws degree from Columbia University School of Law in 1993. Formerly served as administrative law judge for the New York State Division of Human Rights, associate counsel for the Puerto Rican Legal Defense and Education Fund and law clerk to Judge Sonia Sotomayor for the Southern District of New York.

David Yamada, assistant professor of law. Received his bachelor of arts with high distinction from Valparaiso University in 1981 and his juris doctor degree from New York University School of Law in 1985. Yamada, who is teaching torts and employment law, previously was senior instructor and program co-coordinator for the lawyering program at N.Y.U. School of Law and was an assistant attorney general for the New York State Department of Law Labor Bureau.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Ann Marie Cammisa, assistant professor of government. She received her BA in history from University of Virginia and a doctor of philosophy from Georgetown University in 1992. Previously was an assistant professor in political science at University of New Hampshire and also worked as a Congressional Fellow in the office of Sen. Herb Kohl of Wisconsin.

Da Zheng, assistant professor of ESL and English. Received a BA in English from Beijing Languages Institute, a master of arts in English from Shanghai Foreign Languages Institute, a master of arts in English from Boston University in 1987 and PhD. in English from B.U. in January. He formerly taught at Boston University and the Brookline Adult Education Center and taught English as a Second Language at Suffolk.

Allan Matthew Tow, assistant professor of paralegal studies in Education and Human Services. A practicing attorney and property manager in Cambridge, he has been an adjunct instructor at Fisher College and a clinical instructor and directing attorney at Harvard Law School.

Carol Ann Zulauf, assistant professor of education. A doctoral candidate at Boston University, she holds a master’s degree in human resources education from Boston University (1987) and received her bachelor’s degree in business education summa cum laude from Suffolk University in 1980.

School of Management

Bradley D. Childs, assistant professor of accounting. He’s from Indiana and recently completed the requirements for his doctoral degree in management at Purdue University. He also holds a BS in BA degree in accounting from Indiana University. A former CPA for the Columbus, Ohio firm of Crowe, Chizek and Co., he is a former captain in the U.S. Army.

Mark S. Blodgett, associate professor of business law. Has been an associate professor of legal studies at Georgia Southern University. He holds a BS in BA from the University of Georgia, an MBA from this same institution and a JD degree from St. Louis University School of Law. He was in private law practice before teaching and has been active in teaching and developing teaching materials for courses in the International Legal Environment of Business.

Anthony Bille, director of graduate accounting and taxation programs. He will manage three programs, the MS in Accounting, the MS in Taxation and the Graduate Diploma in Accounting. Bille holds a BSBA and JD from Suffolk and a masters of law from B.U. Law School. He taught at Bentley College for 20 years, and has worked for a number of accounting firms, including his own, Sullivan and Billie.

Sandra M. Dow, visiting professor of finance. Has most recently been an associate professor of administrative sciences Finance and International Business at the University of Quebec at Montreal, where she’s on sabbatical leave. Holds a BA in Economics from Mount Allison University in New Brunswick, an MA from Dalhousie University and a Ph.D from Concordia University.

Administration

Deborah L. MacFaul, director of development. She will be responsible for establishing and managing a team of professionals for building a base of financial support from alumni, parents and friends of Suffolk’s three divisions. Previously served in development positions at Harvard School of Public Health and Boston College Law School, where she managed a fund-raising campaign that raised more than $5 million. She is a graduate of Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y. with a bachelor of arts degree.

John Collins, director of the Physical Plant. He succeeds Sadiq Khaliqi, who has left the University to accept a new position with Servicemaster. Collins previously managed the major renovation project at Westerly Hospital in Rhode Island and also was a director of environmental services at the Amesbury Hospital. He holds a bachelor of science in business management from Northeastern University.

Peter Cole, assistant director, Development Services. A graduate of Brown University, who lives in Cambridge, he comes to Suffolk from Oxfam America where he was coordinator for donor research responsible for creating, maintaining and reporting on a major prospect database.

Kristen Zagarella, Law School associate director of development. Previously was at Tufts University where she served as assistant director of the Tufts Fund for the Schools of Medicine, Dental Medicine and Veterinary Medicine and Nutrition. She initiated an expanded reunion giving effort during her Tufts service. Zagarella has also served as assistant director of annual funds at the University of San Diego. She received a B.A. from University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and a master of education from the University of San Diego.

Christine Bennett Weisiger, associate director of development and director of corporation and foundation relations. She served in a similar position at Simmons College where she managed corporate and foundation fund-raising programs raising some $750,000 annually. Lives in Cambridge, graduated from MacMurray College in Jacksonville, III., and received a master’s degree from Antioch College in Keene, N.H.
Madrid Prof. Teaches Suffolk Summer Course

Jim Denza has lived in Madrid, Spain since 1980, and has been teaching at the Center for International Studies since 1984.

The Torrington, Conn. native switched sites this past summer, teaching a course in rhetorical communication through our Journalism and Communication Department here for six weeks. The course was arranged by Chair Ed Harris as part of the Suffolk/CIS agreement with Denza, who is the first from the Center to teach at Suffolk.

A number of Suffolk faculty have taught and lectured in Madrid.

Denza, who is a graduate of Syracuse University, had these reflections on his summer teaching:

"I had visited Suffolk the previous two summers and held lengthy meetings with Suffolk faculty and administrators who had come to Madrid. I had also talked with CIS students who had transferred to Suffolk so I had a pretty good idea of Suffolk University. My original impressions were solidified: concerned and active faculty and administration; superb location; students who work hard at their jobs yet are still able to devote energy to their courses. I saw how the two academic communities at Suffolk and CIS complement each other very well, the similarities and divergencies making for a fine collaborative combination."

Denza expressed hope that Suffolk students will get to spend some time in Madrid.

New Law School
(cont. from pg. 1)

of this project." Sargent said it was necessary that the new facility physically blend with the historic neighborhood.

Tsoi called the project "a unique and challenging opportunity to complement this prominent location in downtown Boston."

The 243,000 square foot building is located at 110-120 Tremont St. and is opposite the Old Granary Burial Ground. It will house classrooms, administrative and faculty offices, moot courtrooms, a conference and activity center, state of the art library facilities and a University bookstore.

Deanship
(cont. from pg. 1)

Before becoming a judge, he was a practicing attorney for 20 years with the Lawrence firm of Fenton and Elias. He grew up in Lawrence, was graduated from the College of Holy Cross in 1951, received his juris doctor degree from Boston College in 1954 and master of laws from Harvard Law School in 1955. He served as first lieutenant in the Judge's Advocate General's Corps of the U.S. Army for 27 months.

He and his wife, the former Theresa Regan, make their home in Andover.

Fenton's predecessor, Paul Sugarman, served nearly five years as dean. One of the area's outstanding trial attorneys, he is returning to private practice.

Fenton has appointed Law Prof. William Corbett and Admissions Dean John Deliso as associate deans to succeed Charles Kindregan and Steven Eisenstat, who are returning to the classroom.

Summertime Abroad

Dilip Ghosh, Fran Burke, Shariar Khaksari, Richard Torrisi.

Four members of the Suffolk University School of Management faculty presented papers at the international meeting of the International Trade & Finance Association held at the University of Reading in England. Shown taking a break on that campus are (from left) Dilip Ghosh, who finished up as a visiting professor of finance recently, Fran Burke, professor of public management, Associate Dean and International Business Professor C. Richard Torrisi, and Shariar Khaksari, professor of finance. The meeting was held in July.
Newsmakers

Sharon Artis Jackson, assistant to the President. She appeared on a Television Channel 25 program “When I Was a Girl,” which aired on September 10. The program featured interviews with accomplished women and the obstacles faced as youngsters and focusing on their self-esteem. Joining Artis Jackson on the panel were TV journalist Linda Ellerbee, Boston Globe sportswriter Jackie MacMullan, New England Patriot Melissa Curdo, commercial pilot Ellen Garvey, dog sled racer Susan Butcher, psychologist Eva Lebovic, and accountant Lillian Gonzalez. The program was rebroadcast on Sept. 24.

Richard J. Leon, Suffolk University trustee. He is serving as a special counsel to the Republican members of the House Banking Committee for the Whitewater hearings. He is lead counsel to Rep. Jim Leach (R-Iowa), ranking Republican on the committee. Leon, a partner in the Washington, D.C. law firm of Baker & Hostetler, is a 1974 graduate of Suffolk Law School and in 1987 served as deputy chief minority counsel to the U.S. House Select Iran-Contra Committee.

Stephen Tomczyk, associate professor of accounting. This long-time Belmont resident has been elected to a director’s position with the Boston chapter of the Institute of Management Accountants. The organization numbers some 92,000 accountants world-wide.

Henry Mulcahy, associate professor of biology. He has completed his sabbatical as a visiting associate professor of biological chemistry and molecular pharmacology at Harvard University Medical School. His lab research was carried out under the guidance of Dr. Charles C. Richardson with whom he investigated molecular biology.

Robert P. Wasson Jr., professor of law. His paper, “Ensuring Protection for the Rights of Criminal Offenders Ensures Protection for the Rights of All Citizens,” was recently published in Law and Development in the Third World by the University of Nairobi Press. It is a compilation of papers delivered at an international conference on law and development in Nakuru, Kenya in 1992. In addition, his article “The Aids Crisis as an Impetus to Law Reform in the United States and Kenya” was the lead article in the Winter, 1994 volume of the Suffolk Transnational Law Review.

Charles P. Kindregan, professor of law. He’s been appointed to three American Bar Association Family Law Section Committees: The Committee on Cohabitation, the Committee on Ethical Practice and the ABA Committee on Law School Curriculum. He has also been named as the Massachusetts representative on the “Law in the Fifty States” project of the Family Law Quarterly.

Nancy Croll, director of academic computing for SOM. She has been named consulting editor of the International Business School Computing Quarterly. This journal uses a blind refereed review process and deals with computers in the teaching of business computing, computer applications in the business disciplines and research studies in business computing. She also was moderator for a session on the Internet at the 22nd annual conference of the International Business Schools Computing Association in Baltimore July 20.

Betty Mandl, professor of English. Her effort, “Family Ties: Landscape and Gender in Desire Under the Elms” was published in Twentieth Century Literary Criticism by Gale Press.

Michael Rustad, professor of law. A product liability expert, he was the subject of recent interviews in the Wall Street Journal and the publication, Corporate Crime Reporter. The Journal interview dealt with repetitive stress injuries among computer users.

Alexandra Todd, chair of Sociology. Her paper, “Different Realities: Autobiography and Medical Care” was presented at the International Sociological Association meetings in Bielefeld, Germany in July.

Robert G. Ruland, associate professor of accounting. He received the first Abraham J. Briloff Outstanding Manuscript Award for “The Concept of Trust and Institutional Development in Accounting” with Steven E. Kaplan of Arizona State University. It was presented at the Ernst and Young Research on Accounting Ethics Symposium in Binghamton, New York. The manuscript will be featured in the first issue of Research on Accounting Ethics.

Michael Arthur, professor of management. He was quoted in a Fortune Magazine article in August focusing on a new worker elite, technicians, who are taking on a bigger role and bringing new respect as core employees of the Information Age.

Joseph McCarthy, professor, Education and Human Services. He served as chair and commentator for a discussion of Anti-Catholicism in Post-Revolutionary New England held at Boston College. The occasion was the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic meeting. Earlier, McCarthy was at B.C. to be honored at the College’s Black Talent Program 25th anniversary dinner for directing admissions, financial aid and academic support services for the University’s first minority recruitment program.

Personnel

New Employees

Behrens, Thomas C. of Winthrop, technical director, C. Walsh Theatre.

Borza, Elizabeth A. of Taunton, secretary, Enrollment and Retention Management.

Burke, Maryellen of Brookline, secretary, Human Resources.

Callahan Anne of Watertown, associate director, creative services, UMS.

DiBlasi, Philip N. of South Boston, director creative services UMS.

Glegles, Ioannnis Y. of Revere, assistant professor, Law School.

Glover, Elizabeth of Malden, secretary, Dean, SOM.

Hart, Deanna of North Attleboro, coordinator, Law Financial Aid.

Irwin, Anne E. of East Boston, secretary Financial Aid.

Kroll, Angela M. of Boston, assistant director, Financial Aid.

Less, Colleen M. of Quincy, instructor, Law School.

Locke, Steven of Boston, instructor, Law School.

McCormick, Lori A. of Quincy, secretary, Development.

McLaughlin, Patricia L. of Dorchester, project secretary, Law Registrar.

Mead, Wendy M. of Revere, secretary, Law Library.

Morawiec, John of Boston, assistant graphic designer, UMS.

Pearson, Steven J. of Quincy, cashier, Student Accounts.

Poirier, Christine M. of Malden, receptionist, tran. asst., Registrar's Office.

Roberti, Betsy J. of Wellesley, instructor, Law School.

Shields, Charlie D. of Boston, benefits assistant, Human Resources.

Sichko, Medb Mahoney of Boston, instructor, Law School.

Turkal, David M. of Taunton, assistant head technical services, Law Library.

Visnick, Robert L. of Rockport, instructor, Law School.

Walsh, John D. of Worcester, assistant director, Admissions.

Yamada, David C. of Boston, assistant professor, Law School.

Zaslavsky, Natasha of Brookline, instructor Physics and Engineering.

Staff Training Workshops Focus on Department Heads

This Fall's staff training and development workshops will offer a variety of courses and will be highlighted by a series directed at department heads and associate and assistant directors with managerial responsibilities.

"Managing People in a Changing Workplace" is a creative series of structured discussions and activities on the most recent thinking and research on new management methods.

The series, which kicked off on October 7, will explore ideas on change and how it impacts upon management and leadership practices, expectations, motivation, participation and empowerment, management/employee roles and relationships, and customer priorities.

Judy Minardi, director of Human Resources, says the series includes seven programs which will be offered monthly from October through April. It will be sponsored by the Organizational Development and Training Department of Tufts University and is made available to Suffolk employees through a collaborative effort. Those interested should register early since space is limited.

Programs for support staff will include a discussion on budget and business office procedures, facilitated by the staffs of the Budget and Business Office and one entitled "Dealing with Difficult People" and directed by Molly Finn, who has presented a number of these programs at local schools.

A workshop on "Student Records: The Law and You" and featuring Bob DiGuardia of MIS and Mary Lally of the College Registrar's Office will review the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act and the registration, student roster, course section and microfilm inquiry modules of the COLLEAGUE system.

Human Resources will issue a more detailed description this month. For further information contact that office at X8415.

TIAA-CREF Offer New Options

TIAA-CREF has made available two new investment options under Suffolk University’s retirement and tax-deferred annuity plans.

They are: The Growth Account, which seeks favorable long-term returns, mainly through capital appreciation from a portfolio of stocks selected for exceptional growth potential, and The Equity Index, which aims to achieve favorable long-time returns from a diversified portfolio that tracks the overall U.S. stock market as represented by a broad market interest.

Both accounts expand the range of opportunity and diversification provided by TIAA-CREF's existing alternatives. Toni Tinberg of Human Resources advises that her office has a brochure available describing all of the CREF accounts in greater detail. Call her at X8415 if you desire more information. To transfer accumulations or allocate contributions to the new accounts, call TIAA-CREF's automated telephone system at 1-800-842-2252.

Personnel (cont. on pg. 8)
Potpourri

by Lou Connelly

Eliza Dushku, 13-year old daughter of Government Professor Judy Dushku, continues to blossom as an actress. Her fourth movie, True Lies, was one of the summer’s big hits. She plays the daughter of Arnold Schwarzenegger in this thriller. Eliza has just completed Bye Bye Love for 20th Century Fox, playing Paul Reiser’s daughter in this comedy about three divorced fathers. It’s due for a February release. Her previous efforts also include This Boy’s Life with Robert DiNiro and That Night, a starring role in which she beat out 6000 other youngsters. “She loves acting and really enjoys it,” says her proud mom, who has traveled with her daughter for a lot of the work...

He served Suffolk for 19 years as a public management professor and distinguished himself in writing on municipal and state government and now Don Levitan has retired. We wish him well. As Dean Jack Brennan noted, “Don has made many contributions over the years, most recently supervising the Presidential Intern Program with his usual zeal and effectiveness.” Law Professor Joe McEttrick declined to seek reelection as a Milton selectmen after 14 years service in that community, deciding to spend more time with family and his teaching, research and writing in the Law School...

Law Librarian Emeritus Ed Bander, whose Paths of the Law is now displayed on the wall boards of the site of the new law school on Tremont Street, is teaching a course on Humor and the Law at the Boston Center for Adult Education...

Dean of Students Nancy Stoll traveled to Bulgaria late last month as part of an NEASC accreditation team visiting the American University of Bulgaria, which is accredited under the sponsorship of the University of Maine in Orono...

Congratulations to Sawyer Library Director Ted Hamann and his bride, Christine Weisger on their recent marriage. The couple honeymooned on Nantucket. Christine has just joined the University’s Development Department as director of corporate and foundation relations. She comes to us from Simmons College where she managed a comprehensive grant program raising $750,000 annually from various corporate and foundation funders...

Our sympathies this month to Sociology’s Steve Spitzer on the loss of his father, Martin Spitzer, Aug. 21, to Peter Burn of Biology on the passing of his dad, Edward R. on Aug. 18 and to English Professor Emeritus Ed Clark on the death of his wife, Leah Rose Caliri-Clark, former head of the English department at Medford High School. She died Aug. 21...

The Martha’s Vineyard Chapter of the Suffolk University Law School Alumni Association held its annual luncheon Sept. 2 at the Edgartown Yacht Club hosted by Law Professor Malcolm Donahue and wife, Caroline and Mrs. Joseph Mattison III of Mattison, III. In attendance were John E. Boyle, ’67; Rosemarie Hagazian, ’77; Frederick W. Hehre III, ’77; Philip J. Norton Jr., ’64; Arthur D. Smith, ’82; Joseph E. Sollito Jr., ’70; Judge Walter E. Steele, ’54; Martin V. Tomassian Jr., ’73 and Edward W. Vincent Jr., ’76. Also on hand were Prof. and Mrs. Richard Pizzano (the former Joan Soolman) and Deborah MacFai, director of development for Suffolk University.

Suffolk’s Law Library played an active part in the 87th annual meeting of the American Association of Law Libraries held in Seattle, Washington. Library Director Michael J. Slinger moderated a program “The Price is Mutually Acceptable: The Legal Research Gameshow.” And Librarian Madeleine G. Wright shared research guides and the variety of services offered students and faculty. Suffolk was one of four academic libraries taking part in a public relations session. Prof. Slinger was appointed to the American Association of Law Librarians Research Agenda Committee...

College Registrar Mary A. Hefron has entered the political wars. She is serving as committee chairperson for the campaign of Republican Brian Spencer for a Lexington legislative seat...

The University Police have two new officers. Phil DiBlasi, a recent grad of S.U. and the Campus Police Academy with top honors, and Tom Ralph, a second year law student. Police Capt. John Pagliarulo praised the efforts of Officer Rich Duca for his efforts in coordinating a Suffolk Police running team raising $200 in support of causes such as eye research and the M.S. Society. The team was nominated for the Presidential Fitness Award...

Fittingly, recently retired Suffolk trustee, Vince Fulmer was voted trustee emeritus by the Suffolk board at its September meeting. Fulmer served 22 years as a University board member and joins John S. Howe as an emeritus...

Maternity news: Anthony Voto of the Mailing Room and Laurie Voto of Development welcomed a 7 pound 4 ounce son, Ryan Christopher, on Sept. 6. Susan Harris, cashier in student accounts, and husband, Greg, a Boston City Hospital accountant, greeted a daughter Jessica Ann on Aug. 1 and Michael Buckley, account analyst and wife, Stacy, became the parents of daughter Erin Elizabeth on August 15...

New bride in Law Financial Aid is Maureen K. (Lovely) McNerney, assistant director of law financial aid, who married James A. McInerney of Chicago, a manager at Fidelity. And Deanna Hart, new data processing coordinator, wed Brian Yakimowsky of Walpole on Oct. 8...
Potpourri (cont. from pg. 7)

Our faithful Cape Cod correspondent Ed Hartmann memos us that his 10th publication, “A Classified Bibliography of Welsh Americans,” is now in print. He notes that his first book, “The Movement to Americanize the Immigrant,” 2nd edition, is still in print after 46 years. His “Americans from Wales” is recognized as a classic in the field by the specialist on Welsh ethnic groups. “It’s nice to have another publication at 82,” confesses the retired S.U. history professor... Speaking of publications, Fred Marchant, chair of Humanities and Modern Languages, read from his award-winning book of poetry, “Tipping Point,” at the Joiner Center for the Study of War and Social Consequences (UMass-Boston) and in New York City and Washington, D.C. “Tipping Point” is on sale at the Suffolk bookstore...

The School of Managment reports that Laurie Pant has been appointed chair of the Accounting Department to succeed Morris McInnes who is taking a sabbatical and Shahriar Khaksari has been reappointed chair of the Finance Department. SOM’s opening luncheon

Personnel (cont. from pg. 6)

Charitable Giving Campaign Is Now Underway

The University’s Charitable Giving Campaign kicked off on Oct. 1 setting an ambitious goal of $28,500 for contributions to Oxfam America, Community Works and the United Way of Massachusetts Bay.

“Suffolk employees have traditionally responded with great generosity and sensitivity to the needs of others in our community and region and internationally,” said campaign chair Toni Tinberg. “We are confident that this year will be no different.”

Tinberg said that the campaign will include another Suffolk Big Scoop program for making ice cream sundaes. Pledge cards should be returned to the Human Resources Office even if you are not contributing.

A couple of lucky donors will win a Suffolk captain’s chair, a dinner for two at the Bay Tower Room and overnight stay at the Hotel Meridien.

And Kelly Ann Garner, a senior accounting major, has won a $3500 scholarship by the Franklin H. Putnam Scholarship Fund, designed to assist Bay State women with their collegiate business studies... Distinguished Law Prof. Tom Lambert addressed the American Trial Lawyers Association convention in Chicago in July and delivered the banquet address to the Tennessee Law Review in Knoxville in September...

Law Prof. Lisle Baker topped the ticket in the primary for Mayor of Newton. Lisle is a five-term alderman from Chestnut Hill and has the endorsement of the widow of the long-time mayor of that city, Theodore Mann...

Welcome back full-time John E. Fenton Jr. after 20 distinguished years on the bench. Who says you can’t go home again, Thomas Wolfe! Finance Profs Edward Bubnys and Alexandros Prezas presented their paper, “Temporal Codetermination of Investment and Debt,” co-authored with Harold Tamule of Providence College, at the 24th annual meeting of the Financial Management Association in St. Louis... It’s nice to hear that former Suffolk staffer Mike Rubino, has been named legal counsel at Assumption College. He’s a Suffolk Law grad.

Happy foliage viewing to all. See you on Loon Mountain...

New Rates For Dental Plan

Vice President/Treasurer Francis X. Flannery has announced new rates for Suffolk’s Delta Dental Plan. The rates are $7.68 per month (1.92 per week) for individual coverage, and $22.40 per month ($5.60 per week) for family coverage. The rates will be in effect from October 1, 1994 through September 30, 1995.

Any questions about the Delta Dental Coverage should be directed to Toni Tinberg or Charlie Shields at x8415.